

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1936

NUMBER TWO

Summoned County Court

Brother Duke has announced a meeting to begin September 14. The Rev. Charles Nixon, presiding elder of the Llano district, will do the preaching for the meeting and the music will be in charge of local talent.

Methodist Notes

Brother Nixon seems to be a revised edition of some presiding elder we have known; he believes in his duty and privilege to engage in any work that pertains to his office. He has held several meetings within the bounds of his district and with eminent success. He is a good preacher and a very democratic and popular preacher. We look forward to the meeting with pleasure.

It is well for all of us to remember that the success of this meeting, like every other that has been held, will depend measurably upon the local congregation. If the membership does not enter wholeheartedly into the work; meet all the requirements essential to success, we need not hope for the success desired. Let us see to it that those leading have the full co-operation in this good work.

It is scarcely necessary to emphasize the fact that it is going to be needful that the choir be faithful in attendance. As a matter of fact the choir at the Methodist church here has never been reluctant in this great work, or delinquent in any duty. Let us all, as has been our custom, be on hand all the time, and promptly, so as to render the best possible service. I feel sure that all will adhere to this suggestion now as they have always done in the past.

As I write these notes the entire community sits in mourning, owing to the heart-breaking tragedies that have come to us. Two of our young people have within five days been snatched into eternity in an instant. Both Miss Saylor and Wayne Hamilton were among our brightest and finest young people, and the entire community weeps with the families of the two.

It is sad when any one is called away, even by natural causes. But when two young people of such promise in way of future usefulness, are snatched from us in an instant, we think of it as heartrending in the extreme. If we attempt to express our heartfelt sympathy for the bereaved our own words seem to come back to us in empty mockery. So the best we can do is to sit and weep with them, and look up into the face of Him who alone knoweth our hearts, and can sympathize with us as can no earthly being.

We note at the time this is being written that the teachers of our schools are arriving and planning their work for the year. These, for the time being, become very important factors in our lives. To them is entrusted, in a great measure, the future of our young people. Custodians of this priceless trust, they deserve and should have the best consideration of our citizenship. If we look over the history of our great men and women, and search for the secret of their greatness we usually find standing in the background some faithful school teacher whose glory has been unknown and unsung. Let us give them a hearty welcome among us.

Information Asked About Minerals Here

The greatest treasure hunt in the history of Texas is underway from the Gulf to the Red River and from Louisiana to New Mexico.

Back of this unique search is the mineral resource committee, a unit of the Texas planning board, which is seeking the location and character of every mineral deposit in the state.

Preliminary work reveals Texas as to be exceedingly rich in minerals. Mineralogists in the employ of the committee have located and classified most of these minerals but in Mills county there are deposits of clays and sandstone which haven't been fully located.

Residents of Mills county who know anything about these deposits can render a great service to the state by sending full information to the Texas Planning Board, Austin, Texas.

A DELIGHTFUL PARTY

Among the many social affairs of late summer, none were more enjoyable than the party given in honor of Miss Dorothy Mathis of Kingsville, by Miss Geraldine Hester at her home on Friday evening of last week.

The young people who enjoyed this affair will soon be leaving for school at different places during the winter and as time for departure came each expressed the hope of having Miss Mathis with us again and meeting at Gerry's for another party.

Nazarene Remarks

Today (Friday, September 4) is the day for the zone rally. The program will be in progress throughout the day at the local church. Beginning at 10 o'clock this morning a program will be rendered by the ministers of the zone, followed by a sermon by Rev. H. G. Donovan of Moody, Texas. In the afternoon, beginning at 1:30, the Sunday school workers will render a program. From 3 to 4:30 p. m. the W. F. M. S. will have charge of the service. The N. Y. P. S. program will begin at 7:30 this evening. A good program has been arranged for the evening by the various churches of the zone. Special speakers on the evening program include Miss Mollie Copeland of Mason and Rev. Hamm of Brownwood. Miss Copeland is an outstanding trained junior and young people's worker. You will be pleased to hear her. Bro. Hamm will preach at the close of the program. The public is invited to all of these programs. The young people are urged to attend the evening service especially, as this will assist them in keeping the attendance banner which they have won at every zone rally since the banner has been awarded. All ages count the same amount of points; so come and bring the children.

The meeting which has been planned for the last two months for September 13-27, is very near now. Just a little over a week now and we will be in the meeting. Bro. Theus will arrive on September 15 to continue the meeting to the closing date. Let all plan to attend.

SPECIAL SHOW TO BE GIVEN FOR "SHUT-INS"

A special free show will be given at the Melba theatre at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, September 17, for all of the indispensed people in Mills county, according to Miss Annie Louise Coleman, manager. The show will feature Shirley Dean in "The First Baby."

Those who know of any people who can see this show, are asked to turn in the names at the Melba theatre so special invitations can be sent to them. However, if anyone does not get an invitation, it will be because their names have not been turned in to the theatre, but they are invited just the same, said Miss Coleman.

