Jackson Day Speech Won't Take Up Third Term . . . Chicago Due to Get G. O. P. Convention in July.

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT ALLEN

Chicago for G. O. P.

As far as the Republican executive committee is concerned, you can put down these dates and place for the party's 1940 convention: Chicago, July 15 or 22.

Final decision is up to the national committee, which will meet in Washington in late January or early February. But in the secret deliberations of the executive committee, sentiment was practically unanimous for the above set-up.

The leaders favored Chicago because of its central location, plus the fact that it is neutral territory, since Illinois has no favorite son. Also, it is in the heart of the farm belt, which the Republicans are convinced will be the major battlefield of the campaign.

The July dates were a compromise. The G. O. P. chiefs abandoned hope of holding their convention after the Democrats. They saw in Roosevelt's suggestion that both parties delay selecting their tickets until late August or September, an ultimatum that the Democrats intended to stall until fall.

Merry-Go-Round.

Secretary Henry Wallace may be urging the President to run again, but Mrs. Wallace doesn't think he will. During a recent visit to Des Moines, her home town, she told friends that while she likes Washington she will be glad to go back to Iowa in 1941. . . . John Hamilton has told intimates he does not intend to return to Kansas when he steps down from the G. O. P. national chairmanship next summer. Inside word is that Hamilton has been promised a job by Joe Pew, multi-millionaire oil man and Republican boss of Philadelphia. . . .

President Hoover is taking no chances with the publicity of his Finnish relief drive. Two high-powered New York press agents have been employed.

Whitney Case Again.

Richard Whitney is still in Sing Sing, but it looks as if his case is going to flare up again on the New York Stock exchange.

Robert Wood, kindly head of Sears, Roebuck & Co., who is the "public" representative on the governing board of the Stock exchange, is demanding disciplinary action against friends of Whitney's who knew about his shortages.

Already, one member of the board of governors, President Robert Hutchins of Chicago U., has resigned for the same reason.

Among those who sided against Hutchins last year was General Wood. Since then, a widow named Mary Stevens Baird is threatening to sue the Stock exchange to recover the savings of $120,000 which she claims were pilfered from her by Whitney. She is making the claim on the ground that exchange officials were cognizant of Whitney's financial condition and did nothing.

Wood is up in arms because he was persuaded to oppose Hutchins on the assurance that no outside investors lost money through Whitney's thefts.

The Baird claim refutes this, and Wood is demanding that she be recompensed or disciplinary action taken—or he will resign.

Ten U-Boats Weekly.

Confidential reports that the Germans were manufacturing 10 submarines a week at first were received here as pure German propaganda. But now the experts are inclined to believe that this may be close to the truth.

The experts base this figure on the fact that the German submarines are very small—only 230 tons, as against some French seagoing submarines of 2,000 tons. The German subs carry crews of only 12 men and two officers.

In Aid of Finns.

How the U. S. army is leaning over backward to help supply the Finns with military materials was illustrated the other day, when a colonel at Edgewood arsenal, Md., called a chemical warfare post, telephoned the General Tire & Rubber Co. to the General's right, he said, "if you want to turn over those gas masks you are making for us to the Finnish government. We can wait."

Capacity Crowd Attends PTA Football Banquet

Goldthwaite's fourth annual Football-Pep Squad Banquet was held Tuesday. This year the band was also honored. The banquet, sponsored by the P.-T. A., entertained about 200 guests. The first of these annual entertainments was a chili supper, held in the Grammar School auditorium in 1936; it was attended only by teachers and high school students. The following year, the occasion was made more enjoyable by the presence of a few townspeople and members of the P.-T. A.

The entertainments in the form of banquets concluding the 1938 and 1939 football seasons have become still more elaborate, and the programs also have increased in interest. At the banquet held this year, the following program was immensely enjoyed by those who attended:

Toastmaster, Raymond Little. Invocation, F. P. Bowman. Accordion music, Aubrey Smith.

Group singing, led by Julian Evans. High School Trio, Wilda and Wanda Bledsoe and Aggie Forehand.

Expression of appreciation, Aubrey Smith, Darwin Denson and Bil Faulkner.

Byron Bilton, ventriloquist. Challenge to 1940 team, Sam Graves.

What the 1940 team expects to do, Charlie McLean.

Bench Warner's Angle, Duke Clements.

Hon. J. K. Evetts, District Attorney. "Bully" Gilstrap, assistant football coach at Texas University.

Assistant coach Bill Stephens. Coach S. E. Cloninger. Supt. A. H. Smith.

At the close of the banquet, Mr. Gilstrap showed a picture of the Texas University-T. C. U. football game.

The program committee deserves special commendation in securing the services of Coach Gilstrap for the after-dinner speech. His talk was both entertaining and enlightening and will be long remembered.

There were 83 guests, besides the High School faculty, football team, pep squad and band members.

District Court Ends Special Term

Cases which have come before Judge Few Brewster's district court this week include:

E. M. Eppler vs Travelers Insurance Company, continued to regular spring term of court.

W. B. Elliot vs Federal Underwriters Exchange, plaintiff granted judgment of $7 weekly for 357 weeks.

State of Texas vs Grover Dixon on charge of receiving and concealing stolen property, defendant received sentence of three years imprisonment. Motion for new trial was filed by defendant.

A hung jury resulted in the suit to compel probate of the will of Mrs. Berta Bell Guthrie, deceased, of Mullin. This is the (Continued on Page Eight)

Suicide Quail

Kelly Saylor and Jack McCarty came back from a quail hunt the first of this week with a story of a quail that committed suicide. On being flushed the second time, the quail flew slapbang into a barbed wire fence and fell neatly beheaded before a shot had been fired. There has been some discussion as to whether the bird was acting under orders from Hitler.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Licenses were issued to: Sam Waddell and Alice Faye Bates, Star.

W. B. Harris, Los Angeles, and Mary Elizabeth Gibson, Dallas.

Santa Cantu and Guadalupe Mendoza, Goldthwaite.

War Machines Its Only Rivals

ONE OF SIX employed in building the international boundary levee along the Rio Grande, an experimental model of a new crawler tractor, the fastest and most powerful ever developed for industrial purposes, plows through the thick Texas gumbo with 20 tons of earth behind it. Powered by a six-cylinder General Motors 2-cycle Diesel engine, it is said to travel 150 feet per minute faster than comparable machines now on the market.

New Telephone Line Improves Service

Manager John Skipper of the Southwestern States Telephone Co. has just completed replacing old single circuit iron telephone wire with 22 miles of double circuit copper wire to Indian Gap. Five addition miles linking up Priddy are under construction.

The new line gives perfect reception uninfluenced by high line hum from the REA poles which had disrupted previous service. Improvement of the Star and Center City lines will come next.

Fair Association To Meet Monday

A special meeting of the membership and board of directors of the Mills County Livestock Association has been called for 7:00 o'clock Monday night, at the court house, it was announced today by Owen H. Yarborough, vice-president of the association.

Purpose of the meeting is to name a president to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Tolbert Patterson, and to formulate plans for the annual Mills County 4-H and FFA Fair.

Amateur Detective Aids Sheriff

Friday afternoon petty thieves stole some groceries from the car of P. K. Caraway while it was parked on the west side of the Yarborough store.

An alert young man across the way who saw their car stop briefly while one of the occupants jumped out and grabbed the groceries, suspected the theft and jotted down the car license number. Deputy Sheriff Reynolds later found the groceries near a wrecked car bearing the same license.

Santa Fe Schedule Changes Sunday

Beginning next Sunday night, the Santa Fe passenger trains will change schedule slightly, the east bound train arriving one minute later and the west bound train 25 minutes earlier. The earlier arrival of the morning train will make it easier for the post office force to put up the mail promptly.

