Singers Hold Convention

County singing convention was held at the Goldthwaite grammar school building Saturday night and Sunday morning. This was one of the most successful conventions in the history of the organization.

Saturday night session was held at the home of W. P. and John W. Roberts. Devoted to old-time and new-time songs. This was the first time a large audience of whom appeared to enjoy the program and expressed approval and appreciation.

Sunday convention was held at the home of W. P. and John W. Roberts with a large attendance of singers and music lovers from all over the county. Those coming from a distance were Prof. Robert Cox, Miss Estelle, and other duets were enjoyed and they were again and again.

Back quartet and Prof. Shaw from Waco were in pleasure and unstintingly by the large audience. The quartet from De Witt among the appreciated from outside the county certainly rendered a fine performance.

Visiting singers from Saba and other counties all added to the enjoyment of the convention. The Mills county duets were well-received and quartets, duets and solos of singers made the convention a most enjoyable affair.

At a barbecue and basket dinner was enjoyed by a large number of visitors, together with a good sprinkling of gifts and there was much socializing. President L. B. Porter and his family, together with other members of Goldthwaite, were present. The barbecue, coffee and other supplies were provided by the convention.

Methodist Notes

It is possibly a little early to pass judgment upon what effect the new church may have upon the congregation at the Methodist services. However, the present indications are that the congregations will be much larger than when we met in the old building. One thing is certain, as things seem at the present time. People are taking a great interest in both Sunday school and the preaching service. This is as it should be. The church has been built at considerable sacrifice and for the one purpose of giving the people of Goldthwaite a beautiful place to worship. Our people should show proper appreciation of what has been done for them in this respect.

Last Sunday morning was held one of the most beautiful and appropriate of communion services. If this service improves in the number of the communicants, a larger communion service will be necessary. This, however, can be easily overcome, as the service comes in sections, and can be increased at will. It is to be hoped that the people called Methodists, may ever hold in reverence this great occasion and make it what it should be, a great and helpful service.

I should like to speak at length of the Sunday school, were it necessary to do so. All feel the importance of this arm of the church. The children, who within the next few years are to be leaders in the church work, and all other work of our country, are to have their lives and characters formulated, for the most part, in the Sunday schools of our land. This fact is so clear that it seems common-place to even speak of it. Yet, how many people in dealing with this subject are inconsistent, even though they admit the fact. Whole families spend their Sabbaths in secular pursuits, or in worldly pleasures, visiting, fishing, attending ball games and such things, utterly ignoring the call to attend Sunday school and the church services. Such derelictions are a shame to our citizenship and a detriment to our civilization.

This week we are called upon to mourn the going away of two of our oldest and best citizens, J. H. Randolph and A. J. Harrison. These men have been among us for many years. In all these years they have been regarded by all who knew them as men whose business and personal lives have been entirely above reproach. In all things they have been the personification of honor. When men, such as these, slip away from us, we feel that the world is poorer because of their going. Both will be sadly missed in all of life's relations.

Just here let us urge an invitation to all men who are not attending Sunday school, to come to the men's class next Sunday morning. We meet in the lower story of the church, where we have room for two hundred men. We enter the room from the outside of the building at the south side. Here, we have everything to ourselves, and are not disturbed in any way. It is an ideal place for the study of God's word. While we would be pleased to have everybody attend the preaching services—these are of a type that would be profitable to all—yet, if for any reason one should not desire to attend these services, they can at least, attend the class and have a good time learning the word of God in this way. Let me urge you to come with us, or if you desire some other class, you will be made welcome. Try it. I am sure that you will be greatly profited by it.

The choir at the Methodist church sings at every morning service one song. It is a very short song, and might be made very profitable, not only in this church, but in every church throughout the country. That is, it could be made profitable if the people would put into practice its precepts. Here are the words: "The Lord is in His holy temple. Let all the earth keep silence before Him." Let us learn the teaching of this song, and go with reverence into His house of worship. Let there be no conversation whatever in the house before the service, while the congregation is gathering. J. S. BOWLES

Commissions Hold Session

Commissioners court was in session Monday, that being the time for the regular monthly term. Very little business was transacted outside of a routine nature, but the business in hand was important. Monthly official reports were received and audited and accounts against the county were ordered paid.

Returns from the school consolidation election at Pompey Creek were received and showed that consolidation of the district with Zephyr was rejected by a vote of 48 to 46. Money from highway license was divided to the precincts from which it was collected. Precinct No. 1 received $649.37; No. 2 received $264.81; No. 3, $423.87; No. 4, $211.55.

4-H Club

The Big Valley 4-H club enjoyed a picnic at Patterson park last Monday evening.

After a business session was held, lunch was spread on the table. Those enjoying the occasion were: W. P. Weaver, Mr. Goosby, Eric D. Roberson, Wayne Miller, Estelle and Marybeth Miller, Veseva and Morris Sellars, Adelle Bynum, Charles and Billy Dennard, Ruth and Ina Bea Hale, Durward and Ralph Woods, Campbell and Lacy Thompson, Mary Haggood and Billy Ruth Daniels.

Supper over, interesting games were played. REPORTER.

Girls Auxiliary

On June 2, Howard Payne college gave a three-day house party for the Girls Auxiliary of this district. Nine of our girls went with their leader, Mrs. Sansom.

The theme was, "Following the Upward Road." Mrs. B. L. Lockett, a missionary from Africa, entertained us with lectures and pictures on Africa. A missionary from China was also there.

We sincerely thank Howard Payne college for the nice time we had and we hope to have a better G. A. this year than ever before. REPORTER.

Survey Shows Public Concern

A marked conservative trend in public opinion with increasing concern is revealed in a survey just completed by the national conference board, with the aid of 10,000 newspaper and magazine editors throughout the country.

By comparing the results of the current poll with a similar study made two years ago, important shifts in public opinion were discovered on numerous important social and economic questions. By replying to questionnaires, the editors reported the prevailing opinion in their communities and these detailed reports were analyzed by the conference board to get a national picture.

On several questions of major interest, opinion was predominantly one-sided. This was true on the question of government control of private business, which was overwhelmingly condemned by 92 per cent. Redistribution of wealth by taxation was opposed by 72.6 per cent, while 92.8 per cent expressed themselves in favor of a reduction in the number of government employees.

