

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

It will pay you to read the advertisements in this paper.

Have your clothes cleaned for the Fair. Burch knows how.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Randolph made a visit to Fort Worth last week-end.

The Eagle appreciates orders for job printing, guaranteeing work and prices.

Mrs. W. L. Martin of San Antonio visited her niece, Mrs. Chas. Rudd in this city last week-end.

A. J. Tipp, one of the good farmers of the Star section, was a visitor at the Eagle office since last issue.

Joe Morgan of Seallorn was looking after business in the big town last Saturday and made the Eagle an appreciated call.

Fred Martin and family, Mrs. C. L. Stephens and daughter Miss Mildred, spent last week-end with relatives and friends in Mexia.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Angle of Willsboro returned home last Friday, after a visit in the home of their daughter, Mrs. D. H. Rudd, in this city.

If you patronize your home merchants you help to build your home town. If you patronize merchants of other towns you help to build other towns.

The fruit crop of Mills county is unusually fine this season, as evidenced by the exhibits at the Fair and the displays in the grocery stores in this city.

Chas. Harris of San Angelo spent last week-end here visiting his aunt, Mrs. Oscar Holland. He left for Galveston Sunday, but expects to stop over here on his return home.

Miss Virginia Kerfoot, one of the efficient teachers in the Goldthwaite High School, writes friends here she is enjoying the cool breezes of Denver.

D. D. Tate and family left Tuesday on a vacation trip to points in southwest Texas. They expect to return via Galveston and will be away a week or longer.

C. T. Wilson and wife came over from San Angelo Saturday to visit relatives. He returned home Sunday afternoon, but Mrs. Wilson remained for a longer visit.

Sam Peebles and family came over from Lexington the first of the week for a visit in the home of W. M. Johnston. He expects to return home today, but Mrs. Peebles will remain for a longer visit.

G. W. Barr of Ciseo is one of the honored veterans of the Southern Confederacy who is here participating in the reunion and meeting his many friends in this section. Mr. Barr was a citizen of Mills county for many years and is kindly remembered.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Y. Stokes, Jr., and sons Lawrence Morrison and Melmoth Young III, of Houston came to Goldthwaite Sunday for a visit to relatives. Mr. Stokes returned to Houston on Sunday night's train, but Mrs. Stokes and boys remained here for a longer visit.

Good progress is being made on the new grammar school building and it is sure to be ready for the opening of school in September. This building will be a great advantage in the school system of the town and will add to the comfort of the teachers and pupils.

TEXAS GAINS LAND

Washington, July 15 (AP)—Approximately 28,500 acres or 44.6 square miles of Oklahoma land would be added to Texas if the Supreme Court should approve a report filed Monday by Samuel S. Gannett, its commissioner.

Mr. Gannett was appointed by the Supreme Court to locate the true 100th meridian as the boundary line between the two States running north from the Red River along the eastern side of the Panhandle.

Commissioner Gannett reported the present boundary along that section is 4,040 feet too far west at the southern end resting on the Red River and that the northern end is approximately 800 feet on Texas territory.

Texas contended the boundary line had not been properly located and the Supreme Court in finding the true 100th meridian was the proper location, directed Commissioner Gannett to mark it on the ground.

The report covers 135 printed pages describing in detail methods used in making the survey and marking the line. The present boundary line between the two states from the Red River running north, was run by Jones-Brown-Clark survey in 1859-60 and Oklahoma, since becoming a state, has exercised sovereignty over land which was found by Mr. Gannett to belong to Texas.

Location of the northeast corner of Texas was the most difficult problem of the survey, due to disappearance of many monuments erected by John H. Clark when he surveyed parallel 36.30 as the northern boundary of the State.

Commissioner Gannett finally located what was known in the Clark survey as "monument No. 100" erected in the extreme northeast corner of Hansford County, Texas, and ran a line east from there until it intersected with the 100th meridian and gave him the northeast corner of the State. That corner and the 100th meridian as surveyed by Gannett have been marked with monuments.

The report will be presented to the Supreme Court for approval when it convenes in October and Texas and Oklahoma will be given opportunity to be heard.

BULL DEFEATS LION

The King of beasts in Juarez had little right to feel king-like Sunday, for he fled in defeat before the horns of a bel-lowing bull in the arena at Juarez, Mexico, across the river from El Paso.

