Democrats Nominate President Roosevelt for Third Term

Washington, D. C.

SPHINX ROOSEVELT

Franklin Roosevelt will go down in history as the greatest keeper of a secret in American politics.

For more than two years scores of friends, Democratic leaders, newsmen and others tried their hand at worming from him some hint on the third term question. None succeeded until the Democratic convention was only a week away—and this one, Jim Farley, in turn sealed his own lips.

Except for Farley, there wasn't a person on earth who could say he had heard from Roosevelt himself what he planned to do.

There were many to whom he said that he did not want to run. There were some to whom he voiced a preference for Secretary of State Cordell Hull as his successor. But there was no one, including members of his family, to whom the President gave the slightest clue whether he would run again.

Illustrative of the complete mystery even within the inner council was the fact that Secretary Morgenthau did not believe the President would be a candidate, while Secretary Hopkins was confident that he would. Both had to admit that Roosevelt had said nothing and that their opinions were based wholly on "deductions."

Last week Sen. Sherman Minton, New Deal whip, and State Chairman Bays of Indiana, tried to penetrate the silence. Both are members of the Hoosier convention delegation and strong third-termers. As they were leaving after a White House call they said: "We hope we'll have the privilege, Mr. President, of voting for you at Chicago."

Roosevelt smiled broadly and replied, "I'm sure we'll have a ticket that will win."

Possibly the secret of how Roosevelt kept his secret so well and so long was that he didn't know himself what he was going to do.

Significant was a remark he made to a Midwesterner following the nomination of Wendell Willkie. The visitor expressed the view that Willkie's candidacy made it necessary for the President to run again.

"There isn't anyone who can lick him but you, Mr. President," the caller said. "I think what happened in Philadelphia makes it imperative that you run. I am sure you don't want to; no man who has undergone the ordeal you have for eight years would want any more of it. But it's not a case any more of your preference. In my opinion, the choice is no longer yours."

The President paused as if thinking, then said quietly, as if to himself, "This decision will be the most momentous in my life."

FORMER BROWNWOOD GIRL DROWNS IN LAKE BROWNWOOD

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon for Mrs. Marshall Cloyd of Dallas, formerly Anna Belle Harrison of Brownwood, who drowned in Lake Brownwood at 1 a. m. Monday morning.

Mrs. Cloyd was a member of a party of relatives who were spending the week end at her brother's cabin at the lake. She and her brother-in-law, Franklin Jones, Marshall attorney, had gone swimming around 1:00 a. m. Mrs. Cloyd swam down the lake some distance from Jones, when he noticed that he no longer heard splashes caused by her swimming. When he began to search for her, he found that she had disappeared.

Searchers operating a drag net found the body in eight feet of water at 7:05 a. m. It was estimated the body had been in the water about six hours.

Miss Cloyd, the niece of Miss Emma Harrison of Goldthwaite, is survived by her husband, Marshall Cloyd of Dallas; one son, Marshall Preston Cloyd, 7½-months-old; her mother, Mrs. G. N. Harrison, Sr., of Brownwood; her sister, Mrs. Franklin Jones of Marshall; and one brother, G. N. Harrison, Brownwood attorney.

Fishing Club Elects Officers

The Mills County Hunting and Fishing Club on Lake Merritt has been assured that it will be connected with the Hamilton County Rural Electrification Association high line within 60 days. Thos. C. League of Hamilton, superintendent of the association, told the stockholders of the Club at their annual meeting in the District Court Room in Goldthwaite Wednesday afternoon that the club's application stood at the top of the list awaiting approval from Washington, and construction would begin as quickly as bids could be advertised and the contract let.

Mr. League also stated that he had made application to Washington for a lowering of the rates and of the monthly minimum which would affect over 800 members of the association.

An amendment to the constitution which had been submitted at the annual meeting of the Hunting and Fishing Club in 1939 and held over until this year was adopted. It provided for the election of directors to two year terms instead of one year as heretofore. This necessitated the election of four directors for two years at this meeting and three for one year. Elected to the two year terms were R. L. Steen, Jr., Walter Fairman, O. H. Yarborough and M. Y. Stokes, Jr. Elected to the one year terms were Marvin Hodges, R. E. McKinney and Floyd Fox.

At the directors meeting which followed the stockholders meeting, M. Y. Stokes, Jr. was re-elected president, R. L. Steen, Jr. was elected vice-president, Walter Fairman, grounds manager, and R. E. McKinney re-elected Secretary-Treasurer.

Numerous improvements were reported made during the past twelve months. Included were a new metallic circuit telephone line to town, a new fish fence across the spillway and repairs to the well.

THE CAMERA COVERS WORLD WAR II

Left: The much-discussed evacuation of British children from the island fortress that is now Great Britain—the sole European power continuing resistance against the German military juggernaut—has finally begun on a very minor scale. Three major obstacles to the mass transplantation of Albion's little ones to Canada and this country remain, however: children don't want to leave their parents; parents don't want to be separated from their children; and the Atlantic crossing is perilous because the British Navy, doubly burdened since the French capitulation, is unable to detail many warships to convoy protection. These English darlings, photographed before removal to these shores, show a bewildered interest in what goes on.

Right: A coastal defense battery, part of the vast program for ordinance increases authorized by Congress, is "manned" by pretty Elaine Kennedy at Jamestown, Rhode Island. Big Berthas of this type will dot the Atlantic seaboard at strategic points in a land defense set-up.

Big Fish Caught In Colorado River

Those big fish that have been getting away for so long, have been falling to escape the fishermen's hook of late. Fishing for the past week has been exceptionally good in the Colorado river and numerous catfish weighing over 15 lbs. have been brought to town as proof.

The grand-daddy of them all appears to have been an 84-lb yellow catfish which was caught near the L. C. Williamson place. Harry Oglesby and Jimmy Fox caught one 23-lb. and one 20-lb. fish and before they could take in their line a 16-lb. fish was hooked.

United States Flag To Wave Over WPA

WPA workers in Goldthwaite will soon have a fine American flag to salute when they report their work, according to David Shelby, assistant superintendent, who is in charge here.

All workers on the WPA rolls recently signed statements of loyalty to the government of the U. S. and disclaimed membership in any party aiming at the overthrow of the government by force. At the same time aliens were dropped from the rolls. Now the flag will be erected as a reminder of the free government under which all live.

Transfer Notice

All parents living outside the Goldthwaite Independent School District, who plan to send their children to the Goldthwaite schools are hereby reminded that they must be transferred this month.

