Church

All a happy and Thanksgiving Day. The singing adds much richness of life to us, as citizens and as children. And as children, we have much to be thankful for. We are always thankful for the many blessings of God and that we live in a Bible land where we can attend church and Sunday school.

Thanksgiving Day Observed Here

Goldthwaite, as usual, observed Thanksgiving with a general suspension of business. A great many took advantage of the holiday to visit relatives and friends elsewhere, and numerous family reunions were held. Still others journeyed to various football games on Thursday and the following Saturday.

Sneak Thieves Swipe Wheels, Tires

Sunday night thieves jacked up Miss Emma Scott's car where it was parked in the driveway of the Little residence and removed both rear wheels complete, tires and all.

As the house is on Fisher St. and the car was in the light of a street-light, the thief evidently had a look-out. The thief left the car resting on bricks, which he had brought with him.

Introducing

Gerald Duwaine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duward Morris of San Angelo.
He arrived Tuesday, Nov. 15. Mrs. Morris was formerly Miss Ethel Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hill.

Proclamation

As the colors of autumn stream down the wind, scarlet in sumach and maple, spun gold in the birches, a splendor of smoldering fire in the oaks along the hill, and the leaves flutter away, and dusk falls briefly about the worker bringing in from the field a late load of its fruit, and Arcturus is lost to sight and Orion swings upward that great sun upon his shoulder, we are stirred once more to ponder the Infinite Goodness that has set apart for us, in all this moving mystery of creation, a time of living and a home. In such a spirit I appoint Thursday, the twenty-fourth of November, a day of

PUBLIC THANKSGIVING

In such a spirit I call upon the people to acknowledge heartily, in friendly gathering and house of prayer, the increase of the season nearing now its close: the harvest of earth, the yield of patient mind and faithful hand, that have kept us fed and clothed and have made for us a shelter even against the storm. It is right that we whose arc of sky has been darkened by no war hawk, who have been forced by no man to stand and speak when to speak was to choose between death and life, should give thanks also for the further mercies we have enjoyed, beyond desert or any estimation, of Justice, Freedom, Loving-kindness, Peace-resolving, as we prize them, to let no occasion go without some prompting or some effort worthy in a way however humble of those proudest among man's ideals, which burn, though it may be like candles fitfully in our gusty world, with a light so clear we name its source divine.

WILBUR L. CROSS,
Governor of Connecticut

EDITOR'S NOTE.—This beautiful Thanksgiving proclamation comes from New England, the birthplace of Thanksgiving. Its author is the Democratic governor of Connecticut and a former professor in Yale University. He is affectionately known as "Uncle Toby" to thousands of ex-students.

Red Cross Drive Exceeds Quota

In the annual membership campaign which ended Thanksgiving Day, well over 100 members paid $158.59 dues.

The local chapter contributed $165.50 to the flood sufferers in San Saba last August and has helped locally in many ways, according to Mrs. J. H. Saylor, chairman of the membership committees, for the Self Culture Club which sponsored the campaign.

Book Review

A review of the book, "My Son, My Son," by Howard Spring, was given by Miss Evelyn Oppenheimer at the city library in Brownwood, Monday night. The review was sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Those attending this review from Goldthwaite were: Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fairman and son, Tanner, Mrs. W. K. Marshall, Mrs. Jno. Hester, Mrs. Walters Hester, Mr. and Mrs. John Schooler, Misses Love Gatlin and Norma Sue Tippen.

Waco Highway To Be Paved

Reports from reliable sources state that the new highway from Goldthwaite to the Mills county line at Star will be paved next year.

Goldthwaite High School Eagles To See Game

Twenty-five members of the Goldthwaite High School football squad saw the football game Thursday afternoon in Brownwood between Howard Payne College Yellow Jackets and the Southwestern Pirates from Georgetown. The players went as guests of the Athletic Council who showed in this way their appreciation of the team's work this season.

As the Yellow Jackets and the Pirates are the top rankers in their conference, the Goldthwaite Eagles saw some good football, which they will likely use themselves next year.

Merry Wives Club

Mrs. Raymond Little was hostess to the Merry Wives Club Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock. Outside was cold and dreary but inside was light and life.

Four games of contract were enjoyed. Mrs. Walter Fairman scored high for club members, and Miss Mary Helen Cockrum for guests.

A delicious salad plate was passed to club members and the following guests: Misses Mary Helen and Velma Cockrum, Mmes. Walter Summy and J. T. McConnell of Meridian.

