Community had a light Monday night. Still more for the farmers to planting and to bring has been planted up.

Methodist Notes

Day by day the new church is nearing completion. The auditorium shows, even at this time, that it is to be one of the most beautiful and appropriate to be found anywhere among the smaller churches in this section.

Street Paving Going Forward

The city's street paving activities are going forward at a rapid rate and already much improvement is noted, while the hard-surfacing has not yet begun.

Sewerage System Being Installed

A large force of men commenced work on the sewerage system Monday and rapid progress is being made. It is thought the work will be completed and the system installed in approximately six months.

Local Postoffice Goes Second Class

Official notice has been received here that effective July 1, the Goldthwaite postoffice will be advanced from third class to second class.

Baptist Reminder

Sunday morning I will begin my fourth year's work in the local church here. The three years just past have been most pleasant and inspiring.

Schubert Club Entertains At Lake

The Schubert club honored Miss Ruby Lee Dickerson, club member and bride of the week, with a progressive supper at the Lake Thursday, May 14, at 7:30 o'clock.

Mount Olive Singing Date

Next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 is our regular singing day. We have plenty of books, so please come and help us sing. A song is a wonderful tonic.

Short Local Items

Mrs. O. H. Yarborough was reported to be seriously sick at her home yesterday. Sheriff J. H. Harris attended the State Sheriff's convention in San Angelo the first of the week.

Pretty Home Wedding

The marriage of Miss Ruby Lee Dickerson to Mr. Jack Edgar Kilgore of Luling was solemnized Saturday at twilight at the home of the bride's parents.

Priddy High School

Senior graduation exercise Friday night, May 29, 1936, at 8 o'clock: Invocation—Miss Nita Swindle; Song—Glee club; Salutatory—Lillie Henkes; Class History—Ethel Hohertz; Class Will—Lester Farrar; Class Prophecy—Erna Kluge; Co-valedictory—Irene Gromatzky and Louise Koch.

Receives B. A. Degree

Boyer R. Swindle, son of Superintendent and Mrs. Oscar Swindle of Priddy, was one among the class of 465 graduates who received their B. A. degree at Howard Payne college Tuesday, May 19.

Forming Ballots

The proposed constitutional amendment setting up a state liquor monopoly system will have the first place on the ballot among the six to be voted on in the November general election.

Senior Honors Being Planned

A report from Baylor college, Belton, says: Formally accepting the responsibilities of a college senior, Miss Virginia Bowman, Goldthwaite, is one of the juniors who will be robed by the seniors in class day exercises at Mary Hardin-Baylor, Saturday afternoon.

Methodist Notes

The pastor and his wife have not yet returned from their vacation, and if any one has heard from them since they left I have not heard of it.

Short Local Items

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Randolph have been in Belton, Troy and other places in that section this week, visiting relatives.

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

Mrs. L. R. Conro visited relatives in Mullin Monday.

Mrs. Kelly Saylor and Miss Lucile Conro spent Monday in Brownwood.

Marvin Rudd and family visited relatives and friends in Eastland Sunday.

Misses Gertrude and Vera Frye are visiting home folk in Coparas Cove.

Mrs. Dunn of Gainesville was a visitor in the Grover Dalton home last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Priddy visited their son, Alvin, and wife in Valley Mills last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Culwell and daughter, Miss Hazel, visited relatives in Buffalo Gap Sunday.

Geraldine Davee is here from Hobbs, N. M., visiting her grandparents, Mr and Mrs. Jess Davee.

Prof. Parker of the Mullin high school was an appreciated caller at the Eagle office Saturday.

Bert Patterson, who is a student in John Tarleton college, came home last Friday for a week-end visit.

There is to be a live stock show at Long Cove next Friday and several premiums are offered for the best exhibits.

Mmes. J. H. Randolph, J. A. Hester, R. M. Thompson and Miss Lottie Bell Hester spent last Friday in Brownwood.

Miss Ima Lois Bayley returned Saturday afternoon from Colorado, Texas, where she spent several days with friends.

Henry Cryer and wife of Temple, Ernest Obenhaus and wife, Deward Howard and wife spent last week-end with their parents.

R. F. Swindle, a leading citizen of the Priddy community, looked after business in the county capital Monday and met some of his friends.

Mrs. Mavis Tappero of Hollywood, Cal., and Miss Jemmie Reynolds of Dallas were here for the closing exercises of the school and to visit in the Walter Reynolds home in Caradan.

The Eagle is prepared to do job printing of every kind and always appreciates an opportunity to quote prices on anything in the printing line.

E. J. Ward was in from his San Saba Peak ranch Saturday and reported several of his sheep having been killed by lightning. Grass is coming good since the recent rains and the outlook is encouraging.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Johnston returned Monday from a visit to relatives in Lexington, Texas, and attending the school closing exercises at that place, where their grand daughter was one of the graduates.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Mavis and little son of Shreveport, La., came over last week-end for a visit in the Walter Reynolds home and to be present at the baccalaureate sermon and school closing exercises.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Skaggs of Winters visited Superintendent and Mrs. A. H. Smith and family and other friends in this city Saturday. They went from here to Lampasas for a visit, but promised to return to Goldthwaite for the dedication of the new Methodist church.

The magazine issued for the Golden Jubilee convention of the Texas Lumbermen's association, recently held in Waco, carries a good likeness of Mr. J. H. Randolph of this city and contains a nice write-up of his connection with the association and his other business and civic activities.

The Eagle appreciates communications and items of public interest, but they must be for the current issue—not forgotten items sent in after one or more issue dates have passed.

AIR AND SEA LINERS

In view of the regular service that the old Graf Zeppelin has maintained in 107 crossings between Europe and South America, it is not too much to expect equal success on the northern route during the late spring, summer and early fall. In fact, twenty crossings are now scheduled for the Hindenburg between now and October 14. The Zeppelin officials have specifically denied any intention to race the Queen Mary when she sails on her maiden voyage on May 27, but it is only natural that comparison will be made as to speed, comfort and the like. The present steamship record for the Atlantic crossing is held by the Normandie, based on its run last year between Southampton and New York in 4 days, 11 hours, 52 minutes. Because of ice and fog conditions off the Grand Banks at this time of year no attempt at a new record will be made by the Queen Mary on her first voyage. It is expected she will average about 29 knots. Her commander estimates that to better the Normandie's record it will be necessary to average 32 knots. Although the Cunard-White Star officials have withheld predictions as to the Queen Mary's speed possibilities, shipping experts seem to feel it is likely to capture the mythical blue ribbon of the Atlantic before summer is over. Dr. Eckner is supposed to have profited by the American navy's tragic experience with the Macon and the fact that the Hindenburg sailed with its full quota of fifty-one passengers indicates the complete confidence which is reposed in her by the traveling public. There should, however, be ample room for both steamship and dirigible—and even the contemplated heavier-than-air service across the Atlantic.—Brooklyn Eagle.

