VOLUME THIRTY-NINE

GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS, COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1932

NUMBER ELEVEN

ROOSEVELT ELECTED IN LANDSLIDE

Mrs. Ferguson Easily Defeats Bullington President Hoover Gets Only Six States

Straight Ticket Victorious All Over State

Mills County Gives Mrs. Ferguson Two to One Lead.

After winning two primary elections, two lawsuits and the endorsement of the state Democratic executive committee, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson was finally elected governor of Texas at the polls on Tuesday. Returns from over the state were coming in slowly yesterday, but with a lead of 146,538 votes over her Republican opponent, Orville Bullington, the woman governor was indisputably elected.

Boasts of Bullington supporters many of whom had voted in the Democratic primaries, that the Republican was going to be elected by 50,000 majority were sadly deflated. In the large cities of the state where Bullington was expected to go over big, the straight ticket supporters were in the majority. Wichita county, the Republican's home county, was the largest to be carried by him, and his margin there was so slight that late returns may leave him behind. Dallas county, which had been conceded by the Fergusons, was easily carried by the loyal Democrats. East Texas oil counties which were also courted for Bullington, failed to leave the Ferguson banner with the sole exception of Harrison.

Mills County Democratic
As generally expected, Mills county showed relatively few split tickets and the county went about two to one for Mrs. Ferguson. Bullington's best showing was in Goldthwaite, precinct 19, which went Republican with 165 votes to Mrs. Ferguson's 116. The other Goldthwaite box, precinct 1, showed 98 votes for Bullington and 126 for Mrs. Ferguson.

No report has been received from Star and Rye Valley, although it is known elections were held at those boxes.

Several of the amendments were defeated in the county, but were adopted in the state.

Goldthwaite Eagles Defeat Lampasas 21-0

Local Eleven to Play Richland Springs on Saturday.

The Eagles won 21 to 0 in a game on a heavy field. The Eagles completed many passes. Johnson intercepted Lampasas' pass and ran for touch down in second quarter, with Frazier taking the ball off tackle for the extra point.

Frazier scored on off tackle play in third quarter and Todd received pass for extra point.

Kerby scored on off tackle play in fourth quarter and Todd plunged the line for extra point.

The game was cut short on account of darkness. Eagles roundly outplayed the slightly heavier Badgers.

Eagles go to Richland Springs Saturday. Last meeting in 1930 was won by Coyotes 12 to 0.

Comparative scores jumbled. Richland won from Lampasas 26 to 6; Eagles won 21 to 0, and this makes them look evenly matched. But take a look at this—Richland Springs 24, Lometa 0; Eagles 7, Lometa 0. There is only one sure thing and that is there will be a real football game at Richland Springs at 3:00 Saturday.

THE ATHENS

About 75 Athens and little "Athenlets" with guests met at the Sunday school rooms Monday night for a chill supper.

It was chili, more chili, with red beans, pickles and coffee, with other things that make a real chili supper, together with an abundance of Athens pep and enthusiasm, making the occasion a very enjoyable one.

After the eats had vanished we went to the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Tate for games of 42.

Some of the volley ball boys tried to play ball, but were defeated by the high wind.

We are always glad to have our friends as guests in our social life, but to know the true Athens you must meet with them in the Sunday school capacity. They have an average attendance of forty every Sunday and one can not be with them without feeling the wonderful spirit of fellowship. If you are not in Sunday school, the Athens welcome you each Sunday.

BRIDGE PARTY

Mmes. Charles Frizzell and Robert Steen, Jr. were hostesses to a bridge party Monday evening, Nov. 7, at the Steen home, honoring the Merry Wives club and their husbands.

The home was decorated with beautiful chrysanthemums and a delicious salad course was served to the following: Messrs. and Mmes. Kelly Saylor, Walter Fairman, Foster Brim, Claude Burch, Marvin Hodges, O. H. Yarborough, Frank Taylor, John Jones of Comanche, Mrs. Mark Fairman, Misses Adeline Little, Georgia Frizzelle, Vivian Campbell, Messrs. Robert Steen, Jr., Chas. Frizzelle, Earl Summy and Raymond Little.

High score for the evening went to Mrs. C. M. Burch for club member and Kelly Saylor for club husband and Vivian Campbell for guest.

Legislature Still Arguing

Hopes that the legislature might end its fourth special session this week were being expressed in Austin yesterday. Oil experts were still testifying pro and con as to the merits of the proposed proration bill which will permit the railroad commission to take market demand into consideration as well as physical waste when it sets the allowable production for each oil well.

Lame duck legislators who had been defeated in the primaries and had bidden their fellow legislators farewell at the September special session, will have another opportunity to say good-bye at this session. With Governor Sterling in the Governor's chair until January, many observers are predicting that he will call the legislature back at least once more after the present session is adjourned.

Turkey Market Up Two Cents

The Thanksgiving turkey market opened in Goldthwaite last week at 10c. Receipts have been light, as growers have not been inclined to sell. Wednesday the market jumped up two cents and the receipts increased.

Goldthwaite is proving a better market than most of the surrounding towns this year and is expected to receive a greater part of the turkey crop than usual.

BETTER SCHOOL CLUB

The people of Pompey Creek community met Thursday night, November 3, and organized a "Better School and Home Club." As suggested by Mr. Tesson, principal of the school. The following officers were elected: President, W. A. Triplett; vice president, Mrs. Tesson; secretary, Zel-da Moore; program committee, Mrs. Miller, Miss Oleta Ledbetter, Mrs. Weeks, Mrs. Fred Mosier and James McKinney.

Everyone is urged to attend this club. A program will be arranged for the first Friday night of every month. The following has been announced by the committee for Dec. 5:
Song—All
Music—Mr. and Mrs. Tesson.
Reading—Geneva Templin.
Dialogue—Characters not announced.
Reading—Miss Blackwell.

Home Exemption Amendment Far In Lead. Centennial Runs Behind

Reversing the old rule of when in doubt, vote against the amendments, the voters of Texas at this election carried all nine of the proposed constitutional amendments. As expected the heaviest vote went to the amendment exempting homesteads up to $3000 from state taxes. The largest vote against any amendment was registered against the Centennial amendment, but it also appears to have won by a 3 to 2 vote.

BIG SALE AT STAR

In this issue appears the announcement of the big sale of merchandise by the Star Cash Store, owned and managed by D. A. Jeske. Those who have had dealings with Mr. Jeske know they can depend upon his representations and have learned to depend upon him for merchandise and values. He backs his statements with the goods and when he says bargains they go expecting to receive bargains and he has never disappointed them. Read his advertisement with confidence and those who take advantage of his sale will find a large stock of merchandise from which to make selections.

A BELATED REPORT

Albert Grumbles and Miss Frances McGowan were quietly united in marriage last Friday, October 28. Rev. Jo H. Frizzell performed the ceremony with Mrs. Aubrey Spears and Mrs. Frizzell as witnesses.

The groom is the son of Lee Grumbles of San Saba and the bride is the daughter of Mrs. C. R. McGowan of this city.

The young couple have decided to make their home at San Saba and hope to move to themselves soon.

New Train Times Begin Sunday

All four of Goldthwaite's trains will arrive and depart between the hours of 9:30 p. m. and 6:35 a. m., beginning Sunday. The train that now arrives at 10:07 p. m. will arrive 28 minutes earlier. The morning train now arriving at 7:18 a. m. will now arrive 43 minutes earlier.

The gasoline motored "dinky" day train will be taken off entirely and a new steam train added at night. It will go west at 4:42 a. m. and east at 12:18 a. m.

The change is being made to speed up the schedule between Fort Worth and Dallas and San Angelo. The through California train will go by way of San Antonio to Sweetwater over the Orient.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Woman's Missionary Society will have a business meeting Monday afternoon at the Methodist church at 2:30 o'clock. The week of prayer has been observed the past week. Circle No. 2 will have a gift-sale the first week in December. Any donations to this sale will be heartily appreciated.

