Fire Sunday night swept through the wharves and warehouses of the Anderson-Clayton Warehouse and Compress Company and the Alabo Company on the river front in New Orleans causing damage estimated at $3,000,000.

No more prisoners will be admitted into the main State penitentiary at Huntsville or any of the prison farms "until the normal capacity of the system is reached," the State Prison Board decided Monday by unanimous resolution.

Charges that the Mediterranean fruit fly was "planted" in Florida by inspectors for the State Plant Board were made Friday by Representative Wood of Indiana, chairman of the congressional subcommittee investigating the expenditure of funds for eradicating the insect.

A House election committee decided to submit a unanimous report to the House to recommend the seating of Ruth Bryan Owen as member from the Fourth Florida District. A contest against the seating of Mrs. Owen was brought by William C. Lawson, a Republican, on the ground that she was ineligible because of her citizenship. Mrs. Owen is the widow of a former British Army officer who died in Florida several years ago. Mrs. Owen is the daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan.

Dr. James Howard Snook, former Ohio State University professor, was electrocuted in Ohio penitentiary Friday night for the slaying last June 13 of Theora Hix. Dr. Snook had been connected with the Ohio State University since 1910, as a student, instructor and then a professor of veterinary medicine. He met Miss Hix when she was working in his office and their friendship started with rides in the professor's automobile. Dr. Snook's nationally known as a pistol expert. He served as a member of the United States Olympic team in 1921 and won the world pistol championship.

Representative John N. Garner of the Uvalde district, Democratic leader of the House, announced Saturday he would oppose the Johnson bill imposing a quota on immigration from Mexico and other countries of the Western hemisphere. The Texan's chief objection to the bill is that it contains no provision for admission of seasonal labor from Mexico. Instead, it provides a final quota for Mexico of 2,900 annually, but would permit the entry of about 11,000 for this year, beginning July 1, and for nearly 7,000 the following year.

Caught on a rising steel bridge span at New Orleans Frank Craig, 24, crowded on speed and leaped his automobile through space to make a ten-foot drop to safety on the other side of the new canal basin. His wife and six-year-old daughter in the car with him were not seriously hurt. All three would have probably been drowned if the car had fallen in the canal, which is 18 feet deep. The drop of the automobile was so severe that all four tires blew out, and glass in the car was shattered. Both Craig and his wife were cut by flying glass fragments. Craig ran on the bridge before the safety gates were lowered.

MR. COBB'S LETTER

As the country boy, (one of whom I am) loves to tell of his adventures, I find myself rearing to go to let the boys know that after having crossed the line the Bible says, "If by reason of strength I should happen to cross; the days, weeks, months, or possibly years would be fraught with experiences not altogether desirable, but I want to tell you, through the kindness of a man, his wife, ten-year-old daughter and one of those remarkable Buicks that seemed to function as though it was the power behind the throne, to move people from Corpus Christi to a land beyond the borders of U. S. A., where there were far more desperate people, sights, etc., on which an American could look, wonder and pride himself on being a 100 per cent, red-blooded American. I had longed to be able to say I have been out of the United States, but after a two hours stay in Matamoros, I felt a more peculiar longing to say, I want to cross back into the United States and sing, My Country 'tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty, and closing with those grand words, Home, Home, Sweet, Sweet Home. There's no place like home. After driving over a paved highway every foot of the way through a country, with 25 or 30 towns and cities, seeing large herds of fine cattle, large orchards and fields of every conceivable vegetable this country affords, the hundreds and thousands of cars going and coming loaded with people like unto ourselves, trying to see and enjoy what we had not seen; how could we feel otherwise than thinking of America, the Beautiful, when we were compelled to look upon the dilapidated buildings, mudholes, filth and last, but not least, a poor specimen of humanity so near our doors going in and out of open saloons, spending their small earnings for that which is not bread, to fire their brains and plunge still deeper into ignorance and away from the God who created them, to defy God made and man made laws with but little if any prospects of ever reaching another step toward civilization, refinement and Christianity, and yet we have men and women on our side of the branch, who will vote to tear down all the bulwarks of defense Christianity has tried to provide to protect and defend such people from the curse of rum. My dear reader, if you will stop and give one hour's sincere thought to the dark road to endless night you are helping to build, we believe you would have a different conception of what we owe to the down and out about us. Step over in their shoes, take your children into such hovels of abject poverty, would you want the rest of the world to look on and say "let them go, they have made their beds hard let them lie on them?" Had you stopped to think our indifference toward them and unwillingness to help by our votes to bring on a better state of affairs, make us a party to their transaction in hedging up their way to a better existence? We are face to face with perilous times, whose bony fingers point direct to every man and woman, who persist in drinking and voting for booze and says "Thou art the man, thou art the woman upon whom these fearful tragedies must rest." What then?