Government control, participation or competition with private business was rejected emphatically in every case.

Its precepts. Here are the words: "The Lord is in His holy temple. Let all the earth keep silence before Him." Let us learn the teaching of this song, and go with reverence into His house of worship. Let there be no conversation whatever in the house before the service, while the congregation is gathering. J. S. BOWLES

Republicans Hold Session

The Republican national convention has been in session in Cleveland, Ohio, this week and an adjournment was expected yesterday. The latest indications were for the nomination of Governor Landon of Kansas for president.

Criticism of the New Deal and President Roosevelt's administration were among the high lights of the convention.

The society plans to have a tea towel shower for the basement kitchen, in the near future and will be glad to entertain all the friends of the church as well as members. An interesting program will be given and refreshments served. We ask every one to bring one or more tea towels. Date will be announced later. PRESIDENT.

Rest Weary Pilgrim

To the memory of my long-time friend, A. J. Harrison.

Rest from thy labors, where roses bloom. Angels around thee, their vigil keep;

Wafting sweet perfume over thy grave: Where warbling song-birds, from leafy bower,

While thy freed spirit rest with its God; Earth's conflicts ended—sorrows all passed—

Two Training Camp Appointments

Mills county has been given a quota of two appointments in the civilian military training camp which is to be held at Camp Bullis, near San Antonio, for the month beginning July 7. Military training will be varied with sports and free entertainment under the supervision of trained army officers. Graduates of four of these summer camps will receive commissions as lieutenants in the reserve corps of the United States army and in case of war would serve as officers. However, a boy who attends this summer's camp is not obligated in any way to return next summer.

Only unmarried men between the ages of 17 and 24, who are well recommended and can pass the army physical examination can be accepted. The government pays all expenses, including transportation to and from camp, furnishes uniforms and equipment and serves the meals for which the army is famous in return for the student's time at camp.

Application may be made to L. B. Porter, who has been named chairman for Mills county.

Newly-Weds Honored

Mrs. Walter Simpson opened her home for a shower June 9, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Simpson, recent bride and groom. Everything was lovely arranged and they received many useful gifts.

Celia Ann Simpson favored us by singing several songs, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Otto Simpson. After which we enjoyed a social hour and meeting old friends.

The refreshment plate consisted of ice cream and cake.

Those present to enjoy this hour were: Misses Ruth Dennis, Evelyn Covington, Rudy Lee Kuykendall, Lorene Denman; Mmes. Earl Denman, M. L. Casbeer, Clifford Burks, Walter Jones, J. T. Morris, Frank Denman, Matt Casbeer, Otto Simpson, J. M. Oglesby, Edd Dennis, Clyde Featherston, Larvene Day, B. L. Kuykendall, Willis Hills, Mohler Simpson, Virginia McGirk, W. J. Morris, D. O. Church of Christ

We were made to rejoice because of a well filled house last Lord's day. Both services were well attended, and Wednesday night we had forty for mid-week bible study. Every member of the church should be active.

Friday night the church will meet at the fair ground park for a luncheon. It is hoped that every member of the Church of Christ will be present. The more we contact each other, the more we appreciate each other. It is the minister's desire to use this as a means of getting acquainted.

Next Lord's day we anticipate another large crowd for services. Come early, for we start services promptly. Bible investigation is always in order, and it is our earnest desire to find and abide by only the things God has revealed. The morning lesson will be: "Things That Make A Strong Church." At night: "The Church—A Called Out Body." Come and hear these subjects discussed. You will be benefitted, and if you help, God will be glorified. E. W. STOVALL, Minister.

Candidates Must File

Candidates for county and precinct offices must file their applications with the county chairman, L. E. Booker, not later than Saturday midnight of this week, the date being June 13. Several have already filed, but if there are those who have not filed, they should not overlook the date, else it will be too late.

The time has already passed for district candidates to file applications.

Baptist Reminder

We had a splendid day at our church this past Sunday. We had five additions during the day. I am hoping we can have additions every Sunday now leading up to our revival, which will start the first Sunday in July. Committees were appointed Wednesday evening to make definite preparation for our revival.

I am hoping to get a religious census of the town in the next few days. There will probably be all the churches of the town cooperating to get this information.

Remember all the services Sunday. Each person is asked to do his part in increasing our attendance in Sunday school Sunday. Each teacher is urged to try to increase your class at least three over the previous Sunday. We can all work just a little and do wonders for the Lord. FRANKLIN E. SWANNER.

Wesley Fellowship Class Entertains

Thursday, June 4, it was the delight of the Wesley Fellowship Sunday school class to honor with a picnic the following guests: Rev. and Mrs. Duke, Lucille Conroe, Betsy Walters of San Saba, Arthur Kerk, O. B. Carroll, Mrs. Fred Crawford of Washington, D. C., and Thelma Jernigan.

The enthusiastic group met at the church and left for Patterson park, where the tables were loaded with the picnic lunches.

Games were enjoyed and songs were sung by all. Miss Betsy Walters entertained with some negro spirituals, and Malcolm and Thelma Jernigan sang cowboy songs.

The affair was proclaimed one of the most pleasant that the class has enjoyed, but they regretted that a few guests of honor missed the entertainment. Nevertheless, they are extended a hearty welcome to join the class. REPORTER.

Civil Service Exam. Is Announced Here

Notice has been received by M. Y. Stokes, jr., Goldthwaite postmaster, that a civil service examination will be held in the near future to select eligibles for the position of substitute clerk, post office service. Application blanks and full information may be secured at the post office. Complete applications must be on file with the civil service manager in New Orleans, La., not later than June 22, 1936. Approved applicants will be notified of the time and place of the examination.

The purpose of the examination will be to establish an eligible list from which any vacancies of substitute clerks may be filled. The announcement states that substitutes are required to be available for duty on short notice, and their employment may consist of only a few hours a day or week. A rigid physical examination is required before appointments are made. Applicants will be eligible for appointment only in the office for which examined.

Democrat Committee Meeting Called

All members of the county Democratic Executive committee are called to meet in the court house in Goldthwaite Monday, June 15, at 10 o'clock, for the purpose of arranging for the expenses of the primary elections and attending to such other business as may be necessary. The precinct chairmen constitute the committee and each one is earnestly requested to be present at the time designated. Chairmen will be appointed for precincts not represented in the meeting. L. E. BOOKER, County Chairman.

