

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Helm visited relatives in Weatherford last week end.

Mrs. L. H. Little, Mrs. Swain and Miss Adeline Little visited relatives in Lampasas Sunday.

Mrs. G. A. Swain is here from Amarillo, visiting in the home of her mother, Mrs. L. H. Little.

J. G. Caraway this week ordered the Eagle sent to his daughter, Mrs. Jess Ivy, at Colorado, Texas.

Pleas Caraway is building a modern Service station at Star, which he already leased for a term of years.

Miss Lois Fuller has had a cement walk laid in front of her residence on Fifth street, at the corner of Parker street.

Joe B. Karnes has bought the Peck residence on Fourth street, west of the Methodist church, and has moved into it.

Mrs. Simmie Hayis and her sister, Mrs. Northington, and son, Bill, were week end visitors from Temple in the C. A. Eacott home.

Judge and Mrs. J. C. Darroch came over from Brownwood last week end and remained several days this week visiting relatives, while he looked after legal matters.

Presiding Elder Radey of the Methodist church was here Sunday and filled the pulpit in that church Sunday night, holding quarterly conference after the preaching service.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Priddy and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Priddy attended the funeral of Jay Cunningham at Albin graveyard, three miles northeast of Newberg, Sunday afternoon. Mr. Cunningham was a son of Dave Cunningham and was 57 years of age. He was reared in the Newberg community and spent the greater part of his life there. He suffered a stroke of paralysis some months ago, from which he never recovered and it was that stroke that caused his death. He leaves a wife and one child.

BAPTIST CHURCH

The women of our Association made a good showing at the district meeting last week, which was held at San Saba. Every church in the county, with one exception, contributed toward the women's work. By these churches co-operating it has been possible for our ladies work to move forward in a great way, and as an Association we are very grateful for the record that was made, and more especially for the beautiful spirit manifested upon the part of the ladies in the rural churches. Here is hoping that it will continue and that a great work may be accomplished during this year.

We had 280 in Sunday school last Sunday, and two splendid crowds at the preaching services. This goes to prove that we are moving along and some day when we least expect it will have our 300. The class that meets in the Melba theatre was well attended. We are in hopes that we can make this class worthwhile. Let me urge that you prevail upon the boys and men who do not attend Sunday school to visit this class. Doesn't make any difference who you are, or where you live, just remember you are welcome to this class every Sunday at 10 o'clock.

We are planning to begin our annual revival the fourth Sunday in June. That is just about two months away and let's begin to take stock now, and see just what we have and just what may be accomplished. If we don't have anything in view we certainly will fail. Let's begin right now to make plans for an old fashion meeting just like we used to have over in the piny woods under a brush arbor. We want all the rural churches to be ready to lend us their presence and influence. We will need your help and it may be that we will be able to help you. Our purpose is to have the meeting on the outside, as we did last year. We are going to leave all of our formality, avistocracy, bigotry, peevishness, jealousy, envy, ha-

CHANDLERS MOVING TO GOLDTHWAITE TO MAKE THEIR NEW HOME

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Chandler and son, Pat, are moving this week to Goldthwaite, where Mr. Chandler will operate a wholesale agency for Magnolia Petroleum Company products. He has been employed in this line of work in Hico for some time, having worked for H. N. Wolfe, Magnolia agent here, and is familiar with the details of the business. His new connection should prove a good one for him, in view of his experience and his industry in his work here.

While Hico people regret to lose this good family as residents, the best wishes of the entire populace will go with them for happiness in the new home of their choice, and it is hoped that they will find prosperity and happiness to make the move not to be regretted.—Hico News-Review.

EYES OF LOVE

The High school department of Big Valley school will present a 3-act comedy-drama in the auditorium of their school building tonight. The play is entitled "The Eyes of Love," and the cast contains the names of a number of the pupils of the school, while the music for the entertainment is to be furnished by intermediate department. A small admission fee will be charged, which will be used for their commencement expenses and a large attendance is expected.

tred and other things that would hinder an old fashion revival in the junk pile and come together for one purpose and that is to honor God with our lives and lead the lost to the Savior. We are extending an invitation to every Christian in town and out of town, regardless of church affiliation, to remember the date and make arrangements to help us. Everybody to church Sunday. Let's have record breaking crowds at every service. G. C. IVINS, Pastor.