As I am not sure all the readers of the Eagle will sanction my way of looking at such matters, I expect I had better hold up and wind up by

PUSH NO. TWO

Coming again to speak of the American family, I do not know if there is sufficient grounds for all the criticism we hear about the waning of parental authority and breaking down of the average home. If all complaint has an adequate cause, it is indeed serious. It brings a stupendous picture before our eyes. While we are building homes more beautiful and threading our nation with wonderful roads and growing rapidly in so many material ways, it is real shocking to feel that in the main work of life we are going backward and downward. As the home goes, so goes the community and so goes the nation.

We all have heard the statement often that "life is what one chooses to make it." It is by far a truer statement to say life is what the home makes it during childhood. It doesn't help but rather hinders to plead heredity. In point of intellect, hereditary comes in for large consideration, but not so in moral basis, which must fit one for successful life. As illustrated by history of orphan homes of our country. Our religious orphan homes everywhere have demonstrated over and over by statistics that teaching, training and proper example will grow worthy men and women, regardless of family blood.

The thing that makes a suitable parent competent to guide and mold sons and daughters is lofty, perfect ideals. No, we will not live up to such ideals in our carnal weakness, though we want to and strive to do so. But if we do not have those best and loftiest ideals to attain or seek to attain, a parent will fall too low to be worth the best to the home and children therein.

I think the best school teacher I was ever under had a habit of inspiring every pupil, if he could, to seek and work for a high education. He would say "there is no royal road to knowledge. It's by long toil and eager application and if you don't aim at the highest you will do next to nothing." So it is with ideals which go to make the best and most beautiful life.

Take another illustration: The standard in the Divine Book by which we are to live daily, is a perfect standard. If a human life should measure up to it, that life would be perfect. No life can measure up to that perfect standard and yet if we do not aim at it and strive to attain to it, we fall so low as to be shameful professors of His cause. Then on the part of a parent, God could not vindicate His holiness or justify His Godliness and give our race a rule for life less than perfection. Of course, it is another thing and glorious that He taught us about an advocate when we fail His standard.

It's all right for our government to spend large sums for internal improvement and for external friendship, but some way, somehow, we need schooling to lift up the average ideal. SAM SAY.

IMPROVE QUALITY

The dairy industry as a whole and in the Southwest in particular, needs to build up a quality market in order that we may produce a quality product with which to compete with the products of other States. It also needs to educate the people of this country to the value of consuming more butter, milk and cheese. These commodities have a distinct food value not equaled by any other product of farm or factory, but that fact has never been impressed upon the public as it should be. Theoretically, every person of mature age knows the value of dairy products, but they are not convinced to the point that when a substitute is offered at half the price, they will refuse it.

The manufacturing division of the industry is faced with disposing of 50,000,000 pounds of surplus products and, at the same time, keeping prices up for producers to a level where they will stay in the business. Much of this surplus was stored when prices were high and it looks as though someone was going to have to take a loss. The manufacturers can not afford to make any further reduction in the price of raw products as they come from the farm. To do so would be to bring about a sharp decline in production. Farmers in many sections where dairying should be developed would sell their cows and quit the business.—Farm and Ranch.