The present plan of the State Department of Education makes it imperative that all pupils attending school outside their home district be transferred, even though they are changing schools for high school purposes. Please give the matter attention.

Yours truly,
A. H. SMITH,
Supt. Goldthwaite Schools.

TO SPEAK AT PICNIC

A number of important speakers will address the picnicers at the Priddy picnic July 18-19-20. Among them will be Harry Hines, candidate for governor, who will make an address on July 19, at 11 a. m.

Training Camp News

Co. AC MTC
Camp Bullis, Texas
July 14, 1940
Just a line to let you know a few of the more interesting things that are happening down here in Citizens Military Training Camp.

Lacy Thompson, Scott Thompson's son, is in this Company as a Basic student and is making an excellent showing for the amount of training that he has had. If he continues to show as good as he has in the past, there is a strong possibility that he will be the best Basic in this Company.

Barton Smith is down in Company G. Company G. is the business men's Company. These business men are paying their own expenses to and from camp and their punches are just as hard as those of the boys. They have completed two practice marches thus far. Mr. Smith was put on K. P. duty the first day; however not for punishment but as regular training. Every Trainee is compelled to serve as Kitchen Police at least one time during camp.

George Ballard is a Blue student in the Field Artillery, and is making an excellent student Officer. He will be in line for his Reserve Officer's Commission when he completes this month of training.

I don't know if you were informed of this or not, but we have something here that happens once every century. There is a rifle company (G) that is commanded by Lt. Col. Christian of the regulars. The rest of the companies are commanded by Reserve Captains and Lieutenants.

For the better interest of the boys and business men they are given a pint of chocolate milk or plain milk and a sandwich each morning at 9:30 a. m. Also they receive three large wholesome meals per day. Just to prove that each man has plenty, a Company Officer is required to be on hand every meal and check to see that food is left on the table when the boys have finished eating. Another safety precaution is the daily check on the health of each man by a competent official.

This is one of the most desirable places that a boy can possibly spend his vacation each year. Not only does a boy get a full month of training, but he can break even or make a few dollars above his expenses. When a

Mills County Taxes 90 Percent Collected

Of the $31,623.60 taxes assessed for Mills county for the year 1939, $28,082.81 or more than 90 per cent had been collected up to July 1 of this year, according to the records of the office of Sheriff and Tax Collector Hern Harris.

This leaves an unusually small per centage of delinquent taxes outstanding. The cash discount for the early payment of taxes was partly responsible for the fine record, Deputy Joe H. Frizell says.

Gov. O'Daniel to Talk in Brownwood

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel will make a swing through West Texas in the closing week of the primary campaign, with five mass meetings in as many days. Opening Monday night in Brownwood, he will continue to Wichita Falls Tuesday night, Amarillo Wednesday night, Lubbock Thursday night, concluding his campaign for re-nomination with a public address and radio broadcast in Abilene on election eve Friday night.

Political Rally At Center City

A big political rally will be held tonight (Friday) at 8 o'clock at Center City. Plenty of entertainment will be provided, and all candidates are invited to speak over the loud-speaker system at the gathering.

LIBRARY NOTES

Patrons of the Goldthwaite Public Library are indebted to Mrs. Jim Brim for a treat this summer in the form of 12 good novels. They are, as reported by the secretary, at the Library Board meeting Saturday morning: "Cavanaugh Forest Ranger" and "Captain of the Gray Horse" by Garland; "The Planter" by Whitaker; "Northern Lights" by Parker; "Cardigan" and "The Maid at Arms" by Chambers; "Flower of the North" by Curwood; "Lin McLean" by Weister; "The Red Lane" and "King Spruce" by Day; "A Captain Unafraid" by Smith; "Judith of the Plains" by Manning.

At the same meeting the secretary was instructed to buy a new book for the rental shelf.

GARNER AND FARLEY IGNORED BY TUMULTUOUS DELEGATES AT CONVENTION IN CHICAGO

FSA Farm Purchase Loans for Tenants Open in this County

The Farm Security Administration is bringing its farm purchase program to Mills county for the first time this year and tenant farmers who aspire to own land may make application from now to August 31, it was announced today by FSA Supervisor W. Roy Tisdale.

Application blanks for these loans, made under provisions of the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act, may be obtained at the FSA office located at Lampasas in the court house.

The loans are repayable over a 40-year period at three percent interest. A variable payment plan, whereby the payments are smaller in poor years and larger in good years, is provided. "This method of financing farm ownership is successful, the supervisor said, "as is being demonstrated by some 1,000 farmers in Texas who have received these loans and as a group have repaid more on them than has come due." No down payment is required, Mr. Tisdale said.

Farmers to whom loans are made are chosen by a committee of county farmers.

The application blanks may be obtained in the court house at Goldthwaite on Thursday of each week.

Men Wanted to "Jine the Cavalry"

Fort Sam Houston.—The War Department has directed that the historic First Cavalry Division be strengthened by the addition of 3,000 new men at the earliest possible date.

The present strength of the division is approximately 6,000 officers and men. It includes the 5th, 7th, 8th, and 12th Cavalry regiments, the 82nd Field Artillery, an armored car troop, and a large complement of signal, medical, quartermaster, and ordinance troops.

The division is scattered along some 600 miles of the Mexican border from El Paso to Brownsville, Texas. From the division commander, Major General Kenyon Joyce, to the newest trooper, the men of this division are hard, fit, and keen. Many consider this division to be the best field service unit in the United States Army. While there are a number of motorized elements, there are still plenty of horses for the young soldiers who wish to ride.

As proof of the type of men who compose this division, its members point with pride to Lew Jenkins, the lightweight champion of the world until 1938 was a member of the 8th Cavalry stationed at Fort Bliss, Texas.

Young men who want to do some real soldiering are invited to see Sergeant William J. Hess, the U. S. Army recruiting representative at Brownwood, or Sergeant E. B. Brooks at Waco.

Rattle Snake Bites Man

Prompt treatment saved Frank Scott, an elderly man living near Goldthwaite, when he was bitten by a rattlesnake Wednesday. He was gathering wood when the snake fastened its fangs in the back of his hand. Scott killed the snake then applied a tourniquet above the wound and rushed to town. Dr. Campbell pumped out the poisoned blood, and the patient declared he felt no bad effects from the bite.

