COOKING SCHOOL

The cooking school sponsored by the Texas-Louisiana Power Co. in their display room in this city four days of this week is one of the big attractions for the ladies and is equal in importance to the school fostered by the same company earlier in the year. Miss Nell Morris is the demonstrator in charge of the school. She is a representative of the Westinghouse Stove and Range Company and is an expert in the culinary art as well as in the use and management of electric cook stoves. Each afternoon the class assembles in the company's office and instruction and information received will be of lasting help to the housewives and those having the responsibility of preparing edibles for the family or the public.

R. E. Austin, a representative of the Texas-Louisiana Power Company's general office, has been here assisting local Manager W. C. Barnett in looking after the details of the cooking school and affording every possible source of information for those interested in electric appliances for the kitchen, household or place of business. The company has a wonderful display of these wares and appliances and those who have any desire or need for anything in that line could do well to join the crowd of interested visitors at the place of demonstration, for they will have the benefit of trained and experienced instructors and demonstrators without cost or obligation.

SEVERAL ACCIDENTS

A good many minor automobile accidents have been reported the past several days, the most serious of which was the loss of a finger by a driver who met another car head on while blinded by dust on the Center City road.

Baptist Association Holds Annual Meeting

MUCH BUSINESS TRANSACTED

The Mills County Baptist association held its annual meeting last Friday and Saturday with the Seallorn church. The attendance was unusually large and is said by some to have been the largest attendance at an associational meeting in a good number of years. The people of Seallorn community were hospitable to the extreme and every visitor felt glad to be in the meeting. Dinner was served on the grounds both days and this was one of the most delightful features of the gathering. Visitors were there from a number of the surrounding associations and the meeting was interesting and profitable as well as pleasant.

It was decided to employ the county missionary for full time, instead of half time as heretofore and his work was found to be decidedly satisfactory. The official reports were encouraging and the entire program of the association and the churches forming it showed progress and enthusiasm.

LIONS TO LAMPASAS

The Charter Night entertainment by the Lampasas Lions club Tuesday night, was held at the Hostess house in Anderson park in that city and was quite an elaborate affair. There were about 150 present, including representatives from Georgetown, San Saba and Goldthwaite clubs and an excellent and interesting program was rendered, including several musical numbers, one dialogue and a number of speeches. The charter was presented by the president of the Georgetown club, representing the district governor, who was unable to be present, and was accepted for the club by President Strickland of the Lampasas club.

A magnificent banquet was served in the upper story of the Hostess house with a menu including fried chicken, hot rolls, salad and other good things, topped off with ice cream and cake.

Those from Goldthwaite who attended the entertainment and banquet were Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Yarborough, Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Littlepage, Mr. and Mrs. Joe A. Palmer, W. C. Barnett and R. M. Thompson.

BROWN-RIGGS

Last Tuesday evening about six o'clock, Mr. Lucious Brown and Miss Mary Riggs were united in marriage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Riggs, Rev. H. E. Moreland officiating.

Miss Mary is an accomplished young lady of Lake Victor community, also a leading lady in her community for things that will be an uplift.

Mr. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Brown of near Liberty Hill, is a young man of sterling qualities, well liked by all of his friends. They will make their home near Liberty Hill. They carry with them the best wishes of all their many friends. A FRIEND.

SOME INTERESTING COMMUNITY LETTERS

BIG VALLEY

Another week has passed, yet the heat did not prevent Mrs. Robertson from treating some friends to a picnic supper on the shoals last Wednesday night.

Mary Cockrell has returned to San Marcos to finish her course in school there.

The young folks enjoyed a party at John Bohannon's in honor of Mary Helen Ashley of Daniel Baker.

Mr. and Mrs. Oma Bell and daughter dined with Tom Stewart and family Sunday.

HOTEL CHANGE

M. H. Walden of Burnet has bought the interest of Mrs. Maud Leigh and her son in the Saylor Hotel in this city and will take charge of the business on Sept. 1, moving his family, consisting of his wife and three children, to this place.

Mr. Walden is a professional hotel man, having been engaged in that line of business for a long time. For several years he has been in the business at Burnet, where he has built a fine reputation in that line. It is understood he will open the dining room of the hotel in the near future and will probably make some other changes.

Mrs. Leigh will return to her former home in Navasota, carrying with her the best wishes of the people of Goldthwaite, who sincerely regret her removal from this city.

Weaver Leigh will go to Houston, where his brother is engaged in the oil business and he will probably enter the same line. During his residence in this city he has made for himself a splendid reputation as a young man of enterprise and foresight, every ready to cooperate with any movement for the town's interest or the good of his associates. We will miss him, for we have learned to depend upon his patriotic and unselfish assistance in all public matters. He is a genial, courteous and upright gentleman whose influence is always for the right and we regret very much to lose him as a citizen.

METHODIST CHURCH

Evening worship in the tabernacle begins at 8:15. The worship will be informal. While we will have the choir, congregational singing will be expected. We will have a special song by Mrs. C. P. Ford and Mrs. W. D. Clements.

Come to these services to participate in the worship of God and feel at home with us, where you are strangers but once.

S. D. LAMBERT, Pastor.

MONK MEETING

Rev. Alonzo Monk, who conducted a meeting at the Methodist church here for two weeks, is to begin a union meeting at Lampasas Sunday to continue three weeks. A tabernacle will be erected on the southeast corner of the public square and other preparations are being made for a great revival covering the entire town and surrounding country. A number of Goldthwaite people who met Rev. Monk, formed a liking for him and admire his style of preaching and method of conducting a revival, expect to attend the Lampasas services as often as possible.

ROCK SPRINGS

There was a nice crowd at Sunday school Sunday morning and a larger one at B. Y. P. U. Sunday night. Those on the program had their parts up well. Our quiz leader was absent, so we did not have our quiz.

This church was well represented at the Baptist association at Seallorn last Friday and Saturday. The next association will be with the Star church.

