GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, MAY 30, 1941

NUMBER FORTY

ARMY MANEUVERS TO START HERE MONDAY

TRIGGER MOUNTAIN OIL TEST RESUME DRILLING NEXT PROSPECTS ARE GOOD

Trigger Mountain oil test, bearing sands that will be tested on the way down to the Ellenberger. The bit has just penetrated, at the 422-foot depth, the top of the Strawn Series sand. The bottom strata of this sand should be at or around 1,300 or 1,400 feet, where drillers may expect the first oil showing. After 1,400 feet, geologists expect a shale bed—the Smithwick shale—to extend downward for the next 400 or 500 feet, any part of which may be oil bearing. After the Smithwick shale, it is expected to find the Marble Falls lime, and below that a black lime, which also may pay off.

Joe McCracken, tool-dresser on the Trigger Mountain well, last week received a message that his brother had died and was buried last Friday in Troy, Tenn. The message was phoned from San Angelo to Dr. Campbell here who made the trip through the mud, partly on foot, to the drilling site to notify Mr. McCracken.

Wickard Calls Farm Vote May 31

Declaring safe management of the country's large wheat industry an important defense measure, Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard (above) has proclaimed a marketing quota for wheat and has announced May 31 as the date of a referendum at which wheat farmers will mark ballots such as the one shown to determine whether quotas shall continue in effect on the big 1941 crop. Marketing quotas are provided by the AAA farm program, and enable farmers to safely store their surplus for use as needed, Wickard said. According to current estimates, U. S. farmers will have enough wheat on hand after harvest this year to supply the nation's expected needs for nearly two years.

WHEAT LOANS ARE DEPENDENT ON MARKETING QUOTA VOTE

Amendments to the Farm Program providing for 85 per cent parity loans on wheat and amendments to the wheat marketing quota provisions were signed by the President on May 26. The amendments provide that loans shall be offered at 85 per cent of parity only if marketing quotas are in effect for 1941. Parity price on wheat is approximately $1.13 per bushel. Marketing quotas will be in effect if two-thirds of eligible wheat producers voting on May 31 favor the quotas. If quotas are not in effect no government loans can be offered on wheat for the 1941 wheat crop.

Amendments to the Wheat Marketing Quota provisions provide that if the quotas are in effect all producers having 15 acres or less of wheat will not be affected by the quotas, and are, therefore, not eligible to vote, since their entire production can be sold without penalty. Any producer having an allotment within the acreage allotted to his farm may sell his entire production without penalty. Penalty wheat will be the excess acres of wheat times the normal or actual yield per acre whichever is the smaller. The rate of penalty will be one-half of the loan rate. Producers of excess wheat may obtain a loan at sixty per cent of the regular loan rate on their excess wheat.

THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND ACRES LEASED IN MILLS CO. FOR TWO-WEEKS MANEUVERS

Under command of Col. Sidney Mason of Camp Bowie, a group of men from the VIII Army Rents and Claims Board have completed the leasing of 300,000 acres of land in Mills County for use by the VIII Army Corps soldiers for extensive military maneuvers the first two weeks in June, beginning Monday. The leases also call for the option for use of the land leased during July. For June the government is paying the landowners 15 cents an acre, with the option for possible use in July at an additional 12 1-2 cents per acre.

The 300,000 acres leased in Mills County will bring to the land owners for the month of June approximately $45,000, with an additional $37,500 if the maneuvers should extend into July.

The acreage leased in Mills County extends through a territory roughly running around the Colorado River boundary to Center City and Priddy and covering all the western portion.

In addition to the 300,000 acres leased for the maneuvers in Mills County, the board has leased approximately 150,000 acres in Brown County and 50 thousand acres in Comanche County, making a total of 500,000 acres.

County. They have treated the people courteously at all times, and have made many friends here. Maj. M. B. Barragan of the board said yesterday that they had received a very fine response from the people of Mills County, which could not be beat. Leases on some 50,000 acres of land in Brown County were returned to the owners the latter part of this week, due to the opposition of several large landowners in the area just south of Brownwood, and this resulted in many additional acres being leased in Mills County.

RULES FOR VIII ARMY CORPS

The VIII Army, in addition to the 15 cents per acre rental on the land that may be used for the maneuvers, agrees in the lease to pay all damages of whatever character done to the land, fences or property used.