New Traffic Light Going Up On Fisher

A supplemental traffic light at the corner of Fisher and Fifth streets will be erected this week. This has long been considered a dangerous corner, and the traffic light will give a needed warning to motorists approaching from the south.

Written Orders Are Now Required For Poll Tax Receipts

According to a recent ruling of the attorney general, a tax collector may not issue poll tax receipts to an agent except on presentation of a written order signed by the taxpayer. In order to make this as easy as possible for the taxpayers of Mills county, Sheriff and Tax Collector J. Hern Harris has prepared printed order forms which can be filled out and sent in to him when it is not convenient for the taxpayer to call in person.

These forms may be secured at his office and at the following places throughout the county:

Mullin, S. J. Casey; Democrat, Claud R. Wilson; Priddy, Stanhke Drug Store; Caradan, O. O. Lester; Center City, J. M. Oglesby; Star, Dick Jeske; Big Valley, R. H. Oglesby; Ebony, P. R. Reid; Ridge, Herman Boyd; Regency, Egger Bros.

Mr. Harris also calls attention to the fact that young voters who became 21 after February 1, 1939 must secure exemption certificates in order to vote this year. Those who became 21 after Feb. 1, 1940, will not need certificates.

A copy of the form to be used in applying for a poll tax through someone else is printed on page four.

Four Candidates Announce This Week

Local politics takes another spurt this week, as four more candidates make their announcement.

J. A. Hamilton Enters Campaign

J. A. Hamilton, genial and capable county commissioner for precinct 2, has decided to offer for re-election and assures the voters of this precinct that he will continue to serve them to the best of his ability.

The best claim that J. A. Hamilton has for re-election is the road work that he has accomplished since he took over Precinct 2. He has been steadily on the job, and the improvement due to his work is noteworthy. The job is not yet completed, and he feels that with the experience he has already gained, he will be able to go ahead with the work that needs attention and complete it better and faster than ever.

Mr. Hamilton is also keenly interested in the financial operation of the county and has at all times stood for sensible economy in county government. He will appreciate your support and influence for his candidacy.

He is also the oldest commissioner in point of service in the court house.

Roy Simpson for County Judge

Roy Simpson announces for County Judge in this issue as a candidate, subject to the July primary.

He is one of the best known men in the county and has a high standing in the estimation of everybody.

He served the county as County Judge some years ago and his record as a faithful officer, and one who gave the best of his ability to the discharge of his official duties, is well remembered by the citizens and will be to his advantage in his campaign.

He was reared in the county and knows its resources and requirements.

He also spent several years as a school teacher, which experience is valuable as the duties of County Superintendent devolve upon the County Judge.

Mr. Simpson will visit all the communities of the county and meet with the people to discuss the issues of the day. He hopes to make new friends and keep his old ones.

THOUSANDS OF POUNDS OF GAME FISH MOVED BY GAME WARDEN TAYLOR

Brown County Car Is Wrecked Here

One of the most remarkable automobile wrecks in this vicinity occurred Friday afternoon when a light car was overturned on the San Saba highway near the cemetery here. The car seems to have turned over as it crossed a culvert and to have hurtled end over end through the air, finally coming to a stop inside a pasture 50 yards from the road. Three branches 1 1/2 feet from the ground were broken by the flying car, and parts of the top were lodged in trees out of reach from the ground.

Three men in the car were knocked unconscious by the crash and the woman occupant was too dazed to tell what had happened.

One in Serious Condition. According to the Brownwood Bulletin:

Four persons were injured in an automobile wreck near Goldthwaite early Friday afternoon. Three were brought to a Brownwood hospital where the condition of one, Presley Van Zandt of Zephyr, was said to be critical.

Less seriously injured, but receiving treatment in the hospital were Miss Louise Beckham of Zephyr and James Davis of Brownwood.

C. Medford of Zephyr received back injuries in the wreck, but asked the ambulance driver to let him out in Zephyr.

Both of Van Zandt's legs were broken and he received head injuries.

W. L. Barker For Commissioner

W. L. Barker, of Mullin, has authorized The Eagle to announce that he is a candidate for re-election as commissioner of precinct No. 3.

Mr. Barker is serving his first term in this capacity and has performed the official duties of commissioner in a very satisfactory manner to all the people of his precinct.

Mr. Barker is a man of high standing with his neighbors and friends and a business man of ability, able to handle the affairs entrusted to the office of Commissioner.

He will greatly appreciate your consideration and support in the July primary.

WARMER WEATHER

After shivering in sub-freezing temperature for two weeks, residents of Mills county reveled in warm weather yesterday.

A fisherman's dream come true best describes the phenomenal catches of game fish in the slough near Bend this week. This slough is being drained as a WPA project, and state game warden John Taylor has kept a watchful eye on the fish which have flourished there. On Monday he asked Earl Fairman to help move some of the fish to Lake Merritt and private lakes in this section.

Although the weather was bitter cold, Mr. Fairman took a crew of helpers to seine for the fish. Their first drag was too heavy to lift, and they had to let some of the fish out before they could drag in the net. This one haul, which he estimated as fully 600 pounds, was sufficient to fill all the 10-gallon cans he had brought along.

Wednesday he went back and something like 200 gallons of fish were taken. In Lake Merritt alone, John Meadors, keeper there, estimates over 1000 game fish of legal size have been released. Many of these were females heavy with eggs. No estimate could be made of the number of smaller fish that were removed.

Sportsmen of this vicinity will be indebted for a long time to come to Warden Taylor and Mr. Fairman.

W. L. Mahan Seeks Sheriff's Office

W. L. Mahan, well known Mills county citizen, authorizes the EAGLE to announce his candidacy for Sheriff, tax collector and assessor of Mills county subject to the action of the Democratic primary on July 27.

Mr. Mahan needs no introduction to the voters of Mills county as he and his family have resided here since 1905 except for a short while spent in New Mexico and five years in Breckenridge. There he was in charge of the largest gasoline plant in the United States at that time. This valuable experience has qualified him to handle efficiently the office work of the office to which he aspires.

He promises if elected that everyone who has business with his office will receive a square deal and courteous treatment, no matter who he is or what his business. He also declares that he will enforce the laws without favoritism or partiality but with justice to all.

Mr. Mahan has staunch friends who have encouraged him to enter the race, and he invites all the voters to examine his record and consider his claims for consideration in the July primary.

Comanche

Comanche is now in the midst of another building boom. 1939 brought one of the most extensive building programs in the last twenty years, and at the beginning of the New Year, work has already started on several new homes and buildings, and many residences are just being completed.

Rainfall in Comanche for 1939 totaled only 22.60 inches, which is the lightest amount during a year since 1934 and almost seven inches under that of 1938, according to Bob Graham, Fire Chief and Weather Recorder.

Lewis Cunningham, Jr., son of Commissioner Lewis Cunningham of Comanche, was married Dec. 23 to Miss Huldah Margaret Real of Kerr County. Commissioner and Mrs. Cunningham attended the wedding.

The completion of at least 2 and perhaps six miles of highway 81 south from Comanche has been promised for 1940 by the State Highway Department according to Hilton Burks, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. This section of the road calls for a new route and will include two concrete bridges.

Sixteen lettermen, six reserve lettermen, two coaches and a manager were presented with Comanche High School football sweaters here Monday morning. —Chief.

Lometa

Sunday night about 11 o'clock, Pat McClure's tool shed and garage was discovered to be on fire. The fire department was called and they got there in time to save the building partially, but the car was completely ruined, and along with it a number of tools that were in the shed and car.

Miss Naomi Patterson and Earl Pringle were married Tuesday afternoon, January 2, by Rev. J. H. Estes. They were accompanied by Miss Lou Ella Patterson and Bobbie Patterson, sister and brother of the bride.

