

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

VOLUME FORTY-ONE

GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, AUGUST 21, 1934

NUMBER ONE

Election Results Second Primary

The second primary election, held last Saturday, resulted in the nomination of J. V. Allred for governor; Walter Woodul of Houston for lieutenant governor; Wm. McCraw of Dallas for attorney general; Chas. L. South of Coleman for congress; R. A. Luker of Comanche county for representative; R. J. Gerald for county judge, Barton Keese for district clerk.

In the representative election Geo. Rollins received 2285 votes in Comanche county and 980 in Mills county. R. A. Luker received 2488 votes in Comanche county and 947 in Mills county.

A tabulated statement of the Mills county vote will be found on another page in this paper.

SCHOOL OPENING

According to announcement, the Goldthwaite public schools will open the fall session Sept. 10, which will be one week from next Monday. Supt. Smith and the teachers who have been away attending summer school are all ready for the opening and the pupils will soon adjust themselves to the routine of school work. The fact that the cotton crop is short will likely have an influence in securing a full attendance of the pupils from the opening day.

BANK FIXTURES INSTALLED

The new bank fixtures for the Trent State bank are being installed and workmen are making rapid progress on the interior improvements of the bank building. Since these improvements have been under way the bank has occupied the First National bank building, now owned by the Trent bank, but it is expected the reconditioned building on the corner will be ready for occupancy some time next week.

A RELIGIOUS LECTURE

The Brownwood Bulletin announces that our newly nominated congressman will deliver a religious address in that city Sunday. The Bulletin says: Hon. C. L. South of Coleman, recently nominated Congressman from this district, will speak Sunday morning at Central Methodist church at 10:50 o'clock. Judge South will also speak to the Friendly Fellows class at 9:45 a. m.

PASTURE FOR CATTLE

The relief commission is seeking to procure pasturage for cattle in the cactus flats of south-west Texas, known as pear flats. The commission officials are considering a plan whereby an army of relief roll clients will go into the flats with pear burning machines, singe the stickers from the plants, and make the pears safe for consumption by the hungry herds. The commission is seeking thousands of acres of pasturage for cattle in acute need, most of them in the extreme western part of the state. Federal Surplus Relief corporation has urged that up to 200,000 head of cattle be pastured, but it is doubtful that sufficient acreage for that number can be found in the state, according to the head of the surplus commodities department, in charge of the cattle program.

Many counties have been reluctant to offer pasturage because they are in the emergency drouth classification and fear they will lose such designation if land is leased for grazing purposes within their borders, but the commissioners explained that leasing for pastures will in no case have any hearing on the county's drouth classification.

The leasing program also has been made difficult because of lack of grass in North and West Texas. Although there is some grass in South and West Texas, tick quarantine covering many counties will prevent movement of cattle into much of that area.

Methodist Notes

In the absence of Bro. Highsmith at Lometa in a meeting, Bro. Smoot, an evangelist of the Central Texas conference, and resident of Comanche, preached for the Methodist congregation Sunday morning. Bro. Smoot is a good preacher and the people very much enjoyed his helpful sermon.

Bro. Highsmith closed the meeting at Lometa Sunday night, and will be here for the regular services Sunday next.

September 4, 5 and 6, will be held in San Antonio the Centennial celebration of the entrance of Methodism into Texas. This will be a great occasion. An elaborate program has been announced. The platform speakers will be among the very best to be found in the United States. Besides this attraction there will be song services covering all the history of the church from the songs sung by the old time circuit rider to the best of modern music. There will be a great American choir, a preachers' choir, a German choir, a Mexican choir and a great negro choir. It will be worth the time of any one to attend this great meeting. San Antonio is laying itself out in a great welcome and purposes to make it an occasion to be long remembered.

Possibly the Sunday schools have never had more interesting lessons than those that we are now studying. The history with which they are surrounded is very entertaining, if we will but read it. Then the personal characters about which the lessons are formed should stir the thoughts of the people and give them a strong incentive to lead correct lives. The lesson for next Sunday is one of the finest to be found in any language from the standpoint of literature. Study it carefully and feel the great joy of a great and beautiful lesson.

DOUBLE BIRTHDAYS

Friday afternoon, August 24, at 3 o'clock, Mrs. Carl Featherston entertained with a birthday party for two little girls having the same birthday. The girls were June Carolyn Collins from Brownwood, who was two years old, and Carline Featherston, who was three years old. After the guests had gathered they were invited into the big shady yard, where two hours were spent playing games. They were served vanilla wafers, then many minutes passed taking pictures. Mrs. Featherston and Mrs. Collins served lemonade and cake to 24 little guests.

Those present were Boniese Karnes, Billy Sam and Mary Dell Highsmith, James Carrol and Johnnie Bob Calaway, Bob, Bill and Mary Frances Pence, Addie Jean, Bobbie, Georgia and Madeline Porter, Louise Skipper, Margie and Dorothy Jean Bryant, Delpha Phese Blackburn, Worth, Thelma, Virginia, and Wayne Sumpter Long, Paul and Teddy Johnson, Dorothy Phee and June Carolyn Collins, Norma Ruth and Carline Featherston.

The little guests gathered around a table laden with gifts. Much fun was had by the wee girls displaying their gifts. We departed at a late hour wishing Carline and June Carolyn many more happy birthdays.

A GUEST

A GREAT REVIVAL

A great revival is on at Center City Methodist church. Large crowds and much interest. To date twelve have been converted. Old time shouting already heard. Rev. J. W. Griffin of Lytton Springs is bringing some great sermons. All of Mills county is invited. All from the Center City circuit come. Visitors have attended from several of the surrounding communities. The Lord's work moves forward.

LEON D. BROWN, Pastor

Cattle Buying Under Way

The force connected with the county agent's office charged with listing and buying drouth relief cattle is kept busy. County Agent W. P. Weaver gives the public the benefit of full details of the listing and purchase of cattle, sheep and goats. His statement says:

The county agent's office reports 12,000 cattle listed for sale to the government and producers are still signing up. To date 1915 cattle have been appraised. Of this number 548 were condemned and slaughtered.

Mills county is on a quota of 450 per week. Approximately 10,000 are on the waiting list. Only those out of water are being bought at present.

Producers are co-operating in a great way. Some must wait. A great majority of producers are cheerfully waiting their turn.

SHEEP AND GOAT BUYING

The program for buying sheep and goats in emergency drouth counties will include only ewes over one year old and female Angora goats over one year old. No stunted lambs, kids, wethers or bucks will be purchased. The buying program will not be started until it is possible to arrange for the processing of sheep that are bought for shipping. Buying of sheep and goats that will be condemned will not be started before buying those that are fit for food and shipment.

Sheep and goats will not be purchased until producers have listed with the county agent the number they have for sale. A summary of these applications will be made by the county agent and sent to the state drouth office at College Station and it will in turn, be sent to the regional sheep office, where state and county quotas will be established. As soon as quotas are worked out they will be furnished to the county agent and then buying will start. Buying may not start before the last of September.

In order that the office can handle the applications, we are taking a day for each commissioner's precinct as follows:

Precinct three, Monday, September 3.

Precinct four, Tuesday, Sept. 4.

Precinct two, Wednesday, September 5.

Precinct one, Thursday, Sept. 6.