In order to reduce complaints, the following instructions are enjoined upon all members of the VIII Army command, and the following rules will apply to the Mills County area:

The following areas are "Off Limits" and will not be entered by troops at any time: Houses and premises, enclosed orchards, cultivated areas.

Fences: Fence wires will not be cut if passage can be made otherwise.

Fires: Burning cigarettes, cigars, and matches will be completely extinguished before being thrown on the ground. Open camp fires will be completely extinguished.

Trees: Pecan trees will not be cut down for camouflage. Caution will be taken to avoid injury to young trees and seedlings.

Animals: Disturbance of animals will be held to the minimum.

Hunting: Hunting in or near the maneuvering area is prohibited.

Trenches: Digging of combat trenches in the maneuver area is prohibited.

Police: Camps and sites will be policed thoroughly.

County Judge R. J. Gerald this week received the following letter from Col. H. A. Finch, Engr. Corps, VIII Army Headquarters, Brownwood:

"In connection with military maneuvers during the period covering May 26 to June 1 next, it will be necessary for the Army Signal Corps to lay telephone lines on the ground alongside of certain of the county roads that are under your jurisdiction.

"The wires will be laid on the shoulders of the road or outside thereof where possible and they will in no way interfere with traffic. At farm road entrances where normal traffic might become entangled in the wires, these are carried on poles over the entrance, leaving ample clearance for loaded farm wagons and trucks.

"This situation will last but a few days after which the wires will be removed. This information is furnished in order that your office may be prepared to reassure persons who may not understand the situation and who may feel that their rights are being violated."

THE MANEUVERS

People of Goldthwaite and Mills County will have reason to believe in the next two weeks that war is here, with the Army overrunning the county, and after listening to the radio speech of President Roosevelt last Tuesday night. The President proclaimed an unlimited national emergency, stated that the United States...

DEAR MR. PRESIDENT—

It's time somebody did some plain talking about this war business. I've been listening to your speeches for close on to ten years, and I feel like I know you pretty well, even if I never have been close enough to you to shake hands and pass the time of day. And let me say right here that your speech Tuesday night was the best of all of them.

Down here in Mills County we have been mighty interested in all you have said about the war. We could tell that it came straight from your heart, and it listened mighty fine when you started out so brave like telling us you were going to keep us out of war.

And then things commenced to go haywire in Europe. Poland's brave army was crushed and scattered before it could get started. Norway and Denmark who had minded their own business as hard as anybody could were conquered and overrun.

But there was still France—France with the greatest army in the world and England with the mightiest navy afloat, and the war still seemed a long way from us. And then France just folded up and England's big navy just couldn't find any boats to fight till last week when she found one too many.

Generally when anybody does a lot of bragging, their fighting ain't so very hot. But this here Hitler feller is just as good at one as the other. Of course he fights foul and hits low and uses all the dirty tricks the cussedest Comanche Indians used to use against our folks in Texas, but he wins with them, and that means he's got to be fought just that much harder to be stopped.

Well, Mr. President, the war's been getting hotter and hotter till most everybody but a few icebergs and Lindberghs could feel the heat clear over here. So what you've had to tell us hasn't surprised us much.

And what you've had to say about sacrificing and sweating sounds plumb sensible. Fact

GERALD-WORLEY CO. PRODUCE BUILDING FINISHED THIS WEEK

The new Gerald-Worley Produce building, located across the Santa Fe tracks from the Henry Stallings Co. Warehouse, will be completed the latter part of this week, and Gerald-Worley Co. will move into the new building about the middle of next week.

J. R. Fulton has the contract for the new 30 by 100-foot building, and has put it up in rapid time. The building will be divided into three units—the front for cream and eggs, the middle portion for feed and grain, and the back for the mill and mixer.

Gerald-Worley will install a new hammer-mill and feed mixer, the only one of its type in this county.

J. P. Gerald and R. E. Worley comprise the firm of Gerald-Worley Co. They have been in the produce and feed business in Goldthwaite for 3 1-2 years, being located in the Gatlin Building.

James H. Soules Gets Brooks Field Wings

As a fitting climax to his seven and one-half months' adventure as a flying cadet in the Army Air Corps, Flying Cadet James H. Soules of Star will be presented with the coveted silver wings and gold bars of a lieutenant at his graduation from the Air Corps Advanced Flying School, Brooks Field, Texas, May 29.