Armistice Day Is Holiday In Goldthwaite

Most Stores Will Close In Celebration of World War's Ending.

Most business houses here will be closed today in celebration of Armistice Day. This is a custom that has been followed since the World War. There are four regular holidays observed by members of the Goldthwaite Retail Merchants Association—July 4, November 11, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas.

No special celebration has been arranged for the day here. In many cities parades and football games have been announced.

Legion Gives Election Party

Between election announcements over the radio, the American Legion held its regular November meeting Tuesday night in the office of the Texas-Louisiana Power Co. with the local manager Sam W. Smith, as host.

At the conclusion of the business session a supper plate and coffee was served. A kid, donated by Arthur Cline, and deliciously cooked in electric pressure cookers, provided the meat. George Bohannon and B. Fry were in charge of providing other food.

The newly organized Ladies' Auxiliary held its meeting at the same time. Plans for a turkey dinner on November 22 were announced.

AUXILIARY NOTES

Five new members were received by the American Legion Auxiliary at its meeting Tuesday night at the office of the Texas-Louisiana Power Co. Four more new members were promised before the next meeting.

The ladies of the Auxiliary decided to entertain the Legionnaires and their wives with a turkey supper on Nov. 22. Every member of the Legion is urged to be present.

Everyone enjoyed the barbecue that was prepared and served by members of the Legion post and Auxiliary unit.

Our next business meeting will be the second Tuesday in December—Dec. 13—and every woman who is eligible is urged to be there and to join a unit of the most powerful woman's organization in the world today.

Patriotic School Program

Armistice Day was celebrated at the chapel program of the intermediate and junior high grades at the Goldthwaite school Tuesday, as the school is closed for the holiday today.

Miss Ellen Archer was in charge of the program which was presented by members of the seventh grade. Patriotic and war time songs and readings were given and an inspiring recital was made by the class of the rules governing the display of the American flag. M. Y. Stokes, Jr., spoke on the meaning of the Armistice.

NEXT-PRESIDENT

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT
F. D.'s CAREER IS MUCH LIKE THAT OF T. R.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt follows in the footsteps of his illustrious fifth cousin, Theodore Roosevelt, one more step by being elected president of the United States. In many respects their careers have been strikingly similar.

Both were born of well-to-do New York parents. Both elected to the New York legislature. Both were assistant secretaries of the navy—T. R. in 1898, F. R. in 1918. Both were nominated for vice-president, T. R. in 1900 with McKinley and won, F. R. with Coolidge in 1920 and lost. Both served two terms as Governor of New York. Theodore Roosevelt first became president as a result of the assassination of President McKinley. He was elected in his own right in 1904. He ran again and was defeated by Woodrow Wilson in 1912. Franklin D. Roosevelt has won the presidency outright by his defeat of President Hoover.

The sons and widow of Theodore Roosevelt actively opposed the election of their distant cousin.

ART AND CIVIC CLUB

Mrs. Marvin Hodges was hostess to the Art and Civic club on Thursday afternoon, Nov. 3.

During the business session Miss Patton made a talk to the members, regarding the play she was coaching for the club at that time.

The penny banks, which had been used to raise a fund for the permanent headquarters for club women in Austin were turned in.

Guests calling for the program and social hour were Mrs. Al Dickerson, Mrs. Floyd Ligon, Mrs. Lynn Wilson of Mullin, Mrs. Kemp of Mullin, Mrs. Brown of Dallas and Miss Patton also of Dallas.

A very interesting program on American Pottery was given with a display of pottery from the Van Briga Pottery Co., of Colorado. Mrs. Claud Eacott was leader for the program.

Papers were read by Mrs. Jacob Saylor and Mrs. Roy Rowntree, a poem by Mrs. W. P. McCullough, "American the Beautiful" was sung by those present. The hostess served a lovely salad course with coffee.

Democrats Also Secure Control of Both House and Senate.

Anvils boomed again in Goldthwaite Wednesday night for the first time since 1916. Shooting the anvils this time not only celebrated the election of a Democratic president, but marked the return of Texas to the Democratic column and the election of a straight Democratic ticket from constable to governor throughout the state of Texas.

Herbert Hoover, who has had the remarkable record of having received the greatest electoral vote ever given a candidate for president, now has the unenviable record of having received the greatest defeat while his opponent, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, sets up a still greater record of electoral votes received, getting 472 to Hoover's 59.

The popular vote, though still incomplete, is sure to break all records, and the majority for Roosevelt is also certain to set a new high record when all returns are in.

Big Democratic Gains
Not only did Governor Roosevelt win 42 states to Hoover's 6, but Democrats secured 25 of the 34 Senate seats at issue and at least 42 new representatives. This will give the new administration full control in both houses of congress.

The Democrats have won the governors' races in 18 states and are leading in 11 more, making a total of 29 out of 34. Democrats will displace eight Republican governors at least.

WEDDING

Watt—Buck

The marriage took place yesterday afternoon of Mrs. Joyce Harrison Buck, daughter of Mr. A. J. Harrison of Goldthwaite and John Desborough Watt, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Watt. Both bride and bridegroom have many friends in Shanghai and the wedding was an event of wide interest here.

A quiet ceremony was held at the Holy Trinity Cathedral, the Very Rev. Dean Trivett officiating. The bride, who was given away by Mr. L. H. Nuland, looked charming in a gown by Vionnet carried out in beige chiffon over a satin slip in a lighter shade. The lines followed the newest cross cut and the model was worn with a beret in of chiffon velvet and dull crepe.

Mr. Charles F. Butt was best man.

After the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the Bridegroom, 123 Great Western Road, where a large number of friends gathered to toast the health of the newly married couple. The bride's going away dress was carried out in wool marocain, severely tailored and trimmed with graduated gold buttons; a brown felt hat completed her ensemble.

Mr. and Mrs. Watt are leaving for Japan, where they will spend their honeymoon.

The above is taken from a newspaper published in Shanghai, China, and records the marriage of one of Goldthwaite's popular ladies, who was reared here and is known and admired by all of the citizenship. The wedding was solemnized Sept. 9, but the newspaper clipping reached Goldthwaite this week. All unite in extending good wishes to the happy couple.

PUERTO RICO'S GOVERNOR

Puerto Rico has the kind of government needed in the present emergency. Col. Theodore Roosevelt earned promotion of the Philippines by bringing to the attention of the American people the economic despair of the Puerto Ricans, aggravated by the effects of the cyclone of 1928. He obtained a measure of relief by appearing before committees of congress. To his appeals for private contributions to relieve suffering the response was generous. The cause he had identified himself with was the cure of poverty in Puerto Rico, which had become chronic and was due to density of population and unemployment. The light was beginning to break on the problem, when Colonel Roosevelt was transferred to Manila. His successor at San Juan was of a similar type, energetic, hard-working, optimistic.

The cyclone of Sept. 27, was scarcely past when Governor Beverley took to the air and flew over the central and northern parts of the island, where the ruin and loss of life had been greatest. It was Governor Beverley's opinion that the cyclone of 1932 was the worst of the forty-two hurricanes that had been recorded since early colonial days.

"Fate," he said, "has dealt us a tremendous blow. We must and will take it like men, and set to work to build our island again better than ever before. We must waste no time bemoaning our losses. Everyone who can handle a tool has turned to. This excellent spirit is the only bright spot in our outlook."