Producers must come on the day assigned for their precinct.

W. P. WEAVER, County Agent

FARM INCOME RISING

A report from Washington gives encouraging information as to farm prices and farm income. It says:

Donald Richberg reported to President Roosevelt that farm prices have risen to within five per cent of pre-war parity, meaning the real price level of 1910 to 1914, as measured in terms of purchasing power, which the administration has been straining to reach.

The head of the president's executive council made it plain that his figures included benefit payments that farmers have received through the AAA.

Mr. Richberg also stressed the fact that the drouth has slashed some major crops, therefore, the high prices do not mean fully corresponding increases in farm income.

The report declared that the farm income this year appears likely to exceed that of 1933 by about nineteen per cent.

CATTLE PRODUCERS' MEET

All producers who have offered cattle to the government are requested to attend a conference in the district court room Saturday, September 1, at 2 o'clock p. m., to plan for the handling of cattle in the different communities. Don't fail to attend.

W. P. WEAVER, County Drouth Director

Ginning Rapidly Marketing Slow

Cotton is opening fast and all gins of the county are running, according to reports brought in from the various communities. The crop is turning out better than could have been expected, when the continued dry weather is considered. The reduced acreage will also cause a decided decrease in the county's crop.

A large amount of cotton has been brought to the gins here, but most of it is still in the hands of the growers, because of the failure of the exemption certificates to arrive. These certificates are necessary, else the grower will have to pay most of the worth of the cotton as tax. Under the provisions of the Bankhead law, each farmer has a quota of cotton he may market tax free and all over that amount is subject to a tax. However, if he does not produce as much cotton as is allowed under his quota, he may sell the extra certificates to farmers who have produced more than their allowance. It is not likely many Mills county farmers will have as much cotton as their quota allows and it is probable the sale of these certificates will be a source of considerable revenue.

Farmers desiring to sell their cotton before the certificates are received can apply at the county agent's office and secure an interim certificate that will enable them to sell, otherwise the cotton must be held until the certificates are received.

REHABILITATION PLANS

A report sent out from the Texas Relief commission at Austin says that checks totaling approximately $235,000, representing the federal government's allotment to Texas counties for rural rehabilitation projects, were being made out for administrators in 146 Texas counties.

"The bulk of this money, according to the head of the rural rehabilitation department of the Texas relief commission, will be used to lease and repair farm houses with sufficient tillable land to produce food and feed requirements of the families who will occupy them. A part of the fund also will go for such capital goods as milk cows, laying hens, meat hogs, brood sows and supplementary feed for livestock. Still another part of the money will be used in the building of rural work centers, where citizens of the community may find employment during their spare time.

The big push in the rural rehabilitation program he said, will be in September and October, at which time most of the constructional work will be done in order to have clients established in their homes before winter. The rural rehabilitation program hopes to take thousands of families from relief rolls and establish them permanently in these new rural homes."

GARDEN CLUB

The conservation chairman of the Garden Club, Mrs. D. A. Trent, wishes to remind all the members of the club to be sure to make every effort possible to gather all the wild flower seed that is now available, in order to use them in beautifying vacant lots and roadsides, where possible.

Bluebell seed are especially desired, with all others that can be secured. Calendulas planted now will bloom all winter.

BARN BURNED

Information was received in this city last Saturday that Jess Harris' barn had burned at his farm in Brushy Gap community, near Democrat, and all of his baled feed and much small grain destroyed. Mr. Harris is the father of our newly nominated Sheriff Hern Harris and has many friends in this county, who regret his misfortune in losing the barn.

Light Rain Falls Sunday

A light rain fell in Goldthwaite and in some other parts of the county Sunday afternoon, but it did very little good, owing to the extreme drouth. Some communities received no rain at all, while in some parts of the county there was enough water to flush the creeks and provide stock water.

A good general rain at this time would help the pastures mightily and would also make the cotton mature better. It would also prepare the farm lands for fall plowing. Unless more rain falls soon the fall feed crop will be light, as it is almost a waste of seed to plant now.

RELIEF LEGISLATION

The Texas legislature was convened in extraordinary session Monday, in response to the call of the governor, and at once entered into the work of providing ways and means for disposing of the remaining relief bonds, voted last year, and looking to a further supply of the needs of those on the relief rolls of Texas. That there are many unworthy on the rolls nobody denies and that scores of those who are on the rolls are living better now than they have ever lived. It is also true that many who are receiving supplies from the public treasury are in reality avoiding work of any kind, in order that they may remain on the rolls and secure provisions free. This is not true of all on the rolls by any means, for it is a fact that hundreds are receiving assistance through these channels who would gladly work if they had a chance and others are being helped who are helpless and would suffer but for the relief given by the government; hence the system can not be abandoned simply because a part of those being supported are unworthy or indolent.

Texas has spent about $10,000,000 and the federal government has spent $72,000,000 in this state since the start of the depression. It is claimed. The $72,000,000 includes CWA and other relief, thus for every dollar Texas has spent Uncle Same has matched it with six or seven.

After resolutions were introduced in the house calling for investigations of relief work in Texas, a joint session of the legislature heard Adam Johnson, relief director, and his assistants outline how critical and serious the relief problem is today. Mr. Strauss, who has been a leader in relief and social welfare work for 10 years, told the legislature that he would not have accepted leadership of the $20,000,000 relief bond campaign in 1933 had he dreamed that one year later the legislature and the state officials would have done nothing toward working out a permanent program of rehabilitation.

OIL WELL GOING DOWN

The Rock Springs oil well is going down at the rate of about 100 feet per day and the depth was 980 feet Wednesday night. Drilling has progressed without interference for several days and those in charge of the work are hopeful of bringing in a pay well at around 1700 feet, which will require about another week to complete, if no further trouble is encountered. The log of the well gives reason for hope that a producer will result from the undertaking.

This well is in the section where several wells have been started in the past several years and geologists have agreed that there are good indications and it is said that one of the wells might have been a producer if it had not been spoiled. The drillers of this well know the history of former efforts to bring in a well and will be able to avoid many of the difficulties encountered by those who made earlier efforts.

FRANKLIN E. SWANNER

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Early Sunday morning Mrs. M. E. Scrivner made arrangements to visit with her niece. She had everything in readiness to leave by 8 o'clock, but her son went to extreme care not to leave until about 10 o'clock. After she finally persuaded him to go she, again became provoked, when he stopped at Brown's creek. When the car stopped about 50 friends and relatives came to greet her and tell her that their thoughts were with her on her birthday.

At the noon hour a feast "fit for a king" was spread and each one present did ample justice in eating.

Those present on this gala occasion were Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Scrivner and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Booker and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wilcox and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Booker, Mr. and Mrs. Brownie Leverett, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ryan and family, Mrs. Jennie Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Keating, Calvin Scrivner and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tiny Stephens and family, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Price, Mr. and Mrs. Aubra Cline, Mrs. Mary Ann Wilcox, Miss Jewell Smith, Lester Geeslin, Bennie D. Wilcox, Jake Davis, Elwayne Doggett and Mr. Randles and Lawson.

Mrs. Scrivner received many gifts. Although she has passed many birthdays this seventy-seventh one was certainly a happy one to her.

About 4 o'clock the guests departed, expressing many good wishes to the honoree.