ATTENDS CONVENTION

Big Bridge Sets Records

Two enviable records have been set so far in the construction of the big steel and concrete bridge over the Colorado river in Big Valley. To date no lives have been lost on it, and the accidents have been remarkably few. The other is the small amount of changes that have been necessary during construction.

Practically the only change has been in the strengthening of the relief structure on the Mills county end of the bridge. During the flood of the Colorado in August, the highway engineers noted a tendency of the river to cut through with a new channel just north of the present suspension bridge, consequently the new structure is being built strong enough to withstand the current if such a cut-off should develop during the life of the bridge.

The last of the big piers was completed last week. It was built around a caisson which rests on a steel cutting edge which carried it down to a firm foundation on the shale. This pier contains 686 cubic yards of concrete.

The bridge has been designed and built high enough to keep it in service should the water again reach the high mark of 1936. Should it rise still higher, it would flow over the approaches which have been built with wide sloping shoulders to permit the water to run off in a sheet and so avoid washing away the earth fills.

Hunters Return With Venison

Rev. Fred J. Brucks brought in a nice 6-point buck from down Llano way last week at the opening of the deer season. The following also have fresh venison for themselves and their friends: H. G. Bodkin, Geo. Fletcher of Mullin, Rufus McKinney, and Walter Glen Saylor.

Ed D. Miller returned from Llano county last week with a 9-point buck. Mr. Miller killed the deer with a .22 rifle at 65 yards with the first shot. He had the head mounted. The deer weighed 93 lbs. dressed.

M. T. Cook killed a nice 8-point buck weighing 87 lbs. dressed. The record so far, however, goes to Mrs. Wm. B. Huggins who shot a fat 10-point buck that weighed 104 lbs. dressed.

Some of the huntsmen had not returned when this was written and Thanksgiving Day hunters will probably increase the list.

Mrs. Will Burks Now Treasurer

Acting in accordance with an established custom and in response to a petition with numerous signatures, the Commissioners Court on Monday appointed Mrs. Will Burks to serve out her late husband's term as county treasurer. Mrs. Burks was postmaster at Scallorn for a number of years, and is well qualified to perform the duties of the office. There were 16 other applicants for the place.

Visits Old Home

Miss Dora Oden and her sister, Mrs. Harry Hennesdorf of Brownwood are having a delightful visit in Meridian and Union Mississippi. This is Miss Oden's happy childhood home and is her first visit in 27 years.

Mrs. Hennesdorf is seeing Mississippi for the first time. They are guests of their esteemed mother's only sister.

They have been gone for several weeks and will be home at an early date.

Cotton Report

Up to Nov. 1 this year there had been 543 bales of cotton ginned in Mills county compared with 2753 to the same date last year.

TP & L Refuses $4,000,000 Offer From CRA

With the termination of negotiation between the Colorado River Authority and the Texas Power & Light Co. for the sale of the latter's holdings in 16 Texas counties, new developments are expected in the proposal of the CRA to furnish cheap electric current to Goldthwaite.

One of the conditions imposed by the TP & L was that the CRA would limit its operations to the 16 counties involved, and this would probably have affected extending service to Mills county. Following is part of a statement made by the CRA:

The price of $7,398,016 asked by the power company for the properties is too high, Max Starcke, Operations Manager of the Authority, told John W. Carpenter, president of Texas Power & Light, in a letter made public here by the Authority.

The power company had declined an offer of $4,000,000 from the Authority, Starcke's letter revealed. Starcke gave a further reason for declining the offer that it would confine the Authority's activities, insofar as the Texas Power & Light company is concerned, to the 16 counties named in the offer, and that it would preclude the Authority's co-operation with other public agencies seeking to develop Texas rivers.

The power company made its offer to sell the properties to the Authority on Sept. 6. Its offer stated that it would sell "all, but not less than all" of the properties acquired in connection with its business in the area. Included in this property were some ice plants and water systems and considerable obsolete equipment.

The LCRA official struck sharply in his letter at the great difference in the figure at which the properties were offered for sale and the figure on which they are assessed for taxes.

"It appears," he said, "that the properties which you priced to us at over $7,300,000 are assessed in the counties for only about $1,700,000. On the face of these figures it would appear that your cost price was set up for the purpose of making high rates, and that it does not have the proper relation to the cost you set up for the payment of low taxes. To say the least, the difference between these figures is an astonishingly wide gulf."