A crowd composed mainly of Americans watched the fight between the lion and a small yellow bull. They saw the lion charge the bull first, trying for a fatal grip on the bull's neck. Soon they saw an agile cat leaping for his life from the horns of the enraged bull. At the end of 25 minutes, the attendants opened the gates and let the lion escape to his cage.

The lion had been kept without food for some time before the fight in order that he would be in quest of a meal when he entered the arena.

A REASONABLE PROTEST

Representative Purl of Dallas registered in the House at Austin the other day a protest that ought to be emphasized. Aroused by the prompt commitment to a state hospital of a man convicted of a criminal offense and later declared insane, the Dallas legislator introduced a resolution seeking to deny admission to state hospitals of criminal insane as long as non-criminal insane remain confined in jails because there is no room for them in the hospitals. Mr. Purl's resolution was squelched by a point of order that it was an attempt to amend a statute, and accordingly nothing definite came of it.

The lack of adequate facilities at the various state institutions for the care and treatment of the insane has produced a standing disgrace to the State. Hundreds of persons whose only offense is mental derangement are confined in county jails, subjected to conditions which can not but aggravate their condition, and denied treatment which only a properly equipped hospital can give. In the meantime, criminals who have offended against the law and pleaded insanity as a defense, are put into the comparatively pleasant environment of the hospitals. It thus appears that it is better for a person to be a criminal as well as insane than to be merely insane in Texas.

Obviously, there should be a distinction made between the criminal insane, who are properly subject to confinement, and the merely insane, who are entitled to hospitalization from the State. The simplest and most effective arrangement would be to have separate institutions. But so long as both insane and criminal insane are cared for in the same institutions, if any body is to be denied admittance and kept confined in a jail, it should be the criminal.

SCHOLASTICS MUST TRANSFER BEFORE FIRST OF AUGUST

All scholastics desiring to change from one school district to another for the next term of school must transfer before August 1. Not on the first of the month, but before that date—during July. This is not a new law, but it is one that is neglected badly and after the time prescribed for the transfers to be made, many parents and guardians awake to the importance of the situation and implore the county judge and the school authorities to find some way to make the change. It is better to attend to this matter at once. Just call on Judge Patterson one day during July and make the transfers needed and every district will get its proper share of the school money and everything will be lovely.

MATTERS OF INTEREST

Editor Eagle:

I believe there are several matters of interest to the people that the papers would be glad to carry as news items.

First—Adjusted Service Certificates for World War Veterans: Veterans who have not filed application for their Adjusted Service Certificates should do so at once as the time within which applications must be filed expires this year. If Veteran died without making application, his nearest dependent should make this application at once.

Second—Headstones for graves of Confederate Veterans: The Federal Government will furnish small headstones for the grave of any soldier who served in the Confederate Army and pay the freight on it to the applicant's nearest railroad station.

Third—The Government will provide transportation accommodations and meals for the mothers and widows (not re-married) of the deceased soldier, sailor and marine of the American Forces now buried in the cemeteries of Europe to make one pilgrimage to these cemeteries.

Anyone interested in any of these subjects may procure additional information about them by writing to me, 158 House Office Building, Washington, D. C. R. Q. LEE, Member of Congress, 17th Dist.

ERROR CORRECTED

In the statement of the First National Bank, published in this paper last week, two of the lines became mixed and in consequence he statement is published again this week. The error was in the amount of loans and discounts being placed in the line of overdrafts. Every reader knew at a glance that there was a typographical error in the statement, but the authorities at Washington do not allow errors or concede printers the right to make mistakes, hence the re-publication in order to make it agreeable to the comptroller. Mr. Harrison, cashier of the bank, realized at once that an error had been made in the compilation of the figures in the Eagle office and readily agreed that a re-publication would be satisfactory. The Eagle certainly hopes such errors will not be frequent in this office.

COLOR HELPS

The story is going about town that one of our rather forward young men seeing a young lady standing on the street corner near the postoffice stepped up and said: "Pardon me, you look like Helen Black." The young lady replied promptly, "I know I do, but I look far worse in white."

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Copeland and Mrs. E. P. Smith of Mullin were visitors in the home of E. B. Stephenson in this city. Mrs. Smith's little daughter was recently badly injured by being struck by an automobile at Mullin. She was carried to the sanitarium at Brownwood, but is now able to be at home.

PAINS In Side and Back

"I HAD BEEN miserable for a long time. My health was poor, and I suffered a lot from weakness. At times, my strength was so little that I could not stand on my feet. I would have to give up and go to bed. My sides and back hurt dreadfully.