ARTICLES REJECTED

A great many articles offered for publication are rejected, not because the Eagle is opposed to the plans or institutions and persons presenting them, but for the simple fact that the publication of every article and line costs the Eagle money and where articles offered for publication clearly come under the head of advertising they must be handled on that basis. It is a business matter, not one of personality.

THREE CONGRESSMEN

Mills county will come as near having three congressmen in the next session of congress as it is possible for any section of the United States to claim. Hon. Thos. L. Blanton is our representative now and while he was transferred out of this district by the formation of new district lines, we all will continue to depend on him to give counsel and assistance to our new congressman, Hon. Chas. L. South, who is amply able to take care of the interests of the district, but Judge Blanton's long service in congress will be helpful to him until he gets all the business of the district well in hand. Then Hon. Nat. Patton has been elected to congress from his home district in east Texas. He lived in the Pompey Mountain community in his boyhood and still remembers his many friends here who have watched his advancement with interest and pleasure. Under these conditions it really looks as though Mills county should be in pretty good standing in the coming session of congress.

SINGING CONVENTION

Mills County Singing Convention will meet at Fridley Saturday night and Sunday. All singers are invited. Several out of the county singers are expected.

He was manager for the Farley Co. in the same line some years ago and has recently been store keeper and accountant at the blind institute in Austin, and also served for some time as deputy sheriff in that city.

The Eagle is indeed appreciative of the good correspondents who sent in so many good letters during the dull season. One thing for which they should all be especially commended is that they all signed every letter. It has been several months since the Eagle had to consign a letter to the wastebasket because of the lack of a signature.

STYLES IN NEW YORK

Review of Fall and Winter Collections.

Fabrics—

Important changes in the silhouette, beautiful and interesting new fabrics, new and alluring colors, and the wide use of novelty buttons and buckles in a variety of forms and materials, are outstanding features of the fall and winter showings of the Haute Couture, which are now being held in Paris.

Emphasis is placed on the more elegant mode, and the use of rich and sumptuous materials is evident. Fabrics made of synthetic yarns continue in high favor and play an important part in all of the collections.

Schiaparelli features a gown in a striking new synthetic fabric made with thin acetate sheeting, which looks like fine glass. Dresses in wool and rayon mixtures with raised stripes or checks, bright rayon satin and dull rayon moire, a new feather fabric called poussin, a ribbed moire crepe called Bigamie, and a beautiful stiff, dull, acetate moire are also shown.

Lelong shows rayon ottomans; rayon faconne crepes and also mossy crepes of the same material; stiff rayon velvetine; plenty of moire, some with lame and some in plain acetate, with dull surface. Epingle changeant velvet from Colombat is much in evidence for afternoon and evening, some of it being in plain rayon and some with metal threads. This house also shows changeant rayon moire and rayon moire and rayon moire velvet.

Chanel is showing rayon crepe satin and rayon faconne velvets in check designs. She also features suitline for tailleurs. Among other outstanding materials in the showings of these three establishments are fancy jerseys, fancy tweeds with mohair knots, heavy rough plaids and rough handloom tweeds, angora woolsens, plenty of taffeta and faille, moire, crepe satin and uncrushable velvets.

Lanvin also gives prominence to the new synthetic materials. For afternoon wear some beautiful things are being shown in bright satin; rayon faconne crepe satin; plain, soft woolsens; plain velvets; dull rayon velvet; and rayon cloyky satins and lame with relief stripes. In general, this house shows very few fancy fabrics. It is displaying for the evening quite a lot of uncrushable velvets in rayon, some corduroy, ribbed lame and devintene for coats. Morning materials are chiefly plain. There are some striped jerseys, velours delaine and angoras.

Patou is showing hairy woolsens from Rodier, with lace jersey of the same shade. Striking patterns in heavy rayon cloyky crepes and taffeta, rayon velvets, cotton velvets, jersey woven with steel beads, tartan, and bright satins, several of which are in rayon, distinguish his collections. Included also are dotted woolsens, boucle fabrics and considerable faille. Rayon faconne taffeta and tartan velvets are also displayed. For evening fabrics, he has included satins and faille velvets, epingle and velvet with chenille ribs.

Colors—

Brilliance in new colors is an outstanding feature of the openings. Schiaparelli, for instance, displays a new violet which is called stratosphere, an indication that the leading dressmakers are glad to capitalize world interest in current events, such as the balloon ascents. This firm also has a new brown called cedar, a like cherry pink called coccotte, a new green called petit bois, a greyish blue called astral, a deep blue called lapis, and a new gunmetal tone called mercury. Lelong's colors are browns, dark blues, wine tones, black and white, and moss green for mornings; purple, vivid red, green and black for afternoon, and for evening, violet, mauve, mouse grey, pale pink, black and brown and dark blue, water green and mauve pink. Chanel shows black, beige, grey, olive and dark green, browns and reds, plum tones and amethyst for day time wear, evening shades are pink, pale green, midnight blue and sapphire.

The color schemes shown by Lanvin include dark greens and brick for morning; black, purple, ocean blue and grey for afternoon; light cherry, purple, white and black, and emerald green for evening. In many cases, the white and black is combined with gold or silver.

Patou, who can always be relied upon to emphasize some new shade, has this year introduced a green which might be classed as being of a middle shade of green and to which he has given the name of Donzy. In his treatment of other colors, he allows black to predominate, and enhances it with white or vivid shades. He is showing brown, beiges, and greens combined with what he calls Tinder Brown.

Silhouette—

Schiaparelli's new creations have high necklines and sloping shoulders, some fullness on the bodice and loose décolletés. There are flared, stiff basques. Lelong shows the waistline at normal position, with wing effects on neck openings, some with double points. This house also presents straight skirts for daywear, and emphasizes great suppleness for the evening. Ensembles by Chanel show three-quarter or long coats, jackets with basques. Simple dresses have waistlines slightly lower at back, while afternoon skirts are longer at back. The evening line shows fullness gathered at back and puff effects. A novelty lies in the Chanel sleeve, with special cut and fixing on bodice that leaves independence and freedom of movement.

Lanvin shows straight line with full sleeves and points; capes are emphasized and neck lines have points and hood effects. Folded collars are in evidence. For the evening, the décolletés have wing or fan effects and back panels are also used to form trains. The evening line is close fitted. Patou's silhouette shows fullness at back, sometimes with two panels. The basques are flared. There are wide lapels on the dresses. Three-quarter coats are also shown. Puffed sleeves are a feature. The waistline is higher in front, while certain of his evening dresses show an inspiration from empire styles. Other features of his line show separate panels over evening sheaths. There are brace effects on décolletés. A few evening models are shown with close-fitted sleeves.

Trimmings, Buttons Emphasized.

Schiaparelli has large buttons in leather or plastic, some in flower shapes, others merely clipped. Some fasteners have the shape of horses-heads or arrow wings. Trimmings of hats and muffs are made entirely of sequins of plastic materials. A smart touch is added by the angle at which the hats are worn—they are pulled forward roughly, a la Francois Villon. Lelong shows plenty of trimmings in bright or dull sequins made of plastic; buttons, buckles and clips are emphasized. They are nearly all of transparent or colored plastics. Chanel also emphasizes buttons and clips of plastic material, which often fasten coats on one side. Straight dresses have a front row of buttons.

