Store Surplus Feed In Silos

Silage should be considered a substitute for green pasture. It has about the same value in the ration of a dairy cow or beef animal as does green pasture, but no greater value unless there is some grain on the feed stuff made into silage.

A silo makes it possible to have green feed when it is too dry or too cold to have a green pasture, or too wet to use the pasture. A silo should be considered a container in which to store a surplus of feed to use when the drought year comes.

Growing feed for sale at present prices is not an attractive proposition. It can be profitably fed to livestock; if turned into silage it will be more profitable.

Debate Outline Ready for Texas U.

Preliminary outline of available material on the sales tax question has been prepared by the University of Texas Inter-scholastic League and is available free of charge for high school students who wish to do some summer reading on the question that will be debated in the League debates during the 1938-39 school year.

Paving Starts On Lometa Highway

The barricades will go up again on highway 74-A three miles south of Goldthwaite today (Friday) as surfacing of the road begins. Brown & Root have the contract for the work which will consist of a light coat of asphalt to preserve the surface until regular paving can be secured. This firm recently paved the stretch between Lometa and the Mills County line, so in a short time the road between Lometa and Goldthwaite will be hard surfaced all the way. The new work will require about three weeks.

Eagle Straw Vote Shows McCraw Ahead

About the only conclusion that can be gained from The Eagle's recent straw ballot on candidates for governor is that most of those who sent in coupons clipped from The Eagle believe Attorney General William McCraw will lead in the first primary.

First ballots received some 3 weeks ago showed McCraw and Thompson close together with Hunter third. Later ballots show O'Daniel pushing well to the front next to McCraw.

A similar poll conducted on June 21 by the Wharton Spectator among the editors of 167 daily and weekly newspapers resulted as follows: McCraw far in the lead; Ernest O. Thompson, second; Tom Hunter, third; and Lee O'Daniel, fourth.

The Eagle's ballots have been counted and averaged, and give the following results:

- McCraw 655
- O'Daniel 453
- Thompson 365
- Hunter 300
- Crowley 80
- Ferguson 41

American Business Behind the Scenes in

—By John Craddock—

NEW YORK, June 30—BUSINESS—The dollars and cents future for business men, merchants, farmers, and even housewives brightened considerably last week following a dramatic upsurge in stock and bond prices. The rise in security values strongly indicates that business recovery will begin by late summer or early fall, as predicted several weeks ago in this column.

Stock prices usually rise several months before improvement appears in retail sales, factory output and employment. Investors pour millions of dollars into securities over night once their confidence in the future is restored. Simultaneously, of course, people the country over begin to buy more of the things they need to enjoy living—homes, autos, clothes, movie tickets, college educations, pianos, golf clubs and vacations.

Acquisitions such as these usually take time, however, whereas a man can buy in an hour as many stocks and bonds as he has money to invest. That is one reason why a rise in stock prices usually precedes by several months any real upturn in general business.

WASHINGTON—With Congress adjourned until January, unless called back for a special session to consider railroad legislation, the nation's capital once more takes on an air of quietude and leisure. Political forecasters are reading with interest the current survey in Fortune magazine analyzing the feelings of persons in all walks of life toward the New Deal and President Roosevelt.

The survey indicates that the personal popularity of the president is undiminished, but that a more critical attitude is being taken of many New Deal policies and activities.

Grading Begun On Bridge Job Monday

State Engineer D. L. Hogan said that clearing, grubbing and the dirt work on the Colorado River Bridge began Monday. Work on the bridge proper has not been started but equipment is being moved in preparation to begin. He stated that the grading would require about 60 days, but the crew would be kept on the bridge-building for nearly a year.

According to Superintendent Hanson about 100 men will be employed on the job and more than half of these will be selected from Goldthwaite and San Saba residents. Headquarters for the job have been set up at the site of the bridge. Material to be used on the San Saba side will come through San Saba and the remainder will come through Goldthwaite.

M. E. Ruby, who helped build highway 74-a from Goldthwaite to the Lampasas County line, has the sub-contract for moving the dirt in building the huge embankment on the Mills County side of the river. His four huge 7-yard trucks attracted considerable attention in Goldthwaite Wednesday when they came in for servicing by Fairman Co.

'Army of South' To See Action

WASHINGTON—The War Department announced today that 66,523 officers and men would take part in war games of the Third Army in the South and Southwest in August.

It will be "the largest assembly of troops in a single related maneuver that has ever taken place in our peace-time history," the War Department said.

