

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, MARCH 29, 1935.

NUMBER THIRTY-ONE

Senior Banquet A Success

White high school banquet last Friday night was one of the most successful ever planned in Goldthwaite. The decorations of the Weather-ly were used for the walls and decorated in class were arranged in the hall, while decorations were artistic and several kinds of as candle holders, salt shakers, and table covers were used. Mrs. Austin and children were the speakers, while the program was made by some of the classes and their president of the school was toastmaster. H. Smith was the speaker, while the program was made by some of the classes and their president of the school was toastmaster. H. Methodist Notes

But recently it has been said that if the laws on the subject of temperance are ever enforced that the church would be compelled to aid in the enforcement of them. No, it was neither a "long-haired preacher" nor a "short-haired woman" who gave utterance to this statement. Neither was it a "wild-eyed reformer." The statement was made by no less a light in the political world than the brilliant secretary of the United States treasury. If this statement be true, and it doubtless is, what comes of the force of these people, some preachers, some politicians and some mere "corn field philosophers," who constantly affirm on the slightest provocation, many times with no provocation, that the church must stay clear of all political and social questions? This writer may be off-color on many things, possessing no more intelligence than a common moron ought to have, but according to his way of thinking there is no problem connected with the life of men that is not directly connected with the work of the church. In other words, the church should be vitally interested in the "filthy now," as well as in the "sweet bye and bye," and is derelict in its duties when it does not exert its powers in world betterment.

Methodist Notes

Bro. Duke preached two very helpful sermons Sunday. The morning discourse was on the subject of "Love" as the climax of human endeavor. At the evening hour he discussed the life of Jacob. A good audience attended both services.

Methodist Notes

Rev. Sam Taylor, pastor of the Baptist church at San Saba, is holding a meeting this week at the local Baptist church. Bro. Taylor is no stranger among us. He was raised in this county, where for many years his father was a Baptist preacher. The people are hearing him gladly. Let all who can do so attend these services.

Methodist Notes

Several have spoken kindly and complimentary about what I said in last week's paper about the attitude of the Eagle in giving so much space to the schools and churches, and of the attitude of the country papers generally toward moral questions. It is refreshing in this connection to note that many of the local papers are refusing to carry the whisky and beer advertising that is so much desired by those who are interested in wet propaganda. Many of these local papers are now refusing this class of business with a very distinct loss, too, in these times when it is rather difficult to make ends meet. It is only another way of saying that all the people are not for sale. This is one patch of blue sky in an otherwise rather cloudy day.

Methodist Notes

By the way, would it not be a good time to express our thanks to our faithful law enforcement officers for their honest effort in these days of lax law enforcement. Some of them are making a faithful effort to be true to their oath of office. We should let them know that we are ready to uphold them. I see in the papers where some of the officers in a certain city where state rangers made a raid on a gambling house, made a request that the governor furnish evidence that such places existed. It would seem the ideal thing to be to find these places in that same city. If those from outside the city could come in and find them, most certainly the local officers should have no trouble in doing so.

Cotton Signup Starts Next Monday

All cotton growers who wish to sign a 1935 cotton reduction contract may do so by meeting their committeemen on the dates and at the places listed below. Be sure to have the number of acres planted to cotton every year since 1928 to 1934, the bales produced and the average weight of each bale. The committeemen will sign you up at the following places on the specified dates:

County Agent

Be sure to come prepared with necessary information.

Birthday Party

Ouida Yvonne Gray celebrated her eighth birthday March 25, by entertaining many of her friends. Many outside games were played, after opening the nice presents. Later in the evening they marched into the dining room singing the "Happy Birthday" song, where they were served lemonade, cake, chocolate puffs and nut-surprise. Pink and white Easter rabbits and chickens were plate favors.

Midway School

We have been recuperating, after our prolonged siege of the measles, so you haven't heard from us for some time, but we are still in existence. Illness, however, did not prevent us from carrying off a number of places of honor at the county meet. Among these were the following first places: 3-R contest, Clara Lee Koen; arithmetic, Odessa Lindsay, Meredith Stewart; sub-junior spelling, Zella Stewart, Adell Reed, (Adell had a perfect paper). Third place was won by Lorene Denman and Wanda Stewart. Second place in senior declamation for boys, was won by Deowal Doggett. He also took second in the rural pentathlon.

Midway School

We are proud of these who won and also all the others who entered. A fine spirit has been manifested by losers as well as winners. That is the thing that shows what a person is, after all. Our school band is still busy and it is progressing nicely. We will have a P. T. A. C. meeting either Friday afternoon or Friday evening. We will announce the time and place next Thursday at school. Parents and people of the community, the weather is improving, so come to school and visit us more frequently.

League Program

Heart of Texas League Union meets Sunday, March 31, at Methodist church at Chappell, Texas.

Talk, "As an individual Leaguer, what am I doing to help my church and community?"—By Goldthwaite.
Duet—Chappell.
Talk, "Of what value is the League to my community?"—San Saba.
Talk, "Most successful way to create and maintain interest in local League."—Lampasas. Special music—Lometa.
Talk, —Edwin Plowman, conference president.
Song.
Collection and benediction.

No Checks Received

There have been no checks received at the county agent's office this week, although there are several out yet and they are expected at any time. While all but 16 of the cotton checks have been delivered, there are some of the second payment of the hog-corn and all of the third hog-corn payments yet to come. These checks will be here in due course of time. Nobody doubts that they will come, but the delay is inconvenient in some cases.

Supporting the Bonus

Mills county supporters of the proposal to pay the veterans of the world war the amount due them, known as the "bonus," are glad to know that Congressman Chas. L. South and Congressman Thos. L. Blanton voted in support of the Patman bill, which provided for the payment, as did also Congressman Nat Patton of Crockett, a former Mills county resident.

Art Exhibit

In connection with the annual plant and flower sale April 19 and 20, the Art and Civic club will hold a local art and handicraft exhibit. Anyone having handmade articles that they desire exhibited, please call or see Mrs. John Schooler.

A City Election

An election is to be held in this city Tuesday to select three members of the city council, the terms of Messrs. Neal Dickerson, Joe A. Palmer and Walter Weatherby expiring at this time. It is likely these gentlemen will all be re-elected.

Nazarene Remarks

It was pleasing to note a continued increase in our services last Sunday, especially in our Sunday school. Our young people's department is being more thoroughly organized into the proper divisions and classes. We are expecting better results and more effective work with these proper divisions.

Merry Wives

Mrs. W. C. Dew was hostess to the Merry Wives club on Tuesday afternoon. A profusion of spring flowers were attractively used to decorate the spacious guest rooms.

Senior Play

Be sure and see the senior play which will be presented at the junior high school auditorium April 2, at 7:45 p. m. The play is a comedy called "Reach for the Moon," with many laughs in it. You will more than get your money's worth when you hear Ted Kirby talk his Irish brogue and see Allan Campbell as a "Heap Big Injun." Then there is Doris Robbins, who plays the part of a quiet, timid young lady, who wishes to be popular with the opposite sex.

Mills County Music Festival

The third Mills County Music Festival will be held at the Goldthwaite school auditorium March 29, at 2:30. All schools of the county, excepting Goldthwaite, are invited to enter a junior and senior glee club, at which time awards will be given the winners. The winning clubs will be entertained after the contest by the local P. T. A. and which is being arranged.

Baptist Reminder

We have been having a good meeting this week. Bro. Taylor has been doing some fine preaching. Our people are enjoying his messages in a fine way. We are having conversions every night. If you miss these services you are at a loss.

We have a goal of 250 in Sunday school Sunday. Let's do our part and have 75 in the adult department, 75 in the young people's, 50 in the junior-intermediates, 40 in the primary and beginners' department and 10 in the cradle roll.

Bro. Taylor will preach thru Sunday night. I will also be here Sunday. I will teach my classes, both in Sunday school and B. T. U.

Come and be with us at all our services.

FRANKLIN E. SWANNER

Athens Social

On Monday, March 18, the Athens class had one of the most enjoyable parties of the season in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Tate.

After the members had gathered and enjoyed a friendly chat, tables were arranged for 42. Lovely clover leaf score cards passed, partners found and the games started. Before we could hardly realize it, the hour had come when the last game had been played. Tables were then cleared and we were served delicious fruit pie with whipped cream and coffee.

Invited to Belton

Junior and senior girls of Goldthwaite high school are among the guests from 150 different schools over Texas who have been invited to the third annual high school play day, May 3 and 4, at Mary Hardin-Baylor. The department of physical education sponsors the event.

Merry Wives

Mrs. W. C. Dew was hostess to the Merry Wives club on Tuesday afternoon. A profusion of spring flowers were attractively used to decorate the spacious guest rooms.

Elect Trustees

All of the school districts in the county will elect one or more members of their school boards on Saturday, April 6. This includes the independent districts of Mullin, Star and Goldthwaite, as well as all common school districts. There will also be elected one member of the county board for the county at large, J. M. Geeslin's term expiring at that time. Also one district member of the county board is to be elected in precinct No. 3, R.C. Duren's term expiring.

Changes Made In Delivery Service

Several important changes in the rural mail service from Goldthwaite beginning Monday, April 1, have been made by the post office department. Routes 1 and 2 are being consolidated into one route and will hereafter be known as Route 1.

I. O. Harvey, who has carried the mail on route 1 for the past 18 years, will make his last trip on Saturday, March 30, as he will then be retired because of 30 years continuous service. Everett Faulkner, carrier on route 2 will start at 8:00 a. m. on old route 2 and after completing his deliveries in the same order as before, will continue with the mail for route 1 patrons, beginning on the north end of Fisher street in Goldthwaite and continuing to Center Point, finally returning to Goldthwaite on the Comanche road.

Route 4, carried by Miss Dera Humphries, will be re-designated as route 2 on April 1. Route 3, carried by C. L. Stephens, will retain that number. These carriers will also leave the Goldthwaite post office at 8 a. m., returning by noon, thus making their deliveries approximately an hour and a half earlier than at present.

Art and Civic Club

Mrs. Jacob Saylor was hostess to the Art and Civic club Thursday, March 21.