Lanvin also shows plenty of buttons, chiefly in plastic materials. They, too, are simple, many of them having metal rims or a bead in the center. In some cases the buttons are square with the corners turned up. For evening there are accessories which give the air of brilliance. Plenty of gold and silver kid is in evidence for trimmings, and many of the evening dress straps are spangled. Sequins are also shown on jackets.

Patou's accessories are also interesting. He is showing leather clips and fastenings on wide belts. Plastic buttons are emphasized in either simple round or half-circle shapes. Some of his coats are fastened with only one large button. A few rayon velvet flowers are used on his evening gowns. An interesting accent is found in the use of silver sequins on boleros, gilets, shoulder straps and in bracelet effects.

CARD OF THANKS

Words will not suffice to express my gratitude to the voters of Mills county for the support given me in the election on Aug. 25, for the office of county judge and ex-officio superintendent. In my humble opinion the best way for any public official to express his gratitude to his supporters is by giving to the office the very best that he is able to give in service.

Those who opposed my election were within their rights and have incurred no ill will from me. I trust that I shall have the cooperation of every citizen of Mills county to the end that I make a good official.

Canvassing the county and getting acquainted with the people has been a pleasant experience which I shall neither forget nor regret. I do not think the habitual courtesy of the people of Mills county can be excelled anywhere in Texas.

Sunday School Notes

Again we are submitting the report of the secretary:

Opening song No. 106. Subject—Hosea Preaches God's Love.

Prayer—E. W. Robbins.

Officers and teachers present, 5. Absent 1.

Pupils present, 25. Visitors, none. Verses recited, 20; chapters read, 130; daily Bible readings, 4; collection, 21c.

Everyone who was not at Sunday school missed something. In class five they had something worthwhile to hear. Everyone come back next Sunday and maybe you can hear something else.

There was only one boy present in the young folks class. Come on boys and come to Sunday school. We will be glad to have you come.

B. Y. P. U. was delayed by slippery roads and threatening rain clouds. If the weather permits we will go and have the same program we were to have had last Sunday night.

We like visitors. Everyone come and bring some one with you. We welcome you to our B. Y. P. U., a constructive and Christian organization.

OLIVE OYL

MOUNT OLIVE

Richard Wilcox and wife went to Glenrose Saturday to visit their daughter, Ora Belle. She has been in the sanitarium there for some time, and if she is able they intend to bring her back with them. Her friends here will be glad to see her up and about again, as she has been through a long siege of illness. Mildred has been staying with Ora Belle for the past two weeks.

Mount Olive went through election day with "all quiet on the western front." There were no gun fights, duels or loud talking. Everybody came through sober and sane (to some extent). Forty votes were cast in this primary to only thirty-six being cast in the first primary.

It seems that the last week of the governor's campaign was rather strenuous and sultry. This reporter tuned one in on his radio and the fuse was promptly burned out.

Sunday will be communion day and also foot washing day with the Primitive Baptist folks. There will be dinner on the grounds and all visitors will be welcome. Come.

I see that most reporters do not report any dances in their community. They either do not have any or else do not report them, for fear the church folks and preachers will censure their community for partaking of the devil's sport. This reporter has been mentioning dances and parties right along in his writings, but to follow the custom I must now cover up and report thusly: The young folks were entertained in the Houston Balensine home Thursday evening.

Hereafter ye scribe will not be so crude as to call it a dance. It will be a social or an entertainment.

Jesse Roberts was here for the Roberts and Porter reunion Sunday. He has been attending summer school at Tech, Lubbock. He reports good progress in his studies. He also reported heavy rains at Lubbock and vicinity. Let's hope these rains follow Jesse into this county.

Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Ball's daughters, Glada, Gilma and Lena, have been visiting them for several days.

The farmers have been gathering their corn this last week. They evidently do not report the corn crop so heavy. One fellow said when he started to the barn with a load he had to spread out over the load to keep the wind from blowing it out of the wagon. And when he filled the barn half full he jumped in on his corn and sank to the bottom.

Sunday, this reporter overheard two women talking. Their conversation was so interesting and original I must pass it on.

One woman said, "What have you been doing?" And the answer was, "Oh, I've just been working and working, but I don't get anything done." But it seems to me I've heard that one before.

Short gleanings: Garfield Ball has lost his reputation as a weather prophet. Elmer Coday has now turned optimist. For years he was a pessimist. Frank Poer never failed to go to town every Saturday. Firman Crawford still enjoys an argument. He says he does not argue, that he reasons. Minnie Cody and Roy Long are the speed demons of the community. Woodrow Helms is the community's butcher. He never fails to bring us meat every week. Almer Neal never misses a church service. George Poer and Orville Harris never work. Enough of this.

We are glad to have Miss Alma McArthur back with us again. She has been attending school this summer at Alpine. She will teach the coming session at Zephyr.

Orville Harris went to Goldthwaite Thursday on business. He has a job at the Caradan gin for the ginning season.

The report reaches this writer that the world will come to an end on Sept. 10. They have the time rather exact, too, as it is to take place between six and ten o'clock p. m.

Somehow very little has happened in this community the past week, and it leaves me with little to report. But I might tell you about the man who came to me this week. He was really stirred up. He said the world had got in an awful condition. He said that yesterday is gone, and today is short and tomorrow will never come. Truly a sad state of affairs.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. ECKERT

Our beloved friend, wife of Mr. Frank Eckert, formerly of Miles, but who has lived in this community several years, fell asleep in Jesus August 23, 1934. She found the pearl of great price by faith in Christ when a young girl. She united with the First Baptist church at Brownwood in 1894, in which she lived a devoted Christian. She was married to F. J. Eckert on the 16th of January, 1894.

Mrs. Eckert was the mother of eight children, all living except one son, the oldest. There are 18 grandchildren and four step-children. Husband, father, grandfather Haynes, seven brothers, living. All were at her bedside at the time of her death. B. E. Eckert, Jefferson Eckert, Claud Haynes of Miles, Floyd Haynes of Slaton, Allen Richard Eckert of San Angelo, her father, L. F. Haynes, Henry Haynes of Eden, her daughter, Mrs. Lula Morrison, of Lampasas, Fate, Homer and Billie Lloyd Eckert, Lometa. She was laid to rest in Lometa cemetery Friday, August 24, Bro. J. R. Davis conducted the services at the home. The pallbearers were her six grandsons and the eight flower girls were her grand daughters.

In the varied relation of wife, mother, friends and church members, she was an earnest follower of Him she had taken for her example day by day and her going is deeply felt by her family and those who loved and knew her best.

The sorrowing husband and children will miss her wise counsel and her patient example, her tender, sympathy and constant aid. May they be supported by the spirit of all consolation and strengthened to walk in the path she trod and at last be received to join her in the everlasting habitation.

While we mourn the loss of our beloved sister in Christ we are assured that with her all is well. The loving Savior's voice has spoken to her, "Well done, my good and faithful servant. Come up higher and enter into the joys of the Lord." A FRIEND

Friends in Mills county will regret to hear that Judge J. C. Darroch of Brownwood was defeated by a small majority in the race for district attorney for the counties of Brown, McCulloch and Coleman. The drouth has been broken in a number of states and it is an indication for better times for this section. The pastures will soon improve and many of the old and poor cattle have been sold to the government. They were too poor to live through the winter and Uncle Sam decided to buy and kill them and save feed for the best grade of cattle.