One of the four main divisions of the country's military organization, the Third Army includes regular Army and National Guard units in the Fourth and Eighth Corps Areas and is in effect the Army of the South.

Troops will be concentrated at several points. The main concentration, comprising troops of the Fourth Corps Area, will be in the De Soto National Forest, Mississippi, July 31 to Aug 14, and will involve 26,499 officers and men.

Troops from the Eighth Corps Area will be concentrated at several points, chiefly in the Camp Bullis area near San Antonio, where 26,208 officers and men will be massed Aug. 6-20.

San Antonio Church Names Supply Pastor

The Rev. Joseph Owens, Union Springs, Ala., was named by the board of stewards of Travis Park Methodist Church Tuesday as supply pastor for the church until a successor to the Rev. J. Grady Timmons, who died Sunday, can be selected.

Funeral services for Dr. Timmons, held Tuesday morning at Travis Park Church, were attended by more than 1,000 persons, delegations attending from all of Dr. Timmons' former Texas pastorates, San Angelo, Brownsville, McAllen and Lampasas as well as friends from Corpus Christi, San Benito and other South Texas towns.

Candidates For Gov. Met in Goldthwaite

Karl Crowley and W. Lee O'Daniel, both candidates for governor, met and shook hands on the courthouse square in Goldthwaite Tuesday. O'Daniel disappointed some of his adherents here by not making a speech. His Hill Billy Band passed up the town in their hurry to reach Lampasas for their next regular engagement.

Mr. Crowley spoke for more than an hour, paying particular attention to his plan for liberalizing the old age pensions in Texas and his fight against monopolies.

Baptist Vacation School Closed Friday

A highly successful vacation school closed Friday when the local Baptist Church ended its first vacation school. During the two weeks' work there were 107 children registered and enrolled. The largest attendance in any one day was 85. Two conversions were made during the period. A faculty of twenty persons interested in the work conducted lessons, games and handiwork.

A picnic attended by the parents of the children registered in the school was given Friday at 6:00 p. m. Following this there were commencement exercises at 8:00 at which the children presented a program showing the work they had accomplished in the school.

The program included songs, salutes to the Bible and to the Christian and American Flags. The primary children put on a pantomime depicting Moses' journey across the Red Sea. The Juniors, with Louis Hudson and Alvis Buford as preachers, explained the purpose of a vacation school. The Intermediates put on a play stressing tithing and its importance. An exhibit of the handwork done during the school showed coloring, shellac work, posters, woodwork, and sewing. The Intermediate girls made cup towels, aprons, and pillow slips for the church and hospitals.

An interesting sidelight of the school was the work done by Mrs. R. V. Littlepage's beginners. They visited shut-ins and sang songs to cheer them. Each day the students of the school brought flowers, which were presented to someone sick or in need of cheering.

As evidence that the children enjoyed it, one little chap was overheard to announce that he wished the vacation Bible school would last six months.

Rev. E. E. Dawson, superintendent of the school, the faculty and parents are enthusiastic over work done and plan to have another vacation Bible school next year.

The business on hand was discharged, and favorable reports were turned in by the ministers. Rev. Horton praised the newly-organized Epworth League Union on its splendid start. Tributes were paid to the memory of Mrs. W. H. Kimbrough, recently deceased, of San Saba by Rev. Geo. J. Steinman.

Goldthwaite was well-represented at the conference with Rev. Fred J. Brucks and over 20 members of the local church attending.

With tasty cornbread baked from freshly ground cornmeal from Edward's mill, the editors family has fared extra well this week.

Grimes County
Watermelons

Watermelons will probably be produced in excess in Grimes County this year. Around Stoneham, Walter Lyles says some 400 acres have been planted, while Iola, according to H. H. Taylor, will as usual produce in excess of 100 acres. In view of these facts it is only natural that those who mature and harvest the early crop will reap the greatest reward.

Pink Harrington, vigorous farmer of White Hall, has recently received much favorable comment for his ingenuity in forestalling the blighting effect of a late spring frost which threatened his watermelons early in April. The fact remains that Mr. Harrington saved over half of his 25-acre patch through covering the young plants with hay the evening a withering cold west wind descended with destruction upon the tender melon planting. In describing his efforts in this direction, Mr. Harrington said forty bales of hay were used in the twelve acres protected, and that it took six colored boys and himself about four hours to do the job or to go as far as they did before night set in. Each hill was covered with a double handfull of hay while sufficient soil was pushed in and around the edges of the mulch to keep the straw from being blown off by the wind. Everyone will recall that this cold wind blew for two days but Mr. Harrington did not remove the hay until the following Monday morning, at which time he learned his efforts had been successful. The other half of the crop not so protected was totally destroyed. Before making his attempt to save the watermelons, a number of neighbors had warned him not to do it because the plants would only be smothered and stunted beyond revival.—Grimes County Review.