Bonus Bonds Due Tuesday

Registered letters containing adjusted service bonds for veterans of the world war, who receive mail through the Goldthwaite post office, are due to arrive here the morning of June 16. Due to the unusual precautions that are being taken to get these bonds into the hands of the veterans to whom they belong and to the large number that will be received at one time, it is not likely that delivery can be commenced until the afternoon of Tuesday. Post office instructions are that none of the registered letters containing the bonds be delivered until all are ready for delivery.

Veterans who get their mail on rural routes are urged to meet their rural carriers Tuesday morning. Those who live on star routes and who receive their mail at the Goldthwaite or some other post office, will have to call for their bonds in person at the office. Positive personal identification will be required of every veteran before the bonds will be delivered to him, and he must sign for them in person as absolutely none will be delivered in any other manner.

As the bonds will be held at the post office for 30 days before being returned, there is no necessity for anyone going to any great trouble to call for his bond the first day or so.

After the bonds are delivered, many veterans will want to convert them into cash. Only 241 of the largest post offices in the country have been authorized to cash the bonds directly. At all others, including Goldthwaite, it will be necessary for the veteran to turn in as many of the bonds as he wants cashed to the post office where he will be given a receipt. The post office will mail his bonds by registered mail, without expense to the veteran, to a larger post office, (all Mills county post offices will send their's to Dallas) where a check will be written and mailed direct to the veteran. It will thus probably require several days for the veteran to secure a check for the bonds he wishes to cash. Interest at 3 per cent will be paid on all bonds which are held a full year.

All veterans receiving bonds are cautioned against writing on them or marking them in any way. Bonds bearing additional writing or marks cannot be certified by the post office.

Postmaster General James A. Farley will discuss this subject over the radio at 6:15 p. m., Saturday, June 13.

Jolly Chatter Club

The Jolly Chatter club met with Mrs. H. C. McNeil on Friday afternoon, June 5, with fifteen old members present and ten new members. We also had two visitors who did not join our club. The afternoon was spent in embroidering and piecing quilts. Mrs. Featherston and Mrs. Rose made little Nell Marie McNeil, who has just recovered from a serious illness, a pretty new dress, which was a gift from Mrs. Leverett.

About four o'clock, our hostess presented each one present cute little hats made of red and orange crepe paper, which was the cause of much merriment, especially when Mrs. Jack Leverett, a recent bride, drew the choice hat. The ticket on her hat told of a trail, led by a blue string, which she must follow. At the end of the string she found a huge box filled with many lovely and useful gifts. The rest of the members also found something that looked good at the end of the string. For there at the same place where she found her hidden treasure, we found cake and ice cold drinks.

About five o'clock we departed for home, rejoicing over such a nice time.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Bill Chapman on Thursday afternoon, June 18. REPORTER.

A HOT SUMMER PROMISED

Political writers are forecasting another torrid political campaign in Texas and Oklahoma, probably with good grounds. Wise-cracking and invective, they say, will be the favored weapons, and if the electorate runs true to form, the most effective. A good many candidates will run, as usual, on the alleged demerits of their opponents, not on a definite and constructive platform of their own, or their own merits.

This travesty on democracy will continue until the voters themselves rise up and rebuke it at the polls. More than ever before voters should ignore personalities and vote upon issues. There will be more potent in affecting the immediate economic welfare of the public than those of governors and senators.

Farmers, especially, will be wooed with the same oracular sympathy that has served demagogues so well in the past. But fulsome compliments to the "horny-handed sons of toil" and glittering promises have never yet been the measure of a statesman or an efficient public servant in any office from constable up. Conversely, the candidate who indulges in pandering to prejudice insults the intelligence of the electorate, and by the same token his sincerity and probable efficiency must be suspect.—Farm and Ranch.

ROCK SPRINGS

We were all shocked Tuesday morning when we learned of our friend and neighbor, A. J. Harrison, having passed away. We extend our deepest sympathy to his children. May God's richest blessings rest on each of them.

Sunday school was not held Sunday morning. Everybody had other places to go. Some went to the singing convention in Goldthwaite. Others went to Crawford's Mill. Some went other places and some went to church elsewhere.

Those who missed the singing convention Saturday night and Sunday missed a treat. There were singers from Dublin, Waco, Comanche and other places. Our Mills county singers were good Saturday night.

We extend our deepest sympathy to Mrs. J. H. Randolph in the loss of her husband.

There will be church tomorrow (Saturday) night and Sunday morning and night. B. F. Renfro, pastor, will be in charge.

I guess all who read my letter last week saw it was rather long. Well, I just couldn't help it. I did not get all the news in, because some jumped on me Saturday for not putting their names in the paper. I really forget some and it was very important. Now you can't make me believe people don't like to see their name in black and white. I'll do my best not to forget any more.

It seems some are planning to come to the "get-together." I see that I was reminded I am chairman, so look out, you may be put on the program.

FARM INCREASE IN 5 YEARS

After remaining virtually stationary for 20 years after 1910, the number of farms in the United States increased an all-time high of 6,812,350 in the five years between 1930 and 1935. This was revealed in a bulletin of the committee of agriculture of the national association of manufacturers.

The bulletin, which announced results of the committee's study of the size, trend and character of the agricultural industry, noted an increase of 523,702 farm units in the five depression years since 1930. "Where did the farms come from," asks the report.

"Perhaps a few new farms were carved from the public domain, a few large units were divided and a few new sets of buildings were erected, but perhaps also many abandoned homesteads were re-occupied and places which had served only as homes for a generation did return to agricultural life."

While the number of farm units changed but little from 1910, when there were 6,361,502 United States farms, to 1930, when there were 6,288,648, the shift from east to west was revolutionary, the report points out. In this period acreage increased 43,696,000 acres or 14 per cent, but of this increase 35,000,000 consisted of wheat, rye, barley and cotton, which were all export crops.

Although the number of farm units remained substantially the same over the 20 year period, total population increased 33 1-3 per cent to 123,191,000.