After three months of severe drouth, over an inch of rain fell Sunday afternoon here and at Prairie and Duren it averaged two and three inches. The parched vegetation and shrubs have already possessed new life and man and beast are helped by the refreshing rain and cooler weather. Plenty of time now for fall gardens and the good farmers are ready to sow their grain and receive full value of the next good rain.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of this paper, will be gladly corrected upon due notice of same being given to the editor personally at this office.

Another Milestone

With this issue begins the forty-first year of the Eagle's existence and the same editor has chronicled the passing of most of the milestones along the way.

Many changes have come to the town and county during these years, but a recitation of even the major events would not be interesting and certainly not necessary at this time. Suffice it to say that the Eagle looks to the future with hope and confidence and expects to continue to press forward in the effort to be of benefit and interest to its patrons.

Goldthwaite is one of the best towns of its size to be found and the Eagle has always appreciated the patronage given it and has endeavored to give full value for every penny received from every source.

Looking Backward

Some of the outstanding statesmen and patriots of the world advise that we take a look into the past at time. Not for the purpose of "living in the past" or endeavoring to turn the hand of progress backward, but to consider the achievements and sacrifices of some of the great leaders and patriots of other days. One great writer and thinker says on this subject that it was never more important than now that people look back to Washington and others of his day and of later days for inspiration and to regain confidence in their leaders and their fellows. There is no doubt there are patriots as unselfish and praiseworthy today as of earlier days, yet all concede that the early patriots are worthy of emulation, just the same, for they unquestionably knew the true meaning of patriotism—patriotism that puts country above self, and the interests of the great masses of people above personal ambition and vanity. They threw off the chains of tyranny, and established freedom—freedom of thought, of action, of belief. They, too, looked to the past—as we should look now—and from the lessons it produced they built for the present and the future.

The Election Is Over

Last Saturday's primary election ended the contest for the various offices in Texas—from governor to constable. In this state the nomination by the Democratic party is equivalent to election and only being necessary to await the time for the regular constitutional election in November to secure a certificate that will authorize the nominees to take the oath of office and assume the duties of the offices. In the campaign just closed there was more than the usual amount of strife among the candidates for the higher offices, but to the credit of the Mills county candidates it can be truthfully said there was the best of feeling and comradeship at all times and those who opposed each other in these contests are still on friendly and neighborly terms. Neither was there any ill feeling engendered among the voters who supported opposing candidates. All of them had their preferences, but they recognized the right of their neighbors and fellow citizens to have their preferences and in good nature argued and discussed political matters and candidates. This is as it should be and is a clear proof that civilization has made great progress in the last few decades. Possibly in some sections of other states there may still be political feuds, but in Mills county and other parts of the matchless west there is no such condition. Everybody had a right to vote their sentiments and choices and nobody has a desire to skid or deny that right.

Making Permanent Plans

President Roosevelt announces that the National Recovery Act has been highly satisfactory and that its workings are to be made permanent by the appointment of a board to conduct its affairs and direct its operations. This act has been greatly misunderstood, according to its advocates, and has been very helpful in building business back to normal and in reducing unemployment throughout the nation. It is expected the board to be created to take over the workings of the act, which has heretofore been largely under the direction of one man, will profit by the experiences and developments in the enforcement of the provisions of the act, which will expire by limitation next June unless it is extended by the coming session of congress. This reorganization will be momentous in the industrial progress of the country and it is expected that many of the rough places will be ironed out and much of the antagonism done away with by the passing of the enforcement authority out of the hands of one man into that of a board, whose members are to be carefully selected by the president because of their understanding of national industries and their ability to discern between the interest of the public and the individuals.

President Roosevelt has had considerable difficulty in making everything work out to his liking and to accomplish the ends for which he is striving, but the outlook now seems brighter than at any time since he inaugurated the unprecedented undertaking.

Business Is Improving

While it is only natural that we should all strive to make ourselves believe that the worst of the depression has passed and that business is now on the upturn, it requires more than a spirit of optimism to make the condition a reality. There must indeed be an improvement apparent and realized before we can benefit by it, but this is very evidently the situation at the present time. One of the evidences is that Dun and Bradstreet, the commercial reporting agency recognized the world over as reliable and well informed, says the bank clearings in twenty-two of the larger cities of the nation were higher last week than for the corresponding week of last year, while there was a decrease in only two large banking centers. A prediction of improved retail trade is made by one of the best known commercial authorities, who is president of a large retail and mail order company of Chicago. The condition in the investment lines is not so encouraging, due largely to the fear of inflation of the currency and the reports of the federal reserve system shown that deposits have grown to a new high level, but the owners of large capital that is not invested in commerce or industry can not influence the retail trade to any considerable extent. Taken altogether, there is an optimistic trend throughout business circles of the nation and the moving of the cotton crop in the south, at the increased price demanded by the government's aid to the growers, still further strengthens the belief that better times are practically at hand.

Health Hint

DISEASED TEETH

A fact that is not generally understood, according to Dr. John W. Brown of the State Health department, is that diseased teeth often may be associated with disease manifestations in other parts of the body. The inter-relation and inter-dependence of the various parts which comprise this miraculous bodily mechanism are so sensitive that in many instances when matters go amiss, not only is the location of the infection affected but other parts become involved also.

Thus diseased teeth or gums may directly develop an infection of the nose, eye, head sinuses, the stomach and even the intestinal tract. Again, germs from a diseased mouth may be transported by the blood stream to the kidneys or heart, thus causing serious trouble frequently ending fatally. Even such extremely painful and tenacious conditions as neuritis and arthritis can often be directly traced to infections in and around the teeth.

The man or woman who respects health as the greatest of all earthly assets will do well to heed the ordinary principles of mouth hygiene; being conscientiously adhered to, they can be relied upon to protect against the conditions that take such a tremendous and unnecessary toll.

Thoroughly to cleanse the teeth daily by toothbrush and dental floss, and religiously to seek a periodic dental examination at least semi-annually, or, if required, is merely practicing a common sense procedure which returns incalculable dividends.

LAW EVASION

An associated press dispatch Wednesday declared that Mayor LaGuardia of New York City was planning public lotteries to yield $12,000,000 a year, the dispatch explaining: "A relief corporation whose officers would be chosen by lot from among the holders of tickets, would be set up to evade the state law against lotteries. Tickets would be sold by the city for $2 or $2.50 apiece, and the officers of the corporation, chosen at public drawings, would receive large emoluments or salaries, which would correspond to prize money."

If the dispatch is true, and presumably it is, this lottery proposal constitutes one of the most flagrant evasions of law possible, and for the chief executive of the nation's largest city to connive to evade the laws of his state is not only surprising but pathetic to the point of irony. Not only is the lottery plan despicable, but the creation of a "relief corporation" with lottery gamblers as officers is a travesty on humane relief work of every kind.

During the past year or two the courts have frequently stretched a legal point one way or the other because an emergency existed. Well, if the lottery plan is adopted then an emergency in American ideals more serious perhaps than economic crises will have developed. The American character must not suffer this blight upon its liberalism.—Dale Miller in Texas Weekly.