MERRY WIVES CLUB

Mrs. Kelly Saylor entertained the Merry Wives and a few friends Tuesday with a luncheon and bridge. A center bowl of red carnations adorned the madera spread table. The plate favors were modern ladies in their long, red dresses. Red whips burning in silver candleholders completed the smart appointment.

In the games, Mrs. Foster Brim scored high for the club and Mrs. Frank Overstreet of San Antonio as guest. In the table cuts, Mrs. Walter Fairman, Mrs. D. A. Trent and Mrs. Frank Taylor were successful. REPORTER.

I was greatly helped and impressed with the address of Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of the United States Department of Commerce, broadcast a few days ago. He said, "Any tendency to reduce our soundly planned advertising appropriations—on the mistaken assumption that this is an easy way of saving money, and that changed conditions may make the buying public somewhat less responsive to advertising appeal, is just carrying this calamity complex to non-sensical extremities."

Advertising should go ahead with all of its characteristic force. This is not to say that it should be extravagant. There may well be some scrutiny, at least, to determine whether a wasteful practice has crept into that field. A well known expert recently pointed out certain large wastes in carelessly planned retail advertising. Like every other part of our business machinery, it much bear its share of the responsibilities for flagrant wastes running into billions, but considered as a whole, it is one of the most potent of business accelerators. It keeps goods moving. And it inspires confidence. And for these very reasons any appreciable let-up in advertising programs would be unquestionably injurious. For countless firms, advertising has created that intangible but priceless business attribute which we know as "good will." It is worth millions. You'll find it rated that way in cold dollars and cents every time there's a merger or a sale of some big industrial. Possessing it, businesses flourish; without it they may wilt. But it is a fragile quality. It may sway and droop under the veering winds of public opinion. Advertising can keep it sturdy and upstanding.

But to do that, advertising must be steadily kept up. The message must strike the public consciousness unremittably time after time. The effect is cumulative. ADVERTISER.

SOAKING THE TAXPAYER

It is argued that municipally owned public utilities should be exempted from taxation on the ground that they are operated for the public benefit and that to tax them would burden the consumers. There is no such thing as real tax-exemption from the public's standpoint. It costs so much to run a local unit of government and the money must be raised. If one business is not taxed, what would be its share must be borne by other businesses. It would be equally logical to argue that privately-owned utilities should be tax-exempt because they are likewise of public benefit and their taxes are reflected in the bills paid by consumers. Every business, whether it is publicly or privately owned, should pay its own way and stand on its own feet. Tax discrimination is, in effect, class legislation. If municipally-owned utilities, in order to compete with private companies, must be "tax-exempt," they are an unjustified financial drain on all taxpayers many of whom cannot be furnished the "tax-exempt" service extended to a privileged few.

ANALYZE THE ALLOWANCE ON YOUR USED CAR

If a dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must make up the difference by extra charges on the new car or re-sell it to some one else at too high a price

PERMANENT value is always better than a temporary bargain in the purchase of an automobile. It pays to look ahead and consider reliability and ultimate up-keep costs, as well as comfort, safety, speed, and beauty of line and color.

Since most automobiles are bought for replacement, the value set on your used car is a factor in almost every purchase. Frequently it is given an importance beyond its true worth.

Used cars have a definite market value and you are justly entitled to an allowance based on that value. It is not fair that you receive less. It is not to your best interests to receive more.

IF a dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must either re-sell it to some one else at too high a price or make up the difference on the new car. This he cannot do unless he is allowed an excessive profit on the car or on financing, extra equipment and other charges. In either case, you pay the bill, for no way has yet been found to give something for nothing. The money must come from somewhere.

You may not get the largest used-car allowance from the Ford dealer, but that very fact should give you confidence that you are receiving full value in the new car. Ford charges are not marked up or increased to cover a high trade-in allowance on your old car.