Led and inspired by such a Governor, the people will doubtless carry on so manfully that they will justify him in his belief that "hard times and bad circumstances bring out the best that is in a community." Just before the cyclone, Governor Beverley had completed his report for the fiscal year 1931-1932, but not until recently was it given out at Washington. Puerto Rico had so good a year that the Governor could announce a cash surplus of $195,170. It was a triumph worth recording, but Puerto Rico must now begin over again in distress to restore her fortunes. There is pathos in the belated disclosure that times were mending when another great calamity impended.—New York Times.

(Editor's Note:—Governor Beverley is a native Texan and a graduate of the University of Texas.)

THE FOREMOST ISSUE

At the recent American Bankers' association convention, excessive taxation and public expenditures were the leading subjects presented by nationally prominent speakers.

It is literally amazing how man-financial and industrial organizations are regarding the tax problem as the most important of all our difficulties at this time. We have reached a point in our affairs where the cost of government is becoming an impassable barrier in the way of the investment of capital, the development of industry, the creation of estates, and the employment of labor. Money that once flowed into productive enterprise, which sorely needs new funds now, is either hoarded or invested in tax-free government bonds. Millions of American investors have found a real and personal meaning in the old saying that "the power to tax is the power to destroy."

We have seen what expanded governmental activities with their resulting influence on the tax bill, have done in England, Germany, Australia and lesser powers. The dole, which was created to aid the unemployed and the distressed, has had precisely the opposite effect—it has created more unemployment and more distress by stifling industry. So with the rest of those governmental nanaceas which have taken billions from the pockets of the taxpayers of the world. Whether America's tomorrow will be bright or clouded depends on what action we take in handling the tax problem now.

Employees at a Sac City, Iowa laundry washed $510 out Mrs. Opal Morrison's corset. The delivery man returned the bills with the week's wash.

How One Woman Lost 10 lbs. in a Week

Mrs. Betty Luedeke of Dayton writes: "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week and cannot say too much to recommend it."

To take off fat easily, SAFELY and HARMLESSLY—take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast, go lighter on fatty meats, potatoes, butter, cream and pastries—it is the safe way to lose unsightly fat and one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle. Get it at any drugstore in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the safest way to lose fat—money back.

But be sure and get Kruschen Salts—imitations are numerous and you must safeguard your health.

NEW HAY BALING METHOD

A new method of baling hay, said to be as revolutionary a development as was the harvester-combine, was demonstrated to Dallas county farmers and agricultural leaders recently, in the first demonstration of the machine ever held in the Southwest. Hay is picked up from the windrow in the field and baled at the rate of two or three bales a minute by the new machine.

Saving of leafy foliage of legume crops, such as alfalfa, which has more than 70 per cent of its food value in the leaves, as well as a saving in time and labor are claimed for the new machine in comparison with older methods. The machine has attracted attention of farmers and agricultural leaders in other sections and should be of interest to Texas farmers who produce approximately 700,000 tons of wild and tame hay annually.

Will You Let Your Child's Eyes Limp Through Life?

NOTICE the next time you are in a crowd of people how many of them are wearing glasses.

Why is it that so many eyes are defective? In a great many cases it is because of poor lighting and improper use of the eyes in childhood.

If you permit your child to read, to study, or even to play where there is not enough light or where there is blinding glare, you are making a mistake that may be disastrous. Take care now to prevent your child's eyes from limping through life.

Good light cannot be obtained from bare lamps, or lamps improperly shaded. Use good light to eliminate harsh contrasts . . . between bright and dark areas.

Enjoy the benefit of plenty of light, for it is inexpensive, and new eyes cannot be bought for any price.

Let us tell you how to arrange your lamps, and get the full value of the light you buy. This service is free.

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

BAPTIST CHURCH

Today, while we are writing these notes, people all over this country are marching to the polls casting their ballots for men to whom they are looking forward for the purpose of guiding the welfare of this nation. Many of us will not get the men whom we voted for, but just remember while you are reading these notes that the men to carry on have been selected, and it is our duty as American citizens to forget our defeat and join hands with those who have been chosen and help in every way we can to promote the best interests of mankind.

There must be a new day for this country and regardless of who has been selected for our leaders, they can not bring it about without the co-operation of the people. No man can turn the world up side down, but all men can, if they will work and follow the golden rule. The writer of these notes is pastor of the Baptist church and whatever success might have been attained during the past four years has been due largely to the good fellowship, splendid spirit and fine co-operation upon the part of the members of our church, and if we are to continue this condition must prevail. And if our country is to be restored to normal conditions (and it can not be done over night) there must be brotherly love and co-operation from the man in the most remote place in this country to the man that occupies the White House. May the Heavenly Father of all help all of us to forget the past, by burying our grievances, ill, malice, prejudice and encourage, inspire and lead to a new and better day.

The Athens class enjoyed a chill and bean supper with all the accessories last Monday night at the tabernacle. Mrs. J. V. Cockrum was the first to put in her appearance and began immediately to make arrangements for the entertainment and believe me she knows just how to start and how to enlist every one to eat. This is the time of year for many such entertainments.

We understand that our boys who represent our school and town in athletics motored over to Lampasas last Saturday and brought back victory to the tune of 21 to 0. This is a fine record for boys and coach, and we confidently expect victory Saturday when we play Richland Springs. We are going with the boys. In fact, it would be well enough for as many as could, to go to insure victory. These gentlemen down at the springs are plenty tough. So let's go and carry that good old Goldthwaite spirit that always wins.

Last Sunday was a beautiful day and we had splendid crowds at every service. Really we see no reason for not having just such crowds at all our services. It's true that several of our regular church and Sunday school goers were out, being providentially hindered, but we are expecting a return of most of them Sunday. Remember that we will not have any service Sunday night. We will go over and give the new Methodist pastor a cordial welcome. We are glad to have Bro. Hammond and his family become citizens of our town and we hope that his sojourn with us will be pleasant and that his work will be prosperous and that our town will be made better by having him among us. Just as soon as we can have a little private chat with this new pastor, there will be found in these notes a little information about some of the Methodist brethren that will make interesting reading.

We understand that the Nazarene church has a new pastor. We welcome him into our midst, and assure him of our co-operation and hope that he will have a most profitable pastorate. Just remember that the brethren who live just across the street from the pastorage are supposed to keep new preachers and their families until they become acclimated. Now we are going to check up on you fellows next week.

Everybody go to church Sunday and worship, leaving everything at home that would hinder you from enjoying the services. G. C. IVINS

LITERARY SOCIETY RE-ORGANIZED

The people of Lake Merritt community met November 8, for the purpose of re-organizing the literary society. The purposes of the literary society are to teach leadership, an appreciation of the community, and the responsibility for meeting the social needs of the young people, as well as the old. This we may do by adopting some type of study which will lead to an activity or learning that will benefit the whole community. Great interest and enthusiasm were shown in the meeting. We decided to have the first program on Thanksgiving and to meet each Friday night in the third week of each month.

The following officers were elected: President, Johnny Williams; vice-president, Miss Marie Stuck; (the two above named officers were officials last year); secretary and treasurer, Mable Lillian Graves; reporter, Lee Ruth Graves; ushers, Earl Nix and Bill Stuck, two prominent young men. The president appointed Lois Booker, Inez Calloway and Marie Stuck to prepare material for the first program. Milly Frances Hutchings, Inez Calloway and Mable Lillian Graves are to prepare material for a play the second program, which will be the sixteenth of November. We decided to charge for the play in order to make money to buy lights. We planned to take our play to other communities and we are inviting other communities to bring their plays to our literary society by this means all the people will be brought in social contact.

We are hoping to have a successful literary society. Everyone is invited to come to the program and boost for Lake Merritt. REPORTER.

A SUCCESSFUL ENTERTAINMENT

The play sponsored by the Art and Civic club, entitled "Oh, Doctor," staged last Friday night in the school auditorium, was a success from every standpoint. The cast was well selected and everyone taking part carried out their assignment to the satisfaction and pleasure of the audience. It was really surprising to see how well they had mastered their parts and how well they portrayed every character and situation. Miss Gwendolyn Patton, who had the selection and training of the characters, is entitled to much of the credit for the excellency of the program.