GOING AWAY SHOWER

On Tuesday afternoon, September 1, Mrs. Oliver Carothers and Miss Geraldine Hester were joint hostesses at the home of Miss Hester, in honor of Miss Daphne Evans who is leaving Sunday for Austin to enter nursing's training at Seton infirmary.

Marigolds, zinnias and periwinkles were the flowers chosen for decorative effects. Tables were placed in the spacious living room and four games of bridge were played. Mrs. Farest Frazier was the winner of high score, a lovely jar of sachet powder, which she presented to the honoree. Then the tea guests began to arrive and refreshments were served, after which Miss Constance Trent, dressed in a nurses uniform came in rolling a tea cart upon which were many gifts, so placed as to represent a surgical dressing cart in a hospital. Miss Evans was told that she must take a lesson in first aid, she then began opening the many beautiful and useful gifts which loving friends had so happily showered upon her. Space forbids naming them all here, but let it suffice to say that every one in Goldthwaite loves Daphne and wishes her success in her chosen profession. This occasion will long be cherished in the memory of all so fortunate as to be present.

Schools To Open Monday Sept. 7

Opening of school next week calls the attention of Goldthwaite people to the fact that this community has a school system in which everyone may and should take pride. Those who have children in school may congratulate themselves upon the excellent educational opportunities open to them. Goldthwaite schools have a modern, well equipped plant. The teachers are experienced and thoroughly competent, the courses offered combine the practical with the cultural, and the quality of the work done is attested both by the credits allowed by the State University and other universities and colleges of high rank and by the excellent scholastic records that the graduates of the Goldthwaite high school have made in them.

Those who do not have children in school also have the right to be proud of the record the school has made because outsiders and newcomers invariably judge a town by its schools.

Under the guidance of Superintendent A. H. Smith especially gratifying progress has been made. He has the confidence and wholehearted support of the board of trustees, the admiration and respect of the students, and the friendly co-operation of the patrons and other citizens.

Nazarene Remarks

Today (Friday, September 4) is the day for the zone rally. The program will be in progress throughout the day at the local church. Beginning at 10 o'clock this morning a program will be rendered by the ministers of the zone, followed by a sermon by Rev. H. G. Donovan of Moody, Texas. In the afternoon, beginning at 1:30, the Sunday school workers will render a program. From 3 to 4:30 p. m. the W. F. M. S. will have charge of the service. The N. Y. P. S. program will begin at 7:30 this evening. A good program has been arranged for the evening by the various churches of the zone. Special speakers on the evening program include Miss Mollie Copeland of Mason and Rev. Hamm of Brownwood. Miss Copeland is an outstanding trained junior and young people's worker. You will be pleased to hear her. Bro. Hamm will preach at the close of the program. The public is invited to all of these programs. The young people are urged to attend the evening service especially, as this will assist them in keeping the attendance banner which they have won at every zone rally since the banner has been awarded. All ages count the same amount of points; so come and bring the children.

The meeting which has been planned for the last two months for September 13-27, is very near now. Just a little over a week now and we will be in the meeting. Bro. Theus will arrive on September 15 to continue the meeting to the closing date. Let all plan to attend.

SPECIAL SHOW TO BE GIVEN FOR "SHUT-INS"

A special free show will be given at the Melba theatre at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, September 17, for all of the indispensed people in Mills county, according to Miss Annie Louise Coleman, manager. The show will feature Shirley Dean in "The First Baby."

Those who know of any people who can see this show, are asked to turn in the names at the Melba theatre so special invitations can be sent to them. However, if anyone does not get an invitation, it will be because their names have not been turned in to the theatre, but they are invited just the same, said Miss Coleman.

GOING AWAY SHOWER

On Tuesday afternoon, September 1, Mrs. Oliver Carothers and Miss Geraldine Hester were joint hostesses at the home of Miss Hester, in honor of Miss Daphne Evans who is leaving Sunday for Austin to enter nurse's training at Seton infirmary.

Marigolds, zinnias and periwinkles were the flowers chosen for decorative effects. Tables were placed in the spacious living room and four games of bridge were played. Mrs. Farest Frazier was the winner of high score, a lovely jar of sachet powder, which she presented to the honoree. Then the tea guests began to arrive and refreshments were served, after which Miss Constance Trent, dressed in a nurses uniform came in rolling a tea cart upon which were many gifts, so placed as to represent a surgical dressing cart in a hospital. Miss Evans was told that she must take a lesson in first aid, she then began opening the many beautiful and useful gifts which loving friends had so happily showered upon her. Space forbids naming them all here, but let it suffice to say that every one in Goldthwaite loves Daphne and wishes her success in her chosen profession. This occasion will long be cherished in the memory of all so fortunate as to be present.

A GUEST.