"I grew discouraged, for I could do so little. I worried about myself, and almost gave up hope of ever being strong and well. I could scarcely lift a bucket of water. My housework went undone, for I was not strong enough to do it.

"After I had taken Cardui for a little while, I began to feel better. I grew stronger, soon found that I could do my work with less effort, and the pains in my back and sides left me. I think Cardui is a wonderful medicine. My health has been excellent since then."—Mrs. D. L. Beckner, W. Main St., Salem, Va.

A RAISE IN SUGAR

Washington, July 10 — The Senate Finance Committee has completed taking testimony on the sugar schedule. Soon the committee will be engaged in framing the rate of duty and the language of the paragraph in the tariff bill. A tax of three cents a pound on sugar has been written into the House bill. Such a tax the consumer can see and feel directly, for he has to pay it every day when he buys his daily rations at the corner grocery.

A contention well supported by facts and figures has been made that conditions in the beet sugar industry do not warrant any raise in the tariff. That this industry is highly prosperous is shown by the earnings of the larger companies, which manufacture 75 per cent of the beet sugar.

The chief concern of the American user of sugar in the tariff is this: "What is my sugar going to cost me?" There is an answer for that. Every person in America last year used a little over 100 lbs. of refined sugar. On this basis, three of the most distinguished economists in this country, members of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin, have estimated that the three cent sugar tax will cost all of us $150,000,000 a year more than we are now paying for our sugar.

If only the .64 cents increase in the tariff is passed along to the consumer in the price he must pay for his sugar Texas' share of the annual toll will be $3,511,680 more than she is now paying. But this increase actually will be 2.08 cents a pound, so that Texas will really be mulcted $11,402,960 as her share of the $249,600,000 which the whole duty will cost us.

The Federal Tariff Commission made an exhaustive study of the sugar tariff and recommended that the tax be reduced from 1.76 cents to 1.23 cents a pound. Why, then, three cents? — U. S. Sugar Association.

LAND OWNERS MUST PROTECT THE SOIL

As the humus is taken from the soil, the more easily does that soil wash away. Humus soaks up and stores moisture for plant use during the dry months of the year. Soil not physically able to store up moisture dissolves and runs off, and thus we have land in the Southwest which eroded very little a few years ago, because the humus was not exhausted, which are washing badly with every rain today. In some cases it has been observed that more than 18 inches of top soil has washed away during the past ten or fifteen years. This does not mean that the fields have developed gullies, but that the top soil has been removed in a manner known as sheet erosion, which leaves no visible evidence of bad washing except that the yellow sub-soil or white rock, as the case may be, becomes exposed.

The only known method to prevent sheet erosion is to terrace and then restore the organic matter by plowing in cover crops. Owners of land, if they will make a careful survey, will discover why their farms are not producing either in quantity or quality the crops formerly harvested. They will note that much of the fertility of their lands has been removed with the top soil during the process of erosion. Lands once worth $125 to $150 per acre on a productive basis are worth less than half that amount to-

CURRENT SPLASHES

The shadow of recession is now appearing in the northeast New York, Wisconsin, Illinois and about four other states have repealed their dry enforcement laws, of course repudiating the Eighteenth Amendment.

Of course our dry laws should be repealed. Both the bootlegger and his customers say they should and that, to them, is sufficient.

Some one sue out an injunction against our legislature. It has stopped all of our trucks. Which has tied up traffic the worst, the strike in New Orleans or the legislature of Texas? Sympathies should be exchanged.

When some state governors take an oath to support and defend the Constitution of the United States, they seem to retain very pronounced mental reservations as to the 18th Amendment.

About all that's wrong with the Fundamentalist is his confusion of physics and metaphysics.

Yes, we ought to repeal the law against murder. So many people don't respect it. What chumps we've been to have enumerated our statutes with such a law ever since Moses' time. When criminals dislike a law, of course, it should be repealed. There is our dry laws, for instance.

When we convert atmosphere into power driving fuel, of course, there will be a tax on it. My advice is to get all you can of it while it's free. Take the air while it is free — next year it may be as high as gasoline.

A scientist recently said that within a few more years men could work an hour or two per day. Hope the time will soon be up so someone can go to work.

Of course Governor Walter J. Kohler, of Wisconsin, should be ousted from office. Any candidate who pays $100,000 for an office which his state prices at $4,000 has displayed a deplorable contempt for economy. —PHILOSOPHER.