A BAD ACCIDENT

Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. M. Y. Stokes of Lampasas, accompanied by their small son, Chas. Stokes, Jr., came to Goldthwaite for a visit to the R. M. Thompson home. Their way home late in the afternoon, when within four miles of Lampasas, their car entered a ditch and was overturned, painfully injuring all the occupants, although the driver was only slightly hurt. A driver of a car immediately behind the Stokes car at the time of the accident helped them to extricate themselves from the wreck and drove them to their home, where they were transferred to their vehicle and carried to hospital in Temple for examination and treatment. Developments have proved that they were not seriously hurt, but certainly had a narrow escape. Their car was badly wrecked, but can be repaired at nominal cost. Their friends and neighbors sincerely regret the accident, but are relieved that it was not more serious.

CHANGE IN COURT

Hereafter Mills county will have three terms of district court in each year, instead of two as heretofore, although the time allowed for the three terms will be the same as that now required for the two terms. Hereafter the court will convene the third Monday in January of each year, the first Monday in May, the last Monday in September. This change best fits in with the former schedule, making the May term convene May 4. Two weeks will be allowed each term, whereas, heretofore, only one week has been allowed for each of the two terms before.

Awake Half the Night Weak and in Pain

"Night after night I could not sleep," writes Mrs. Mary J. Roberts, 117 West Franklin St., Raleigh, N. C. "I would lie awake half the night. I was dizzy and weak, suffered frequently with pains in my side and small part of my back. "When I was a girl, my mother gave me Cardui, and it did me so much good, I thought I would try it again. I took five bottles, and I feel like a new person. "I think it is fine. I would advise every woman who is weak to try Cardui, for it has certainly put me on my feet."

DOWN ON THE FARM

Hoyt Cockrell and Melvin Doak are top-working pecan trees for Dan Waggoner on Bennett Creek. These young men are efficient pecan experts and are recommended to those desiring high grade work at reasonable prices. As a reason for not improving their orchards some say that pecans planted or top-worked will not come to paying production for many years. This is erroneous. Mr. Hendy on Fisher street has a tree with four year's history. In 1927 the county set buds on a 3-year-old seedling and the bud did not put out. In 1928 the bud put forth and grew an 8-foot branch. In 1929 it bore 84 pecans, and in 1930 240 nice Burkett pecans were gathered. John Walton, Center City, budded a native sprout in his garden and the second year gathered 24 pecans. The third year, a half gallon and the fourth year a gallon of pape-shell nuts. Move: I. B. Cody, Mount Olive put out nursery trees and the fourth year a Texas Prolific tree yielded 240 pecans. This is proof that pecans will do well on this mountain land. The freeze set the gardens back, but determined farmers, have replanted and will grow sufficient vegetables for family use and a supply for canning. The home garden and pressure canner carried many families through the combination of drought and depression. Feed for the livestock, food for the family and a cash crop for other expenses should feature every program. Pigs is pigs and hens is hens, but well-grown pullets will be hens this fall when so many have gone out of egg producing, that prices will climb by reason of scarcity. Raise a few good pullets.

BAR DANGEROUS DRIVERS

During 1930, 32,500 people were killed in automobile accidents, as compared with 31,215 in 1929, according to the Travelers Insurance Company. During 1930, 12,600,000,000 gallons of gasoline were consumed, as compared with almost 14,000,000,000 in 1929. In other words, automobile fatalities increased over four per cent, while use of gasoline—an accurate barometer of mileage—decreased about ten per cent. The only possible conclusion is that each year the highways grow more dangerous. This may be laid to a multitude of reasons. Car speeds are increasing, and in many instances highways are inadequate for modern, congested, fast moving traffic. Of greater importance, there are unquestionably thousands of people now operating cars who are temperamentally or physically unfit. In states which have adopted strict examination laws for drivers, licenses have been refused to an appreciable percentage of applicants. As a result, the accident rate in those states has usually gone down while increasing in states where licenses are issued to all who wish them. The overwhelming percentage of drivers are reasonably careful and competent. The small percentage, who are congenitally careless and incompetent cause our gigantic death record, and are a constant menace to lives and property to all who drive. Every state should take steps to make certain that every possessor of a driving license is reasonably fit to use public highways.