MRS. R. N. SCRIVNER DIES IN PLAINVIEW

Mrs. Joe Ada Scrivner died Friday morning in Plainview sanatorium, after an illness of several months. Funeral services were conducted Saturday evening at the First Baptist church of Roaring Springs, with Rev. V. J. Lowrance officiating and burial was made in the East Mound cemetery of Matador.

Joe Ada Morrow was born August 23, 1880, in Eastland county. Was married to R. N. Scrivner July 22, 1898. To this union were born 2 children who survive.

Mrs. Scrivner, who had lived in Motley county 22 years, was known by every one for her kindly ways and friendly disposition.

She had been a member of the Baptist church for a number of years and lived the life of a devoted Christian.

She is survived by her husband, R. N. Scrivner, a son, J. N. Scrivner of Matador, and a daughter, Mrs. Estelle Turner of Flomot, two brothers, Edd Morrow of Desdemonia, and Charley Morrow of Spies Springs and a sister, Mrs. George Ashley of Leon Junction.

Relations from out-of-town who attended the funeral were Edd Morrow, Charley Morrow and Lee Scrivner and family of Plainview, Calvin Scrivner, Arthur Wilcox and sister, Mrs. L. B. Henson of Mullin, Charley Genaway of Desdemonia, J. A. Scrivner and daughter-in-law of Dermitt.—Roaring Springs Reporter.

Mrs. Scrivner was reared in Mills county and was a daughter of Joe Morrow, who lived on the ranch now owned by C. S. Welch in Center City community. The announcement of her passing was received with sadness by all of her Mills county friends.

Sentence of from 3 to 150 years was imposed upon Robert E. James, five times married before, convicted of a month's offense involving his 21-year-old niece in Los Angeles this week.

Modern improved carburetion gives you unusual gasoline mileage with brilliant V-8 performance. Most owners of today's Ford change oil only every 2000 miles and add none between changes. And after the first few thousand miles you begin to understand what Ford V-8 "dollar mileage" really means.

It gives you more miles per dollar because it gives you all-round economy—low first cost, low up-keep cost, low depreciation and long life—as well as low gasoline and oil consumption. News In Brief

Federal government has accepted the $50,000 building on the centennial in Dallas until changes in the physical structure of the building. The government objection is in the fire protection.

Income from liquor taxes and licenses under the state control act passed $3,000,000 Monday.

Italy officially warned France she would immediately leave the League of Nations and seek an alliance with Germany, unless a move is made to lift sanctions at the next Geneva meeting, diplomats said Monday night.

The senate passed Saturday and sent to the house a bill to curtail large benefit payments under the soil conservation act and farm control program. Benefit payments of $2,000 to $10,000 would be cut 25 per cent and that portion of payments in excess of $10,000 would be cut in half.

As a result of the supreme court decision invalidating the New York minimum wage law for women, Secretary Perkins has called a conference of the governors of the 17 states having minimum wage laws to map a course for the future. The governors were asked to meet in Washington June 16.

Representative Sam Rayburn of Texas will be either floor leader or speaker in the house of representatives in the next congress, it is believed certain. Rayburn will enter the race for the floor leadership if Speaker Bankhead stands for re-election to that post. Otherwise he will be a candidate for speaker.

Calling on Texas citizens to join the railroad commission in opposing attempts of Texas railroads to move their headquarters offices from the state, Chairman Ernest O. Thompson of the commission told the San Antonio Traffic club Monday that plans for such moves were "now hatching." Thompson said a law passed during Governor Hogg's administration requires railroads operating in Texas to maintain headquarters in the state. The roads might save money by concentrating in larger cities of St. Louis, Chicago and New York, but it would mean loss of employment to hundreds in Texas and make regulation more difficult, the speaker said.

President Roosevelt will be made an honorary chief of the Yaleta Tigua Indians, at the centennial at Dallas, June 12. This announcement came from 87-year-old chief of the little tribe which now lives in the El Paso valley.

A ruling that courts can take over bonus money for alimony developed a test case Saturday of the congressional provision safeguarding the two billion dollar fund for world war veterans. A Georgia judge ruled that an ex-serviceman who is to receive $225 in adjusted compensation certificates, would be held in contempt of court if he failed to cash them and surrender money for payments to his ex-wife.

Three applicants were refused places on the July 25 Democratic primary ballot by the state executive committee Monday in Dallas. Those rejected were John O. Douglas of Houston, candidate for attorney general; Jefferson T. Baker, Dallas, aspirant for the nomination as commissioner of agriculture, and B. M. Hatfield of Fort Worth, who filed as a candidate for governor. The committee held that Douglas' application arrived too late and was not sworn to as required by law, and that those of the others were not accompanied by the $100 filing fee.

A constitutional amendment to empower congress "to regulate agriculture, commerce, industry and labor" was proposed Monday by Chairman Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, of the senate judiciary committee. Introducing the amendment, Ashurst told the senate: "If additional power is needed by congress in order to enact social legislation, we must secure authority from the source of governmental power—the people themselves—by constitutional amendments and not by insisting that the supreme court shall make strained construction and misinterpretation of the constitution."

Col. E. H. R. Green, son of Hetty Green, famous woman financier, died in New York Saturday afternoon at the Lake Placid Club. He was born in London, England, August 22, 1868. In order to learn the railroad business, he worked as a section hand and foreman and then went to Cincinnati, where he became superintendent and managing director of the Ohio and Mississippi railroad at the age of 21. From there, young Green went to Chicago to look after his mother's large mortgage and real estate interests. He studied law and later was admitted to the bar in Texas. He was president of the Texas Midland railroad and lived in Terrell several years. He was an outstanding Republican.

POISON INSECT PESTS

Some timely hints for gardeners, whether they grow flowers or vegetables, are given by L. A. Niven in The Progressive Farmer:

"Frequently insects injure flowers greatly. These pests may be controlled by spraying or dusting. During spring sucking insects as plant lice and aphids frequently do great damage. Spray them with nicotine sulphate, using 1 1-2 teaspoons to a gallon of water in which enough soap is dissolved to make thin suds. Spray so as to come in direct contact with the insects, as they suck the juice from the inside of the leaves or tender stems and can be killed only by putting something on them that will burn them. Because they are usually on the under side of the leaves one must get the poison there and directly on them.