The first hour was given over to business and several subjects were discussed, the most important among them being the centennial exhibit to be held in Mrs. Gattlin's building in April, and the Sixth District convention to be held in May. We will appreciate the loan and be responsible for every article anyone cares to let us have for this exhibit. We will call for and return article after the exhibit. Among the interesting things we already have is a 300-year-old spinning wheel, and a pair of knitted cotton gloves that are fifty years old.

Important Meeting

A. H. Abbott, executive secretary of the Texas Society for Crippled Children, met with a few of the Goldthwaite citizens in Judge Gerald's office Monday morning.

Mrs. Jacob Saylor is responsible for bringing Mr. Abbot to us, being deeply interested in the crippled children.

Final Report

The final report of cotton ginned in Mills county for the 1934-35 season, as shown by the ginners' records, gives a total of 4297 bales, as compared with 6346 for the previous season.

ROCK SPRINGS

The death angel took from us our neighbor and friend, Mr. G. W. Shipman, Tuesday night at 9:15 p. m. Mr. Shipman was born in New York state, near Niagara Falls, September 9, 1854. He came to Texas at the age of 21. He was married to Miss Missouri Frances Arnold about 55 years ago. To this union there were born eight children, six boys and two girls. One girl and four boys are still living. He joined the Christian church in 1912. He moved to Mills county in 1908 and lived here most of the time since. He and his wife were living with their daughter, Mrs. M. R. Circle at his death. Mr. Shipman was still pretty active up until his death. The day he died he walked over a mile to meet the mail carrier, Everett Faulkner. He also walked up to John Roberts' home in the afternoon. He ate a hearty supper. The family retired early, but before he went to sleep he got up to get a drink, when he got back to the bed he strangled and his breath soon left him. Some of the neighbors were called. When they got there it was too late to do anything for him. We all learned to love these good people. We all neglected them by not going to see them more often. Let's try to bring more sunshine into Mrs. Shipman's life from now on. Mr. Shipman was a good neighbor. He had not been able to get about much in the last few years. He prayed to die suddenly. We will miss him at the elections. He never failed to vote, if he was able to get to the polls. There was a large attendance at the funeral to pay their last respects to his memory. We, one and all, extend our deepest sympathy to the bereaved and especially to the dear wife and daughter. May God's richest blessing rest upon each of the families.

Saturday night and Sunday you are supposed to go to church and hear Bro. Homer Starnes' good sermons.

We wish to extend our sympathy to the Davis family and Cryer family and the Bledsoe family in the loss of their loved ones.

Fred McClary played croquet with J. C. Stark Sunday afternoon.

J. O. McClary and wife dined Sunday with Frank Davis and wife.

Mrs. J. C. Stark visited her daughter, Mrs. Joe Davis, Sunday afternoon.

Dan Holland and family from Richland Springs, Dick Shipman and wife from Brady, Paul Shipman and family from Potts-ville, attended their grandther's funeral last Wednesday.

Mrs. R. A. Adams and three daughters, W.C. Adams and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dural Lane from Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Walls and son from Brownwood visited R. C. Collier and wife Sunday.

Wallon Daniel and wife from Ridge visited his parents Sunday.

J. C. Stark got too close to one of his work horses Monday and the horse stepped on his toe. We hope it won't make him a cripple.

Joe Roberts has been confined to his bed the past week. We hope he will be up soon.

Murel and Oleta Alexander from San Angelo and Greta Mae Alley from Brownwood visited with J. F. and Joe Davis and families last week.

Mrs. Eula Nickols and Philip dined with Landy Ellis and wife and Mrs. J. A. Johnson Friday.

Mmes. Robertson and Dunkle spent Sunday afternoon in the Joe Roberts home.

Marvin Spinks from Rabbit Ridge and Shirley Nickols played and enjoyed a 42 game in the Webb home Monday night.

Frank Simms and wife from Panhandle, Mrs. E. B. Anderson and Miss Dera Humphries from Goldthwaite, Miss Lowe from DeLeon and Jesse Lowe and wife from Rabbit Ridge visited in the Nickols home Sunday afternoon.

J. T. Stark and Fred McClary sat until bed time in the Nickols home Monday night.

Mrs. J. R. Davis came home Saturday from DeLeon, where she went to her brother, who passed away last Thursday.

Rudolph Cooke spent Sunday with Woody Traylor and family.

Mmes. Maggie Traylor and E. D. Roberson and children spent the week end in Brownwood with

A LIBERAL POLICY

The Eagle has been more liberal than judicious in the matter of subscriptions for the past three years, owing to the depression, but the time has come when all newspapers are being required to cull their lists to those who really want and pay for the paper. One requirement recently brought to the attention of the Eagle management is that the paper can only be sent through the postoffice at the second class rate to bona fide subscribers and business men who carry advertisements and are entitled to a copy of the paper to check such advertisements, but the old "free and easy" policy must be abandoned.

ELECTION NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that there will be an election within and for the city of Goldthwaite, April 2, 1935, for the purpose of electing three aldermen.

L. B. Ashley is designated as judge to hold said election.

H. G. BODKIN,
 Mayor of Goldthwaite, Texas,

SPECIAL PRICES

The Eagle is prepared to make close prices on sales books and other stationery used by the business men. Place your orders with the Eagle and keep at least a part of the money in the county.

Mrs. Lillie Moore and Miss Neely.

Philip Nickols is plowing for Oscar Gatlin this week.

J. T. Stark went Wednesday to Abilene and to DeLeon Thursday on business. He will begin work the first in Coleman at the ice plant. We will miss him from our socials and church work.

Ernest Strickland from Brady visited his sister, Mrs. John Roberts, Saturday and Sunday.

Luther Faulkner and wife from Slaton spent Sunday night and Monday with his mother, Mrs. Laird.

Oscar Gatlin has a job this week taking his sister, Mrs. J.S. Bowles, around the country, looking after relief work business.

Philip Nickols helped Landy Ellis and Richard Sowders vaccinate some cattle Friday afternoon.

J. T. Robertson and J. T. Stark visited with the Nickols boys on Sunday afternoon.

Joe Davis and family visited in J. C. Stark's home Friday. Joe helped pull the windmill pipe.

Beryl Turner and family and father from Algerita, visited in Mrs. Maggie Traylor's home on Sunday.

Several from here went to Jim Fallon's Saturday night at Cently Point to a party.

Wednesday night Beryl Turner and family and Mr. Robertson and family from Algerita, furnished music in the Traylor home. Mr. Robertson and little 7-year-old son, played and sang. Sherrill Roberson and Richard Sowders helped with the music.

This musical was to celebrate the birthday of Miss Bernice Traylor, Mrs. J. F. Davis and Joe Davis. They didn't fail to pass around the nice cake. We hope they have many more birthdays.

Sherwood Ford and August Kauh have been shearing goats in this community.

Sam Threlkeld from Krum and his hired hand came Monday and moved the mud pump from here to Oklahoma.

Bro. J. K. Davis and wife and Bro. Homer Starnes ate dinner with Landy Ellis and wife. In the afternoon Mrs. Ellis and her company visited E. L. Pass and mother.

Herbert Cooke and his lady friend, Miss Clara Belle Burks from Mount Olive, ate supper in the Nickols home Saturday night.

Mrs. Eula Nickols went to the Renfro dam Saturday afternoon with Miss Dera Humphries from town. They joined Frank Simms and wife, E. B. Anderson and Mrs. Ed Gilliam and son. The men couldn't tell a very good fish story, because they were not biting.

Earl Ellis and wife from Comanche made a pop call in the Nickols home recently.

Mrs. Ira Dewbre is able to be up this week, after suffering an attack of flu.

This month will soon be gone and all the wash women will be glad.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The treasury reports income tax receipts for the first 20 days of March ran 33 per cent in excess of the same period last year.

The farm credit administration has decided to continue with a wool and mohair clip plan this year similar to that followed for the 1933 and 1934 clips.

A 200-pound charwoman in Washington fell from a second floor window, crashed through a skylight, dropped 25 feet, landed near a girl stenographer in an office and picking herself up, said: "Well, I swan."

Senators Connally and Shepard announce the senate public lands committee had approved unanimously their joint bill to create a million-acre national park in southwest Texas in what is known as the Big Bend of the Rio Grande.

The cotton spinning industry is reported by the census bureau to have operated during February at 100.2 per cent of capacity, on a single shift basis, compared with 102.6 per cent for January this year, and 101.5 per cent for February last year.

Frank Grege, the New York sandwich man, who thought he was God, started life over Saturday. The 67-year-old grizzled unfortunate, sent to the psychiatric ward of Bellevue hospital a month ago, was discharged, apparently cured of the Messianic complex.

Secretary Wallace announced Saturday that cotton loans would be made on the 1935 crop. He did not give the amount which will be lent, but said that 12 cent loans on 1934 cotton holdings would be extended indefinitely beyond the present maturity date of July 31, 1935.

Automobile license plates in Texas next year will be red, white and blue, and will have the word "Centennial" on them, if the Texas house has its way. The house Friday adopted a resolution asking that in the Centennial year the license plates be the color of the Texas flag.

Loans by member banks of the federal reserve system were shown Saturday to have decreased $800,000,000 during 1934, as compared to the previous year. This report was made Saturday by the federal reserve board in its monthly bulletin, along with figures that member bank deposits rose $6,700,000,000 in 1934.

A Century of Progress, the only World's Fair to pay completely its own way, issued a financial statement a few days ago, which disclosed that it had $688,166 in the bank as of December 31, 1934, after all debts had been paid. Total revenue, including paid admissions, space rental, concessions, contributions and all other receipts, was $29,321,876.

Seven men, including two former public works administration engineers, have been indicted on charges of a conspiracy to defraud the government in a $4,853,000 irrigation project in Willy county, Texas. The indictment, returned by a special District of Columbia grand jury, resulted from a three months' inquiry by PWA investigators. It is charged that the seven conspired to force use of redwood lumber pipe in the project and to obtain a $400,000 profit.

How One Man lost 22 Pounds

Mr. Herman Runkis of Detroit writes: "A few lines of thanks from a rheumatism sufferer—My first bottle of Kruschen Salts took all of the aches and swellings out of my joints—with my first bottle I went on a diet and lost 22 pounds and now feel like a new man."