Another American tradition was shattered at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago on Wednesday night when President Franklin Delano Roosevelt was nominated for a third term as President of the United States by the overwhelming vote of 946 13-30. Postmaster General Jim Farley polled 72 17-30 votes, and Vice President John Nance Garner of Texas received 61 votes of which 46 were from Texas. A surprise candidate, Senator Millard Tydings, of Maryland received 9½ votes.

Although President Roosevelt's name was kept carefully in the background the opening day of the convention, and although he specifically declared in a statement read to the convention by its permanent chairman, Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky on Tuesday night that the chief executive had no "desire or purpose to continue in the office of President, to be a candidate for that office or to be nominated by the convention for that office," there was no doubt from the very first that he would be nominated by a tremendous majority.

Anti-War Plank

Texas delegates stood by their candidate to the very last, although long before Wright Morrow of Houston had the opportunity of placing the Vice President's name before the convention, Alabama's nomination of President Roosevelt had already been seconded by over 40 states.

Roosevelt forces on the platform committee were less successful, and were forced to accept a weaker foreign relations plank than the president had suggested. Instead of calling for aid to Britain short of war, the plank pledged material aid to all victims of aggression and specifically declared that "We will not participate in foreign wars, and we will not send our Army, naval or air forces to fight in foreign lands outside of the Americas, except in case of attack."

Vice President

The only contest that has developed in the convention has been the naming of a running-mate for President Roosevelt. A number of names were proposed including such Texans as Jesse H. Jones, Congressman Sam Rayburn and Vice President Garner, but the odds favored the naming of Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace, who was said to be the President's first choice.

Old Age Investigator Now Located Here

Miss Edna McDaniel, Old Age Assistance Investigator, has been moved to Goldthwaite from Tom Green county for the purpose of clearing up the hundreds of applications for old age assistance from this county which have been piling up since the transfer of Investigator Lewis some months ago.

Miss McDaniel made a fine record in Tom Green county, and is expected to do equally well here. She will devote all of her time to Mills county.

Star
By Mrs. Dora Goode

The Eagle was all arrayed last week with gay feathers from all points of the county—15 letters—but where was Rock Springs? There's no excuse for distant relatives and friends not knowing what's going on in Mills county, because we tell 'em when it rains, how the grain is turning out, and if the peaches made a hit. We tell 'em when it's too cold or too wet to go to church and who preaches. We tell 'em who has died and of the newly arrived army, navy, and Red Cross recruits. We tell 'em of the future farmers in training, our future home makers, our educators, our schools, our roads, our pleasures, our sorrows, our aims and ideals, our loyalty and patriotism, our love for home, country and God.

In fact, all you long-distance folks have to do, to know all about Mills county, is to read the Eagle.

This is Monday morning, with a pleasant breeze coming in from the south, gently working the doors.

It's been a pleasant year so far. And a good year with good crops and gardens. And that means, of course, that everybody is busy canning and harvesting what bountiful nature has provided.

World's Tallest Man Dies

Robert Wadlow, 22, whose eight feet, ten and three-tenths inches made him the tallest man in the world's medical history, died Monday morning, July 15, of a foot infection.

Wadlow became ill on July 4, while he was appearing at the National Forest Festival in Manistee, Michigan. The infection had set in after a foot brace he wore to help support his weight broke the skin along the ankle.

Physicians attributed Wadlow's extreme height to overactivity of the pituitary gland. His weight was listed at 491 pounds.

Wadlow weighed 8½ pounds at birth, and his unusual growth was not noticed until he was about a year old. At 18 months he weighed 62 pounds. When he

NYA Lowers Youth Age Requirement

Austin.—Unemployed boys and girls in Texas who are 17 years of age and need the work experience and training provided on National Youth Administration projects are now eligible for such employment, J. C. Kellam, State NYA Administrator said today.

With the announcement that the minimum age requirement for work on NYA projects has been reduced from 18 to 17 years, approximately 113,000 Texas boys and girls automatically become eligible for NYA employment, provided they are out of school and need a job, Kellam pointed out.

With funds made available, the National Youth Administration in Texas will be able to provide employment for 15,000 young persons at any one time, it was explained. As youth go off NYA projects into private industry as a result of the work experience and training gained through NYA employment, all eligible youth in the state will have the opportunity to replace them, the State Youth Administrator stated.

"All over Texas, in cooperation with local public and civic organizations, NYA work projects and resident centers are operating to give youth work experience and related training in radio technique, metal work, aviation mechanics, auto mechanics, agriculture, homemaking, wood and iron work and many other fields" Kellam said.

Flower and Garden clubs thru out Texas will be invited to participate in the third annual Flower Show to be held at the State Fair of Texas, October 10 to 20. The Flower Show this year will be held for nine days in the Horticultural Building.

Easily Cleaned Paint Simplifies Care of Kitchen and Bath

In the cleaning program of fastidious housekeepers, the kitchen and bathroom are rightly given more careful attention than any other part of the home. Women have learned that, for health protection, any place that is devoted to food preparation or to personal bathing must be kept in sanitary condition. But some women make these rooms spotless with a minimum of effort while others find the task lengthy and laborious.

When cleaning is hard, the trouble is due, more often than not, to the condition of finishes. More frequent use of the paint brush will mean less labor with the scrub brush and other dirt chasers. The right paint, applied regularly, will give the bathroom and kitchen a spick-and-span background that is easily kept that way.

For walls, ceilings and woodwork in these two rooms, interior gloss or semi-gloss enamel is advised by the Style News Service of the du Pont Company. Modern enamels shed dirt and hence stay clean a long time. When soiled, the enameled surface can be washed with soap and water without harming the finish—a decided advantage in the kitchen where walls are often splashed with grease from frying foods. Good enamels withstand the effects of steam from cooking, and resist the heat and moisture which is unavoidably present in bathrooms.

If the kitchen floor is of old wood, painting it with floor-and-deck enamel simplifies the job of cleaning. On linoleum-covered floors, a durable varnish finish, such as "Linkota," will seal out dirt and stains, protecting the linoleum as well as reducing cleaning labors.

State Fair Plans Chemurgic Show

Dallas.—The State Fair of Texas is planning its second chemurgic show, which is expected to surpass the one last year, acclaimed by national chemurgic leaders to be the most complete and diversified ever to be presented. The Texas State Fair was the first in the United States to announce such a show.

It will be presented in cooperation with the East Texas Chamber of Commerce and South Texas State Fair of Beaumont.