Schools To Open Monday Sept. 7

Opening of school next week calls the attention of Goldthwaite people to the fact that this community has a school system in which everyone may and should take pride. Those who have children in school may congratulate themselves upon the excellent educational opportunities open to them. Goldthwaite schools have a modern, well equipped plant. The teachers are experienced and thoroughly competent, the courses offered combine the practical with the cultural, and the quality of the work done is attested both by the credits allowed by the State University and other universities and colleges of high rank and by the excellent scholastic records that the graduates of the Goldthwaite high school have made in them.

Those who do not have children in school also have the right to be proud of the record the school has made because outsiders and newcomers invariably judge a town by its schools.

Under the guidance of Superintendent A. H. Smith especially gratifying progress has been made. He has the confidence and wholehearted support of the board of trustees, the admiration and respect of the students, and the friendly co-operation of the patrons and other citizens.

TRIP TO MEXICO CITY EASY FOR AUTOS NOW

Completion of the new Mexican highway has made it possible to travel all the way from Laredo to Mexico City over paved or improved gravel roads. The following state highway report, furnished by John G. Berry, gives an interesting description of the trip:

The first concern of the tourist when leaving Laredo, Texas, is the matter of entering a foreign country. The requirements of Mexico are exacting but not difficult to meet. For the benefit of those who have not had previous experience in crossing an international border, it is suggested that detailed information be obtained from the Laredo chamber of commerce before starting across the international bridge.

Each tourist is required to fill in an application for tourist passport, on which must be given the full name, sex, age, occupation, nationality, home address, intended destination, amount of money carried, and duration of the trip. In addition to this personal information anyone taking an automobile into Mexico must present the license receipt which gives the type, make, size (4, 6 or 8 cylinders), color, motor number and serial number, whether or not a radio is included with the car, and the serial number of all tires. This detailed information is given here so that the tourist can be prepared for giving such information when entering Mexico. Also information should be obtained regarding re-entry into the United States after having visited Mexico. At times vaccination has been required before re-entering the United States. The requirements in this respect, as well as other information, can be obtained at Laredo before entering Mexico.

It is suggested that the traveler, before making this trip, be sure that his car and tires are in good condition due to the fact that accommodation for car and tire repairs are very limited. One or two extra tubes should be carried, as well as a pressure gauge in order that the tire pressures can be kept at the desired point. Filling stations where oil and gas can be bought are available throughout the entire distance and need not cause the tourist any more concern than in the United States.

Anyone not accustomed to conditions in Mexico should eat lightly at first. Only cooked meats and vegetables and peeled fruits should be eaten. A jug of drinking water should be carried throughout the trip. Mineral water is available in Mexico and should be drunk at all times, unless one is sure of the source of local drinking water.

It is suggested that the traveler arrange his trip in such a manner that he can avail himself of the best accommodations along the route. Experiences during our trip to and from Mexico City indicated the following towns as offering the most desirable accommodations: Monterrey, Victoria, Villa Juarez, and Tamazunchale. At this time there are several tourist camps under construction at Valles and these will probably be completed within the next sixty days. When completed, these tourist camps will no doubt compare favorably with those in the United States.

After entering Mexico, one can travel 524 miles before there is any break in the 20' asphalt pavement. At this point is located the village of Matlapa, from which is started the ascent of the real mountains. For a distance of 70 miles, after leaving this village, one must travel over a smooth full-width base course which is dusty but otherwise pleasant traveling. About midway of this section of base course, a slide had occurred which at the time of our trip required that the workmen have about 400' to 500' of road blocked at times during the day. This short portion, however, was opened at frequent intervals so that no great delay need be anticipated by the traveling public. Judging from the rapidity with which Mexico has been doing her highway construction work, this 70 mile section of base will, in all probability be topped in the very near future. It is not known how traffic will be handled when this section of base is being paved, but observations made during our stay in Mexico indicate that traffic will be directed over one-half width of the base while the other half of any given section is being paved. At the end of this section is located the village of Jacala, from which point asphalt pavement extends into Mexico city.

The mountainous section between Matlapa and Jacala should be traversed during the morning hours to avoid afternoon fog and rain. We were told when in Mexico City, that the rainy season begins about June 15 and ends about November 1. However, the weather conditions in Mexico City are very pleasant during the entire year. The traveler need have no fear of being marooned by high water since all of the structures have been completed, thereby eliminating the necessity of any detours. At no place during the entire trip is a person further than thirty-five miles in one direction or another from a fairly good sized town.

We found the Mexican people with whom we came in contact most polite, considerate and very anxious to please the tourist. The trip was most enjoyable and I would not hesitate in making the trip at any time during the year, but would prefer to make it during the dry season.

Anyone going into Mexico for the first time should spend some time acquainting himself with the conditions to be encountered in order that after entering Mexico he can enjoy to the fullest a country whose civilization is very, very old and which is unsurpassed in scenic grandeur and beauty.

UNCLE SAM'S 'TREASURE CHEST'

Fifty armored trains carrying more than six billion dollars worth of Uncle Sam's gold stock will soon be heading for a modern "cold storage" strong box in the Kentucky hills.