HOMER AND HELEN

Really, something should be done about it. After fussing about and excavating layers and layers of the debris of ancient civilizations, erudite archeologists now tell us that Helen of Troy didn't elope with Paris.

Unkindest of all, the "too beautiful Helen" wasn't at the bottom of the unpleasantness between the Trojans and the Greeks. Because there never was such a lady. These learned professors say she is only a myth. Shattered, and gone the way of all the other illusions perdues, is the spectacle of the fair and flirtatious Helen, repentant of her fickleness, turning to domesticity and a spinning wheel (the latter had to be golden, of course).

Homer certainly does not. Consider, for instance, that other awful faux pas about the invulnerability of Achilles. You remember that no matter how wide open he left himself he never had to take the count. He might stay down till the referee counted nine, but he was up before he got to ten, until one sad day Paris, unfairly abetted by Apollo, who was acting umpire, jabbed him on the heel. And to think of the generations of schoolboys who have groaned over weary pages of Greek only to find out that all that stuff about his being invulnerable just wasn't so; for if the author of the "Iliad" and the "Odyssey" were consistent, why did Achilles refuse to enter into any little scrap until he was all wrapped up in celestial armor?

For our part, we intend to go right on believing that the lovely Helen was a joyous maiden who was careless about how many fraternity pins she collected from Greek and Trojan collegians alike, just as we believe in the wooden horse that ambled into Troy and are certain that Cleopatra's nose was of just proper length.—Christian Science Monitor.

SHROPSHIRE LAD PASSES

Quality counts more than quantity in poetry, as in other things. Most of our greater poets, to be sure—Dryden, Byron and Browning, for example—have been voluminous writers; but even they have excess baggage. A notable instance is Wordsworth, who wrote "such hopeless rubbish at his worst," and whom Matthew Arnold, himself a Wordsworthian, edited to the confines of a single comparatively small volume. A. E. Housman was one of those who need no editing. The compass of his work is small at best, but not a line of it could be spared. No one, save perhaps Landor, could say so much in so little. There are minor poets who achieved something near perfection—Lovelace and Herrick among them. What they did occasionally Hausman did all the time. No one can wish, as Johnson did of Shakespeare, that he had blotted a thousand lines. The anthologists have not so far been just to the creator of "A Shropshire Lad." He is not represented either in "The Oxford Book of English Verse" or in "The Golden Treasury," being, in fact, little known when the last editions were published. But now at his death his fame is secure. It may be that his audience will always be fit though few. He was not for all markets. There was a certain acrid pessimism in many of his poems for which public taste has to be cultivated. That his fame will increase with the years can not be doubted. No more powerful writer in his own meter has been seen in our day.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Try CARDUI For Functional Monthly Pains

Women from the 'teen age to the change of life have found Cardui genuinely helpful for the relief of functional monthly pains due to lack of just the right strength from the food they eat. Mrs. Crit Haynes, of Essex, Mo., writes: "I used Cardui when a girl for cramps and found it very beneficial. I have recently taken Cardui during the change of life. I was very nervous, had head and back pains and was in a generally run-down condition. Cardui has helped me greatly."

THE MAYFIELD METHOD

A new movement in education, which is attracting much favorable comment from far and near, is of particular interest to residents of Goldthwaite. For the originator of the Mayfield method of secondary education is none other than Mr. R. H. Mayfield, who for several years was the popular athletic coach and science teacher in the Goldthwaite high school; and is now superintendent of schools at Hutto, Texas.

An interesting outline of his system appeared in a recent number of The Texas Outlook, the official teacher publication of Texas; a Sunday feature article on the vocational agricultural project, the first in the nation to receive federal aid, was published in the Houston Chronicle; the World Book Encyclopedia is devoting considerable space to it in its new edition; and a regional conference of teachers from a dozen southern states gave the plan their enthusiastic approval at their convention in New Orleans in April.

The keynote of his method as expressed by Superintendent Mayfield, is to teach nothing that cannot be put into practice for the betterment of the child's life. To accomplish this efficiently, the time honored classes in 'reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic have been recast. Reading, writing, spelling and literature compose one class which is studied as one subject, precisely as it will be used by the child in after life. General science and its various subdivisions of physics, chemistry, botany and biology is aptly termed Farm and Home science. It includes such diverse projects as home beautification by the transplanting of native flowers and shrubs, analysis of the water used in the pupils' own homes, mosquito control and the visiting and studying of city industrial plants for a better understanding of what becomes of farm products after they go to market and to learn where "store bought" goods originate.

The results of this new educational method, as evidenced after two years of experiment and trial, are amazing. Children and teachers alike find the work more interesting since its practical aspects have been emphasized. Pupils by putting into practice much of what they learn are

DWARFING THE WORLD

One of the greatest triumphs of modern science has just been scored in the round-trip passage of the Atlantic by the great Zeppelin Hindenburg.

The fact that passengers have been carried, in comfort and safety, a distance of 4,168 miles, over land and ocean, in 49 hours, would stir worldwide amazement in any age not so accustomed to marvels as our own.

Most Americans, while interested, will expect still greater accomplishments tomorrow. These probably will come. Apparently we now have reason to expect the early establishment of a regular transatlantic air service.

The prospect points us to the increasing smallness of the earth. People once remote from one another are now pressed close together. Cities and nations once protected from possible enemies by distance no longer know such safeguard.

We are again forcibly reminded that the world has been knit together much more rapidly than people of the world have learned to live together.—Houston Chronicle.

retaining more from one grade to the next, and presumably will retain more after they leave school. Home work, in the usual meaning of drudgery over text books has been practically eliminated, but enough projects requiring home work are used to keep the children reasonably occupied. Failures have been reduced remarkably, an indisputable evidence of the greater interest aroused by the work. Parents are delighted and enthusiastic in their praise of the plan.

Several prominent educators have freely predicted a bright future for the man who has developed the new system. Consequently friends of Professor Mayfield here may take pardonable pride in discussing his achievements and adding, "I knew him when." XX

OF THE CLASS OF '36

Friday I decided that I visit the crystal gazer and very pleasant hour look- over the history of the and glorious senior class of the crystal gazer looked at sharply, muttered some words, and passed her over the great crystal ball. figures in the crystal were shadowy and indistinct. they became recogniz- the time was 1925. The little girls were Allen, Mary Clements, Martin, Juanita Rudd, Stephens and Florine. Miss Irma Harrison was teacher. shadow passed over the little when it lifted, there two more that I recognized. the little Connie Saylor, San Saba, the other was Hereford. This was their second year in school. They were now attending the old rock grammar school. These nine little folks were the pride and joy of Miss Gladys Bennett, their teacher.