6-Man Football
Why Not?

Proposal of the Texas Inter-scholastic League to organize 6-man football districts is meeting with approval among smaller schools of the State, according to R. J. Kidd, athletic director of the University of Texas League office.

Demonstrations in 6-man football are being given in the summer physical education courses of the following institutions: North Texas State Teachers College, Stephen F. Austin State Teachers College, Texas Technological College, and at the University of Texas, Kidd said.

"We are confident that at least one hundred small high schools will experiment with this game as a fall sport this year," Mr. Kidd predicted. "It is hoped that the sport will prove worthwhile for schools that do not have enough boys to play 11-man football, and still have a sufficient number of boys of the football type to make up a six-man squad. It has the additional advantage of being a relatively inexpensive sport."

Birthday Party

Saturday night, June 25, Miss Syble Miller entertained a number of her friends with a birthday party, celebrating her 13th birthday, which was June 23, at her home in Pleasant Grove.

Greenwood Farm Has Best Early Cotton

With cotton predictions the main topic of conversation in the Grimes agricultural areas, County Agent George A. Altgelt said today that the best looking crop from a standpoint of maturity, tith, and uniformity is found this early in the season on the farms of Walter Greenwood of Plantersville.

His trip over the county carried him to Mr. Greenwood's Sand Creek plantation where cotton is blooming and the crop is waist high, being especially full of forms and flowers with fruit visible near the roots.

Covering approximately 3000 acres of cropland, the Greenwood farms have 900 of this area devoted to cotton. C. A. Deese serves as Mr. Greenwood's right-hand man, County Agent Altgelt added.

Effects of much hard work are seen on the place where about twenty-five white tenant units and fifty colored families labor daily to accomplish their objectives.

Following his observations last fall of the cotton growing conditions on the Mississippi Delta Farms where two bales per acre have been common within the past few years, Mr. Greenwood concluded that rich Grimes County lands could be made to do likewise.

As a result of this trip, he substituted thick stands in Plantersville for regular practices, and five plants were allowed to remain at the usual hoespace intervals instead of the customary one or two, Mr. Altgelt said.

A large block of Pineland No. 11 cottonseed was made in order to thoroughly test out this new

IRON AND WATCH SPRINGS

By T. C. RICHARDSON, Secretary
Breeder-Feeder Association

A classic illustration of skill which tells of watch spring iron and steel. The pig iron or steel they are made. The experiments of transformation, such as spectacular occurs every day on a ton of hay is a Review. OR'S NOTE—The original of the cow, the butterfat is worth several times as much as the ton of hay to town in a can.

These are extreme cases, but facts nevertheless. Why sell pig iron when you can make watch springs of it? Eggs and milk, meat and wool, are but the refined forms of grain and forage. Several acres of crops can be wrapped in a steer's hide; a good cow well fed will produce milk or butterfat equal to her own value every year, and raise a calf besides; a ewe will raise a lamb worth as much on the market as his dam in half a year, and pay for the privilege with wool.

Feed crops, whether of grain or roughage, are worth no more for productive purposes after a long ride by truck or train than they are on the farm where they grew. Clearly then the farmer who turns them into finished products right on the ground has a distinct advantage in the economy of production; and economy of production is the first step toward profitable sale.

It is never true economy to stint the feed of growing animals and fowls which are being sold. Rather the farmer, thinking in terms of selling his feed to the best advantage, tries to get as much of it as possible into meat or milk or eggs. It is also sometimes good economy to buy whatever is necessary to make up a good balanced ration if the farm does not supply it. In other words corn alone will fatten a hog, but with a protein supplement it will go farther and fatten better.

Young fowls and animals make most rapid gains in weight, and weight is primarily what we sell, but the young need more highly concentrated feeds than the old.

It is not true economy to try to make baby beef with hay or fit turkeys for market without grain. Both weight and quality decide the price, and both must be kept in mind, especially in the latter part of the finishing period. The rule among successful feeders is to "keep 'em growing fast when young and crowd 'em with everything they need and will take before you go to town with 'em."