In line with the new governmental policy of transferring gold reserves from coastal cities to interior points, one of the most modern vaults is rapidly nearing completion on the Camp Knox (Kentucky) military reservation.

Reason back of the interior "strong box" is the ever-present shadow even in peace-time of the possibility of invasion by foreign foes. In 1935, it will be remembered more than $2,000,000,000 in gold bullion was removed from San Francisco to the impregnable Denver mint.

The treasure chest under construction in the Kentucky hills is a marvel of modern engineering. Equipped with every known "burglar proof" device it is situated on a military reservation occupied by 1,400 regular army troops. Mechanized cavalry

WHAT TO EAT

That vigorous good health depends not alone upon freedom from disease, but upon the proper amounts and kinds of foods eaten is stressed in a statement from the state health officer.

The human body may be compared to a steam-engine burning fuel for steam, which furnishes power. The food we eat is a fuel and when digested and absorbed gives the energy necessary to live and go about our daily activities.

In considering the proper amount of food for our individual needs, we should take into consideration the kind of work our body will be called upon to perform during the days. When more food is taken into the body and artillery units compose the outer circle of the immense gold box.

Moving the nation's gold stocks is a study in human precision and mechanical timing. In the case of the transfer from San Francisco to Denver, the gold was placed aboard heavily armored trucks late at night, and guards convoyed the trucks to the train terminal. There the gold was placed on regular postal cars and the metal was off for Denver, shipped as regular parcel post and supervised by postal inspectors.

However, removal of the gold from New York and Philadelphia to the Kentucky vault will require stronger precautions. For weeks now secret conferences have been held in an effort to provide the perfect schedule. This is the way the schedule will in all probability work—

Under armed supervision of postal inspectors and secret service agents the precious metal will be checked out of New York and Philadelphia mints. Municipal plain-clothes-men and uniformed metropolitan police will line the route to be taken by the armored trucks. Postal inspectors will be on hand at the railroad terminals to check the shipment into the 50 or more armored trains which may be required.

When the gold begins its journey down the railroad tracks local police authorities along the route will have been advised and will probably order special details of detectives to keep an eye on the activities of known criminals in their areas. Not yet decided upon is the question of using military precautions along the gold route.

When the bullion arrives at Camp Knox, it will immediately be checked into the "fort-like" vault. The structure of the vault consists of two stories situated on a raised ground level. The exterior of the vault is granite. The interior is built entirely of steel and concrete. The vaults dimensions are 105 by 121 feet.

Although constructed in the modern manner from the shaft-work to the finished building there is a touch of the medieval in the plans which call for two water-filled moats to encircle the strong-box. Just a touch of a button will permit the subterranean vaults to be flooded. Science has contributed torch-proof steel, "burglar-proof" locks and the photo-electric eye toward the safety of the precious metal.—United States News.

than is needed to carry on its activities, extra work is thrown on the organs that carry off waste. This is especially true of the kidneys, and often results in serious after effects.

The growing child will need more tissue building food than older people, but must also have the foods which supply heat and energy, and minerals to regulate the body. The foods which contain vitamins, such as fruits, vegetables and milk are necessary to old and young alike.

The various kinds of foods needed by the body are: Tissue building foods—meats, fish, milk, beans and nuts. Energy and heat giving foods—bread and cereals, fats and all sweets. Foods containing minerals—vegetables, fruits and whole wheat. Foods rich in vitamins—milks, vegetables and fruits.

An important thing to remember in our food problems is the fact that it is not necessary to eat until we feel "filled up." Take plenty of time eating and do not follow food fads or eat certain things because they agree with some friend who has recommended them to you. If your food does not agree with you, go to your physician and let him find out what is causing the trouble.

The November 3 ballot, superseded an opinion rendered by the department four years ago in which it was held that the names of electors should be placed on the ballot. Each party with national candidates has twenty-three electors in Texas.

A warning that the nation was headed for another all-time record of slaughter on its highways was sounded Thursday by the national safety council as it released figures showing July to be the third successive month with more fatalities than the corresponding period last year. There were 3,180 traffic deaths last month, 3 per cent more than the 3,090 recorded for July, 1935.

The federal reserve board reported last week that seasonally adjusted business barometers continued to swing upward during July. Production, employment and trade increased further last month when allowance was made for usual seasonal changes, the board said, adding that commodity prices continued to advance and money rates remained at extremely low levels.

TEXAS DEMOCRATS START CAMPAIGN

With the second Democratic primary concluded, plans for an intensive, state-wide campaign for Roosevelt and Garner were being rapidly shaped up this week, drives for campaign funds, drives for votes, and already there has been much response, Texans realizing the people of this state must help out in the national picture even if Roosevelt is assured of carrying Texas, says a statement from Texas Democratic headquarters.

In the meantime, due to certain remarks made by John D.

M. Hamilton at Dallas, Texas Confederate veterans have become aroused. Hamilton is Republican national chairman and in his Texas speech compared Roosevelt with Santa Anna, saying the Republicans are fighting Roosevelt as the early Texans did Santa Anna and the Mexican yoke.