A wedding of unusual interest to friends of Lampasas was solemnized January first at three p. m. in Kilgore when Miss Kathryn Harkey became the bride of Dr. S. L. Bailey.

J. H. Roach, 88 years of age and a resident of Lampasas county for the past thirty-eight years, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ben Coleman, in Lometa Wednesday, January 3, at 9:10 a. m., following a stroke which he suffered just a week before.

Following an illness of a year, D. D. Hoover, nearly 85 years of age and a resident of this section for many years, died at the family home in Lampasas Tuesday, January 2, at 4:20 p. m.

T. E. Bilton, 71, and a citizen of this county since he was a child, died in the local hospital Saturday, December 30, at 8:20 p. m. He had been seriously ill only since Wednesday, although he had been in poor health for some time.

C. M. (Dock) Tedder, 59 years of age, died suddenly at his home Thursday morning, January 4, at 10 o'clock. He fell from a heart attack at the door of his barn and was dead right away.

School Briefs.

We have all enjoyed the Christmas holidays and are very glad to be back in school.

We welcome several new pupils to our school. They are: James and Mary Walker from Zavalla, Alta Perry from Pleasant Grove, Elvis, Dorothy and Neal Hamilton from Priddy.

Doyle and George Wright visited school Thursday evening.

Before Christmas holidays on Friday, Dec. 22, Prairie baseball boys and girls drove over. We defeated both teams by a few points.

Singing is one of the main hobbies of this school. What if we went through the day without hearing these songs sung by: Raymond Lewis—"Where Has My Little Dog Gone?"

Juanita Wright—"Funny Old Hills."

Amy Hallford—"A Bicycle Built for Two."

Pansy Perry—"I Won A Victory."

Haynie—"Make Believe."

Zona Perry—"Scatterbrain."

Florence Davis—"Pop Corn Man."

Aaron Vines—"Hang Your Heart on a Hickory Limb."

Elmo—"If I Didn't Care."

Tommie—"How Strange."

Farmers Businessmen Hold Conference

College Station—"Farm and city prosper together" has been the keynote of a series of meetings over the state to which farmers have invited businessmen as their guests. C. H. Day, who is connected with the state AAA office, has reported to George Slaughter, state Agricultural Conservation Association committee chairman.

Sponsored by the county farm leaders, the meetings have resulted in discovery of the community of interests between farmers and the businessmen from whom they buy their groceries, drugs, and clothes and with whom they bank their money, Day reported. Day has assisted the farmers in organizing meetings.

Several counties have already scheduled such conferences for the early months of 1940.

Mrs. Leo Page and Dorothy Nell and Pagie have been here spending the holidays with Mrs. Page's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Stockton.

Leon Matthis, S. M. U. theological student, has been here visiting his grandfather, Rev. L. C. Matthis during the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. John Shelton enjoyed a holiday visit from her mother, Mrs. W. W. Westerman of Goldthwaite, and her sister, Mrs. B. Burrow of Corpus Christi.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McCann were in Abilene on Christmas Day to attend the wedding of Miss Geraldine Holmes and DeWitt Black, Jr. Mrs. McCann was matron of honor.—Reporter.

Mrs. Mattie Cook

Mrs. Mattie Cook of Moline, aged 84 years and one month, passed away December 21, 1939, and was buried at Payne Gap the following day.

She had been confined to her bed only about a week but had been in frail health for several years.

The deceased was born Nov. 21, 1855, in Coryell county, where Gatesville now is. She was the first white child born in Gatesville. Mrs. Cook's father, Mr. Wilkey, carried the chains for surveying Gatesville.

Mrs. Cook had been living in Moline for 47 years. She lived in the same house the entire time. She was living in Moline when it was named and was in the group that decided on the name.

At the age 16, she united with the Missionary Baptist Church and had lived a life of service for Jesus.

She married Mr. J. T. Cook in 1863. To this union were born eleven children. Mr. Cook died in 1921. Four children also preceded her in death. There are seven children who survive her, 29 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren and a host of friends mourn her going. We have lost a dear friend. Our loss is heaven's gain.—A Friend.

OIL

A Year 'Round Cash Crop for Every Section of Texas

Twenty years ago only 30 counties in Texas produced oil. TODAY OIL AND GAS ARE PRODUCED IN 147 COUNTIES! Ninety-eight additional counties are receiving the benefits of leasing and exploration activities.

Thus in 245 of Texas' 254 counties, business, government, tax collector, wage earner, farmer and rancher receive their part of the oil man's expenditures every month in the year.

Even the dry holes (52,000 drilled to date at a cost of a billion dollars) contributed their share of employment and wide distribution of money.

Last year land owners received 50 million dollars in lease rentals and bonuses alone.

In many counties where oil is a major factor, local government receives as much as 90% of its total tax revenue from the oil business.

Then, too, the State collects 45% of its tax money (exclusive of the gasoline tax) from the oil man. In 1938 this was 32 million dollars.

EVERY BARREL OF OIL PRODUCED IN TEXAS IN 1938 PAID AN AVERAGE OF 9.3 CENTS TAX.

The Real Iron Men—Stagg, 'Pop' Warner, 'Hurry-Up' Yost, Average Age 72—Still In the Harness.

LOS ANGELES.—When you talk of iron men, of the faraway and long ago boys, of those who can really take you back over lost and forgotten roads, I'd like to lead you into this gathering of the Football Coaches association on the West coast.

And first of all, if you are looking for old-timers, I'd like to introduce you to three friends of mine who can take you back so far it will make you dizzy, as you look around for Kit Carson and Daniel Boone.

Alonzo Stagg

The first one is Alonzo Stagg, coach of the College of the Pacific, age 77. The second is Glenn Scooby ("Pop") Warner, now at San Jose State, who was coaching Georgia 45 years ago. The third is Fielding ("Hurry-Up") Yost of Michigan, who broke into West Virginia and Lafayette around 1895-96. Both Warner and Yost are flirting with 70, unless they broke into football as Baby Leroy.

Lonnie Stagg was on Walter Camp's first All-America, named back in 1893.

He began coaching around 1890, but fastened himself at Chicago in 1892, as I recall the date. All I know is that Lonnie Stagg has been coaching 50 years—and that at the age of 77 he brought down a team good enough to beat the California Golden Bears, and that he has no idea of retiring to any sidelines or to any old man's retreat.

"What do you mean—Old Man?" asks Mr. Stagg indignantly. "I still get up at 7 a. m., play either one or two sets of tennis before breakfast, and then coach a football team in the afternoon."

Now we come to one Glenn Scooby ("Pop") Warner. The first time I saw one of Pop's teams happened to be in 1896 when he brought Georgia up to play Vanderbilt at Nashville.

Even in that far gone day, 44 years ago, Pop had a good-looking team with a new offense. Pop always had a new offense—more offensive formations than any coach that ever lived. And most of these were sound and smart. He was football's offensive king.

A Grand Guy

In talking to Pop again, leaning on his cane, I began looking back. Looking back to the Carlisle Indians—Bemus Pierce, Thorpe, Calce, Guyon, Metoxen, Hudson, Mt. Pleasant, Choctaw Kelly, Houser—a long list of other greats—probably the most colorful outfit that ever roamed American gridirons, handled by one of the most colorful of all coaches.

After that, a long run of great Pittsburgh teams—then on to Stanford—then back to Temple—then back again to the West coast—45 years of coaching and still under steam.

A grand guy, Pop. And a fellow who knew his trade. And still does.

The phone boomed and no second guess was needed. It had to be Hurry-Up Yost. There is no substitute.

Yost coached his way from the Atlantic to Stanford, via Nebraska and Kansas. In 1901 he reported at Michigan.