The next scene was a picture of the third grade. There were three very small and frightened little girls, who had just been double promoted from the first grade. They were Mary Margaret Bigham, Clara Bowman and Sarah Fairman. The teachers of these twelve little folk were Miss Ellen Archer, Miss Vera Berry and Miss Alta Kemper. The out-standing event of the year was a circus, in which Miss Archer was the director and the children were the animals.

There were no new faces in the next scene; but the children had all grown. Their teachers were Mrs. Bob Steen, Miss Inez Parker, Mrs. Bigham, Miss Patterson and Mrs. Saylor.

In the fifth grade the pupils were the same, but they attended school in the new brick building. Their teachers were Mrs. Bigham, Mrs. Saylor and Miss Patterson.

The sixth scene was composed of the same personnel, but the young students were now in junior high school. They sat in the study hall of the new building. The teachers were Miss Archer, Miss Myrna Miller and Mrs. Joe Palmer.

The next scene was a picture of the seventh grade. Willie Faye Gray was with the others. The teachers were the same as the year before.

By this time the boys and girls were in the eighth grade. They were still in junior high, but their teachers, Miss Campbell, Miss Brim, Miss Gatlin and Miss Kerfoot, were high school teachers. Lois Berry, Fred Soules and Kenneth Cockrum now belonged to the class.

A rather heavy shadow passed over the picture. It marked a great change. The group now went to school in the high school building. The new members in the sophomore class were Virginia Womack, from Ballinger; Daphne Reynolds and Jack Burns.

The junior class of '35 was the forerunner of the great class it was to become. The new members were Irene Ray and Novaleen Berry. The teachers were: Mr. Cloninger, Miss Cox, Miss Gatlin, Mrs. Barnett, Mrs. Little and Mr. Watson.

Then came the senior class of '36! There were man new faces: Carlyle Stark, Glyn Walton, Alvin Guess, Eva Koen, Vera Koen, Maxine Geeslin, Joe Carter, Raymond Tubbs, Thomas Tubbs, Gwendolyn Hill, Catherine Crook, Dorman Dupuy and Alison Peck. Mr. Stephens was added to the group of teachers of the year before.

A final glimmering wiped all the scenes from the ball. A question mark appeared to indicate that the future was unknown.

I begged to see more. The woman shook her head, but finally she yielded to my eager pleas and showed me the attainments of the older members of the class, one by one.

Following is a list of the attainments of the members of the class that have been in G. H. S. two years or more:

- Allen, Evelyn—Noted for good nature and interest in typing and bookkeeping.
- Berry, Lois—Noted for friendliness and for being one of the "little big" seniors.
- Berry, Novaleen—Most industrious girl.
- Bigham, Mary Margaret—High soprano in trio of '35; solo contestant of '36; in senior piano recital; member of glee club.
- Bowman, Clara—Piano winner of '35 and '36; in senior piano recital; reporter of glee club of '36; debate winner; valedictorian.
- Clements, Mary—Reporter of sophomore class of '34; vice-president of junior class of '35; duchess of '35! reporter of pep squad of '35; assistant editor of '36! member of glee club; high soprano in trio of '36.
- Cockrum, Kenneth and Hereford, Doris—Noted for longest and most famous romance in high school.
- Fairman, Sarah—Editor of High School Herald of '36; secretary of glee club of '36; second soprano in trio of '36! in senior piano recital; essay and latin winner; valedictorian.

10. Gray, Willie Faye—Assistant pep leader of '34; pep leader of '35; hallow'en queen of '35; reporter of Spanish club of '36.

EAGLES END SPRING GRID

Last Thursday the Eagles ended their spring grid practice, which has been going on three weeks. The team for next year beat the team of 1935 24-6. S. Faulkner, G. Armstrong, J. D. McKinzie and Al Langford made touchdowns for the 1936 team. V. L. Doggett made his team its only touchdown. Outstanding players in spring practice were J. D. McKinzie, S. Faulkner, G. Boland, F. McKinzie, A. Langford, F. Marshall, T. Berry and Payne Cauffman.

Goldthwaite will be in a new district next year. The first conference game will be September 18, with Fredericksburg in Goldthwaite. If nothing happens, prospects will look good next year, with seven letter men back. A new district, and possibilities of a new football field. Things look a lot better than usual.

ABSENTEE AND TARDY REPORT FOR LAST SIX WEEKS

Pupils missed 428 days during the last six week period, due to the following causes: Work, 112 days; sickness, 174 days; weather, 28 days; missed bus, 9 days; attended funerals, 12 days; miscellaneous, 93 days.

Although 428 days seems too high for absence, yet when it is recalled that we had a possible 5,100 days of attendance during the period it is observed that the percentage of non-attendance is low.

News In Brief

The 1936 farmers' short course has been designated at the centennial short course and will open at A. & M. college July 20 and run through July 24.

A thousand students, members of the faculty and parents and visitors witnessed a Texas centennial pageant staged at the athletic field of John Tarleton agricultural college Saturday night.

President Roosevelt has signed into law the $572,450,000 supply bill to carry on the activities of the war department in the fiscal year beginning July 1. This is the largest peacetime appropriation for the nation's land forces.

More than 7,000 farmers and stockmen in Texas borrowed more than $5,000,000 during the first four months of the year, in order to finance their 1936 crop and livestock operations on a cash basis, a release from the farm credit administration office shows.

A highly decorated saddle, which may have been Santa Anna's in the Mexican campaign against Texans in 1836, is ready for display in the University centennial exposition this summer at Austin. The saddle is the property of the University.

State highway department maintenance crews Saturday started tearing down all candidate placards from posts and poles along state highways, under the law which prohibits the display of any advertising matter on rights of way of the state.

Texas, with $136,019,144.62 in rental and benefit payments, received more money than any other state from the agricultural adjustment administration from May 12, 1933, through March, 1936, latest reports by the department of agriculture show. Nearest state to Texas was Iowa.

Four charges of unlawfully operating as an employment agent were filed Saturday against a man in Dallas in connection with the alleged mulcting of more than 100 Dallas girls of $1 to $10 registration fees, for employment as guides and hostesses at the centennial exposition.

Two German military planes, flying in formation during maneuvers, collided and crashed to the ground, killing one civilian. The pilots of both planes leaped to safety with parachutes, but one of the ships crashed through the roof of a farmhouse at Kriftel, near Frankfurt on the Main, Germany, killing a woman.