DO YOU KNOW

Consumption of legal whisky was 70,000,000 gallons annually before prohibition, while for the first year after repeal it will be only around 30,000,000 gallons.

Last year taxes on gasoline and lubricating oil supplied more than 70 per cent of the federal government's income from special motor tax sources.

Cast iron roads are common in Duisberg, center of the German iron industry.

While the government's debt is the highest in history, interest is so low that the interest on the present $27,000,000,000 debt is only about $225,000,000 more annually than the $605,967,000 paid on the national debt of $15,921,892,350 in 1930.

Nearly 20,000 members were added to the Girl Scouts in 1933, bringing the total membership to over 315,000.

Last year 41,000 more persons left this country than came in.—Pathfinder.

A PRACTICAL WAY

A large number of prominent industrialists, along with an army of public officials and economists, are of the opinion that stimulated residential construction offers the best chance of accelerating the pace of recovery.

Construction is a local industry. The money that is spent goes first to local people—to workers, contractors, building supply houses. Every business in the community is benefited from the corner grocery to the electric utility. Every pocketbook feels the fattening effect of construction dollars.

The great drive to boom construction is getting underway now. Private capital that has been tied up in non-productive channels is going to work. A vast need for housing exists, in both urban and rural localities—there has never been so great a potential demand for better and more modern homes.

So far as the individual citizen is concerned, he is now being offered an unprecedented opportunity to build on extremely favorable terms. Almost all the costs involved—from paint to interest charges—are well under previous levels. It is the part of wisdom to make the fullest possible use of that opportunity.—Temple Telegram.

ODD ACCIDENTS

Rays of the hot Nebraska sun passed through a bubble or flaw in a window pane in the home of Tom Mindon and shone directly upon a match lying on the floor. The resulting fire seriously damaged the house and contents.

William D. Stitzel, Nebraska Pathfinder reader, is still wondering what made a 10-gallon can of sour cream explode. Results were evident, however, as the explosion tore ligaments loose in his wrist, fractured his arm and blew a hole in the ceiling.

While resting in the shade of a tree in Pennsylvania Grant Humbert was instantly killed and his son, Clarence, stunned by a bolt of lightning from a clear sky. Residents of the vicinity said the temperature was 102 with no signs of a storm or clouds at the time.

Dr. Robert E. Walsh was in a hurry and drove past what he thought was a red traffic light on a New York waterfront street. The light was on a pier, however, and his car plunged into East River, from which he was rescued.

After saturating a mattress with three gallons of gasoline for the purpose of cleaning it, Mrs. Lillian Hair of Washington stood off to see the result. Spontaneous combustion exploded the works and the resulting fire nearly cleaned out the basement also.

Preparatory to hanging it in a closet Mrs. Charles F. Allen, of North Carolina, was vigorously brushing some wearing apparel. The brush dislodged an unnoticed pin, which struck and penetrated an eyeball. Luckily her eyesight was uninjured.—Pathfinder.

FAIR WILL HAVE STOCKSHOW

A full showing of livestock for 16 days at the 1934 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 6-21, has been planned and the best herds of beef and dairy animals will be on exhibit as a master demonstration of Texas agriculture even under the most adverse conditions and as a forecast of her rich future, it has been announced by A. L. Ward, general superintendent of the Livestock Department.

"Many fine cattle have been permitted to get poor and weak and have been killed or sold," Mr. Ward said, "but the best of our herds have been well cared for and at the State Fair this year, the people of Texas will see not only the choice breeding stock of beef and dairy herds, but they will have an opportunity to meet the owners and exhibitors of livestock, who have the hardihood and courage to meet emergencies and who have the resourcefulness and the vision to use difficulties and obstacles as building stones."

Mr. Ward announced that more than $25,000 would be awarded the prize winners in classes of livestock on exhibition this year and also that prize money in horse classes had been increased.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VIEW OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

HANDLING PANHANDLERS

Walter D. Wile, chairman of the mendicancy committee of the Welfare Council of New York City, has given an interesting account of the new campaign against street begging which has been devised by the Welfare Council in co-operation with the city authorities. Heretofore the stumblingblock in all campaigns to reduce mendicancy has been the separation of the professional beggars from the truly needy individuals. Most of us, despite the appeals and warnings against giving to people asking for alms in the streets, have thought of the millions of needy unemployed than of the thousands of professional beggars, and have erred on the side of giving. Unable to discriminate, we have never known whether or not the solicitor was a panhandler. The magistrates have never known either, and their fear of punishing unfortunates has prevented them from dealing severely with professionals.

The Welfare Council's plan, now in operation, is to attach to each magistrate's court a physician and some social service workers. Persons found guilty of mendicancy are fingerprinted, examined physically and their records and statements checked. If there is no previous record of mendicancy the individual is given a card to an appropriate local social agency. If he fails to present this card and is again arrested for mendicancy, the facts are laid before the magistrate, who is then in a position to inflict a sentence sufficiently severe to be an actual deterrent.

As put into practice for the last seven months, this system has made it possible to render assistance to many truly needy individuals. At the same time it has discouraged many professional panhandlers and it has even brought about an exodus of others. More than half the men arrested were found to have previous records. So well is the system working that its proponents hope to see it copied in other cities. But its success is based on co-operation by the public—co-operation which can be fully effective only when the public is educated up to doing its part to discourage rather than to aid street beggars.—New York Herald Tribune.

DIVERGENT DEMANDS

Complaint against the high cost of government seldom carries with it expressed willingness by the complainer to cut services of government in order to reduce the cost. That is true of all government from the national down to the municipal. We cry that the taxes are too high, but at the same time are demanding additional services. The two demands just do not fit. In what department would the citizen be willing to see less service at less cost?

These are things that should be considered before one complains at the high cost of government. Much of the cost has been approved by the voters who have in turned received value for what they authorized. This part of the cost, at least, cannot be abrogated until the contracts under which it was incurred have been fulfilled. Demands that the cost of government be reduced should be accompanied by specifications indicating where the reductions are to be made, or else the demands for reduction should be kept within the lips of those who are dissatisfied.—Paris News.

BEAUTIFYING LANDSCAPE

A movement has been started among Denison ladies to beautify the Red River bridge and the road leading from Denison to the river. It is along this route that most of the vistors will travel. Many of them will get their first glimpse of Texas when they cross the river near Denison. As first impressions always count, they will judge the state by what they see between Denison and Red river. Some trees and shrubbery have already been planted along this route. Trees and shrubbery should border this road, and every uncouth obstruction should be removed. Let the first impression of Texas be a favorable one.—Denison Herald.

ROSE GROWERS ENCOUNTER THORN

The old Dutch saying is that he who would gather roses must not fear thorns. In Texas, specifically in Tyler and thereabouts, the wording would be different—something like this: "He who would grow rose bushes should not fear to buck the United States government." We do not habitually look upon roses as being a standard crop, but it appears that the Tyler section of the Lone Star State produces and markets more than one-third of all the rose plants sold in the United States of America.

For that reason we can easily understand why the district should look upon rose bush culture with a different eye from every other place and should resent being put in the category with a thousand and one other communities where rose growing is just another pastime, usually a feminine pastime. Tyler sees nothing out of the way in the federal government's supervising and standardizing such widely grown crops as cotton and the grains, but that community has gone straight up in the air over the department of agriculture's federal marketing agreement that proposes to place a limit on the year's output of rose bushes.