To lose fat safely and quickly take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—a quarter pound jar last 4 weeks. Get it at any drug store in America.

If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

Instructions from congress. House and senate conferees on the $400,000,000 war department appropriation bill unanimously reached this conclusion Saturday. Both houses had previously approved the increase, but the house had left discretionary power with the president to increase it or not as he saw fit. The senate had made the increase mandatory, and the conference accepted the senate's amendment.

Echoes of the Indian jungle reverberated in Robstown Friday afternoon, when a newly imported Asiatic elephant trumpeted with enraged defiance and broke away from his trainer, voicing his native challenge at the tent full of spectators, and charged into the road, just as the crowd stampeded in every direction except the center of the tent. Circusgoers who had been present when Black Diamond went on a rampage at Cuero and was killed at Kennedy several years ago, experienced a renewed thrill of horror. Fortunately there was no serious damage except to the shattered nerves, which resulted from this sortie, as the big rebel shambled away into the open road. After driving him back to the circus lot, the intrepid trainer continued his dual act before the handful of remaining spectators.

CONTRACTS WITH ENGAGEMENT RINGS

New York was one of the states in which the plan of the Indiana woman legislator for abolishing suits for breach of promise and for alienation of affections made a decided impression. A bill of the same effect at Albany has been so amended in committee that its enactment is said to be assured. By the amendments the courts would still be open to breach of promise actions when a written contract to marry has been signed by both parties and also to alienation suits against a father, mother, brother, sister or guardian, but against no others.

The text of the measure recites that the remedies heretofore afforded in these suits have been subject to grave abuses, causing "extreme annoyance, embarrassment, humiliation and pecuniary loss to many persons wholly innocent and free from wrong-doing" and have fostered the "perpetration of frauds to the unjust enrichment of the unscrupulous." To abolish the right of action in such instances is accordingly declared to be a public policy serving the best interests of the state.

Valid grounds undoubtedly exist now and then for litigation of this kind, but the records show that it is another class of that litigation which has been brought into disrepute as partaking of the character of blackmailing actions. It is hardly to be assumed that engagements reduced to the written contract form, to go along with the ring, will become a social custom in New York and other states adopting the change. A suggestion of a writing would hint too strongly of an intent to sue.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

FORD V-8

In A Class By Itself

THERE is no way to compare the Ford V-8 with any other car because there is no other car like it.

The Ford enables you to step up into the fine-car class in performance, beauty, comfort and safety. But there is no stepping up in price. That is kept down by Ford low-profit policies and unique manufacturing methods. These are as different as the car itself.

It takes eight cylinders to give the modern performance you need these days. The Ford is powered by a V-8—the finest type of eight-cylinder engine. You have to pay more than $2000 for this in any other car.

She did not start to school at Goldthwaite when she was a little girl, but has been going here only two years. During that time she has shown herself to be a good student and a girl with a pleasing personality. I don't believe she is in the senior play, but then you know the greater percent of the senior class is not in the cast.

She usually wears a smile on her face and can always enjoy a good joke, no matter who it is on. She is a member of the glee club and has shown herself to be quite a song bird.

It seems as though she has a mania for boys who are small and short of stature.

Now, who is she?

Now, this girl, who is the last to be described, is not an ancient student of Goldthwaite high. Although this is her senior year, it is also her first year in this school.

She has light brown hair, hazel brown eyes and an olive complexion. She is five feet and four inches tall and weighs 99 lbs.

Although she has a quiet disposition she becomes friendly, after getting acquainted. She is a good student and is well liked among the student body.

She was in the try-out for the senior play, but somehow or other she was defeated, but she took it in a good way and that is something to be proud of. You know anyone can win and still smile, but it takes a real person to get beat and then smile.

Seniors Order Invitations

Wednesday, March 20, the senior class met to select the invitations for graduation. There was quite a bit of controversy before the students could decide exactly which type of invitation they wanted. The girls outvoted the boys in the selection and got the invitations they wanted.

The invitations this year are said to be the prettiest that the students have bought in years.

Bulb Busters

I love the grey of Autumn skies, The innocence in babies' eyes, The brilliant Oriole's lilting note, But crooners always get my goat.

"Mr. Jones," began the timid-looking young man, "er-ah—that is, can-er-I-will you—"

"Why yes, my boy, you may have her," smiled the girl's father.

The young man gasped. "What is that? Have whom?" he asked.

"My daughter, of course," replied Jones. "That's what you mean. You want to marry her, don't you?"

"Why, no sir," said the young man. "I just wanted to know if you could loan me $5."

"Certainly not," said Jones very sharply. "Why, I hardly know you."

Back to Normal:

Nurse: "I think he's regaining consciousness, doctor, he tried to blow the foam off his medicine just now."

Trios Go To Waco

Naomi Langford

March 23, Mrs. Sullivan took the two trios to Waco for the preliminary try-out. The try-out was to determine which trio would represent Goldthwaite at Belton. The following girls were selected: Ima Lois Bayley, alto; Gertrude Johnson, second soprano, and Mary Margaret Big-ham, first soprano.

These girls are very interested in the glee club and they deserve the praise and admiration that they receive. We wish the trio success at Belton.

Class Reminiscences

By Vergil Howard

Sometimes we forget, through the passing of time, the members of former senior classes. We sometimes wonder where certain ex-students are and what they are doing. It is with this idea that this column is written from the class that graduated in May of 1932.

Marlin Ross, valedictorian of '32, is now at Austin, studying pharmacy.

John C. Price, second high ranking student of '32, is farming near Goldthwaite.

LaVera Oltrogge, now known as Mrs. Farris Jones, lives here and has a family of her own now.

Lula Howard, salutatorian of '32, is now known as Mrs. Roy Skaggs and is living in Roswell, New Mexico.

Ima Bell Walden, Mrs. Raymond Bledsoe now, lives here and has a youngster of her own.

Bertram Geeslin, tallest member of the senior class of '32, is now attending school at Howard Payne. He is studying to be a teacher.

District Meet

By Bill Todd

Next Friday and Saturday, a large part of the student body is going to Brownwood to enter district meet. We are sending the "cream" of the school with hopes of winning honors.

The students have put in many hours of hard studying and working, in order to get to go. We hope they have not worked in vain.

Last year Goldthwaite team won fifth place—they expect to move up a few notches this year.

In this issue of the Herald there is a list of the students who will compete. Get behind these boys and girls and let them know that you want them to win.

The Observer

Is he good looking? I'll say he is. He has gray eyes and brown hair with a slight wave in it. He weighs about 155 lbs. and is about five feet, nine inches tall. He is one of those football players that people talk about for years to come. He is well liked among the student body and ran a close race for the most popular boy in school.

Who is he?

Sure, he's a senior and he's going to be on the graduation list in May. He has red hair and brown eyes. He is about five feet eleven inches tall and weighs about 148 pounds. He is well-liked among the students and has an easy-going manner, and likable personality. He is a sub-associate editor on the high school Herald staff. He was a member on the football team last season, and was a good player.

Junior Senior Banquet

Daphane Evans

The Junior-Senior banquet, which was held March 22, in the show room at Weatherly's garage, was the most delightful occasion of the season.

The decorations that were used produced a western atmosphere. The tables were arranged to form a horse shoe and the colors carried out in the table covers were red and white. The center pieces were little campfires, which were represented by sticks of green trees and little red lights that made them seem to be burning. Several kinds of cactus were used to hold the red candles, which burned all during the evening and were scattered generously over the tables.

On the walls hung stuffed heads of deer and blankets; on the floor stuffed wildcats, saddles and autumn leaves were very artistically arranged. In the center of the room soft lights of revolving lamps shown.

At 7:30, members of the junior and senior classes, dressed formally, filed into the room and took their places. After the invocation everyone was seated and the plate favors, which were red booklets, with "Junior-Senior Banquet" written in gold on the front, were the center of attraction. On the first page was the menu, on the second, the program of the evening, on the third were the names of the officers of both the junior and senior classes, and the fourth page was a place for autographs.

Earl Harvey, president of the junior class, acted as toastmaster. The following program was carried out during the evening. Invocation—A. H. Smith. Welcome address—Sarah Fairman.

Response—Bill Todd. Musical reading—Florine Woody. Song—Jimmie Smith, assisted at the piano by Junior Smith. Reading—Virginia Womack. Music—Joe Davis.

Talk—Mr. R. M. Thompson. After dinner address—Mr. A. H. Smith.

Song—Junior girls. Music—Orchestra.

Each number on the program helped to carry out the western spirit.

The menu for the banquet was served in three courses. The first course consisted of tomato cocktail; the second and main course of pressed chicken, Saratoga chips, stuffed eggs, pickles and paradise salad; the third course consisted of cherry ice cream and caramel leed cake.

The senior class of 1934 and 35 wish to express their sincere appreciation to the members of the junior class, the Parent-Teachers association, Miss Vivian Campbell, sponsor of the junior class, Mr. Weatherly, the member of the orchestra and others who helped in making this unforgettable event possible.

A New Sophomore

On Monday of last week, the sophomore class welcomed Donald Chapman of Brownwood. Although he has only been here a short time, the class counts him a regular fellow. We, as a class, wish him a very pleasant and profitable school term.

Junior Class

The junior class takes this method of expressing their appreciation to the Parent-Teachers' association and especially to the mothers of juniors, who so faithfully and efficiently aided us in preparing and serving the junior-senior banquet. Had it not been for your able assistance in this part of our year's work, we could not have done

INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE ART CONTEST

Invitation to students in West Texas public schools, which are members of the Interscholastic League, to enter the Region 2 art contest, to be held at the Caldwell Fine Arts building, Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, on Saturday, April 20, has been extended by Miss A. M. Carpenter, director.

Any member-school is entitled to enter one contestant in each of the three events, which are: To Draw in charcoal, a group of "Still Life" objects. To Paint in color (any medium) a group of "Still Life" objects. To Model in clay, soap or other material, an object or a figure, an animal or other subjects.

Each school having one or more entries must send the names of contestants in due form by April 8. No charge is made for entering. For detail information on the contest and application blanks, address Miss A. M. Carpenter, Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, Texas.