Because there is no waste, extravagance or undue profit in manufacturing, distribution or selling, every dollar you pay for a Ford brings a full dollar in return. In lower first cost, in reliability and long life, in the low cost of operation, service and replacement parts, the Ford will save you much more than the seeming difference in trade allowance.

FURTHERMORE, at least $75 extra value is given to you in the new Ford in the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, the Rustless Steel, the five steel-spoke wheels, and the four Houdaille hydraulic double-acting shock absorbers. "About fifty years ago," says Mr. Lewis G. O'Shields, of Portersville, Ala., "my mother gave me the first dose of Black-Draught, and I have taken it ever since, when I needed a medicine for constipation. I have used this remedy all my married life, in raising my children. I have used Black-Draught for heartburn, as I have had spells of this kind, off and on, for years. This follows indigestion, and indigestion comes close on constipation. I have found that the best way to head off trouble is to begin taking Black-Draught in time. It relieves me of dizziness, tightness in the chest and backache. By getting rid of impurities, Black-Draught helps to keep the system in good order. I always keep it in the home, and have recommended it to many people, in my time."

FATAL AUTO WRECK

Elgin Rahl was instantly killed near Stephenville about 7 o'clock Monday evening, when the car he was driving turned over.

Elgin, or "Buddie" as many of his friends liked to call him, was a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Rahl of this city. He was 27 years of age and had spent a good part of his life here, recently having been associated with his father and brother in the grocery business at this place. He was a young man of an attractive personality and a friendliness that drew around him a large circle of friends. He was of a sunny disposition and it was impossible to be around him without liking him.

On this fatal trip he had been to Fort Worth to visit friends and was enroute home, accompanied by a friend of Fort Worth, who was coming here for a visit to the Rahl family. He was driving a car belonging to his brother Tom and the steering gear was known to be in bad order, having recently been given attention by garage men. The friend in the car with him and Mr. John Yantis, a banker of Brownwood and a personal friend of the family, say he was making less than 35 miles per hour when the accident occurred. Mr. Yantis, who was behind him in another car, saw the Rahl car swerve to one side of the road and then the other and then go over. When he and others reached the place they found Elgin dead. Mr. Yantis pined Mr. Rahl that he witnessed the accident, saying he had only a few moments before taken a drink of soda water at a filling station with Elgin and at that time he was well and in good spirits and his car seemed to be running all right.

When the family was notified of the accident the Fairman ambulance was immediately sent for the body, Sam Henry Rahl accompanying those who went for the body in the ambulance. The remains were conveyed to the family home, a short distance east of this city, from which place the funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon, burial being made in the cemetery at this place. There was a large attendance upon the services, both in the home and at the cemetery, while the funeral procession from the home to the cemetery was one of the longest ever seen at this place.

The sympathy of the people of Goldthwaite goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Rahl and other members of the family in this overshadowing sorrow.

METHODIST CHURCH

Our Epworth Leaguers had a real good time at San Saba last Sunday. Bro. Boone gave us a real good message on the subject of "Spiritual leziness." His message, if put into effect, would put the "cants" to flight. The wont's were also dealt a good blow. We were well represented there. The lunch at the church was highly appreciated and afforded the chance of going on through with the program without loss of time. We thank the San Saba folks for their hospitality to us. Our pastor there, Bro. Hamner, seems to have things in hand nicely. He is in high favor with the people there. Our recreation and singing in the afternoon was but a sample of how young people can enjoy themselves together. The basement of the church there is an excellent place for directed recreation. Our adults showed a good spirit towards this meeting by providing transportation for those who can't go. Our next meeting goes to Richland Springs. We look to have one here before a great while.

We look for a good audience at our church next Sunday morning and night and our Sunday school is doing a very fine work, but of course will do better when all get behind it with their might. Don't fail to come. Our Lord is counting on you doing your part in keeping His work going. Let Him not be disappointed.