In this connection the East Texas Rose Growers' Association has just prepared a brief outlining its organized objection to said agreement. Tyler asserts that there is no prospect of a surplus of plants being produced and that the limit of production fixed by the government would bring serious financial losses to the growers who are thus concentrated within narrow limits.

Great as it now has become, the rose plant industry adjacent to the East Texas city is an infant industry, having been started but a few years ago. A large acreage is now devoted to the propagation of the bushes and each season many carloads of them are shipped to various parts of the country. The industry, therefore, does not feel that its specialty should be classed with wheat, corn, the fleecy staple and other such widely planted farm products.—New Orleans Times Picayune.

REFORM OF BIBLICAL TYPOGRAPHY

Modernization of the Bible is urged by the New Zealand Synod of the Church of England. This does not mean, of course, that the church officials favor a revision of the Bible along the lines proposed sometime ago by an American professor, who insisted the oldest Christian book should be expressed in the style of twentieth century speech and who offered some ridiculous suggestions as to how it should be reworded.

The synod believes the Bible suffers in comparison with other books today by reason of its antiquated appearance and layout. So it has passed a resolution advocating the substitution of a brighter binding for the present universal one, the use of larger and more legible type and the relegation of the present chapter and verse numbers to the margin for reference purposes. It also recommends that poetry be printed as poetry and dialogue as dialogue, with the use of quotation marks and that the double columns commonly used today should be abolished so as to let the type run right across the page. The resolution, which will be forwarded to the heads of the British and Irish churches and the archbishops of Canterbury, York and Armagh, suggests furthermore that the Bible should be rearranged in chronological sequence instead of the present traditional order of the books, and that the Apocrypha, now usually omitted, should be given a place.

The suggestions have merit, although there is a certain amount of reverence attached to the old form. Most of them have been adopted in Moffat's translation, which is in wide use among the clergy and scholars as supplementary to the authorized King James version. The idea that the Bible is at a disadvantage with other books by

FARM BUYING POWER UP

Standard Statistics reported the nation's farm income for 1934 will run about $8,250,000,000, which is 29.3 per cent above last year. These figures are inclusive of relief payments, bounties and other forms of aid. In 1929, a peak year, the total was more than eleven billions.

Standard suggests that the effect of the drought on general business has been over emphasized.

Lifting the buying power of the farm population is proving to be a difficult bit of business, while agricultural prices and income are up considerably, the cost of living has kept up with or actually outdistanced them. The price index of the things the farmers buys was 109 in 1933 and is now 122, up 13 per cent.

The general outlook for agriculture in the future is very bright, even if the immediate prospect is not so heartening because of drought and other factors. Surpluses will not have to be reckoned with next year. The agricultural department does not think there will be any wheat for export in 1935. Hogs and cattle will be scarce and high. Cotton should command a good price thanks to one of the shortest crops in modern times. Reopening of the world markets would give American farming the impetus it has been needing ever since the post-war period.—Abilene News.

ITALY TO PROTECT AUSTRIA

No carefully prepared statement has been issued as to what agreements were made at the three-hour interview, held at Florence Tuesday, between Mussolini and Chancellor Schuschnigg of Austria. The Italian announcement merely stated that Italy will brook no interference with the freedom of Austria, intimating that if necessary troops would again be sent to the Austrian border. Italy, of course, is especially eager to keep Austria from joining the German Reich, realizing that a powerful Germany would not be friendly to Italy's ambitions. At heart, Austria prefers Germany to Italy.

It is interesting to note that Italy and Japan are not unlike in their policies. It is Italy's dream that the time may come when the Mediterranean will become an Italian lake; it seems to have a sort of Japanese Monroe Doctrine, warning foreign powers to keep out of the Danubian and Balkan area; it thinks the time will come when an expanding population will necessitate an expanse of territory, won by the sword.

Italy, however, like Japan, has dangerous neighbors and the best laid plans of nations at times meet with insurmountable obstacles.—Dallas News.

DEFEATS REAL PURPOSE

The Uvalde Leader-News thinks "the absentee voting systems" a ready means of illegal voting and it looks as though it was being used in many places for rushing votes without challenge where there might be a question of the right to vote. In one small county over 400 absentee votes were polled. It is an easy way to run in a bunch of votes and is doubtless being taken advantage of, defeating the real purpose of the law. The law intended to give those voters who were forced to be absent a chance to express themselves on their preference. It never intended for voters to take advantage of it who had no intention of being absent or who would find it convenient to be absent on election day. Every grand jury and our next legislature should go into this absentee voting with a view of ascertaining how the law really operates for the protection of the ballot and should bring about changes that will do away with the easy method of defeating the real purpose of the law.—Uvalde Leader-News.

reason of its appearance and that it would reach a larger number of persons if it were modernized in this manner, is worthy of consideration.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Miss Daphne Evans of Goldthwaite was in Hamilton from Tuesday until Saturday, and while here was a guest in the home of her cousin, Mrs. Guss Huddleston. Miss Evans is office assistant to Dr. Charles C. Baker, Jr., and was on duty in the local office of the Drs. Baker & Baker for several days.

Under the government drouth relief program, Dr. H. T. Fiske, of the U. S. Bureau of Animal Husbandry former inspector for Hamilton county, in conjunction with Pat Kennedy, appraiser and Dr. W. R. Sanderson of the bureau of animal industry, started the work of buying diseased cows in Hamilton county last week. But the yards were still closed against shipping on account of congested conditions for the reason that there were more animals being rushed into the big stock yards than could be properly disposed of by the government.

Sim Coalson, an employe at the state highway department sheds in southwest Hamilton, was conveyed to the Hamilton sanitarium on Wednesday morning at about 9:30 o'clock suffering from painful burns on portions of the upper part of his body, and his hands and arms. His neck was blistered by the flames. Mr. Coalson had just finished servicing a truck and in handling the gasoline had gotten his shirt soaked. He went about other duties, one part of which, was the raking together of a pile of trash. He poured a small quantity of gasoline on the trash, struck a match and threw it into the refuse. The flames burst up and caught to his shirt. Before he could remove his garments he sustained very painful burns.

An accident occurred in the Shive gin at about sundown on Wednesday afternoon that came near costing the life of a worker, Owen (Buster) Hedgpath, about 30 years of age, a married man, with four small children. Jess Barker, operator of the gin at Shive and father-in-law of the injured man, stated that a rope broken on the press equipment and loosened the press door, weighing some three hundred pounds and allowing it to fall on Mr. Hedgpath. A piece of projecting iron attached to the door penetrated deeply into the flesh on the left leg in front, near the hip bone, making a very dangerous wound. Otherwise the young man was not critically injured. Although he sustained bruises about his body.—Herald Record.

Lometa

Mrs. Otis Gardner and son, John of Ontario, Cal., Clyde Gardner of Mexia and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Weatherby of Fort Worth, were week end visitors in the Gardner home here.

Thursday night, August 16, a group of young folks gathered at the school building to go on a watermelon feast, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Conradt acting as chaperons.

A. B. Faubion is having to get about on crutches this week, due to a severe attack of neuritis. However, he is being treated by a physician and hopes to cast his crutches aside in a few days.