Flying Cadet Soules, son of Mr. J. F. Soules of Star, Texas, has completed what has been termed a "$25,000 scholarship in the world's finest flying school." The final phase of the Air Corps training program, accomplished at Brooks Field under the direction of Major Stanton T. Smith, gives the flyer a thorough training in the art of formation flying, instrument flying, interception problems, and day and night cross-country besides an intensive ground school program.

Odell Pafford of Mullin left Monday morning for Dallas as the selectee for the May 27 call of the local Selective Service office.

WHAT IS CANCER?

Every boy and girl who has gone through high school knows from the study of physiology that every part of the body is made up of elements (called cells) and that the elements making up one part are different from those making up another. For example, the cells and their arrangement making up the skin are different from those making up a muscle, and the cells making up the heart muscles are different from those of the stomach and both of these are again different from the cells making up a muscle of the arm or leg. Most graduates of high school have seen through a microscope (which enlarges anything 400 to 800 times) the cells making up a tissue like the skin or muscle.

Now in any animal life processes are continually going on which use up the cells of every tissue of the body whether it is the skin, arm or heart muscle, clear portion of the eye, or any part of your body one might mention. This process goes on from birth until you die. Of course if these cells were not replaced by others just like them you could not live on year after year. But nature has given the cells of every tissue the power to reproduce others exactly like themselves. That is life and health.

But in CANCER (a disease) the cells of a tissue do not reproduce others exactly like themselves. At some spot in the skin or stomach or breast the normal cells produce cells which are different from the parent cells; and these new different cells continue to produce cells like themselves which begin to destroy the natural cells. In medical language it is said the NORMAL cells take on ABNORMAL growth and become DESTRUCTIVE.

And that is cancer no matter where in the body it occurs. (Next week: Causes of Cancer.) C. W. DRAKE, Brownwood, Tex. Citizens Nat'l. Bank

The poultry raising business in Mills County was done on a very small scale up until 25 years ago, when the only market for poultry in Goldthwaite was "in trade" at local grocery stores. The first cash-paying produce house was established in Goldthwaite in 1915—the Wilson Brothers Produce Co.—and since that time poultry-raising in the county has shown a healthy and steady growth.

When cotton was selling here for less than 10 cents a pound due to the World War, a diversified farming program campaign was inaugurated in this county by the Trent State Bank and over the state by the Santa Fe Railroad. This "Cow-Sow-Hen" campaign resulted in many small flocks of chickens and turkeys being started all over the county until today there is scarcely a farm or ranch but what has poultry along with the other livestock.

Today in Mills County and Goldthwaite there are a half dozen or more large exclusive produce-buying houses that pay out to growers thousands of dollars each year for their poultry products to be shipped to Northern and Eastern markets.

To help the government campaign to "Raise More Poultry" in

BREEDER TURKEY EGGS SALE TO NORTH FAST-GROWING HERE

Another sideline to the produce-raising business in Central Texas is the fast-developing turkey egg production for sale to Northern buyers, together with the sale of breeder-turkeys.

This business, although not yet extensive in Mills County, brings thousands of additional dollars over the market price to growers in counties immediately surrounding Mills.

There are three breeder turkey egg-producing pools in this section:

The Brady pool, with 14,000 laying turkey hens.

The Santa Anna pool, with 6,000 hens.

The Richland Springs pool, with 4,000.

In addition there are some 5,000 head of laying turkey hens outside of these pools that are used exclusively for selling their eggs for breeder purposes to Northern poultry growers.

One of the large turkey-egg breeder producers in this section is O. B. Harkey of Harkeyville, San Saba County. Mr. Harkey has produced, shipped and sold more than 57,000 breeder turkey eggs this season. In addition, he has in the last three weeks sold through a Goldthwaite produce house $2,855 worth of old turkey hens. Mr. Harkey is raising a younger flock for breeder-egg purposes and selling off his older hens.

Following is the price paid for poultry products by dealers in Goldthwaite this week:

Turkeys—14 cents for turkey hens.

Chickens—11 and 13 cents for hens.

Eggs—21 cents per dozen.

Cream—30 cents per pound.