THE WRIGLEY PLAN

Mr. Wrigley states that his gross business in the cotton states amounts to about $12,000,000 annually. This sum he is willing to invest in cotton, up to, but not beyond 12c a pound. It is an intelligent departure. Mr. Wrigley becomes one more big cotton buyer, and the South sorely needs all the big cotton buyers it can dig up. Evidently the chewing gum magnate considers cotton too cheap under twelve cents, therefore, he is making that figure his maximum price. His decision in this matter may not have very great weight in the cotton market, but if other big business men were to come to Mr. Wrigley's conclusion their combined weight would have effect. If cotton could be stabilized around 12c, with other commodities as a present, the South would soon win back its rightful prosperity. In selling six sticks of chewing gum for a nickel, the retail store, or the wholesale store, makes a legitimate profit. Mr. Wrigley also makes a legitimate profit. They are dealing in a finished product, while lint cotton is a raw material. A bale of cotton transformed into fine lace would sell for some thousands of dollars, perhaps, because offered as a finished product. And it would afford scores of people with paid employment, while undergoing the transformation, just as Mr. Wrigley's chewing gum affords employment all the way from the chicle tree to the ultimate consumer. — State Press in Dallas News.

SOLDIERS' BONUS MONEY

The first effect of the distribution of several hundred million dollars among ex-soldiers, in the form of loans against their compensation certificates, will be felt by retail storekeepers in every line. More money in hand means more money spent. The effect will not be more noticeable in any one part of the country than in any other, but it will spread pretty evenly all over the United States. Increased sales by retailers will compel the speedier replenishment of stocks, and thus will stimulate wholesale trade and in turn, manufacturing. Just how much effect the government financing necessary to provide the funds for these bonus payments, will have upon the curtailment of credit for industrial expansion, remains to be seen. Secretary Mellon opposed the project because of the added burden upon taxpayers and the drain upon general credit facilities. It may not prove as serious as he anticipated. In the meantime, one fact stands out clearly. The merchants who will gain the chief benefit from the increase in business through this new spending will be the ones who are enterprising enough to keep up their stocks and courageous enough to tell the people of their communities about their wares, all through intelligent advertising. There never was a situation, it seems to us, when advertising had such an opportunity to prove its value. — Stephenville, Empire-Tribune.

1931 TIRE PRODUCTION MAY BREAK RECORDS

Nearly 90,000,000 automobile tires will be needed in 1931, according to detailed estimates presented in the current bulletin of the Alexander Hamilton Institute. Last year's shipments totaled only 54,000,000. Increased demand is expected from increased production of automobiles, but particularly from replacements on old cars. During 1929 replacements dropped from 2.34 tires per car to 1.89. During 1930 replacements dropped to 1.46. Statistics show that increased use of automobiles offsets increased durability of tires. 23,000,000 old automobile tires were replaced in 1929; that 23,000,000 will be needed for 1930; and 2,500,000 for export.

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

The business men of Teague, Freestone county, have posted a reward of $15,000 for the first person or company drilling a producing oil well in the Teague trade territory.

The municipal election held in Childress last Tuesday was declared illegal and another election was ordered, because of the fact that an election judge had not paid his poll tax and two of the clerks were not qualified voters.

A constitutional amendment to give the Federal Senate, as well as the House, the right to institute impeachment proceedings against Federal officeholders was proposed this week by Senator Bingham for "consideration and criticism" by the people.

Approximately 100 persons were arrested and a radio station seized at New Orleans Sunday in what prohibition authorities described as the "largest prohibition drive against liquor smuggling in history of the South."

The prize fighting champion, Jack Dempsey, and his new wife are on the eve of a divorce suit and have already separated. She is a screen actress and their trouble seems to be simply a case of too much money. He is in Reno to file his divorce application, according to an interview.

Both houses of the legislature adjourned Friday a free conference report on a bill by Senator Walter Woodward restricting the granting of insanity trials to defendants convicted of felonies. The trial would be granted on affidavit of two physicians, the county health officer, prison physician, superintendent of a State hospital or the prison warden.

