MEMORIAL TREES PLANTED

Last Friday Messrs. A. J. Harrison and Wellie Saylor appeared before the commissioners court and asked the privilege of planting a pecan tree on the public square in memory of Abraham Lincoln, that day being the anniversary of his birth. The court readily acceded to the request, but suggested that a tree also be planted in memory of Jefferson Davis at the same time. The gentlemen at once agreed to the suggestion and Mr. W. W. Saylor announced he would pay for the two trees, which he did and preparations were made for the planting, or transplanting, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Quite an appropriate program was arranged for the occasion, which was under the direction of Judge Roy Simpson.

The trees were placed in position on either side of the walk leading from the courthouse to the street on the north side. The tree in honor of Mr. Lincoln was placed on the west side of the walk, while that for Mr. Davis was on the east side of the walk. After they had been placed, most of those present passed by and dropped in a shovel of dirt to fill in around the roots of the trees. After this Mr. W. E. Miller was called on for a prayer, which was followed with an address by Rev. H. H. Dare, pastor of the Methodist church, in which he gave some of the history of the time in which the two great leaders lived and told of some of their outstanding policies, giving credit to each for being honest and sincere in their acts and purposes.

A number of citizens attended the ceremonies to do honor to two of the country's outstanding leaders and makers of history.

BRIDGE LUNCHEON

The inclement weather of Wednesday afternoon did not chill the enthusiasm of the gay party of maids and matrons, who composed the personnel of a lovely bridge luncheon given by Mrs. T. F. Toland, Mrs. D. A. Trent and Miss Adeline Little at the charming Little home.

As the guests arrived they were greeted by the hostesses and given tiny bridge cards, which proved to be combination score cards and place cards. At each place were corsages of pink sweet peas.

An elaborate three course luncheon was served, after which several hours were pleasantly spent in the bridge game. When scores were counted Mrs. Hodges was fortunate in holding high score, so she was awarded a handsome pottery vase. The cards were cut for high at each table and the lucky one at that table was awarded a lovely satin and lace boudoir pillow. The fortunate ones in this list were Mrs. Will H. Trent, Mrs. C. A. Eacott, Mrs. Walter Fairman, Mrs. John Schooler, Mrs. Hodges and Miss Lucille Conro.

The rooms were fragrant with the perfume of cut flowers and blooming plants. The cheerful glow of the blazing logs in the open fireplace and the hum of pleasant conversation and spirited bidding in the game all combined to make this one of the most enjoyable social events of the season. A GUEST.

LEGION DISTRICT MEET ON FEBRUARY 27-28

The next regular meeting of the 17th District, American Legion, will be held in Brownwood on Feb. 27-28, according to announcement made this week. Headquarters will be at Hotel Brownwood.

The delegates will attend the services at one of the Brownwood churches Sunday morning, and the regular business session will be held Sunday afternoon. The program will be varied, and will furnish entertainment for all who attend.

A number of Legion State officers are expected to attend the meeting.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the 17th district will also be in session during the two days.

CONTINUED RAIN

Mills county is certainly a "wet" county now, if continued rains will make it thoroughly soaked. While there was a pretty good season in the ground already, rain commenced here Sunday afternoon and has continued at frequent intervals since that time, a part of the time reaching the dimensions of a downpour. Creeks have been flushed, fields inundated and roads made muddy and some almost impassable—and still it rains. Nevertheless, we are always glad to get rain and the more the better. Let'er rain.

SENIOR CLASS

Thursday, Feb. 12, the senior class of the Goldthwaite High school was called to a business meeting to consider an important proposition presented by Mr. Stringer.

The proposition that the senior class be responsible for the planting of two Chinese elms in commemoration of the birthday of the "Father of Our Country" was readily agreed upon.

The entire school will take part in the ceremony by marching, singing songs, and planting the trees. These trees, six in number, are donated by interested citizens, whom we thank heartily.

The seniors are backing Mr. Stringer in his plans for the improvement of our school campus. If no unavoidable hindrances, the work will start next week.

WORK, THE KEY TO SUCCESS

The two big things that the majority of the students lack are an incentive to work and a determination to overcome difficult obstacles. Too many students are satisfied with just a "get by", which means only temporary success. They forget that with this attitude that they are nursing a chronic, which will develop a dismal failure.

This writer is willing to admit that some people are born with more ability than others and that for some, problems are easier to solve. But this should not discourage the remaining group, for the greatest success comes through work, a faculty acquired, but not inherited.

Since work is an acquired factor, everyone has a chance to develop it. It is said of Edison that he was so absorbed in one of his inventions that he forgot about his wedding day. Then again the great inventor said that genius is one per cent inspiration and 99 per cent perspiration. This, of course, proves that without work success is doomed.

The world's great geniuses will say that before permanent success is attained there must be a desire to work upon. This desire is nourished with work and determination and finally is crowned with success.

Do not be satisfied with a "get by." Be one of those who are determined to succeed permanently rather than temporarily. Create an incentive, enhance it with work and determination and the door is opened to success! CONTRIBUTED.

TUESDAY STUDY CLUB

The Tuesday Study club met in the home of Miss Vivian Campbell, with Mrs. R. L. Steen, Jr., as leader.

The president, Mrs. Steen, took charge and the officers for the following year were elected.

The subject of the lesson was "Edith Wharton and Her Works." Delightful papers were given by Mrs. Bigham, Miss Archer, Mrs. Stringer and Miss Miller.

A delicious refreshment plate was passed to club members and guests.

Our next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Sparks Bigham and Mrs. E. D. Stringer will be leader. REPORTER.

FIRE DESTROYS CAFE

The "Poor Boy" cafe, owned by H. J. Kelly, located in the Harrison building on Fisher street, was destroyed by fire last Saturday night. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it was discovered about 11 o'clock and was too far advanced for the fire fighters to save any of the contents, altho the building was not greatly damaged. Both Mr. Kelly and A. J. Harrison, owner of the building, carried insurance. Mr. Harrison intends to make some improvements on the interior of the building before it is occupied again and Mr. Kelly has not announced whether or not he will again engage in the cafe business.

PARENT-TEACHERS MEET

The Parent-Teachers association met at the Junior High school building, Wednesday, Feb. 10. A program was rendered by the Senior High school Glee club. An important business session immediately followed the program. A project was presented, which is to lay a sidewalk around the north and east portions of the Junior High school. It is urgent that something be done, because of the danger to the children's lives from cars driving across the school ground. The Parent-Teachers association is to be one of the organizations of the city to sponsor this.

A rising vote of thanks was given Mr. Pence for the co-operation he has given the school in permitting them to sponsor picture shows to buy books and other necessities. REPORTER.