Some from here attended the Liberty meeting last week. Bro. Leach held the meeting. We are glad he had such a good meeting in the county.

Miss Mae McNutt is back in the sanitarium at Hamilton. We hope for her speedy recovery.

Mrs. Eula Nickols sat until bed time with Mrs. Lula Gatlin and Miss Love Saturday night.

Miss Nellie D. Cooke spent Sunday with the McClary family.

Miss Ray Goode from Knott, Texas, visited Miss Bernice Traylor Saturday night.

Mrs. Glenn Johnson and Miss Fay Ellis attended Sunday School Sunday morning.

R. C. Webb and wife and J. C. Stark visited in the Abijah Stark home Saturday night.

J. C. Stark and wife and Miss Florence called in the Traylor home Sunday afternoon. They also ate supper with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Davis.

J. T. Robertson and family visited their son, Walter, and family at Trigger Mountain Sunday.

Joe Davis and wife dined in the Woody Traylor home Sunday.

Rev. O. D. Henley and family from Big Lake visited Mrs. Nickols and boys last Friday night. Bro. Henley used to be pastor at this place.

Mrs. Jesse Coekrum and Fay and Mrs. E. W. McNutt and Miss Ethel McClary went to Hamilton Tuesday to visit Miss Mae McNutt, who is in the sanitarium at that place.

The cooking school at town has been well represented from this place.

R. C. Webb and wife visited in the Nickols home Monday night.

Glenn Nickols is helping on the Jim Rudd house.

Shirley Nickols spent Saturday night with Hardy McClary. Bro. Jackson Sparkman and wife took supper Friday night in the Nickols home.

Mrs. Eula Nickols visited in the Self home Monday afternoon.

J. O. McClary took B. A. Meeks and family and Miss Minnie Hill to Ranger Saturday afternoon.

E. W. McNutt and family attended Sunday school at Seallorn Sunday, and they took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson.

Mrs. Eula Nickols and James visited Dr. Huddleston's dental office Tuesday afternoon.

Hardy McClary dined with the Nickols boys Sunday. Those who visited in the Webb home Monday afternoon were Woody Traylor and family, J. T. Robertson and family and Mrs. J. M. Traylor and her children.

Mrs. Mary Vann visited in Zephyr last week.

Miss Mildred Stevens expects to spend the week-end with friends in San Antonio.

B. Queen came over from Brownwood Tuesday to visit his father and meet with his friends.

Rev. H. E. Moreland and family visited in the Lake Victor community the first of this week.

S. J. Fisher and his son, Burgess, were here from Mullin Tuesday and made the Eagle an appreciated call.

Mrs. Ethel Gray left for Austin Sunday, to play for a revival at that place. She expects to be gone three weeks or longer.

Floyd Henderson and family and Mrs. H. E. Moreland and boys attended church at Pleasant Grove Sunday and visited in the Elam Berry home.

Copy for the minutes of the Mills County Baptist association has already been delivered to the Eagle office and the printing will be done in a few days.

Ernest Queen of Little Rock, Ark., was here Tuesday visiting his father and viewing the scenes of his youth. He is engaged in the jewelry business and is doing well.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Pass and Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Pass spent Tuesday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Turner of Ogles. The occasion was a reunion of the Turner family.

Rev. H. E. Moreland and family visited Mrs. J. T. Morris in Brownwood sanitarium Sunday night, finding her much improved and planning to be at home soon.

Walter Brown has sold his farm in the Center Point community to Garland Perry of the same community and expects to move to Houston when he completes gathering his crop.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hufstutler have gone to Oklahoma for a visit. He has a large number of steers on pasture in the Osage country, near the Kansas line, but the drought in that country makes the pasture mighty slim.

The 20x28 addition to the Center City school building has been completed and that school will employ four teachers the coming session, making it one of the largest schools in the county. Center City is an excellent community and the people over there are wide awake and enterprising.

Mrs. J. W. Allen, formerly of this city, but who has been making her home at Waco for some months, writes to have her paper changed to DeRoche, Ark., where she will visit in the home of one of her sons. Her friends here are always glad to hear from her.

Mrs. E. Oden celebrated her birthday Tuesday at the home of her son W. O. Oden in the Lake Merritt community, while a delightful dinner was served to the members of the Oden family and a number of their friends. Mrs. Oden has a great many friends in this city and throughout this section who wish for her many happy returns of this anniversary.

Gus Obenhaus, the "Flathead" announcer of KGKB radio station of Brownwood, was in the city Wednesday and announced that he will be back on the job Thursday morning, following his being injured last month in an automobile wreck in Fort Worth. Mr. Obenhaus is recovered sufficiently to be back overseeing the work on the Bulletin station.—Brownwood Bulletin.

Joe Roberts got his feed stacked this week.

If we can't get a rain, we would appreciate plenty of wind so the mills could turn.

A SPECIAL HEARING

Judge Few Brewster came over from Belton last Friday to hold the habeas corpus hearing in the case of Clifford Smith, relator, vs. Charley Locker and wife, respondents; Dr. R. W. Cowart and wife of Dallas, intervenors. This was a case wherein the custody of Billie Joe Smith was involved, he now being in the custody of his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Locker, where he has remained since his birth. McGaugh, Darroch & DeWolfe represented the respondents, while Ab Walters of San Saba represented the relator. After hearing the evidence and the arguments of the attorneys Judge Brewster awarded the custody of the child to Mr. and Mrs. Locker. Notice of appeal was given by Mr. Walters.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

An effort will be made to collect all delinquent taxes. Taxes are a lien upon land, and suit will be filed for the collection of delinquent taxes and to foreclose the tax liens so that such lands may be sold for taxes, if such taxes are not paid at an early date. By paying now, you can save court costs.

See if your taxes are delinquent for any year from 1885 to 1928, and if they are, pay them at once.