R. A. (BOB) STUART
Candidate for Railroad Commission

Stuart Promises Aid to Business

Professional politicians and chronic office-holders were denounced by Robert A. (Bob) Stuart of Fort Worth in an address here Tuesday in interest of his candidacy for railroad commissioner. He said that Texas cannot expect prosperous times to return until some of the "ins" are put out at Austin and some of the "outs" are put in.

Stuart said he sought the office of railroad commissioner upon the record he has made as state senator, Tarrant County district attorney, president of the board of regents of the seven Texas State Teachers Colleges and as holder of three major Federal Housing Administration positions to which he was appointed by President Roosevelt.

Stuart promised to stand for lower freight and gas rates, relief for the independent truckers who "are being driven off the highways," oil proration that will let Texas compete with other states and regulations that will bring a revival of industrial activity in the state.

Hull Tent Show to Be Here July 6-7

Jimmie Hull's players, one of America's biggest and most elaborate tent theatres, is coming here for a two-night engagement Wednesday and Thursday, July 6 and 7.

In bringing this company to this city the management wishes to especially emphasize the fact that the Jimmie Hull Players is one of the oldest and most reliable tent theatres on the road, being in the sixteenth year and now in its 676 consecutive week.

Originally organized as a stock company, the show has enjoyed long permanent engagements in Dallas, Houston, Galveston, Port Arthur and Beaumont (the last named city being the home of Mr. Hull).

"Jimmie" (as he is known to his legion of friends) has combined his three units (dramatic, musical and vaudeville) into two big evening's entertainment.

The cast is headed by Skinnie Kimling, the "Ace" of black face comedians and a late feature with the Lassies White Minstrels and Tiny Hull, "The Personality Girl," supported by a large cast offering the three act laughing hit, "The Girl From Paris."

Harry S. Warner, late feature, "The Girl From Paris," of Chicago will be in person.

The management guarantees the show to be clean and wholesome and free from vulgarity, and full of entertainment for the whole family.

There is also a red hot swing band and orchestra and a world of real up-to-the-minute singing and dancing novelty vaudeville acts that will appeal to all.

The big tent is water-proof and will be located on the McGirk Wagon Yard.

On Nov. 7, 1869, 68 vessels of various nations began the first passage through the Suez Canal.

Wm. A. Ashley Buried Wednesday

The Grim Reaper claimed another of San Saba County's prominent citizens and ranchmen, late Monday night, when the spirit of William A. Ashley quietly took its flight at the family residence, while he slept.

Death is believed to have come about 11:30 p. m.

He was stricken with a heart attack some weeks ago, and had been in a more or less precarious condition since. About a week ago, he suffered another attack, from which he was believed to be gradually improving.

Funeral services, largely attended, were held from the family residence here Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, conducted by Bro. Clem Hoover of the Church of Christ, Brady.

Burial was at the Gray Cemetery at Cherokee in the family plot, where three of their children, who died at an early age, are interred.—San Saba News.

Mr. Ashley was a brother of our local townsman L. B. Ashley, who has the sympathy of friends here.

McCraw's Aide Here Monday

Bill McCraw.

'The Campaignin'est Feller in Texas'

It was a grizzled old native of the clay hill of East Texas who best described Bill McCraw, attorney general and candidate for governor.

"That's the campaignin'est feller I ever seen," the old man marvelled.

Just now there are 12 other candidates in the governor's race who are finding out the same thing as they attempt to keep up the campaign pace set by McCraw. For the tall, strong, sandy red-haired attorney general is holding a pace unparalleled in Texas campaign history.

The Arlington printer's devil who became Texas' highest law officer sometimes makes as many as 20 speeches in a day, and rarely shakes less than 1,000 hands of friends, old and new, who have come to pledge their support. McCraw often travels 700 or 800 miles in a day or night to keep speaking engagements in widely separated parts of tremendous Texas, and what is more remarkable, he keeps it up week after week, never missing a chance to campaign from the time he gets up until he finally has to turn in at night, often 20 hours later.

In all his campaigning, Bill has never been seriously late for a speaking engagement but once. That happened when the zipper on his trousers failed to "zip" as he was dressing at his home 200 miles from the speaking engagement. He wrestled with the gadget, and finally got in the car, holding his pants together. As a friend drove, Bill sat in the back seat, trying to make that zipper zip.

Finally, he had to get a tailor to work on the pants. The tailor, after a half-hour, gave it up and gave Bill some safety pins. He made his speech, pinned together, an hour and half late.

Just after McCraw was elected attorney general, a newspaper acquaintance ran into one of McCraw's closest friends.