MERRY WIVES

An enjoyable evening was spent in the home Mr. and Mrs. Earl Summy, when they and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steen, Jr., entertained the members of the Merry Wives club and a few additional guests.

Red pot plants were used in the floral decorations, in keeping with the valentine motif carried out in all detail of the hospitality.

Score awards went to Mrs. Walter Fairman, Mr. Kelley Saylor and Mr. C. M. Burch.

Temple refreshments in the red and white color scheme were served to Messrs. and Mesdames Roy Rowntree, C. M. Burch, Kelly Saylor, Foster Brim, Tom Toland, D. Albert Trent, Walter Fairman, Jim Helm, Chas. Frizell, Miss Adeline Little and Mrs. Walter Summy. REPORTER.

A PETITION

A postmaster is to be appointed for Goldthwaite in the near future. Those patrons of the office who would like to have the same postmaster retained are invited to call at the postoffice and sign a petition for his re-appointment. XX

BAPTIST CHURCH

We are wondering how many who read these lines will have a birthday Monday, Feb. 22. If those that do will drop this writer a card, giving their names we will be glad to make mention of them in next week's notes.

The two hundredth anniversary of the father of our country will be celebrated this year on a scale unequalled or unheard of in doing honor to a national hero. This celebration is being sponsored by the government of the United States. The purpose of this great tribute to George Washington as expressed in a joint resolution of congress "that future generations of American citizens may live, according to the example and precepts of his exalted life and character and thus perpetuate the American republic."

The nations, state, cities, towns, villages and every community are supposed to put on a program commemorating the memory of this great man. These programs should be put on between Feb. 22 and Thanksgiving day. The Baptist church will not wait until Feb. 22, but Sunday night at 7:15 a program will be rendered in honor of the first president of our United States. This program will consist of addresses and songs that were sung while Washington was leading his people from conquest to victory. The public in general is extended an invitation to worship with us for an hour on Sunday evening, beginning promptly at 7:15.

Our entire church offers to Mrs. J. D. D. Berry their sympathy as a result of the homegoing of her only sister from her home in Los Angeles, Calif., on last Saturday morning. She was 84 years old and had lived in California for the past 40 years, going there from the Rock Springs community of this county. Many will recall her visit to her sister and friends of yesterday, during the last summer months. Having lived to a ripe old age she often said she was only waiting for the boatman to come and carry her to a better land. After all is said and done in life, the supreme need of every soul is to be ready for that inevitable hour, for it must come.

We had less than two hundred in Sunday school last Sunday and if the flu and other illness does not subside, we may have still less Sunday, but let's do our best to have 250 present and if every one will come that can, we will attain our goal.

Mark Fairman has brought his wife to church for the past two Sunday nights. Someone said that he put a dollar bill in the collection plate the first night and now he would have to come for a month to get his money's worth. There are some other husbands in this town that ought to do the same thing, that is bring your wife to church and put a dollar in the "pan." I doubt if Claud Burch knows on what street the Baptist church is located. However, we owe Claud a little bill and he is more than likely to drop around and put a few dimes in the hat.

W. W. Taylor says that his son Frank has put wings on his Ford. However, he did not realize it until he, Frank, and his wife, flew over to Breckenridge last Sunday after Mrs. Taylor, who had been visiting her son in Wichita Falls. Mrs. Taylor reports a splendid visit and a lovely time.

We have been thinking for some time about offering our candidacy for some county office, but our friends insist that we wait and run for alderman or school trustee. We don't like to run against such men as Joe Palmer, Sam Sullivan, Jess Hall and Mr. Hoover. But having been pastor for 15 years and coming in contact with all kinds of people, being liked and disliked, cussed and dishonored, we really think that we would qualify for editor of a weekly newspaper, as well as alderman or school trustee.

If we do not forget, we will say some things next week about people who give their services without remuneration to their community. PASTOR.

GOLDEN WEDDING CELEBRATION

On the 12th day of Feb. 1932, Mr. Wm. August Marwitz and wife, Minna, had the pleasure of celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary amongst a group of children, grandchildren, great grandchildren, relatives and friends. The anniversary was celebrated in the afternoon, first by the taking of some family and also group pictures of their visitors. Then a nice recitation was made in the German language, by Mrs. George Tiemann, and a nice talk to fit the occasion by R. F. Swindle and then some songs were sung by the entire group, under the leadership of Otto Schoen. Then all sat down to supper at a long table, which was covered with chicken, barbecue, salads, pies, etc. After supper the young folks again entertained with more singing, while the older people resorted to domino playing. About 9:30 a group of singers from the Priddy Lutheran choir, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Hein, came to the anniversary celebration and rendered a program of songs, duets and quartettes in both the German and English language. Gifts of all descriptions were heaped upon the merry couple. Then after a lot of singing and music all ate the midnight supper and bade good night to one another.

August Marwitz was born on the 19th of March, 1865, in Brandenburg, Germany, and in 1871 at the age of 15, he with his parents and one sister and two half-brothers came to America, landing at Galveston, and settled in Washington county near Brenham. After three years he moved to Fayette county, then in three more years, or 1877 moved to Travis county near Pflugerville, and in 1882 he married Miss Minna Nieman and lived in Travis county until 1907, when they moved to Mills county near Priddy, and have lived near Priddy and Indain Gap since.

Minna Nieman Marwitz was born on the 20th day of May, 1865, in Hanover, Germany, and in 1871, at the age of 5 years, with her parents, George Nieman, Sr., and brother and sisters came to New York, where they stayed only one year, when in 1872 they came to Texas and settled in Travis county, where in 1882 she met and married Wm. August Marwitz.

They were blessed with a large family of four girls and eight boys. Two of the girls are dead. Mrs. Louise Hohertz died in 1918, and Marie died in infancy. The children living are, daughters: Mrs. R. C. Spleker of Miles, and Mrs. W. D. Elkins of Indian Gap. Mr. Marwitz has two half-brothers living, Fritz Curth in Michigan and Albert Curth in Idaho. Mrs. Marwitz has one brother, Ad Niemann of Miles, and two sisters living, Mrs. Louise Schumann of Priddy and Mrs. Dora Schaller of Karnes City, Texas.

Our Primary teacher shows much patience in training her little boys and girls. Last Friday morning she presented a well prepared program, which deserves much praise. Too, she is contemplating planting the different kinds of grains, such as wheat, oats, barley, etc., for nature study. This kind of work stimulates study on behalf of the boys and girls.

The pocket book contained about $65, but all but six or seven dollars was in checks, one of which was on the Priddy bank and the others on the banks of Goldthwaite.

WHAT CAN PAY FOR FIRE?

Insurance will rebuild a destroyed factory, compensate for the burning of a stock of goods and provide other indemnity, but nothing in the world can "pay" for fire.