The first shipment of government bought cattle to leave Lometa was last Friday night, when 10 cars were shipped to Fort Worth. This lot was a fair sample of every kind of cow grown in Lampasas county.

Lometa has come to a critical point. We have got to get busy if we get the highway work started this fall. It can be done. The highway commission has agreed to start work on the road from here to the Mills county line, but we must secure the right of way.—Reporter.

San Saba

Miss Nell Skaggs of Brady visited friends here this week.

San Saba Public schools will open Monday, September 10, for this school year.

C. H. McMillan and his crew of helpers, Joe Woods, Clyde and Dogie Locklear, returned last week from Helena and Great Falls, Montana, where McMillan was the official starter at the races.

Tid Watkins, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Watkins,

Comanche

A total of 4780 votes were cast in the July primary.

A. D. Pettit, Jr., of Gustine, was elected principal of the Comanche grammar school last week and has accepted the position.

At a conference last week between the officials of the Cotton Belt Railway and members of the commissioners court of Comanche county, held at Gustine, an option on the Cotton Belt right of way from Comanche to the Hamilton county line was obtained with a proposed consideration of $100 per mile by the county. If only that part of the right of way between Comanche and Gustine is bought the consideration is to be $150 per mile. If the right of way is purchased, it is proposed to use it for the right of way for highway No. 36 east from Comanche.

One of the most sensational thefts ever committed in Comanche was revealed Sunday, when F. A. Braun, budget adviser for Comanche county and ten other counties of Texas, was arrested at Dallas by Sheriff Dwight Brightman of Comanche and charged with the theft of two $1000 Comanche county bonds. The arrest followed a trip to Dallas by Sheriff Brightman and County Judge H. L. Stewart, after Judge Stewart had received a call from Dallas that a man had offered to put up a $1000 Comanche county bond to secure a loan of $500 from a Dallas loan company. Braun made a written statement to Sheriff Brightman. Braun was brought to Comanche Monday by the officials and placed in jail, pending execution of his bond, which was set by Justice R. B. Waldrop at $1000. The two stolen bonds had been redeemed by Comanche county, but had not been canceled, and were, therefore, still negotiable.—Chief

Brownwood

More than 400 persons on the relief rolls of Brown county have been employed on work relief projects this week.

Lake Brownwood has been made a fish sanctuary by the state game, fish and oyster commission and fishing in the lake is prohibited until June 1, 1936, according to information received in Brownwood.

Mrs. Grace Wells, wife of Elton Wells of Brownwood, and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Dumas, also of Brownwood, was killed almost instantly early Sunday morning in an automobile accident in Hobbs, N. M.

Sheriff Jack Hallmark resumed his war on Brownwood and Brown county beer joints Saturday, when he raided a large number of beer selling establishments in the city. Only two places were found in operation by the raiding officers and the men in charge of these establishments were arrested.

A five-room, tile and stucco house, owned by the Standard Savings & Loan Co., and located at 612 Elm street, was completely destroyed by fire at 12:15 Monday morning. The furniture was owned by R. M. Gooch, who has been in Oklahoma the past five months. Loss on the house was estimated at $2000 and the estimated damage to the furnishings has been placed at $400. The losses were partly covered by insurance. Cause of the fire has been undetermined.—Banner.

swam 100 times the length of the spring pool at the Risen. Falls last week and left the water as fresh as a duck. Swimmers who witnessed the endurance test, pronounced Tid a potential champion and were looking for more and wider waters for young Watkins to conquer. The pool is about 125 feet long, so the 100 length would be 12,500 feet, which is about two miles. Jake Harrison was telling about some waters in the Goldthwaite territory that might stop Tid, so Tid jumped into the falls pool and gave a slight demonstration of his endurance as a swimmer and is not only thinking of going to Goldthwaite and swimming across the lake over there, but may make it a round trip across the lake and back to make the demonstration worthwhile.—Star

Lampasas

Nothing had been heard Wednesday from the Plymouth coupe stolen from R. E. Rawls out of his garage last Friday night.

Twenty-three loans have been made by the federal crop and feed loan totaling $2743, through Wednesday in the county.

Mrs. J. H. Allen, Jr., left Saturday for a two weeks visit with her daughter, Miss Nell Allen, in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. R. L. Kirk of Breckenridge is a guest of her sister, Mrs. R. G. T. Pulliam, of this place and her mother, Mrs. W. C. Baker, of Bertram, who is ill.

The Texas relief commission sent 231 cases of assorted meats, 25 cases of chili and tamales and 12 cases of cod liver oil to the local relief office the first of this week, according to information from John H. Allen, Jr., local administrator.

The quota of cattle to be purchased in Lampasas county was set a few days ago at 450 per week. That number had been reached the first three days, but W. P. Graham, county agent, received a telegram late Wednesday afternoon, telling him that he could purchase 500 additional head this week.

J. M. Long, a deputy sheriff, made a real drive early Sunday morning following a car thief, who had stolen a Chevrolet coach belonging to Ferd J. Matthews. Mrs. Matthews heard the car when it was driven off and Mr. Long was immediately notified. Finding that the driver had come through town and also that he had passed the stores at Fourth street bridge, Mr. Long decided that the freshest tracks turned toward Georgetown instead of toward Belton and hit the trail. At Florence he was only ten minutes behind the thief and at Georgetown, less than five. The nightwatchman there, having been notified of the theft, had just stopped the fellow and started to jail with him when Mr. Long drove up. The fellow, who gave his name as C. H. Altemburg, admitted the theft and was brought back here and placed in jail.—Record.

Feels a Lot Better When Black-Draught Relieves Constipation

From many states come reports like the following from Mr. W. M. Henderson, of Jasper, Fla: "I have been taking Theodor's Black-Draught twenty years. I take it for constipation that gives me a dull, tired, aching feeling, and I have headache, too. Black-Draught relieves me of this trouble. After a few doses, I feel as good as new. I keep it in my home. I have a big family. When one of us is ailing (from constipation), we take Black-Draught and almost always feel a lot better. It has been worth its weight in gold to my family." ... Sold in 25¢ packages. "Children like the Syrup."

THE LOSS OF OUR DARLING BABY

On the morning of Aug. 23, God drew a dark veil over our home. He called His beautiful angel to him and left us with an empty place, which can never be filled. Little Charley Mae, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Karnes, had been ill in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Doggett since the night of August 10, but was so much better on the day of the twenty-second that every one was shocked to hear of her death.

The funeral services were held at the Methodist church at Center City on Tuesday afternoon and burial in the cemetery at that place.

The pall bearers were ones who loved her dearly. They were Mrs. Odie Pike, Brownwood; Miss Lorene Hill, Comanche; Mrs. Nolan Jones and Miss Alice Doggett, Goldthwaite.

It hurt us deeply to think of giving up our precious baby, but we know that she has gone to the happy home up yonder and it cheers us to think that we can meet her again when God calls us.

ONE WHO LOVED HER

TO MY PATRONS

I shall open my school of Expression and Dancing September 14. Until that time I shall be in the Texas school of fine arts at Austin, Texas, doing some special work in platform art, dancing routines and interpretative work. I am doing this that my pupils may have the best service of which I may be capable.
