

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

The federal government is to pay round trip expenses for all people of America who are the next of kin to visit the graves of American soldiers who fell in line of battle and are buried in the allied nations.

Plenty of rest in their endurance test is the demand of Texas' Croquet Cronies who have covered 150 miles of their attempt to knock a croquet ball from Galveston to New York. At their present speed, the cronies, who have been on the road a month, ought to reach New York some time in 1931. This, despite their desire to eat Thanksgiving dinner with Mayor Jimmy Walker.

The forthcoming negotiations between Russian and Chinese envoys who will attempt settlement of the dispute between the two countries centering around control of the Chinese eastern railway in Manchuria claimed the attention of the great powers, which, under American leadership over the last anxious week-end.

A construction of the marriage license law has been made by an assistant attorney general who has handled all questions on that law, in which it is now held that where all requirements of the law are met when the application for license is filed, the instrument may be mailed to the contracting parties at the end of the third day, exclusive of the day of filing. It was originally held that it must be called for by one of the parties.

Henry Drake, 40, was killed Saturday night when an automobile struck the rear of a wagon in which he was riding on the highway near Eastland. The impact knocked Drake under the team. His head was crushed and his legs almost torn from his body. The iron coupling pole protruding behind the wagon passed through the radiator of the car and entered the back seat. Jule Karkalits and Ben Burleson of Cisco, who were riding in the car, were painfully though not seriously injured.

A model city to house a population of about 4,000 persons is being planned by the department of the Interior as one of the first steps toward construction of Boulder Dam on the Colorado River. The city, as yet unnamed, will rise on the brink of the Colorado, a mile from the point in Black Canyon, selected for the dam. It will provide permanent homes for the 1,000 workers who will be employed eight years in building the dam, their families and the normal population necessary to their comfortable existence.

LEGISLATIVE JOKE

The famed "farmer's tractor" exemption feature of the new gasoline tax law seems to have been reduced to the status of a little legislative joke. A dispatch from Austin detailing preparations of the Comptroller's office to handle the tax contains the bland prediction that red tape would plentifully about the process prescribed for obtaining refunds on exempted gasoline will prove efficacious in discouraging applications for such refunds to such an extent that the State Treasury will profit many thousands of dollars. It is only the large consumer of gasoline for purposes other than propelling automobiles that is expected to be a regular applicant for refunds.

Thus, to all intents and purposes, the "exemption" written into the law for the benefit of the farmer who uses a tractor or a gasoline engine for farm power, is a fake exemption. The law grants the exemption, and then hedges it about with so much red tape that to obtain it will be difficult and tedious, and, in many instances would cost more than the tax refund sought.

The exemption will be of benefit to some large users of non-automobile gasoline in the State. For instance a firm which keeps airplanes in flight will be much better off under the new law, since the effect will be to enable it to buy gasoline two cents cheaper than under the old law. The same will be true of owners of motor boats, and power plants of large size using gasoline as fuel. But the multiplicity of documents which must be filled out and filed, and the $1 filing fee required with each claim for a refund, will operate to eliminate from the list of beneficiaries of the exemption all small users whose monthly purchases of gasoline run no more, say, than 100 gallons. The filing fee itself will eat up the refund on 25 gallons.

The Legislature must have its little joke. The exemption of gasoline used on the farms and elsewhere for non-automobile purposes was a needed act of justice not embodied in the old gas tax law which provided a rate of 2 cents a gallon. Its inclusion in the new law helped to allay opposition to doubling the tax rate. Now that it has served to help "put over" the 4-cent rate, it appears to have been only a pretended exemption except as applying to large users.—Star Telegram.

A GOOD LAW

Surely, most of the comment regarding the new Texas marriage law has been favorable to the law. Those who take their duty seriously very rarely comment unfavorably on any law. Public opinion as a rule comes to jell in law, and only a law that won't jell may be said to have no sanction in public sentiment. Most laws, deliberately enacted and approved by the people's representatives, prove eventually to be good. There is much complaint of new laws, and often such complaining seems justified. But time usually sets the stamp of approval on all serious legislation. The new marriage law in Texas has received almost unanimous approval. It is not opposed by even the most rigid sticklers for personal liberty. It might be said with superficial justification that any man free to marry has the right to marry any consenting woman equally free, without interference by public authority. That rule probably obtains in the jungle. And for that and similar reasons the junglers remain jungled. The State has a right to exercise some authority over marriage, because one or both parties in a bad marriage may become an expense to the State. And because the offspring of a very bad marriage may become public charges. "Don't" was Punch's advice to those about to marry. But it was bad counsel. Better counsel to those about to become Texas brides is, don't connive at the prospective bridegroom's proposal to avoid the requirements of the Texas law. Marriage is a serious undertaking, no matter what the Hollywooders and the blase millionaires think of it. It is.—State Press in Dallas News.

CHILD SLAVERY

The All States News bureau of Washington, D. C., in discussing the child labor problem says: "American Slavery" is the somewhat startling title of an editorial in the "Woman's Home Companion" for August. The facts that follow are every bit as startling, however. The editorial in full follows: "Hundreds of thousands of American children under 16 years of age are toiling at farm work. Not merely at chores or 'helping out' as every child can well do, but at hard labor, all season long, nine, ten and even twelve hours a day. Many of these boys and girls are working not at home but as hired labor. Many of them travel with their parents as migratory workers, following the corps from place to place. These are usually housed pitifully in overcrowded and unsanitary sleeping quarters. They are kept out of school for long periods or entirely. Physical examinations made in Colorado showed that two out of three of the child farm workers had protruding shoulder blades and that flat foot was very prevalent. Both conditions are typical results of overstrain or immature muscles. "When the child labor amendment was defeated several years ago it was with the assurance that the several States would themselves put a stop to child slavery. They have not kept that pledge. Only six States so far have any regulation of child labor on the farm. Our country still rests under the disgrace of being one of the few civilized nations that permits its unprotected youth to be so exploited."