Mills County this year and next, County Agent Sam von Rosenberg has on hand a number of different pamphlets published by specialists of the Department of Agriculture, on the subjects of raising of poultry, diseases, care of chicks, blueprints for brooder-houses, etc., which he will furnish free of cost to any interested person in the county.

President Roosevelt in his radio address to the Americas on Tuesday night stressed the desperate strait of the remaining democracies of the world, declared an unlimited national emergency for the United 23456345 gency, and called on every citizen of the United States to join in an all-out war effort for national defense. Mills County people can do their bit—and "Raise More Poultry."

MILLS CO. POULTRY RAISERS INTERESTED IN U. S. DEFENSE SAYS CO. AGT. VON ROSENBERG

Nineteen forty-one is marked as a good year for poultry raisers, says County Agent Sam von Rosenberg. And also 1941 is the year in which poultry raisers are being asked to help the National Defense Program. Poultry and their products are very necessary food materials and a shortage of adequate supplies of poultry and products seems certain.

Rosenberg has received word from Dr. George P. McCarthy, State Extension Poultryman, that poultry raisers should be encouraged to increase their flocks, in order to relieve the possible shortage of poultry products. Poultry raisers are cautioned to not go into the business too extensively, however the necessary equipment to properly care for poultry should be provided. According to information received, Rosenberg quotes the following: "We need more eggs, and we are going to need about 10 per cent more eggs than we have produced in recent years. Under the provisions of the Lease-Lend Act, the United States will send a good many thousand cases of eggs, probably in dried form, to Britain and the Allies; we will need more eggs for our men in the Army, Navy and Marine Cores." This statement was made by W. D. Termohlen, Chief of the Poultry Division, S.M.A., Washington, D. C.

Poultrymen may provide this necessary increased poultry and poultry products by working on the following poultry improvement program: (1) Increase egg production of present flock by better feeding, feed laying mash and grain; (2) cull flock but keep all hens that will lay for a while longer; (3) develop as many good strong pullets as possible, all that you can care for and put in the houses that you have; if a new poultry house is needed in order to better your poultry enterprise, it should be provided; (4) the government will maintain a fair average price on poultry from now until June, 1943. This price will vary of course with the regular seasonal fluctuation. The government is not pegging the price. Texas poultry raisers are already realizing the benefits of this price, however, and to help the defense program all persons having poultry on the farm should make a greater effort to improve their farm poultry enterprise and by so doing help themselves and the defense program.

For further information concerning this poultry improving program consult County Agent Sam von Rosenberg. Poultry raisers can secure much helpful literature from the County Agent on all poultry problems including chick raising, feeding, culling, poultry housing and

County Agent's News Notes

Proving that legumes can be grown in Mills County, George Fletcher, prominent ranchman living in the Mullin Community and demonstrator in Soil and Water Conservation, has an excellent crop of Hubam Clover growing on about four acres of land on his farm. This clover seed was purchased and was then treated with proper inoculation before planting. It was planted in the first part of March and is now about knee high with a good stand. Mr. Fletcher plans to save seed from this crop to be used for planting further acreage of the crop on his farm next year. This is just another proof that legumes can be grown in Mills County, says County Agent Sam von Rosenberg, who believes that the surest way to rebuild worn-out fields in the county is to plant legumes and turn them under while green.

Building Modern Poultry Laying House

Mr. Clyde Kirby, progressive poultry demonstrator living in the Caradan Community, is building a modern poultry house that is 20 feet by 30 feet in size. Mr. Kirby says this laying house will cost him about $110 when completed. As soon as this house is completed he plans to build another just like it. This house is being built in accordance with plans furnished by County Agent Sam von Rosenberg and includes all the new improved features of the most up-to-date poultry house plans. Mr. Kirby also plans to follow suggestions of new type poultry equipment for the house. He added, "If you want these hens to pay off, you've got to provide the comfort and convenience and proper feed for them to be able to do so."

New Grass Proving A Success

For a long time Mills County folks have been searching for a grass of some kind that will do well on cleared brush land that has no grass at all, says County Agent Sam von Rosenberg, who has been racking his mind and files too to try to help them find some of these grasses. Mr. C. J. Crawford, farmer living in the Pecan Wells Community on the Mills County side, has introduced a pasture grass that seems to be doing very well. This new grass is Australian rye-grass. It is very similar to the Italian rye-grass, but grows a little larger and makes a more abundant amount of seed. Mr. Crawford has about four acres of this grass growing on his farm and it is making an excellent crop of seed which he plans to harvest for re-planting on other parts of the farm next year.