We can not secure complete compensation for loss of time, of business, of employment, for the industrial stagnation fire sometimes creates. Nor can we measure human lives in dollars—and many thousands of these go to death via accidental cremation each year. No: can anything compensate for a fire that absolutely brings to an end the development of a community—as a number of great conflagrations have done in the past and may do again in the future.

The very stability of our great insurance industry has blinded most of us to these other vicious losses until we lose sight of the fact that fire prevention is not primarily in the interest of the insurance companies (whose rates are mathematically based upon the law of average), but is rather in the direct interest of everyone of us in minimizing these unseen losses.

How One Woman Lost 10 Lbs. in a Week

Mrs. Betty Luedeke of Dayton, writes: "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week and cannot say too much to recommend it."

To take off fat easily, SAFELY and HARMLESSLY—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it is the safe way to lose unsightly fat and one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle. Get it at Hudson Bros. or any drug store in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the safest way to lose fat—money back.

But be sure and get Kruschen Salts—imitations are numerous and you must safeguard your health.

THE COTTON CROP

The cotton outlook remains satisfactory, provided there is adequate reduction of next season's acreage. There is one aspect of the cotton situation, which is not generally understood, and that is the part which the low price level has played in connection with the increased consumption of American cotton in the Orient, and the consequent increase of exports to that part of the world. It is this increase of exports which has saved us from an absolute debacle in the world cotton market, and which explains the steadiness which has been maintained during the past three or four months. But it is essential to keep in mind the part which the price has played in all this. It is because of a comparative shortage of Indian cotton and its relatively high price that the present price level of American cotton has been attractive to the Orient. It is estimated that the replacement of Indian cotton by American cotton in Oriental consumption has amounted to 1,600,000 bales during the current season, and when it is considered that the increase of all foreign exports of American cotton so far this season is only about 350,000 bales, the importance of this increased Oriental consumption will be recognized.

But it serves to illustrate the truth that it is only increased European consumption that can bring about any appreciable improvement in the price of American cotton. For an increase in the price of American cotton sufficient to wipe out the advantage it now has over Indian cotton in the Orient would check American exports in that direction and this would have to be made up by increased exports to Europe.—Texas Weekly.

A GOOD HAUL

A freight car which left Laredo labeled "cabbage" was found on arrival in Fort Worth to contain a huge quantity of alcohol. Customs officers who trailed it across the state and rangers raided three residences, after the unloading and confiscated 1652 gallons of alcohol.

Restless, could not sleep

"THERE were days when I felt like I could not get my work done. I would get so nervous and 'trembly' I would have to lie down. I was very restless, and could not sleep at night.

My mother advised me to take Cardui, and I certainly am glad she did. It is the first thing that seemed to give me any strength. I felt better after the first bottle. I kept it up and am now feeling fine."—Mrs. T. R. Gibson, Fort Payne, Ala.

Take Cardui's Blood Purifier for Constipation, Indigestion, and other ailments.

COTTON ACREAGE LAW

The acreage control law, prohibiting the planting of more than thirty per cent of the cultivated land of any farm in cotton, was declared unconstitutional in a decision handed down by District Judge W. C. Davis at Franklin. In a well-reasoned and vigorously worded opinion, the court held that enforcement of the law would be "the essence of tyranny."

"The question in this case," declared Judge Davis in the opinion, "is whether under the authority of the constitution of the United States and the constitution of the state of Texas, the legislature had authority to pass a law denying a citizen of the state to use, cultivate, and enjoy the revenues of his privately owned lands as he may desire. . . The right of the citizen to use his property as he chooses, so long as he harms nobody, is an inherent and constitutional right. The police power can not be invoked for the abridgement of a particular use of property rights, unless such use reasonably endangers or threatens the public health, the public safety, the public comfort or welfare. . . In our judgment, the enforcement of this statute will not have the beneficial result as the law itself recites, but, on the contrary, would have the most hurtful and destructive effect ever known to a free people. Its enforcement would be the essence of tyranny and destructive of the fundamental principles of free government, and would violate sacred guarantees of life, liberty and property vouchsafed under the constitution of the United States and the state of Texas should never be abrogated under the stress of depression. Precedents by law or otherwise, destructive of these rights, no matter what be the occasion, eventually will destroy our system of free government. Depression and economic ills are, as a rule, of brief duration, but precedents endure. The enforcement of this law would be a manifest injustice to thousands of men who own private property and work untold and unthinkable hardship upon that large class of people who are by force of circumstances tenants."—Texas Weekly.

CITY-COUNTY PLAN

Mayor Monteith of Houston wants the governments of Houston and Harris county consolidated. It is his belief that such a merger would mean a savings of about two millions of dollars annually to Houston and Harris county taxpayers. He points out that practically every county office finds its duplicate in the city government, and says he proposes to have a workable plan presented to the next legislature.

City-county consolidation proposals are not new to this country; the subject has been discussed in almost every city of any size, and a few cities are now operating under that system. Much can be said in favor of such mergers. Certainly, there must be many duplicate offices which could be eliminated very easily without impairing efficiency. There are a number of departments, created for political or other reasons that are worthless and should be abolished. There is no question but what the paring knife could be used to good advantage by consolidating the two governmental units.

And, in all probability, if "there is a fly in the ointment" that's where it is. Politicians are not prone to do things which will take from them the patronage privileges they now enjoy. Also, there is some question as to who would profit through a consolidation of the two governments. Costly governments, that have placed heavy tax burdens on the people, have been built up in large cities.—Editorial Digest.

SHERIFF'S NOTICE OF SALE

The State of Texas, County of Mills:

Whereas, by virtue of a certain order of sale issued out of the district court of Mills county, Texas, on the 26th day of January, A. D. 1932, wherein D. B. Thompson is plaintiff, and W.M. THE GASOLINE RACKETEER IS ROBBING YOU As Well As Your State. An enormous new racket has grown up in the past few years—the bootlegging of gasoline to escape payment of the state tax. Now an alarming amount of gasoline is being sold without payment of lawful tax. Most motorists who buy bootleg gasoline buy it unknowingly. But know it or not, they are being robbed by the gasoline racketeers every time they buy from them! The gasoline tax you pay belongs to you, and you should get it back from your state in the form of good roads. When you buy bootleg gasoline, you pay all or a part of the tax, too—but the racketeer pockets the money. You never get it back! And remember—if your state received all the money paid as a gasoline tax, it could well afford to lower the gasoline tax! Knowing this, you naturally don't want to buy any bootleg gasoline. To be sure the money you pay as tax goes to your state, buy only gasolines sold under dependable, familiar brand names, backed up by reliable companies who make sure the state gets the tax. By sticking to familiar, reliable brands, you'll help banish racketeers. CONOCO Gasoline is a branded gasoline you can buy with safety at the sign of the CONOCO Red Triangle. VOTERS' TASK GREAT

Extraordinary activity in political circles this early in the year indicates that the voter's task in making an intelligent decision this year will be more difficult than it has been in the past. In addition to being called upon to choose from a larger number of candidates than usual, the person who exercises the franchise probably will be required to clear away any number of smoke screens, the products of keen competition, which may be expected to incite candidates to resort to every known resource of the politician.