The house was comfortably filled, notwithstanding there was a rainstorm raging, accompanied by lightning and thunder, which kept many away who otherwise would have attended the entertainment. The receipts were decidedly satisfactory to the club and the club's portion will be used for civic purposes, such as supplying books for the library at the light and power company office, assisting in building side-walks at the school grounds and in supplementing the club's scholarship loan fund.

The club requests that thanks be expressed to Fairman Co., for the use of chairs and stage settings, also to the orchestra for the music.

W. T. Scales and wife of Oklahoma have been here this week, visiting in the home of R. C. Johnson south of town.

Friends here of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Boyd of Clyde learned with interest a few days ago of the birth of a daughter to them. Mrs. Boyd was Miss May Virden and was at one time prior to her marriage, one of the popular operators in the telephone exchange at this place.

Miss Leona Pass, who was tried to the hospital in Temple a few days ago for an appendicitis operation, underwent the operation well, although her condition was quite serious for several days. She is reported to be resting well and it is hoped she can soon return home.

ANTI-DO-NOTHING PARTY

You have heard of anti-prohibition and anti-Fergusonism, but did you ever hear of anti-do-nothing? Good! We hoped not for we are an original bunch of chaps and don't like to be robbing the patent of other people's ideas. We had an anti-do-nothing surprise party at Miss Virginia Simpson's home last Friday night. The surprise was complete and the party a "howling success." I suppose that was due to the rainy atmosphere. Those present were Ila Fay, Glenn and Izetta Featherston, Fred Perry, Norman Smith, Virginia and Mrs. Jennie Simpson. All entered whole-heartedly into the unprepared games and enjoyed themselves like "six year olds."

We didn't observe the customary rules of an entertainment, that is refreshments last, but instead, we prepared them first. We had taken with us some popcorn so we enthusiastically devoured a dishpan full of it. Not content with that, we searched until we discovered in the ice box, six crisp pumpkin pies. We didn't know whether they were prepared for us or Sunday dinner, but we reconciled ourselves to the former and quickly dispensed with the pies. You know there is a clown in every play. In this we attribute that distinguished character to Fred, who, in spite of his bashfulness, ate six pieces of pie and later complained of seeing pieces of pie floating around in the air before his eyes, instead of the froggies, while playing the game, "froggie in the middle."

After refreshments we decided to get an entertainment committee. We did this by making the losers in a 42 game serve on the committee. As usual Ila Fay and Norman had to entertain. It consisted of several solos and readings. About this time we ran out of games, so we fell back on the old stand-by, "snap." Not contented with the old kind and too rainy to play car snap we invented a new type, "needle eye snap." If any of you would like to learn how it is done I am quite sure anyone who was present would tell you for not less than a quarter.

We certainly had a brave bunch of boys present for during the game of hide and seek they were afraid, even with a flashlight, to venture into the dark corners and closets of the house, which afforded protection for those hiding. It almost grew serious a time or two when people would instantly jump out of their hiding places for Glenn and Fred turned white in the face and almost had heart failure, but they didn't.

Throughout the rest of the night we had so much fun playing blindfold, postoffice, trying fortunes and listening to Norman's sayings. You know he has a queer sense of humor, that it will be many moons before we forget. At twelve o'clock our hostess, Mrs. Simpson, had gone to bed, so we thought we better leave before we made an early party out of our late one.

We do love pumpkin pie, but next time we want turkey and cranberry sauce with it.

REPORTER.

Mrs. Carl R. Billing of Fort Worth returned to her home last Tuesday, after spending the past week in the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Guynes, at Rock Springs.

SCHOOL NEWS

Every morning we have an inspector who inspects our hands, arms, finger nails, hair, teeth, neck and ears. If we are O.K. for one week without being absent or tardy we get a silver star. When we get four silver stars then we get a gold star. We are all working for these stars, too.

We first graders have to read our lesson backwards all the time. Sometimes we don't much like it, but Miss Blackwell says it keeps us from memorizing our lesson, and I guess it does. Those that got on our honor roll in spelling for the past two weeks—that haven't missed a word—are as follows: Elmer Geeslin, Lola Huling, Wilda Geeslin, Millard Ellis, Kenneth Geeslin. Those on the reading honor roll are Ruby Nell Head and Millard Ellis.

We had a fine chapel program yesterday morning. Each pupil took part and made it an enjoyable program.

Kenneth Geeslin purchased a new saddle, therefore, he has been riding a cute little paint pony to school.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Geeslin and Garland visited school yesterday. The Bynum children are moving this week. We hate to lose them.

We cleaned our school grounds Monday. Pulled a lot of weeds. As a result we have blistered hands. We are keeping all of our paintings and drawings. We're going to have an exhibit the last of school.

We are preparing a Thanksgiving program. We hope to have a lot of visitors. THE LUCKY 13

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Allen came down from Buffalo Gap last week end for a visit in the home of their son, City Marshal Harry Allen. They announced to the delight of their friends that they would move back to Goldthwaite next week and occupy their old home on West Fifth street. Mr. Allen was pumper here for the Santa Fe railroad for a long term and was employed by the railroad in the same capacity at Buffalo Gap until the time of his retirement and his friends are rejoiced that he and his good wife are coming here.

HAYS—JOHNSON

Miss Lillie Dale Johnson of Goldthwaite and Alvin Hays of this place were married at the Ter Point community Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Long officiating. Miss Florence Oden and Cleve Masters accompanied the young couple.

Mrs. Hays is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Key Johnson of Goldthwaite, where she has many friends.

Mr. Hays was reared to young manhood in Mullin. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hays of Mullin. He has many friends here who extend to him the most sincere desire for him and his bride a successful journey on the matrimonial highway.

OLDEST CITIZEN IN COUNTY ANSWERS LAST CALL

J. Waggoner, aged 92, passed to his reward Wednesday morning at 2 a. m., after an illness of several week duration.

He was a pioneer of this section, a hardware merchant here, when the town was in its infancy over forty years ago.

Mr. Waggoner was a very alert and active man for one of his advanced years, both mentally and physically. He took a keen interest in politics and walked to town three blocks from his home almost daily until he became ill a short time ago. He was a devoted Christian and member of the Primitive Baptist church.

Mr. Waggoner is survived by his wife, two sons and a number of grandchildren and great grand children. The funeral services were held at the Missionary Baptist church at one o'clock Wednesday and interment was at Hearst Ranch cemetery at Star.

GREEN—ANDERSON

Miss Maurine Anderson and Willis Green were married at the home of Rev. J. L. Jones in the Duren community on Saturday, November 5, the Rev. Jones giving the marriage vows.

T. E. L. CLASS MEETING

The T. E. L. class of the Baptist church held an interesting meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. B. Jackson, with Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. E. O. Priddy acting as co-hostesses.

The devotional was unusual in that all present had a part in it. Mrs. Sims offered the opening prayer, after which the president, Mrs. Charles Rudd, directed the business session, during which time new officers were named. They are: Mrs. W. B. Jackson, president; Mrs. L. B. Ashley, first vice president; Mrs. C. L. Stephens, second vice president; Mrs. Jeff Priddy, third vice president; Mrs. Langlitz, treasurer; Mrs. Ivins, recording secretary; Mrs. J. M. Campbell, press reporter; teacher, Mrs. W. P. McCullough; assistant teacher, Mrs. G. W. Jackson; Mrs. E. B. Anderson, home department; Mrs. Carl Bledsoe superintendent of cradle roll department.