For four years (1901-04) Yost and Michigan had the best football team on the map. I know Yale didn't think so, nor Harvard, nor Princeton, which were then planting about nine men on Walter Camp's All-America. But it was true. In those four years Michigan ran up something better than 2,300 points against almost nothing. Heston alone scored over 100 touchdowns. I mean against strong teams from Wisconsin, Chicago, Minnesota, Carlisle, on and on. One year Buffalo beat Yale—and Michigan beat Buffalo, 105 to 0.

Can't Bother Greatness.

In 1901 Stanford was the West Coast champion. Yost gave his Michigan team a final workout in six inches of snow, headed them west, played eleven men under blazing heat and beat Stanford 49 to 0. And Stanford could use all the replacements she needed. It was that sort of a Michigan team.

"A great football team," said Yost, "can play in a snowstorm or at a temperature of 105. Nothing bothers greatness."

As Yost admits, "It could have been 99 to 0." It could.

Stagg—Warner—Yost. All in one group or a bunch. Average age around 72. Coaching span—135 years. These three are enough to show the grip sport has on the country. Yost was complaining years ago when the Michigan faculty had thrown out eight of his starting eleven. Classroom deficiencies.

"Why don't you quit?" I asked. "You know the pill game as well as you do football—and there's 10 times as much money in it."

"Quit?" asked Yost. "How can anyone quit football?"

NEWS NOTES

Since the resignation of Mrs. Baker as homemaking teacher, Mrs. Blair will continue as a temporary teacher until another can be employed.

Lynn Martin, a new student, has been registered with the Freshman Class, and is welcomed by the student body.

It is interesting to note that there appeared in the December 29, issue of the Eagle an article by Robert Andrews Millikin, one of the authors of the physics text books used in this school.

DEBATE CLUB REPORT

Last Thursday, Harriet Allen and Buddy Stokes, the affirmative, debated Cartwright Oglesby and Aubrey Smith, the negative. Apparently the debate wasn't ended last Thursday, because these same debaters will again match their wits against their opponents this week in an hour debate.

Interest is growing tremendously. Several more debates are being prepared.

LIGHT THRU A KEYHOLE

We wonder if Barbara accepted; we know Sam asked, because seeing is believing, and we have a snapshot of it.

One matter which somehow managed to slip by the "know-it-alls" last week was by no means trivial. Itsy bitsy Ovella was out conquering again. This time it was a "has been," James Bacus.

These Center City Geeslins are bad, bad boys. At least, Veta Vee thinks so—sometimes. And Theda Faye agrees that sometimes Vance prevaricates.

We promised to keep you posted—so here goes. It seems Opal and Rex were practically inseparable, and at a party composed mostly of un-dater boys. Looks bad—looks good.

Melvin is eager to know the answer—so he says to Cleta, "Tell me and let me be on my way."

Game: What Do I Look Like to You?

Doyle: "You are the one thing it takes to make my life complete."

Lollie: "You look like a bottle of beer."

Kinda crazy, huh? Oh, well, it's just a game.

When attending the theatre, pick a seat directly in front of or behind Fred and Adelaide. This way you get a double feature.

If you're wondering why so many girls in one clique are wearing house shoes nowadays, it's because "Ding Dong" Denson, Kirby, and Long are learning to "swing it." Fun for them and dealers in ladies footwear.

Buren Crawford is destined to a life of bachelorhood, now that his true one has left. We witnessed the heartbreak when he gave his farewell note to Jean.

Karcher has at last found courage. We've been watching it bud for a long time, and now it's broken out in full bloom. We are so happy for both of you.

Question of the week: Which two reheads have begun the

TEXAS OUT-O'-DOORS

More Deer Killed.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 10.—Despite the unseasonably hot weather which prevailed during most of the hunting season, more deer were killed in Texas during the 1939 hunting period than in 1938, early reports to the executive secretary of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission indicate. However, the kill will not reach the estimate of 45,000 made by the Game Department prior to the opening of the season, but probably will be approximately 40,000.

Fox Commits "Suicide"

A red fox, a rare animal in the area surrounding Gonzales, Texas, met an untimely end recently, apparently hanging himself in the fork of a tree. The animal was found by E. H. Menking on the Wallace place southeast of Gonzales.

It is believed the fox accidentally caught his neck in the tree fork and could not free himself. The bark on the tree was torn by the claws of Sir Reynard in his frantic efforts to get loose.

Trap 264 Antelope.

Antelope trapped in round-ups staged by the Texas Game Department near Sterling City are faring well in the more than 20 localities in which they were transplanted, according to reports to the executive secretary of the Department.

Should the majority of the 264 antelope trapped with a loss thru injury of less than 3 per cent continue to thrive it will not be many seasons until Texas can have a limited open season on the fleet animals, the executive secretary said.

Has 3-Horned Buck.

Bryon Skelton of Temple boasts an unusual trophy of his hunt near Ozona, Texas. It is a three-horned deer. Mr. Skelton shot a big buck with an unusually large set of well-shaped antlers, but was surprised, upon examining the head closely, to find the animal also sported a spike nearly six inches long growing out of the center of its forehead.

Elk Stray Into State.

The Trans-Pecos region of Texas has approximately 400 elk, but reports of two elk in the Panhandle have been received recently by the Game Department. A cow elk was sighted east of Wellington and the Game Warden Captain of that region has in his possession the head and antlers of a bull elk killed by a Knox county rancher. These big game animals are believed to have drifted into Texas from the Wichita Game Preserve in Oklahoma.

Man's Inhumanity To Man

"Man's inhumanity to man makes countless millions mourn." So wrote the philosopher of old.

And today man's conduct in society proves the point. The good book declares that "whatsoever a Man Sows that he shall also reap."

That is as it should be. That is simple Justice in action.

It portrays a harvest of regrets should man sow his wild oats; it offers the comfort and consolation of heavenly benedictions should he plant a life of good deeds.

Yet, there are in this age and every age through which man has passed, a tendency on the part of the erring to reap the good where others have sown.

Rank injustice!—Such a course. It bespeaks ingratitude of the basest sort.

In every community in Texas today may be found evidences of how and where and by whom, others have sought to reap where they have not sown. In a large number of instances, men and women who are benefactors to their communities are recognized and rewarded, but all too often outstanding accomplishments have been the work of in-

Kathleen Norris Says: Marriage at Forty Is Often A Dangerous Affair

Anna Rose did not love this man, who was an old business acquaintance; and she has always been on friendly terms with his wife.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

WHEN a woman discovers love and passion for the first time, at 40, what are her chances of a happy marriage?

That's the question Anna Rose asks me; and in her letter, describing the situation, she gives me a few of the details that make it unusual. Of course every situation is unusual, to the woman who is living in it, but Anna Rose naturally feels her own way uncomfortably complicated.

She married at 24, and of that marriage has a son, Robbie, 12 years old. Although she was left a comfortable living when her husband died a few years later, she was not willing to be an idler, and discovered that she has a real gift for salesmanship. This was profitable and interesting to her, and she soon was making good money, traveling, able to take good care of the child, and having, she says, many "happy holidays" with Robbie.

Two years ago she yielded to a sudden temptation, and entered into an intimate association with an old business acquaintance, a married man. Anna says she cannot in any way explain her own conduct. She did not love this man, and she has always been on friendly terms with his wife.

"It was just one of those things," she writes. "It seemed to me to be a sort of assertion of my own complete freedom. My first marriage had been loveless, and perhaps I thought there was no real love in the world, and that one needn't worry too much about things of that sort."

"Whatever I thought I've completely forgotten now. Whenever he was in my city and circumstances made it possible, this man and I carried on our affair. It ended some months ago. Neither one was in possession of any letters; there had been no witnesses, and there was no ill-feeling. I told him then that I had met a man so far above me in every way that I was living in a new world.