We may be sure that there will be candidates in the field willing and eager to capitalize discontent and distress, to stir up the people in the hope that personal fortunes may be advanced. Already we have one presidential aspirant proclaiming himself as the champion of the jobless.

There will be others ready to stir up prejudices and jealousies from the past in the hope of furthering their own interests. Naturally such candidates will not proclaim themselves the champions of jealousies. Instead they will profess great concern for the interests of the people, which they will represent as in great jeopardy and subject to inexcusable abuses.

It will be up to each individual voter to determine which candidates are trying to confuse and incite and which are sincerely anxious to serve. In this regard it should be well to remember that a dangerous ambition frequently lurks behind the specious mask of zeal for the rights of the people, and that the fellow who dwells upon the bitterness of the past or the present without offering any constructive program usually is incapable of evolving plans for improvement. Demagogery has always seized upon jealousies and prejudices for self advancement.

If chaos in the minds of the voters is avoided the people themselves will be responsible. We may be sure that politicians will enter no agreement to keep the campaign on a high and constructive plane. To offset the artifices and sagacity of politicians the people will be required to demonstrate great equanimity. They must consider calmly at a time when circumstances are not so conducive to tranquility; they must see clearly in atmosphere designed to prevent discernment. There is truly a difficult task, but the rewards are well worth the effort.—Vernon Reed.

A SORRY RACKET GROWN UP

A petty racket has grown to be a serious drain on the United States treasury.

It is the paying of a year's salary and unlimited funeral expenses for members of congress who die in office.

Years ago congress voted the widow of some indigent member a $7,500 donation out of the tax money of the people. Later on, it paid the funeral expenses of some congressman.

Then congress raised its members' salaries to $10,000.

It has got so every time a congressman dies, a bill goes in to pay his family $10,000 and to pay his funeral expenses.

Now congress has appropriation bills of $130,000 waiting to let these families take the hard-earned dollars of burdened taxpayers and toss them with lavish hands in the ostentation of gorgeous funerals.

The only excuse for any of these demands is that congress did it for some other dead member.

This is a thing that is a serious strain upon a citizen's respect for his national government and his confidence in his officials in congress.

If a sense of justice doesn't stop the practice, it is to be hoped a sense of decency and self-respect will prevent families of congressmen who die in office from using their bereavement as an excuse for taking public money that does not belong to them.—Waco News-Tribune.

ECONOMIC PROBLEM

In a nation at peace with the world there can be no greater enemy of the general welfare than a fluctuating dollar.

If the business of the country as it affects the affairs of the great majority of its citizens could be finished completely month by month, with all contracts filled, all debts paid and all other agreements consummated, variations in the purchasing power of currency would be of less importance. But the completed monthly transactions form but small part of business and for the great mass of people of ordinary means, the part of least significance.

The heartbreaking effect of dollar value fluctuations arises out of making contracts under one set of conditions which can not possibly be filled under other conditions. "We can buy a home," say the young couple in so-called good times. "If we set aside a fifth of our income each month, we can keep up the payments on a little house."

They buy the home with a first payment from their savings. For a few years they make their payments as they planned. Then they discover that it grows increasingly more difficult. As they express it, prices are coming down.

The debt they have contracted is twice the present value of their property. Their labor is valued at proportionately less. They must work much harder to earn the amount of their payments. They give up the struggle, lose their savings and the accumulation of their investment and join the renting class again. The shifting dollar has tricked them again.

No more serious problem challenges the wisdom of this generation.—Corsicana Sun.

TIME NOW TO GET MEN

Retrenchment in manpower has gone too far. A visitor in one of our large cities was amazed to see, at 9 p. m. in one of the large business buildings, lights burning on every floor. He asked whether it meant a business revival. In reality it meant a skeleton force trying to do the work formerly done by twice as many. Inquiry revealed that this company, which had appeared to do a heroic job in maintaining wages and salaries, had in desperation cut the force below the necessary minimum and was driving the survivors overtime. The company failed to consider the demoralization of its overworked organization.

By way of contrast, there is abroad a whimsical rumor about some of our most successful corporations that their vice presidents are on the street. It means that the vice-presidents are out selling. Instead of unloading their trained employees like so much ballast, these far-seeing companies are using them in an aggressive drive toward reconstruction. With prices stabilizing and stocks of goods nearing exhaustion, such companies may soon be cashing in on new business.

Even with human consideration side, now is the time to get men. Retrenchment of personnel has gone too far. Companies which have cast out their research and experimental departments, cut their repair forces, depleted advertising and sales staffs and stripped the line of workers to the point of demoralization will be, like farmers who have ground and eaten their seed grain, not ready for the spring sowing. Companies which begin now to install their machinery of personnel will be ready for production and profits. I cannot emphasize too strongly that now is the time to get men.

A.A. MOORE, Gov. of N. J.

THRICE A YEAR INCOME MAKES GOOD RANCH BUSINESS

Sheep and turkeys make a good ranch combination, according to Ben Sigal (top picture above) of Ovalo, Taylor county, because wool sales in early summer and turkey and lamb sales in fall and winter furnish an income three times a year. On this 2600-acre ranch, Mrs. Sigal (lower right) has charge of the turkeys, of which she sold 700 last season hatched in a hatchery from eggs from 46 hens. This unique ranch system was begun in 1930 with the help of C. M. Heald, county agent, who is shown in the lower left insert figuring up the sheep end of the business with Mr. Sigal, and Miss Caroline Chambers, home demonstration agent, who appears in the lower right showing Mrs. Sigal how to select U. S. No. 1 turkeys.

 The State of Texas, County of Mills:

Whereas, by virtue of a certain order of sale issued out of the district court of Mills county, Texas, on the 26th day of January, A. D. 1932, wherein James W. Stewart is plaintiff, and T. J. Fleming is defendant on a judgment rendered in said court against said defendant and in favor of the said plaintiff, for the sum of $4764.53 dollars, with interest thereon at the rate of 10 per cent per annum, from date of judgment, together with all costs of suit; I have levied upon and will on the 1st day of March, A. D. 1932, between the hours of ten o'clock a. m. and four o'clock p. m. at the court house door of said county, proceed to sell for cash to the highest bidder, all the right, title and interest of T. J. Fleming in and to the following described property, levied upon, to-wit:

419.1 acres of the James Dabney survey, Ab. No. 192, Certificate No. 1627, in Mills county, Texas, also 59 acres of the R. A. Porter survey in Mills county, Texas, situated about 12 miles S.E. of Goldthwaite, Texas, and more fully described in original order of sale by metes and bounds.