John Freeland, 91, present at the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln, died suddenly at his home near Rising Star Saturday. Freeland was a butcher's apprentice at Washington when the president was shot. He played bit parts occasionally in the theater where the assassination occurred. He had lived in Eastland county thirty-seven years.

United States and other foreign diplomats have begun a study of the serious situation arising from Japan's strengthening of its North China garrisons, which caused the Nanking government to protest to Tokio. Diplomats pointed out the Boxer protocol, concluded after the Chinese uprising of 1900, permitted Japan and other signatories to bring in only protective forces.

The long arm of the federal government has reached out to smash the protectors and hangers-on of the shattered Karpis-Barker gang of murderers and kidnapers, indicating swift grand jury action against associates of the mob in Toledo, Cleveland and New Orleans. Copies of bench warrants on which Alvin Karpis and Harry Campbell were arrested were mailed to the cities involved. The G-men plan to strike a deadly blow at those who harbored Karpis and Campbell.

Governor Allred and Orville Carpenter, chairman of the Texas pension board, left Fort Worth Saturday night by plane for Washington for a conference with officials there concerning the pension administration in Texas and the operation of the social security board in this state.

A report from Henderson, Texas, Saturday said: Mrs. Tennie Crews, arrested near Fort Worth, and Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Hardin, taken to Fort Worth from Hamilton county Thursday night, were free Saturday under $2,000 bonds in connection with the death of Mrs. Crew's husband. Crew's, Hamilton county farmer, who was injured at his home last January, was taken to Overton where he died a short time afterward.

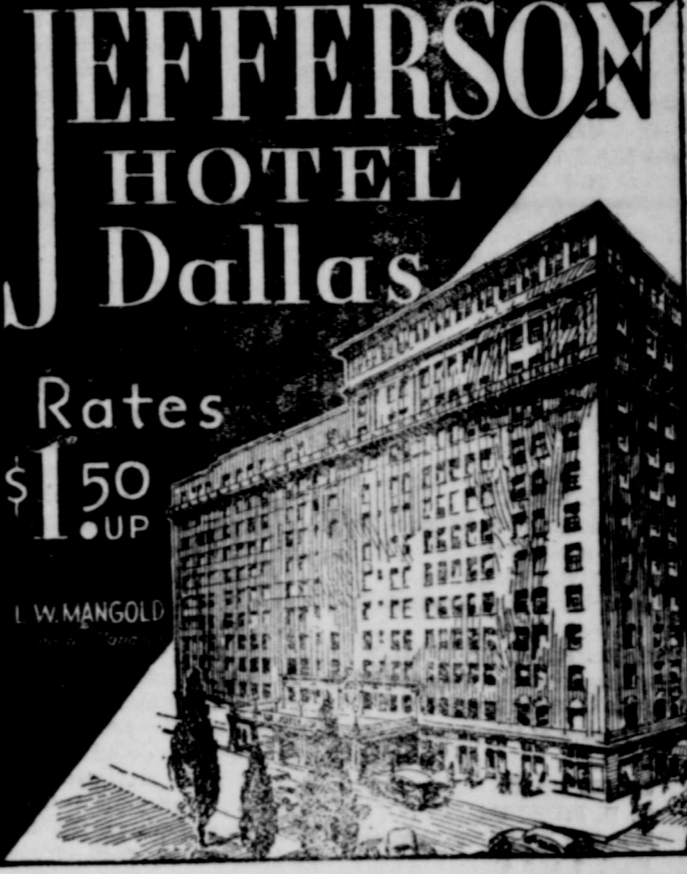

Under the direction of A. M. Woolsey of Austin, field foreman for the department of anthropology of the university of Texas, a crew of laborers has been at work near New Braunfels, excavating skeletons of an ancient race. The place where the digging is done is near the Comal Springs on the old Klappenbach hill road in the western extremity of the city limits. This piece of land must have served for either a burial ground of a camping ground for Indian tribes.

An active campaign to have the federal government route the Pan-American highway from Laredo, northward through San Antonio and thus insure the continuation of San Antonio as the "gateway to Mexico," has been launched by a group of business men. This highway extending from Mexico D. F., to Nuevo Laredo, one of the most picturesque thoroughfares in the world is rapidly nearing completion after years of effort. The formal opening is scheduled for this summer.

Newton McDonald has also returned to his home at Anson after a visit here with Mr. and Mrs. McDonald.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON SUNDAY EVENING

The Baptist church was crowded to the utmost with visitors from afar to attend the baccalaureate services.

The invocation was by Elder J. D. Edmondson. The choir and quartets gave of their fine talent and music. Jack Casey and Mrs. J. P. Lockridge and Miss Clemmie Hancock were at the piano.

Rev. A. W. Anderson, pastor of the First Christian church in Brownwood, delivered the sermon. Text: "Forgetting the Things That Are Behind and Reaching Forward."

The church was effectively decorated in lovely ferns and other plants. The twenty seniors were stately and admired by the audience; nine fine young men and eleven sweet young girls, who have had determination and perseverance to press forward and complete high school. May they each continue to complete their education and press forward in the worthwhile paths of life that lead upward.

ZEPHYR'S PIONEER ANSWERS LAST CALL

E. P. Hanks, father of Mrs. G. O. Baskin of Prairie, died Sunday, after the second stroke of paralysis at his home in Zephyr. Mr. Hanks lived in the Zephyr section for many years and was a good citizen and neighbor and was beloved by his family and friends.

Those who attended the funeral from here Monday were: Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Baskin, Miss Jewel Baskin and Wilbur Baskin. Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Clendenen, Wayne and Jack Clendenen, Mrs. G. M. Fletcher and daughter, Miss Rosa Meek Fletcher.

"THE MAN WITH A GREEN SHIRT"

The senior class and their sponsor, Brooke Smith, are being complimented for the senior play Friday night. The door receipts was $47.00. The drama-comedy "The Man With A Green Shirt," was very amusing and interesting to the great audience. The house was overflowing. The play was appreciated so much that they received a number of requests to put it on the second time, and Wednesday night again "The Man With A Green Shirt," appeared.

POSTOFFICE ADVANCED

Notice has been received from Washington that the salary of the Mullin postmaster has been increased $100 per year. This increase is on the basis of increased business in the office. A like advance was made last year, which shows the Mullin business to be in a healthy condition.

Mullin also has the only postal savings account in the county, which is another cause for pride on the part of Mullin citizens.

REMEMBER TRADES DAY

The large crowd in town was a usual Saturday group. Trades day seems to be progressing nicely, and business increases as the crowds increase. Saturday centennial awards went to Mrs. G. L. Warren and her youngest brother, Elmo Oxley of Duren, W. M. Bouden, a good citizen of Pompey, and Mrs. H. R. McDonald, who received one a few weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Davis had the following guests recently: Mrs. I. B. Toller and three children of Hesse; Mrs. Green Buchanan and daughter, Helen; Mrs. Douglas Sedberry of Waco; Mrs. Ernest Obenhaus and baby, Janice. It was a pleasant homecoming of children and grand children and great-grand children of Mrs. S. H. Davis.