Elmore R. Torn, agricultural director of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, will again plan and arrange the chemurgic show as he did last year. Loaned on a part-time basis to the Fair, he will serve both organizations as chemurgic director during the time. As chemurgic director of the State Fair, Torn is planning to have the chemurgic theme carried throughout all of the exhibit attractions of the great southwest exposition here at Dallas. There will be something of chemurgic interest to greet the Fair visitor at almost every turn.

Colleges and universities of Texas and the nation will be invited to participate, as will high schools, research institutions, and experiment stations. Every effort will be made to have every corporation interested in chemurgic represented, and particularly those who are manufacturing, utilizing or distributing chemurgic products.

To present it in the most understandable light, Torn will counsel with chemurgic leaders and laymen alike. He is anxious to have all suggestions and clues for chemurgic material or crops that can be incorporated into the show. The show last year covered close to 50,000 square feet, being housed in the Hall of Chemurgic, in General Exhibits Building.

Chairmen of the steering committee supervising the planning and execution of the chemurgic exhibits show will be Victor H. Schoffelmayer of Dallas and P. B. Doty of Beaumont.

Oxen to Tractor Portrayed in Mural

Great Grandpa tilled his eroded fields with a yoke of oxen and a wooden plow. Tractors do the job today, and this advance in agricultural engineering from the early days to the present modern methods is depicted in a five-panel mural which was recently completed for the lecture room walls in the Agricultural Engineering Building at Texas A&M College. One of the most ambitious student mural projects ever attempted in the Southwest, the paintings are by Miss Gertrude Babcock, recent graduate of the Fine Arts Department of Texas State College for Women.

Dan Scoates, late head of the Agricultural Engineering Department at A&M, conceived the idea and passed it on to a manufacturer of farm machinery who made the mural possible. The immense paintings took Miss Babcock approximately one year.

Typhoid Fever May Be Controlled

Austin.—The control of typhoid fever in the United States represents an outstanding achievement in preventive medicine. In 1900, the national death rate from this disease was 31.3 per hundred thousand; today, the rate is 1.9. This marked decrease in typhoid deaths is based on knowledge of its cause, how it is spread, and the application of control measures. Perhaps at this time, no other disease is more vulnerable to scientific attack than typhoid fever. "Indeed it is no exaggeration to say that from a public health point of view, there should be no typhoid fever," declares Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

However, Dr. Cox pointed out that typhoid, while an unnecessary evil, was a persistent attacker of Texans. Each year about 400 Texans die of typhoid, and approximately 4000 are ill. The average duration of illness is about six weeks, which makes typhoid responsible for the loss of 168,000 man days in Texas each year.

Typhoid prevention is a simple procedure. Typhoid vaccine is injected under the skin in the upper part of the arm, in three doses, usually at weekly intervals. It ordinarily protects against the disease from two to three years or longer, although one who is definitely exposed to infection should be revaccinated at more frequent intervals.

Typhoid fever can be controlled by the use of pure water, pasteurized milk or clean milk, clean foods, proper disposal of sewage, screening against flies and destroying their breeding places, by search for and care of human typhoid carriers, and by the general practice of vaccination.

Certain people, apparently healthy, carry the germs of typhoid in their intestines or urinary tract and cause many cases of typhoid each year by insanitary personal habits. They are called typhoid carriers, and many cases of typhoid result from personal contact with these carriers.

In selecting a place for a vacation, choose one where the water and milk supplies are pure. Be sure that the food supply is screened against flies. When camping, it is best to boil water used for drinking, unless its purity has been certified. Clear, sparkling stream water may be polluted.

College Girls Want Husbands

Denton.—North Texas State Teachers College girls want love, not "jack," according to a campus poll which asked fifty popular coeds to choose between love, money, security, and social position.

Most interviewees looked dew-eyed, and a few acquired a metallic gleam, but not one of the 50 had any doubt but that she wants a husband. To the question, "if you had two proposals of marriage, one from a man whom you loved but who had no money, a small salary, and an insecure future, and one from a man you liked very much who was wealthy—which would you choose?" Thirty-four coeds answered "love," 16 decided on the money.

One collegian in deciding that momentous question got a far-away look, sighed, and said enthusiastically, "I'll take the one with the black hair and the blue eyes."

There is one point that all but three agreed upon—they would rather marry a man who could offer them the assurance of a comfortable home and an average income than a man who could give them an enviable social position.

Only 10 potential career women listed a successful career as most important, and only one of the 50 stuck adamantly to her conviction that a career, money, social position, and no children was her aim in life.

Children are more important in marriage than a lot of money, according to 43 co-eds, and they agreed in the majority that two or three children make up an ideal family.

In answer to the question as to whether, since they are evidently preparing themselves for a career, they plan to work a few years after marriage, 38 said "no" but only five of these stood their ground and said that they would not even if it were necessary in order to get married. Only 20 of the 50 declared that they would be willing to marry a man who was making a smaller salary than they were.

Love and security are the principal requisites among the ma-

TEXAS OUT-O-DOORS

Prepare to Rescue Fish.

Millions of fish are stranded in Texas lakes and streams each year when the water disappears during the summer months and the State Game Department is again making plans to rescue millions of them. Last year a total of 1,758,257 bass, crappie, bream and catfish were rescued by state hatchery employees and game wardens.

While the unusually abundant rains this year probably will prevent some lakes and streams from drying up during the hot months, the Game Department will be forced to rescue many fish. These are transported to the nearest stream or lake in which it is known the water supply is constant and are placed in those waters with as much care as the more than 5,000,000 fish raised in the state hatcheries.

Found: Youngest Licensee.

The youngest holder of a Texas fishing license has been found and we challenge anyone to discover a younger one!

F. C. (Fishcatcher) Hall, La Feria, Texas, bass fishing expert purchased a license for his son one hour after the youngster's arrival at the Mercedes hospital recently. Forrest Garner is probably also the lightest "fisherman" in the Lone Star State. His weight was seven pounds, three ounces, bedside.

When the proud daddy displayed Forrest's license to one of his fishing cronies he was asked when the new son was going fishing. He replied: "Just as soon as the weather clears."

Ounce for ounce, Kenneth Dorman of Alice, Texas, who is seven years old and who tips the beam on the scales at sixty pounds, probably holds the record in the Lone Star State for gar. Kenneth recently snagged a 120-pounder at Mathis Lake and brought the huge gar to gaff after a fight of 40 minutes.