Mrs. W. E. Miller expressed appreciation from the club to the Coca-Cola people for giving such a good program, and to Miss Coleman for the use of her theatre.

During the social hour the hostesses served Coca-Cola and cookies to club members and guests.

At the close of the business meeting, Mrs. W. E. Miller presented Mrs. Jim Weatherby, our president, with a lovely sandwich tray for her very loyal and faithful work during the past two years.

A dainty refreshment plate was served. Fourteen members were present.

C. C. H-D Club No. 2 Program

The next meeting will be held June 16. An interesting program is being prepared and the members urge others to attend. The place will be announced later.

This is the best way for local people to keep in touch with progress of our government in times like this, and co-operation is desired of all. So if you appreciate the work of our demonstrators, please attend the meetings.—Reporter.

Democracy in Action Farmers to Decide Quota Question

One of the foundations of democracy is the right of people to share in national decisions affecting their everyday lives. Although many other parts of the world are under the heel of dictatorship, here in America farmers are strengthening democracy by putting it into practice in their AAA marketing quota referendums. The Secretary of Agriculture has proclaimed a wheat marketing quota for 1941, subject to approval by farmers in a national referendum on May 31. When farmers vote in the referendum on that date, they will be exercising a fundamental privilege of citizens in a democracy.

Big Valley Home-D Club Meeting

When we use white flour altogether, we fail to get the food value we should out of the wheat, so sooner or later we buy the outside of the grains of wheat in pill form to furnish needed vitamins, Miss Scott told us in our H.D.C. meeting in the home of Mrs. Walton Daniel on May 15.

We are becoming more and more convinced that we as mothers and home makers play a very vital part in regard to the health of our families and ourselves as we study the needs of the body in relation to the food we serve.

Very delicious whole wheat muffins were cooked and served by Miss Scott to the following visitors and members: Mmes. Dewey Bohannon, Marion Robertson, E. L. Pass, Bill Daniels, Homer Weaver, E. D. Roberson, C. S. Miller, Miss Scott, and our gracious hostess.

Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

One of the grandest golden wedding anniversary jubilees that the Big Valley Community has ever experienced was held Sunday, May 11, when Mr. and Mrs. Robert Long celebrated their fiftieth year of marriage.

There are several things about this mammoth occasion that contribute to its greatness. The first thing of significance was that all the near relations were present. Six children, all in-laws and all grandchildren were present. They were Dan Long and family, Goldthwaite; Mrs. Jack Attaway and family, Como; Mrs. John Jackson and family, Goldthwaite; Mrs. Edgar Barrington, Cross Plains; Odrian and Ishmeal Long and families, both of the Big Valley Community.

Bro. Long has lived and reared his family largely in the Big Valley Community, moving to this county around 1900.

Some notable things concerning the Long family are: There has never been a death in the immediate family, all children and grandchildren living. A golden wedding anniversary is something that is rare, comparatively speaking. The children planned it and carried it to completion without their knowledge; and Maurice Long, the son of Dan Long, is the first soldier in the family through the three generations.

The affair was well planned and gracefully carried out. The people began gathering at the grounds in the morning and spent the portion of the mid-day in a jubilant way. A picnic table and chairs were placed in Adrian Long's pasture, under some giant live oak trees. The spring time with lovely flowers added to the welcoming beauty. One of the most elaborate lunches that the writer has ever attended was served. After a prayer of thanks by Bro. and Mrs. Long's pastor, C. K. Roberts, we helped ourselves to a wonderful mutton barbecue lunch, with salads, other meat, vegetables and cakes and pies in abundance. Coffee and iced tea added to its fineness. The family doctor, J. M. Campbell, was present and at lunch brought a word to the family which was very timely.

Following the lunch, another surprise gave beauty and flavor to the gathering when Bro. and Mrs. Long seated by a table under a great oak tree and the two or three dozen beautiful gifts were presented to them. There they shed tears of joy.

About one hundred and seventy-five relatives and near friends were present. This shall be a day long remembered by those who were present.