GOOD LEGISLATION

Common sense is a good substitute for statesmanship. At the same tax rate, cigarette tax collections are up at the rate of $1,089,906.60 over a year ago. This gain is due to effective collection under the provisions of house bill No. 755. That is one of the reasons the 1936 State tax rate on your property will be 52 cents, the lowest lots of folks can remember. Your Representative was author of house bill No. 755.

Yours,
R. A. LUKER.

STAR

Mr. Frank Stubbs is visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Adams, on Avenue Main.

Mr. and Mrs. Louie Karnes entertained the youngsters of the fifth grade at their home on Elizabeth street Monday evening.

Mrs. B. P. Goode and boys, Charles, Robert and Donald, spent last Sunday with the Will Riecke family of McGirk.

Dr. and Mrs. Brookling of Goldthwaite, were visiting in Star a few days ago.

Mrs. Ed Hamilton and son, Dable, returned Tuesday from a visit with relatives in Liberty.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Welch, of Dripping Springs visited Sunday in the homes of Mrs. Charlie House and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore.

T. L. Adams was a business visitor to Waco a few days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Luke Teague returned Sunday afternoon from a visit to Corpus Christi, where they went to see their son, O. B., who is convalescing from a severe injury from a fall from a derrick, which broke the bones in one lower limb in five places. O. B. will be confined to the hospital for at least two months yet, but is doing as nicely as possible.

Mrs. F. M. Cathey of Benningfield, Oklahoma, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. J. Witty, on West College street. Mrs. Cathey will probably spend several months here before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wall threw open their doors to the juniors, and Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Jeske entertained the sixth graders with games and refreshments during the week.

The baccalaureate services held at the Methodist church Sunday night were well received. The house was packed to standing room. Mrs. F. F. Fitch played as the seniors, headed by the high school faculty, marched in. Then the rhythm band, directed by Elmer Hallmark, with Mrs. Fitzhugh at the piano, gave a delightful performance which was enjoyed by everyone. The senior chorus gave a beautiful number, then Rev. Franklin E. Swanner launched into his discourse and gave a most interesting, helpful and inspiring message.

Mrs. Barton Henry, accompanied by her brother, J. Y. Hamilton of Evant, went to Winters a few days ago. There Mrs. Henry will join another brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Estne Hamilton, and all will go

A SERIOUS SITUATION

The organization of the League of Nations at the close of the world war seemed at the time to be an insurance against future wars. The clear purpose of the League was to protect the small countries against the big ones, but this purpose has apparently been thwarted by Italy. With Italy's proclamation of sovereignty over Ethiopia, the last independent kingdom in Africa seems to have passed into the limbo of history. It long ago became apparent that the European powers, which threatened Italy with strong reprisals if she went ahead in Ethiopia, were bluffing. The question is, what effect will this have on the League of Nations? The League needs the help of all the old allies if Hitler is to be held down. And Mussolini isn't at all backward about saying he will quit the League cold if it attempts to hamper him in Ethiopia. On the other hand, League prestige is going to suffer terrifically if it accepts the status quo, and lets a big power swallow a little one. Little nations are the backbone of the League—but they won't be enthusiastic for it long under these circumstances.

The smashing victory over the Ethiopian warriors, the complete contempt for the League of Nations coalition, the manner with which the Italian population, regardless of age and sex, withstood the penalties of economic sanctions, have all shown that Italy, henceforth, is going to play first fiddle in the concert of powers at the expense of nations better equipped, economically and financially, than herself.

Il Duce makes no bones of announcing his intent to restore the land of the Caesars to its position of grandeur and authority. In fact he only recently indicated that he expected to fulfill the quotation that "Rome seated on her seven hills should from that throne rule the world," or a big part of it. He is enthused and his ego is enlarged because of his victory, not alone over the weak nation of the blacks, but because of his defeat and defy of the edict of the League of Nations, which took a firm stand against him in his unholy undertaking.

It is a situation that brings the League's authority and power into disrepute and has disheartened all those who had hope and confidence in the organization.

COMPARING FIGURES

One of the foremost industrial and business reporting institutions of the nation is comparing figures on the American farmers' source of income and the necessary outlay for that line of endeavor and the statement is made that the crop income received from the sale of farm products in March was 19.5 per cent higher than in the same month last year. The price level of farm products was 3.8 per cent lower than a year ago, but this was more than offset by a 24.4 per cent increase in the quantity marketed. The gain in quantity was due to the increase in last year's harvest over that of the previous year, when the crops were severely injured by a drought. The situation in the first quarter was similar to that in March. During the first three months, farm cash income from sales was 20.1 per cent larger than a year ago with a larger quantity offsetting a lower price level. The situation this year indicates that all the efforts of the past several years to increase farm income by raising prices through the curtailment of production had little to do with the expansion of farm income. This expansion was apparently due entirely to inflation. If there had been no curtailment of output and consequently a less pronounced price rise, farm income would evidently have shown the same gain as that which occurred.

The government's benefit payments to the farmers in March amounted to only $16,000,000 this year. This decrease, however, was not sufficient to offset the gain in income from marketings. Total income was consequently 10.2 per cent higher than a year ago. For the first quarter, total income showed an increase of 7 per cent over last year, despite the fact that benefit payments amounted to only $16,000,000 this year, as against $172,000,000 last year.

EXPORTS STEADILY INCREASE

That the world wide business of this nation is on the up grade there can be no doubt and the constant cry for business recovery seems to be largely over done.

An analysis by financial editors shows a very healthy improvement in exports, which shows the revival of confidence, not alone in this country, but the world over. All of this is reflected in the record of imports and exports and indicate a strong tone.

The value of merchandise exported by the United States this year as compared with $524,000,000 last year shows the lost market has been regained to within 12.7 per cent of the peak figures prior to the depression. This increase in the value of merchandise exported this year was due entirely to a larger quantity shipped since the price level remained unchanged, according to an analysis by undoubted authorities. Figures are not available for March, but for the first two months, the index of the quantity of goods exported, on the basis of 1923-25 as 100, was 77 this year as against 68 last year. This year's index, however, represents only slight progress toward the recovery of the United States' export market. For the full year 1932 when the low for the depression was reached, the index was 69. For the full pre-depression year 1929, the index was 132. Thus, this year's index represented the recovery of only 12.7 per cent of the ground lost in the depression when the export market of the United States was practically cut in half.