Starcke said that the Authority's engineers estimated that the electric properties offered by TP & L could be replaced new for $4,600,000 and that they were approximately 20 per cent depreciated.

"In other words," he said, "because of depreciation and obsolescence of various items of equipment, the property is only worth eighty per cent of what it would be worth new, making its value at the present time approximately $3,675,000." The authority, Starcke said, can duplicate the electric service now being rendered by TP & L with new facilities at an even less cost.

To avoid competition, Starcke said, the Authority is willing to pay $4,000,000 for the property.

"This," he said to Carpenter in the letter, "is in excess of the reconstruction cost of your properties (less depreciation to their present condition); it is approximately three times their assessed valuation; and it is in excess of what it would cost the Authority to duplicate to service with new facilities."

"The fact that you have been earning and expect to continue to earn a high return on the values which you claim to have invested in these properties is sufficient proof of statements heretofore made by the Authority that the consumer's rates can be reduced from thirty to fifty per cent below the rates now being charged by your company," Starcke's letter said.

Interest In Our School Paper
 Students were asked to make a suggestion for something to put in "The Pointer" and some of the answers were:

Sherman says, "say that Mr. Cunningham has his temper in a strong cage this week and hasn't let it run away with him."
 Perry says, "aw, what do you even want to write that for anyway?"

Oran Stark's reply was, "think of something to put in the paper? Why, it makes my head ache to even think."

When someone asked Dorothea and Oleta why they didn't write an editorial, as they were the editors, their answer was, "why, we don't even know what that is." What editors!

Pauline and Jennings seem very interested. Pauline says "nothin'" and Jennings reply was, "don't put anything in it."

When Joe was asked, he nods his head sort of worried like and says, "suggestion? Why I'm not a suggester."

Our little history student, Florence said, "tell about the unification of Italy by Rome."
 Amy says, "well, I don't know, honest, I don't."

Bronchial Coughs Need Creomulsion

Just a common cough, a chest cold, or a bronchial irritation of today may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. They may be relieved now with Creomulsion, an emulsified Creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medicinal combination designed to aid nature in soothing and healing infected mucous membranes by allaying irritation and inflammation and by aiding in loosening and expelling germ-laden phlegm.

The Medical Profession has for generations recognized the beneficial effect of Beechwood Creosote in the treatment of coughs, chest colds, and bronchial irritations. A special process was worked out by a chemist, for blending Creosote with other ingredients so that now in Creomulsion you get a good dose of genuine Beechwood Creosote which is palatable and may be taken frequently by both adults and children.

Creomulsion is one preparation that goes to the very seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm. When coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles—due to common colds—hang on, get a bottle of Creomulsion from your druggist, use it as directed and if you are not satisfied with the relief obtained, your money, Creomulsion is one word, ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. A Scientific Boon Is A-Making

There's no doubt about it, science is gradually making this sad old world livable, even for those among us whose sensibilities are where our risibilities should be.

We have it on the unimpeachable authority of the Goldthwaite Eagle that the citrus growing chappies in the Rio Grande Valley have concocted a recipe for bread which calls for grapefruit juice as a liquid ingredient.

And that, fellow sufferers, is a boon, almost in the $30 every Thursday class.

As the Eagle puts it: "—It will be a dandy way to get one's grapefruit juice without having to wear goggles and a mask."

Who among us hasn't had his quivering flesh torn on the cruel horns of the dilemma:

To dare the physical disintegration and social castigation threatened by the advertisement if we fail to eat our grapefruit, or Chance blindness from the stuff squirting in our eyes?

Panic Broadcast Recalls Famed Hoaxes

Public reaction to the radio dramatization of "The War of the Worlds" recalled to oldtimers famous hoaxes of the past which, if less monumental, were deliberate rather than accidental.

Perhaps the most celebrated was the "moon hoax," published in The New York Sun in the summer of 1835 when journalistic standards were considerably different from those of today.

Richards Adams Locke an editorial writer, wrote a series of stories which he pretended originally had been published by a Scottish scientific journal, then extinct. Employing a bogus scientific jargon, he described strange plant and animal life on the moon purportedly viewed through a telescope which brought the satellite's image to within 100 yards of the beholder. A month later the paper exposed the hoax.

Edgar Allan Poe's story of a three-day balloon crossing of the Atlantic was published by the same newspaper and had half the town believing the feat actually happened until the hoax was exposed 48 hours later.