Mr. Strayley is able to sit up some after a bad spell of pneumonia.

Albert Herford and family from Goldthwaite spent Sunday in the R. D. Evans home.

Earl Blake and wife of Brownwood came down Thursday to be with Mr. Morgan on his birthday, and eat some of his birthday cake and other good things. Earl went back that evening, but Mrs. Blake remained with her mother, Mrs. Ora Black, till Sunday night.

DEFECTIVE BILLS

Advice from Austin says two more defective acts of the fourth called session of the Legislature were discovered by Representative R. M. Hubbard, who had previously encountered a bill full of errors.

The automobile visitors' license law and the act providing for partly paying County Judges and County Commissioners out of road and bridge funds are the two newest measures found with defects, necessitating their re-enactment.

Bills already are under way for that purpose, and Governor Moody has agreed to submit them. The previous defective law was that which sought to exempt farm trailers from payment of motor license fees.

PROHIBITION ENDORSED

A report from Washington says that advocates of prohibition vigorously assailed the arguments of antiprohibitionists for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment before the House Judiciary Committee.

Two of the outstanding American dries the prohibitionists hoped to present—Henry Ford and Thomas A. Edison—expressed to the committee in the form of telegrams to Samuel Crowthier of Bayside, Long Island, the first witness, their unalterable opposition to the repeal of the dry laws.

P. H. Clements, who is door-keeper for the House of Representatives at Austin, spent last week-end at home.

Reide M. Haynes of Ebony, one of the Eagle's appreciated friends, was a pleasant caller at this office one day this week.

Sam Henry Rahl went to Stephenville yesterday to drive the car home that was wrecked Monday evening, resulting in the death of Elgin Rahl. The car was not seriously damaged.

W. C. Dew has been invited by the San Saba Chamber of Commerce to deliver an address, at a banquet in that city next Tuesday night, on the subject of dairying and its benefits and profits. He is well versed on that subject, because of his experience with the cheese factory, one of the most beneficial industries in this city and one that is helpful to all parts of the county, and all lines of business.

Savory Church Suppers That All Will Enjoy

By JOSEPHINE B. GIBSON
Director, Home Economics Dept., H. J. Heinz Company

PLANNING meals for a large group of persons, possibly a hundred or more, seems difficult to most of us, for it means thinking in much greater quantities than those to which we are accustomed. Yet church and community suppers require that someone be able to plan menus and estimate carefully the quantity of food needed.

Since these suppers usually are for the purpose of raising money, they should be as simple and inexpensive as possible, while furnishing ample quantities of nourishing and appetizing food. Below will be found two carefully planned menus, with complete recipes and the approximate quantities of food required to serve 150 people. If you will slip these suggestions into your cook book or recipe file, you may find them exceedingly helpful when you are called to serve on the entertainment committee:

Menu I

Baked Ham
Oven Baked Beans, Vegetarian Style
Hot Rolls
Cole Slaw
Fresh Cucumber Relish
Fig or Plum Pudding with Sauce
Coffee

Baked Ham
4 hams (10 lbs. each); brown sugar, 5 cups; 3 cups pure cider vinegar; whole cloves; ¼ cup crumbs.
Cook the hams until tender. Peel off the skins, arrange in baking pans, and stick cloves over the surface of the hams. Make a syrup of the brown sugar and pure cider vinegar, and pour over them. Sprinkle with crumbs, and brown in a hot oven.

Baked Beans may be purchased, if you do not wish to prepare them, in institutional sized cans, usually termed Number 10 Cans, which hold about a gallon each, and serve from 25 to 30 persons. Therefore, 5 or 6 of these large cans will be sufficient for 150 people.

Cole Slaw
12 lbs. cabbage; 1½ cups chopped pickles; 1½ cups chopped green pepper; 2½ qts. mayonnaise dressing; ¼ cup pure cider vinegar; ½ cup sugar; salt, pepper.