The above sale to be made by me to satisfy the above described judgment for $4764.53 in favor of plaintiff, together with all costs of suit and sale, and the proceeds to be applied to the satisfaction thereof.

DIVORCED TOO SOON

Mrs. Frances Taucher of Chicago came to the U. S. from Austria 14 years ago to be the bride of a man who had liked her picture. Several years ago they got a divorce, and Mrs. Taucher has been working in a hat shop to support her children. Now she has received word that she has inherited a million dollar estate from a great-uncle in the old country. She is going home, but her ex-husband will stay here.

AN ACCIDENTAL DEATH

An Indiana man took out two $5000 insurance policies with the New York Life Insurance company. The policies stipulated that the company would pay a total of $20,000, instead of $10,000, in the event that the death of the policyholder should be accidental. Later the wife of the policyholder died and he was convicted of murdering her. He was executed and the beneficiaries claim the $20,000 on the ground that he died by accident.

According to Associated Press the claimants contend that certain persons "against the will and over the protest and contrary to the intentions of" the policyholder, "forebore placed him in a certain chair and by means of straps and other devices kept him in a sitting position in said chair" and "against his will and over his protest and contrary to his intention a certain other person caused a current of electricity of sufficient intensity and strength to cause death to be applied and to continue thru the body of" the policyholder "until he was dead."

The general theory of the litigants seeking the $20,000 must be that conviction of murder with subsequent execution in the state of Indiana is an accident. As a proposition of law, that may be weak; at least all courts below the supreme court so consider it in the pending case. But as a matter of fact, it may be so. In Texas the governor overruled the pardons board and commuted to life imprisonment the sentence of a man condemned to death in a case where the boards says officially, "The board finds no equity in behalf of a murderer, who, after threats and with malice aforethought, kills an unarmed victim and conceals the body." The Indiana man must have died an accidental death.—Dallas News.

CALF DRESSED AS MAN FOUND IN CAR

At Aberdeen, Miss., police halted a car containing five persons. Four negroes jumped out and ran. Puzzled because the fifth figure, clad in hat and overcoat, did not attempt to flee, police drew nearer and found the negroes had stolen a calf and dressed it in an overcoat and hat to avoid detection.

PROSPERITY

We have read for the last eight or ten months that prosperity was just around the corner, but do not know which corner it is around, as we have looked around every corner and have not seen anything of it so far. It may be that we have squandered our prosperity for in the last 20 years we have bought enough automobiles to have owned the best farm in Mills county. Now the autos are worn out and the farm is still o. k. We bought a radio instead of a milk cow. The radio gives static instead of milk and some have four or five old hounds instead of that many pigs. We spend our time in the mountains chasing jack-rabbits and hunting for pole-cats, instead of fixing our fences. I spent $15 or $20 covering an auto shed, instead of buying bacon and beans, then wonder what has become of prosperity. I want to say that we have all been living too high. Have been up in the air. We will all have to get our feet on the ground. One fellow told me the other day that he and his family were living on about one-fourth of what it was taking two years ago. What one man can do, others can do, if we will only try. I had rather be an optimist than a pessimist and this reminds me of a piece of poetry which said in part: "Be still sad heart and cease repining,
 For behind the clouds the sun is shining."
 In each life some rain must fall, some days be dark and dreary. So let's all live at home and board at the same place and by all means live within our incomes.

NO PRIVACY SAYS NEGRESS

Viola Harris, Port Arthur negress, stole a diamond ring from a tray shown her in a jewelry store. The clerk held her and called police. They searched her, but found nothing. Then they took her to a hospital and X-rayed her. The ring was in her stomach. "A person just don't have no privacy nowadays," she complained.

SCHOOL SYSTEMS

Some thought, it appears, should be given in the school systems of the country, at least in the more advanced years of school, to what the student is best adapted for. Some way should be devised to discover what a man is best fitted for before several valuable years of his life are devoted to study along lines of work which he is not adapted and considerable money expended for his instruction both by himself and the state. Certain large institutions have high priced men who select men for the several positions throughout the organization following certain well known rules. We do not attempt to take a Jersey cow and fatten it for beef, neither do we take a race horse and hitch it to the plow, yet we commit just such as apparent errors, when we consign young people or permit them to consign themselves to a life work for which they are not adapted and in which they will not do their best work, and consequently will not reach their greatest happiness. We appreciate at the outset that not all young people would follow the suggestion, but it might help in many cases in solving what is truly a problem and a puzzle to many who make a mistake in the selection of their life work and fail to accomplish what they otherwise would have.—Lewisville Enterprise.

Ten million more dollars was appropriated by congress Wednesday to stimulate or create new agricultural credit corpora-panies. Where the money was to come from was not provided.

noying patrons in a moving picture show, were publicly whipped by a police sergeant by order of Police Recorder Johnson Tuesday night. The sergeant used his belt to lay on ten lashes
while Johnson held and a crowd of the boys' schoolmates looked on.

President Hoover Wednesday
drove some of the Democratic under by announcing that he favored reorganizing governmental bureaus, consolidating some and so saving the nation
millions of dollars every year.
Speaker Garner called attention to the fact that the President failed to say what bureaus should be consolidated or abolished.

Pierre Laval, the premier of France, who established a record by staying in office for over a year, is now out and President Doumer is trying to find a successor for the trying post of French leader. Laval's trip across the Atlantic to bargain with President Hoover seems to have hurt him at home as much as President Wilson's junkets to France brought him into disfavor
here.

The Canadian Mounted Police
finally got the man they have been hunting for several weeks,
when they killed Albert Johnson, mad trapper, Wednesday. The man was fleeing to Alaska, after having killed one policeman and seriously injuring another. For weeks he had eluded his pursuers in the deep snow and zero
weather near the Arctic ocean.
When cornered Wednesday, he fired and wounded still another policeman before being killed.

Uncle Sam's printing presses will soon be merrily turning out paper money that for a time will be as good as gold. Federal Reserve banks will be allowed to print paper money to issue as loans secured by government bonds. In addition to this, the treasury is about to issue "baby bonds" of $50 denominations paying 2 1/2 per cent interest. It is believed that many people who have been hoarding $50 bills will exchange them for the bonds which are just as safe and pay interest besides.

WAR NEWS FROM CHINA

Thursday the world held its breath while peace moves in the Shanghai war area very slowly made progress. Japan continued to unload war materials and prepare for the big push. At the same time the Japanese commander repeated his ultimatum that if the Chinese troops were not withdrawn 12 miles into the country away from Shanghai, he would drive them back.