"Roy is a nerve specialist, 44 years old. He has never been married; he has lived with a mother and sister all his life. They idolize him; regard him as something a little more than human. He is simple, quiet, not rich; but he generously supports his mother and sister so that he would be well-to-do if it were not for them, and quite the gentleman.

"What he feels for me is what a man of that age feels when he has never been in love before. It is worship. He becomes so confused if I smile at him that sometimes he can't go on talking. If he is writing me a letter he tells me he will stop three or four times and walk the floor. He cannot believe that I could care for him. He suffers—really suffers if I speak affectionately of my first husband. 'You were not happy, and it was a merciful dispensation that he was taken,' he says. In his anticipation of our marriage he is as thrilled as a girl in her teens.

"I know your advice would be to say nothing of the miserable affair that was concluded last May. He would never understand it, for he is not that kind of man. Such things would always be shocking to him, never to be regarded lightly. But what I am asking you is your opinion of so late a marriage. I feel that I could make this man divinely happy. My real motive for keeping anything back from him would be only with that end in view.

"And for myself I can say only that never before in my life has a dream of ecstasy seemed within my reach. This man's slightest glance, his lightest word, change a whole day for me. I am walking on air, even the most commonplace acts have a sort of glamour. Sometimes I almost want to leave him, to be alone to remember his wonderful words and looks. In fact, I am hardly sane; it seems impossible that so perfect a union could ever exist in this world. Is there any reason why I should refuse this happiness even though it comes a little late?"

Why She Shouldn't Marry.

The reasons for her not marrying Roy are many. Not alone because it is dangerous to marry a middle-aged bachelor who is timid, idealistic, jealous, possessive. And not even because she is hiding from this man she so loves a sordid secret that might very well disgust him and change his feeling if it ever came to his ears. These are all influential factors in the problem, and any one of them might at any minute become a danger.

But the two real considerations are: first, his mother and sister who have spoiled and petted this man all his life; and, second, the rights of Anna Rose's son. Of the first I want to remind her that when an adored son and brother leaves a family, and cuts down an income at the same time, the balance between the women at home and the new wife is a difficult one to adjust. They are going to resent it, and their influence upon him is strong and deep.

Anna Rose in her letter quite innocently gives me to understand that she is not "quite the lady," if Roy is "quite the gentleman." Unconsciously she will surprise, if not jar him with her healthy, everyday attitude toward things that to him have always been mysterious and sacred. He will become nervous, apologetic for her, with his mother and sister.

The second consideration is the most serious of all. What of Robbie, who has had mother to himself for seven years, and goes on holiday jaunts with her? He is reaching an age when he will need her badly, when his whole life will be influenced by her attitude to him.

He is going to be bitterly hurt when Roy's jealousy and possessiveness crowd him out of his mother's life. He is too young to understand a man's attitude toward a new wife.

He will hear Roy's patient, adoring, "Must we have him, darling? Couldn't we be just by ourselves this once?" He will presently hear the resentment in his stepfather's voice, "You worry about him more than you do about me, Anna. Why can't he be alone, one evening?"

Then talk of summer camps, winter boarding schools, and Anna Rose's heart aching with a fierce pain that she never can assuage for the child to whom her love and loyalty really belong; the child she cheated to be with the man she cheated, too.

or paper, without damage. When a car runs over a fire hose on the pavement, it may crush the fiber in the crease. The next time it is used, it may leak, or still, it may burst. One burst section in a long line of hose means a complete re-connection. A fire won't wait while the firemen get out another section a couple of feet.

Fire hose cost lots of money. One section costs $250.00. One burst in it makes it worse than worthless. It takes time to get it out of the way. Then you need know it is broken until you are on the pressure. Under these conditions we see how important it is that we take the best of our fire-hose.

Because we have a good fighting apparatus, and a volunteer fire department, we have had few fires. Goldthwaite has a good fire rate credit of 90 per cent, which is deducted from all fire insurance premiums. I do not let our curiosity nor hurry to get some where, cause us to lose any of these benefits.

MORE ABOUT THOSE HATS How to tell whether the snood is part of the hat or the hat part of the snood is a major difficulty. In either case it gives a woman the appearance of having become tangled in some mosquito netting while putting on her bonnet.

Still, the snood isn't entirely to blame for the comic angle in 1939 millinery. It's the hats themselves. They have gone babyish. They look like those little things that used to be used as ornaments on birthday cakes.

The idea seems to be to get an adult into a hat designed for kinder garden wear.

We have seen old-fashioned pen wipers that would make ideal bonnets for misses' and ladies' wear this season.

Highway Stripes Help Save Lives

Austin.—When a baseball pitcher starts sending them 'straight down the middle,' he is heading for certain trouble and, mayhap, the hospital or the morgue. With this graphic comparison Julian Montgomery, State Highway Engineer, brings home to the motorist the danger of hugging the center of the road. In an article, "To Save Your Life," in the December issue of Texas Parade Mr. Montgomery points out the seriousness of such tactics. "It all depends on circumstances," he writes. "If the baseball pitcher is lucky, he may get a few platter splitters by a few batters, but invariably some slugger steps up and knocks the ball out of the lot. If the gods of good fortune are riding on his left fender, the straight down the middle driver may get by for a time, but sooner or later he will be knocked into the traffic statistics.

"The real causes of head-on collisions, the most serious of all traffic mishaps, often escape the investigators. They occur on broad stretches of highway with plenty of side clearance and plenty of sight distance. The most logical conclusion that can be drawn under such circumstances is that one of the drivers went wool gathering and had a momentary mental lapse.

"But head-on collisions often result from physical deficiencies in the highway itself, deficiencies of which the motorist may be expected to have little or no knowledge, such as lack of adequate sight distance in which to observe vehicles approaching from the opposite direction and judge their speed with a degree of safety. In many instances even an intelligent, careful driver needs a little help.

"It was with the view of providing this help and to concentrate the attention of the middle-busters on the right side of the road at all times that the Texas Highway Department undertook extensive experiments in center striping. And the results thus far have proved the effectiveness of the undertaking. In the first five months of 1939, head-on collisions accounted for 33 per cent of the fatalities occurring on the highways, exclusive of fatalities on city streets and connections. At the end of a 10-month period, the number of fatalities from head-on collisions had dropped to one-fourth of the total and the prospects are that with education of the public in the use of the center stripe system now being employed and more general acceptance of this safety feature, the number of fatalities from this cause will continue to decrease.

"A head-on collision at any speed greater than 10 to 15 miles per hour is almost certain to result in a fatal accident and, under certain conditions, a head-on collision at lower speed may result, and has resulted, in a fatal accident. "Where a traffic volume and other factors warrant, the Highway Department is endeavoring to find funds to provide physical separation of opposing traffic lanes. The methods employed are separating island barriers—four-lane divided highways and elliptical island separation on hill crests, etc. Lack of available funds and physical obstacles of terrain and inadequate right-of-way limit the construction of highways embodying these modern engineering principles. An aggressive program toward such a goal must be extended necessarily over a period of 20 years at least. During that period the Highway Department must employ every engineering principle at its command to promote channelization and reduce media friction.

"Tests have proved that 1,000 feet are required to pass safely a car traveling 50 miles per hour because there are many places on existing highways where the Highway Department has not been able to provide this required 1,000-foot sight distance, we have employed a method of notifying users that passing is restricted because of limited sight distance. The Department is working diligently upon an ambitious program to apply warning stripes on all of our highways. Passing is prohibited where the dash (broken) stripe is on the driver's side of the centerstripe and reflectorized signs reading "Passing Prohibited Where Dash Stripe In Your Lane" are being erected.

"The centerstripe is provided to promote channelization and a faithful observance of these traffic control measures by a cooperative public will promote safety and reduce the dreaded head-on collision accidents with a marked decrease in fatalities on our highways."