The Commissioners Court has made arrangements with me to make a new delinquent tax record, and assist in the collection of all delinquent taxes.

BROWNWOOD FAIR

The Brown County Fair is in progress at Brownwood, having opened Wednesday for a four-day run. They have made big preparations for this fair and doubtless it will be interesting to all visitors, many of whom will be from Goldthwaite and Mills county. They claim 85 race horses in the stables there and among them are the Locklear horses, including Larry M., one of the favorites at all the race tracks.

POISON WEEVIL

Eastland, Aug. 16.—Effective control of boll weevil by dusting with calcium arsenate is being demonstrated in different sections of Eastland county this season. Six or eight machines are being used. In some instances the banks have purchased the machines and loaned them to farmers who pool their acreage.

Fully 90 per cent of the farms dusted are free of boll weevil damage, whereas in adjoining unpoisoned fields less than 10 per cent is undamaged, according to J. C. Patterson, county agent.

Only this year has the Texas Experiment Station given any encouragement to the use of weevil poisoning when there was not dew on the cotton regularly. In an experiment conducted at McKinney last year the unpoisoned plot gave an acre yield of 135 pounds of seed cotton, while that dusted only when it was dry made an increase of over 600 pounds, and that dusted when there was dew made an increase of about 700 pounds per acre, indicating that dry dusting is profitable.

Last year at Carbon, in this county, "Capt." Trimble picked a 500-pound bale from one acre which was fertilized and dusted, convincing those interested that dry dusting would pay. These results led the First State Bank of Carbon to purchase a five-row duster which has been in use day and night for three weeks. This has given the third dusting, at seven-day intervals, to over 500 acres of cotton. It is now believed that three dustings are sufficient.

Final results that will determine the degree of success will be shown at the scales at picking time, but every indication now points to absolute success in at least 90 per cent control. Results at this time justify the recommendation that every acre possible be dusted immediately following at seven day intervals until three dustings have been given, regardless of moisture conditions.

Six to eight pounds of arsenic are to be applied each time. The total cost for poison should be around $1.50 per acre for three treatments.

The period of dry, hot weather just experienced indicates that, contrary to customary belief, these conditions do not check weevil infestation.

ROAD EQUALITY

A present road necessity is to build paved secondary roads into rural sections and do for the remote farmer and taxpayer what main highways have done for urban residents. Developments in oil and asphalt types of pavements that give dependable, long-wearing surfaces at a low original and maintenance cost, are making the secondary road program possible and practicable. Such roads must replace worn-out gravel and macadam, which are a source of constant expense and discomfort.

Mrs. J. B. Ferguson and little daughter came over from Electra Saturday for a visit to Mrs. J. H. Randolph, Miss Dera Humphries and other friends, and to accompany Mr. Ferguson home, he having spent a week or more here with the Randolphs and other friends. He is an expert fisherman and had fine success fishing in Lake Merritt. The family left for home Tuesday.

[THE NEW EMBLEM DEDICATED TO BETTER MOTORING]

CONOCO

What the MARLAND CONTINENTAL Merger MEANS TO MOTORISTS

THE consolidation of the resources and facilities of the Marland Companies and the Continental Oil Company, under the latter's name, is more than a corporate merger. It is a happy union of well balanced production, manufacturing and marketing operations from which will come a host of unusual advantages to the millions of customers and thousands of distributors.

Wide Field for Crude Selection
Out of a total area of more than two and one quarter million acres in eight states, Continental selects the crudes best suited for its manufactured products. Raw materials for oils, greases and gasolines may often come from widely separated regions. Continental controls its own crude supply and chooses the best for each refining operation and thus assures a standard uniform output from year to year.

Strategic Location of Eight Refineries
Economic and efficient operation of petroleum manufacture frequently depends upon the relative locations of the raw product, the refinery and the market. Continental is fortunate in that its eight modern manufacturing plants are well placed to afford prompt and economical delivery both before and after refinement. These properties are located at Baltimore, Maryland; Ponca City and Sapulpa, Oklahoma; Artesia and Farmington, New Mexico; Wichita Falls, Texas; Florence, Colorado; and Glenrock, Wyoming.

Exclusive Processes Insure High Quality
Continental refinery engineers enjoy a national reputation in the oil business. Not only have they adopted the newest and most efficient mechanical equipment for these big refineries but they have designed machinery and developed processes which are exclusive to this company. Under centralized control, these facilities now are made available in the manufacture of petroleum products of exceptional quality.

Conocoland Covers Tremendous Area
More than forty years marketing experience has spread the distribution of Conoco products over an area which reaches from the western slope of the Rockies, far east to the Mississippi River. Practically half of the United States is dotted so closely with Conoco Stations that a motorist may drive anywhere in that tremendous area without introducing other than Conoco products to his car. The outposts of Conocoland range from the Pacific Northwest to the shores of the Great Lakes and from the Atlantic Seaboard to the California boundary.

Prestige Established in Foreign Lands
The Continental coastwise and export fleet operate from terminals at Texas City, Texas; Newark, New Jersey; Baltimore, Maryland; and Norfolk, Virginia; to a dozen foreign countries. Petrol pumps deliver Conoco gasoline to motorists in the shires of England and Conoco motor oils lubricate industrial plants in north Europe, South America and the Orient.

In brief, the joined forces of these two great companies afford greater, better service to the users of motor fuels and lubricants wherever the sign of the Red Triangle is displayed.

A motor transportation division of the Railroad Commission Saturday announced the issuance of 146 additional certificates for operation of freight truck lines.

A 70 foot whale was ashore on the Texas coast, about three miles west of Matagorda coast guard station, according to advices received Sunday at Galveston. This is the first whale to be washed ashore upon the Texas shore line in several years.

The Santa Fe Railway is making several thousand dollars worth of improvements in this section, including sixty-two miles of automatic signals, costing approximately $10,000 a mile to install, being placed between Killean and Lometa and Goldthwaite and Brownwood.