"For any of the eating insects, use a stomach poison such as arsenate of lead, Dutox, magnesium arsenate, etc. For a spray, use three teaspoons arsenate of lead to a gallon of water or five teaspoons magnesium arsenate, mixing in a small quantity of hydrated lime. With Dutox use two level teaspoons to a gallon of water.

"If one prefers to apply these poisons as a dust, mix one part arsenate of lead with four parts hydrated lime; one part magnesium arsenate to three parts hydrated lime; one part Dutox with two or three parts of lime or flour, and dust on thoroughly, covering all leaves and tender twigs.

"Ever yone with even a few flowers or vegetables about the place needs a small spray pump or a hand dust gun. The directions given for dusting or spraying flowers are also correct for vegetables."

HARDIN OPENS CAMPAIGN

CARL C. HARDIN

Carl Hardin, Stephenville, former state senator, opened his campaign before a home-coming crowd of 5,000 people Saturday. It was the largest public gathering in Erath county in several years.

Stephenville, Texas, June 3.—In response to an invitation from his friends and neighbors of 30 years standing, Senator Carl C. Hardin opened his campaign for the office of railroad commissioner in Stephenville Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. There were 5,000 people in the audience to hear him, most of them coming from all parts of Erath county, but there were others from adjoining counties. He spoke for 45 minutes and following that a citizens' committee served a barbecue lunch to one of the largest public gatherings here in years.

Senator Hardin has been in public service for the past 12 years, two years in the legislature and eight years in the senate, and since the day he graduated from John Tarleton college has been active in business and civic circles. He has the reputation in his home city of rendering more aid and assistance to the people than any other individual citizen.

During his last term in the senate, Hardin introduced and successfully passed the homestead tax exemption, relieving homesteads from taxation up to and including $3,000.00.

Changes he proposes in the operation of the Texas Railroad Commission in the event of his election were discussed freely in the opening address, among them being a policy of attending to the duties every day in the year. He likewise urged that the major companies be gauged by the same yardstick that measures the small independent operator. He also favors a vigorous and uninterrupted program of development in every county in Texas where oil possibilities exist, rather than curtailing such development. As a whole Senator Hardin emphasized the point that he would at all times aid in administering the duties of the railroad commission in a fair and constructive manner.

A citizens committee organized in Stephenville the past week contains the names of more than 50 Erath county people who propose to carry the campaign of Carl C. Hardin into every county in Texas, and in every way possible to recommend him for earnest consideration at the hands of the voters.

BUSYBODY

THE RECORD

The big boys want the old age pension to cost the least possible. The less it costs the less they will have to pay. If it is paid it must be paid from taxes. It would be fine if we could put the tax so it would hurt nobody and please everybody. A tax is seldom pleasant to one who pays.

I made my position clear during consideration of tax measures for the purpose. A wide range of light levies would be particularly burdensome to nobody. Such a measure was senate amendments to house bill No. 46. Besides it would have got the job done. I was one of twenty-three house members voting for that.

But an ideal tax is impossible. It must be one that will get the money and one that we can pass. If it will not raise the money or if we cannot pass it, then talking about it is mere politics.

I voted for a raise of four cents a barrel on the crude oil production tax and a stiff increase in the tax on the production of natural gas. These levies have the merit that eighty per cent of the tax is paid by people outside the state. I voted for a twenty-five per cent increase in the sulphur tax. This may have been unwise. We are now getting a half million less revenue from a seventy-five cent tax on sulphur than we got from a fifty-five cent tax. I voted against a fifteen cent tax on oleomargarine. At the present rate we collected from this tax last year was $7.50. The most we could hope to get at the proposed increase would be $21.50.

I voted against the chain store tax. If this law stands the test of the courts, it will bring a possible half million in revenue to the state and will cost the people of Texas ten millions in the increased cost of food. We can protect our independent merchants against unfair competition without such a burden on the people. Besides I want revenue measures to bring revenue to the state not to somebody else.

With these minor exceptions I voted for all tax propositions to pay old age pension. Hence the propaganda. The best way to prevent payment of the pension is to defeat those who tried to pay it. I obeyed your mandate at the polls.

Yours,
R. A. LUKER.

A DAY OF OPPORTUNITY

It is frequently stated that there are no more opportunities for business and financial advancement, such as were enjoyed by the people of former generations and this may be true in some respects, but certainly the door of opportunity has not closed. True, there is not the opportunity of pre-empting large bodies of real estate at little or no cost and there is not the opportunity to build vast enterprises from meagre beginnings, such as appeared in pioneer days in this country, but there are yet many and great opportunities for those who have the determination to fit themselves for advancement and are not depending on luck to carry them into a successful career in business enterprises or in professions. It is true that we are living today in a cycle of reconstruction and readjustment. Manpower in industry, in trade, in commerce, worn thin by several years of economic depression, is gradually being revitalized. In the new order of things, it is possible that the young people of the nation who have taken full advantage of opportunities to train their minds and to equip themselves with whatever benefits accrue from education, will find themselves possessed with as great an opportunity to progress in business as the young people of the past who entered in business and industries.

Each generation unquestionably produces its own choice opportunities. The railroads and steel mills fifty years ago provided a striking example of this truth. The automobile industry of twenty years ago is another case in point. These industries were at one period or another undergoing a profound growth, engaged in a pioneering job and tremendously in need of able young men whom they could develop and place in positions of major responsibility. Today, in a measure, the economic clock has been turned back to this early period and in the rebuilding of our business structure the trained young people of the nation have an unusual opportunity to play a major role.

HAZARDS OF THE HIGHWAYS

It is universally admitted that the hazard of travel on the highways is far too great and that if any progress is to be made in reducing hazard and horrible toll of automobile deaths and injuries, stringent methods must be adopted. Traffic codes must be modernized and enforced with the utmost strictness, and impartiality. A writer in a recent issue of American Mercury presented a new and interesting view of the automobile accident problem. He observed that, in the light of present-day conditions, it is not remarkable that 36,000 persons are being killed in traffic accidents annually—but that it is remarkable that the number is not several times as great.