The plan suggested by Mrs. W. E. Miller and adopted by the class last November for the purpose of replenishing our treasury during the year was enthusiastically carried to completion, when twenty-one "mite boxes" that had been distributed found their way back to the class. Each one of them contained many pennies that had been casually dropped in during the year. This plan proved to be both unique and successful.

An informal social hour followed at which time refreshments were served to the sixteen members present. REPORTER

Mrs. Jimmie Griffin of Lake Merritt, visited her friend, Mrs. Carl R. Billings, of Fort Worth in the home of Will Guynes the first of the week.

THIS IS ARMISTICE DAY

Fourteen years ago today the Armistice was signed. For four years and three months the bloodiest warfare in human memory was fought on far-flung fronts in almost every quarter of the globe. In this stupendous conflict 65,000,000 men in uniform were engaged. How many millions more were directly employed in providing war material and transport will never be known. In these four years, 8,538,000 brave men in uniform were killed or died. How many millions more, including women and children and old men, died as a direct result of war deprivations, war diseases and the strain of wartime existence can only be estimated.

The earth was scourged but not purified. In the forefront of every army was the finest of its manpower. The first to perish were the bravest and fittest of them all. But before the last shot was fired almost every nation had been forced to bring up its reserves. Beardless boys and stooped, middle-aged men were drilling in England and France and actually fighting in the German lines. Material resources down to the smallest source of supply had been listed and carefully hoarded by the authorities only to be prodigally expended in the maw of war.

For a year and seven months our own nation had been involved in this greatest of all wars. After more than a year of feverish preparations, our troops were reaching the front in a volume great enough to count. By October, 1918, more than a million American soldiers had taken their places in line beside millions more of English, French and Italians. Of our forces, 120,000 had been killed or died. Not many, in comparison with what our allies lost, to be sure. For if America had suffered casualties in proportion to population, as heavy as France, every single man of the American forces in France and over a million more in this country would have been mouldering in their graves when the Armistice arrived.

In this nation the lives of every man, woman and child were altered to help prosecute the war. There were meatless and wheatless days in every week in order to save these foods for our men at arms. Our railroads had been taken over by the government in order that nothing but munitions and essentials might be carried over them. Women were working in factories and even as railroad section hands. Countless women and children had for the first time gone to work in the place of men. The Red Cross was collecting millions upon millions of dollars for its work. Liberty loan bonds drew money by the billions from every cranny of this country, much of it soon to be belched away forever in the thundering roar of sulphurous fieldpieces.

Certain as we were that our cause was just and our flag would one day wave victorious on the battle field, stark terror fed on the hearts of numberless men and women whose sons and brothers were then facing the foe in no man's land or were doggedly drilling in preparation for their time yet to come.

And then the Armistice was signed. Fighting ceased. Church bells pealed. Thanksgivings were offered. People laughed and cried for joy. Four million American boys had been snatched from the very jaws of death and destruction and, before another November rolled around, most of them had returned safely to their family firesides.

So ended the World War—the War to End War. Or so we thought then it had ended. Yet not a month has passed since November, 1918, without fighting somewhere—not on as titanic a scale as the battles of the world war, it is true, but serious enough for those who have suffered in them. Even the United States has lost Marines in Nicaragua, has had to rush soldiers and sailors to Shanghai, and even now is quelling armed revolt among the Moros in the Philippines. There are more men under arms in the world today than there were in 1914. There are more national disputes smouldering today that may burst into flame than at any other time in the history of man. Nation after nation has been seized by the throes of revolution. Even in London there are rioters clamoring before the palace of the king and threatening to overturn that most stable of all governments.

Here at home there is greater suffering and deprivation than were endured during our participation in the world war. Although there now appears a rift in the clouds, there is probably yet much travail before us. The overwrought nerves of our people have given way in political bickering that have divided friends and brought needless sorrow to countless homes.

Is it not time for another Armistice? Let us put an embargo on vituperation and hate. Let us strive for peace as earnestly as for political victory. Let us freely admit that those who differ with us may be just as honest and honorable in their motives and intentions as we ourselves. Let's shout less and think more.

There is misery enough in the world today without our seeking to add to it. There is sorrow and to spare, let us rather try to bring joy to someone each day.

These are not idle, Pollyanna words of false optimism. The very future of not only this country but of our civilization is at stake. Unless we build more than we tear down, we shall all too soon find ourselves wandering, bewildered and helpless, amidst the ruins of orderly government or, equally to be dreaded, confined in the straitjacket of a fascist or communist regime.

This Armistice Day of 1932 is no time to turn our steps back to the past. Let us honor indeed those brave souls who gave their lives for this country. Let us remember those who dared all and offered all, but were by good fortune spared. And above all, let us not now forget those who still bear the scars of battle and whose daily life is handicapped by the wounds or privations endured fourteen years ago.

So with honor for the living and with reverence for the dead, let us now not merely resolve, but, in whatever way we can, let us also actually go to work to bring about both peace on earth and good will to men.

OUR RED CROSS

In considering the appeal of the American Red Cross at this time, it is well to be reminded that although it is a national institution, the Red Cross has already helped Mills county and stands ready to help again.

Truly what we have contributed in the past has been bread cast upon the waters. It has already been returned in the form of Red Cross flour.

But it is in time of acute disaster such as that caused by a flood or cyclone that this agency of relief performs its greatest deeds of mercy. In Texas this year it has been called upon several times and each time has responded with trained, efficient workers and adequate supplies.

The local officers of the Red Cross chapter in this county are men and women respected alike for their business ability and their personal generosity. Their connection with this annual roll call is sufficient insurance that what you contribute now will be money well invested. Get your Red Cross button today.

TRAINING CAMPS FOR HOMELESS YOUNG AMERICANS

According to a survey by 30 national social service agencies, young Americans to the number of 200,000 are roaming the country today in search of food, clothing, shelter and an opportunity "to settle down and earn a living."

More than 100,000 of these jobless wanderers would be eligible if it is estimated, for admission to emergency citizens' military training camps.

Every state in the union ought to welcome the opportunity to establish such a camp before winter sets in and salvage its future citizens before distress drives them from home and forces them to become hitch-hikers for charity.

Any state in the union that requests federal aid in the organization of winter emergency camps for its homeless youths should get it promptly.

The federal government is well able to provide organization plans for such camps and to cooperate with the national guard and organized reserves in providing competent instructors.

In past national emergencies the federal government has utilized its military establishment for relief work with excellent results.

In the present national emergency the war department is well equipped to render through its corps area commanders north, east, south and west, the practical aid which states would require to reclaim these jobless wanderers, most of whom would much prefer emergency training for citizenship in winter camps to hitch-hiking for charity.

Instead of waiting until next summer to conduct citizens' military training camps, the federal government should co-operate with the several states in launching these camps at the beginning of winter.

Admission to these camps should be limited to jobless and homeless youths under 21 years of age. And every state should seize the opportunity to establish such a camp forthwith and authorize its national guard to assist the regular army and organized reserves in making these 48 emergency winter camps a respectable and useful refuge for hitch-hiking young America. — San Antonio Light.

Keeping Up With Texas BUY IT TEXAS MADE

William C. Edwards in East Texas, official publication of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, tells some interesting facts about the present situation. He recalls that at one time people would not buy goods made in Texas, but preferred to patronize "strangers" from the east. It is easy to see how that situation developed. Texas was and is primarily an agricultural state, and the few manufacturers of the early days did not carry on an extensive advertising campaign.

Today all is changed. There is a nail factory in the state which furnishes 5 per cent of the total output bought by retailers in Texas. If it could increase its sales to 25 per cent, it could take care of a much larger office staff and employ many more workers. A constant program of advertising will be beneficial, just such advertising as the Progressive Texans, Inc., have been carrying on. The slogan, "Buy British," has almost revolutionized industry in the British Empire. The same slogan applied to Texas should help the manufacturing interests of the state.