TAMPERING WITH BUSINESS

The federal administration is continuing its efforts toward the elimination of the growing list of unemployed, by announcing rules and having measures enacted to control business and force private industries to enlarge the list of employees and improve working conditions. That there is vast room for improvement along this line can not be denied and it is also conceded that the effort to relieve the workers in some occupations is laudable, but the continued juggling with the business of the country in this effort for relief must necessarily prove harmful, unless such plans are formulated by industrialists and those trained in business affairs, rather than by politicians who are actuated by a desire to get votes by playing to certain factions, regardless of the effect of the business on the country.

If business and industry could be divorced from politics and political supervision there would be a much more stable condition. Not that a certain amount of control does not need to be exercised by the government over every line of endeavor, but a constant tampering is harmful.

FLY CONTROL

Thousands of children and adults die every year from diseases carried by the fly. Typhoid fever, tuberculosis, summer complaints, cholera, intestinal diseases and frequently death follows closely in the train of the common house fly.

The control of the fly menace comes at the top of the list of necessary public health measures which should be applied by every city and community in the state, the state health officer announces: "The most effective measure for control is to prevent breeding. Flies breed in filth, and about eight days are required to complete a life cycle. During her life time of several months, one house fly lays from 600 to 1,000 eggs. Thus it can easily be seen that in a season which usually begins in the spring of the year, the descendants from one fly number countless thousands.

"To eliminate flies the breeding places must be destroyed. Manure piles, garbage and other organic filth furnish the requirements of warmth, moisture and food necessary for the propagation of the fly. Flies should be kept from contact with food or drink or utensils in which such food and drink are prepared and served. Likewise they should be kept from access to privy vaults where they pick up the infections, which they later spread to humans by contact with the food and drink, and by unwashed hands and utensils.

"See that your windows, doors, and porches are screened so that the stray fly from some careless neighbor will not molest your family. See that your grocer keeps meat, vegetables and fruit screened from flies.

"Organize health measures to destroy the breeding places, control the flies' access to your home and food and establish standards of cleanliness in your community that will eliminate the fly."

INSANITY DEFENSE PLEAS

Statistics indicate that the percentage of the population suffering from insanity in the United States and Great Britain is about the same. On the other hand, it is common knowledge that our murder rate is tremendously higher than the British. Looking at the matter dispassionately, residents of both countries agree that the disparity in homicide rates is due to the almost inexorable British law which exacts the penalty of death for murder. Moreover, it is matter of common knowledge that the defense of insanity is invoked much less frequently by British killers than by those of this country. Following this idea to a logical conclusion, we may deduce that in England even a person of relatively unsound mind hesitates to commit a crime for which he almost certainly will be executed.

The proposal to set aside the death sentence in the Hugh A. Cannon case here happens to coincide with the execution of a woman in England. The carrying out of the British penalty was a ghastly affair, doubly appalling because the murderess was the mother of five young children. Yet the case against this nurse who had killed one and possibly two of her patients was proved according to the stern canons of British justice, and while a shocked public murmured, there was no nation-wide movement to save her, as there certainly would have been in this country. She knew the penalty which she faced, she incurred it and she paid.

Cannon also was charged with killing two women. His case took the customary American course, and the death verdict was affirmed by the supreme court, though the defendant had entered a plea of insanity. Now the public is told by three alienists, men of high personal and professional repute whose scientific judgment we do not venture to question, that Cannon was insane at the time of the killings and is insane now. Just as a matter of abstract justice, one wonders whether Cannon had been living in England, was insane enough to take a life there as he took it here, and face the probable consequences under English law. — New Orleans Times-Picayune.

GREAT IS TEXAS

Texas is cattle minded, and small wonder, for her history, development, art and literature are permeated by the cattle influence. Her modern cattle history began in 1865 at the close of the civil war. Her population at that time was slightly less than 700,000 people. A few hundred thousand wild cattle of Spanish origin along the gulf coast gave her the lead as a cattle state of North America.

"Since that time, her population has increased to nearly 6,000,000, which includes enough cotton farmers, choppers and pickers to make it the leading cotton state of North America; enough promoters, oil-well drillers, pipeliners and refiners to make her the leading oil state; enough wheat farmers and harvest hands to place her well up into the lead as a wheat producing state; enough sheepmen, goatmen, herders and shearers to give her the lead in the production of wool and mohair. With all this and the million of her acres that have gone into cultivation, she still retains her lead as a cattle state, and has more cattle, cowboys and horses than at any time in her history."

On January 1, 1935, according to the bureau of census, department of commerce, there were grazing on 137,579,389 acres of Texas pasture land, 7,222,399 head of cattle—10.6 per cent of the United States total—and this just after the close of the year during which the United States government had bought and killed in excess of two million head that the remainder might have sufficient grass and water. — John M. Hendricks in West Texas Today.

A LOST KINGDOM

The Hon. Haile Selassie is not broke. He took a score of treasure chests with him when he lit out from his ancient capital. Besides, he has been offered a money-making job at the Texas centennial. It must be said on the other side that he fetched a large group of friends and kinfolk with him from Addis Ababa, over a hundred in all. Their bill at the King David hotel, at Jerusalem, will be a sight. They ought to give Haile a special rate, inasmuch as the hotel was named for one of his great ancestors. Solomon was King David's son and from that royal race Selassie sprung. At least he says he did. No competent genealogist has corroborated him, but none has refuted him. We might as well let the matter stand. Haile Selassie feels badly about not being the king of kings, the conquering lion of Judah, but otherwise he is better off. Addis Ababa wasn't anything like as nice a town as Jerusalem, or as London will be when he gets there—as Dallas is, in case he comes here. Addis, in fact, was just a huddle of squalid houses, overflowing with women, children and insects. Nobody knew how many there were, how many people or how many bugs. The reason why nobody knew was because nobody cared. There are lots of worse things than being a dethroned monarch with plenty of money saved from the wreck. Let's not worry over Selassie. He is just one more unemployed, but in no danger of the relief roll.—State Press in Dallas News.

HERE AND THERE

In history, as in nature, nothing happens in a day. One word is the secret of most financial independence: No.

Nothing keeps us down like our own ignorance, laziness and folly.

There is a good deal of difference between a reason and an excuse.

In the shadow of every prosperous business you'll find a serious hard-working man.

Do you remember when a second mortgage yielding 18 per cent was considered a safe investment?

Until you've tried to take money without working, you don't know how easy it is to lose money.

The struggle for existence keeps a lot of us busy and out of trouble.

When we really want to do something, we don't have much trouble in finding a satisfactory excuse for doing it. — Imperial Magazine.

VIEWES OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

Six constitutional amendments, some of which are calculated to kick up considerable interest, will confront the Texas voters this fall.