Plans of the Soviet Government to increase Russia's cotton area to 80 per cent in 1931 will deal something of a blow to the country's imports from America if the plan is realized. Nearly 5,000,000 acres will be planted to cotton in Russia in 1931, according to present plans. This is a 50 per cent increase in acreage over 1930 and the government hopes by the use of fertilizers and better equipment to increase the crop 80 per cent.

Two heavy damage suits were filed in Houston last week and by attorneys for Oscar Holcomb, former mayor of that city, against the Houston Press, a Scripps-Howard publication, and Marcelus Foster, editorial writer for the Press. The suits are the outgrowth of the last year's campaign in Houston, when in Holcomb attempted to stage a come-back and was defeated by the present mayor, Walter Monteth. The total amount involved in the suits is $385,000.

The agricultural editor of the Dallas Farm News thinks there is room for many canneries in Texas. He says in a recent summary: "There is one farming industry, which apparently has not suffered from overproduction and which should be adapted to extensive development in Texas. Canning of tomatoes, either whole or as pulp and ketchup, now is a business of about $20,000,000 a year. The United States tomato crop annually sells for about $50,000,000, and is steadily growing. Of the 400,000 acres planted to tomatoes in this country, about 300,000 acres are devoted to raising tomatoes for canning and bottling in the form of pastes and ketchup."

HYDROGENATION MEANS BETTER GASOLINE

Most motorists, encountering the word "hydrogenation," probably dismiss it from mind as a scientific term for a process which is of interest to the oil industry, but not the general public.

However, hydrogenation may prove to be the key that will solve the difficulties inherent in the automobile motors of the future. According to automotive engineers, cars equipped with still higher compression and more efficient power plants will appear on the highways with the development of fuels capable of operating under higher compression ratios without knocking or tending to break down. And the answer to this is hydrogenation.

The "knock rating" of any gasoline is now generally measured on a scale of octane numbers. About 62 per cent of gasolines sold in the United States at present have a knock rating on this scale of between 57 and 60. Hydrogenated gasolines have been produced with an octane number as high as 95.

In aviation hydrogenated gas will be especially valuable. In order to get high anti-knock values in fuels now used, it is necessary to employ a product that is highly volatile and hence most readily inflammable. In hydrogenated gas, the heavier fractions of the fuel have the best anti-knock qualities. This will appreciably lessen the danger of fire in planes.

It is believed that hydrogenated gasoline will soon be generally available to the public. This is one more important example of the achievement of the oil industry in providing motorists with the highest possible grade of petroleum products.

NEW SLAVES FOR OLD

If you were asked whether you favor the extension of slavery you would be aghast. It is a question which apparently admits of but one answer, and your's would be a decided one.

But day by day, year by year slavery is increasing in the world. It is the sort of slavery to bring joy to the heart of every man and woman of ideals and aspirations.

For every new slave made, an old one is released.

Man is a parasite upon the body of the world. He feasts upon things he has not created, and he forces the lesser creatures to do his work for him.

First his mentality was so crude that he sought to master only puny humans like himself. This was human slavery in its most despicable institution in man's history.

A little later, and he tamed the dog, the horse, the camel, and the elephant came under his sway—always the servant was more powerful, so exerted greater force.

While man wrought havoc in the animal kingdom the vegetable realm was not spared. Wood served for our fuel and houses, fruits and other growing things for our food.

Now a big step is being made. Having largely released the animals from our slavery, we are letting the vegetable things slip one by one to freedom.

Minerals are our own slaves, the most powerful of all, the hardest to tame, the most potential for accomplishment.

One day man will have complete mastery over the mineral kingdom and then the slavery of other humans, of animals and of all living things will be at an end. We do not yet see how this is to come about. But man, first the puny parasite, now the conqueror, will work out his salvation in this way and no other.—Paris Morning News.

WISE CRACKS AND OTHERWISE

Be grateful for luck, but do not count on it.

Pools rush in where fools have been before.

If you know yourself you're sure to be a modest man.

Work hard—and keep your eyes open.

Any party will be a fizzle if there's more than one celebrity present.