To the People Of Mills County

When I first ran for the office of district judge I told you that if you would elect me to the office I would stay on the job and dispatch the business of your court in a manner to merit your confidence and pride. You elected me, so if I have not kept my promise then I certainly am not worthy of your continued support. It is my belief that I have conducted such a court. If you think so, then I respectfully solicit the honor of a re-election at your hands and I pledge you that I shall continue to give careful, conscientious and unbiased consideration to all matters coming before me as District Judge.

Since I have been on the bench I have tried some 20 contested murder cases, that is, cases in which the defendant pleaded "not guilty" but was convicted by the jury trying him, and it is my pride that not one of these was reversed, all of them either having been affirmed by the Court of Criminal Appeals or the defendant abandoned any effort to appeal and accepted sentence. I call attention to this fact because it is the murder case that is often reversed and it happens to be the case that costs the taxpayer the most money.

One spring term of the District Court of Mills County found four special venire cases on the docket, two bank robberies and two murder cases. I stayed on the job and during that term I was able to dispose of both of the robbery cases, but the two murder cases were still on the docket, so I called a special term in August and tried one of these cases and was ready to try the other but the accused agreed that if his case was passed to the regular term beginning in September he would plead guilty. That he did, so in five months I had disposed of all four of those cases. I mention this to demonstrate that I have kept my original promise to you. In addition to the special term mentioned I have had several others during my tenure of office.

If you will honor me with re-election I promise you that I will continue my best efforts to give you a court in which you can justly take pride.

I thank you.
Your Friend,
FEW BREWSTER.

TO THE VOTERS OF MILLS AND COMANCHE COUNTIES

Being a friend and former teacher of Herman Reynolds, candidate for Representative of 104th district and knowing that he is too handicapped physically to make a house-to-house canvass, I take pleasure in giving information concerning him:
1. I know Mr. Reynolds to be a young man of sterling worth and of splendid moral character. He is honest, sincere, and dependable and has a good religious and moral background.
2. His preparation for the office he seeks is adequate and is much above the average. In spite of being physically handicapped, he finished high school and has been in the University of Texas three years, where he has made a brilliant record as a student of law and government. His heroic effort to achieve in the face of almost unsurmountable obstacles is appreciated by all who know him.
3. Mr. Reynolds is sensible and careful in his judgements and though firm in his convictions is courteous and liberal at all times.
4. He is a devoted Christian and takes part in religious activities where he goes.
5. Although Mr. Reynolds is so physically handicapped that he cannot do manual labor, he is mentally alert and is well informed along all lines. Those who know him best feel that, in this office, he can serve acceptably and well.

Sincerely,
ANNIE LAURIE PETSICK.

President's Day
Grilling Ordeal

AMERICA'S most important executive is also its busiest—the President of the United States. His daily routine, filled from midnight to midnight all year long, is completely unpredictable, and depends entirely on the uncertain rush of current events.

In normal times these conditions make his task arduous, lending at the same time a peculiar interest and fascination, but with Europe at war, with the Germans moving quickly and unhesitatingly, this procedure is even more hopelessly confused in time elements.

Better than any other man, Stephen T. Early, personal secretary and right hand man to the President, knows the grilling ordeal of long and sustained labor which the chief executive faces every day. Invasion of Holland, Belgium, and Luxembourg, he says in the August Cosmopolitan Magazine, strikingly illustrates the way great events break upon the President with dramatic suddenness.

When Ambassador Cudahy telephoned from Brussels that air bases there were being bombed, it was the first official news of the actual invasion to reach the United States.

Though it was late at night, press, radio, and official dispatches began to pour in instantly. Members of the Cabinet had to be informed of the crisis, and this meant numerous telephone calls. Secretary Morgenthau had to be instructed to prepare the necessary papers to freeze more than a billion dollars in Dutch, Belgian and Luxembourg commercial balances and liquid investments in the U.S., thereby preventing their alienation to any other nation.

Ambassador Bullitt couldn't be reached in Paris till 4 A.M. The press had to be met. At the conclusion of all this, the President managed to get in four hours' sleep. The next day promised to be only a continuation of the previous hectic evening.

"In spite of a heavy schedule," Mr. Early says in conclusion, "Mr. Roosevelt does know how to play and he never loses a sense of proportion. He learned long ago that few things in life are to be taken seriously and that nothing is ever to be taken tragically."

Gov. Ferguson Pours It On

Corsicana.—Speaking to the largest audience which has so far greeted any candidate here in the current political campaign former Governor James E. Ferguson charged that Governor O'Daniel's failure to accomplish anything was due to the fact that he does not know how to run the governor's office.

In a fiery address delivered in the interest of the candidacy of his wife, Miriam A. Ferguson, for governor, Ferguson declared that the people of Texas realized three weeks after the election that they had made a mistake and predicted this error would be corrected by the election of Mrs. Ferguson in the coming primaries.

"A professional politician has got more sense than a professional ignoramus" the ex-governor shouted amid cheers in discussing O'Daniel's oft-repeated threat to rid the State of professional politicians.

"O'Daniel promised to pay the old-age pensions in full but he didn't do it because he didn't know how. A pension plan that don't pay off is just a fraud."

A canvass of the views of the large crowd and a cross section of political sentiment in Corsicana made preceding the rally brought forth the prediction from Ferguson supporters that O'Daniel had lost heavily in this section and that Mrs. Ferguson would undeniably face him in the run-off.

L. A. WOODS

Mr. Woods is asking the people to return him to office upon his record. In his first campaign he promised the people of Texas that he would:

1. Fight for a high per capita apportionment.

The per capita apportionment has been increased from $16.00 to $22.00.

2. Fight for an equalization fund sufficient to meet the needs of the poor school district of the State.

Equality of educational opportunity has been extended thru an Equalization Fund increased from $2,500,000 to $6,679,207, administered at a cost of 1 per cent.

Therefore, we ask that you reelect Mr. Woods on the basis of what he has done and what we believe he will do for the State of Texas through the public school system.

Connally Explains Alien Investigation

Washington, D. C.—Senator Tom Connally of Texas, co-author of the Connally-Smith bill recently enacted into law by Congress requiring the fingerprinting and registration of aliens, has been named chairman of a sub-committee of which Senators Danaher of Connecticut and Miller of Arkansas are other members, which began hearings Monday, July 8, in the Caucus room in the Senate Office Building on a measure to require the registration of certain organizations carrying on activities within the United States such as the Bund.