Radio waves of the frequency used for broadcasting are capable of passing through at least 300 feet of rock, such as limestone and sandstone. This is the conclusion drawn by Dr. A. S. Eve, professor of physics at McGill University at Montreal, following tests that he made in Mammoth Cave, Ky.

The mobilization of ten additional brigades of Manchurian troops totaling 100,000 men was reported late Sunday night in an official Kuomin News Agency dispatch from Mukden. The agency said the National Government viewed the "Sino-Russian crisis as increasingly serious."

Fire Friday completed the destruction of the educational building of the First Baptist church in the city of Fort Worth only partly demolished when the church was burned in January. Rev. J. Frank Norris, pastor of the church, was out of the city on his vacation. The fire is believed to have originated inside the building, but the cause as yet is undetermined.

Fifteen persons were killed when the St. Louis & San Francisco passenger train enroute to Tulsa from Sherman, ran into an open switch early Sunday. Thirteen of those killed were negroes, none of whom were identified, so badly burned were the bodies. Pete Wolfe, engineer, and H. A. Bryan, fireman, both of Sherman, were buried in the wreckage of the engine. Both of the bodies were recovered.

Watermelons instead of cane will be the raw material used in a new syrup factory recently established at Stalingrad, formerly Tzaritzin, Russia, on the Volga. The product is known as "nardek;" it has long been made by a crude hand process, and is so popular that beekeeping has practically disappeared from the region where it is used. The better grades of syrup are used in cooking or confectionery, and the poorer grades in the manufacture of alcohol.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill DeWolfe were here Sunday, visiting their son, Homer C. DeWolfe and family, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Saylor.

The state tax rate was partially fixed Saturday, when the automatic tax board agreed to a 30c ad valorem levy and a 7c Confederate pension allotment.

Charging that Mrs. Ethel P. Comley, divorced wife of a Wichita, Kan., oil man, had alienated the affections of her husband, Mrs. Myrtle Dikkie Negy of Throckmorton, filed suit Saturday for $100,000 damages. The Negys were married at Abilene in 1923 and later moved to Throckmorton.

Charges of murder have been filed against Kink Reed, former chief of police of Midland. Reed, still in the hospital, is charged with killing J. C. Holcombe, night watchman, with a gun on July 21. The two men met under the driveway of a filling station, and the shooting followed. Holcombe fell dead and Reed staggered back with a bullet wound in the abdomen. A bus driver was the only eyewitness.

A convincing lesson in thrift lay behind the announcement that the bank for savings, in New York, has discovered the oldest savings account in the United States. John S. Thorne opened an account in the bank 110 years ago with a deposit of $10. A year later he added $5. He let the money remain, but did not add to it thereafter. His heirs now own the account and the executor still has the pass book. The $15 deposited more than a century ago has drawn $2758.86 interest and now amounts to $2773.86.

The Pollard family may get prominently in the political limelight in the next campaign. Virginia Democrats have given the gubernatorial nomination to a man of that name and Texas may have Pollards as candidates for both the governorship and the lieutenant governorship. Attorney Claude Pollard will make an announcement of his political intentions and may decide to make the race for governor, and State Senator Tom Pollard of Tyler is said to be seriously considering entering the contest for lieutenant governor.

Plans are being made to raise a fund of $100,000 to defray cost of an educational campaign in behalf of amending the constitution to permit issuance of state bonds for construction of state highways. This was divulged by conferees Saturday at Austin as they left for their homes, after attending the Friday regional Chamber of Commerce meeting on the state bond plan. Clarence Ousley, Dallas, representing the East Texas Chamber, told others who were at the session that no difficulty would be met in obtaining the necessary funds.

FALL PLOWING

One of the essential of good farming is fall and winter plowing. Farm and Ranch has repeatedly called attention to this fact, but it is worth reiterating. There are many reasons why fall and winter plowing, especially fall plowing, should be practiced in most sections of the Southwest.

Fall plowing puts the soil in a condition to soak in and conserve the winter rains. It prevents washing if the contours are followed. It puts into the soil the stubble, cotton and corn stalks, and weeds in time for them to decay, adding humus for further moisture conservation and for the benefit of the next season's crops. It puts a farmer ahead with his work, and the following spring he is able to put in his crops on time. Last, but not least, fall plowing is destructive of insects. Most insects lay their eggs in the ground, or in fruit or vegetation, the grubs or worms which follow hibernate in the ground. They seldom build their protective cells more than six inches deep. By plowing early these cells are broken up and the larva is exposed to the weather and dies.

It has been observed that crops planted in fields that have been fall plowed escape much of the insect damage suffered by neighboring spring plowed fields. The advantages of early plowing are numerous and of sufficient importance to induce every farmer to turn as much soil before spring as conditions will permit.—Farm and Ranch.

RECALL OLD DAYS

Hanging from a wooden peg at the Hufstutler ranch house in Mills county, Central Texas, is an old saddle, in the cantle of which is a round hole, and in the pommel of the saddle is a flint arrow head, both having been there about seventy years.

About seven decades ago Tom Hufstutler, hardy pioneer of that section, was riding near San Saba Peak when Indians swooped down on him. He was riding a fleet horse and made for his log house. Arrows flew all around him, and as he looked back one of them pierced his thigh after striking the cantle, and then buried itself in the pommel, pinning him to the saddle. But he outran the Indians, reached the house, broke the arrow off and pulled the headless stem from his wounded leg.—Georgetown Sun.