There will be eight regional contests held over Texas this year on the same date and winners of first place will go to Austin for the state meet in May and are entitled to participate in the League rebate fund.

Region 2 is composed of the following counties: Kent, Stone-wall, Borden, Scurry, Fisher, Jones, Howard, Mitchell, Nolan, Taylor, Knox, Haskell, Throckmorton, Shackelford, Stephens, Palo Pinto, Callahan, Eastland, Erath, Sterling, Coke, Runnels, Irion, Tom Green, Concho, Schleicher, Menard, Sutton, Kimble, Coleman, Brown, Comanche, Hamilton, Mills, McCulloch, San Saba and Mason.

AN OLD FARM

A report from Washington says that the director of the census, expressed belief that he had discovered in Texas the oldest, continuously-worked farm in the United States. He received a report from an enumerator, of a farm near Ysleta, Texas, in the El Paso section, which had been worked since 1540. It was operated by Franciscan fathers, missionaries of the Catholic church. The Franciscans, who came to the new world with Coronado, started working the tract; and in 1550 the seven-acre plot was officially granted to the church by the king of Spain. Three acres form the site of an old mission church while the other four are under cultivation.

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

SOUTH BENNETT

Twenty-one were present at Sunday school Sunday. We are hoping, since everyone is about well again, and the weather getting warmer, that our crowds will increase.

Our school boys played the Pleasant Grove boys baseball on Friday afternoon and were defeated by a score of 16 to 6. Several from here attended the game.

Mrs. Joe Fletcher visited with Mrs. Clyde Featherston Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Whitt and Pearl Shipman and family visited in the Albert Hill home Sunday.

Aaron Stacy, Houston Kuykendall, Henry Simpson and Doward, sat until bed time in the Stacy home Friday night.

M. L. Casbeer and family enjoyed birthday dinner with B.R. Casbeer Wednesday, it being Mr. Casbeer's 77th birthday. Mr. and Mrs. Willis Hill spent the afternoon in this same home. Mrs. J. T. Morris and Dorothy Eunice and Miss Maudie Belle Kirby also called for a few minutes with Mr. and Mrs. Casbeer the same evening and Mrs. Casbeer returned home with them and spent the night.

Mrs. Herman Cox had her tonsils removed one day last week. We are glad she is doing alright. Hammond Bodkin and wife visited with relatives in this community Sunday afternoon.

Clarence Dennis has had the measles, but is able to be up now.

Elton Horton and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Casbeer and children and M.L. Casbeer and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Casbeer. Will Horton and wife visited awhile in this home Sunday afternoon.

Henry Simpson visited in the Clyde Featherston home early Tuesday morning.

Morgan Stacy visited with Guy Laughlin Sunday afternoon.

Ira Lynn Griffin visited B. R. Casbeer and wife Thursday afternoon.

George Wayne Featherston spent Friday night with his Grandmother Stacy.

Bina Beth and Sybil Casbeer spent Saturday with their grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Casbeer.

Weldon Hill and wife spent the week end with her parents at Center Point.

Mrs. Cicero Warren and daughter, Vernadine, Grandma Warren and Mildred and Merle Herrington visited in the Stacy home Sunday afternoon.

F. A. Tyson of Edinburg visited his daughter, Mrs. Bedford Kuykendall, one day and night recently.

Mrs. Will Horton visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Casbeer, Sunday.

Mrs. Bedford Kuykendall spent Monday afternoon with Mrs. M. L. Casbeer. Mrs. J. S. Kuykendall and Mrs. Walter Jones were also visitors in the M. L. Casbeer home for a short while.

Elton Horton and family of Caradan visited in the Stacy home one day last week and were also callers in the Clyde Featherston home.

Bernard Perry and wife, who have been staying in this community for some time, have moved to town.

Mmes. Will Burks, Walter Jones and Beulah Rahl spent Monday afternoon with Mrs. B. R. Casbeer. Mrs. Casbeer returned home with them for a short visit with relatives and to be near the doctor, where she is taking treatment.

Ben Casbeer spent Saturday night with the Clyde Featherston family.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Featherston and George Wayne and Mrs. M. L. Casbeer visited a short while with Joe Fletcher and wife Saturday.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. J. F. Priddy and children, joined by other members of the Priddy family, desire to express their grateful thanks to their neighbors and other friends for their many acts of kindness and sympathy at the time of the family's bereavement, also for the beautiful flowers for the home and cemetery. Every service and help was freely rendered and the family is sincerely appreciative of it all.

County meet is over and we are proud of the many ribbons and banners, but above all, we are proud of the silver loving cup, because it designates the winnings of everyone who participated in any event, as a whole. Those students who participated, feel that their success, whatever it may have been, depended greatly upon the effort, patience and time that was put in by the teachers, and wish to thank them as a whole. We think that the county meet was a great success this time and we hope that it will be so, for years to come.

Interesting People
He is the smallest boy in the senior class. He has blond hair, blue eyes and weighs about 120 pounds. He is five feet in height. He is an average student in his work and everyone likes J. W. Stewart, because of his teasing ways and everlasting smile. We are proud to have this interesting person in our senior class. If this is his first year in Priddy it seems as though he won the hearts of all the seniors. Each senior class could not help to be successful with a senior like him.

Yes, she is a senior of 1935. She is about five feet, five inches tall, and weighs about 120 lbs. She has a lovely disposition and always wears a smile on her face. She has brown eyes and red, rosy cheeks. She is a real sport and pal, and played volleyball at county meet this year. If you have guessed Tuffy Bufe, your guess is correct.
The seniors are very proud of their class mates who entered in the county meet and won first or second place. Hilma Hein won second in essay writing. We also have four volley ball players, Edna Lubke, Paula Wiedebusch, Hilma Hein and Tuffy Bufe. These girls helped win first.
The English club held for its fourth meeting last week. Every one enjoyed the program very much. After the program they served refreshments.
This week, due to exams, the meeting could not be held.
Several books have been ordered for a senior play and we hope to present it soon after Easter. We hope that we will have a good attendance, as we are trying to raise money.
The approximate number of invitations have been sent off, so that the die can be cast and we hope that all the seniors will pass, so that this number will be exact.
Little J. T. Ivy, a senior, wrote this, when asked to write a paper on Shakespeare:

Shakeeper
Shakeeper was a great man, a great man Shakeeper was. He could sing and dance, yodel and pick the guitar. He started to school while yet only eighty years and learned to read and write and work arithmetic and spell. He was a good cowboy and could ride anything from a stick horse up to a pole fence, if they had the saddle on tight. Sometimes he would go horse back riding on foot and when he got back home he wouldn't forget to tie his shoes.
One day he started to ride a cow and forget about the cow, but didn't notice it until he started to get off.
Finally he grew tired of the wild life and came to Texas to teach school. After breaking three kids' necks and skinning four more alive, he bit himself and died.

Had he lived a few more years he might have been president.
What Would These Seniors Do
What would Tuffy do if Hilma couldn't play "The Waltz You Saved For Me?"
What would Edna do if she couldn't play tennis?
What would J. W. do if he couldn't tease?
What would Johnnie do without a sore ear.
What would Mutt do if he didn't flirt?
What would Druckie do if Alma didn't come to school?
What would J. T. do if he took a test?
What would Hilma do if she lost her voice.
What would Ethel do if she were tall?
What would Henry do if they didn't call him Blue?
What would Jewel do if she was not for Paula?
What would Paula do if she could play a saxophone?
What would Pete do if he made 100?
What would Martin do if he would not be bashful?
What would Mr. Grimland do if all the seniors were present?
What would Miss Swindle do if the English class would be quiet.

Tenth Grade
The geometry class has studied measurements of circles and had examinations the past week end. If some improvement is not shown in grades, there will probably be some failures.
We are all glad to have classmate Lillie Henkes, back in the school, after an absence of several weeks.

Ninth Grade
We have all taken our examinations and everyone is hoping that he has passed.
There have not been many absences this week. We hope that our attendance will be as good as this the rest of the term.

Eighth Grade
The eighth grade will have their refreshments and program in the Freshmen Better English club, which is coming along fine.
We are through with our exams, but haven't received our grades thus far, but we hope to make good ones.

Sixth Grade
In the last meeting of the Sixth Grade Travel club, we decided that each member should pay dues on the end of each month. The treasurer reported that we had 65c now. We are going to write for some travel books very soon.
The sixth grade has now finished their six weeks examination. We hope everyone passed, at least. We feel quite sure that our honor roll will be very small this time.
We hope Earl Henke won't stay out of school very long to build that sheep shed.
We are very glad to have M.C. Walker back at school again, after being absent for some time, on account of measles.
Imagine Christine Hill getting to first base safely.
The fifth and sixth graders have finished their exams and they are very glad.
Ella B. and N. C. Karnes have never returned to school yet.
George Albert Schumann visited school last Monday.
Mrs. Nieman and sons visited school Monday evening.
Nothing has been heard about the perfect paper that Ruth Hein had in the county meet. We hope she will receive a certificate.

Seventh Grade
The seventh grade pupils have now finished with their exams for another six weeks.
They have had their debates. The subject of one was: Resolved, that yellow corn is more profitable than white corn. The negative side of this question won.
The other debate was: Resolved, that cattle are more profitable than poultry. The negative side of this question also won.
Kathleen Walker is back with the seventh grade, after a long illness.

Primary News
Truman Marwitz entered school last week.
Esther Sigmund, Bernice Parlin and Wilford Schuster have returned to school. They have been ill with the measles.

Arline Lippe visited our room last Thursday.

Girls' Sports
The girls tennis meet was held at Goldthwaite and Priddy was fully represented. Louise Koch and Viola Limmer played double and Edna Lubke played single winning first in her division.

A tennis club was organized and several new members have been taken in, after paying a membership fee. The old members of last year pay only a very small fee for re-instatement, which will be used to buy balls.

We hope to be represented at the district meet in tennis singles when it is held.

Home Economics
The conversations that take place in the home economics class are something like this:
"These old threads are rotten. I can't pull an inch, but what they break."
Another one replies something like: "I have another knot in my thread. I spend the biggest part of my time untieing knots."