This displeased the old veterans, and despite their years, (all over 90), several came to state headquarters for the national campaign, supported by crutches and canes, but the fighting spirit still existed in their breasts, for they insisted on all Texans taking up the fight on Hamilton and Landon. All of them gave $1 in cash and a million dollars in fighting spirit.

"The least we can say about Hamilton is that he doesn't know anything about Texas history," M. L. McCurdy, 94, said. "Santa Anna oppressed and tyrannized the Texas farmers and ranchers until they had to revolt, while Roosevelt saved them during the depression. There is a great contrast, but Hamilton doesn't know it. Some one ought to send him a history of Texas."

Section 3: All of such taxes so levied, except the occupation tax shall be due and payable on the first day of October A. D. 1936, and on and after said date, the city tax collector is hereby authorized and empowered to collect and receipt for the same before and until the first day of February A. D. 1937; and if said taxes are not paid before such date, there shall be taxed against the owner of said real and personal property, and all property hereby taxed, a penalty, which shall be the same as that provided by statutes of Texas, for delinquent state and county taxes, and to conform in all respects to said statutes, hereby assessing such penalty and interest as the civil statutes provide for delinquent state and county taxes.

shall be placed in the general fund. After said taxes have become delinquent, the city tax collector, by virtue of his office, is authorized to levy upon, seize and sell said property, real and personal, for the payment of delinquent taxes, as provided by the laws of the state of Texas.

The fact that no ordinance has been passed levying taxes for the year 1936, and that assessments have been made and that the tax roll should be made, creates a public emergency, and renders it imperative and necessary that the rule requiring ordinances to be read at three several meetings, be suspended, and the same is, by unanimous consent, suspended, and this ordinance is passed to its third and last reading and passed and adopted by unanimous vote of the city council of the City of Goldthwaite, Texas, on this the 3rd day of August, A. OUR NEW REPRESENTATIVE

Tolbert Patterson, the Democratic nominee for representative from the 104th district, Comanche and Mills county; has had an interesting life and the hard work he did in seeing the voters and putting his platform before them during the recent campaign seems to have been due to a habit he acquired in boyhood.

Mr. Patterson was born at Star, Mills county, April 24, 1904, being the eldest of the three children of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Patterson. A brother finished school under Mr. Patterson at Mullin last May and will enter either Tarleton or T. C. U. this fall. He also has a sister.

His father is a stock farmer and has been a home owner for twenty-eight years.

After attending school in the community where he was reared, Tolbert Patterson entered John Tarleton college at Stephenville for his high school work and continued there for his junior college work where he took an agriculture course, graduating in 1926. He paid all his own expenses for the first two years at college by milking cows at a dairy.

After finishing at Tarleton, Mr. Patterson continued his education at Southwestern university at Georgetown, graduating with a B. A. degree in 1929. He then entered the University of Texas and received a M. A. degree in 1931. During the summer months Mr. Patterson either taught or attended summer school.

Mr. Patterson has taught for twelve years, his first school being at Mount Olive in Mills county and for the past three years he has been superintendent at Mullin. His teaching experience includes three years as county school supervisor of Williamson county of which Georgetown is the county seat. He also taught two summer sessions at Southwestern university.

Mr. Patterson had his first connection with Comanche county in 1934 when he came here as an assistant to County Agent J. A. Barton during the summer.

He is a farm owner and has always been interested in general farm problems, especially in live stock and soil conservation. Mr. Patterson has a start of blooded Herefords on his farm and believes that the stock farming industry in the United States has its best days ahead.—Comanche Chief.

IGNORANT ABOUT TEXAS

We sometimes wonder what kind of American histories the schools north of the Mason and Dixon line are using. This year Texas is celebrating its centennial or one hundred years of freedom from Mexico. Last winter the Texas Weekly carried on an extensive program of education about Texas, and many northern newspapers learned that single handed and alone Texas won her independence from Mexico and maintained it unaided by the United States for nine years—from 1836 to 1845.

But last week the Pathfinder, a magazine whose editor should have known better, comes out with that old, old statement that the United States "took Texas away from Mexico in 1848."

Maybe it is because Texans have harped so long about how big Texas is that those citizens of the United States who have the misfortune to live outside the borders of the lone star state know nothing else about it. Texas' proudest heritage is not its size, but its history. Far from the United States seizing Texas from Mexico, the facts are that Texas brought to the United States a considerable part of the southwest that is now outside the borders of Texas.

The United States did not take Texas away from Mexico any more than it took Mexico away from Spain. Mexico won her independence from her European proprietors in 1823, precisely as the United States won hers from England in 1776—by force of arms. And in 1836 Texas fought her way to freedom at the battle of San Jacinto. While it is true that the great majority of the Texans who rebelled against the tyranny of Mexico were former citizens of the United States, there were native born Mexicans among them. Among the signers of the Texas Declaration of Independence may be found the names of Francisco Ruiz, Antonio Navarro and Lorenzo de Zavala.