Few families ever invest in their second bowl of goldfish.

Nothing tests a friendship like a private loan.

If we don't discipline ourselves the world will do it for us.

When something has to be done we usually find a way to do it.

Sometimes the funniest jokes around a home are the ones we don't dare tell outside.

It tells a good deal about a man's home life if he orders rice pudding and home-made cake at a lunch counter.

Few things irritate a man more than to have his wife doubt his ability to read a time table correctly.—Selected.

KEEP OUT OF THE RUT

If none feels the right to prod you to greater effort, prod yourself.

Prodding is good to keep you out of a rut.

To get in a rut destroys your general usefulness and is likely to land you in the workers' scrap heap.

At times such as the present the producer is given the preference.

Workers are laid off in the order of those least necessary to carry on.

In the past your work may have been of a high and satisfactory order.

But then you were more active and applied yourself more studiously as well as industriously to your job.

You may be producing now as much as ever, but that is not enough in the face of present conditions.

There is a demand for greater volume from each person employed often as a result of reductions in labor force to meet decreased business income.

This is a poor time to remain in the groove of ordinary production.

If you are not being advised to bestir yourself, you better subject yourself to the prod without waiting for it to be given you.

Don't be satisfied to jog along in the usual way or you may find yourself looking for another position.—Houston Chronicle.

Unintentional Suicide
Many people are slowly poisoning themselves just as surely as if they drank iodine every morning for breakfast. They are daily absorbing the toxins, or poisons, created by accumulated waste matter in their constipated digestive systems. Sooner or later disease will conquer their weakened bodies.

If you have headaches, coated tongue, bad breath, no appetite, bilious attacks, you are probably suffering from self poisoning caused by constipation. A relief for this condition is Herbine, the vegetable cathartic which acts in the natural way. Get a bottle today from

WHAT IS WRONG WITH TEXAS?

Nothing's wrong with Texas, except entirely too many of us get up in the morning at the alarm of a Connecticut clock, button a pair of Ohio suspenders to a pair of Chicago pants, put on a pair of Massachusetts shoes, wash in a Pittsburgh tin basin, using Cincinnati soap, and a cotton towel made in New Hampshire, sit down to a Grand Rapids table, eat pancake spread from Minneapolis flour mixed with Vermont maple syrup, and Kansas bacon fried on a St. Louis stove. Buy fruit put up in California, seasoned with Rhode Island spices, and sweetened with Colorado sugar. Put on a hat made in Philadelphia, hitch a Detroit tractor fed on Oklahoma gasoline to an Ohio plow and work all day on a Texas farm covered with a New England mortgage, send our money to Ohio for tires, wondering why Texas taxes are $2.75 per acre, while Ohio farmers pay $1 tax and drive on paved roads, and at night we crawl under a New Jersey blanket to be kept awake by a bull dog, the only home product on the place, wondering all the time, where all the money went in this wonderful state of our. If we all would buy more home manufactured products, we could keep our money at home and be prosperous.—West Texas Today.

HEARD OVER THE RADIO

Time in her tireless flight, has winged many years into the dim past; and our minds do not function as readily as in youth, as those historical problems of the Pilgrim Fathers, we studied about in school days, have become obscured with the passing years.

The Salem Witchcraft, that shameful blot on colonial history, was resurrected from memory's garret, covered with the mental dust and corrosion, of a score of years, and by radio dramatization, it was brought back with startling vividness.

There is scarcely a boy or girl, we venture to assert, in these modern times, that does not shudder at the thought of a poor human being condemned to pay the extreme penalty on such a benighted charge as imputed to this poor creature.

It might be well, did we not too strenuously impugn the mode of handling this question, under the conditions existing at this particular time and might reflect discredit on our national diffidence in attributing to our forefathers such primitive methods.

Salem and Jerusalem are one and the same, and the Bible chronicles an episode similar in character, early in the first century, of a man clothed in sinful flesh, yet perfect in word, deed and subjected to every temptation that flesh is heir to on this earth. This King, Priest, Saint and Servant, the only begotten son of the living God, charged with being possessed of a devil, heretic, blasphemer and everything evil, stripped of every attribute of his calling, nailed to the tree and "paid the debt that made us free."