MRS. R. Q. LEE BETTER Washington, July 15—Mrs. R. Q. Lee, wife of Representative Lee of Cisco, Texas, who underwent a major operation a few weeks ago, has recovered so rapidly that it is planned to remove her to her Texas home within the next ten days. The representative will accompany her.

day, and in another ten years, unless they are terraced and the organic matter restored in part, will be worth less than half of what they are priced today.

To save this investment it is necessary that owners appreciate the need of immediate attention and begin a program of terracing and soil moisture conservation at once.—Farm and Ranch.

RECIPROCITY

In discussing the products of Texas and the adaptability of Texas soil, State Press in the Dallas News says in part:

"Texas is not a notable fruit-growing State. It is not signally successful with apples, and knows little or nothing about cherries and similar shipable small fruits. Our peaches are superb in quality, except when the spring is too wet, but they have not proven highly profitable under the conditions that exist. Considering these things it is not strange that we import most of our fruits stuffs, both canned and fresh. With vegetables it is somewhat different. We are beginning to make a showing with our tomatoes and potatoes in East Texas, and from the Rio Grande we are sending train loads of delectable truck to the northern markets, along with some super-quality citrus fruit. Truly, we have not made much impression upon public consumption, and are remiss in supplying our own home demand. But we do raise a lot of other good things, and sell them abroad. Ours indeed is the foremost agricultural State. If we were to grow all we need, how would our neighbors buy from us what they need? Trade is not a matter of selling altogether. There has to be a buyer for every seller, and when we produce the commodities we can produce most successfully it leaves our outside customers opportunity to do the same for themselves. Then they trade with us, we with them. The trade between our sister States and our own Texas is fair and free and all gain by it. Likewise would it be if all the nations traded on the same basis. High tariffs between nations operate precisely as would high tariffs between States. They throttle industry and breed political favoritism. They oppose every just conception of good business and good logic.

MAN DROWNS NEAR LAMPASAS

Wednesday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock, Claude Farrell of Midland, drowned near Teague hole in the Colorado river, about twenty-five miles from Lampasas. His body was not recovered from the river until about 6:30 o'clock Thursday morning, efforts having been made until night Wednesday and then again as soon as daylight Thursday morning. D. S. Moore of this city found the body in shallow water, that is water that was not deep enough to come over his head.

Mr. Farrell with his wife and little four-year-old daughter, were members of a fishing party camped on the river and had started to put out a trot-line and it is not known why or how he became helpless in the water. Mr. Farrell was about 27 years of age and leaves a wife and small daughter. Other members of the party were his sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. Spruill, and family of Dublin and Charlie Spruill of this city. Mrs. Farrell is a niece of Charlie Spruill.

The remains were taken to Dublin for burial.—Lampasas Leader.

Wet wood will burn... certainly so will wet gasoline

... but for a quick hot fire there is nothing like dry wood. And for a quick response to the spark there is nothing like dry gasoline.

Such a gasoline is the new and better Texaco. It forms a completely vaporized mixture of gasoline and air, a dry gas, which ignites instantly and burns completely. It releases all the power designed into the engine of your car, yet costs no more than ordinary wet gasoline.

It's better because it's dry!

1. A wet gas is an atomized mixture of gasoline vapor in which are suspended drops of raw gasoline.
2. These drops of raw gasoline form an uneven mixture which resists the action of the spark.
3. Result: Destructive crankcase dilution, difficult starts, slow acceleration, sluggish motor.

1. The new and better Texaco vaporizes so readily that it forms a dry gas, an active mixture of gasoline and air.
2. This pure, dry gas responds instantly to the action of the spark.
3. Result: Lightning starts, rapid acceleration, smooth action, power!

The elephant keeper of a traveling circus in Berlinchen, Prussia, owes his life to one of his beasts. One pachyderm, becoming enraged, attacked the keeper, knocking him to the ground. Another came to his rescue and beat the offender with his trunk. The keeper crawled to safety.

Liars, witches and lunatics are not eligible for admission to 12 new almshouses built by a religious charity at Barnet Vale, a small village outside London. The inmates are to be widows or spinsters over 50, and the authorities in making their selection have to bear in mind the spirit of the conditions laid down by James Ravencroft, who founded the charity in 1679, that liars, lunatics and witches must not be admitted.

Noted Theosophist leader, Mrs. Katherine Tingly, 79, died on Thursday at Visingo after an illness covering a long period, following an auto accident, in which an auto in which she was touring swerved from the road near Dent in Germany. Her right thigh bone and left ankle were broken. May 30 when the automobile in which she was riding swerved from the road near Osnabrueck and crashed into a concrete bridge.