The soul stirring pageant, "Texas Cavalcade," that has created such a sensation at the Centennial Exposition in Dallas, is educating thousands of Americans who have come from outside Texas. No one can see it and forget how Texas came to nationhood in her own right.

If the editor of the Pathfinder will come to Texas, the Eagle will gladly arrange for him to see "Texas Cavalcade" and thereby increase his knowledge of the history of our great state.

VEGETABLES IN MILLS COUNTY

According to the 1935 Federal Farm Census Mills county, in 1934, had 923 farms raising vegetables and the total value of the vegetables so produced exclusive of Irish and sweet potatoes reached the surprising figures of $28,185.

Mills county was only $46 lower than its much larger neighbor, Brown county, with 1270 farms reporting. Mills county topped Lampasas county more than three to one, more than doubled McCulloch county, and produced more vegetables than either San Saba or Coleman county. It was greater than El Paso county with its Rio Grande truck gardens or Bexar county with its huge local market in San Antonio.

This is further proof of the extent of diversification in Mills county. It helps explain the fact that the percentage of its citizens receiving relief was lower than that of any of its neighbor counties. It proves once more that this is a good county in which to live.

REPUBLICANS AND RECOVERY

How the Republicans do live in the past! For instance in Governor Landon's acceptance speech he promised to "stop this fumbling with recovery." Evidently the ghostwriter who typed that speech is still living in the dark and gloomy past of the Hoover administration. Because he is off the federal payroll, he probably doesn't know that the nation's banks—which were all closed when the last Republican president walked out of office—have reopened and that the depositors in them are now protected against losses they sustained during the Hoover depression. Here are some more recovery facts culled from the business news of the week:

Bank deposits are higher now than they were in 1930 in addition to being safe, which they were not then.

Net income to the farmers is higher than in 1930.

Production of electricity is the highest ever known.

Assets of life insurance companies are at an all time high.

More than 5,000,000 of the army of unemployed who were walking the streets, many of them begging bread, when President Hoover was in office are now at work at private jobs. The other unemployed are being taken care of by government projects.

Automobile production this year stands next to the boom year record made in 1929.

Factory production, based on 1926 was 100, was 119 in 1929, dropped to 64 in 1932 and now has climbed up to 108, a gain of 15 points since last March.

Railroad companies are getting out of the red for the first time in years.

Petroleum production is higher than ever before.

If this is fumbling with recovery, let's keep on fumbling.

AUTO WORKER'S INCOME RISES

During the first half of the year, labor in the automobile industry fared exceptionally well, according to the Alexander Hamilton institute. The number of persons employed was above the pre-depression level in 1929. While production was somewhat smaller than in 1929 the decrease was more than offset by a reduction in the number of hours worked per wage earner. Wage rates per hour were slightly higher than in 1929. While the increase in wage rates was not sufficient to offset the reduction in hours, earnings per week were only 4.5 per cent below the 1929 level. This decrease was much less than the reduction in the cost of living which was 15.3 per cent low than in 1929. Consequently, despite decreased earnings, the wage earner in the automobile industry had 12.8 per cent greater purchasing power in the first half of 1936 than in 1929.

SCIENCE NOTES

A Four-Pound Deer

Among a number of specimens of animal life from the Indo-China jungles recently acquired by the American Museum of Natural History was a deer that weighed but four pounds and stood only eight inches high. The little creature is known as a "mouse deer," or chevrotin, and in spite of its size is fully grown. Also, it actually is a deer and is closely related to the ordinary deer, giraffe, cow etc., of today, all of which evolved from small primitive animals not greatly different in size from the modern chevrotin. It is hard to imagine these frail chevrotins as being closely related to the great buffalo that used to thunder over the American plains. But the former apparently were not affected by that process of nature which tends to steadily increase the size of animals—which developed giant dinosaurs from little reptiles, weighing a few pounds—which made whales from land-living mammals no larger than a fox, and which, more recently formed modern horses from primitive animals about the size of a whippet. All of this was done, of course, with the aid of millions of years of time.

Watermelon Not A Native

Many jokes have been made at the expense of the colored man's love for watermelon. As a matter of fact, the black man was probably eating watermelons long before the white man ever heard of it. It is a native of Africa and may be found growing wild on plains south of the Sahara where it is an important part of the diet of deer and antelope of that region. It is believed the Pilgrims brought the first watermelon seeds to America for in less than 10 years after their coming, melons were plentiful in Massachusetts. It found favor with the Indians at once. By 1665 the Florida Indians were cultivating it and 10 years later tribes of the west.

Rainier Once A Volcano

Mount Rainier, rising to a height of 14,440 feet is the Cascade range to make it the highest peak in the continental United States, is the result of volcanic eruptions. It was discovered in 1793 by the navigator, Vancouver, who disregarded the Indian name Tacoma and named it after Admiral Rainier of the British navy. It was made a part of Mt. Rainier national park by act of congress in 1899.—Pathfinder.