Improved Uniform International SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE PROBLEM OF FORGIVENESS

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 18:21-35. GOLDEN TEXT—And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors.—Matthew 6:12.

Christianity and forgiveness belong together. Among the religions of the earth Christianity stands out as the one true faith because it properly and adequately meets the problem of sin. In Christ is provided forgiveness for sin, cleansing from all unrighteousness, a new birth by which one enters into a life of holiness and power.

Since these things are true it would seem to be almost unnecessary to urge God's children to be of a forgiving spirit. But as Bishop Ryle says, "It is a melancholy fact that there are few Christian duties so little practiced as that of forgiveness. It is sad to see how much bitterness, unmercifulness, spite, harshness and unkindness there is among men." Surely these things ought not so to be.

I. The Extent of Forgiveness (vv. 21, 22).

"How long do I have to stand it?" is the question of the human heart untouched by the spirit of Christ. The injustices of life, the offenses of our fellow men against us, all seem to pile up until the burden is about to crush us. What is the answer to man's cry?

The Jews had an answer. Three times is enough. Forgive once, yes. Again, yes. But the third time, no. Peter was big-hearted enough to more than double that allowance of mercy. He was willing to forgive not just two or three times, but seven times. The point to be kept in mind, however, is that whether forgiveness means three times or seven times, if there is a limit, it is a matter of reckoning, of keeping books, and of ultimately bringing down our judgment upon the heads of the offenders.

The spirit of Christ swept all of that aside. He said that one should forgive 70 times seven. In other words, Christian forgiveness is to be untrusting, unlimited, to know no weariness and have no boundaries. If one really forgives it is because he has a forgiving spirit and that spirit is not exhausted by use, but rather grows by exercise.

A word of caution is in order at this point. Let no one suppose that our Lord's instruction means that offenses against the law of the land or against the good order of society are to be overlooked and condoned. It relates to the cultivation of a personal spirit of forgiveness, the laying aside of revenge, of malice, of retaliation which do not become the Christian.

II. The Motive of Forgiveness (vv. 23-34).

Two motives are given in our text, the first being that since we ourselves are daily and hourly in need of forgiveness at the merciful hand of God, we should in turn be merciful toward those who sin against us. Compared with our offenses against the law of God, we know that the misdeeds of our neighbors against us are mere trifles. Remember what God has done for you, and then when you are tempted to be hard and ungracious with your brother, remember the mercy of God.

The second motive is the remembrance that a day of judgment is to come. There is always a time of reckoning ahead even as was the case with these servants. Remember not only what God has done for you and is doing for you, but what you must yet expect Him to do in that day of judgment.

III. The Importance of Forgiveness (v. 35).

A man dealing with his fellow man is apt to think that it is merely a matter between man and man. We are not dealing with a straight line between ourselves and our brother (that was Peter's error), but with a triangle at whose apex is God Himself. If I expect God to forgive me, I must let that same forgiveness flow out to my brother. If I deal with him as though God had nothing to do with the matter, then I must not try to count God's forgiveness into the picture when I stand indebted before Him.

Here again we express a word of caution. Let no one suppose that our redemption in Christ is contingent upon what we do toward our brethren. "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God; not of works, lest any man should boast" (Eph. 2:8, 9). Nor does the truth of our lesson mean that we are somehow going to bargain with God, trading a bit of our forgiveness toward others for His forgiveness of us. God is not interested in such transactions. But it does mean that if you cannot or will not forgive, you may well consider whether you are a Christian at all.

Angry Words

Seest thou a man that is hasty in his words? There is more hope of a fool than of him.—Proverbs 29, 20.

General Johnson

Says: A Ghoulish Piece of Muckraking... Break Between Woodrow Wilson and Colonel House Basis of Unfair Screenshot

By HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON, D. C.—It is significant that in appointing a personal representative to the Vatican, the President did not name a Roman Catholic. Myron Taylor is an Episcopalian.

The American rule for keeping religion out of politics is a good one and I, for one, can't see any violation of it here. I doubt if the President's thought was of the Pope as a Roman pontiff, half so much as that he is a voice for peace and religion generally.

This country stands for freedom of religion. And it is not only peace that is at stake in the world's present agony. It is religion itself. It is certainly freedom of religion.

A closer contact between the world's leaders of opinions on those things is not political or temporal. It is spiritual in the highest and most realistic sense.

WASHINGTON.—The most ghoulish piece of muck-raking of recent time is a publication: "The Truth Behind the House-Wilson Break," by George Sylvester Viereck. Affecting to quote the unwritten words of a dead man—Colonel House—about his estrangement from another dead man—Woodrow Wilson—Mr. Viereck writes: "No matter what pretext was given, there were only three reasons for the break. They were Mrs. Wilson, Admiral Grayson and Bernard M. Baruch."

"When a last meeting between the two friends," says Viereck, "might have saved at least the wreckage of their dream (League of Nations) again Mrs. Wilson interposed. House lost a friend. Wilson lost the hope of being the messiah of a new day and the world lost its chance of salvation from most of the ills that vex it today."

Only Two Alive.

Thus another dead man (Carey Grayson) is dragged into responsibility for upsetting the earth. For all this character assassination not a single piece of direct evidence is presented.

Of all the characters in this play, only two remain alive. Edith Boling Wilson and Bernard M. Baruch. Baruch can have little to say because little is said against him and all that is specific is probably false. Little is said but much is implied. "Without Baruch, Mrs. Wilson and Grayson could not have imposed their will upon the country—Baruch, House felt, was the brains of the combination... (through) his uncanny fascination—Grayson succumbed to the magic of Baruch."

Break Came in Paris.

All the facts about the break between House and Wilson may never be known. From long and intimate friendships with two of the actors here staged by Mr. Viereck—Baruch and Grayson—it is betraying no confidence to say that neither of them knew finally and fully. It did not reach, as Mr. Viereck writes: "Its climax when the President of the United States was practically held incommunicado for 6 1/2 months. Mrs. Wilson's jealousy supplied the emotional motive. The late Admiral Grayson was merely her second, but the guiding genius of the performance backstage was Baruch."

The break happened in Paris at the peace conference long before Mr. Wilson's illness. It happened because of something that Colonel House had done, or Mr. Wilson had thought he had done, during Mr. Wilson's absence from Paris between the tentative drafting of the covenant and his return to find himself confronted by a bitter struggle which smeared most of his 14 points. He seemed to feel that Colonel House had forced his hands to certain concessions by conversations or commitments to the Allies.

With this kind of thing neither Admiral Grayson nor Mr. Bernard Baruch had anything to do.

In the ensuing months, after Mr. Wilson was stricken, Grayson may have learned more details, but that tight-mouthed confidant and special adviser of six Presidents was accepted as such because of his reputation for never leaking anything—even to his closest friends.

Maybe some day his papers will be published and this secret may or may not be uncovered.

Of only one thing I am certain. Mr. Viereck's biased and unfair screed hasn't uncovered it. During the President's illness, Mr. Baruch was rarely at the White House. He never, during that time, or at any other time, as Viereck unblushingly says: "appeared in public as Wilson's spokesman." That there was a "bedside cabinet" of three which "ruled the United States" is, on the face of the record, a preposterous untruth.

Daily Inventory
WHEN EVENING COMES, go off into a quiet place and review your day.
Have you been kind and thoughtful, or mean and thoughtless?
Have you kept an even temper, or have you lost your temper when things have gone wrong?
Have you been pleasant, or grouchy?
Have you inspired those whom you have met, or have you depressed and discouraged them?
Have you done something creative and worthwhile, or have you wasted the day with petty things?
Have you been square and fair in what you've done?
Have you increased the happiness-moments in the lives of others, or have you thought only of self?
Have you enlarged your mental horizon, expanded your personality—have you grown larger, or shrunk smaller?
What we do day by day determines what we become. Hour by hour we build our lives for better or for worse. A daily inventory will help to keep us on the right track, headed toward our highest ideals.
—THE SILVER LINING.