FACTS WORTH KNOWING

Graham—Two days after turning eight Jersey cows into a sudan pasture M. H. Burdick of Red Top community weighed up 13 pounds more milk than before, the increase being from 160 pounds daily to 173 pounds. He planted a little less than one acre per cow this year as a demonstration, but told the county agent his intention to plant two acres per cow next year.

Abilene—After treating his flock of 324 hens for worms, J. S. Reagen of Shep community gathered 42 eggs less each day for eight days. But 19 days after the treatment the flock was laying 84 more eggs daily than before. The flock used to lay 110 eggs, now they lay 194 eggs each day. The commonest worm treatment used by the county agent is two pounds of tobacco dust mixed with 100 pounds of mash and fed for three weeks, omitted for three weeks, and then repeated for the same period.

El Paso—A powdered weed killer composed of calcium chlorate has been used successfully against possession vine, blue weed, Johnson grass and tullies in the El Paso Valley, the county agent reports.

VENUS ROTATES

Astronomers have hitherto been in doubt as to whether Venus, the earth's nearest neighbor among the planets, rotates upon its axis. Although Venus has a much heavier atmosphere than the earth, its density, temperature, size and other physical properties resemble those of our globe. Dr. W. W. Coblentz, of the Bureau of Standards stated before the National Academy of Sciences that fine measurements of the temperature distribution of Venus indicate that the planet is rotating on its axis like the earth, although possibly slower. Formerly it was supposed that Venus always turns the same face toward the sun, which would mean that one side would be intensely hot and the other extremely cold.

COWS VS. OIL WELLS

The investor in good milk cows may feel reasonably sure of excellent returns on his investment. Let us see what H. C. Phillips, 74-year-old ranchman of Shamrock, says about his cows and oil wells. A story, which recently appeared in the Amarillo News says that Mr. Phillips has tried both cows and oil wells. The discovery well of the extensive oil fields was located on Mr. Phillips' ranch, but he has continuously kept a herd of Holstein cows on his farm. The small herd returns him a year round net profit of $10 per day. "Show me four or five oil wells that will keep up that long," says Mr. Phillips.

One Holstein cow earned $923.45 in one year, averaging six gallons of milk per day, says the story. A Jersey cow for which he paid $90 averaged five gallons daily for five months, showing a profit for that period of $304.50, and in addition giving him a calf for which he has been offered $50.—Colorado Record.

PAINS Went Away

"I WAS very much run-down in health. I had a dreadful ache across the middle of my back. I had a dull, tired feeling, and I dreaded the thought of having to do my household tasks. I was tired when I got up in the morning. I got no rest from my sleep, and I was sleepy all day long.

"My husband got a bottle of Cardui for me. It was not long before I began to show a decided improvement. My strength began to return and I felt much more like myself. The sleepy spells gradually quit and the pains in my back and sides disappeared.

Fred Fletcher of Los Angeles California is a very welcome visitor in this section. He is a guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Fletcher, but everybody is glad to see Fred, who has been gone several years. He has a good position in the Golden State and is making good. He met his old friend Carl Fisher met here to talk over boyhood days. They were both reared at Prairie.

The following young people from Mullin had their names to appear on the Howard Payne honor roll for the summer term. They are:

Ralph Fisher.
Miss Jewel Black.
Avis Petsiek
Marie Wallace.

Mullin is extremely interested in the success of these students, and is well pleased with the fine showing they are making.

The protracted meeting at Duren attracted a large crowd Sunday. Rev. T. K. Anderson preached in the morning and Rev. Slade was the preacher for the afternoon service. A number of visitors were present. A great feast was served at the noon hour to all who were fortunate enough to be present.

The State Superintendent of Schools has advised university authorities that in the administration of the new law authorizing the investment of the permanent school fund in building bonds to be issued by the University of Texas, he will insist that the securities of the smaller school districts be given preference and that any university bonds purchased shall bear the average rate of interest paid on other securities purchased by the school fund. At this time the permanent school fund has $465,000 of uninvested money. All school district bonds offered have been bought and that amount of money is idle. The university is preparing to issue bonds for a $3,000,000 building campaign and some of them may be offered by the school fund. Bonds now owned by the permanent school fund bring an average interest rate of 5 per cent. Mr. Marrs says he will demand that the university bonds bear no less than that rate.

Alleging irreparable damages to his reputation as a "daredevil of the air" and discomfort because of a jail stretch, Buck Hoover, bull thrower, has filed suit for $100,000 damages against the city of Shawnee, Okla., the Shawnee Airport Company and the Shawnee chief of police. The suit was an outgrowth of Hoover's unsuccessful attempt to bull-dog a steer from an airplane July 4. The event was widely advertised and attended by thousands. Hoover failed on his first attempt and the plane's motor went dead on the second. Hoover claimed he abandoned his first attempt when the crowd surged on the field. Both Hoover and his pilot were placed in the Shawnee jail to avoid a mob which threatened the men for perpetrating a farce. The gate receipts were attached.

The Texas cotton crop is estimated at 4,775,000 bales, based on July 15 condition, by George B. Terrell, Commissioner of Agriculture. The acreage, says the report, was increased 2 per cent, but abandonment has offset the increase, which makes the acreage practically the same as last season. With favorable conditions the crop should reach 5,000,000 bales, but it is Mr. Terrell's opinion that it will fall below that figure. Considerable boll weevil damage is reported and the leafworm is cleaning fields in South Texas. Many growers are poisoning.

Just as soon as there are any vacancies in the hospitals of the United States Veterans' Bureau equipped for caring for insane ex-service men, consideration will be given to transfer there of insane veterans now in Texas State hospitals, Frank T. Hines, director of the Veterans' Bureau, advised Senator Tom Connally. The seventeen Government hospitals equipped for care of the insane are filled to capacity and all regional offices of the bureau have waiting lists for vacancies.