Still another declares that she can count out four or six threads in hemstitching her pillow cases.

While all of this is taking place, Miss Watson is having a time making the girls use their thimbles, especially one girl. We all wonder why Ethel Hohertz had to sew on her handkerchief all one period.

Glee Club
We are going to sing "Out of the Dusk" and "Canoe Song" at the singing festival, which will be held today at Goldthwaite, so everybody from Priddy be there and help us win.

Don't forget the program which the glee club, with the aid of a few others, is presenting. It will consist of a one-act play entitled Fresh Eggs, followed by a box supper. Please come and enjoy the program and then buy boxes. The proceeds of this affair will go partly for stage furniture, which will be of benefit to you as well as to us. There will be no admission.

This mountain looks very pretty now. The wild plums, the red buds and the peach blooms all give a picture that no artist can paint.

Sports News

The track meet is over. We wish to correct an error in last week's issue. We did not get the rural track cup, because there wasn't any. We won a number of points and places, but not enough for the all-around championship cup, but we're proud of our men anyway. Billy Hightower is practicing his declamation for the district meet next week. Here's hoping he wins!

Social

Mrs. Lane entertained the juniors and seniors last Friday night and everyone reported a good time.

Clara Belle Burkes taught school last Friday in Miss Blackwell's place, as she had to go to Lampasas to judge literary events in their track meet.

Glee Club

The Glee club has certainly improved. Their stage fright has disappeared, their interest has multiplied and their voices have improved. They are working on some new songs now.

Easter

Our windows are decorated with rabbits, chickens and Easter lilies. A frieze of rabbits and lilies are on the board and the sand table looks like an Easter egg nest with a rabbit keeping guard.

New Pupils

We are glad to welcome two new pupils, Maxine and Norma Conway. Maxine is in the first grade and Norma is in the fifth.

A Teacher's Momentary Reflection

On being given an extra assignment by her principal. Like Boy Blue's soldiers covered with dust.

I just want to sit in the corner and rust.

I don't want to work; I don't want to play.

I just want to rest all day, every day

I just want to watch the world go by, without botherin' me as I set and sigh

I don't want to live by the side of the road

And help my fellow man carry his load,

I've carried my own 'til I'm all tuckered out;

Now I'm wondering what the whole thing's about.

I don't want to follow; I don't want to lead.

I just want to sleep and eat as I need.

Ambition's a thing 'fer the young and spry.

But 'fer "getting places" what cares I?

Just to be passive and calm is my song

While the old ball bumps and rolls along.

There may be inventions, but what do I care.

Whether folks can walk and talk on Mars,

Where prehistoric man has left his scars

I've pushed and I've pulled 'til I'm pulled in two.

I'd like to say, "Perfesser, I'm through!"

CARD OF THANKS

We are indeed thankful for the many kind acts of our friends during the short illness of our baby and their helpfulness and sympathy after his death. It would be impossible for friends to have done more than was done for us and our friends can be sure their kindness is sincerely appreciated and will be treasured in our memories.

BIG VALLEY

The blue jays have been screaming from one end of the woods to the other this week. I think they must be getting ready for their last round-up before they start north to spend the summer. The fruit trees are beginning to show pink and white and along every once in awhile is a touch of green. Spring is indeed trying to dress this old world in her Easter dress.

Measles and whooping cough are about over and people have been moving about more this week than usual or perhaps I have been about more myself.

Mr. and Mrs. John Burnett attended church at Goldthwaite Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cockrell dined with the Sykes family Sunday.

Walter Nelson and grandson, Walter Martin Weaver, went to San Saba last Friday evening to get Miss Laura Nelson, who spent the week end with home folks. She returned to Melvin on Sunday, where she is teaching school.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson and children visited in the Robert Long home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dennard visited in the Henry Ezzell home in Goldthwaite Sunday. Mrs. Dennard and Virginia spent Sunday night in that home.

Mrs. Hyslop left Monday for Port Arthur to be at the bedside of her sister, who recently underwent an operation.

Mrs. Scott Thompson and Mrs. Oran Hale and son are visiting relatives in Dallas.

Dr. Colvin's son and wife of Coleman visited them this week end.

Mrs. Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. Ashford Padgett, Harry Oglesby and family took dinner in D. Hartman's home at Goldthwaite Sunday.

John Burnett helped Bruce Brunett with some stock Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Sloan and baby and Melvin Doak played 42 in the Weaver home Saturday night.

Cleve and Claud Colvin went to Coleman one day last week on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Sloan have a very sick baby. We hope it will soon be better.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Weaver and son ate dinner in the Walter Nelson home Sunday.

Lady Says She Took CARDUI for Cramps; Was Soon Relieved

Women who suffer as she did will be interested in the experience of Mrs. Maude Oration, of Belleville, Ill., who writes: "For several years, I suffered from irregular trouble and cramping. There would be days when I would have to stay in bed. I would get so nervous, I was miserable. My aunt told me to try Cardui. She believed it would build me up, regulate me and help the nervous trouble. I know after taking half a bottle of Cardui that I was better. In response to a telegram, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wilmeth left Thursday morning for Snyder to be at the bedside of Mrs. Wilmeth's brother-in-law, Finis Wade, who was very low with pneumonia. They went by San Saba county and took with them Mr. Wade's sister, Mrs. Brown. Death had already relieved the sufferer when they arrived at Snyder that afternoon. They stayed for the funeral Friday and returned home Saturday.

Finis Wade, when a young man just from Tennessee, worked for John Reeves in this community. He won the name of being a good worker and a mighty fine young man, J. R. Wilmeth, Sr. went to fill a preaching appointment at Algerta, in San Saba county, and took Finis with him. He introduced him to Miss Alice Dickens, who afterwards became his wife. They bought a home in the Shiloh community and lived there many years. Ten children were born to them, nine sons and one daughter. The daughter died in infancy. One son also died in his tender years. His wife and eight sons survive him.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Ketchum of San Saba county spent Saturday night and Sunday with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Josh Philen and children, Avis, Ray and Glen, of Indian Creek spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Clements.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Haynes and daughters, Pauline and Cleone, spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Chessnutt at Cross Cut.

Miss Ruby Ketchum visited Miss Evalyn Mashburn Sunday after church.

Mr. and Mrs. Tillman Smith and children spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cloud.

Miss Erlene Day, who is attending school at Indian Creek, won three red ribbons in the county meet at Brownwood last week. She won second place in high jump, broad jump and 60 yards dash.

R. D. Egger and H. C. Griffin of Regency played tennis at the home of Mrs. Effie Egger Sunday afternoon.

Miss Pauline Danner of Regency spent the week end with her aunt, Mrs. Charlie Roberts.

REDEEMING PROMISES

It has long been proverbial that campaign promises were for the purpose of getting into office and were never intended to be carried out. Hence, there was considerable surprise in some quarters when Texas rangers swooped down on saloons and gambling places in some of the larger cities in Texas last week, tore up and destroyed equipment and in some cases arrested the proprietors and the patrons.

The action of the governor and the rangers thus far encourages the hope that the campaign will be carried to the smaller communities as well as the cities.

IT MAY MEAN WAR

The preparations and declarations by the foremost nations of the world, as well as some of the smaller nations, certainly justify a forecast of war. At the close of the world war it was believed almost universally that another great war would be impossible for many years to come, if indeed there could ever be one of so great dimensions, but the indications now are that the war spirit has been by no means quieted and the preparations can but lead to the conclusion that another war is in the offing.

THE NEXT CAMPAIGN

Alignments are already being formed for the next national campaign while politicians and political leaders, both great and small, appear to be more or less up in the air. Most Democrats are confident of the ultimate victory for the party and the vindication of Mr. Roosevelt's policies, yet they confess there is strong opposition, although it is hopelessly divided.

One political writer, who appears to have a pretty good line-up on public affairs, says of the approaching campaign: "According to all signs, the presidential campaign of 1936 is likely to make that of 1932—which was considered exceptionally bitter—look like a tea party. Issues are forming, forces are appearing, that are entirely unprecedented in American politics. It seems inevitable that there will be a third party in the field. It may be led by Huey Long, backed by Father Coughlin, and use as its appeal the 'Every man a king' thesis. It may be led by a Townsend Plan advocate, promising prosperity for all through governmental largesse to the aged. It may be led by someone who stands for something we haven't yet heard about."

This may be a proper diagnosis of the situation, yet the people of all sections and of all political alignments realize and are ready to confess that the policies of Mr. Roosevelt have saved the country from much suffering and many individuals and enterprises from bankruptcy.

THE CENTENNIAL IS ENDORSED

Everybody endorses the movement to properly celebrate the one hundredth birthday of our great state. Everybody is anxious and willing for sufficient funds to be provided for the undertaking. The matter of handling the funds appropriated from the tax money is the important question in the minds of most people. It is well known that public money is easy to spend and it is at this point that some opposition to the use of public funds for the centennial has developed, while there is in reality very little opposition at all. It is, however, important that assurance be given that the money will be handled judiciously and economically in order that all may be satisfied and all be in hearty cooperation in the preparation as well as in the celebration. At the present time it is a gigantic undertaking and requires financing in large figures, but whether the amount be large or small it should be economically expended, as far as the tax money is involved.

Health Hint

LOOKING TO SANITATION

The accumulation of winter's debris represents a distinct menace to the health of adults and particularly to little children, according to a state health officer, who urges everyone to clean their houses and yards at this time. It is not only good housekeeping, but ordinary sanitary principles indicate the necessity of prompt removal of all waste matter in and around the neighborhood of yards of homes, but the definite lessening of the spread of diseases, especially those affecting infants, is vitally connected with this procedure.

Flies help spread typhoid fever, dysentery, diarrhea, tuberculosis, anthrax and cholera. They breed, live and feed in filth. To prevent their increase all refuse should be disposed of at once, garbage kept in covered containers, privies made sanitary and houses screened. Every neighborhood raises its own flies so that their number is an index to the sanitary conditions.