NOTICE IN PROBATE

THE STATE OF TEXAS, To the Sheriff or any Constable of Mills County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to cause the following notice to be published in a newspaper of general circulation which has been continuously and regularly published for a period of not less than one year preceding the date of the notice in the County of Mills, State of Texas, and you shall cause said notice to be printed at least once each week for the period of 20 days exclusive of the first day of publication before the return day hereof:

The State of Texas, To all persons interested in the Estate of Mrs. M. C. Henry, deceased. Doran Henry has filed in the County Court of Mills County, an application for probate of the last will of said Mrs. M. C. Henry, deceased, which will be heard at the next term of said Court, commencing the first Monday in September, A. D. 1929, at the Court House thereof, in the City of Goldthwaite, at which time all persons interested in said Estate may appear and contest such application, should they desire to do so.

Herein fail not, but have you then and there before said Court this writ, with your return thereon endorsed, showing how you have executed the same.

L. B. PORTER, Clerk County Court, Mills County, Texas. Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, on this 3rd day of August, 1929. (Seal) L. B. PORTER, Clerk County Court, Mills County, Texas.

THE IDLE RICH

Those of us whose aim is to win our bread and spread our butter with our own hands miss much of the misery which devolves upon the idle rich. Mr. Tunney, who made a million with his fists, as distinguished from his hands, and sought retirement, little realized what vexations were in store for him. He pictured his bride and himself leisurely touring Europe, absorbing culture and basking in the soft afterglow of a gorgeous popularity. He could see his devoted wife and himself quietly ensconced and pensively happy in their Connecticut homestead—if anybody in Connecticut can be pensively happy. But what's his luck? Why, he is being sued by a lady for half that fortune on the ground that he breached his promise to marry her. And the lady's ex-husband is suing him for the other half his fortune on the ground that the lady's affections were stolen by Mr. Tunney from where she placed them on her wedding day. This is enough to make the sued one restless even in his happy surroundings. And without question it disturbs his young and altogether blameless wife. Had he remained as poor as he was when he was mustered out of the marines, Gene Tunney had not been sued today! As soon as he got rich he became the target for those who wished, willy nilly, to share his riches. Let us not get rich.—State Press.

SUCCESSFUL PASTORATE

The most successful pastorates of to-day are not those that sound the most popular note, for indeed it is not popular to preach Jesus and Him crucified. The world and many so-called Christians do not want Spirit filled messages. They are demanding the gospel of modernism and materialism. The message that appeals to the average professor of religion today is the one that builds around the creature and his business, instead of around the Creator. The cry of this pleasure seeking and joy riding age is for a pastor who will bring the messages that will feed the body and carnal mind, but leave out the soul of man. May I stop here and say, that the pastor who fails to awaken and feed the eternal part of man has missed his calling. There are only two questions for a pastor to settle when he enters the pastoral field. They are:

Am I here to please man, or am I here to please God? If he decides that he is here to please man, then God is out of it, for it is impossible to please man. However, he will be on the popular side of life.

Man demands that the pastor be a fine looking man, well dressed and not plain like his Master. He must have a fine display of the English language. His elocution, gestures and expression must be perfect. He must not make any grammatical errors in any of his messages. If he does, then some "jelly bean" note hunter, self-centered dignity or some so-called educator might become so mortified that he would explode before his self-centered brain could have time to react. And otherwise such a pastor might make himself unpopular among the "Know-alls" and the "Its." Again, he must not mix and mingle with the common folks, for the "Ups" might seriously object to his condescending so low. See? He must also sacrifice his better convictions and become a cat's paw for the "Its" and "Ups."

And if he does not do these things, they might put a skid under him and tell him to go. God pity such a cowardly, man-pleasing pastor. Daniel, who was thrown into the lions' den, is my type of leadership. He won out, but he did not cater to man's rulings.

I believe in that type of Christian education that develops mind, body and soul. God give us preachers who are not afraid of man, nor of any man's conspiracies; preachers who love and serve God supremely and never be a party to any unfair means, but will always stand above board for a square deal to all people.

J. W. STRIPLING,
Pastor Mullin Baptist church

COMMISSIONERS COURT

Commissioners court met Saturday in an adjourned session, with all members present.

A petition with 200 signers was received asking that a bounty be placed on the scalps of wolves in this county, and the court agreed to pay $50 for each scalp of a grown wolf and $5 for the scalp of a pup. The scalps must be exhibited to the county judge and an affidavit made as to the time and place the wolf was killed.

A contract was made with Homer C. DeWolfe to make a new delinquent tax record and collect delinquent taxes. The contract is to cover a period of two years and he is to begin work at once and use diligence in securing settlements.

Some other matters that were to come before the court could not be perfected and had to be carried over to the regular session the second Monday in September.

SCALLORN

It is still hot and dry here. Stock water is getting scarce.

Every one is busy. Some are plowing, others are gathering corn and still others are putting their feed stuff away.

We had a large crowd both days at the Baptist Association. Had several preachers from adjoining towns.

We will have our prayer meetings Wednesday and our B. Y. P. U. again. Several times during the revival we omitted them. Let every one come and be with us. Fields Hines is leader for Wednesday night. His chapter is the second chapter of Hebrews.

John Kuykendall and family visited with his mother in Lampasas Sunday.

Mrs. Ora Black and Billie and Mr. Bradley met their folks from Brownwood Saturday on the river and had a delightful time fishing and bathing.

Albert Hereford and family spent Sunday in the home of R. D. Evans.

Lewis Kirkpatrick and wife and grand daughters, Misses Audrey and Dorothy Kirkpatrick of San Antonio, and Bob Alexander and wife of Junction spent Tuesday night in the home of Mrs. Cora Ford.

Several from here attended the Fair at San Saba.

Mr. Joe Morgan and wife and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Laughlin camped during the San Saba fair.

Frank Hines and family spent Tuesday in Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McNutt and boys from Rock Springs spent Sunday in the home of W. E. Stevenson.

Mrs. P. G. Palmer of Goldthwaite spent several days in the homes of D. Jones, W. E. Stevenson and Mrs. Cora Ford, attending the association and meeting her old neighbors and friends. We are always glad to have her with us.

Chester Ford and wife attended church at Pleasant Grove Sunday.