Garner, Leader of Peace Bloc, Crystallized Anti-War Sentiment Throughout the United States

Washington, D. C.—Vice President John Nance Garner more than any other man changed the American attitude toward the European war.

When Garner returned to Washington for the special session of Congress on September 21, there was sort of fatalistic feeling that somehow or another the United States, sooner or later, would get into war.

Travelers returning from Europe were quoted in Eastern newspapers as reporting that the most frequent question asked of Americans in England and France was "How soon will the United States join us?"

Garner never issues statements to the press, therefore his part in creating the new psychology may not be fully known to the country. But more than forty senators visited the Vice President on the first day he was in Washington.

Here is what he said to them: "The United States is not going into this war. The people are determined that we shall not get into it. We in legislative office have got to quit saying that we hope this country can stay out. We have got to start saying 'We're going to stay out.'"

He expressed that same feeling at the White House later in the day when Democratic and Republican leaders met with President Roosevelt. He expressed it again and again as senators and Representatives called on him later. And in a few days the Garner sentiment was being echoed throughout Washington and it spread to the country.

Garner voted for war in 1917. He believed there was no way to stay out and he still believes there was no way to stay out. He insisted that his only son go to war then.

Marquis James, Pulitzer prize-winning author, in his new book, "Mr. Garner of Texas," tells how it happened:

"His son, Tully, had gone to the father's office a few days after the war resolution passed in 1917.

"Son," said Mr. Garner, "how do you feel about going to war?"

"I aim to go, Dad," said the boy. "I'm glad to hear it—for you've got to go. I couldn't have cast that vote to send our father's boys to war if I hadn't known I was sending my own. And just one more thing: your mother and I will want to hear from you every time you get a chance to write, but promise you'll never ask me a favor, I might be in a position to get it, and I don't want to be exposed to temptation."

No member of Congress got a better understanding of war than Garner. Not only was he a member of the Ways and Means Committee active in the framing of laws for the four Liberty Loans aggregating $18,000,000,000 and the $4,500,000,000 Victory Loan and the emergency tax bills, but he was also President Wilson's liaison man between the White House and the House of Representatives.

Twice a week he went to the White House for long private conferences with President Wilson. The President sent him to confer with the British, French and Belgium missions which came to the United States to discuss methods of waging the war. Garner had for many years been a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives and a student of foreign relations.

In the writing of the new neutrality law it was he who insisted on every safeguard to prevent involvement of the United States in war.

I have failed to send in news several weeks, but will try to more prompt this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Scott of Austin have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dennis, several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Duward Morris and baby, Mrs. Howard Hoover and Kenneth Morris visited one afternoon last week in the M. L. Casbeer home.

Mrs. Willis Hill has been quite the past week but we are glad to report that she is better. Her sisters, Mrs. Rex Clifton of Amar and Mrs. Jake Long and son, Perry, of Goldthwaite have been staying with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Turbiville and daughter, moved into our community several weeks ago, on the place which they bought from Mr. Simpson. They previously lived at Llano.

Mrs. Clyde Featherston and son, George Wayne, Valeria Stacy and Horace Gray visited Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Casbeer and children the night last week.

Mohler Simpson and family moved several weeks ago from town to their place out here. We welcome them into our community.

Blondie Stacy spent Thursday night in the Clyde Featherston home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Corts have moved to their place out here. We hope they will like living out here.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Featherston visited while in the Mohler Simpson home one night last week.

Henry Simpson, Blondie Stacy, Valeria Stacy, Odell Casbeer, Horace Gray and Merlin Lemon visited M. L. Casbeer and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Corts and Edgar Simpson left Friday for a few days visit at Kerrville.

Mrs. Morgan Stacy has been quite sick but is able to be up again. We hope she will soon be entirely well.

Leon Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hibler went to town Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Casbeer and children and Valeria Stacy spent Sunday in the B. R. Casbeer home at town.

Walter Simpson bought himself a new well drill last week and is drilling a well for Mohler Simpson.

Clyde Featherston served on the jury last week.

Edgar Simpson, J. M. and Blondie Stacy visited while in the M. L. Casbeer home, Thursday.

Henry Simpson and Louise Johnson from town were visitors in the Mohler Simpson home Friday night.

Mrs. Ed Dennis visited her sister, Mrs. Sam Morris, at town, Friday night and Saturday.

Bina Beth, Sybil and Billie Jean Casbeer spent Saturday night with their grandma and grandpa Casbeer at town.

Henry Simpson made a short visit in the Turbiville home, Monday morning.

Odell Casbeer spent one night last week with Valeria Stacy.

Rock Springs

By Mrs. Eula Nickols

There was Sunday school and church Sunday morning and church and BYPU Sunday night. Bro. Wade preached. There weren't very many at either service.

Next Sunday will be the regular church day.

The rain was fine for the grass and grain, but it didn't put out any stock water in these new tanks that have been built. J. T. Stark had a big one built and if it ever gets full, he will have everlasting water. Mrs. Nickols had one built, but she doesn't brag on hers like J. T. Stark does. Rudolph Cooke had the job building them both.

Tuesday night a few of the neighbors enjoyed music in Woody Traylor's home. Bro. Bedford Renfro and one of his neighbors and Oliver Traylor furnished the music. Some played 42 and dominoes.

Friday night Landy Ellis and wife and Mrs. Eula Nickols, Burton Leverett and wife and J. T. Stark enjoyed 42 and dominoes games in the McClary home with Gordon Salters and family. Then Saturday night a few of the neighbors met in the Nickols home to play games.

Tonight the neighbors are invited to play games in the Pierce home. We have good times, so come and join us.

Jess Egger had our road put in pretty good shape last week, but since the rain they are bad clear into town.

I feel sure we can expect a warm summer this year from the looks of the candidates names in our paper last week. The paper had lots of news last week.

I hope I'm getting this correct. I was asked to tell you that the church at Ridge has organized a singing class for each third Sunday afternoon. Be sure and go and help. W. P. Weaver is president. I know he will do his part all right.

Ira Dewbre and wife have been looking after their sheep on the Lowe farm.

M. R. Circle hauled a load of wood to the school Monday.

James Nickols and wife spent Sunday in the Tyson home at Center Point.

Miss Johnny Bell Circle is home since Christmas. She had been in Coleman before Christmas.

Dwight Nickols and wife from town visited Sunday afternoon with the Nickols family.

W. A. Cooke, Mrs. J. T. Robertson and Wesley Nickols have been on the sick list.

Mrs. Harvey Dunkle spent a few days last week taking care of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jack Robertson, who had the flu.

Mrs. Glen Nickols spent Saturday night, Sunday and Sat-

The SNAPSHOT GUILD PICK A PICTURE SPECIALTY

AS YOU become more skilled in photography, you may find that certain subjects or types of pictures appeal to you strongly. If so, it is wise to specialize in this preferred type. Such specializing doesn't limit you; indeed, if you master the taking of one kind of picture, the knowledge will help you in taking other kinds.

Here are a few of the picture specialties that many amateurs find interesting. Perhaps in the list you will find one that just fits your own needs:

Action pictures: If you have a camera with fast lens and rapid shutter, this is an interesting field, full of thrills and dramatic opportunities. Both winter and summer sports offer splendid chances for action shots.

Flower pictures: This is a year-round specialty. In winter, picture your window garden; in summer, the outdoor garden. Any camera is suitable, but more satisfactory results will be obtained if it is fitted with a portrait attachment.