While the Chinese minister of finance, Soong, was proclaiming Chinese resistance to the death, his brother-in-law, nominal dictator of the Chinese Nationalist party, Chiang Kai Shek, was reported on a peace mission that might mean the acceptance of the Japanese terms.

The whole question is complicated by Chinese politics and customs. To a Japanese or Chinese loss of face, or as we say
"to back down", is the supreme disgrace. Japan having failed to conquer the Chinese sections of Shanghai, as she confidently expected, now feels that she must win a great battle or be discredited in the eyes of her own people and of the world. China feels that to accept the Japanese ultimatum and retreat from her defense positions in the Chapel area would disgrace her. The Chinese position is further complicated by the fact that the defenders of Shanghai have been the 19th Route Army from Canton in the south of China. Canton has only recently been in open revolt from nationalist China. For the latter to order the Cantonese troops to fall back would not only insult the Cantonese, but would probably be interpreted as indicating a fear of their military prowess.

At League of Nations headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland,
a formal plea was sent to Japan appealing to her honor and asking her to keep faith with the League and reminding her that she could not keep any Chinese territory she might conquer.

Still further complicating the situation was the killing of two English blue jackets by stray shells believed to have been fired from the Chinese lines at Japanese boats, but which fell in the international settlement in Shanghai. No Americans have yet been killed or injured in the fighting, but Secretary of State Stimson has notified Japan that if they are, no matter whether the shots come from Chinese or Japanese guns, the United States will hold Japan responsible.

Meanwhile, from Manchuria
comes the news that that territory of China is to have a new, independent government, in which all races will be equal and which will maintain the open door to investments by all nations. Japan will of course dictate the government of the country, which is to be given the picturesque name of Ankuo or Land of Peace. General Mah and other Chinese leaders, who only a few weeks ago were fighting the Japanese, have now turned about and are helping to organize the new government, in which they will be allowed to share. Some observers have insisted all along that the Japanese fighting in Shanghai was primarily in order to divert attention from Manchuria and also to give Japan something to trade China for a free hand in Manchuria.

The situation is now so tense that almost anything may prove decisive within the next few hours. Japan may crash on, regardless of the protests of the civilized world, and drive out the Chinese defenders of Shanghai.
China may give way to save further bloodshed and trust to peaceful negotiations to protect her interests. But it is certain that the tide must turn one way or the other soon.

Troops at Fort Sam Houston
in San Antonio were being shown the effects of gas Saturday. Soon after people living near the fort began to cry. The tear gas had floated into the residence section. The gas was harmless, however, and its effects were dispelled quickly with cold water.

AN INTERESTING CAMPAIGN

The campaign continues to grow in interest and developments are constant. Some of the candidates are already meeting and securing pledges from the voters. While we have a small number of candidates, we make up in quality what we lose in quantity.

J. R. EANES

James R. Eanes, denominated by many who know him as "the biggest man in Comanche"
in influence and public service,
announces this week as a candidate for representative for the district made up of Comanche and Mills counties. He has a statement in another column, but the Eagle feels a desire to say a few additional words concerning him. He is serving his ninth term as mayor of Comanche and was elected eight times without opposition and was elected to the school board in that city seven times. The city of Comanche, under his administration, is on a cash basis. Mr.
Eanes has the reputation of being constantly on the alert to benefit the people he serves and to be helpful to his fellows.

MIKE IVY ANSWERS LAST CALL

Mike Ivy, aged 17, died Thursday at a Brownwood hospital, where he had been rushed a few days before with an influenza relapse.

He was a 1931 graduate of Mullin high school and has been in college all this year, very ambitious to secure an education.

Mike was a brilliant boy of keen intellect and a witty sense of humor and his going has saddened the hearts of the old and young in his home town. It is indeed sad to part with one so young on the threshold of such a promising life. Mike was a member of the Baptist church in this city and the funeral services were conducted here Friday at 3 p. m. by his pastor, Rev. Bradley Allison, and Rev. L. J. Vann. The church was crowded beyond seating capacity with loved ones and friends attending the last sad rites. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Ivy, and two brothers and two sisters and many other friends and relatives.

A $10,000 trust fund, the income to be used in aiding deserving students attending the University of Texas, was established in the will of Mrs. Mary Emma Brown, filed for probate in Austin. Assistant Attorney General Albert Hooper says his department will resist to the last degree the numerous attempts to obtain injunctions by truck owners seeking to evade the 7,000-pound load limitation imposed in the law recently held void. ROAD WORK NEVER DONE
 Road construction and road work are never done. We have built thousands of miles of fine highways. But the inexorable march of progress makes more and still more roads necessary. The increased mechanization of agriculture has made it vital that the millions of farmers now living on unimproved roads be given means for fast, efficient and economical transport.

It might be said that a road dollar has never been entirely wasted. There have been "political" roads and there has been uselessly expensive construction in areas where there was no need for it. These things must be discouraged. But every time we build a road we are adding another stone to the structure of our civilization. We are making possible a higher economic and social development for our people.

Modern engineering practice and materials have made it possible to build weatherproof, surfaced, secondary roads for a fraction of the cost of high-type main highways. The construction is the solution to a pressing problem. — Industrial News Record.

LOANS TO FARMERS
 Speed organization of machinery to lend farmers funds from the $50,000,000 appropriated for 1932 crop production is the aim of the agricultural department, a Washington report says. Four new regional offices must be established, forms and application blanks prepared, legal points cleared up and county committees appointed before the spring planting season arrives.

The $50,000,000 was set aside under the reconstruction finance corporation's act and can be used only for planting this year's crops.

None can be used to pay interest or taxes. It was appropriated to ease stringent rural credit and will be available in every state except Connecticut and Pennsylvania, which do not have state laws for the taking of crop liens, a security required under the regulations.

The new regional offices will be opened in Minneapolis, Salt Lake City, Spokane and Dallas. Offices now exist in Washington, Memphis, St. Louis and Grand Forks, N. D.

CLOTHING FOR NEEDY
 Texas American Legion posts and other civic and charitable organizations can now purchase from Eighth Corps Area headquarters at San Antonio surplus army clothing for less than cost prices, if the material is to be distributed free among the needy. Orders cutting prices of the clothing to be sold such organizations 50 per cent were sent out to corps commanders by Secretary of War Hurley. For instance, army overcoats, will be sold for a dollar, while shoes will cost 20 cents a pair, woolen underwear 20. All orders, however, must be approved by Gov. Ross S. Sterling before they are filled at these prices.