Alva Ford and Artie Davis of Rising Star spent the week-end with home folks.

Earl Blake and wife of Brownwood are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Morgan and other relatives.

The party at Walter Ford's was enjoyed by a large crowd of young folks.

Sherwood Ford and wife spent Saturday in Lometa and came by the party.

CHICKEN THIEVES

A few nights ago, while Mr. Whitely and family, who live on the Forsythe ranch, at Duke's crossing on the bayou, were at church at Elkins, thieves stole every chicken they had on the place, amounting to about fifty. Sheriff Bledsoe and deputies were called and made an investigation. They found where the thieves had run their car close to the fence and two persons caught the chickens and carried them to the fence, while one party took them over and placed them in the car. Tracks were plainly seen about the place and the car was traced to the Brownwood road. The officers extended their search to the city of Brownwood and found some of the fowls in a produce house there, but the dealer could not give them any information of value. One employe stated the chickens had been purchased from three boys, but he would not agree that he could or would identify them. The search is being continued and it is hoped some clew will be discovered that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the thieves.

EFFICIENT SERVICE ESSENTIAL FEATURE

"Governments may imitate the practices of private enterprises and here and there may occasionally register an advance, but * * * in the three great fields of transportation, communication and electric utilities the significant accomplishments are in overwhelming measure the product of private enterprise," declared American Vice-President of the International Chamber of Commerce, addressing that body at its recent convention in Amsterdam.

"These three monopolistic public services are regulated by public bodies protecting the public interest through continuous and flexible control of charges and practices, always subject to appeal through the established courts as high as the national Supreme Court itself.

In the light of the enormous expansion of all industry resting on these three basic facilities and in the light of the steady rise in average living standards of all our people, there are few indeed in America who do not today realize that it is more important to have adequate and efficient service than it is to force an unwisely low level of charges that might check expansion and improvement."

DIAMOND JUBILEE SALE

In 1845, when the San Antonio Drug Co. was founded, the Southwest had been a part of the United States for only six years. From serving the pioneers of the then isolated trading posts was a long step to the functions of this service wholesaler, who today distributes drugs and druggists' sundries over the entire Southwest, the San Antonio Drug Co. being the first concern in America to establish aeroplane delivery service. The "Mercury Plane" carries serums and drugs for emergency cases. (Truly they are 75 years young—not old).

In celebration of their seventy-fifth anniversary, the San Antonio Drug Co., assisted by big manufacturers of nationally known products and over 300 Texas Druggists, are staging the greatest merchandising event in drug history.

STUDYING HIGHWAYS

Today street and highway building absorbs a larger percentage of the tax dollar than any other item except schools.

The United States Chamber of Commerce, through committees, is studying the proper relationship of four chief sources of highway finance—general revenues, special property assessments, special taxes against the highway users and highway bond issues.

They will endeavor to determine when bond issues are justifiable and the best means of redeeming them, how gasoline taxes should be applied, what the property owners' contribution to the highway past his door should be, the proper relationship of the Federal government to the highway program and other important questions.

The improvement of secondary roads to open up the back country and relieve congestion on the main highways is a question of outstanding importance.

Adults Contract Children's Diseases

Adults can, and do, contract many children's diseases. And, usually, they suffer from them much more than children do. For instance, many adults contract worms, an ailment usually associated with children. Sometimes they suffer intensely and take expensive medical treatments, without realizing that worms are the cause of their troubles. Yet, the symptoms are the same as in children, loss of appetite and weight, grinding the teeth and restless sleep, itching of the nose and anus, and abdominal pains. And, the same medicine that surely and harmlessly expels round and pin worms from children will do the same for adults. White's Cream Vermifuge, which you can get at

HUDSON BROS., Druggists

PECAN INDUSTRY

A comparatively new industry in the Southwest is now attracting attention. The humble pecan nut is rapidly coming into its own. A few years ago only the Southern and Southwestern Indians knew anything about the nutment contained in the wild pecan. They cut the trees down in order to gather the crop.

This seeming waste opened up thick groves and permitted the growth of an occasional tree producing a large-size, deliciously flavored "paper-shell" pecan. Thousands of acres of bottom land in the Southwest were denuded of pecan groves to plant less profitable crops.

But this is changing. Pecan culture is increasing and one of the largest nut shelleries claims to have purchased 700 carloads of Oklahoma pecans during 1926.

Thus do agriculture and manufacturing develop hand in hand.

FELT BAD AFTER EATING

FOUR YEARS AGO, I suffered with heartburn and bilious indigestion. Whatever I ate disagreed with me. Gas on my stomach made me very uncomfortable. My tongue was coated and my color was bad. I needed a good laxative, and so my mother-in-law gave me some Black-Draught and told me to take it. I found it helped me very much, so I bought it for myself. Seems it was the very thing I needed. It is a fine family remedy, and I use it when I need something for constipation. I also give Black-Draught to my children whenever they need something for colic or upset stomachs. Our whole family takes Black-Draught.

*There's a story

It's a story of success — of concentrated engineering effort to produce a finer, safer, purer motor oil. No wonder Texaco is clean, clear and golden pure. No wonder thousands of motorists have found that it is better for any engine, old or new.

• For Texaco is specially refined from carefully selected crudes only, with a scientific precision that no known process can improve! It is full-bodied. It is free from all impurities which would lessen its heat resisting qualities.

SHANGHAI, CHINA

July 11th, 1929.

Dear Editor:
Here comes a letter from this land of intrigue, graft, warfare, famine, suffering, chaos, to tell you and the readers of your excellent paper about China's new woman who has a share in the "goings-on."

If a woman in China, twenty years ago, had been given a Rip Van Winkle sleep, she would be more surprised than he was, should she awake today. Then women had to stay indoors and work something like domestic animals. Or, if of a better family, be cooped up at home and stay there. She was allowed to be seen only by her husband or brothers.