Texans interested in the industrial development of the state can well afford to ask for Texas-made products when buying where price, quality and service are equal. — Houston Chronicle.

THE REALM OF SCIENCE

That the mysterious third eyelid of birds' eyes may be one of nature's equivalents for the rotating shutter of a motion picture machine, permitting the bird to change its view rapidly and without blurring as its eye moves rapidly from side to side, is suggested by Dr. Herbert Friedman, curator of birds at the Smithsonian Institution, Washington. This extra eyelid is a thin but reasonably opaque membrane which birds can draw rapidly over their eyes much as during a wink. Remnants of it sometimes exist in human beings and are interpreted as vestiges of evolution, like the appendix. Watching birds while they turned their eyes, Doctor Friedman noticed that this membrane seems to flicker back and forth over the eye like a rapidly winking eyelid. All animals which move their eyes rapidly need some mechanism to prevent a blurring of vision, just as a motion picture machine needs its shutter to darken the screen momentarily while the individual pictures are being changed. Such a motion picture really consists of a succession of still pictures flashed rapidly on the screen with short intervals of darkness between them. This succession then blends in the eye into the illusions of continuous illumination and of motion. When a human eye turns from side to side some unknown nervous mechanism does this same thing, so that the eye really sees a series of brief, still flashes separated by short blind intervals. It is probable, Doctor Friedman suggests, that the bird's third eyelid provides this same shutter effect. Higher animals like man, having developed nervous machinery for creating the necessary blind intervals, no longer need the third eyelid, and it has disappeared.

It has been taken too much for granted that "nothing can be done for the farmer, the law of supply and demand must settle all his problems," etc. If any man were caught in France selling wheat short, trying to put down the price, he would go to jail, at hard labor. However, it is for the wisdom of those high in office, and for the voters as a whole, to decide what shall be done to improve the condition of the farmers to whom the entire nation owes life, health and strength.

One thing is certain, the richest government in the world, that can find eighty or ninety millions to lend to one bank in trouble, other millions for railroads, etc., might at least THINK ABOUT THE FARMER and do something more than say: "I'm sorry for you; be sure to vote for me on next Election Day." — New York Journal.

Although none of the nineteen proposed amendments to the state constitution is to be resubmitted to the voters for ratification as the November election, at least five of them will go upon the ballot for action in 1933. And it is by no means unlikely that more may be started on the way to final ratification at the coming legislative session which begins in January next. The number and variety of the changes which have been suggested since the adoption of the present constitution in 1873 clearly indicates that the state cannot indefinitely ignore the fact that the document is no longer in complete harmony with the changed needs of the day. No less than forty-eight separate amendments have been adopted since 1873, and some of them have been amendments to previous amendments.

Unfortunately, average voters, or too many of them, are not qualified by knowledge or experience to pass intelligently upon the constitutional questions presented to them on the ballots, and it has happened in innumerable instances that important amendments proposals are highly technical in their language and purpose, or are framed to meet special conditions. — Philadelphia Public Ledger.

THE ISSUE IN PERSPECTIVE
 One of the little group of "embattled farmers" that held 800 British regulars at Concord Bridge in 1775 had a grandson, who became a professor of mathematics in a New York college. This mathematician had a son who, as a lawyer, statesman and diplomat, is thought by many to be possessed of the most versatile mind that has ever been put at this country's service. Lord Bryce once said that he was America's greatest secretary of state. Senator Cockrell, a veteran political opponent, pronounced him the greatest secretary of war since Stanton. Andrew Carnegie indorsed Theodore Roosevelt's assertion that he was the wisest man he ever knew. Many European statesmen and rulers have confessed that he has no equal in diplomacy; yet many of his political allies, including men of such unimpeachable honor as William Howard Taft, have in the past testified that his rigid Puritan integrity was as disconcerting to his friends as his flawless logic was to their opponents.

We are, of course, writing of Mr. Elihu Root. Mr. Root will be 88 years of age in February. He retired seventeen years ago from public life to acquire a detached view of the American pageant, in which he had taken so lively and distinguished a part for half a century. From this detachment he emerges at less and less frequent intervals to contribute, in what he sees as an emergency, any service that his still splendid intellect can do the American people. It was in this spirit that he went to Geneva at the age of 84 to work out a formula which would satisfy the nations of Europe and under which the United States could, without prejudice to its traditions, adhere to the International Court of Justice. — New York Herald-Tribune.

OIL WELLS ANNOY COWS INDIAN BUYS RANCH
 Annoyed because his oil wells were frightening his cattle, Jefferson Harrison, fullblood Seminole Indian of Muskogee, Okla., has arranged to get peace for the cattle. He bought the 450 acre Biggs ranch near Walnut for $25,000, thru the Indian agency, and will start moving the cattle next week.
 Harrison, whose allotment is in the middle of the rich Seminole oil field, says he likes the cattle business best, anyway.

S. A. Berrie, an unlocked Presbyterian pastor of Muskogee, Okla., received a life imprisonment sentence last week on the charge of murdering his wife. Two months after her death he eloped with a pretty 19-year-old Sunday school teacher.

What Other Editors Have to Say

THEY ALL RIDE ON THE FARMER'S BACK

"Give us this day our daily bread" That prayer is heard around the earth. And every day the daily bread is ready. The kindness of Providence makes it possible, the energy and patient work of the farmer PROVIDES it.

Everything in our nation, prosperity, happiness, health, wealth, all is built on the work of the farmer.

We have wonderful factories, giant buildings, magnificent machinery, fine ships, railroads, mines. They would all be abandoned, deserted, worthless, if the farmer's food supply should stop.

The wealth that farmers take from the soil and distribute among our 120,000,000 people is the greatest wealth of the nation, both in actual money value and in the real values that transcend the value of money.

The farmer, his wife and family represent the very beginning of civilization. Men changed from wandering savage "nomads," traveling from place to place in search of fresh pasture and more game, only WHEN FARMING BEGAN.

Planting seeds, raising crops, domesticating and breeding animals, with production of milk and butter—in short, the beginning of FARM WORK was the necessary and only possible beginning of SETTLED RESIDENCE AND CIVILIZATION FOR HUMAN BEINGS.

The farmer's work is hard, as are his working conditions. He must depend largely on chance, on the whims of nature and the weather. In every direction he must look for trouble. And in all the history of farming and its struggling there has never been any source to which he could look with confidence for the help that he deserves.

It has been taken too much for granted that "nothing can be done for the farmer, the law of supply and demand must settle all his problems," etc.

WHAT WOULD A JURY DO?

In the decision of the three Federal Judges that economic waste controls the policy of the state of Texas toward the East Texas oil fields, whereas the Texas statute expressly limits the powers of action to physical waste of oil, the court made some observations on testimony as it is to be found in Texas courtrooms:

It is here, as to the production methods most suitable to prevent waste, that the hearing opinions of the witnesses differ most radically. In fact, so radical are their differences and so contrary their opinions, so voluble, so volatile, are most of the witnesses in advancing them, and so equal are they all in cocksureness—that form of knowing which easily mistakes certitude for certainty—that if we assume, as we suppose on this record we should, them all to have equal theoretical knowledge and an equal absence of intention to deceive, the theories (as such) might best be held to counter-balance, leaving questions of the validity of the orders to be determined not upon disputed theories, but by consideration of the physical facts and their admitted consequences, and the common-sense conclusions which that consideration compels.

In other words, the court could not make heads or tails of the testimony of the experts. Yet it is an everyday occurrence in Texas or twelve good men and true to be called upon to determine technical questions upon conflicting expert testimony on the most involved matters of medicine, finance, industry and trade customs. It is almost as foolish as trying to teach a grass snake to crouchet. — Dallas News.