In the average state, almost anyone not completely crippled can obtain a license to drive a car, irrespective of his ability, responsibility, intelligence or judgment. If he chooses, he can operate a car that belongs by rights in the junk heap—a car with an insupportable horn, feeble or glaring lights, uncertain brakes and a steering gear affected with St. Vitus dance. If he drives that car in a dangerous manner, cutting curves, weaving in and out of traffic and "giving her the gun" whenever possible, the chances are that he will escape arrest—and that if he is arrested, he will be assessed a small fine and permitted to go right on driving. When the inevitable finally occurs, and someone is killed or injured because of his recklessness or incompetence, he may have some trouble getting out of the mess—but that won't bring a dead person to life, and the same reckless driver will again be allowed to take the steering wheel and "step on the gas." It is time the public was taking interest and demanding a reduction in the hazards of the highways.

EVERY TEXAN INTERESTED

Every Texan should take pride in the great centennial celebration which opened in Dallas last Saturday at noon, the grand opening having been attended by a mighty host of people. While there will be celebrations in various parts of Texas, Dallas was designated as the main headquarters of the big show and will be so recognized throughout the world. This celebration is of more interest and importance to Texas and Texans than any of the exhibitions or fairs so far held. It should be the purpose of every citizen to visit the exhibition at some time during the year and ascertain just what the developments have been in this state during the last century. Expenditure of twenty-five million dollars has been made to acquaint the world at large and especially the people of Texas with the progress made in this state since the institution of the government of the commonwealth. Surely then, the people of Texas should all be sufficiently interested to make a visit to the exhibitions and acquaint themselves with the records.

PROOF OF IMPROVEMENT

There is no doubting that the country is building back rapidly and is a long way on the road to normal, if not real prosperity. The unemployment situation is the real "fly in the ointment" of the country over, but this condition has greatly improved in the last few months and continues in the way of betterment. Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins reports that business escaped the usual spring slump; that 225,000 workers were added to factory payrolls, during April and payrolls increased in the same period $4,200,000 a week. This gain brought the factory payroll index to where it stood in October, 1930. The report added that the durable goods industries, which have been the slowest to start recovery, "are making gains of major importance, especially so in furnace steel works, rolling mills, automobiles, electrical machinery, foundries and sawmills."

MUCH HELP EXTENDED

A report has been made public that at the completion of its first year on May 27, the federal farm credit administration had loaned $3,704,000,000 on more than 780,000 long-term first and second mortgage securities through the federal land banks and farm bank commissioner. The applications covered about half of all mortgaged farms in the country. The FCA has also built up facilities for making short term loans and loans to farmers' cooperatives and the volume loaned through these institutions is not far short of the tremendous amount advanced on farm mortgages through the land banks. Ninety per cent of mortgage loan proceeds was used to pay off debts, including taxes.

A GOOD NIGHT'S SLEEP

Sleep is a necessity of life and health, and habitual loss of sleep will tend to retard the body's recovery from the fatigue of the day's activities, the state health officer advises.

"The average healthy adult," he said, "spends about one-third of his life in sleep. Far from being a waste of time, this one-third of your life spent in restful sleep will make possible a happier, healthier and longer life.

"We may be able to go without sleep for a night or two, but too little sleep for a prolonged length of time will undermine the health of a rugged person and turn a cheerful individual into a cross, irritable one. When good health can be maintained to such a large degree by merely sleeping and thus allowing over-taxed bodies and minds to regain a proper balance, it is hard to understand why so many persons are heedless of this necessary requirement of a balanced program of life.

"Some individuals need more sleep than others, and the most valuable experiments in this line are the ones each person makes on himself. We must each take into consideration in this experiment, however, that how well we sleep is as important as how long we sleep. A 'good night's rest' means a sufficient number of hours spent in sleep to enable each individual to feel well, do efficient work, and to keep in a cheerful humor the next day.

"Some exercise out of doors each day will help us to sleep soundly at night. We must also have fresh air in our sleeping quarters. Give as much consideration as possible to the comfort of your bed and bedclothes. Do not muld over your plans and ideas after you have gone to bed. Make your plans early in the evening for a good night's rest by slowing down from the physical and mental work of your daily life. When you arise each morning rested and with a feeling of general well being, you will be amply repaid for your thought in planning a 'good night's sleep.'"

COST OF EMPIRE

After the shouting of Fascist crowds cheering Mussolini's promise that Italy "will march straight ahead," implying further military conquests, comes the unpleasant task of paying for the new African empire. Figures in the national ledger do not give cause for jubilation. Aside from the moral and political issues involved, the acquisition of Ethiopia may turn out to be a financially bad investment. The cost of gaining it has been tremendous. It is estimated that the war has cost Italy $1,000,000,000 and that her gold reserve, which was stated by the Bank of Italy to be about $350,000,000 on October 20, 1935, has been drained 63 per cent. How is the war cost to be met? At 5 per cent the $1,000,000,000 expenditure carries an annual service charge of $50,000,000. Before the war Ethiopia's trade never amounted to more than $5,000,000 a year. More money will have to be poured into that domain before the returns reach even the point where they can make a dent in the carrying charge of the war debt. Even Fascist apologists admit that the natural resources of Ethiopia are an unknown quantity. Granting that the resources come up to Italian hopes, a Roman financial writer says:

"... Industrial and mining development may accelerate transformation of the conquered territory into a state of modern civilization, this last goal being reached in 20 or 30 years." The cost he estimates at $7,000,000,000. Even if economic sanctions are lifted Rome can expect little help in the world market dominated by London. While Italy must tighten her belt to find the means of developing Ethiopia she still has her home situation to consider. If Duce, as seen from his latest speech, anticipates a European war in the near future and he intends to maintain a military establishment that will be prepared for it, Britain's rearmament program sets a goal that he must aim at. And the cost of large fighting forces is a drain on the exchequer.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

INCREASE IN INCOME DUE

The national income of the United States produced in April showed an extension of the rise which began in March after a four month's recession. The national income in April amounted to $4,734,000,000 as compared with $4,565,000,000 in March, an increase of 3.7 per cent according to the Alexander Hamilton Institute. As compared with the corresponding month last year when the income was $4,194,000,000, there was an increase in April this year of 1.9 per cent. For the first four months, the national income this year amounted to $18,449,000,000 as compared with $16,450,000,000 last year, an increase of 12.2 per cent.