Bro. and Mrs. Long have entered their fifty-first year as husband and wife now and are happy companions. This should be encouraging to the younger husbands and wives.

—A Friend.

SCRIPTURE VERSE FOR THE WEEK

"Bless the Lord, all his works in all places of his dominion: bless the Lord, O my soul." Ps. 103: 22. (Read Ps. 103.)

DEAR MR. PRESIDENT—

is we've already started sacrificing down here. We've got a lot of our boys in the Army drawing less'n a dollar a day. And we've leased a lot of our land for Army maneuvers for less than we could make out of it. And we see a lot more sacrifices around the corner—maybe smaller AAA payments and such like.

But what I'd like to get over to you, Mr. President, is that there's got to be some changes made, and some of them ought to start right up there with you.

The biggest improvement you could possibly make would be to sacrifice ol' Miss Perkins, your secretary, of all things—Labor. If there ever was a time when this country needed a two-fisted, hard-hitting, tobacco-spittin' he-man to boss Labor, it's right now! You can set us all a good example by sacrificing Madam Perkins from your cabinet. And please hurry up about it.

Next thing you can sacrifice is the friendship of some of these swelled-headed labor leaders. They've been shaking down the working men of this country long enough, forcing them to fork over outrageous initiation fees and union dues and goosestepping them in and out of strikes regardless of how they feel about it.

Mr. President, if you'd round up these labor bosses, especially the ones who haven't taken the trouble to learn to talk English yet, you'd not have another strike to bother with for the rest of time. It's not the feller in overalls who's doing the hard work who is aching to throw up his job and go hungry. It's those bosses who want to show their power and line up some more members and take in more dues.

I know your sympathy has sort of misled you here, Mr. President, but if you can start our boys marching out to war for $21 a month, getting up before day, working like hell 168 hours a week, not knowing whether they'll ever come back, you simply haven't got the right as our Commander-in-Chief to let these fellers drawing some of 'em as much as a dollar an hour and working just 40 hours a week and sleeping in good, comfortable homes and driving their own cars, strike for still higher pay or maybe just for spite.

You can stop it, Mr. President, and it's time you started sacrificing some of those folks who are standing in your way.

Now here's one more sacrifice you can make, Mr. President. I like you and believe in you and am willing to fight for you, and you are plenty smart all right, but too many folks feel like you've got the failing of wanting to head the march and lead the band and sit in the grandstand too. You need some first-class strawbosses the worst way, and you need to give 'em enough rope to get the job done. I don't doubt but what you could do any one job better than anybody else, but you sure can't do all of 'em together. Maybe you'll have to sacrifice some pride, Mr. President, but this is no time for anybody, even you, to think of anything but getting the job done quick.

You can count on us Texans to the last man, Mr. President, to work and sacrifice and fight, but don't forget we're looking to you to lead the way.

Your old friend,
A MILLS COUNTY DEMOCRAT.

Ladies of the Senate
Lunching with the ladies of the senate the other day was very pleasant. I particularly enjoyed having in front of me a most beautiful centerpiece of magnolia blossoms, white against their dark green leaves. At the ends of the table were vases with white Easter lilies and snapdragons, but it seemed particularly beautiful to me to look into those cup-like magnolia blossoms.

The District of Columbia librarians came that same day to look at the books which the American Book-sellers have presented to the White House library. Then they joined my garden party on the lawn. It was the first garden party we have had this year and an almost perfect day. Now then the wind would take a lovely lady's hat and she would have to clutch it, but otherwise it was neither too warm nor too cold.

The Marine band played delightfully and, in listening to them, I forgot to be tired. The grass was particularly lovely, and so I appreciated the desire of the gardener to keep me moving just a little so the long line of guests would not wear a path across the lawn.

Later I received the Hungarian minister and his wife for the first time since their arrival. Then I had guests from California, Dr. and Mrs. Remsen Bird, who came to spend the night. We had a very pleasant dinner and were much interested in seeing some photographs which Mr. Thomas Campbell brought back from his stay in England.

I am trying to catch up on what seems like an almost unending amount of mail. There are also a good many things which must be read. The President sounded quite cheerful and very busy this morning, and I think everything is progressing well with him.