Hidden beneath a barn in an underground cavern, entered through cleverly camouflaged shafts, a giant still and 833 gallons of rye whiskey were found when Federal agents raided an unoccupied farm house and premises in Navarro County, near Corsicana. In the subterranean stillhouse and premises above ground officers found 833 gallons of whiskey, a 1,000-gallon copper still and 18,000 gallons of rye mash. Three men were arrested and placed in the Dallas County jail.

CURRENT SPLASHES

The Wickersham Enforcement, if adopted, will certainly hand a cornjuice banana to the local moonshiner. This plan seems to be for Uncle Sam to watch the border and not let any of the Canadian bug juice get across, while such drags as they now have in Detroit and New York, neither of which have any state dry enforcement law, are expected to keep the local situation dry.

The Wickersham Enforcement idea would seem to make the wet places wetter without making the dry places dryer. Under it, if adopted, we will certainly gain moisture.

Well, really, to express our real opinion of the Wickersham Enforcement idea, suppose we just leave off the "Wicker" in Wickersham and just write it the "Sham" Enforcement plan.

No tariff in the Wickersham plan of enforcement. Uncle Sam is to guard the borders, and we are going to call the competitors of the local moonshiners, smugglers. It would seem that this "Infant Industry", now only a few thousand years old, is not to be exposed with a mere tariff protection—the dry army is to shield it from foreign competition.

NAZARENE MEETING CLOSED

The Nazarene meeting came to a close Sunday night, after continuing two weeks, with much interest and enthusiasm. Rev. Will Lynn, pastor of the church, had the assistance of Rev. Chas. Robinson, of Bethany, Okla., and his son, Rev. Threadgill Robinson. While the two Robinsons did most of the preaching, the pastor and members of the church gave strong support and encouragement and this is said to have been one of the best meetings the church has held here in a number of years. Rev. Chas. Robinson left Monday for Pearl, to conduct the annual meeting at that place.

FAMILY REUNION

The children and grandchildren were all present at a family reunion for the first time in their lives last Sunday, July 28, in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Knowles, of Big Valley. Forty members partook of a bountiful dinner and supper and enjoyed the close and harmonious association of relatives and friends throughout the day. In the afternoon games and swimming were the diversions. All left at a late hour, each proclaiming a great day and a good time and insisting on more reunions and watermelon feasts in the future.

Those present were: G. A. Knowles and family of Big Valley, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Malone of Los Angeles, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Cannon and family of Temple, Mrs. Leon Baker and daughter of Denton, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Kennedy and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Knowles and family, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Knowles and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Denman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Denman, Mr. and Mrs. George Denman, and Misses Irene and Velma Denman, and Myrtle Parker, all of Goldthwaite and neighboring communities. Others called in the afternoon and joined the swimming party. A GUEST

AMENDMENTS DEFEATED

The two constitutional amendments submitted to the voters on July 16, one to increase the governor's salary and the other to increase the number of supreme judges, were defeated by a decisive majority, according to figures compiled by a number of people and organizations and a sufficient number of counties have reported to make the defeat certain. Immediately after the election the reports from the larger cities were published, giving an overwhelming majority in favor of both propositions and we of the opposition had conceded the success of both measures, while we could scarcely understand how it could be possible. The dailies continued to publish reports wherein the lead of the favorable vote was so strong that the cause seemed hopeless. So sure were the members of the court that the number would be increased that the court room had been re-arranged to accommodate the increased number of dignitaries, but this will now have to be re-adjusted and put back like it was before the success of the amendment was assured.

Mills county was in line with other parts of the state in opposition to the amendments and the fact that the election was called for the middle of the week did not prevent a sufficient number of voters in this and other good counties swatting the amendments.

The Eagle appreciates community communications and local items. These help to make the paper interesting to the readers and beneficial to the county. When you know a local item send it in.

Homer Starnes passed thru this city the first of the week, enroute from San Marcos to Grosvenor, in response to a message announcing the serious illness of his mother, who died after he reached the family home.

Miss Thalia Hamilton of Star has accepted a position as saleslady in the Bargain Store, on the west side of the square. Miss Hamilton is not a stranger to Goldthwaite, having held a position with Yarborough's dry goods store for some time.

Eugene Dickerson arrived at home Wednesday night from Clifton, Arizona, where he has a splendid position, and will spend some time visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Dickerson, and other relatives.

Mrs. C. E. Stone of Pine Bluff, Ark., is visiting her brother, John Fulton, and family in this city. Mrs. Stone formerly lived in this county and her husband was a merchant at Center City in an early day. She will leave the first of the coming week for Fort Worth and other points to visit relatives before returning home.

The county bastille has one occupant this week. His name is Berry and he comes from San Saba county. The charge is theft of turkeys, which is a felony in this state. He was granted bail in the sum of $750, but up to the time the Eagle was put to press he had not furnished the necessary signatures on the document and was still in the custody of the jailer.

On another page the Eagle editor tells of the delightful peaches presented by Mr. J. J. Coakrell, the fruit grower of Big Valey, but before the paper was issued Mr. Coakrell again placed us under obligation by bringing in a nice lot of grapes. It seems he grows a great variety of fruits, all of the best kind, and he has the kindness of heart to share them with his friends. He doubtless sells more fruit at his orchard and in San Saba and Goldthwaite than any other grower in this section is able to produce.

ONE CROP

It suggests that those who grow cotton with the most success are convinced that too great dependence on their main crop subverts their prosperity. As surely as man can not live by bread alone, even though he be a baker, likewise surely no cotton farmer can thrive by cotton with no supporting crop. If single-shot cotton farming were profitable anywhere, surely that exceptional place would be Ellis County, Texas. But where is the Ellis County farmer or business man who urges cotton alone? He does not exist. Yet cotton is a good crop. It has received much abuse. It has been criticised, rebuked, excoriated in high places and low, but cotton continues to pay taxes, liquidate debts and give employment to millions. The trouble is not with cotton, but with those who depend upon cotton to do what no single crop can do. Always somewhere in the world coal miners are out of work and many of them reduced to penury. They fail to support themselves adequately because the coal industry is overmanned, and those who will or can do nothing but coal must be in constant hazard of their wage. The cotton farmer who can not or will not turn his hand to other crops is in the coal miner's boat—he has only one dependence and that is undependable.—State Press in Dallas News.