Describing the purposes of the act, Senator Connally said:

"Organizations which would be required to register include those subject to foreign control which engage in political activity, those which engage in both civilian and military activity and in political activity; those subject to foreign control which engage in civilian military activity; and every organization the purpose or aim of which is the establishment, control, conduct, seizure or overthrow of a government or sub-division thereof by the use of force, violence, military measures, or threats of any one or more of the foregoing."

Further explaining the measure, Senator Connally added:

"Names, officials, qualifications for membership, aims and purposes, meeting places, names of contributors of money, assets of the organization, its activities, a description of uniforms and insignia, copies of all publications issued and a description of firearms owned are required to be registered."

"Violators of the act would be punished by a fine of not more than $10,000 or by imprisonment for not more than five years, or both," Senator Connally concluded.

Priddy Picnic

Priddy's annual three-day picnic is scheduled July 18, 19, 20 at the grounds on the Priddy-Indian Gap road about two miles east of Priddy, announced W. J. Marwitz this week.

"We have arranged for plenty of entertainment—baseball, calf and goat roping, a rodeo, airplane stunting, a carnival, music, fun, and frolic," Mr. Warwitz declared.

Candidates prominent in state and district races will speak, and all county candidates are invited to attend and speak if they care to do so.

There will be a big dance each night with a popular dance orchestra playing.

FORMER TEXAN IS 3-STATE THREAT AT DEM MEETINGS

Chicago.—A unique record will be established at the Democratic national convention this week by a former Texas newspaperman, Silliman Evans, now publisher of the Nashville Tennessean, and manager of the Garner presidential campaign in 1932.

Evans attended the 1932 convention here as a delegate-at-large from Texas. Four years later he was a delegate from Maryland to the Democratic convention at Philadelphia. This year he is a delegate-at-large from Tennessee.

Postmaster General James A. Farley, who greeted Evans on his arrival here Saturday, said that in so far as he knows, no other person has ever been a delegate to three consecutive national conventions from three different states.—Houston Chronicle.

A number of people will remember Silliman Evans—as a small boy when his father was pastor of the Methodist church here. Bro. Evans and his family were loved and esteemed by all the town.

A Bundster In Our Schools

"The Dies Committee's investigation has not yet shown whether the Texas Kyffhauser Bund is subversive, but its Americanism is certainly open to question.

"So the revelation that L. A. Woods, state school superintendent, has had in an important advisory position in state education work the head of the bund, a man who has lived in this country since 1923 without becoming an American citizen, is shocking.

"This alien bund leader has been escorted around over the state to supervise vocational training work in numerous Texas schools by one of Woods' employees. His traveling expenses were paid by state and federal funds.

"We wonder if Woods could not have found a United States citizen capable of doing this important work of training the minds of young American children.

"Our education system is all important in teaching our young people the American way of life and the ideals and principles of democracy.

"To do this work, a United States citizen is better qualified than the citizen of a totalitarian state whose theories are diametrically opposed to those of democracy."

"To say the least, Woods has been very careless.

NO ROOM HERE

For some years it has been proclaimed a sign of intolerance to protest against the activities of patently un-American groups in the U.S.A. The Dies committee which was organized for the purpose of bringing such activities under public scrutiny was assailed vigorously and very nearly prevented from continuing its labors.

Now that the concrete evidence of the catastrophic results of alien isms being allowed to flourish in European countries is before us, the least we can do is to insist upon a speedy clean-up of those elements already proven to be subversive, and to support the Dies committee, the FBI and other agencies charged with the investigation of un-American activities.

This is no time for persecution of all who have recently sought the shelter of America. Many of them are imbued with patriotic principles as high and unselfish and as thoroughly American as those possessed by any of us. Neither should the disloyal activities of native Americans be overlooked or excused.

Big as it is, America has no room for those who oppose its traditional philosophy or who desire, whether for selfish or unselfish ends, to revolutionize its democratic government.

This is no time for divided loyalties. There is no longer opportunity to attempt to convert those out of sympathy with the American way. For the sake of generations to come as well as for the protection of our people today, those who are unfriendly to our nation must be deprived of its protection and support.

There is no room for them here!

GOD BLESS AMERICA

The theme song of the Democratic convention this week, "God Bless America," strikes a responsive note in every patriotic breast. The blessings which Americans have been permitted to enjoy for so many decades are now realized to be privileges rather than rights.

God has greatly blessed America. It has been blessed with natural resources in abundance, with a fertility almost undreamed of, and, most of all, with kindly neighbors and a protecting sea on either hand.

It has been a shock to realize that at last our isolation has crumbled and that we are dependent, after all, upon the rest of the world for our prosperity if not for our life.

Nature takes on added beauty, our institutions gain in dignity, our liberties shine the brighter as we begin to appreciate what each has meant to us and consider the consequences of their possible loss.

Flowers and fruit and the growing corn testify to the unstinted bounty of a generous Giver of all good gifts.

Our schools, our churches, our halls of government are not perfect, but they have been the cradle of genius, they have nurtured the aspirations of free men, they have guarded the rights of minorities and protected the weak.

Our liberties symbolized by freedom of speech, freedom of the press and freedom of worship have emerged from eclipse and shine forth no longer obscured by complacency or dimmed by distrust.

"God bless America," indeed! God bless our land and protect it from disaster and decay. God bless our country and preserve its integrity in the face of peril, its strength in behalf of the rights of men, and its protection of individual character and initiative. May we realize that each one of us, great and small, is dependent upon His blessing for a continuation of those rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness for which our forefathers dedicated their lives.

God bless America, and may America prove worthy to be blessed.

JOB'S REPENTANCE AND RESTORATION

LESSON TEXT—Job 42:1-13. GOLDEN TEXT—And the Lord turned the captivity of Job, when he prayed for his friends.—Job 42:10.

The problem of suffering, like every other question arising in man's inquiring heart, finds its true solution in a right view of God. Job found it to be so. As long as he and his friends concentrated their attention on his person and his troubles, they only became more deeply involved in confusion and doubt. Much of their discussion was on a high moral and philosophical plane, and they were all doubtless earnest and capable men, but in the end Job learned, and they learned through him, that the real difficulty was that they did not know God.