Now what a change! The modern Chinese young women skip around the streets with a spring, grace and freedom that's quite refreshing when one remembers the women formerly hobbling along on bound feet supported by amahs. Now girls bob, shingle, or permanently wave their hair. That's a sign of freedom! They ride bicycles, play tennis, basket-ball and engage in other athletics. Formerly their parents arranged their marriage. Now one often sees the young ladies walking very affectionately arm in arm with their "best boys," and the young people often do the arranging. The dress used to be the most modest of any nationality. Now women are often seen with short sleeves and very low-necked frocks even at mid-day. Sometimes they're seen with the most up-to-date up-beyond-the-knee short frocks and flimsy silk hose and very high-heeled shoes. Indeed the Chinese girls are quite amusing flappers—shocking sometimes—so much so that the officials have felt it necessary to issue proclamations commanding them to dress modestly. The girls have even learned to flirt in the most up-to-date way. That's freedom! They dance in the latest style. They ride horses, astride, with boots and riding breeches. "That's English, you know."

Once the ideal for girls was that they be able to do beautiful needle work at home. Now they are doing other things. They are clerks in stores. Some are typists and stenographers. Some are bankers. They play the organ or piano or other musical instruments. They are becoming movie artists or actresses. Some are lawyers and judges and doctors, are teachers and kindergartners. They've become soldiers and sometimes they become Generals' secretaries! Women also become street-corner politicians and scream the Revolutionary platitudes such as, "Down with Imperialism," "Give the people freedom," to beat the most zealous men Revolutionaries. Rarely do you see meetings for propagnanda or riots. I am glad to say that some few of them are taking part in the Red Cross work in relieving the suffering of those wounded in battle. Women, too, occupy places of influence in the government in Nanking. Once women's faces lacked all hope and ambition, and there are still great hosts of women who are the same drudges at home or—worse—in great factories.

EXPENSES AND TAXES

If you have ever heard of a candidate running for office on a promise of higher taxes, please trot out the occasion. A man may run for office on the basis of spending money and a lot of it for various State enterprises. Sometimes his desires in that line are justified and sometimes they are not. But tacked onto some section of his platform is a firm declaration in favor of greater economy and lower taxes. The folks who spend too much money for public purposes and jack up the tax rate are always in. The boys who will reduce expenses and watchdog the public treasury are always out. And so odd is the change of tone between pre and post-election dates that the economist who traveled into office on a promise to cut the assessments is the same fellow at whom another economist is aiming his speeches from the stump at the next election. In the main, we claim that we vote for issues, not men. But the issues have a way of piddling out after the stalwart orator who coralled our vote has annexed himself to the pay roll. If all the candidates would come out for exactly the same thing, high or low taxes, wet or dry, this or that, we could be honest with ourselves and vote against Bill Jones because he has a wart on his nose or against John Smith because his granddad did our grandpap a dirty turn back in the eighties. If we could always be certain of voting for issues, well and good, but since we find ourselves voting for or against men anyway, would it not be pleasant to get into the open about it? A candidate sometimes has difficulty finding an issue on which to run. He never has had any difficulty in running. The race is not always to the swift, but in politics it is frequently to the loud.—State Press in Dallas News.

But among the younger generation they have ambition—ambition that carries them to extremes.

I am glad to say that there are modest, motherly women who have gone thru our mission schools who are making nice, clean, beautiful Christian homes, where the children are brought up well and taught to be good useful members of society—children of whom they and missions can be proud and thankful. One can not expect great things from a nation in which the people have been brought up for ages in filth, physical and moral; but a new generation is coming, one born anew in the church of Christ and in these clean Christian homes. We are expecting much for China from such.

Things are out of joint in China, but we hope and pray that the common sense of better Chinese and the deeply planted power of the Gospel will gradually overcome the criminal influences and that China will find peace, prosperity, and a place among the great nations of the world.

Yours in Christ's glad service,

(Rev.) H. G. C. HALLOCK.

BAPTIST CHURCH

The greatest problem that confronts our churches today, is that of church attendance. During the month of August we have had an average of 185 in Sunday School, and the congregations at the preaching hours have been good. But they are not what they ought to be, and not what they ought to be, I am afraid that those of us who go to these services think that we are getting along fine, and we are. But just remember that there are numbers who ought to be in Sunday school and the church service. And we who are loyal to our church must encourage those that are not to be on hand, and to take part in our regular services.

There are many things that keep people from going to church, and I am referring to church members. If the membership of our churches would be in their places on Sunday, when not providentially hindered, those who do not belong to the church would find it a hard task to stay away. In fact, our churches are not suffering from those on the outside, but it is because of some we have on the inside, and these fellows make a thousand excuses for their attitude toward the church. It's too hot. It is too cold. I feel too badly. I am looking for company. I have got to work. I got my feelings hurt. Oh, they are going to run things their own way and I will get mad and stay at home. I don't like the preacher, he doesn't appeal to me, his sermons are too long, he is too narrow, he is so lazy he can't eat enough. Oh, there are numbers and numbers of excuses that some make in regard to going to church. It is true that numbers of times people have a lawful excuse, and I am not speaking of those. I am referring to the ones that make excuses and not to the ones that have them.

While the above is true, it is also true that we have numbers of our churches that are going to see that the church doors are not closed; that the Sunday school goes on; that men and women, boys and girls will have a place to have their minds and hearts enriched and a place to feed their souls, that they may be better prepared to live, there-by making them better prepared to die. People, it is a fine thing when one comes to his last hour on this earth and can have the conscious of

DIRECTORS MEET

The board of directors of the Mills County Hunting and Fishing Club held an important meeting at the Club house at Lake Merrett Monday afternoon.

It was decided to secure as many fish as possible from streams in that section and the keeper was directed to inspect all fish offered.

A light was ordered placed in the keeper's residence and the owners of summer houses at the lake were granted the privilege of connecting with the Club's light plant as long as the power of the plant is sufficient. The board reserved the right to disconnect lights at cottages if the load becomes too heavy for the plant.