OFFICIALS FIGHT

State Banking Commissioner James Shaw and State Treasurer W. Gregory Hatcher came to blows at the west entrance of the state capitol a few days ago following a heated meeting of the state banking board. Shaw struck Hatcher, but the two were separated immediately. Hatcher had been talking about him, Shaw said. Hatcher in a recent address to the Lions Club at Austin criticized operation of other state departments. Among the comments attributed to him was the statement that certain departments spent twice as much money as necessary.

OUTLINING POLICY

The Texas Woman's Christian Temperance Union has already started a campaign for nomination in the State Democratic primary to be held next July for candidates who stand for prohibition, law enforcement and good government. Mrs. Claude de Van Watts of Austin, president of the Texas Union, Saturday sent a letter to each of the announced and mentioned candidates for governor in the Democratic primary announcing the principles of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and submitting a questionnaire.

PRISON RELOCATION

The executive secretary of the Texas Prison Centralization Commission, announced Friday that he will open headquarters in Houston at the Rice Hotel starting next Sunday and will maintain offices there during the work of the Commission. The Commission will meet in Houston next Thursday to map out its itinerary for an inspection of the 74,000 acres of State owned lands.

Before the Commission considers concentration elsewhere it will make a thorough inspection and study of the prison-owned farms and their desirability for concentrating the Prison System efficiently and economically. This inspection will be one of the first efforts of the Commission. After that will come the inspection of other sites and visits to modern prisons of other states to obtain information to be used in recommending a model prison system for Texas.

The secretary is accumulating a mass of data from other States. The California report has just been received, which shows that State has two prisons at San Quentin and at Folsom. The State has in excess of 6,000 convicts, or about 1,000 more than in the Texas system. During 1927 there was only one attempted escape and the prisoner was recaptured before he left the reservation. No escapes were tried in 1928. This is in contrast to the wholesale escapes in Texas. However, most of the Texas escapes are from farms and not from prison walls. California has no farms. The California system operates a large jute mill and it uses many convicts on public highways. Its costs appear low.

The famed "Folsom riot" was ascribed to machinations of desperate long termers who were endeavoring to escape. The report said the convicts found no fault with the prison conditions, such as food, housing and general treatment.

Mrs. Emma Dale of McKinney spent part of last week here with her sister, Mrs. D. D. Kemper.

B. Fry of the Electric Laundry, left yesterday for San Antonio, where he will spend thirty days in the reserve forces of the United States army. The reserves are required to spend a month in camp each year, in order to maintain their rank and the time is pleasant for them as well as financially interesting.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Clements returned the first of the week from Coleman, where they were called last Friday on account of the illness and death of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Clements. The little one only lived a few days, but her death caused sadness to the Clements family and in this they have the sympathy of their friends.

THEY DID NOT PASS

Quite a change was brought about by the discovery that the constitutional amendments were not adopted in the election on July 16. All arrangements had been made by the court to put the additional members in place, while some of the candidates for governor were anticipating luxuries with the increase. So confident were the candidates that they made up a fine list, as shown by the following special from Austin.

Austin, Texas, July (UP)—Two of the six places on the state Supreme Court to be filled by Governor Moody are now generally conceded to Judge Richard Critz of Taylor and Judge C. A. Leddy of Houston.

Both are on the commission of appeals by appointment of Governor Moody and failure to name them for the Supreme Court places which supplant the commission would cause great surprise.

For the four other places practically every lawyer of prominence in Texas has been suggested.

W. A. Keeling of Austin, former Attorney General, managed the successive campaigns that have been made to enlarge the Supreme Court. Many bar associations have asked if they might endorse him for one of the places. Keeling has requested them not to do so. It is not believed, however, any lawyer in the state would reject the appointment if the place were offered him.

Chief Justice C. M. Cureton, first went to the Supreme Court by appointment of Governor Neff. At that time Judge Curt-ton was Attorney General. It is said that he asked T. W. Gregory of Houston for advice about accepting. Gregory's reply was that it was the duty of any lawyer to accept a call to the Supreme Court.

One prominent Austin attorney said that if he were Governor Moody he would pick out Chief Justices of the Courts of Civil Appeals and put them on the Supreme Court. If Governor Moody should have the same idea the men and courts from among whom the selection would be made are:

R. A. Pleasants, Galveston court; Truman H. Conner, Ft. Worth; James W. McClendon, Austin; W. S. Fly, San Antonio; Ben L. Jones, Dallas; Samuel P. Willson, Texarkana; R. W. Hall, Amarillo; W. H. Pelphrey, El Paso; L. B. Hightower, Beaumont; J. N. Gallagher, Waco and J. E. Hickman, Eastland.

In some instances associate judges of the Appeals courts are being urged upon Governor Moody. In San Antonio quite a movement has been started for Judge Ed. W. Smith and he is being urged also by the friends of the Governor in Houston and Beaumont. Richard B. Levy of the Texarkana court is also being urged. One argument being put up in favor of Judge McClendon of the Austin court is that if he is named, District Judge George Calhoun could be appointed to succeed Judge McClendon on the Court of Appeals. The friends of Judge Calhoun, however, are urging that he be put on the Supreme Court.

One of the strong boosters for Judge Calhoun is State Senator John W. Hornsby, Mrs. M. Y. Stokes, Jr., and sons, who have been here from Houston several days visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Thompson, expect to leave for their home Saturday.

who, like Governor Moody, has had much of his law practice as a public official before Judge Calhoun.

Still another suggestion being made at Austin is that the six judges should be picked out geographically.

The three members of the court who are serving by election are: Chief Justice C. M. Cureton, formerly of Walnut Springs; Judge Thomas B. Greenwood, Palestine and William Pierson, Greenville.