Races Evolved Separately

Sir Arthur Keith, who occupies the almost exclusive position as a leading British scientist and at the same time a supporter of the Nazi doctrines on race purity, has previously said, in outspoken support of the Nazi beliefs, that there are as many races in Europe as there are national states, but he now carries his views further into the teeth of almost universal opposition by declaring that the various races of mankind evolved separately. The theory generally accepted by both British and American anthropologists is that man arose at a single center and then spread out over the earth. Different changes occurred in different groups and gradually the modern races were developed from a common ancestral race, according to this theory. However, the theory also holds that the races are hopelessly mixed and that they have occupied the territory in which they are now found only during comparatively recent times.

CENTENNIAL COST REPAID

Increased gasoline tax receipts this year, announced by the comptroller, even after discounting the factor of increased business recovery, leaves ample indication that the state will get back through this tax its outlay on account of the centennial. Receipts from the tax through June 30 of this year were greater by $3,000,000 than for the similar period of last year.

The comptroller's office estimates that at least half this increase has come from use of Texas highways by motorists of other states. To the average citizen who has observed the daily stream of out-of-state cars on our chief highways, this seems an entirely reasonable estimate, since the period of heavy tourist travel was only at its middle June 30, it may confidently be expected that the revenue increase for the whole year will be at least $6,000,000, with at least $3,000,000 coming from out-of-state motorists.

Thus Texas will be able to congratulate itself on having its centennial at no cost to itself. Moreover, the stream of motor travel turned to Texas this year will not be shut off in the years to come. The advertisement received by the state through this means will produce a permanent increase in its tourist trade.—San Angelo Standard.

REAL "LIFE INSURANCE"

"Life insurance" is really living up to its name. It used to be that far more life insurance money went to the beneficiaries of deceased policyholders than to the policyholders themselves. Today the situation has changed drastically.

During the six years of depression, $6,000,000,000 went to beneficiaries upon the death of insured. Twice as much, $12,000,000,000, went to living policyholders through matured endowments, surrender values, dividends etc.

This proves the salient fact that life insurance is being used to an increasing extent as an investment as well as for protection of dependents. Millions of persons of average means regard life insurance as the safest possible investment.

When it finally reaches the river's mouth, however, it begins an exhibition of skill that even Le Danols dare not belittle. Its ability to leap waterfalls and other obstructions is amazing.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VIEW OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

WHY TAKE UNNECESSARY RISKS?

One of the best reasons for not monkeying with the various collectivist schemes of governmental and economic organization in this country is that we are in such a favorable position to watch them tried out under practical conditions in Europe. With comparatively little risk to ourselves we can observe just how Communism, Fascism, and the various isms in between work when removed from paper and the fevered brains of the visionaries.

There is no need for us to upset our entire social structure to give Communism a whirl, suffering all the consequences of the blunders inevitable in the early stages of any experiment. The Russians already have volunteered to serve as guinea pigs for the Marxists. All we need to do is sit by and keep score. It is the same with Fascism. Italy and Germany are our test tubes for that theory.

Nor is there any need for Americans to waste their time battling over the relative merits of Fascism and Communism. That argument is even now being fought out with guns and knives in Spain, after a fashion.

So far we have seen little in these foreign experiments that makes our own admittedly imperfect democracy suffer in comparison. On the contrary, we have seen our "good neighbors" take some pretty severe punishment in finding out that various phases of their theories won't hold water.

They are into these philosophical adventures up to their necks and will have to work themselves out. We aren't in very deep yet. Isn't it the part of good sense to stay where we are and see how they come out rather than wading in to share their fate with them? If they stumble onto anything really good there is nothing to prevent our adopting it when its value has been demonstrated. If they don't, we still will have something really good.—Cedar Rapids Gazette.

THRIFTY VETERANS

The soldiers who got the bonus this June did not go out on the spending spree which was anticipated. The treasury officials, in urging them to hold their bonds for investment, did not really believe that more than 10 or 20 per cent of the bonds would be held. They thought most of the men would spend their money at once.

But by July 25 only 60 per cent of the bonds had been cashed. Two-fifths of the veterans apparently believed that a government bond at three per cent was good to have and to hold. The cash obtained by those who wanted their money immediately has been spent, on the whole, very well. Old bills have been paid in large numbers. Down payments have been made on new homes. Clothing and furniture, naturally, took a good portion of the cash. Everything had run down during the depression. The new clothing and replacement of shabby things in the house were needed from every point of view, including the contribution that decent garb and pleasant homes always make to family morale. Cars, of course, have been purchased, sometimes wisely, sometimes not.

But taken on the whole, the American citizen isn't so foolish with his money as he sometimes seems to be.—Cleburne Times-Review.