Slice the cabbage and let soak in cold water one and one-half hours. Just before serving, drain off the water; mix the cabbage with the other ingredients, add dressing and serve.

Order a gallon of pickle relish to serve 150. A large can fig or plum pudding is enough for 12 to 15 people, so for 150 provide one dozen large puddings. Allow 2 rolls to each person, or 300 in all, and three pounds of butter cut in a butter slicer. Four pounds of coffee will be required for this number of people.

Menu II

Beef Loaf
Tomato Sauce
Scalloped Potatoes
Buttered Green Peas
Spanish Quince Olives
Mince Meat Pie
Coffee

23 lbs. chopped meat; 5 qts. bread-crumbs; 10 eggs; 2½ qts. milk; ¾ lb. onions; 6 green peppers; about 8 tablespoons salt; 2 tablespoons Worcestershire Sauce.

Chop the onions and seeded green peppers together quite fine. Add the meat, together with the bread-crumbs and salt. Beat the eggs slightly, add the milk and combine with the meat. Add salt to taste, and mix thoroughly. Weigh out into loaf pans which have been well greased, pressing well into the corners. Quantity makes about 12 loaves, cutting twenty each.

Tomato Sauce
2 institutional-size cans tomato soup; 2½ cups flour.

Melt fat in a large pan, and stir until brown. Add tomato soup, and stir. Cook for several minutes. This makes tomato sauce and is easily prepared.

4 to 5 institutional-size cans peas will be needed. Any number 2 cans (any size) purchased for 10¢ each, used, 25¢ cans will be better.

Two one-gallon cans Quince olives will be needed.

Mince Meat Pie
9 quarts flour; 16 cups lard.

Mix flour and salt, and blend thoroughly to a dough with cold water. This amount will make 12 pies, 5 or 6 pieces, making 150 or more.

Fill the pies, 5 or 6 cans of about 14 pieces of mince meat will be

CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENT

"Have ye not read?" This is the question that Jesus asked the Pharisees when they had accused Him of Sabbath desecration. He with the twelve went through the fields of corn and plucked some of the ears, rubbed them in their hands and ate. They were accused of thrashing grain on the Sabbath. Have ye not read? Jesus met their argument by quoting Scripture, and comparing the practice of people on other occasions. Some one asked the question, "Why was it not wrong for Jesus and His disciples to get corn that did not belong to them?" The answer is in the Bible. "Have ye not read?" Where do we get the expression "Blue Laws?" The answer is told in the Bible. Come to church Sunday night and hear these questions discussed, when the question box is opened. In one place in the Bible the writer says, "My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge."

The majority of people kill enough time by idleness, if properly used, to educate themselves. To those who plead the want of time to read we would say, be as careful with your moments as you are with your dollars, and you will find time to read in the busiest day. What person is so busy that he cannot spare one half hour each day to read. You may not have that much time at once, yet if you used the spare moments from your regular work that come in between the time you are employed, you can get at least thirty minutes. By reading a little more than three chapters each day one can read the entire Bible through in a year.

O, Lord, help us to make proper use of our time, which we have, and if possible redeem what we have lost. Amen.

HAPPIER HOMES
MADE BY COLOR

That woman's happiness and good spirits are affected by the color schemes in her home is the opinion of leading interior decorators. "The selection of the right color scheme for a room or to meet the taste of the owner is often a puzzle to our customers," said Mr. McCullough of the Barnes & McCullough Company, local paint dealer. "This is because many people are not acquainted with color and do not realize the effect of different colors upon the feelings and moods.

"For instance, certain colors are known as warm colors," among which are red, orange, yellow and purple. The cool colors are blue, green, gray and lavender.

"Thus in rooms facing the north and east, red and yellow can be used to advantage. In rooms facing the south and west, blue and green are more desirable. The use of such colors will bring life and cheer into dull rooms and mellow daylight in sunny rooms."