SOAK THE RICH

The Socialist candidate for the presidency advocated imposition of a capital levy as a means of raising from $36,000,000,000 to $44,000,000,000, or possibly even larger sums. The proceeds of this tax could, he says, be used to retire the national debt, finance unemployment relief and reduce municipal and farm debts. The process would be comparable to that followed in collecting inheritance taxes, according to Mr. Thomas. Listed securities, real estate, bank deposits, insurance policies, etc., would be assessed at their market value and payments made in cash. Government bonds or approved securities.

The people of the United States are familiar with major capital levies in the form of general property taxes assessed on the basis of capital values, often determined without relation to the amount of income. If any, received from the property. They know, too, how rapidly these assessed values shrink as a result of forced sales due to tax delinquencies. Inheritance taxes are also a form of capital levy which afford instructive examples of the evanescent character of wealth when inherited property has to be sold under pressure to satisfy the tax collector.

A general capital levy such as that advocated by Mr. Thomas would present similar difficulties, enormously magnified, and would go far toward destroying the value basis upon which an orderly tax system must rest. As a matter of fact, the mind refuses to grasp the possibility of collecting a gigantic, one-time levy of many billions of dollars, especially after the market value of rich men's possessions had been partially destroyed by the mere threat of confiscatory impositions. — New York Journal of Commerce.

A NEEDLESS GOVERNMENTAL LUXURY

Too many school districts, too many villages, too many cities, too many counties—all piling up new and crushing burdens on the back of the taxpayer. This is the picture of government in Ohio and other states. The disease of municipalities, meaning the needless creation of excessive governmental units, has been chronic in this state for years. Its virulence became more serious, however, when taxpaying grew more difficult a year or two ago.

Prof. H. L. Lutz, expert on public finance, qualifies to prescribe for this disease. His address to the northeastern Ohio teachers' convention is a most effective exposition of this danger which threatens schools along with all other agencies of government.

His suggestion that the 800 weak school districts in the southern part of the state be abolished and the population of these decaying communities moved out is an allopathic remedy. It obviously can not be done this year, or next or the year after. Yet, eventually something of the sort must almost certainly be worked out. In the meantime a few of the weak districts may fall of their own weight. At the moment, however, the return to the land of city jobless is likely to give some of these marginal communities a new lease of life.

The state—which means the richer districts—must continue to succor them for some time.

There should, however, be hope for speedier reform in other sections where wholesale merger of governmental units may soon be the alternative to municipal receivership. The process is already under way in Cuyahoga county. The coming year will see more of it. Never was the time more opportune for a revision of county government to eliminate waste and duplication. In spite of the clamor of village officeholders, whose needless jobs must go, the taxpayers are beginning to recognize the cost of municipalities. The next session of the legislature should see effective curative action. — Cleveland Plain Dealer

San Saba

Mrs. W. T. Linn visited her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Allen, of Lampasas this week.

Mrs. R. H. Mayfield and little daughter, Sue Jane, were here from Goldthwaite the first of the week for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Walker.

The tabulation shows there were 4622 bales of cotton ginned in San Saba county from the crop of 1932 prior to October 18, 1932, as compared with 5182 bales to October 18, 1931.

Most of the rural schools in San Saba county have started on the 1932-33 years work, according to County Superintendent E. G. Hillman, who states that about eight thousand dollars of last year's expenses are unpaid, which is about ten per cent of the total amount necessary to operate the schools of the county.

Punishment of five years' imprisonment for W. M. Saller, alias Erroll J. Saller, alias George J. Ringling, was assessed by District Judge Carl Runge on a charge of forgery in the regular term of district court here Tuesday morning, when he pleaded guilty to passing a forged check on Roy Owen, local garageman, last Thursday. The check was given in payment of a two-dollar purchase by Saller as he was passing through San Saba en route to California, where he planned to enter a hospital for disabled veterans. When arrested he was posing as an employee of the department of the interior and gave the check on a Danville, Ky., bank.

Possibly the highest price paid for pecans in the state this year was paid the past week, when W. T. Little, hardware and furniture dealer of this city, received fifty cents each for some pecans which grew at his home in this city. A nurseryman of Willow Springs, Missouri, sending two dollars for four of the nuts, stating that he wished them for propagation purposes. Another order this week from Pennsylvania requested that a sample be shipped there. The tree which bore the nuts is eighteen years old, and this is the first production. They are four inches long, eight inches in circumference one way and six inches the other. —Star.

Hamilton

Kathleen Beall and Annemone Stiles went to Goldthwaite Friday.

There were 9428 bales of cotton ginned in Hamilton county from the crop of 1932, prior to October 18, 1932, as compared with 10,000 bales ginned to October 18, 1931.

Mrs. J. E. Scheu is a patient in the Hamilton sanitarium suffering from an injured right shoulder. Her shoulder was dislocated and a bone broken when she stumbled and fell in her home last Monday morning.

A stretch of the highway between Hamilton and Cemetery Hill was treated to a heavy coat of gravel the past week. The gravel was trucked from a distance of several miles south of town and gave employment to a number of men.

Clever auto thieves were in action again in Hamilton last Saturday night, and made their getaway with a car belonging to Ernest Hafley, who lives in the southwestern section of town. The stolen machine was a Chevrolet coupe.

On last Monday morning while Mrs. Topsy Ledbetter was assisting her father, A. J. Wilkerson, in operating a wood saw at their ranch home near Gentrys Mill, the second finger on her left hand was caught in the saw and so badly lacerated that amputation was necessary.

Miss Daphne Evans and Clark Huddleston were here from Goldthwaite for a week end visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guss Huddleston. Both of these young people have numerous friends in Hamilton, and their coming means many informal society affairs in their honor.

En route home from a party at Hazel Dell in company with Erby and Wayne Wolfe, Theodore Brookshire sustained injuries in a car wreck that confined him to his bed. The entire party had a narrow escape from criti-

Lampasas

Up till Wednesday afternoon the local gin had ginned 1007 bales of this year's cotton crop. That is more than was ginned at the same date a year ago, but it is believed that the cotton is more nearly ginned.

Miss Lenna Whigham and Buford Fields were married at the home of the bride's parents, at Kempner, this (Thursday) morning at 8 o'clock. Immediately following their marriage the young couple left in their car for Dothan, Ala., where they will make their home.

According to statements by many farmers and ranchmen, this section of the country needs a good rain now worse than most anything else. Grain is not doing well, they say, and a good rain would put the ground in excellent shape, so that it should grow of an inch or such a matter right off.

The Methodist church of this city was the scene of a beautiful wedding Saturday, October 22, at high noon, when Miss Margaret Abney became the bride of Ryan M. Howard of Austin. The impressive ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Grady Timmons, pastor of the First Methodist church of San Angelo.

Just before going to press with this paper, the news came that Dr. H. F. Dickason, dentist, died about 2 o'clock this (Thursday) afternoon. His death was sudden and was due to heart trouble. Dr. Dickason has been a dentist in Lampasas for many years and is well known over this section. He is survived by his wife and several children.—Record.

Kirby's Creek was a witness to a big son-of-a-gun stew given Monday night by the Pep Squad girls, honoring the football boys. Donald Wittenburg, who was hurt Thursday afternoon while playing football, underwent a very serious operation in a Temple hospital Friday morning. While the young man is reported as doing nicely, it will be several weeks before he will be discharged from the hospital.—Reporter.

cal injuries, or perhaps death, when the lights on the car which Brookshire was driving across a bridge, went out and the auto was overturned. Brookshire and Erby Wolfe were caught underneath the car and pinned down. Erby Wolfe was only slightly injured and Wayne escaped without being hurt. The car was badly damaged. — Record Herald.

Comanche

Two thousand and two bales of cotton had been ginned in Comanche county prior to Oct. 18, as compared to 4,162 on the corresponding date last year.