George Hull's "Cardiff Giant" was another famous hoax of the 19th century. Hull, an inventive atheist, hewed the "giant" out of gypsum in order to confuse a Fundamentalist preacher with whom he had argued. He said he found the giant five feet under ground near the hamlet of Cardiff, N. Y.

The giant changed hands and finally P. T. Barnum paid $60,000 for an eighth interest in it. It was exhibited to the credulous public for years.

The Star basketball girls played Priddy last Thursday night at Star, this being the first game the Star girls have played this season.

This was a hard-fought game with the Priddy winning by a 5-point margin.

A large crowd attended, and the girls received a lot of backing.

We are proud of our coach, Mrs. Fields, and if the girls keep working as they have been, we expect to have a real team.

The girls playing were: Forwards: Mildred Poe, La Dell Boykin, Lois Black, Laura Merrill, and Ina Beth Soules; guards: Dora Belle Poe, Alice Beach, Floella Wright, Ina Richal, Dora Dean Arnold, Waunita Benningfield and Reva V. Chappell.

Priddy has a good team, and we hope to play them again soon.

The girls are going to Ireland Friday to participate in a tournament and are planning to win.

We hope to see a lot of you there and will appreciate your backing.—Reporter.

FOR SANE PREPAREDNESS

In surprising contrast to many of the alarmist statements recently published are the reasonable recommendations made by General Malin Craig, Army Chief of Staff, in his annual report. Far from taking advantage of the present situation in which a jittery American public has made an abrupt about face from its former pacific indifference, the General has presented a clear-cut, common-sense statement of the vital needs of the Army if it is to function properly for the nation's defense.

His recommendations are not for more men, although the United States still ranks below Portugal and 17 other nations in the number of its armed forces, but for more and better materiel and equipment. Specifically he asks for anti-tank guns, anti-aircraft guns and fire-control equipment and semi-automatic rifles (presumably the Garrand). He recommends that sufficient equipment and supplies be collected to outfit an army of four hundred thousand men and suggests some intensive training for selected reserve officers.

General Craig also proposes legislation to relieve the present stagnation of promotion of Army officers which would include the retirement of selected brigadiers and colonels in order to make way for younger officers.

A few years ago, none of these proposals would have received serious consideration by the American people. Today they appear eminently reasonable and practicable. Their chief merit is that they place the emphasis in accord with the American tradition of conserving life by the use of machinery and of gaining superiority through increased employment of mechanization rather than a sheer increase in man power.

To this extent the Chief of Staff's message is not provocative nor does it lend color to the warnings of those who predict that the United States is on the road to a dictatorship. It is, in short, a sensible plea for this great nation to prepare its weapons, and to keep the powder dry.

Success Stuff Is the Bunk!

A FRIEND OF MINE is a very successful executive. He draws a five figure salary. Visiting him in his office one day I mentioned a new book on the philosophy of success which I had found inspiring.

Suddenly my friend slammed his fist on his desk and exclaimed: "Success stuff is the bunk!" Then sitting back in his chair and relaxing he went on: "There was a time when I read all the books on how to succeed that came from the press. One day I woke up to the fact that if I spent as much time actually trying to succeed at my job as I did reading success books I might actually get somewhere. When I came to think about it I couldn't remember that Ford or Edison or any other big man had spent much time reading about how to become successful. They were too busy succeeding! They had one supreme obsession—their jobs. So I stopped dreaming and reading success psychology and concentrated all my energy on doing the things I knew I ought to do to be successful in my work. That decision was the turning point in my career."

Here in a nutshell, it seemed to me, was the simple answer to how to succeed. And my friend was living proof that his plan worked. As I rose to leave I remarked: "You may not read success stuff, but you've just helped me write some!" As he reached for his paperweight I ducked out the door.

Playing for High Stakes

By IRVIN S. COBB

I DON'T know how many years it has been since I first heard today's little tale—a good many years, anyhow. In that ancient version it was alleged that the occurrence took place at the historic old Capitol Hotel in Frankfort, which is in my native state of Kentucky.

There was a political leader, a member of the State Senate, who lodged at the Capitol. A certain very affable waiter named "Babe" always served him. Now, on Babe's part there was a deep affection for the gentleman because the gentleman, being wealthy, was very lavish with his tips. He was good for at least twenty-five cents a meal and if especially well pleased he frequently increased the amount to half a dollar or even more than that. As a result, Babe was the object of envy on the part of every other waiter in the dining room.

One morning when the politician sat down for breakfast, a strange colored man with a cordial and ingratiating smile sidled up and inquired what he favored.