"When is Bill going to start campaigning for governor?" the newspaperman asked. Bill's friend smiled. "When has he ever stopped?" he asked back.

Lometa FFA Poultry Projects

Boys enrolled in vocational agriculture in Lometa High School and who have the raising of poultry as one of their projects have been most successful in producing pullets and broilers for market and home use, reports J. M. Starr, V. A. teacher and FFA Chapter Advisor.

Five of the boys obtained their single combed White Leghorn chicks from A. H. Demke, Stephenville, Texas. This strain of White Leghorns were bred on the John Tarleton Agricultural College Farm and the chickens were tested for Pullorum disease or bacillary white diarrhea under the supervision of the head of the Tarleton Poultry Department. These five boys, L. D. Petty, Thurman Head, M. F. Kirby, Vernon Jones, and J. L. McLean, now have fine flocks of pullets and cockrels of the high producing strain of White Leghorns bred and raised by John Tarleton Agricultural College.

Several others of the Lometa V. A. pupils have White Leghorns and other breeds of chickens which they obtained from prominent poultry breeders of the State. Some of these boys are: Marvin Miller, Leslie R. Hereford, Jr., J. T. Fisher, Weldon Elmore, Wilton Hopper and Charles Elders.

Pullets from these poultry projects are being kept by the Lometa Future Farmers to make up or increase the laying flock for this winter and next year. The cockerels are being disposed of as broilers and in some instances are being sold by the Lometa boys for breeding purposes.

L. D. Petty, Vernon Jones and J. L. McLean have sold or have had inquiries for several of their White Leghorn cockrels. If any other persons want to get breeding birds from the Lometa vocational agriculture pupils they may reserve them from the boys named above or see J. M. Starr, the Lometa vocational agriculture teacher.

Newsprint Mill Seen As Start of Boom

The Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association Wednesday adjourned its thirty-sixth annual convention after receiving from James G. Stahlman, chairman of the newsprint plant was ready to be built.

Mr. Stahlman said that after four years of negotiations and study by the S.N.P.A. his committee successfully finished tentative plans for starting the plant in July at Lufkin, Texas.

"I honestly believe," said Mr. Stahlman, publisher of the Nashville Banner and president of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, "that the minute this first unit starts producing, we shall see an influx of newsprint mills in the South and the greatest industrial development the South has ever shown."

He said his committee, in spite of discouragements, had refused to listen to adverse talk but had contracted for about 800,000 tons of newsprint to be manufactured by the mill.

He said: "We were advised in the beginning by a sound banker that the only way to put the mill over would be for the bankers to participate. We thought we knew better. I came to the conclusion that it would not be built unless the publishers put their money into the project."

He announced a good portion of the $7,500,000 needed for the mill had been subscribed in stock.

"I have been asked what I could get out of it," he added. "I am telling you now—not one red cent in stock. I said in the beginning that I would not have one cent of stock in the mill and I am telling you now I would not profit from anything I did for the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association."

price reductions ranging from $150 to $650 on crawler-type tractors, effective immediately. Other manufacturers, it is believed, will soon meet the price cuts in this type of tractor. While price reductions on their machinery of production is welcomed by farmers at any time, the present case is particularly timely since farmers are faced with the prospect of receiving lower incomes from their crops.

A few don'ts for the 4th of July celebration would not be amiss.

2. Don't look into firecrackers which have failed to explode.
3. Don't drive recklessly and at excess speeds.
4. Don't overdo in swimming, especially in water of unknown depth.
5. Last and most important: Don't fail to get prompt medical attention if a wound is suffered.

EVEN UNTO THE END

The death of Rev. J. Grady Timmons in San Antonio Sunday has shocked and saddened thousands of his friends throughout Texas and the South. It is rare to find a man in these materialistic days who can win the personal devotion of other men, but Grady Timmons was such a man. The impress of his dynamic, likeable personality will not follow him to the grave. The light that he has brought to others will be carried a'oft and afar.

It was the privilege of the writer to have known him at the beginning of his ministry, not long after he had been honorably discharged from the U. S. Marine Corps with whom he had served with distinction on the bloody fields of France. He was still a fighter and he never let up.

Though soon the pastor of one of the largest, wealthiest, and most fashionable city churches in Methodism, Grady Timmons did not compromise with wrongdoing or with sin. He led the battle for right living outside the church as well as in it. And yet he was so sincere, so forthright, so honest in his own life, he seemed to arouse little if any personal animosity.