Two thousand and thirty-eight bales of cotton had been weighed at the Comanche cotton yard Thursday, approximately 400 short of the amount received on the corresponding date last year.

Six cars of peanuts had been shipped from Comanche Thursday, according to C. F. Denny, public weigher, who said that they were moving now at the rate of approximately a car per day.

An unusually large number of indictments were returned by the grand jury, which adjourned Tuesday, after a twelve days session. Thirty-six true bills were filed including thirty-one felonies and five misdemeanors.

Misdemeanors on two charges of miscalling election returns were returned against W. D. Carroll by the grand jury at Comanche Friday and an indictment on a similar charge was returned Tuesday. His bond was set at $1500 in each case and was immediately executed. Carroll had been under a $750 bond since early September awaiting the action of the grand jury.

Mack O'Dell, 70, of Gustine, was accidentally shot and killed while gathering pecans two and a half miles north of Gustine about 1:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon. According to the report, Mr. O'Dell and his son-in-law, Cecil Moore left home shortly after noon to gather pecans, taking a shotgun with them. The gun which was leaning against a tree was knocked down and discharged when Moore accidentally dropped a stick from up in the tree where he was threshing pecans.—Chief.

CITY RUN BY TWO WOMEN

While Lord Mayor Alfred Pickles of Bradford, England, is in a local hospital as the result of an operation, the busy city of 300,000 people is being governed by two women. His official duties have been taken over by the deputy lord mayor, Alderman Kathleen Chambers. Mrs. Pickles, as the wife of the lord mayor, is the leading woman citizen. Alderman Chambers and Mrs. Pickles between them, therefore, have to carry out the official and social activities which ordinarily would fall upon the chief magistrate. Alderman Chambers has attended at the town hall, and for the first time in the history of Bradford documents normally signed by the lord mayor were signed by a woman. "I suppose that I shall have to carry out the work for the next few weeks," said Alderman Chambers. "This will include presiding at the meetings of the city council.

A PUSH

Who would have thought my pen should have been idle so long? Pens are like people in that they are made for use and to serve and when idle get rusty and useless.

Seems that things and times are moving too fast for one who takes his long usual nap. Time was hanging a little heavily on my hands recently, when I picked up a bright, new magazine, which some friend had left in the home. I soon discovered that it advertised ready-to-wear clothing for ladies with descriptive styles, colors and names and on and on.

I discovered, too, that some piece goods had changed the name since years ago. Not being a lady I shouldn't have peeped into the thing. I called my wife's attention to a certain word or name and asked her if that meant a garment for a person or the bird dog. She ridiculed my ignorance by replying, "I think that name means a certain kind of food for a parrot." Such ignorance has much company or it would be too bad.

This simple inside story is an allegory of present political features. I am writing a few hours before the general election in which our nation is to express its preference on certain measures and also to choose high officials. In some quarters the plea has been made that if certain laws can be repealed or certain persons elected that will get us out of the fog. That will relieve our depression. That kind of talk presumes much ignorance on the part of voters. It means a certain kind of food for parrots.

Personally I am fearful of the moral trend that may be expressed in the election. Much depends on the tone expressed on moral questions and on moral characters. One thing very certain, our civilization can't exist very long as it is now. SAM SAY

M. Y. Stokes, Jr., and family, accompanied by Mrs. R. M. Thompson, returned home Sunday evening from several days stay in Temple, where they went to have his two sons undergo an operation by a specialist for the removal of their tonsils and adenoids. The operations were decidedly successful and the boys are getting along nicely.

A PROCLAMATION

Every thoughtful citizen knows the inestimable value of the services of the American Red Cross. It is the only agency so organized to effectively relieve distress resulting from floods, tornadoes and other national calamities which can not be anticipated nor averted.

It is the agency that has made possible the distribution of flour and clothing from government wheat and cotton for the needy of Mills county.

I am sure that all realize at this time especially that the Red Cross must be liberally supported in order that it may be prepared to carry on its splendid work.

Membership in the Red Cross should not be regarded as a charitable gift. It is the discharge of a patriotic duty.

I, therefore, as mayor of Goldthwaite, do hereby set aside November 11 to 19, as Red Cross Roll Call Week and urge all our appreciative citizens to answer "here" with their memberships in this Roll Call.

(Signed) H. G. BODKIN, Mayor.
November 10, 1932.

MRS. WOODS MILLER DEAD

The sad news of the death of Mrs. W. S. Miller, which occurred in Greenville, Texas, October 28, has reached relatives and friends here. Mrs. Miller was born Dec. 25, 1847, and was therefore 85 years of age. She and her husband lived in Big Valley 30 years and are remembered by all of the old settlers in that section and in other parts of the county. After the death of Mr. Miller she went to live with her sister in Greenville, where her death occurred. Her remains were interred in the cemetery at Pickett.

SCALLORN

Well, well! How is everybody enjoying this fresh norther we had here on Tuesday. Look out for your tomatoes, flowers and other things, you don't want old Jack Frost to get, for what he didn't get before he'll sure to get tonight.

We had church Saturday night and Sunday. Everyone enjoyed the day very much—lots of good dinners to eat and lots left. Do not forget the first Sunday next time and come, for you don't know what you're missing. Bro. Aaron Shaw preached some good sermons.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Blake went to Brownwood Monday on business.

Granddad Bradley, who has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Stanley Black, in Ricker, returned home with them. We are glad to have him back with us again.

Mr. and Mrs. French Straley have moved on his father's place. Mrs. Straley is a sister of Mrs. John Kuykendall and we are glad to have these good folks with us. Hope they have good luck.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Horton and children, her sister and husband Mr. and Mrs. Buford Oliver, attended church Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Poorman, formerly known as Miss Leona Whittenburg, spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Morgan.

Grandmother Laughlin spent last week in Lometa with her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Johnson.

Mrs. Lewis Hiller, who has been spending a few days with her father, Tom Elliott, and sister, Mrs. John Conrad, returned to her home in Albuquerque.

We regret to say that one of our good neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hufstutler, have moved to Hamilton to make their home this next year and just hope for them the best of luck.

Elza Laughlin was in town on business Monday.

We are soon going to have a new postmaster, Mr. J. C. Sanderson and wife of Moline. We wish Mr. Sanderson well in his undertakings.

As it is time for the old Bird to be flying to his nest, will let him go for this time.

STAR SCHOOL NEWS

Star school has been open three weeks. Interest in the school work has been renewed with greater determination.

Highlights Around High School
The boys and girls have started practicing basketball. The boys played a game with Evant Friday, November 4, and defeated them.

The debate teams have been chosen and have started work. Both the boys and the girls are enthusiastic about the debate work. They are working with the new director and will no doubt be successful.

Both Spanish classes are getting started and are improving much.

Choral Club

The Star Choral Club has been re-organized this year. Officers have been elected and all are interested. Girls, let's have one of those grand old southern melodies in chapel some Friday morning. Miss Coston is the director of the club again and with the co-operation of the girls it will be successful.

Activities in the Grades
The sixth and seventh grades are putting much stress on reading this year. They are improving in reading and spelling, too.

The third, fourth and fifth grades are becoming more interested in school. It has taken some time for the thoughts of vacation to leave their minds and for them to adjust themselves to industrious habits.

In the fifth grade Rose Lee Sheldon and Eileen Roberts are trying for honors. Stoddard Gerald is leading by a small margin in the fourth grade and James Childre is causing some gnashing of teeth among the girls and boys of the third grade.

There are thirteen beginners in Miss Walton's room. Some of them are progressing rapidly, while others are not doing so well. The honor roll has been started and has caused much interest. Although the second graders are not old enough to vote they know who the candidates for president are and can recognize their pictures.

The school as a whole is doing every good work and hopes to make a more successful year than ever before.