Action of the department in providing the clothing to relief organizations at little expense was obtained by a subcommittee of the house military affairs committee headed by Representative Ewing Thomson of Texas. The committee held hearings on a bill which would have authorized the war department to furnish the clothing, but subsequently Secretary Hurley voluntarily agreed to meet the price reductions asked by the measure and the legislation was dropped.

COACH PARAGRAPHS
 It's alright for a girl to seek a model husband, but while she is at it, she should be sure he is a working model. It wouldn't hurt any if some of our colleges would work their way through the students. A pedestrian is a man whose son is home from college. Hanging on to your youth is a k, but not when he happens to be at the wheel. Until the "Ten Commandments" are kept, prohibition can not be viewed as a failure. Because a girl fits your arms is no sign she will fit your pocketbook. Don't question your wife's judgment—consider whom she married. If the shoe fits—the face shows it.—The Coach.

THE FIRST BATHTUB
 Adam Thompson of Cincinnati, is credited with having made the first bathtub known to America. During a business trip to England he was introduced to the English way of bathing. On his return to America in 1842 he decided to make a bathtub large enough to contain his entire body, and to be filled by a tank instead of by hand. He built a tank in the attic of his home, pumping water into it from the family pump. Pipes for hot and cold water led to the bathtub, the one for hot water coiled within the length of the chimney, through which hot air and smoke from the kitchen stove passed.

The tub was seven feet long, four feet wide and deep enough to hold the plumpiest of persons. It was built of mahogany and lined with sheet lead. On the first Christmas day after installation of the tub, Mr. Thompson gave a bathtub party, all the men present trying out the wonderful invention. This party was featured in many of the newspapers and created a sensation.

Members of the medical profession fought the idea with warnings that the practice was dangerous to the health, and state and city governing bodies passed laws prohibiting and discouraging the use of bathtubs. The state of Virginia passed a law taxing owners of bathtubs $30 a year. In Boston a law was passed which was in effect from 1845 to 1862, forbidding one to take a bath except on advice of a physician. The cities of Providence, Hartford and Wilmington put a high water tax on buildings that contained bathtubs and in Philadelphia a law was proposed, making it unlawful to bathe between November 1 and March 15. This failed of passage by a margin of two votes. — Watchman Examiner.

CURE BY PREVENTION
 Gerald Cress, six-year sheriff of Madison county, Iowa, is, as the Christian Science Monitor tells the story of his administration, a law enforcement officer who believes in scotching crime before it strikes. Sheriff Cress explains why major crime has practically disappeared from his county.

Organized gambling itself is a mere human peccadillo, but experience has shown it to be a source of more serious offenses. Sheriff Cress raided the gamblers so frequently that they went out of business in his county. Migratory Mexican labor, excitable and quick to start quarrels with tragic results, causes the county trouble but it needs the labor. The sheriff simply applies the former western dance hall custom to that problem; he makes the Mexicans check their weapons with the county. For the bank robber, the sheriff has equipped his force with machine guns and tear gas, arranged to have aviation corps auxiliary to pursue the bandits, and then advertised the facts widely. So far, bank robbers have stayed away. Co-operation with local police has resulted in an intensive policy of investigation of suspicious arrivals. "Crooks," says the sheriff, "just don't like to come here any more."

The Iowa sheriff has borrowed here and there. Other law enforcement agencies use some of his plans. Mr. Cress has simply adopted all of the measures that appear to him needed to repress crime. Life is easier for sheriffs as for everybody else if there is no crime committed. Other sheriffs might profit by the Iowan's example. The best record is not the number of criminals apprehended, but the number dissuaded from crime. — Dallas News.

TEXAS IS ALL RIGHT

Most of us have short memories. The real history of Texas started from a depression that drove Moses Austin from Missouri to seek a new fortune in a new country. At his death, he passed the task on to his son, Stephen. Texas was almost destitute of any wealth except its resources, in which the Austin colonists found it rich beyond dreams. All these resources are still here, as abundant as in the beginning, and increased a hundred-fold or more by the discoveries and ingenuity of its citizens. Texas is preparing to show the world these resources and their development in the past one hundred years in a great centennial exposition in 1936. Texans themselves need to be reminded of these things. It will give them courage to go forward to still greater achievements and make them ashamed that they have ever weakened, even in the least bit, in their faith in the great resourcefulness of their great state and its still greater citizenry. So long as we are Texans in the real spirit of its founders there can be no limits to our efforts and our accomplishments. — Exchange.

BONUS HELPED BUSINESS

When the law was passed last year, enabling the veterans to borrow up to 50 per cent of the value of their insurance certificates, and the money was made available to the beneficiaries, business experienced a new activity for a time. The cash was put into circulation, most of it going for necessities, debt paying and home buying. Mr. Patman is not far from right when he says that the only upturn business has had since the depression got its grip on this country, was when the billion dollars and more was paid to the veterans on loans last year. It will require $2,200,000,000 to complete paying the insurance bonus, if it is paid now. Release of that much cash in the country now would give impetus to business, and the effect should be more permanent than was the distribution of bonus money last year, because other agencies have set at work to relieve the business slump. Payment of the balance of the bonus would be an aid to these other agencies in routing the depression, providing it could be carried out without resorting to stiff new taxation. Heavy new tax levies at this time will discourage business recovery, and should be avoided. — Houston Post.

ECONOMY THAT IS EXPENSIVE

According to a recent report, 6,000 persons are burned to death in American homes every year. Eighteen hundred of these are children under ten years of age.

Failure to keep a home in proper repair, thus making it an easy prey to the fire demon, is the most dangerous kind of "economy." When electrical work is needed, it should be done by a licensed electrician, not by an amateur.

A common unwise practice is to attempt home dry cleaning. Not only is this a doubtful economy, as it is difficult for untrained hands to obtain satisfactory results, but the danger involved is extreme, since the cleaning fluids usually are highly inflammable, requiring but a tiny spark to ignite the fumes which they give off.

Many people lose their lives every year as a result.

Home owners should likewise bear in mind that heating plants and chimneys require continual attention. It is false economy, as well as dangerous to neglect them at any time.

Putting hot ashes in combustible containers, permitting rubbish to accumulate or leaving paint or oil-soaked rags in homes invite loss and tragedy from fire.

Real economy is a good thing—but it must go hand in hand with common sense and nowhere does this apply more forcefully than in dealing with fire hazards.

STILL WORSE THAN WAR!

About a year ago the fact that more persons were killed in automobile accidents during an 18-month period than were killed in the A.E.F. in the world war, was extensively commented upon. Now, according to a booklet issued by the Travelers Insurance company, automobile accidents are still worse than war. During 18-months of the world war, 50,510 American soldiers were killed in action or died of wounds, and 182,674 were wounded, not mortally. In the 18 months ending December 31, 1931, 53,650 people were killed in automobile accidents and 1,576,840 were injured.