Chief among them, the two most likely to develop a battle royal, are those proposing to increase certain official salaries, and giving the voters their choice between the present plan of liquor control and the state monopoly plan.

The salary amendment takes in a good deal of territory, since it covers a number of changes instead of the single one with which the voters are familiar from past experience—the salary of the governor. Texas pays her governor $4,000 a year, and the amendment proposes to hike it to $12,000. Standing alone, the people might reverse themselves and approve the amendment; but they are asked to raise other salaries, too. The attorney general's pay would be lifted to $12,000 instead of the present $4,000, of which $2,000 is constitutional and $2,000 statutory. The comptroller, the treasurer and the land commissioner would be raised from $2,500 to $6,000, while the secretary of state would be raised from $2,000 to $6,000.

The existing salaries are too low. They were set in 1876, 60 years ago. The compensation of the governor, especially, should be raised in keeping with the importance of the job and the dignity of a great state. We believe it was a mistake to include the other salary increases. They should have been proposed in a separate amendment from that affecting the governor, if possible, giving the people a chance to raise the governor's salary without any side issues attached.

The existing liquor control law is one-half of a compromise between the wets and the dries. The other half will be offered in the amendment next fall, giving the people their choice between state control of private liquor business and an outright state monopoly. There is going to be a lot of argument over that.

Country is lined up against city in one of the amendments which proposes that representation in the lower house of the legislature be limited to seven for any one county unless that county's population exceeds 700,000. This is a frank attempt to end the dominance of the larger cities.

Another would provide a pension of $180 a year for school teachers after 20 years of service. Still another would authorize the legislature to provide workmen's compensation for state employees. The sixth amendment would limit the governor's power of clemency, by setting up a board of pardon and paroles by whose recommendations the governor would be bound.—Abilene Reporter.

SOY BEANS CAN ENCOURAGE EROSION

Soy beans will be used in many states this year as soil-building crop, but farmers must remember that soy beans, when planted in rows without regard to the contour of the land, encourage washing. Any clean cultivated row crop encourages erosion. Soy beans do improve soil fertility, especially if the vine is plowed under, but if planted in rows due regard must be given to the contour of the land if washing is to be prevented.

Strip cropping in contours with other crops, especially grains and grasses, is becoming quite popular in Ohio and other states, but these farmers also have learned that alfalfa and clovers are really superior to the bean in soil building and in soil conservation.

There are many fields in Texas, especially in the blacklands, where soy beans will not prove to be a paying crop. The soy bean is a legume and subject to the attack of root rot in the same degree as cotton. Probably one of the best crops that can be grown on land infested with root rot is sorghum. Small grains or other fibrous-rooted crops are not attacked by the disease.—Farm and Ranch.

NAVAL TREATY DOOMED

Week-end dispatches from London reported grave fears there that the new naval treaty negotiated by the recent conference there "may never become effective." London's anxiety under that head was intensified by "unconfirmed reports" that Japan is planning construction of a 55,000-ton battleship armed with 21-inch guns. Any such undertaking by the Tokyo government, it was declared, "will blow the new treaty to smithereens." The civilized world has an oversupply of causes for worry, but prospective failure of the new naval treaty is, to our way of thinking, "among those present." That pact was agreed to for face-saving purposes chiefly. Its terms, as we understand them, involve no serious restriction of naval construction and by London's own admission "the document is so full of safeguarding and escape clauses that almost any excuse could be used to back out of the agreement." The race for naval armament was well under way before the new treaty was drafted and nowhere has suffered interruption by or since its completion. Naval expansion in other lands has forced the United States, Great Britain and France, whose representatives drafted it, into the worldwide competition, for their own defense. In brief, naval limitation is definitely ended for all practical purposes and the new treaty could do little or nothing to correct that bad condition, even if it were ratified by the powers which negotiated it. Mere pretense of limitation by agreement seems to us mischievous rather than helpful, and the "dooming" of a futile treaty scarcely worth worrying about.—New Orleans Times-Picayune.

BALKAN LEAGUE

With the object-lesson of Ethiopia before them, it is not strange the Balkan nations, which have plenty of experience with greedy neighbors, should be doubtful about the league of nations. Turkey, Greece, Yugoslavia and Rumania are thus thinking of forming a league of their own, presumably for mutual protection, with Hungary and Bulgaria rather significantly left out. The line-up of Turkey with this combination is itself significant, as showing the complete detachment from German influence which Mustapha Kemal Ataturk has worked round to. However, the combination will be in the main opposed to Italian ambition for dominance of the Mediterranean, and Turkey's association is a natural one. The Ataturk may not seek to regain lost territory, but he wants to keep what he has; and that, too, is the underlying motive of the other three leaguers. Greece got Macedonia, Rumania, Transylvania and a slice of Russia, and the former Serbia the whole South-Slav region out of the war settlements. There is danger to each in any new shakeup. A local league seems an obvious solution. Here are four nations with a real community of interest; they have "ties of common funk," and should be able to make a relatively enduring pact.—Los Angeles Times.

INDIAN POPULATION

The American Indian, for whom the shock of white domination was almost fatal, has now definitely survived, according to surveys reported the other day by Dr. Clark Wissler of Yale. The Indian birth rate, now 48 per 1,000, is one of the highest in the world, while the death rate, which reached its peak about 1890, has been steadily declining. The red man in aboriginal days appears to have needed an enormous amount of room to maintain himself in health and strength. Even before the white man came, the tribes which were expanding in power and territory were the ones which grew in numbers; the others were losing population. With the coming of the whites, and introduction of the reservation system, the abrupt change in mode of living almost finished off the Indians. But the adjustment, though slow, was

THE FERTILIZER

The soil conservation program announced by the federal government for the use of superphosphate fertilizer provide bonuses of $100 for the use of lime for the use of superphosphate, or $150 for 50 per cent of the cost of superphosphate. To be eligible for these payments, farmers must apply the fertilizer by October 31 on land the production of which is classified as soil conservation on which specified annual grasses or legume crops are seeded.

These fertilizer bonuses bring out the fact that the soil is virtually an outdoor farm to farmers. It is true that the soil is not much different from a fertilizer factory for the shift of land, but the fact that the soil is virtually an outdoor farm to farmers. It is true that the soil is not much different from a fertilizer factory for the shift of land, but the fact that the soil is virtually an outdoor farm to farmers. It is true that the soil is not much different from a fertilizer factory for the shift of land, but the fact that the soil is virtually an outdoor farm to farmers.

The soil conservation program thus tantamount to a subsidy to farmers for their present output of land. The land for the future is being sold on the open market. The government is thus subsidizing the farmer's present output of land. The land for the future is being sold on the open market. The government is thus subsidizing the farmer's present output of land.