LANDON AT BUFFALO

Landon's four-point speech at Buffalo might have gained many votes for him. To date, he has convinced the American people of one thing—that he is a poor speaker. There have been instances where a poor speaker out-campaigned an eloquent one. Sometimes a stumbling bluntness is more convincing in the ears of the people than smooth words. But Landon's is not the kind of stumbling bluntness to arouse the sympathy of an audience. It smacks rather of cool Coolidge in tone, manner of presentation of facts, and selection of facts for presentaion. The public has not yet forgotten that Coolidge led the country to the brink of the precipice and might have led it over the edge had he chose to run again.

Aside from Landon's lack of magnetism, he lacks force in his arguments because he obviously fails to present an entirely honest premise. For example, his four points are sound in themselves. Especially does he speak logically when he calls attention to the fact that a heavy burden of debt has been accumulated during the last four years for posterity to assume, and that there is no possibility of putting it entrel on the rich or even the middle brackets. Yet Landon's whole four-point argument was weak because he ignored the extraordinary emergency that confronted the Roosevelt program. He would do better if he would frankly admit the emergency and the justification for emergency action, and bring his charges against Roosevelt strictly on the ground that Roosevelt's theories of government are outlasting the extraordinary conditions that made them temporarily justifiable. This is the issue in the public mind today, and it is the only issue on which the Republicans can make appreciable headway against Roosevelt's popularity.

The public forgets quickly, it is true, and it is sometimes good political strategy to assume that the public has forgotten. But the public has not yet forgotten the depression, nor the need of extraordinary measures to meet the conditions it brought.—Dallas News.

NONPOLITICAL

It seems to have become a fashion of the day for orators to insist that would interpret as political in reality, it is at all. Speakers on both sides have taken several "blunt tours," one of which led to Cleveland.

Colonel Frank Knowlton, of the Retail Merchants Association of Maryland, town recently. "It was in good taste," he said, "the beginning of his convert the occasion to political uses." What devoted the remainder of his address to development of the Roosevelt administration through economic illing has brought the verge of ruin.

This may not be "political," to use his own phrase. It does, pretty well define the Republican attack on Roosevelt, which the Landon side has more frequently voted Governor's running mate and Democratic side year's controversies. D of opinion occur over rather than political side has dedicated its task of "saving" the from the machination other.

Only in this sense of pretend it is not politics when it argues own success at the polls a good deal of sheer prejudice in by campaign. DORIS SAYLOR

The following obituary was contributed to The Eagle:

On July 21, 1919 the Lord gave to us Vivian Ira Doris, one of the dearest and sweetest of little girls, to brighten our lives. Her task was finished August 28, 1936 at four thirty and her soul went back to the angels in heaven. Doris entered the Goldthwaite schools when a small child and has spent her entire school life in this school. She was looking forward to registering as a junior in high school the coming term. During her short life she had, with her cheerful smile and winning ways, made many friends both in school and out. Her friends were numbered by her acquaintances.

She and her sister were examining a target when it was accidentally discharged, the lead passing through her arm into her body and through her lungs and heart. Death came instantly without a word or a struggle. Thus was fulfilled an often expressed wish, that when death came, she would not have to linger.

Doris left the following immediate relatives in this world to join her in a better world some day: A mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Saylor, eight brothers, Jacob, Wellie, Claude, Kelly and Lincoln all of Goldthwaite; Adna of Clovis, N. Mack of Boston, Mass.; eight sisters, Mrs. C. M. Burch, Mrs. Duke Clements, and Misses Grace and Thelma all of Goldthwaite, Mrs. Fred Faulkner of Fort Worth, Mrs. Carl Vincent, East Orange, New Jersey, Mrs. Roy Moffatt of Clifton.

An excerpt from the poem by James Whitcomb Riley expresses our feelings more perfectly than can our own words:

SHE IS JUST AWAY
I can not say—I will not say
That she is dead—she is just away.
With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand
She has wandered into an unknown land.
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since she lingers there,
And you—oh you, who the wildest yearn
For the old-time step and the glad return.
Think of her faring on, as dear
In the love of There, as the love of Here.
Think of her as the same, I say,
She is not dead—she is just away.

CHURCHES OF TEXAS INTRODUCE THEME SONG

Through their state committee on co-operation for a dedication to religion and the higher standards of life this centennial year, the churches of Texas have introduced their theme song. Announcement of the new song was made by Rev. R. N. Huckabee, Texas centennial revival chairman.

Selection of the song was made by a committee composed of Dr. L. U. Spellman, San Angelo; Dr. W. M. Pearce, Lubbock and Dr. E. H. Lightfoot, Cleburne. The front cover contains a picture of General Sam Houston leading the battle of San Jacinto where Texas obtained political freedom and quotes him in his rallying call for a greater victory for Texas, "conquering herself, her passions and her sins."

R. E. Shepherd, former "singing mayor" of Wichita Falls, says, "I am very much pleased with 'God Keep You, Texas' and expect to use it often during the year. The chorus is especially good and the verses have a message which should be on the heart of every true Texan."