Some road work was authorized and Managing Director Walter Stuck was placed in charge of it.

The matter of installing a telephone at the Lake was discussed and the matter placed in the hands of a committee.

The keeper was instructed to carefully inspect all fish taken from the Lake, to be sure they were of the proper size.

The rules of the club were directed to be carefully enforced.

a blessing. The flowers that are put on our graves will indicate an appreciation of what we have been, and of what we have done. The monument will turn dark and the inscription put on it will not be readable, but the flowers you give your associates while you live will never fade, they will never lose their sweet aroma. The monument that you erect while you live will never turn dark, the inscription will always be readable, and you will always be known as the man or woman that lived by the side of the road, and was a friend to man. But very few leave such a noble heritage that do not give the house of God the right place in their thinking and in their living.

Let's have some new faces in our church next Sunday at all of our services. Let those of us who take part in our services do our best to make the services worth while. Let all the church-going folks ask some non-church goer to worship with us. Let's see that the strangers have an invitation to our church.

G. C. IVINS, Pastor.

A PLEA TO THE YOUNG

(Goliad Advance-Guard)
I have often wondered if the boys and girls of today could put themselves in their parents' places and have a few of the anxious moments, sad and hurt feelings, that happen often when you criticize dad and mother. I am sure if you could realize this you would stop and think before you would speak. Boys and girls, you will never find one that has your interest at heart like your dad and mother.

Many times when you are away from home and are having what you think is a good time, mother and dad are both laying awake in anxiety and sending a petition to Heaven asking God to keep you pure and bring you home safely.

Above everything be thoughtful and kind to them, for they deserve every encouragement that you can give them. Your parents are proud of you! Why not be proud of them? It may be that they cannot dress in the latest fashion, or they may be bent with years of toil and worry; they may have silver threads among the gold, but their every heart-beat is for you.

You have one of God's promises. If you will only stop and consider for a moment, the only commandment that he gave with a promise "Honor thy father and mother that your days may be long upon the land the Lord, thy God, giveth thee." A PARENT.

Mrs. F. M. Karnes and her daughter, Miss Leila, of Center City were last week-end visitors at the Eagle office. Mrs. Karnes ordered the paper sent to her son at San Antonio.

A "FIRE CONSCIOUSNESS" NEEDED

All the fire prevention work in the world on the part of private organizations and public authorities cannot attain its object until the public learns the lessons of safety and develops a "fire consciousness."

Fire menaces every home, every business, every life. It spreads an unending red path of destruction and waste across the nation.

The gospel of fire prevention must be preached continually to the people. It is well known that old wiring, inferior building construction, carelessly handled matches and cigarettes, oil soaked rags and much obvious risks are responsible for a vast part of our yearly fire loss. Yet conflagrations resulting from these causes persist and, in some localities, increase.

The last two years have seen a reduction in fire waste. It is too soon to tell whether this is the result of a better public understanding of the problem or not. At any rate, we still have the unenviable record of destroying more property and lives by flame than any other civilized nation. The solution is in the hands of the people.

Better have your winter clothes renovated. Burch does it right.

PAINFUL INDIGESTION

"I SUFFERED from indigestion; everything I ate gave me heartburn," says Mrs. Mattie Mullins, of Pound, Va. "For months, I did not see a well day. I worried along, but never felt well."

"I got a package of Theford's Black-Draught at the store and began taking it—a dose every night before going to bed. I had been having an awful pain. After I had taken Black-Draught, this pain entirely stopped. I began to gain in weight, and rested well at night. In a few months I was feeling fine. My health was better than it had been in years."

"I keep Black-Draught in our home, and we all take it for constipation and upset stomach."

WHERE THEY BELONG

Unwittingly the antagonists of the Baumes laws principle—that habitual offenders, or specifically the individual who has four times been convicted of a felony, should be permanently exiled from society—are calling attention to the very practical way in which that principle is working out. Granting that these laws are filling the New York penitentiaries with desperate and incorrigible men, we may ask these Baumes opponents if that is not a very excellent place for them. We may also properly ask them if they prefer to see these same men outside of Auburn and Dannemora, battering and killing their ruthless way thru society in general, and surviving, perhaps, to be convicted of their fifth, sixth, seventh or tenth felony. If the Baumes laws are filling our penitentiaries with four-time felons, well and good. That is exactly where they belong. If life terms are making these four-time felons desperate and intractable, that is unfortunate. It would appear as if New York must either repeal its Baumes law and please the prisoners, or retain those laws and learn to deal with the prison insurgency. If the choice is merely between a society made desperate by the habitual offender, and the habitual offender made desperate by a life term, it is one which should easily be made. Society has worried quite enough about getting the felon to prison; let the penologist now worry a little while over the infinitely less difficult problem of keeping him there.—Minneapolis Tribune.

APPROPRIATIONS VETOED

Although there is an apparent loss of $150,000 to West Texas farmers as a result of Governor Moody's veto of an appropriation in that sum, the actual loss to this same group of planters is approximately $700,000, it has been estimated. The Legislature appropriated $150,000 with very little opposition to reimburse farmers who were in a non cotton zone established due to fear of pink boll worm ravages, and to prevent the pest from spreading over the State.
 The planters, through West Texas legislators, asked for $300,000 as a reimbursement fund, and while this was passed at the second called session, at the third it was reduced to $150,000 in the closing day.
 Governor Moody took an active part in the establishment of the zone, promulgating a decree prohibiting farmers from planting cotton, this having been done when it was known the Federal Government was preparing to quarantine the entire State.
 Working in behalf of the appropriation in the Legislature were Senators W. C. Woodward, Coleman; Penrose Metcalf, San Angelo, and others.
 Ten West Texas counties were involved in the losses and the original appropriation, $300,000, would have returned to them $10 an acre.