OLD AGE PEN

Some 65,000 checks given the aged of Texas and it is hoped the amount will be $20 million. To get on the list you declare yourself a pauper. That seems a little odd, but may account for the fact that the pensions voted by Texas by an overwhelming majority.

There are at least 200,000 Texans who are over the age of 65. Thus, if the law is applied, many of them have applied for state pension. Many of them have applied for state pension. Many of them have applied for state pension.

We have not the case or in prospect to pay. We will get by for July. We will get by for July. We will get by for July.

We do not know why nor should pass upon the honesty or sincerity of the question his motive. Three opposing candidates for governor have done so. Insisted that he is not disregarding a major problem.

It is most evident people want our amendment. The amendment declared for them. Texas has ample power to change the course of history by decimating the tribes, was finally and the ravages of the reservation life, seem well in hand.—Des Moines Register.

KELVINATOR'S Visible Values

Are Your Assurance of LIFELONG KITCHEN HAPPINESS

It isn't necessary to say much to people who come in to make an actual inspection of the new 1936 Kelvinator. It represents value that they can see for themselves!

Take temperature, for instance. There's no need to guess about it. Kelvinator's unique Built-in Thermometer shows exactly how cold it is . . . gives absolute assurance of safe, dependable, unvarying protection.

Then there's economy of operation. Kelvinator provides a written Certificate of Low Cost of Operation that tells in advance that current consumption will be low.

Important, too, is the service you can expect from a refrigerator. Kelvinator gives you a signed assurance of dependability, the manufacturers' Five Year Protection Plan.

But these aren't all that catch the eye! There are flexible grids in all ice trays, automatic defroster, interior light, vegetable crisper and all of the other refinements that make a refrigerator truly up-to-the-minute.

There's no question about it. When you've seen the new Kelvinator for yourself, you, too, will say: "My next refrigerator will be a Kelvinator."

LONG COVE FAIR
Friday, May 29

Some misunderstanding seems to be in the air regarding our annual get-together. The past week we have been asked several times about what we were going to charge to get on the grounds and what the entrance fee would be for various classes of livestock. We don't know how any such idea got started, for there will be no charge of any kind for entrance to the grounds, nor any entrance fee for any exhibit. On the contrary, everyone is invited to come and enjoy the day with us and anyone from either Mills or Lampasas county are privileged and requested to bring their show stock. There will be a cash prize for first place in each of the following and ribbons for first three places: Draft horse, under two years and draft horse, under two and two or over. Four cash places on horses. One first on mules and that on colts under 37 months of age. One first on best jack any age. One first on dairy stock and that on best cow, over 24 months. All types of dairy cattle to be in the same class. Two firsts on beef cattle, one on calf under 15 months and one on best animal over 24 months. All types beef stock to be in same class. Six first on sheep. One for best lamb, ewe, or buck in either registered or grade stock. Two first on Angora goats. One for best billy and one for best nanny.

All exhibits must be in the pens by 10:00 a. m., May 29. There will be no cash prize on hogs, but anyone wishing to make an exhibit may do so. There will be farm and home products exhibits from farms in Long Cove.

There will be a play given that night, "Adventure of Grandpa."

The rights to operate the drinks and eas stands were sold to H. T. Brown and W. A. McKenzie.

There will be ball games, candidate speaking, goat and sheep roping, free for all to see at 3 o'clock p. m. There will be a baby show at 1 o'clock p. m.

PIONEER CITIZEN
PASSED AWAY

Mrs. L. F. Welch died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Scrivner, in Dermott, Scurry county, Tuesday afternoon and her remains were brought here Wednesday for interment in the Center City cemetery, by the side of the grave of her husband, Mr. W. H. Welch. The service was held at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and was attended by a large number of the friends of the deceased lady and her family.

Mrs. Welch lived in the Center City community many years. The family moved from that place to Goldthwaite, where they continued to reside until the passing of Mr. Welch, when she went to make her home among her children.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Sallie Scrivner of Dermott and Mrs. Florence Lasy of Pioneer; also by four sons, W. G., J. R. and Riley of Sterling City and C. S. of the Center City community. All of her surviving children together with a number of grandchildren and a host of friends were present at the funeral service.

A REASONABLE CHARGE

The Eagle, like all other newspapers, makes a reasonable charge for the publication of cards of thanks, obituaries, lodge resolutions and similar articles. This is not a new rule, but has been in effect all of the years of the Eagle's publication. The charge for these articles must be assumed or guaranteed by the writers or some other responsible party.

ROSEBUD'S SUBSTITUTE

CENTER CITY

Fine rains fell here Monday and everything looks fine. Farmers are very busy trying to keep ahead of grass and weeds.

This week closes the school at this place. We have had a good term and our teachers are to be congratulated alike in doing their best to make each pupil do his best. We regret that we won't have Mr. Womack with us next year. However, we feel the trustees have acted wisely in selecting one of our own boys, Hollis Blackwell, to succeed him. With co-operation of the community we expect another successful term. The other assistants are: Professor Horace Cooke, Misses Blackwell and Luckie.

Harve Miles of South Bennett was a business visitor here Wednesday.

J. M. Oglesby was called to Breckenridge Sunday night on account of the serious illness of his little nephew, Bryan Glenn Oglesby. The little fellow passed away that night and the body was brought to Goldthwaite Monday for burial. This is the third time this family has been called upon to attend funerals of loved ones in the last few months. Little Bryan Glenn was the beloved son of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Oglesby. His life was short and beautiful. He was ill only a few days in the hospital at Breckenridge, consequently causing a great shock to his loved ones. Sincere sympathy is extended to all bereaved.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wagoner of Star moved to Mr. Booker's place near the store. We welcome them to our midst.

This community was saddened Wednesday when news reached here that Grandmother Welch had passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sallie Scrivner, of Snyder. Funeral services were conducted by Bro. Liles at the Methodist church and burial at the cemetery here. "Granny" Welch, as she was lovingly called, was nearing her ninety-fourth birthday. She lived a useful Christian life and was loved by all who knew her. Her son, C. S. Welch and wife, Harry Welch from here were at the bedside when the end came. Her children, Bud Welch and family, Riley Welch, Johnnie Welch and family, Mrs. Tom Lasley and 3 children, Mr. and Mrs. Scrivner and C. S. Welch and family all attended the funeral here.

Monday night Misses Blackwell and Luckie entertained the Girls Glee club in the Blackwell home. Sundown lunch was prepared in picnic style, cooked in the open. Ice cream was served before bed time. At a late hour all was hushed for sleep. Breakfast was served to them next morning, then all off for school again. These 19 girls reported