Mosquitoes are responsible for the spread of malaria, dengue and yellow fever. Malaria is spread by the bite of the Anopheles or malaria mosquito. Dengue fever and yellow fever are transmitted by the Aedes Aegypti or Tiger mosquito. The best way to prevent these diseases is to destroy the breeding places of the mosquito. They breed in standing water, therefore, one should drain, ditch or fill such places, spray oil on water each week, or stock the water with surface minnows as they will eat the wiggletails. Houses should be well screened to protect against these insects. After the spring cleaning is finished, it should be kept in this condition at all times.

PREVENTING DIPHTHERIA

"Few conquests of science have been so spectacular and complete as the rout of diphtheria. And this victory has most firmly established the value of serum treatment both in its preventive and curative phases. However, toxin-antitoxin or its successor toxoid for immunization, and antitoxin for timely cure, are brilliant achievements of which the general public even yet are not fully aware," states the state health officer.

"As indicated, toxoid is the immunizing or preventive agent now usually employed. Only one injection of this serum is necessary. However, three to four months are required for the body to develop immunity. At that time the Schick test is applied to determine the results of this preventive treatment. This harmless and painless procedure is performed by injecting into the upper layers of the skin a minute drop of the diphtheria toxin. If within 48 to 72 hours there is no redness at the place where the toxin was injected, or perhaps a small blister and some hardness of the skin, immunity has been definitely established.

"However, when a case of diphtheria exists antitoxin is the only treatment that will save life. Also, to be effective, it must be given early and in large doses. Delay is usually caused by parents failing to realize that any sore throat may actually be diphtheria.

"This means are at hand to fight diphtheria to the death, but it can not be done without a hundred per cent co-operation of parents. May Day, the Child's Health Day, will soon be here and one of the best ways to observe it would be for parents to have their children immunized against diphtheria."

CONVICTS MAKE

LICENSE PLATES

The 1935 Texas automobile, motorcycle and truck license plates are almost 100 per cent the product of state prison labor. The annual report of the prison system shows that an average of about 60 inmates are employed less than five months in manufacturing 2,835,000 plates.

The plates were wrapped, boxed and delivered to the 254 county seats by prison trucks to all less-than-carload points and by carload freight to three counties and to four points for redistribution.

The design, installation and successful operation of the auto-

NEW RELIEF RULES

New instructions issued by the Texas relief commission effective March 18 and March 25 will replace farm families who are on the general relief rolls, placing them under the rural rehabilitation program.

Only credit advances will be made to this group of clients, no more grants will be made.

The Texas relief commission the first of the week announced a policy of removing all farm families from the general relief rolls and including them in the rural rehabilitation program, under which they would receive no aid except in credit advances.

Officials estimate that from 35 to 50 per cent of the state's general relief load consist of farm families and that the load would be reduced by approximately 100,000 cases when all have been classed as rural rehabilitation families. Mr. Baugh, assistant director of Texas relief commission, stated that "We want to include all our rural cases in the rural rehabilitation program and get away from further outright relief grants. Under the rural plan, we analyze the needs of the family, set up an operating budget and farming plan for the year and provide management to enable the family to maintain a sufficient income to meet the notes given all advances made from relief funds."

Farm families who will be affected under this transfer, are defined by the Texas relief commission, for the purposes of this new plan, as "a family residing outside the limits of an incorporated or unincorporated town or village or city, and who depend upon farming operations for the major portion of their income." Instructions to the local relief office state that no further advances of any kind are to be made to this class of clients until landlord waivers shall be secured and signed by the landlord of the respective clients. These waivers have been furnished to the local relief office and are being distributed to landlords at this time for their signatures. The instructions further state that if the landlord refuses or for any reason is not willing to sign the waiver, then the client shall be removed from the relief rolls and no further advances, either as loans or grants, can be made him. Where such refusal is made by the landlord the local relief office is instructed to at once notify the landlord in writing that the client involved is being taken from the relief rolls and also report the case to the Austin office, giving the case number, name and address of the client, and the landlord's name and address.

Mrs. Val M. Keating, the social service consultant for the Texas relief commission, in a letter to the county relief administrators states that "The major portion of the increases has been in rural areas, and we believe that many landlords have taken advantage of the relief organization in refusing to finance tenants."

It is not possible at this time to estimate just what number of Mills county clients will be transferred, under this program, as it will take quite awhile for landlords to be contacted to ascertain whether or not they are willing to sign landlord's waivers. It will, however, affect about eighty-five families, if the landlords of these families will sign waivers. Then all of these families will be placed under the rural rehabilitation program and will sign notes secured by mortgages for any further advances made them by the relief office. If only a small per cent of the landlords will sign, then the bulk of these families will be dropped from the relief rolls and the balance will be transferred to rural rehabilitation division.

ADMINISTRATOR

mobile license plate plant at the Huntsville unit is the outstanding industrial achievement of the past year is another important step in the rebuilding of the inmate morale, reported the assistant general manager of the system.

Preparations started the latter part of 1933 with visits to plants in penal institutions and the commercial field. Plans and specifications were drawn up before the purchase of a modern gas oven, machines and materials. Actual work on the plates began in July, 1934.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VIEW OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

RUSSIA EXPORTS COTTON

While the Roosevelt administration is doing what it can to keep American growers from raising too much cotton, the Soviet Union is trying to encourage cotton production. Washington has paid bonuses to farmers willing to plow under the growing plant, has loaned money to planters who hold their cotton off the market and has enacted laws compelling growers to keep their production within certain limits. Moscow, on the other hand, is making liberal cash advances to its state and collective farms to increase their yield and is promising no less generous bonuses, in some cases three times the quoted price, to farms that exceed the average yield.

In consequence, the Russian crop, which amounted to approximately 1,250,000 tons last year, is expected to reach 1,500,000 tons or more this year. If the 1935 quota is filled, it will mean that Russia is adding to the world supply at least 1,000,000 bales of 500 pounds each. At the same time Secretary of Agriculture Wallace announces that the reduction in the American carry over for the current year will probably be 2,000,000 bales, half of which will be canceled by the increase in Russian output.

If all the cotton grown in the Soviet Union were to be consumed in that country, the augmented output here would have much less effect on the world market. But though the Russian cotton-goods factories have been greatly enlarged in the last year, it is doubtful that those factories will consume more than 750,000 tons of the current crop. This will probably leave, as Walter Duranty points out in a dispatch from Moscow, from 250,000 to 500,000 tons for export, or between 1,000,000 and 2,000,000 bales. These Russian exports will not be sold at a pegged price as is the case with American cotton and, therefore, they are much more likely to be absorbed in the world market than is our own staple.

It seems more than probable that a good part of this Russian export surplus will go to Germany in exchange for machinery, despite the present antagonism between the two countries. The Soviet Union, which already buys more from Germany than it sells would be ready to swap its cotton for Germany's machinery.

If this were to come about, it would take no prophet to see that our chance of reopening the Russian market to the products of our heavy industries and the German market to our cotton surplus would practically disappear.—Baltimore Sun.

A DEMOCRATIC KING

It is asking too much, probably, to expect Americans to be interested in the affairs of Siam or the recent abdication of King Prajadhipok. However, it may increase their intelligence to become acquainted with the reasons given by the diminutive king for his renunciation of his throne.

In June, 1932, the control of Siam was seized by a group, which demanded a constitutional monarchy. The King, "already in favor of this" consented to remain, with the understanding that a constitution would be established "so the people would have a right to have a voice in administration and in matters affecting the welfare of the people."

In the hope of "achieving stability" and effecting the change without "any upheaval" Prajadhipok held his office but became convinced that the present regime had no intention of making the promise good, he quit. That he is sincere must be admitted when he asks for no "disturbance in the country on my behalf" and insists that "if any one should use my name in this connection it must be understood that it would be without my agreement, approval or support."

Here is a picture of constitutional democracy, at a low ebb in the opinion of many dictators and people, defended by a man who was once a king with absolute powers!—Hugo Copy.

THE PARADE OF EVENTS

Time, like a fast moving train, through a countryside, brings a passing and changing view of things and life—and so does each day of every week of the year—events that have made headlines parade before our eyes like the passing objects on the roadside, mostly to be forgotten, but some events forever to be remembered.

One day it is a sea calamity, another it is some awful crime, a trial, or maybe an act of congress or a declaration of the president, a court decision, or a discovery, a theory or invention. Perhaps the event is the mere arrival of a tiny baby, and each and every item that attracts our attention makes some of us turn our eyes for a longer glance and for an expression of an "Oh," or "Ah." It's the ever passing things that go to make up the history of a community and a nation.

The parade of news is to some, nothing to be noticed, heeded or remembered. The same with some who pass the objects of life and action on the roadside—the fleeting fence posts, the trees, the valleys and homes and blue hills and rivers hold nothing to impress the minds.

The headlines of today are made history by tomorrow. But contrary, in one particular, news columns can be preserved for closer and deeper study, to better fix the beauty or the horror on memory's walls.—Hamlin Herald.

THEY WANT THE EARTH

The selfish interests are not satisfied with any plans looking to the social well-being of the masses. It might cost them something and that is reason enough on their part to view with alarm all proposals having at heart the purpose of making it so that every man, woman and child in this world might have some assurance of being able to enjoy the comforts and necessities of life.

It is true enough that there are men who were born with greater managing ability, and greater genius to earn and acquire than others. It is true some have better vision which enables them to figure out and acquire a finer standard for themselves than the average in the herd is able to have. But it is not true that the strongest intellectually should be allowed to pillage their less fortunate brothers to their selfish advantage.

The earth and the fullness thereof belong to the Lord. We have mighty good authority for that statement. Human beings on earth only have the privilege of using what they find in the way of lands, mines or other things. The right does not exist to take more than a just share, when to take it means to oppress and deprive some other human being.—Waco Record.

WILL FARM BUYING

POWER RISE FURTHER

The expansion in farm buying power was a very important factor in the improvement in business in general, and retail sales in particular, last year. The fact that mail order sales showed an especially pronounced increase reflected the rise in purchasing power of the agricultural population last year by 25 per cent over 1933 and 35 per cent over 1932, as reported by the bureau of agricultural economics.