Last year he made a trip around the world, gaining a vast store of information. Although too many minds the impact of first-hand knowledge of the inhumanity and depravity that rules so much of the world today has brought only defeatism and despair, to Grady Timmons it brought a challenge.

He had always been a hard worker, now he worked harder than ever before to bring to the hearts of men and women a realization that Christianity, undiluted and unadorned, is the only unfailing resource left this disillusioned and disturbed world. And now he has gone, the eloquence of his lips stilled forever. The magnetic grip of his hand relaxed, his uncounted acts of friendliness and charity abruptly ended.

We are tempted to ask why such a man should be taken just as he has reached the height of his powers and influence. The answer is easy to find but hard to accept. Grady Timmons is gone because he did too much, because there was too much work for one man to do. His physical body, strong and sturdy though it seemed, could not stand the pace he set for it. And the reason Grady Timmons had too much to do was because there are too few other men who would help. There were plenty to clap him on the back and urge him on, but too few to stand shoulder to shoulder with him against injustice and wrongdoing in high places as well as low, in Texas as well as in China.

That is the tragedy of Grady Timmons' early passing—not that his work is ended, but that the indifference of the many force their rightful burden on his overloaded shoulders.

To his sorrowing family and friends he leaves an inspiring heritage, an example of unswerving devotion to the right, of unfailing thoughtfulness and kindness, and an unselfishness almost unparalleled. Truly, in the words of David, he inclined his heart to perform God's statutes always, even unto the end.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

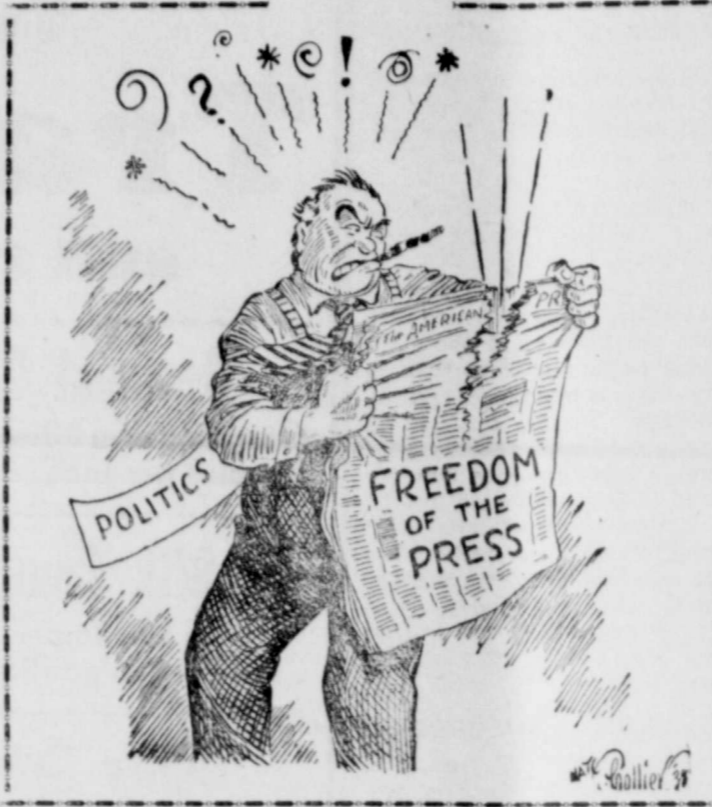

That time of election year has now arrived when the candidates for state office are beginning to fill their slings with political mud. Not every candidate is so inclined, but some who ignored their opponents to begin with are now entreating the press of Texas to spread the news far and wide that the said opponents are incapable, dishonest, unworthy and as much else as they might print.

Of course it's all good clean fun as far as the candidates are concerned. Most of them are lawyers, and a lawyer soon learns to call the opposing counsel in a hotly contested case all that the presiding judge will allow, and then, after the case is over, put his arm about him and sit down for a friendly drink of coffee or what have you, with no hard feelings.

Some of these candidates profess surprise that the newspapers are not willing to assist them in the gentle art of defamation, but past campaigns have made even the most innocent newspaper editor wise, and few or none of these reckless charges appear in print. The reason is obvious: the abused candidate knows that a libel suit against another candidate is only a waste of time and money, but a suit against a newspaper, might bring him damages. We don't recall any that have, by the way, but several of the larger papers in Texas, which were popularly believed to be rolling in wealth, have had to defend themselves against such suits.