The amendment says that Governor Moody shall make the appointments "immediately" upon the amendment taking effect. It "takes effect" when the state canvassing board canvasses the election and declares the result. This will be August 24 or 26. The exact 40 days specified falls on August 25, but that is Sunday.

It is expected that Governor Moody will announce all of the appointments at the same time. No confirmation of the appointments by the state senate is required.

Tabulated returns from 82 counties including Dallas, Tarrant, Harris, Bexar and El Paso, as reported to former Governor Jas. E. Ferguson show a majority of 14,892 against the proposed increase in the governor's salary and a majority of 14,836 against the proposed increase in supreme court membership. The returns are complete from 79 of the 82 counties reported.

Walter Glenn Saylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Saylor, has been in Houston this week, visiting his uncle, Walter Weathers.

Work on the Christian church parsonage is progressing rapidly and the building will soon be ready for occupancy.

If you have any of the following symptoms, we have the remedy, no matter what your trouble has been diagnosed: Nervousness, stomach trouble, loss of weight, loss of sleep, sore mouth, pains in the back and shoulders, peculiar swimming in the head, gothy-like phlegm in throat, passing mucous from the bowels, especially after taking purgative, burning feet, brown, rough, or yellow skin, burning or itching skin, rash on the hands, face and arms resembling sunburn, habitual constipation, (sometimes alternating with diarrhoea), copper or metallic taste, skin sensitive to sunheat, forgetfulness, despondency, and thoughts that you might lose your mind, gums a fiery red and falling away from the teeth, general weakness with loss of energy. An opportunity for investment that will interest every one in this community

OVER 3,000,000 Americans own securities in the companies which supply them gas, electricity or other Utility services. They have profited by their investment. Now you too, can profit, if you join this class of satisfied investors.

Texas-Louisiana Power Co.

offers you as one of its customers, an opportunity to invest in a limited number of shares of its

7% Cumulative Preferred Stock

This is a very attractive investment for you. Why? Because you will be a stockholder in a basic industry; because this company, well established and well managed, supplies essential Utility services to approximately 300,000 people in 143 communities in six States; because there is an equity of $165 for each share of Preferred Stock (par value $100); because gross earnings for the year ended May 31, 1929, were nearly $3,750,000; because this Company has paid dividends on its Preferred Stock regularly and without interruption; and because the management of the Company is in the hands of experienced and successful Public Utility operators and its directorate includes such men as A. P. Barrett, Allan J. Smith and others.

You may buy this stock for cash, or on our CUMULATIVE MONTHLY SAVINGS PLAN of $10 down per share and $10 per month per share. You will receive 7% interest on your payments from the date payments are made.

Offered at $100 per share, plus accrued dividends —yielding 7%.

We urge immediate investigation of this unusual investment opportunity. You can place your order or obtain additional information through anyone connected with the Company or at any of our local offices or through the General Office at Fort Worth.

Why These Shares Are a Good Investment for You

1. The business is firmly established, well managed and permanent.
2. Your savings and surplus funds will be safe. The net assets applicable to Preferred Stock are equivalent to $165 for each $100 share.
3. Your income at 7% will be regular and dependable.
4. Dividend checks will be mailed quarterly on the first day of January, April, July and October.
5. Dividends are exempt from present normal Federal Income Tax.
6. In the opinion of counsel, this stock is exempt from personal property taxes in the states of Texas and New Mexico.
7. Attractive price $100 per share, plus accrued dividends — to yield 7%.

Only a limited number of shares are available. We suggest you act promptly.

CHIROPRACTIC

What Is It?
It is not my purpose in this short treatise to discuss any explanation is intended to lay down in simple, understandable language the fundamental premise upon which Chiropractic is based, and to show clearly that this premise is in conformity with the known facts of life, which are familiar to everyone.
It should be understood in the beginning that Chiropractic is a new profession only in the sense that it is a new use of principles which have always existed and which, since the beginning of time, have been evidenced in all expressions of life.
Requirements of Life
Life exists in many forms and each living thing must be supplied with certain necessities in order that it may exist.

thence S. 71 W. 934 vrs to a st-md for cor of this tract, thence
S. 19 E. 614 1/2 vrs to the place of beginning or S. W. cor of this tract containing 101 1/2 acres of land that the said interest, penalty and costs accrued
thereon by reason of the sale of said lands to the State or having been returned delinquent for the years 1919, 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924, 1925, 1926,

Without these necessities, the living thing undergoes destructive change and finally death. In order for a tree to live and thrive it must receive from the earth in which it rests certain nourishing elements.
These are absorbed, drawn up into the growing sapling and changed into wood and bark and sap and leaves. Air is necessary and so is light if this particular form of life is to exist.

Man's Needs
It is equally true that man requires certain material things and must be favored with certain conditions in order that life may be expressed. He requires oxygen, nutrition, water, a reasonable degree of warmth and light. In addition to these there are certain other and intangible factors which, when present, lead to the fullest expression of life. All of these natural things being equal, as Nature requires, Innate Intelligence—that power operating within—can and does transform these material things into blood, serum, flesh and bone, and cause to exist within God's natural laws of physical function.

Intelligence
There is unlimited evidence which proves that this immaterial force is an intelligent power. It is with us at birth.
It is, therefore, inborn and the Chiropractor designates it as the Innate (inborn) Intelligence. This Innate Intelligence may be considered as "the man within." This "man within" does innumerable things which we, with our poor abilities derived through education, could never dream of doing. It is this power within, this innate intelligence, which stays on the job every second of every hour throughout our lives. Waking or sleeping, the Innate Intelligence is alive and active. It is this expression of life which causes the heart to beat 75 times per minute throughout our entire lives. It is this intelligence which causes the foods to be digested; which causes them to be absorbed and transported by the circulation to all parts of the body, where their life-giving energy is needed. It is this intangible thing which heals the wound, which mends

the bone and co-ordinates every physical function with every other function. Far beyond all this, it is this expression of life which activates our brains and leads to thought and vision and dreams—that lifts us out of our little sphere and sets us wandering in distant lands. It touches as a whisper, the heart strings of all human things. It is seemingly as unreal as a phantom, and yet it is the only real thing in all the universe.
It is God's because He created it. It is a sub-portion of His all-wise intelligence.