Present indications, however, point to the likelihood that the upturn in farm buying power has now come to an end. The bureau estimates farm income for January, including benefit payments from the agricultural adjustment administration, of $498,000,000 a gain of 2.7 per cent over the same month in 1934. While livestock and livestock products yielded a return one-third larger than in January of last year, income from crops was approximately 20 per cent lower. Without the doubling in hog prices as compared with last January, therefore, agricultural income would have shown a severe decline during the first month of the current year. While the showing for the full year will not be known until the new crops are in, until then farm income probably will run on a

LAW ENFORCEMENT

The ranger raids, against lawless saloons, were, had been informed, promised by Governor Allred more than one occasion. He had law enforcement stressed in his gubernatorial campaign, but in his inaugural address he had delivered a plea for public support in enforcing the law. He had emphasized a preference that officers take affairs in their hands in their communities, had warned that the state intervene in the event they negligent or powerless to do. Consequently, despite the opposition of many local officials, intervention of state rangers state-wide drive was upon a program that was constantly publicized. And with respect to the ineffectiveness of local enforcement of public and gambling laws it should be reminded that the crime commission committee of the senate reported in January "our files reflect that flourishes usually with the knowledge and consent of local officials and in many the consent was obtained 'price.' Therefore, it is that if law enforcement were effected, state action would be effected. And particularly shed no tears for those places were raided. They are coming to them. Not only they operating in open violation of the state laws, and are hugely in the process, but had become arrogant and contemptuous of state authority, condemning them, however must condemn the public opinion which sustains them. It is extremely futile to consider public opinion. So what importance in any discussion the ranger raids is not that they were justified, but that they were effective. And if effective should be meant, conclusively the raids accomplished their immediate purposes, but how permanent be the results achieved.—Weekly.

CHINA—ROCKED BY

OUR SILVER

Silver senators of the States desiring no more on their great concern the sad fate of 1,000,000,000 in the Far East because of West's idolatry of gold, but to say these days silver mischief that folly has in China. Our silver has been continuously raising the value of the China dollar, but the money standard of our country, in their surplus for China and silver the Kings, Pittmans, Thomas Kings have brought a depression to half the billion of humanity for they wept, and have knocked out the silver in its only remaining place in the world. Our silver has caused a rise of silver money values with a consequent fall of prices of business in China. Many fail, banks suspend and close to vaults. Speculators grandly; the British owned kong and Shanghai bank reported to have made a profit of $60,000,000 on the silver overflows its storage fills those rented from low banks. In their distress Chinese turn to Japan for financing loan and turn against the nation that wrecked their economy for sake of a piffling domestic political sop to a handful of citizens. We are willing to join other powers in a loan, but the Japanese to make the loan, which no more than an extension of credit through which increase exports to China, consequently have no let of letting us help repair it. The congressional committee in making a few for themselves, and a little for their voters, upset hands in its plan to extend from the western shores of the Pacific.—The Magazine of Street.

Brownwood
Application has been made by the city of Brownwood for a 100-watt police radio station.
There were 42 more births and 46 less deaths last year than there were the preceding year, according to vital statistics for the city of Brownwood.
R. A. Bagley, 38, Brownwood, truck driver, was killed at 5 a. m Wednesday morning, when his truck collided with an automobile near Midland.

He will leave Sunday for Fort Worth, where he is to carry on evangelistic work in the First Baptist church.
Brownwood has received its first installment of an allotment from funds deposited in the state treasury by the Texas Horse Racing commission. The warrant was for $200. Counties are to share equally in excess funds after commission expenses are paid and after 25 per cent of the remainder has been allotted to the public school funds and the commissioner of agriculture respectively.
Two Brownwood establish- ments were entered by burglars Saturday night. A total of $15 was taken from a safe at Weatherby Motor company. Burglars broke into a side door of the building and knocked the knobs off two safes and a vault. They were unable to open a safe inside the vault, although they knocked the knob off it. The safe at Brownwood Lumber company office was opened, but it had been left empty Saturday after- noon. Nothing was taken from the office.—Banner

Lampasas
John H. Allen was a business visitor Monday in Austin.
Lampasas county corn-hog contract signers met at the court house Saturday afternoon for the purpose of organizing a county control association.
The Rollins-Brook hospital is practically completed and will be ready for use as soon as some of the delayed equipment is re- ceived.
Information given by John H. Allen, county administrator for Lampasas, shows that in the past two weeks five new projects have been approved and approval granted the extension of three others.
The past two weeks have seen the workers in the sewing room of the local relief office complete 584 garments, 58 comforters and 28 pairs of overalls. This brings totals of 5155 garments, 214 overalls and 406 comforters.
Starting Tuesday morning, 24 extra people were on the payroll here to carry on the work connected with the egg breaking plant. Up till Tuesday the number had been kept down to only ten breakers and a correspond- ing number for the other work.
The emergency drouth relief cattle program accounted for 6718 cattle being shipped from this county. Of this total 5899 cattle and 819 calves, 6108 came from this county, while 610 were from Burnet county, brought here for shipment.
A program of trade expansion was heartily endorsed by a large group of Lampasas merchants, who met in the city hall Tues- day night at the call of the di- rectors of the chamber of com- merce. The call was made be- cause of that proposition being suggested by so many merchants on a questionnaire sent out last week. There were about sixty merchants of the city present at the meeting.—Record

AID FOR FARM DOLLAR
American industry must in- crease production by 50 per cent and reduce prices in order to pull both industry and agriculture out of the depression. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace told congress in connection with the current appropriation bill for his department, as stated by the Industrial News.
While no direct mention was made of these bills, the statement by Secretary Wallace was accepted by many close observers as a sharp blow from admin- istration quarters to the Black 30-hour week bill and the Wagner labor disputes bill, both of which would tend to reduce in- dustrial production and increase costs.
The agriculture secretary's report was made public when the appropriation bill came out of committee, and created intense interest because it indicated a sharp change in administration policies from "scarcity economy" to "abundance economy."
"We have reached the conclu- sion that further action along the line of reducing production will not greatly increase the farmer's share in the national income," said Secretary Wallace. "To carry the production below the present point would begin to reduce the quantity of the stuff available for the people in this country."
He advocated an increase in factory production of 50 per cent at definitely lower prices for the specific double-purpose of speed- ing industrial recovery and mak- ing it possible "for the farmer to buy more with the agricul- tural dollar." Secretary Wallace emphasized that more work in factories would place more city workers on regular payrolls, and that farmers would receive cor- responding benefits, indirectly through lower prices of what they buy. This is almost identi- cal with industry's position in urging restoration of the farm market.
Virtually admitting that the much-sought "parity" prices might not be obtained by con- tinuation of the present crop re- striction policy, Secretary Wal- lace told the house subcommit- tee considering his bill:
"With the powers now exist- ing, it is doubtful if you could use the processing tax fully and attain parity, for the closer you get to parity the smaller the pro- cessing tax and, therefore, the less incentive you can give to the farmer to hold down produc- tion."
The secretary of agriculture is recognized as a member of the "High Command" of the new deal, one of the president's closest advisers and his latest dis- closure of policy to congress was readily accepted as backed by highest authority.
Congressional leaders were quick to observe that his appeal for more factory production was not encumbered by any recom- mendation that industry be sub- jected to a 30-hour week, or any other limitation of hours by stat- ute, or to any new laws govern- ing relations between employers and employes such as would be injected by the Wagner bill.
"Increased production at low- er prices is a prerequisite to in- dustrial recovery," said Secre- tary Wallace — indicating that the death knell is being sounded by scarcity."—Industrial News

ACCIDENT CONTROL
The worst accident casualty toll ever experienced in the United States was recorded last year, when 36,000 persons were killed and nearly a million injured as a result of 882,000 personal in- jury collisions on streets and highways.
Altho practically two-thirds of the accidents involved driving errors, pedestrians paid the highest price in the loss of life as shown by the death of nearly 16,000, or 44 per cent of the total fatalities.
Detailed statistics giving the circumstances of the accidents as tabulated show that the coun- try's adverse experience was not due solely to an increase in the use of motor vehicles. Deaths gained 16 per cent as against an increase of between 5 and 6 per cent in registrations and 6 per cent in gasoline consumption. In this connection the analysis points out that in 1931, the previous high record in deaths, registrations were 3 per cent greater and gasoline consumption nearly one per cent more than in 1934, while fatalities in 1931 were almost 8 per cent less than last year.
Too much speed for time and place is cited as the dominant factor in the greater seriousness of automobile accidents last year. As an example of the extreme hazard produced by driving too fast, the rate of death per ac- cident because of exceeding the speed limit was 40 per cent worse last year than the average of all accidents involving driving er- rors.
Available records for the year show that 3.16 per cent of the drivers in accidents were declar- ed to have been under the influ- ence of intoxicants as against 2.43 per cent in 1933, an increase of one-third. The available re- cords also show that 4.47 per cent of the pedestrians in accidents were declared to have been under the influence of intoxicants as against 2.99 per cent in 1933 an increase of 49.5.
Five out of every eight pedes- trians killed, according to the statistics, were involved in ac- cidents while crossing streets in the middle of the block, crossing intersections against signals or diagonally, darting out into the street from behind parked cars or while walking along rural highways. The rate of death per pedestrian accident was 45 per cent worse crossing in the middle of the block than at inter- sections. The rate of death cross- ing against signals was 74 per cent worse than crossing with signals.
Nearly 1,500 children under the age of four were killed and 39,000 were injured in automobile accidents during the year, while 3,800 between the ages of five and fourteen met death and 143,000 were injured.
Despite figures indicating that nine out of ten cars involved in accidents were apparently in good condition, three out of every four cars examined in in- spections were found to be in poor or bad mechanical condi- tion. According to the inspec- tions, 2 per cent of the cars re- quired brake replacement or ad- justment, tires were in only fair or poor condition on 56 per cent and lamps required replacement or adjustment in 63 per cent of the cars.
Although 38 per cent of the 882,000 personal-injury automo- bile accidents occurred at street intersections, by far the largest number of death resulted from accidents that happened on the highways.
The rate of death per accident on highways was more than 100 per cent greater than the average for all accidents combined, the seriousness of such accidents being attributed to the rate of speed that usually prevails. As a further indication that speed is a hazardous factor, it is pointed out that the rate of death per accident between intersections was 52 per cent worse than at intersections.
Accidents on Saturdays and Sundays resulted in four out of every ten deaths. The record was the worst on Sundays, however, as the death rate per accident on that day throughout the year was 18 per cent in excess of the average. On Saturdays the rate of death was only 3 per cent more than the average.
A most serious aspect of the automobile accident problem that has been in evidence a number of years and which con- tinued to be bad last year was the great number of fatal acci-