"You're not my waiter," said the guest.

"Sense me, suh," was the firm but gentle response. "I is yore waiter."

"Where's Babe—sick?"

"No suh, Babe's 'round somewheres."

"Then what's the reason he isn't here as usual to take my order?"

"Well, Kunnel," explained the new man, "it's lak this: Last night they wuz a little crap game here amongst the cullid help and Babe wuz fadin' me and he sort of run out of money but he didn't want to quit shootin' and he begin figgerin' what else he could put up instid of cash and—well, boss, to tell you the truth, I won you from him."

Lesson for November 27

HONESTY IN ALL THINGS

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:15; Mat. New 19:1-10, 45, 46.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt not steal.—Exodus 20:15.

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

Honesty in all things would seem to be what one should have a right to expect without question. As a matter of fact, dishonesty has become so common wherever man is found that people look on the person who is strictly honest as a peculiar individual. Try reporting an undercharge (everyone complains about an overcharge) or returning excess change, and you will see how unexpected honesty really is today. Under such circumstances the Christian needs to be vigilant lest he also accommodate his own ideas of honesty and begin to justify little evasions rather than being absolutely upright.

I. Honesty Respects Property Rights (Exod. 20:15).

The very commandment against stealing implies that men have a right to that which they have made, earned, or saved. If no one had proper rights there could be no stealing. Some of our modernisms reason along that line, but their reasoning is clearly not biblical or Christian.

"Thou shalt not steal" forbids every kind of theft. It includes robbery, burglary, safe-cracking, housebreaking; but it covers far more than those obvious wrongs. It refers to such things as looting on one's job, "borrowing" money from the cash drawer, taking goods from the stock with which one is working, stealing another man's sermon and preaching it as one's own, "lifting" material out of another man's book without credit, contracting debts which one can never pay, using false weights and measures, adulterating food or other material, "watering" milk for sale, selling worthless stock, dodging taxes or lying to the tax assessor, using a slug instead of a nickel in the telephone to escape proper payment. It really means something to be honest, and it is a great testimony to the unregenerate world.

II. Honesty Restores Stolen Goods (Luke 19:1-10).

The story of the conversion of the despised Jewish tax collector Zacchaeus has many interesting features, but for our lesson we stress but one, namely, that the reality of his conversion was demonstrated by his honesty in restoring that which he had obtained unjustly, and that in fourfold measure.

Insofar as it is possible to do so, the honest person will make right any known injustice. To be right with God must mean that we are to be right with men. The testimony of many Christians could be presented to show that they have only entered upon real peace and usefulness as they have made consistent effort to right every wrong, to pay every debt. Often such actions open opportunities for Christian testimony and point others to the redemption in Christ, which makes a man live right as well as talk right.

III. Honesty Resents Crookedness (Luke 19:45, 46).

In sharp contrast to the prompt restitution by Zacchaeus, the converted publican, was the stubborn disobedience and dishonesty of the priests in the temple. Jesus had already cleansed the temple of the traffic in money-changing and the sale of animals for sacrifice practiced there (see John 2:13-17). On that occasion He rebuked them because they made His Father's house "a house of merchandise." Had they known the change of heart of a converted Zacchaeus they would have heeded His admonition. But they did not believe in Christ and went on with their ungodly desecration of the temple area until it became "a den of thieves" (v. 46). The Lesson Commentary of the United Lutheran Church makes an unusually apt application of the truth to "the goings on in our own churches" in the following paragraph. Read it, ponder it, pray about it, then act, if it describes your church.

"Is a church honest when it assumes obligations that it cannot meet, and is then forced to use all sorts of questionable means to raise money for the benefit of the church? Is a church honest when it turns a building consecrated to the worship of God into a restaurant or a theater, regardless of whether it is done to make money for the church or to attract people who are more interested in eating and drinking or playing than in the preaching of the Word and the worship of God? Is a church honest that turns its pulpit into a lecture platform for the discussion of current events or the review of popular books or plays while the world is destroying itself because it does not know the time of its visitation? The answer . . . is that the church is dishonest that permits any such things, because it robs God of the honor and glory due to Him, and it robs people of their chance of salvation by giving them stonies when they need the bread of life."

RISEING TIDE

TODAY, in the train of the early pioneers who laid the foundations of America's greatness, there is a rising tide of men and women, spiritual pioneers, who are giving all they have and are to bring America under God's control.