COTTON ACREAGE

Thousands of acres of fall oats and barley in Texas and Oklahoma were killed by the severe winter weather. If this acreage is put in cotton, much of the effort expended in advocating a reduction in cotton for 1930 will be wasted.

Farm folks are "betwixt the Devil and the deep blue sea," permitting that kind of expression in an editorial column. They know that a large cotton crop will mean low prices. Yet, there seem, to be a surplus of other commodities such as they are able to produce. We have a surplus of dairy products and a carry-over of many other commodities. This situation demands that farmers first make a living at home and then take a chance on securing cost plus on their other products.

A campaign for cotton acreage reduction is under way. Farm and Ranch suggests that farmers reduce their acreage by planting cotton on only such soils as are adapted to the crop. If we could take out of cotton production that land unsuited to it and which does not make much more than the cost of the seed three out of four years, we would not only be reducing acreage, but also cost of operation. Good seed planted in good soil will produce good cotton and there is little surplus, if any, of the most desirable staple.

There is not an overproduction of good meat. The market is top-heavy with scrub animals and as a result, the consumption of this product is falling off. Good meat, the kind that comes from well finished, well bred animals is scarce. If there was more of it, consumption would increase and the market improve accordingly. Turning excess cotton land, the kind that produces scrub staple, and little of that, into pastures and the planting of more feedstuffs for the consumption by livestock is the safe and sane way of reducing the cotton acreage. There is no question that the acreage must be reduced. The farmer who can cut his cotton acreage and make a profitable use of his other lands will be the one who will put money in the bank instead of going to that institution to borrow.—Farm and Ranch.

How CARDUI Helped Her

Mrs. W. A. Cox, a well-known professional nurse, of Burnside, Ky., writes: "I was in very bad health, and only weighed 110 pounds. I read in the papers about Cardui, and thought I would give it a try-out. After I had taken one bottle, I could see that I was improving. After I had taken it a month or two, I began to gain, and I weigh at present 168, and have weighed that for some time. I am now 55 years old, and can do as much work as the average middle-aged woman can."

"I would advise any woman, who is weakly and in a run-down condition, to try Cardui, but not to expect one bottle to make her well. I take two or three bottles a year, now, and I feel fine."

KONJOLA MAKES GOOD AFTER ALL ELSE FAILED

St. Louis Lady Glad to Relate Her Fine Experience With New And Different Medicine

MRS. DORA BAUER

Konjola is a different medicine simply because it scores victory after victory in cases that have defied and resisted all medicines and treatments tried. This is not a boast. It is a fact established and proved in thousands of cases like that of Mrs. Dora Bauer, 3403 St. Vincent avenue, St. Louis. Read her grateful words:

"How I wish that every sufferer from neuritis could know what Konjola did for me. For ten years I endured agonies from this awful ailment. I had to keep my arms wrapped tightly to ease the pain. My digestion was bad, too, and this weakened me, making me still easier prey for neuritis. I can not remember how many medicines and treatments I tried, but found nothing to give relief, until I found Konjola. In just five weeks this remarkable medicine restored digestion and my system of poisons and impurities, and then the neuritis left as if by magic. What a boon Konjola proved to be to me. No wonder Konjola is known as the medicine with more than a million friends. It should have a billion."

Konjola is sold in Goldthwaite at Hudson Bros. Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this section.

AND THEY GOT THE POINT

A negro evangelist was preaching concerning the horrors of hell. In front of him was a coffin piled high with flowers. Newspapers had announced that it was to be the funeral of a neighbor. There was no word of praise from the preacher's mouth. "Brethren an' sistahs," he shouted, "ouah deceased friend heah done committed eve'y sin in de catalogue. He wasn't ready when de trumpet of de angel called him. He was unprepared. He was wicked and had to face judgment in his wickedness."

At the end of the sermon every member of th congregation was eager to crowd forward and view the "remains." Solemnly they filed past the coffin. It was empty but in the bottom was a mirror that reflected the face of every "mourner" that looked in. The lesson went home.—Exchange.