Then God Himself appeared and brought before Job a panorama of the glorious works of God and His blessings upon mankind (chaps. 38-41). Where was Job when the world was created (38:4)? Who holds the world together (38:6)? What is the origin of light (38:19)? What about the glory of the snowflake (38:22)? Job is told to consider the hand of God in the animal kingdom (chap. 39) and upon those that dwell in the sea (chap. 41). It dawned upon Job that he had been arguing against the providences of the all-knowing and all-powerful One—the eternal God. In that conviction and the repentance which it brought forth, he experienced —

I. Renewed Fellowship (vv. 1-6)

Job came to the realization that he had not really known God Himself until now. His religious experiences and convictions hitherto, precious and important as they were, had been by "the hearing of the ear," but now he had met God and all was changed. Fellowship with the Lord was renewed, but on an infinitely higher plane. Job had a real revival in his life which caused him to "abhor" everything that he had said and done; yes, even to set himself aside and to take God to be all and in all.

Our churches are full of people who only know God by hearsay. They have heard about Jesus Christ since their childhood, but they have never met Him. They have read of the Holy Spirit, but they have never known His power. We need a God-sent revival, one like those of the past which "have broken out like fire . . . consuming dead and outworn systems, burning sin like a roaring flame, and casting a new light across men's pathways" (E. L. Douglass).

II. Restored Usefulness (vv. 7-10a)

God's rebuke of Job's friends is significant, for it centers, not in their failure to deal rightly with Job, but their failure properly to represent God. It is a tremendously serious matter to attempt to tell others about God, for in doing so we must not in any way misrepresent Him. To stand before men as religious teachers and leaders and not to know Him so well that we represent Him rightly, is to invite His judgment and condemnation.

Job, on the other hand, was restored to a place of honor and usefulness. His friends, who thought they knew so much more than he about God, are told to ask Job to pray for them. He thus was afforded the opportunity of returning good for evil and was again enabled to serve God in serving his fellow men. Salvation is by faith (Eph. 2:8, 9); but being saved, we are restored to the place of usefulness to God.

III. Returned Prosperity (vv. 10b-13)

The abundant blessing of God upon Job is described in oriental terms of money, herds of cattle, and of a large family. These are the tangible evidences of God's blessing, and even to us today they speak of a liberal and loving God. God can and does prosper His own obedient children even in material things. Such outward mercies, however, only feebly represent the blessings of the soul, the ultimate and eternal joys of the spirit. They point us, it is true, to the assurance that as we yield ourselves in unconditional obedience to God's will, we may confidently trust Him with the dark days of sorrow and affliction, as well as the days of sunshine and prosperity. No matter how tangled may seem the threads on this side of the loom, we know that the heavenly Father behind the scenes is weaving the pattern of beauty which shall one day be revealed as we stand complete in Christ.

Death of Saul

So Saul died for his transgression which he transmitted against the Lord, even against the word of the Lord, which he kept not, and also for asking counsel of one that had a familiar spirit, to enquire of it.—I Chronicles 10:13.

The Townsen family reunion will hold its 28th annual meeting the 27th-28th of this month at Adamsville. It is largely a monumental affair. Primarily, it is a family reunion, secondarily it is in remembrance of the real pioneers of that part of Lampasas county, north of Lampasas town. These pioneers came in the early 1850's. They fought the first fight with the Indians in Lampasas county in 1858. For over 15 years the Townsens, Stanleys, Straleys and Thompsons fought side-by-side, back-to-back in freeing this county of the Indians, and to win freedom and happy homes. They won.

In attending this monumental reunion we hope you will do it in respect and appreciation and loyalty to those, the earliest pioneers. We will be glad to have you, hear your experiences of olden times and your great thrills of the later date. Let's be congenial and social, eat together and be merry.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Mother Was Firm Once; You Be Firm Now

(Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.)

On every political and social question they disagree.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

IF EVERY husband was an unselfish angel, wives wouldn't so often be confused with questions of their own duty lay.

If every mother and father considered their growing children as individuals, with separate entities and rights, how much simpler the paths of those children would be!

In short, if men and women weren't faulty, stupid, blind human beings at all, but strong, self-reliant, self-sacrificing super-men and women, my mail-bag would be considerably lightened of the problems young wives and sons and daughters write me, as they attempt to adjust life to suit themselves, and themselves to get along in life.

One of the eternally unsettled questions is how much a daughter owes her father and mother when she becomes a money-earner and they are settling down into old age. "Philippa" describes her perplexities in a spirited letter.

"I've been married six years," writes Philippa, "and have a son of four and another baby coming. My husband is an eye specialist, and whether that's a profession that actually affects the nerves, or whether Brownie would be nervous anyway I won't pretend to say, but the fact remains that he is very often tense, exhausted and irritable. Not with me, but sometimes with Brownie junior, or the dinner, or the telephone or a hundred other trifles."

Mother's At Our House.
"My mother has lived with us since my father's death three years ago. She always had a comfortable home, two good maids, a car, clubs, garden, everything. All this vanished with my father's death, for he left barely enough insurance to pay bills, and from the funeral she came home with me. I have one brother, but his wife is not congenial with my mother, and he has four children and a crowded home."

"With a small boy to raise, and a busy husband whose meals are always movable feasts, I really have much to do. But Mother is exacting, and she will not concede anything. If she comes in to play bridge with her often stay for a long rubber until dinner time. If she wants to shop I must go with her. If Brownie speaks sharply to the small boy, Mother instantly defends Brownie junior, saying that Daddy has come home cross. If I arrange a dinner Mother vacillates, first saying she will be present, then saying she may not."

She often goes down to the kitchen with critical suggestions for Anna. At the table sometimes she quietly refuses everything, and sighs. This makes my husband furious, even though I've told him that Mother has had a full meal at someone's tea, an hour earlier. On every political and social question they disagree; Mother occasionally saying softly 'you're entirely wrong,' after it's all over.

Stresses Poverty.
"My mother wants to discuss every small move of her life with me, read me long letters from old friends, ask me to telephone to make beauty parlor or club engagements. A cottage that she owns brings her in $25 a month, when rented, that is all she has. My husband most generously puts $50 in the bank for her every month, and sometimes my brother manages to add 5 or 10 dol-

MOTHER-IN-LAWS

Kathleen Norris offers advice to a newly married girl whose mother is threatening to break up their home. Her mother came to live with them, but is making herself unwelcome by continually directing their lives and interfering with their plans; she is even "protecting" their little daughter. Miss Norris believes this problem can be solved in such a way that they will all be far happier.

lars to that. But she talks of her poverty continually, and reminds all our friends that Paul left her nothing, and but for Phil and Brownie she would starve. It hurts me to have my father's memory belittled, and it hurts Brownie to be continually smiling off her lavish praises in public.