Innate's System of Conduction
It is this power, this driving, gigantic, vital energy with which the Chiropractor is concerned. Science has proved, beyond a shadow of doubt, that this vital energy is expressed through the nervous system. If all the nerves leading to the arm should be cut, it would be impossible to move the fingers or the hands. The conduction of force which lead to such movement could not reach the fingers because the lines of communication have been destroyed. The arm would wither.
So far as its harmonious function with the body is concerned, it would be dead.

The Place of Creation
It must be understood that every tissue of the body is supplied with nerve filaments which are, either directly or indirectly, connected with the brain. It is the brain which is the great central power house.
From here this Innate force is sent to all parts of the body where the expression of this force is personified, or expressed. It matters not whether we consider the kidneys, the liver, the stomach, the heart or the toes. Each must maintain its contact through the nervous system in order that it may receive its vital energy from the brain. Let any of the lines of communication be destroyed or impaired and the organ supplied by those lines will be deficient in its function. In like proportion, if any of these lines are compressed, or in any way obstructed, the full quota cannot get through and as a result,
function is impaired.

Interference
This is exactly what happens when segments of the spinal column become displaced. Pressure is then made on the nerve trunks near the bony segments and their ability to transmit vital energy is impaired.

The result may not be evidenced at once. It may require weeks, or even months, before the effect will be noticed, but eventually it will manifest itself. It is the Chiropractor's province to discover just where such interference in nerve transmission occurs. When he has done this, it is his further province to correct the condition of the spine which has led to such interference. When this is done, the Innate Intelligence is able to properly express itself and health is the natural result. The expression of Innate Intelligence is the expression of God's intelligence, which is often called Nature, and after all Nature is the one great healer. Knowing this, the Chiropractor seeks by his work to so correct the abnormal conditions of the spine

so that Nature may be fully expressed.

Question
Do you who read this think that some or all power of man's educated intelligence is equal to this Innate Intelligence within? THINK!

ther information on specific diseases, it will be gladly given.

vestigation.

Miss Muadie Bell Kirby is visiting relatives and friends at Fort Worth and Dallas.

Mrs. J. C. Wall of Selina has been here this week, visiting her sister, Mrs. D. D. Kemper. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fairman received their new car Saturday evening. It is indeed a beauty and is admired by all who have seen it.

Mrs. J. S. Bowles and daughter of Groveton spent several days here visiting her mother, Mrs. Gatlin, and other relatives. J. T. Gotcher and his son Ross have been here from Prosper, Collin county, this week visiting in the home of D. D. Kemper.

Clarence Mason and family, accompanied by his mother, left Monday for an automobile trip to Oklahoma. They will visit Tulsa and other points and expect to be away ten days or two weeks.

Ernest Wilson and wife came over from Brownwood Saturday and he left Sunday for Corpus Christi on an inspection trip, looking over the company's broadcasting plants. Mrs. Wilson remained here with relatives and friends.

W. P. Weaver, county farm demonstrator, left Sunday, accompanied by the delegates to the Farmers' Short Course, at College Station. They will visit Alveston before returning home and expect to be away about a week.

The Eagle is always glad to publish notices of religious meetings and social gatherings, the only requirement being that the writers of such articles make known their identity to the editor. There is no charge or notices of such meetings.

County Missionary Rev. W. Thornton, closed an interesting and successful meeting at Long Cove Sunday night.

Mrs. Annie Little and her son and daughter. Raymond and Miss Garetta, returned Sunday evening from an auto trip to Dallas, Sweetwater, San Angelo and elsewhere, where they visited relatives.

County politics are already being discussed and some prospective line-ups are being made. True, the primary is a year off and many changes may take place before the campaign gets under way, but some candidates and their supporters are beginning to circulate quietly.

Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock Clem Howard and Miss Joyce Cokrum were united in marriage at the Lampasas Methodist parsonage. Rev. J. J. Mason performed the ceremony. The young couple were from Goldthwaite.

Friday morning, Sam Starnes and Miss Lizzie Kite were married at the Methodist parsonage. The young couple were from Goldthwaite and were on their way to Corpus Christi. They intend to make that place their home. A Methodist revival meeting will open Sunday evening, July 27 at McCrea with Rev. H. E. Moreland of Goldthwaite, doing the preaching. Mrs. Ethel Gray of Goldthwaite will lead the singing during the meeting. The public is cordially invited to attend these services. — Lampasas Leader.

INSECTS MAKE FARMS SMALL?

The trend of economic pressure seems to be toward corporation farming in large acreage. But Dr. Charles T. Brues, professor of economic entomology at Harvard, says that insects may force us to farming on the basis of individual plots.

Says Dr. Brues: "Insects will probably necessitate some change in our method of life in respect to agriculture, and there is a strong possibility that this change will be not dictated by commercial ends, but biological. The best commercial interests appear to be served by large holdings, great fruit and vegetable farms and wheat ranches and corn lands on which pests thrive enormously, as witness the advance of the boll weevil. A more natural process of growing plants is found, perhaps, in the diversified farming of the small holdings where insects can be checked."

It is the professor's idea that with diversified farming, the insect will not have the wide sweep of a single crop and the obstacles to changing over from a threatened crop to another crop that it is in that location insect free will be less for the little farm than for the big one. This is, on assumption that diversified farming on a large scale is impossible.

The entomologist says that poison will not eradicate the insect plagues. He thinks the importation of parasites will help more in the long run. He anticipates that airplane travel will spread new insects and introduce problems of this kind which have not hitherto been faced in this country. The menace of the insect is very real, he warns us. He thinks that in another 100 years the population of the world will have reached the limit of existing food acreage.—Dallas News.