Outdoor pictures at night: Modern fast films now make such shots easier. Short time exposures with ordinary equipment, or even snapshots with ultra-fast lenses, enable you to picture street scenes and illuminated shop windows. Twilight offers many interesting picture effects; and snow scenes have striking beauty under moonlight or street lamps. All you need is a camera, and a tripod or some solid object to support it during time exposures with the slower lenses.

Architectural pictures: It's great fun to explore a town in search of interesting architecture—novel doorways, odd bits of old-fashioned "gingerbread" decoration, or such historic structures as the one pictured here. This, too, is an all-year specialty.

Table-top pictures: Here is a specialty that offers ample scope for originality. Construct small scenes or situations, using dolls, toy animals, toy houses, etc.—then picture them. Any focusing camera, or a fixed-focus model with portrait attachment added, will do. And "table-

Picture taking is more fun when you choose a specialty and master it. Architectural pictures—such as this shot of Independence Hall, model for many a county court-house—make up one of many fascinating fields topping" is an entertaining pastime at any season.

Silhouette pictures, pet and animal pictures, nature pictures—these are also worthy specialties. Informal portrait snaps of the baby or other members of the family also are a popular field; and there are many others. Choose your specialty—cultivate it—build up a fine collection of pictures in this one line—and you'll be an abler photographer in any other field.

By Mrs. Geo. Brooks

Mr. and Mrs. Odin Renfro visited Mr. and Mrs. Geo. D. Brooks Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Forest Jernigan has been on the sick list. We hope she will soon be well again.

M. L. Jernigan made a business trip to Fort Worth one day this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hale and Neta Earl spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Darty.

Mr. May of Goldthwaite is building a new house on his farm in our community.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blair have moved to the house on the Jernigan lease of the Curtis place.

Mrs. M. L. Jernigan and Mrs. Odin Renfro took Miss Louise Jernigan to Brownwood, Monday, where she will take a beauty course. They also visited with Mrs. Freeman of Ridge.

Mrs. Geo. Brooks visited Mrs. Earl Hale Monday afternoon.

Center Point

H. D. Club

The ladies met Thursday, Jan. 4, with Mrs. Raymond Hale in the home of Mrs. Cunningham with six members present.

We had a short Bible course for the opening exercise. Since our Council Delegate has moved, we elected Miss Besse Hutchings as our Council Delegate; Mrs. Raymond Hale, Secretary, and Mrs. Hallford, Reporter.

We then cut sleeve patterns. The hostess served cookies and cocoa. The club then adjourned until next meeting which will be with Mrs. Self, January 18.

"EVERY DAY" PLAY SUIT

College Sta.—A winter play suit for "every day" wear is a valuable addition to a child's wardrobe, if it is durable, warm, and easy to clean. Mrs. Dora E. Barnes, specialist in clothing for the A&M College Extension Service, says that fabrics for winter play suits should be flexible and pliable enough not to hamper the movements of the child or irritate the skin at the neck, wrists, and ankles. Wool fabrics are satisfactory, although some of them have to be dry-cleaned.

PLEASANT GROVE

H. D. CLUB MEET

The Pleasant Grove H. D. Club met with Mrs. Ray Berry, Jan. 2. There were 14 members present.

The evening was spent playing games and popping popcorn.

Security Pensions Begin This Month

Austin.—Effective January 1, 1940, the amended Social Security Act provides aged wage earners and their families with greater protection than they have ever known before against insecurity in old-age, according to Z. E. Avery, manager of the Austin Social Security Board field office. He cited the following hypothetical example of how the plan will work.

Bill Jones works only three years in covered employment averaging $100 a month in wages. Bill, who is 65, retires on January 2, 1940. He files an application and receives a check for $25.75 from the United States Treasury every month for the rest of his life.

Bill's wife, Martha, who is also 65, receives a check for $12.82 every month as long as Bill lives. When he dies Martha's check increases to $19.32 each month for the rest of her life. In the event of dependent and unmarried children under age 18, they, too, would receive $12.82, although all benefits payable may not exceed twice Bill's original benefit.

Under the original old-age insurance plan a wage earner reaching age 65 between 1936 and 1942 received a single lump-sum payment of 3½ percent of his taxable wages; monthly benefits were not payable before January 1, 1942. The amended Social Security Act, in addition to bringing more people under the program, increases the size of monthly benefits and advances the monthly benefit date two years, to January 1, 1940, instead of 1942.

Avery explained that charts showing monthly benefits based on an average monthly wage and years of employment are available in printed form at the Social Security Board field office at 104 Old Post Office Building, Austin, Texas.

Manager Avery stated that he and his staff will advise any person as to his eligibility under the program and assist anyone who is eligible in preparing his claim for benefits.

Local Garden Club Invited to TSCW

Denton, Jan. 11.—Goldthwaite Garden Club members this week received an invitation to attend a two-day garden conference to be held at Texas State College for Women in Denton January 15 and 16. This conference, first of a state-wide nature held at a Texas college, is sponsored by the Texas Federation of Garden Clubs and the college.

Mrs. Will Lake, director of the Fort Worth Garden Center and state president of the Texas Federation, and Dr. L. H. Hubbard, president of TSCW, have announced that representatives from Texas' 200 garden clubs with a total membership of 10,000, and clubs of southern Oklahoma have been invited to the conference. The theme of the first day's program will be the use of natural resources and that of the second will be horticulture.

Climaxing the two-day session the college is presenting J. Gregory Conway of the University of California, Los Angeles. Mr. Conway, author of "Flowers East—West" and one of the greatest authorities on the art of flower arrangement, will give the main address at the banquet which will close the conference, Tuesday evening, Jan. 16.

Other outstanding speakers will be Mrs. C. G. Spillers, Tulsa, Okla., president of the Oklahoma Garden Clubs, who will speak on "Organization;" Dr. J. C. Ratsek, Director of the Experiment Sub-Station 2 at Texas A&M College, whose subject will be "Plant Diseases;" and Dr. Evelyn Barclay, director of zoology, Tulsa University.

Raymond C. Morrison, consulting landscape architect for Federal Government Housing Projects will speak on "Town Buildings;" Walter Florey, Texas A&M horticulturist, on "Worthwhile New Shrubs," and Mrs. Ben G. O'Neill, Wichita Falls, past president of the Texas Federation of Garden Clubs on "Flower Pilgrimages."

Merry Wives Club

Tuesday afternoon, the Merry Wives Club met in the lovely home of Mrs. Marvin Hodges. A short business meeting was held preceding bridge.

Mrs. Earl Summy scored high for club member and Mrs. Cloninger for guest.

A delicious salad course was served to the guests.

Waters—Berry

Miss Novaleen Berry became the bride of David Waters, Monday afternoon, January 1, at 3 o'clock.

The simple but impressive single ring ceremony was performed in the home of Rev. Jack Hester, Methodist pastor of the Star charge. The only attendants at the wedding were Willie Leston Berry, brother of the bride, Ruby D. Berry, cousin to the bride, and Jude Miles, friend of the bride and groom.

The bride wore a becoming blue dress with matching accessories of black and wine. For something old she wore a golden lavalere which belonged to her mother.

Immediately after the wedding the couple left for a short visit with the groom's parents, at London, Texas.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Berry, a prominent family of Pleasant Grove community. She finished Goldthwaite High school as an honor graduate and later attended John Tarleton College, from which she graduated last spring. Mrs. Waters was an outstanding student there because of her high standard of scholastic achievement. She also took an active part in the work of the First Baptist Church of Stephenville, being secretary of the BTU council while there.

The fortunate groom is a graduate of the high school of London, Texas, his former home. He is engaged in ranching in the Pleasant Grove community.

The bride and groom are now at home in the Pleasant Grove community. Their many friends there wish them much happiness in their wedded life.—A Friend.