"At any suggestion of her moving to separate quarters she all but collapses. It never has been seriously suggested, but her constant 'where would I be but for these dear children of mine?' gives me the chills whenever I nerve myself to propose it. When an old friend was ousted by her children a few years ago Mother said 'In Fanny's place, I'd kill myself.' She meant it, too."

"Things are very bad just now because she resents my having another child. I was quite ill when Brownie was born, but it was because I had had severe flu and was badly run down. Now I am in perfect condition, and hope for several more children. Will you tell me what I can say or do to smooth out this really uncomfortable situation?"

A Threat to Happiness.
I can only tell you, Philippa, what I have told countless other young wives in this column. Your mother doesn't belong in your home any more than does any other inconsiderate, selfish old woman. Her presence there is a threat to your husband's affection for you, and your own married happiness. When your mother was prosperous and had an establishment and servants, it never occurred to her to save, to plan for this hour. She enjoyed luxury and extravagance; she expected always to be protected and important.

Well, life isn't like that. All of us outgrow our usefulness and importance, and the only thing to do is to realize it, to get out of the children's lives. To love, to help, to advise when they need you, that is the great privilege of age. But to fasten parasite-like upon them, blandly upsetting their domestic arrangements, blandly delaying and complicating household affairs, complaining, criticizing, spoiling the children, requesting endless favors, commanding bored interest—this is to do for your own children a disservice that even their dearest enemies would not attempt.

This good lady should move herself and her affairs to the cottage aforementioned, and see her daughter only when that daughter can find time to run in for visits. If the long-suffering son-in-law can make that monthly allowance $75, which under the circumstances he will probably be only too eager to do, then Mother can live quite comfortably, and enjoy real independence.

Solution Requires Firmness.
All the time she will know in her heart that she DOESN'T BELONG IN HER DAUGHTER'S HOUSE. All the time she will remember perfectly that she couldn't stand her own mother-in-law, 30 years ago. All the time she will be aware that Brownie is steeling himself to force Philippa to keep to her resolution to get Mother to move out, and that Philippa and Brownie will have an angry battle of words about it when they are alone.

FAITH

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

I will not doubt, though all my ship: at sea
Come drifting home with broken masts and sails;
I shall believe the Hand that never fails
From seeming evil worketh good for me;
And though I weep because those sails are battered,
Still will I cry, while my last hopes lie shattered,
"I trust in Thee!"

I will not doubt, though all my prayers return
Unanswered from the still, white realm above;
I shall believe it is an all-wise Love
Which hath refused those things for which I yearn;
And though at times I cannot keep from grieving,
Yet the pure ardor of my fixed believing
Undimmed shall burn.

I will not doubt, though sorrows fall like rain,
And troubles swarm like bees above the hive;
I shall believe the heights for which I strive
Are only reached by anguish and by pain;
And though I groan and tremble with my crosses,
I yet shall see, through my severest losses,
The greater gain.

I will not doubt, well anchored in this faith,
Like some staunch ship, my soul braves every gale,
So strong its courage that it will not fail
To breast the mighty unknown sea of Death.
O, may I cry, when body parts with spirit,
"I will not doubt," so listening worlds may hear it,
With my last breath.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS PLANK

For the Democratic platform makers, like the Republicans, the biggest headache was the foreign affairs plank.

The same bellicose forces, isolationist and anti, which made life miserable for the Philadelphia platform writers, gave the deep blues to the Democrats. In fact, the rival camps among the Democrats were even more troublesome.

The Republicans, while they squabbled hotly among themselves behind closed doors, were too conscious of party interest to kick up an open ruckus. On the final showdown, the boys worked out a compromise that gave each side a sop. The result was rather ambiguous, but it left the door open for the Republican candidate to move whichever way he wanted.

But the prima donna Democratic factions were insisting on the whole hog or nothing. Senator Burt Wheeler, backed by the glowering John L. Lewis, is demanding an unequivocal, isolationist, no-war declaration; and threatens to head a third-party ticket if he doesn't get his way.

Anti-isolationists, foremost among them Roosevelt himself, are flatly against such a plank. At the same time, they were acutely aware of the powerful "peace" sentiment in the country and they know they've got to watch their step.

CONVENTION NOTES

The Chicago convention literally dripped with vice presidential candidates. With more than a score already in the field, Iowa's genial, bald-domed Senator Herring tossed his hat in the ring. . . . One Washington correspondent at Chicago attended the convention in a dual capacity. Tall, mellow-tempered Bascom Timmons covered the convention as a newsman and also acted as the national committeeman proxy of his close friend and fellow Texan, Vice President Jack Garner.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

FILTERS FOR BETTER PICTURES

In taking this shot, a filter was used to reproduce the sky tone so that the white smoke would stand out. Try filters—they'll improve your pictures, and add interest.

COLOR filters—simple little devices that slip on over your camera lens—can add a lot to the quality and value of your snapshots. If you've never used filters, now is a good time to start. All the experts use them, and they'll mark a big forward step in your own personal photography.

Slip a medium yellow K-2 filter on your lens, load the camera with any good "chrome" or "pan" film, and you get pictures with more natural tone values. Or, in technical phrase, more accurate rendering of relative brightnesses as seen by the eye. Which, briefly, means that your picture of any outdoor subject will come closer to showing things as you saw them when you snapped the shutter.

Slip a deep yellow G filter on your lens, and you'll get clearer, better pictures of distant scenes that would look hazy in an "unfiltered" shot. You'll also get skies that look deeper than normal in tone—very effective in some pictorial shots.

For spectacular effects, very dark skies, and exaggerated contrast, load the camera with "pan" film or infra-red film, and slip a red "A" filter on the lens. Don't use the red filter with other types of film than panchromatic or infra-red; it's for these only.

From the effects described, you can see that filters open up an interesting new range of picture possibilities. The K-2 is the best all-round filter, so start with that, adding the G and A when you are ready to branch out into dramatic "effect" shots.

Every filter, of course, cuts out part of the light to which a film is sensitive, so exposure must be increased accordingly. Each filter's "exposure factor" is constant for each film, and exposure adjustment is not hard to calculate; but the easiest method is to use a pocket filter guide of the dial type. These cost but a few cents, and readily indicate the exact lens opening needed in a particular situation.

If you would improve your photography—make use of filters. The results will surprise you—in fact, you'll probably want to know, "Why didn't somebody tell me about this before?"