You will find them everywhere—in factory and farm, in school and state house, in home and hotel, in business office, hospital, church. They are the spirit-led patriots of the true America who believe that if you want a new nation, the place to start is with yourself.

How many husband and wife estrangements come about because "we just weren't brought up the same way?" It should be interesting to ask a Reno judge that question.

Ada and Russell Keep of Long Island, like thousands of other attractive young married couples had this problem. What held them together was their eight-year-old son—the idol of both.

"I was brought up in a Southern family where everything was open-house. Meals were a movable and expandable feast. We seldom sat down less than twelve at a table. I never needed to ask if I could bring someone home for supper." This was Ada's household.

"Mine," says Russell, "was a conservative New England family where formality was the air we breathed. Ada's kind of easy hospitality was completely foreign to us."

My Ideas "I had strict ideas of what a wife should be like—dignified, efficient, always appreciative of me, never making me feel in the wrong. (Of course, I never was!)"

"When we went to a party I always began going home before I really wanted to, because I knew Ada wouldn't be ready until long after I was thoroughly

FINAL GAME

Last football season, the Jackets plowed a 14 to 0 victory over the Eagles last Friday night in the district game. First, San Antonio, and Goldthwaite tied for the championship.

Factors which were the Yellow Jacket forms of Keyser were able to win in the second period. The Eagles in his first game a good conversation to the score up to 14 to 0.

Half, the Eagles kept their opposition, and to chalk up for themselves. This was the identical game, for by his power, he carried the third quarter for points, and Keyser scored.

They were not altogether had the ball, for the 'Jackets' 7-yd. play could be repulsive in the same quarter, Marshall heaved a 40-yd. pass to Smith, who ran 40 yards before being tackled.

Though they did lose the game, the Goldthwaite Eagles have nothing to regret. For in the past year, they have lost to San Antonio and San Saba, and won a total of 10 games.

JUNIOR CLASS

Throughout the school this week the Red Cross campaign has been carried on, and the Junior class has been only too glad to contribute. The Monday before Thanksgiving, the Junior Class had contributed between $2 and $3 and had hopes of increasing or perhaps doubling this amount before the campaign ended.

We are behind the Red Cross and other worthy organizations wholeheartedly and are always willing to do our part.

DIDJA KNOW? DIDJA?

It seems that although most of the threats made to the snoop, have been ignored, there also seems to be one that the snoop took into very serious consideration. For the official snoop "took a powder" on us this week, but we hired a temporary substitute for this week and here is some of, (Oh! we almost said "her" or "his" work) ITS work.

First on the program today is a lesson in arithmetic. We only have one problem, you see, we are not very good at math, and here it is:

Take one certain junior boy, add football number 18, plus an affection for a certain senior girl, and it equals whom? (Attention Mrs. Marshall, we said "whom," not "who.")

And it seems, also, that one senior, it isn't the same girl, had to wait for some time last Sunday night. We never could find out what she was waiting for, though.

And it might not be a bad idea for someone, not us, mind you, to stick up a poster somewhere that read something like the following:

WARNING!
TO Eugene Dyas:
The freshman love bug seems to have bitten a sophomore boy, and you better do something about it.

PEP SQUAD

At the game with Llano Friday night the pep squad climaxed season by presenting the best show of this football season. The band and pep squad, making 80 in all, formed the letters H-E-L-L-O and gave a yell for Llano. Then the band and pep squad played and sang the school song for the first time on the field this year. The music to the school song was written for the band only last week. Incidentally, and they played remarkably well for so short a time.

We of the pep squad are happy to have been of service to the school, the team, and the public this year and view with regret the close of the football season. We are looking forward to next year with hopes for a better and larger pep squad and the football championship.

Local Druggist Gives Out Timely Warning

MANY LOCAL CITIZENS NEGLECT COLD COUGHS WHICH LATER ON PROVE DANGEROUS

A prominent druggist of our city when interviewed recently said, "the majority of the people do not realize the danger of a cough due to a cold or exposure. Such a cough is nature's warning that perhaps your existence has been weakened by cold and your system is susceptible to dangerous complications."

He advises at the very first sign of a cough due to a cold, to start taking Mentho-Mulsion, for only in Mentho-Mulsion can be found genuine beechwood creosote, menthol and other ingredients recommended by doctors, all combined in a base of pure California fig syrup.

Follow this good advice. Mentho-Mulsion is recommended, sold and guaranteed by Hudson Bros., druggists.—Adv.