Increase of 30 cents per bushel in the value of Texas wheat, basis earloads delivered at Texas common points, since June 1, is estimated to have added more than $6,000,000 to the buying power of Texas grain producers. Should the increase be maintained through the marketing season, it will mean that the estimated Texas crop of around 35,000,000 bushels will bring the growers about that many dollars, the price at shipping points now ranging from $1 to $1.05 per bushel.

Hutchingson, Kas., Saturday was waist deep in the waters of Cow Creek, which had stood virtually stationary for 12 hours in business and residential districts. Only a small percentage of the families of the residential district and left their homes, the foundations of several of which were crumbling. Hotels, however, were filled. A swift current poured through the business section, surrounding all of the business houses. The water downtown had fallen but an inch and the residence districts three inches.

That most human beings are right-eyed has recently been demonstrated, but why a person sees better with one eye than the other is only now being rerretted out. Working under a grant from the Research Council of the American Medical Association, Paul E. Lineback has made microscopic studies of the central yellow spot portion of the same person or animal, with particular care in the measurement of the distance from the fovea or center of the yellow-spot of each eye to the outer edge of the optic disc. He found that in every 18 pairs of human eyes the distance was shorter in the right eye than in the left.

Chinese Minister Wu requested Secretary of State Stimson to turn Mrs. Ying Kag, wife of the Chinese Vice Consul at San Francisco, over to Chinese authorities for trial on charges of opium smuggling. Secretary Stimson has taken the request under consideration. Unofficial opinion, however, was to the effect that the Secretary would not grant it. At the Chinese Legation it was said reports that the death penalty might be given Mrs. Ying Kag in the event of her conviction in a Chinese court on charges of opium smuggling were untrue. Legation members asserted that the maximum penalty on a charge of opium smuggling was five years in prison and a $5,000 fine. Baggage to San Francisco by Mrs. Kag was seized by customs authority several days ago and a search revealed 3,000 tins of opium.

Preliminary plans for a new First Baptist Church in Fort Worth, of which Rev. J. Frank Norris is pastor, were announced Saturday by A. L. Jackson, chairman of the board of trustees. The building, which will be 200x100 feet, will contain an auditorium with a seating capacity of 6,000. Plans, announced shortly after the church burned last January, which contemplated constructing a combination church and hotel, have been abandoned, Mr. Jackson said. The new church auditorium will have two large balconies. Leather opera seats will be placed on sloping floors so that the rostrum will be visible from every section of the main floor or balconies. The building will be so constructed that there will be no obstructing pillars in the auditorium. Cost of the structure will be in the neighborhood of $500,000, it was said.

Advocates of a state income tax won a point when the state affairs committee approved a plan to have an income tax bill drafted for presentation to a special session of the legislature. It is expected this special session will be called for next January to consider revenue, prison reform and public utilities regulation. Because of objection to some of the wording a resolution calling for a drafting committee was referred to a sub-committee.

Confiscated liquor, while being destroyed near the county jail in Dallas Saturday, in turn destroyed three automobiles when it became ignited, presumably by some one throwing a match into the fluid after the liquor had run some distance along the curb. Two fire alarms were sounded before the blaze was extinguished. The flames leaped into a nearby building while at their height.

You seldom hear of a revue girl kicking because she has to wear scanty clothing in the show. Yet Mlle. Simone Gabor, former mannequin and last year's Queen of Paris, refused to appear in the show because of the scanty costume it called for. The theater took her to court and claimed an indemnity of $325.

PRACTICABILITY PROVED

The cottonseed certification law, which experts agreed was ideal in theory, was not known to be practicable when first passed, since it was the first law of the kind to come into existence. Moulding public sentiment and gaining converts to a new cause is no easy task, and those who engage in such work may well be classed as pioneers. The law, however, instead of a failing experiment, proved to be practicable and of great value. So great has been the progress accomplished through its operation that it has now been extended to certification of other field seed; pecan growers are considering its provisions as being suitable for pecan stock, and nurserymen are casting sidelong glances at it as they wonder if it would also be a good law to govern nursery stock. Even poultry raisers have written for information about the law with a view of applying it to the poultry industry, for the protection of the buyers of baby chicks and hatching stock.