The change was made, he says, because he figured punching cows in Arizona would not be any more crooked than railroading in Colorado in 1910.
I was firing old No. 13 from Chama, N. M., to Alamosa, Colo., over the Cambros pass, where the roadbed was so crooked we had to have hinges on the sides of the engine so it could make the turns. Lots of time on short turns I threw coal in the head- light by mistake—it was so close to the firebox. We used to hand our 'baccer around the train in the same way. Frank Benton, the conductor, sitting in the cab- oose, would bum a chaw off of me in the cab and on the next turn he'd hand it back.
The Big Horn loop was just one mile around, making a com- plete circle and crossing itself. One day our train was so long the engine had gone around the circle and was at the crossing when only two-thirds of the train had circled. So we had to wait 24 minutes for the other third to come around. That made us 24 minutes late in Alamosa, which we had to make up com- ing back the next day.
On another trip we had a run- away going off the pass. At that moment we were 30 miles from Antonito when we hit the great San Luis valley. Sopey Smith, the engineer, pulled the whistle, but before it sounded, we were seven miles beyond, just pulling into Conejos. Usually, on ac- count of the towns being so close, we had to back up at Antonito to whistle for Conejos.
Once we were called out to make a run at 2 a. m., and only having 30 minutes to fire up I put on my best. When Sopey came to the roundhouse four minutes before we were to start, he looked at the steam gauge and saw the hand at 40. Well, like all engineers he bucked and snorted, but you should have seen the expression on his face when I told him the hand in the gauge had already made three rounds.—Pathfinder

Spring Tonics. — Hudson Bros.
Everett Faulkner visited his son in Abilene Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Nisbet of Pleasant Grove visited his mother Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Frazier of Brownwood spent the week end with their parents.

Wallace Allen Johnson visited the fat stock show at Fort Worth Sunday and visited in Dallas on Monday.

It pays to patronize your home dealers and home enterprise of every kind.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Slack of Abilene spent the week end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. D. Berry, and other relatives.

Poultry Remedies — Hudson Brothers.

Rev. R. E. Duke and wife, Mrs. Eli Fairman, Mrs. C. H. Ford and Mrs. R. M. Thompson attended the Missionary society Zone meeting in Lampasas Tuesday.

Mrs. T. S. Gerald, mother of Judge R. J. Gerald, has been quite sick in the family home this week and several members of the family have been constantly at her bedside. She was reported somewhat improved yesterday.

Alvin Priddy and wife of Pendleton and Virgil Priddy and wife of Valley Mills were called here this week to attend the funeral of their uncle, Mr. J. F. Priddy, and spent a short time in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Priddy.

Four students from Goldthwaite are listed on the honor roll for the first preliminary of the second semester at John Arleton college, according to a report from the registrar's office. Those students listed are Wilma Cleo Black, Mordine and Marine Brown and Veona Flatt.

Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Littlepage were called to El Dorado last Sunday to attend the funeral of James Elwert Tisdale, a relative of Mr. Littlepage and a grandson of the late Mr. Phil McCormick, who formerly lived in this county. The young man, who was 14 years of age, died at El Dorado last Saturday, after a short illness.

Mighty few towns can show as much improvement as is indicated around Goldthwaite. New brick and frame residences, new garages, lots of new cars, street paving and then on and on.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. J. T. Bledsoe and family, including the sons and daughters and their families announce to their friends in Goldthwaite, Big Valley and elsewhere their sincere and lasting appreciation for the great kindness and sympathy shown them in their recent bereavement. Every kindness was shown them and they are grateful for it all. The beautiful music and other preparations for the funeral services in the Goldthwaite Baptist church, the arrangements and kind attention and assistance at the cemetery at Big Valley and all other thoughtfulness and acts of sympathy was appreciated by them all.

CARD OF THANKS

The members of the Livingston family desire to express their sincere thanks to their friends who were so kind and helpful during the illness of Mr. Livingston and who helped to make his last days pleasant. They feel that his friends are their friends and they appreciate them to the fullest. The flowers for the home and the cemetery were also greatly appreciated by every member of the family.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our sincere thanks to all the loving friends who so kindly came to our relief in our great sorrow. May the Lord's richest blessings abide with you.

CENTER POINT

There was Sunday school and preaching Sunday morning and singing Sunday night. Bro. Joe Benningfield preached Sunday morning.

Little Miss Patsy Nelle Taylor the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Taylor, was carried to Brownwood last week. They brought her home Sunday. She is improving. It is hoped that Patsy will soon recover.

Miss Adeline Spinks is visiting her brother, Carl, and wife at Burnet this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hammond and family spent a pleasant day with her mother, Mrs. Kate Shelton, Tuesday.

The following visited in the James D. Fallon home Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Mark Fallon of Kempner, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Brim, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Faulkner and family and Anderson Shelton.

Lloyd Allen and Julia Dee Fallon visited Mrs. Florence Conner and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Taylor Sunday night.

The death angel visited in our community and called the infant twin son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Truitt. Royce was about two months old. He and his sister had a bad attack of pneumonia. They were rushed to the hospital at Brownwood, but it was too late to save the tiny life of little Royce. He was put away Sunday afternoon in the Pecan Wells cemetery. Bro. Newton held the funeral service. All of our sympathy goes to this bereaved family and relatives. Little Joyce is better at this writing and has a good promise of recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Harmon and family visited Aley Utzman in a Brownwood hospital last Wednesday.

The quilting club met with Mrs. James D. Fallon and daughters last Thursday. They quilted on a quilt. Everyone seemed to have had a nice time. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Omer Hill, April 5. Every club member must be present. We were very glad to have Mrs. Fanny Brim of near town and Mrs. Barbara Allen and Mrs. Guess of Hamilton with us. We all hope they will attend another meeting soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Hill of South Bennett spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Truitt had relatives from Caradan Sunday. The party was enjoyed by a large crowd in the Fallon home Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Harmon and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Carl Spinks of Burnet Sunday.

Mrs. Verne French had relatives visiting her Sunday.

George Hammond and family visited Mr. Hammond's mother at Lampasas Sunday. His mother returned home with them for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jarrett and Elton and Bonnie visited in the Joe Ratliff home near Mullin Sunday. They reported having a good time, and also enjoyed several baseball games in the afternoon at Mullin, between the men and boys of the community.

As I finish this letter we have another sand storm over us. Are you not glad to live in dear old Mills county instead of west Texas. OLIVE OIL

Old Citizens Pass Away

Mills county has lost several old and honored citizens this week. The truth of the adage that while young people may die the old must die has been brought home to the people of this county in an unusually clear manner this week.

H. M. CRYER

Mr. H. M. Cryer, aged 77, died at his home in the southern suburbs of this city Monday evening at 8 o'clock, after a long illness. His health had not been good for a number of years, but for the last two or three years he had not been active in business affairs and for several months prior to his death he was confined to his home.

Mr. Cryer was a member of one of the pioneer families of this county. They located in the section now known as Lake Merritt and the community bore the family name, as did the school, for a long time.

Mr. Cryer is survived by his wife, four sons and two daughters. His sons are Cecil and Henry, Jr., both of Temple; Tom and Raymond of this city and his two daughters are Mrs. Joe Sparkman and Miss Barbara Cryer of Goldthwaite.

Funeral services were held at the family home Tuesday afternoon and burial was made in the cemetery at this place. A large number of friends of the deceased gentleman and his bereaved family attended the funeral.

JOHN F. PRIDDY

Mr. John F. Priddy, aged 76, passed away at his family home at Priddy Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock, and funeral services were held at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon in the Baptist church at Priddy, conducted by Rev. Gordon Barrett of Comanche and interment was made in the Priddy cemetery, the sad service being attended by a large congregation of relatives and friends of that community and other sections.

Mr. Priddy was reared in that community where his death occurred, his father having located in that community while it was yet included in Hamilton county. A part of his early childhood was spent at Maxdale, Bell county. He was a son of the late Rev. T. J. Priddy and wife and the town of Priddy was named for that family. He was married in 1890 to Miss Mollie Cunningham of Comanche county, and she with five sons survives him. His sons are: Arthur Priddy, Bangs; James Priddy, Huntington, Cal.; Wright, Hobart and Ray Priddy of Priddy.

Mr. Priddy was a consistent member of the Baptist church and all who knew him recognized him as one of the best men of our county. He had a great many friends in his home community and elsewhere, all of whom were grieved when his death occurred.

Besides his wife and children, he is survived by one sister, Mrs. Yoes, of Tuscola, and four brothers, T. R. Priddy of Priddy, J. D. and E. O. Priddy, Goldthwaite; A. J. Priddy of Brady, all of whom were present at the funeral.

J. S. LIVINGSTON

Mr. Jas. S. Livingston, aged 87, died in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Eacott in this city Tuesday afternoon and his remains were interred in the cemetery at Center City, by the side of the grave of his wife, who preceded him in death by a good many years. The Masonic fraternity, of which order he had long been a member of high standing, had charge of the burial services.

Mr. Livingston was a life-long resident of Mills county section. He was a son of the lamented Mr. Wint Livingston and was reared in the Priddy vicinity. He made his home at Center City for a good many years and engaged in farming and stock raising. He also lived at Star, later locating in Goldthwaite, where he was at one time engaged in the grocery business. The last several years he had not been active in business of any kind, but usually spent the spring and summer here and the winter in eastern Texas, in the home of his son.

He became ill soon after returning to Liberty last fall. His condition did not improve there and he was brought back to Goldthwaite, at his own request, relatives hoping the change

LAKE MERRITT

The Happy Hour club members entertained their families with a chicken stew Saturday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Sanderson. After everyone finished eating, a pleasant hour was spent playing 42 and other games.