The Travelers' booklet emphasizes some information that every motorist and pedestrian should know. During 1931 deaths increased 3.3 per cent over 1930, in spite of a reduction in the total number of accidents. Severe injuries likewise increased, despite a reduction in the total number of persons injured. This apparent contradiction is laid to the increasing speed with which we drive. Cutting in, violation of the right-of-way laws, driving on the wrong side of the road, skidding and driving off the roadway were likewise responsible for many deaths.

More than 42 per cent of deaths were caused when a car struck a pedestrian. Collisions with fixed objects accounted for 12.1 per cent and collisions with other cars 24.9 per cent. In the case of injuries, 53.1 per cent occurred when cars struck each other and 29.8 per cent when they struck pedestrians.

PLUCK THE TAXEATERS

The financial branches of government are seeking ways and means to increase taxes and develop new forms of taxation. Scant attention is given ways to cut costs.

It is unquestionably true that the cost of government could be pruned by millions of dollars a year, without in any way lowering its efficiency or preventing it meeting its obligations. It might be a good idea to demand that our public servants do this before further burdening the taxpayer.

NO NEW COTTON NEEDED

There is a church congregation in a small town near Oklahoma City that some time ago voted to invest the church's surplus funds in cotton. Purchase was made at the low prices of several months ago and the cotton was stored in the basement of the church, where no storage or carrying charges have to be paid. Eventually the church hopes to make some money.

It may, too, but the outlook just at present isn't so sunny. Attention has been called to what seems a brutal fact—that the world's supply of American cotton for the fiscal year 1932-1933 has already been produced!

Whatever this much distressed world may need during the next twelve months, a new crop of American cotton is something it does not need. No matter what problems the southern farmer may be facing in other respects, this is a fact to which he may adjust himself or suffer the consequences.

If cotton growers will give this situation the attention it deserves they will be far better off a year hence. —Joplin, Mo., Globe.

THE TAX CRISIS

We have heard much, in the last year, of the industrial crisis and of the obligations business owes to its employees, its investors and the general public.

Business is doing its best to bring light out of darkness, and to live up completely to those obligations. It is now time for government to do what it can to prevent another kind of crisis—that of confiscatory taxation.

This does not mean that the operation of any legitimate department of government must be hampered. But it does mean that public officials should do away with waste and unnecessary expense. It means that statesmanship, not politics, should dictate the action taken on so-called "relief" proposals, which would cost the taxpayers millions or billions of dollars and produce nothing of permanent value. It means that bureaucracy should be pruned so that the tree of real government may be seen again. It means that the public's money should be conserved and not thrown away.

The public realizes the tremendous problems now confronting government, and sympathizes with the difficulties in the way of solving them. But it will not long continue to countenance waste, extravagance and inefficiency, which find their reflection in the tax bill.

Milk producers at Houston Sunday poured 1500 gallons of milk into the sewers in front of dairies there, rather than accept a lower price. Milk was shipped in from Dallas to supply the demand. Producers say they will sell to the customers direct at 5c a quart.

In the president's war against hoarding of currency he has been discovered that most of the money hoarded is in $50 bills and higher. Sums of $50,000 and $100,000 are common. Still the president's committee is begging the little fellows to turn in their cash too.

Values of stocks traded in on the New York stock exchange jumped over five billion dollars last week as a result of the increase in all markets. Revision of the federal reserve banking rules and printing more paper money is responsible for the increase.

Secretary Hurlley, tall secretary of war in President Hoover's cabinet, stalked out of a committee meeting in the senate office building Saturday, saying he refused to stay and be called a liar. He had had a hot interchange of questions and answers with Senator King of Utah, who favors Philippine independence.

BEAUTY in the HOME

Suave Elegance in Contemporary Decoration

It was perhaps necessary for the modern designers to pass through a period of harsh color and almost brutal eccentricities in furnishings before developing the present high achievements in interior decoration, but this sort of thing seems to have had its day and to have emerged into an appreciation of a more feminine mood in the home furnishings. Hugo Gnam, one of the leading decorators in the Audac exhibit at the Brooklyn Museum, showed the above pictured room which was the source of much comment. Here the quality is one of sly femininity. It is a liveable room, using materials of elegance and delicacy, and is an excellent example of the newest note in the decorative mode. Particularly of interest is the fleur-de-lis, comb and mirror of lucite upon the dresser, patterned in turquoise and blue and designed by Robert Leonard. This set, with its very feminine appeal, is characteristic of the room as a whole. Mr. Gnam finished the walls of the room in beige with a show taffeta curtain over the window and the chaise longue is done in a delightful design of cord-de-ram. Other contrasting colors in the room are of turquoise blue and the whole effect is best described by the word "lovely." It is a woman's room and finished in a way to impress the sheen and shimmer of her gowns and is a long way from anything resembling the "art moderne" feeling of some years past. Yet the use of color, the design of the furnishings, and the materials used are the newest and most popular of the modern sort.

ANNOUNCEMENT

I have announced as a candidate for representative from Comanche and Mills counties. Comanche county has been my home since 1876. I am a native Texan and my father before me was a native Texan. If I can assist in giving to the people of Texas a better, simpler and more economical government I shall be very happy.

Our government, state and nation, is top-heavy and too complex; too much of it is too far from home. We have too many commissions and they have too much power. It is within the province of the state to aid and encourage the community, but not to dominate or coerce. Legislative bodies should be slow to vest power to rule or govern in men or groups of men; such power is dangerous and should remain inherent in the people or in legislative bodies directly responsible to the people.

The greatest danger facing this civilization is the concentration of population and wealth. Most of our people now live in cities of twenty-five thousand and above. In Texas, considered a rural state, almost half our people live in cities of ten thousand and above. These populous centers dominate our legislation. We, in this district are a rural people. It is imperative that the interest of our rural people be served and protected. Their spirit is now low, and has reason to be low, and the spirit of a people when once destroyed can never be supplied. This is a problem that challenges the best that is in us. It behooves rural people to send to the legislature the best talent they can command, and unless I am as well or better qualified to serve and protect the interests of the people of this district than others who offer or may offer I have no claim to your support.

The following are some of the problems that I consider are now pressing for legislative action.

A complete overhauling of our tax system, that taxation may be to a greater degree equalized and real estate and other tangible property relieved of a good portion of its present tax burden, state and local. Taxes on these classes are now unbearable.

Truck regulation in the interests of the public. This we do not now have.

Simplification of our court procedure, civil and criminal, and some of our criminal statutes amended or rewritten in the interest of honest folks.

If elected I shall be governed in my service by what I conceive to be the fundamental principles of a representative democracy; and my one ambition will be to prove worthy of the trust reposed in me.