The price level in April was only slightly higher than in March and it was lower than in April of last year. The increase in the national income consequently resulted in a higher output and more active business. The total output of all products in April was 3.5 per cent higher than in March and 13.4 per cent higher than in the corresponding month of last year. For the first four months, the price level was less than one per cent higher than a year ago. Consequently, nearly all the increase in the national income was reflected in a gain in business activity. The output of all products during the first four months was 11.2 per cent higher than a year ago.

As compared with the first four months of 1933, when production for such a period was at the low for the depression the output in 1936 showed an increase of 24.6 per cent. As compared with the first four months of the pre-depression year 1929, however, the output in 1936 was 16.9 per cent smaller. In other words, the output in the first four months of 1936 represented the recovery of 49.2 per cent of the ground lost in the depression. This recovery in output was due to the fact that the advance in prices from the low for the depression was less rapid than the gain in the national income. Prices in 1936, relative to the national income, were much higher, however, than in 1929. This explains why production in 1936 still fell considerably short of the full recovery level.

The increase in total production in April over March was due entirely to gains in mining and manufacturing activity. Shipments of agricultural products declined. The output of mine products in April was 5.6 per cent higher than in March while the output of manufactured goods showed an increase of 7.2 per cent. Shipments of agricultural products in April, on the other hand, were 3.3 per cent lower than in March. As compared with a year ago, however, all factors in April showed gains. Mine production increased 19.0 per cent, factory output 14.3 per cent, and shipments of agricultural products 10.6 per cent. Similarly, for the first four months, all factors showed gains over a year ago. For this period, mine output rose 10.5 per cent, factory output rose 8.0 per cent, and shipments of agricultural products rose 17.7 per cent.

The output of both bituminous coal and petroleum, two of the most important factors in mine productions, contributed to the expansion in this field. The output of bituminous coal in April was 2.3 per cent higher than in March and 45.5 per cent higher than in the corresponding month last year. For the first four months, coal production was 9.1 per cent larger than a year ago. The output of petroleum in April rose to the highest figure on record, showing an increase of 18.6 per cent over the output in the same month last year. For the first four months, the increase over last year amounted to 14.1 per cent.

COST OF RELIEF

In a final report on the federal emergency relief administration, Harry L. Hopkins said Saturday that relief activities cost the federal government nearly $300,000,000 more in 1935 than in 1934. His report showed also that from January 1, 1933, to December 31, 1935, when the federal government ended the so-called dole, the total cost of relief was $4,096,433,267.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Views of the Nation's Press on Topics of Interest and Importance

JAPAN'S NEW WEAPON

Japan's dumping of many cheap commodities into north China, landing places for distribution has a semblance of legitimacy. Import tariffs amounting to about one-fourth the rate designated by the Nanking government are paid at collection stations under Japanese domination; but this revenue is not remitted to Nanking. Chinese officials are powerless to remonstrate because they are unarmed, and interference would result in Japanese protests. Important railway stations are patrolled by constantly increasing Japanese troops. China's economic and financial status is seriously menaced by the influx of cheap goods, that pleases the Chinese people at the same time it further threatens their subjugation. China's open door remains legally open, yet foreign nations can not compete with Japanese dumping. China's central government is principally maintained from customs revenue. Japan's plan, therefore, is believed a direct effort to reduce China's economic independence while at the same time practically dominating north China's markets. Great Britain has protested these Japanese tactics; but it has affairs to attend to in Europe, India and Egypt. Furthermore, Japan knows that while the United States values its far eastern trade, it values the virtues of peace too much to use war as an instrument for maintaining Chinese trade. Japan knows, also, that China distrusts and dislikes Russian communism. Japan's aggressive policy may result in leaving an economic open door that no other nation can use, but observers may still ask: Has Japan forgotten that China counts her victories by centuries and that her ability to absorb her invaders has always been more powerful than the economic or military weapons used against her?—Indianapolis News.

WHY JAPAN CAN UNDER SELL

Japanese industrialists buy American cotton, transport that cotton to New Orleans, load it on boats for Japan, carry it to a cotton mill, spin the fiber into cloth, ship the cloth back to the United States, scale what now is a 60 per cent tariff wall and sell their product at a price which yields them a substantial profit, but which American manufacturers say is ruinous.

How do they do it? By a combination of Oriental wages with modern machinery is the usual reply.

Partly that, say department of commerce officials who have studied the situation, but not entirely. Highly integrated industrial organization, they claim, provides the biggest part of the answer.

Agents of an industrial hierarchy buy the cotton in the American south. This cotton moves on ships owned and operated by the hierarchy. Its banks finance the scale and shipment. Its railroads provide transportation in Japan. Its mills do the manufacturing and its ships carry the finished product back to the American market. One profit can suffice. All operations are planned for efficiency, from the time the raw cotton is purchased, until it is ready for sale as a finished product.—United States News.

PROVISIONAL OFFICERS

Pending in the lower house of congress is a bill to amend the adjusted compensation act so as to provide payment of the bonus to provisional officers in the service during the world war. When the regular army and navy were expanded early in 1917, several hundred men were given provisional commissions, particularly in the army. Many of them failed to remain in the service, for one reason or another, after the war. Others received permanent commissions and, of course, cannot be considered entitled to the bonus. But those provisional officers who did not take up professional careers and returned to civil life soon after the war should be put in the same category as the

MASKS AND ROBES

Contemporary with the original Klan or following it swiftly came an amazing number of somewhat similar organizations, and one historian is said to estimate that there were as many as a hundred different groups that rode by night for their own purposes. The next era of night-riding came in the bitter battles between tobacco growers and buyers, and the influence was felt chiefly in the black belt of Kentucky and Tennessee. The period featured floggings, barn burnings, some killings, a raid in force on Hopkinsville, Ky., in 1907, and the generation of a remarkable amount of animosity, suspicion and fear. Then came the second Klan, organized on Stone Mountain in Georgia in 1915 on Thanksgiving night. It was another racial and religious prejudice and hatred proposition, and eventually grew widespread and took in a great deal of money. The real beginning of its end came with the trial and conviction of D. C. Stephenson of Indiana, a former grand dragon in his state, for the murder of a girl. All these movements have been alike in that they gave play, soon or late, to the worst passions of the worst elements in any community where they existed. They have been, as a rule, subversive from their beginning of all the best things for which America stands, for they have represented the essentially cowardly resolve of certain minorities to impress their own ideas and beliefs on others by secret, devious and cruel means. In every other instance they have proved to contain within themselves the seeds of their own destruction, and the Black Legion is obviously no exception. They indicate the need for more true Christianity and genuine education, on the whole.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

MODERN FARM WOMEN

The 6,500 farm women who listened to an address by President Roosevelt in Washington Monday, represent a long step in advance for the farm women of a generation ago. Many of the farm women of earlier days were heroic—they had to be to survive. Yet most of their time was spent in drudgery. They spent many hours of the day in hot, steamy kitchens; usually they had to take care of the garden and the chickens; some of them had to help with plowing and harvesting in emergencies.