KAISER BILL MAY RETURN

Former Kaiser Wilhelm, living in exile in Doorn, can now return to Germany.

The former emperor will find no legal obstacle to prevent him from establishing his residence anywhere in the land in which he was once supreme ruler.

This possibility, fraught with all sorts of complications for the German republic, is due to a recent vote of the Reichstag when the two-thirds majority necessary for the prolongation of the law for the defense of the republic failed to be realized. This law, passed in 1922, containing a paragraph legally barring the return of the ex-kaiser, expired July 22. But there is little danger of the ex-kaiser returning to Germany. It would be sheer exaggeration even for a moment to entertain the belief that there is any chance of the former war lord coming back as long as the socialists hold the main balance of power in the republic. But what is more to the point, the former emperor refuses to return to Germany unless he returns as monarch or the monarchy is re-established.

CURRENT SPLASHES

The tariff schedule, now in preparation, is very unsatisfactory to Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi and the rest of the foreigners. I move we discard it and substitute the following schedule: The free list for everything the people have to buy—a heavy protection on everything the people have to sell.

What did it? That $500,000,000 in available help from Uncle Sam or was it just the psychological effect of the Farm Relief measure? Anyway, it's a fact that wheat, oats and corn have advanced more than 25 per cent during the past sixty days. Let's all go back to farming again.

Reflection: In the good old times when only the gasoline companies were grafting on the public, we got our gasoline at 8 cents per gallon. Now, since the State has taken a hand, gasoline is 23 cents per gallon. Our fire insurance premiums have also registered a great advance since the establishment of our State rating bureau. Wonder if this is what they call government price fixing? If it is, I am not for it any longer, for these are things I have to buy. Wish the government would fix the price on something I have to sell. Then, maybe, I would be in shape to pay its price for things I have to buy. The present arrangement always leaves me with a deficit.

Governor Moody has done pretty well in handling the State's worst criminals. Most of them he sends to that governor just beyond the "River" to seek their pardons. They don't come back.

The difference between the Buddhist and Modernist:

Modernist: "We were all monkeys a million years ago."
Buddhist: "Yes, and we'll all be monkeys a million years hence if our lives don't measure up to the standards of Nirva."

Say, I'm rather stuck on Philoe's metaphysics. He never threatened anyone with a perpetual, literal, burning hell. His metaphysical philosophy is still respected by those who shudder at the thought of burning forever and ever. For the sake of humanity, I am still hoping he's right.

If a dry officer kills a bootlegger, he gets three columns in the big dailies. If the bootlegger kills a dry officer, he gets three lines from the same source. Maybe that's the reason we have so many bootleggers—if someone bumps them off they are handed such sympathetic obituaries.

"PRO DRIVE ON WOMEN BOOTLEGGERS"

When did the women quit rolling their stockings and put on boots? PHILOSOPHER.

CHANGE IN POLICY

On October 1, the Eagle will put into effect a pay in advance policy for all subscriptions both inside and outside the county. The management has had this plan in mind for some time, but has delayed putting it into effect until the fall season. When the rule becomes effective, the mailing clerk will be instructed to watch the dates and not the names. When the expiration date is reached the name is to be removed from the list regardless of every consideration save and except the payment of subscription. This will be fair to everybody and, the management believes, will be satisfactory to everybody. The subscription list is the most valuable portion of a newspaper's business and at the same time is the cause of the greatest loss. If one person changes his address and fails to notify the publisher it is a matter of small consideration, but when hundreds of them do the same way and the paper goes on from six months to three years, at the end of which time the information is received that the party addressed has moved, the aggregate amount is burdensome. There are many other objectionable features to the happy-go-lucky plan of maintaining a subscription list.

All things considered, the policy of strictly cash in advance will be adhered to after October 1.

CAR WRECK AT LOMETA

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Morgan had a narrow escape from serious injury Sunday when the new Ford car in which they were riding and an old Ford, occupied by three Lampasas boys, collided four miles out of Lometa on the San Saba highway.

Mrs. Morgan sustained a very painful bruise on one arm, however no bones were broken, and from last report she was getting along very nicely. Mr. Morgan escaped unhurt.

The Morgan car was badly damaged, one wheel being torn off. The Lampasas boys were badly shaken up with one of them receiving a broken shoulder and their car being completely demolished. — Lometa Reporter.

MAKING GOOD

Alpine, Texas.—Mark Fallon of Goldthwaite, sophomore student in Sul Ross State Teachers College here and business manager of the college publications, the Skyline and the Brand, appeared in a play called "The Far-Away Princess" which was given by the college last week. He took the part of Herr Strubel, a young poet and tutor, in the east and played his part well, according to the director of dramatics in the college. One other play was given on the same evening and the college choral club of 30 girls sang several selections between acts.

DAIRY PRODUCTS

Declaring that the promotion end of the dairy business is over in the South and that the job in hand is to learn to produce dairy products economically, J. H. McCain of the United States Bureau of Dairy Industry, pointed out at the session at the Farmers Short Course at A. & M. College Wednesday, that volume of production should be the guiding principle in dairying.

Studies made in Tennessee show that cows producing 2000 pounds of milk yearly did so at a feed cost of 35 cents a pound butterfat, whereas butterfat cost only 21 cents a pound for feed with cows producing 6000 pounds of milk yearly. That is what is meant by volume of production in the dairy business.

"The markets for dairy products which are applicable to the rank and file of farmers are fixed by the law of supply and demand. The hope of profit to farmers who patronize most dairy markets is that they produce milk for about 18 or 20 cents a gallon and still make a profit. To do this a man can't quit farming and go into the dairy business, but he must farm for his cows. That means raising enough feed and pasture to furnish the bulk of the feed required. In the main a farmer patronizing creameries, condenseries and cheese factories cannot purchase any considerable part of his feed except the grain, and make a profit.

Success at handling cows in Texas must rest on the production of an adequate supply of hay and pastures, and on materially increasing the production of the average Texas cow.