That Texas certified cottonseed are in demand is attested by the fact that thirteen States have bought certifide seed in varying quantities during the past season. Seed were shipped into three of what are known as non-cotton States—Kansas, Missouri and Illinois—each of which bought small quantities of seed. Of the foreign countries purchasing Texas certified seed, Mexico, Syria, and China stand out. And the shipment of the seed was made in face of the fact that it was required to be moved under stringent regulations made necessary by the pink boll worm.—Ethel J. Roe.

Rev. G. C. Ivins and wife returned last week-end from a visit their old home in East Texas and he filled his pulpit in the Baptist church Sunday.

Rev. S. D. Lambert and family returned last week-end from a visit to Flatonio, where he served as pastor for five odist church for five years. While there they met with Rev. O. O. Moore, who was pastor of the Methodist church here last year and is now pastor at Flatonio.

Messrs Cockrum and Tyson shipped some registered goats from Kerrville to this city last Saturday and will place them with the goat raisers in Mills county. The farmers and ranchers are giving more attention to the grade of their goats than they did a few years ago and as a consequence the goat business is greatly improved.

Mrs. O. C. Sykes of Ballinger visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Reed in Big Valley several days and then returned to her home the early part of this week. She would have liked to have remained for the Fair, but her new 8-room brick home in Ballinger is nearing completion and she was anxious to be there to see that details were all correct. Mr. Sykes is th owner of a motor company in Ballinger and Winters and has an interest in a business in Coleman. He and Mrs. Sykes were reared in Big Valley.

DOMINANT BROWNWOOD MAN DEAD

John R. Looney, 79, for fifty four years a prominent citizen, community builder and church leader of Brownwood and Brown County, died Thursday night, death being attributed to pneumonia. Mr. Looney had served as mayor of Brownwood for ten years, from 1907 to 1915, and from 1920 to 1922. Prior to being elected mayor he served as alderman for ten years. He was president and member of the public school board for twenty-two years. At the time of his death he was chairman of the board of directors of Brown County Water Improvement District No. 1 and chairman of the City Planning Commission. He had served as Sunday school superintendent for more than fifty years.

PAINFUL INDIGESTION

"I suffered a good while before I found something that would help me," writes Mr. E. W. Becky, of Neesho, Mo. "My trouble was indigestion, pains in my chest and a tight, bloated feeling that would make me feel smothered."

"Speaking of this to a friend of mine, he told me that Black-Draught was good for this trouble. I bought a package. It certainly did help me, so I continued to use it. I am in the transfer business, and sometimes when I would be hungry and ready to eat, I would have a call and would have to eat later. Then I would eat too much or too hurriedly. This would cause indigestion. After I started using Black-Draught, I found it did me a world of good."

Love for pretty things which she was unable to purchase, but wished to wear to charm her lover drove Mrs. Vivian Seraper, 25, to robbery. The woman confessed to police that she obtained $13,775 from the Security Benefit Association in Topeka, Kansas, June 28, after she had forced a traveling salesman to drive her to the scene of her crime. She pushed a gun in a man's ribs and made her escape.

MR. W. L. MILLER
Mr. W. L. Miller, 103 W. 38th St., Austin, Texas, whose picture appears here, writes: My health had been on the decline for four years; I had not been able to work for nearly two years. I tried five of the best doctors, but continued to get worse. Through the kindness of a lady friend, I was induced to try Dr. Rountree's treatment. I commenced taking the treatment Oct. 9th, 1928, and felt an improvement in one week after I began. I gained 35 pounds in weight in four months. NAILS AND STAPLES

Volume Number 1. Friday, July 19, 1929. Number 27

Published in the interest of the people of Mills County by Barnes and McCullough.

PAUL McCULLOUGH, Editor

Co-operation builds cities. Co-operate with your home town merchants. They co-operate for and with you all the time.

People, while you are at the Mills County Fair, visit one of the prettiest and most up-to-date power plants in central Texas. Yes, it's the Texas-Louisiana Power Co. plant.

Husband: "How long do you suppose I could live without brains?"

Wife: "Time will tell."

If the Goldthwaite ball team beats San Saba, Barnes & McCullough will give each player one stick of any kind of lumber they want.

Goldthwaite is a fine city. Are you doing your share to beautify it?

As you go into the Fair grounds notice that our Can't Sag gates don't sag.

He: "Girls are prettier than men."
She: "Naturally."
He: "Artificially."

You gamblers had better bet on the horses that are resting in the new horse stalls, because horses that rest in stalls furnished by Barnes & McCullough run faster.

Don't knock your home town. If you can't say something constructive, keep quiet.

If you don't have a good time at the Fair, you can't blame anyone but yourself.