Such conditions still exist in too many instances, but the status of most farm women have undergone a change for the better. Electricity has brought lighting, refrigeration and other conveniences to the farm house, while additional improvements have lightened the work of the farm wife and given her time for recreation. The radio now brings music and other entertainment to the farmhouse, and farm wives find increasing time for club meetings and other social activities. Politicians have learned that the votes of farm women are worth going after.

The time was when ambitious farm girls wanted to move to the city as soon as they could, hoping to marry men in business. Now, with city conveniences on the farm, the situation is almost reversed. When a farm girl comes to town to marry, it may be because city girls have captured all the eligible farmers.—Dallas News.

The word "provisional" in the commissions is evidence in itself that the government did not guarantee to these men a full-time career in the military or naval service.—Kansas City Star.

AN OLD-TIME HORSE TRADE

A very amusing horse trade was pulled off here recently, indicating that Barnum was really right and that the old-time horse swappers are still here and about.

For some time during April of each year the Gazette has carried a story telling of an elderly mare owned by C. S. Shartzler, feed dealer, who lives in West Leitchfield. The mare, "Daisy," was 39 years old this spring.

Last winter Mr. Shartzler decided to dispose of her. With many regrets, he disposed of the aged animal for $10, after she had served him faithfully for more than three decades.

"Daisy," never having been overworked and kept in fine fettle by her original owner, looked like a good buy to any one not acquainted with her age. The farmer buying her saw an opportunity to make a profit in offering "Daisy" for sale. He succeeded in getting $20 in cash and a young mule in a trade with a lady who soon discovered that her newly-acquired buggy horse had the heaves and was setting in on years, a fact the farmer overlooked when he said she was 10 years old, which was true, but she was also three times ten.

The farmer, threatened with a suit, traded back with the lady and the last that was heard of "Daisy" was that she was headed for Brownsville, where she was not so well known.

Moral: Read your county paper every week and it will save you money, time and worry.—Leitchfield, Kentucky, Gazette.

THE MAN DETERMINED TO GET AHEAD

In spite of the obstacles and difficulties a young man must face in this day and age, it seems there is one place where he has as good an opportunity as his grandfather had. Says The Progressive Farmer:

"We are bound to feel that the man who is determined to get ahead on the farm has a better chance to do so than when The Progressive Farmer was founded 50 years ago. There was then no chance to buy a farm and take 30 years to pay for it, such as Federal Land Banks now offer us. There was then almost no chance such as the PCA offers us to escape paying 'time prices' for production credit. There was no chance to take up some new line of farming with expert scientific guidance, such as county agents now offer us. There was no soil conservation service to help farmers maintain soil fertility. There was no chance for the farm boy to learn vocational agriculture or to join 4-H club. Nor did ambitious older farmers have an opportunity to attend 'evening classes' such as agricultural teachers now hold each year.

"Does an ambitious young townsman with a small business of his own have as good a chance to succeed in 1936 as his father had in 1886? No. Business competition is far keener. But an ambitious young couple who have a farm and are genuinely determined to get ahead have a better chance than a generation ago."

PIONEER CITIZEN PASSED AWAY

Mr. A. J. Harrison, a long-time citizen of Goldthwaite, passed away at his residence in this city Tuesday morning at an early hour, after several years of ill health, although he was not considered to be in a serious condition until a short time before his death, which was said to have been the direct result of uremic poisoning.

Mr. Harrison came to Goldthwaite in the early days of the town's history and was engaged in the insurance and real estate business for a number of years, retiring from that business to accept the appointment of postmaster. After serving a number of years in that office, he retired to his farm home, west of town, for some time, but was again called to the post office and served a good many years, both of his terms as postmaster aggregating approximately twenty-six years. During all of these years his official record was clear at all times and his service to the public made many friends for him. He was a leader in the Republican party and had the acquaintance and friendship of a large number of the outstanding members of that political party.

Mr. Harrison is survived by four daughters and three sons. His daughters are: Mrs. Chas. McKamey of Denison, Mrs. John Wait of Shanghai, China; Mrs. Wallace Brown of Kennedy and Miss Doris Harrison of this city. His sons are D. H. Harrison of Brownwood; Jake Harrison of San Saba and Max Harrison of this city. He is also survived by one sister, Miss Emma Harrison of this city.

He was a member of the Baptist church and his funeral was conducted in that church Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, after which interment was made in the cemetery at this place. The large gatherings at these services gave evidence of the high esteem and friendship in which Mr. Harrison was held by the people of Goldthwaite and surrounding country.

P. O. KELLY PASSED AWAY

May 29, 1936, "Uncle Tobe" Kelly passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Will Snow. He had been a shut-in for five years and a few days before he passed on he was heard to say he had spent his time here and was ready to go. He was a member of the Methodist church of Bethel and lived a Christian life.

He was born in Montgomery county and lived there until 13 years of age. He left home to drive cattle on the "Old Chisholm Trail." He later went back to DeWitte county and married Miss Georgia Crossen. Two children were born to them—a boy and a girl. After his wife's and son's death he left there and came to Mills county, that being the fifth day of September, 1885. He married Miss Frances Whitten and to this union were born four boys and four girls. His wife, two sons and one daughter have preceded him in death. EBONY

The Wilmeth family enjoyed a family reunion over the week-end at Riverside farm, the Wilmeth homestead. The occasion was the celebration of the eighty-third birthday of Grandma Wilmeth. Although her birthday was Wednesday, June 3, Grandma Wilmeth was the recipient of a surprise birthday party Saturday night, June 6. All the family assembled in the dining room, where was displayed a cake decorated with wild pink phlox and bearing 83 pink candles. A picnic supper was served with cake and punch at the last.