We hear someone say: "If I had all the proof our Saviour gave to the people of that time, I would believe with all my heart, body and soul." Hold up life's mirror and let us analyze that physiognomy of ours as a criterion, whereby reverence for things pertaining to our God, and depth of character delineated, but owing to our daily radio associates am afraid we would have to say no or refuse to answer the question.

We are introduced daily to the astrologers, soothsayers, fortune-tellers all put in the same class by our God, as of the devil, for our children to mentally digest along with teachings they try to assimilate and the result is bound to be chaos.

We raised a hue and cry for a board of censors for the picture films, but a little clean "cussing" would be decidedly wholesome in comparison to some of the mental defilement that is allowed to contaminate the atmosphere by way of the radio.

HOT POLLIO.

RUINOUS ECONOMY

A primary reason for the magnitude of fire loss in the United States is the inadequacy of building laws in many communities, coupled with a false sense of economy on the part of builders.

The sort of "saving" that builds without employing the most fire-resistant construction and materials, really amounts to waste. Second-rate construction may save a few dollars here, a few more dollars there—and it may be the means of destroying property valued at thousands of dollars and invaluable lives.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters has created a building code, most of whose provisions should be incorporated in the codes of all cities and towns. It is said that the success achieved in holding down fire waste in a number of European cities is largely due to the strictness and adequacy of their building codes. America has the money and skill to build homes and buildings that come as close to being fire-proof as is possible—but the fallacious idea of economy often stands in the way.

There are few American communities which do not house one or a thousand fire fire-traps—buildings whose very existence is a constant menace to all property in the neighborhood. They may even—as the Chicago and San Francisco fires demonstrated—menace an entire city. Likewise, there are few communities, aside from half a dozen metropolises, which are free of dry fields such as that which was responsible for the great disaster in Berkeley, California. Conditions like these show why our half billion dollar annual fire waste is almost a thing to be expected.

"When I was a child, if I did not feel well, or if I had a cold, my mother gave me Black-Draught," says Mrs. Orpha Hill, of Wofford, Ky. "When I was married, it became a family medicine in my own home, as it was in my mother's."

"I take it for headaches and especially for constipation. When I get bilious, my skin gets yellow and I have a very bad taste in my mouth, and a drowsy feeling all during the day. LIVE OAK
If you hated to sit in the house and write this morning as bad as I do I doubt if you would ever write. I have been trying all morning to bribe someone to write for me, but so far my efforts have not been crowned with success.

Margie Featherston spent last week end in Big Valley visiting her sister.
Judge and Mrs. Roy Simpson visited relatives at Payne Gap Sunday.
The students and ex-students of Live Oak are real busy working on two plays, which will be presented the last of next week. On Thursday night, April 23, the school children will present "Nobody's Darling," and on Saturday night, April 25, some of the ex-students will present "The Adventures of Grandpa." Every body is asked to come both nights.

MORE MILK FOR CHILDREN
According to a committee report made to the recent White House Conference on Child Health, "the consumption of fluid milk in the United States is too low for proper and economical human nutrition. . . . Every educational facility should be used to acquaint both adults and children with the desirability of consuming milk and dairy products in adequate amounts."
Here is a hint for parents and teachers. It is said that consumption of substitute milk products is high—but, according to Anna Stapler, of the Dairymen's League of New York, though they taste the same, they are lacking in vitamin content. Milk and its by-products are cheap—and their consumption is one of the ways of improving the health of the race.

DEBATING TEAM
Misses Tessie Swanger and Thelma Richards, representing the girls of the interscholastic league of this county, John C. Price and Marlin Ross, representing the boys' division of the league, will go to Brownwood today to contest in a debate for district honors.

A door or window screen that sags or is warped a full of holes is just exactly as good as no screen at all. New screens are usually less expensive than trying to patch up the old ones.
"A pretty good firm is Watch and Wait. Still another is Attit Early and Late. Another is Doo and Daret. But the best of all is Grin and Barvet."
We know a lot of people in this community who think of Barnes & McCullough whenever they think of Lumber, Wire, Paints, Posts or Paper and we are glad that they do.