PROFIT IN SHEEP

When more farmers in Texas add a few sheep to their farming operations as well as the cow and the hen, Texas will have a more balanced system of farming. Ernest Gibbens, of the animal husbandry department, A. & M. College of Texas, told those in attendance at the Farmers Short Course. "No animal is capable of returning a greater net profit than sheep, when given intelligent attention, nor of losing money faster when not properly handled," he said. "There are two phases of sheep production to be considered, range production and farm flock. Range production in Texas has changed much in the last 20 years," he went on to point out. "Production of sheep on the ranges of Texas is rapidly going through a transition period from production of a strictly fine wool type of sheep, as was the case some years ago, to the production of good mutton as well as fine fleece. A small farm flock brings in funds in the spring at a time when most farms have little or nothing to sell. No farmer should stock too heavily on sheep, however, but rather should keep just enough to eat his surplus weeds and turn them into money."

DELIGHTFUL FRUIT

Last week the Eagle told of the wonderful fruit crop in this county. The article was based on observation, but now we have "inside" information. Mr. J. J. Cockrell, the grower of Big Valley, who has made a wide reputation as a grower, because of the excellency and abundance of fruit grown in his orchard and marketed in a number of the surrounding towns, brought the Eagle a crate of the finest peaches anybody ever saw and we know beyond question that some of the finest fruit ever grown is grown in Mills county. We sure thank Mr. Cockrell.

MARRIAGE ANNULED

Two San Antonians who could not wait three days to obtain a marriage license, as required by Texas law and flew to Louisiana last week to be married, are single again today as a result of annulment proceedings in district court at San Antonio. They who side-stepped the Texas "gin-marriage law," had come to a parting of the ways. The annulment suit was filed in blank and although the district judge volunteered the information that the annulment was sensational, he refused to reveal its contents.

OFFERING STOCK PUBLIC

The Texas-Louisiana Power Co. is offering to the public a limited amount of its capital stock, with a 7 per cent dividend value, as is shown by a proclamation sent out from headquarters and published in various forms. The statement from the company says in part: A small block of 7 per cent Preferred Stock of this company has been reserved for subscription by the customers and friends in the sections where the company does business.

"In the last two or three years, so many requests from people in this vicinity have come for its securities that this small block will be distributed by the employees of the company within a few weeks. There will be no professional salesmen hired.

"It is estimated that over three million persons in this country own the securities of Public Utility companies and the price of security stands at the top of the list of recommendations made by almost every investment advisor. It is particularly fitting that the Texas-Louisiana Power Company gives its customers and friends an opportunity to purchase the securities of the company, where the investor has a chance to see the properties of the company, use its service, and knows many persons connected with the company.

THE ODD FELLOWS ARE ENTERTAINED

Friday night, July 26, the ladies of the Woodman Circle entertained the Odd Fellows at the Odd Fellows' hall.

At about 8:15 the house was called to order by Mrs. Dan Yates, who expressed appreciation in behalf of the Circle for the use of the hall for their meetings.

Then we had music. Also several games of 42, after which we were served cake, coffee and ice cream. Everyone present seemed to have an enjoy-

CARAVAN MOVES ON

Ten people who shout make more noise than ten thousand who keep still, but often, if not usually, silence is a better expression of prevailing public sentiment and therefore more profoundly eloquent. This is a fact overlooked or a lesson unlearned by some whose position in public life may seem to lend weight to their utterances. The noise of words in Congress is not as a rule made by those who are trying to deal constructively with public affairs. As a little discontent makes more noise than an abundance of public satisfaction, so a little political opposition is noisier than the work of those who may better represent the silent but underlying sentiment of the people. The same is true of little organized groups of people who noisily beset Congress and Legislatures with demands and who falsely claim to represent millions of people. The noise they make has often fooled members of Congress into assuming that the vociferous voices of a few represent the real voice of the nation. Thus noisy pleas or noisy demands have often become the effective weapons of those who have little of public worth to say. There is an Arab proverb, "Dogs bark but the caravan passes on." It has the flavor of the desert, but it is as true of our teeming and complex national life which ever moves forward with the momentum of millions of active minds and busy hands in national enterprise and industry.—Springfield (Mass.) Union.

able time. There were not very many Odd Fellows present and the writer thinks they must be true to the name of the order, to let such a good entertainment get by without being present. For myself, I do not belong to either order, but was lucky enough to get an invitation and must say that I certainly had a large time. Let us hope the good ladies will do this again, soon. A GUEST.

CARE OF POULTRY

Late hatched and poorly developed pullets are certain to be unprofitable layers this fall, according to Clyde Ingram, poultry specialist of the Louisiana Extension Service, who spoke before the poultry session at the Farmers Short Course at the A. & M. College. "I believe that 40 per cent of our losses from poultry diseases and parasites could be controlled by starting with vigorous standard breeding stock, and keeping clean chicks, clean brooder house, clean feed and litter, and clean range. To get good growth and development with young pullets through the hot summer months," he said, "it is necessary that plenty of range be provided, that tender, succulent green feed be abundant, and that cockrels and pullets be separated early in order to make room for the more promising pullets. The undesirable ones of both sexes should be fattened and marketed. Shade is essential, and if not present should be provided artificially. Self feeders on the range will minimize labor and hasten maturity of growing stock. Successful poultry keeping depends upon the ability of the poultryman to produce pullets that are ready to go into the laying house in August or September free from such diseases as coccidiosis, intestinal parasites and paralysis. This is impossible if one attempts to grow young and old stock on the same ground year after year. Vigor is the first consideration in the selection of pullets to go into the laying house in the fall. A summer range house provides for an abundance of fresh air and can be moved frequently to new locations, thus avoiding the danger from contaminated soil."

CARLOAD OF PEACHES

A carload of peaches was shipped from Goldthwaite last week-end and doubtless several carloads have been shipped when the aggregate of local shipments is considered. The fruit crop in this county has been wonderful this season.