To guard against such gentry, the press of Texas—and the radio, too—is sometimes compelled to omit what is legitimate news. To that extent the politicians succeed in destroying the cherished "freedom of the press." But for the most part the

Coccidiosis Threatens Texas Poultry Flocks

COLLEGE STA.—During June and July coccidiosis will threaten baby chicks between the ages of 4 to 12 weeks, according to Geo. P. McCarthy, poultryman of the Extension Service of Texas A&M College.

Coccidiosis, caused by microscopic parasites which multiply rapidly in the intestinal tract, is easily recognized by such symptoms as ruffled feathers, loss of color, rapid emaciation, and bloody droppings.

The disease is spread by contamination of the feed, water, and soil with droppings of the fowls, and may be carried by water, or on shoes, grain sacks, and other objects. It is also spread by birds and insects which fly from one poultry yard to another.

It is almost impossible to eradicate the disease, but poultry demonstrators and county agricultural and home demonstration agents have found that rigid sanitation may keep it from getting a start in a flock.

Dry floors, especially around the water fountains, and the use of deep, dry litter that is stirred frequently will help keep down the disease.

"A mild soda flush made of one tablespoon of soda to each gallon of drinking water, when given to the chicks once a week, seems to be a very effective control practice," McCarthy said. "The milk flush is also very popular and should be given instead of water for a day as soon as blood is noticed in the droppings.

"After the first day, the water may be replaced, and both milk and water offered to the chicks for a 10-day period. Skim milk may be used."

press of Texas is still free. It is not compelled to print what the candidates hand out or slip under the door. And the newspaper readers profit thereby.

The press of Texas and the nation is also free in that it is not subservient to any government issued propaganda. The Texas Weekly estimates that every year 1,300,000 "news" stories are mailed to Texas newspapers from federal government agencies, alone. Most of this material is dreary reading. We suppose that occasionally a talented writer joins the government's propaganda crew, but most of the news stories that we have had the patience to read sound like the journalistic efforts of a country congressman's second cousin. Certainly we have seen very few, if any, of these releases that a self-respecting country weekly would inflict on its readers "as is."

Despite the politicians' best—or worst—efforts, the American press is still free.

The Community Newspaper

Turning from the city to the small town press exchanges that come to the editor's desk is like stepping from the slums, full of vice, into an old-fashioned garden sweet with lavender and thyme and the scent of perennial flowers. The pages of the big dailies are so full of murder, theft, immorality, and selfishness that the better news is obscured by these glaring shatterings of the Decalogue. One puts the paper aside with a feeling of depression and heartache that the world is so full of terrible and unhappy things.

Then picking up the papers that record the happenings of the little towns around us, one gains renewed faith in life. Here are set forth only that which uplifts a community—the activities of the business men, the church items, the happy social gatherings of the people, the marriages, births and deaths, farmers' items and all the thousand and one daily occurrences that make up the simple annals of the great common people, who are really the foundation of this country of ours.

Scandals are seldom published in the country newspapers, but if it happens that decency demands it, the uglier details are omitted or given a kindly touch so it is widely different from the unfeeling publicity of the city press. The offenders may be our neighbors, or people we have rubbed elbows with all our lives. They are real human to their town paper, while to the great city dailies they are merely grains of a sort that are ground out hourly in their news mills.

Sometimes people speak lightly of the country newspaper, but

Aliens in Spain

Exaggerated though they may be, the reports of growing dissensions in Nationalist Spain between Spaniards on the one hand and Italians and Germans on the other, indicate a development that sooner or later seems bound to happen. It has been charged that without aid from Hitler and Mussolini the insurgents would have suffered defeat long ago. On this point, it is, of course, impossible to speak with certainty. But to the extent the charge is true it suggests that to an increasing degree Franco's Fascists allies have sought to take over the direction of military policy in Nationalist Spain as well as to assure themselves of ultimate compensation for the contributions they have made to Franco. The extent of outside aid to the insurgent cause is revealed in the official Italian admission that more than 9,500 Blackshirts have been killed, wounded and taken prisoner in the Spanish war. Total German casualties remain undisclosed but certainly cannot have been negligible. Thus, both Italy and Germany have a stake in the outcome. With the fighting again stalemated, it is not at all unlikely, therefore, that Hitler and Mussolini are not averse to drastic measures such as the reported bombardment of civilian populations, which, they believe, will hasten the end of the war. But on the insurgent side such activities, imperiling not only fellow Spaniards, but in many instances families and relatives of those fighting under Franco's banner as well, have begun to arouse violent protests. These apparently have taken the form of clashes with Italian and German troops. Evidence is piling up that there is a mounting spirit of rebellion in Nationalist Spain. And this feeling of hostility to foreigners who appear to be treating Spain as a conquered province has become all the more acute in view of the fact that the barbarous attacks on civilian centers has only stiffened the resistance of the Republicans.—San Antonio Express

A Few "Don't's" For July 4th

It would be a glorious Fourth of July if no accidents occurred to mar the joy of celebrating our one hundred and sixty-second anniversary of independence, declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. It is most unfortunate that a day of joy and celebration leaves in its wake one of the sadness and sorrow in many homes.

It is not alone the wounds received from explosives that increase our death toll. Injuries from automobile accidents, splinters, nails, and other penetrating wounds in which dirt may be carried into the skin, heighten the hazard of tetanus, or lockjaw as the disease is commonly called.

Tetanus is fatal in a large proportion of cases. Fortunately we have tetanus antitoxin as a means of preventing the disease. Antitoxin must be administered promptly following the accident. Treatment after the disease develops is rarely successful. Preventive measures include: the avoidance of such wounds and proper medical treatment.

Dr. Barton W. Evermann of the California academy of sciences has found 230 species of fish in Texas waters. About 130 of them inhabit fresh water and 100 salt water.

The San Saba Commissioners' Court, with Judge J. B. Harrell and all members present, Wednesday met with the Mills County Commissioners' Court at Goldthwaite concerning the Regency bridge matter. They found the Mills County Court favorable to co-operate on that matter, but say they have no funds available at this time for the project, but will help when they can.

The San Saba Court members then proceeded to Brownwood and met with Commissioners' Court of that county with reference to the Northwest bridge matter. They found the Brownwood commissioners court not at all interested in that project—a low water bridge at Northwest and gave not the slightest encouragement to our commissioners whatever, in co-operating with our county in the construction of that bridge.

The Rev. George J. Steinman of the San Saba Methodist Church is leaving early Monday morning, accompanied by several young people of his church, to attend the Methodist Kerrville Young People's Assembly, June 27-July 4.

Stewart were in Austin Monday to join delegations from Strawn, Desdemona, De Leon, Goldthwaite, San Saba, Llano and Fredericksburg in a plea for the hard surfacing of Highway No. 81 through Llano and San Saba Counties, the completion of unit one of this highway from Goldthwaite to Comanche and the extension of the highway from De Leon through Strawn to Graham.

Bill McCraw In Typical, Busy Day's Campaigning

Probably the most active campaigner in the history of Texas politics, Atty. Gen. William McCraw, now running for governor, never misses an opportunity to add a friend to the hundreds of thousands he already has. A few moments from a busy candidate's day are pictured above as McCraw carries his shirt-sleeve campaign for the governorship to all parts of Texas.

Even while he is getting a shave, Bill McCraw is greeting friends. In the picture at the left he is shaking hands with N. M. Ragland, Alice farmer. Bill McCraw is most popular with the old folks. Promising adequate old age assistance without embarrassment by too many regulations or too many investigators, McCraw has the support of tens of thousands of gray-haired Texans as the hearty handshake of the old-timer in the middle photo shows. As good as the type cases as the law cases, McCraw, former printer's devil who became attorney general, has friends in every newspaper office in Texas. Here he is setting a stickful of type in the composing room of The Willacy County News at Raymondville while Publisher D. B. Rapp looks on fraternally.

Hamilton

The most important business transaction consummated in Hamilton for many months took place on Wednesday of this week when the Koen and Henderson Land Co., negotiated a deal between Bob Waters of Hamilton, Texas and Vickers and Wallace of Oklahoma City, by which the latter named parties are obligating themselves to drill a test well for oil and gas on what is known as the Energy block assembled by the Koen and Henderson Land Co. for Bob Waters, said block tying into the Lone Star block near Pottsville and running north and east to the Tonkawa community or Warren's creek.

Said contractors agree to commence drilling operations not later than July 15, 1938.

Ending a long, hopeless invalidism Thomas B. Kemp, a long time and greatly esteemed resident of the Pottsville section, died there on Tuesday, June 15. He was desperately ill at the time of his death of his son, Geo. T. Kemp, at Pottsville, on last May 4.

Dr. Robert Hughes Millwee, well known former Hamilton resident died in a Dallas hospital Wednesday morning, June 22 at 4:00 a. m. He was 54 years of age. His first wife was Alma Rea, daughter of the late T. K. Rea, of near Indian Gap, in Hamilton County.