PICNIC LUNCHEON

The next day the cabinet ladies and I gave our annual picnic luncheon for the ladies of the senate and were fortunate in having a beautiful day. We recalled last year that several showers disturbed our lunch, but this year the only thing which disturbed us was speculation as to what was the real explanation of Mr. Rudolf Hess.

I surmise that there are few people in this country who have not speculated on that subject during the last few days. The writers of mystery stories must agree that reality has outdistanced almost any plot in fiction.

A number of people came to tea and in the evening I went to hear All-American Youth orchestra. The program was beautiful and one could not have wanted a more finished performance. Everyone with me enjoyed every minute of the evening.

After coping for some time now with almost perfectly straight hair, for I wanted to wait as long as possible before having a permanent wave again, I went in the morning and spent three hours and a half at the hairdresser. I always feel as though it is a terrible waste of time, but this morning I accomplished much reading, which otherwise would have remained undone on the bench beside my desk. Incidentally, my hair will be easier to deal with for some time to come.

Somewhat late and somewhat breathless, I arrived at the luncheon given by the ladies of the Seventy-sixth congress. They were so kind about my delay that I recovered very quickly from the apologetic state of mind in which I arrived. I enjoyed not only my neighbors, but the lovely table decorations and the Marine band's music.

Afterwards, I went to see the exhibition of water colors at the National Gallery of Art. From 10,000 water colors sent in from the United States, Hawaii and the District of Columbia, 300 were picked out for a federal hospital in Louisiana. The variety of subjects is entertaining, and I think the water colors will add immeasurably in color and interest to all the rooms in the hospital.

It is interesting to find that most of the painters exhibiting are under 30 years of age and come from 27 states, Hawaii and the District of Columbia. There are 51 women and 103 men represented. I think everyone will find this exhibition enjoyable.

FRIENDS FROM ARGENTINE

One afternoon I had the pleasure of having Madame Ruiz-Guinazu, wife of the Argentine minister of foreign affairs, her two daughters, and Madame Espil, wife of the Argentine ambassador, have tea with me.

Madame Ruiz-Guinazu was fairly exhausted by the amount of sight-seeing which they had done, but everything was of great interest to her. She spoke with enthusiasm of the National gallery and of the beauty of our capital city. Then she told me at length of her interest in the Congressional Library, particularly the collection of books in braille.

Her son is in charge of this work in the Argentine. Having become blind himself at the age of 17, he evidently determined to lead a busy, useful and, therefore, happy life.

GRADUATION TIME REMINDS US OF ANCIENT STORY WITH MODERN PARALLELS

The school year is racing toward its finale. It will soon be "Goodbye Mr. Chips" for the Senior Classes of our high schools. Only a few days until graduation—and then

This is no commencement message. It is not intended for advice for the graduates, since the commencement season affords plenty of that. It is just as story gleaned from ancient history, but one with modern parallels which all will recognize.

It is a story of the children of Israel in the long ago. They had just escaped from Egyptian bondage by their dramatic flight across the Red Sea. Before them lay Canaan, the Promised Land. And Moses, their leader, sent out twelve men to spy upon the Promised Land and bring back their reports to him.

After forty days there men returned and reported their discoveries. "It's a rich land," they said, "abundant in fruit and flowing in milk and honey." "But it is a land of walled cities," they added gloomily, "and inhabited by strong men, such as the giantly sons of Anak, in whose sight we are but grasshoppers."

Such were the prospects before the children of Israel. Translated into other settings, its parallels in one form or another confront every generation.

Before us today stretches that Promised Land of our heart's desire. The flickers of hope stir in every human breast. In youth they burn most fiercely.

The young graduates today face the most uncertain and chaotic world of modern times. The best thing that can be said of their education is that it will serve as the pillar of cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night to guide them toward the Promised Land of a better world—a world where men and women can dwell in peace and safety—where they can live their own lives as they wish—a world where the shackles of fear, poverty, ignorance, hatred and intolerance have been broken forever.

But, we must be realists as well as idealists. Remember the children of Israel and how their opinions were divided as to what they should do. They have their present day parallels perhaps in your own class.

First, there were the tender-hearted who feared to go ahead. "Would God that we had died in the land of Egypt," they said. "Wherefore hath God brought us into this land? . . . Let us return to Egypt."

These people were the defeatists of that generation.

Another group among them took the opposite view. They thought only of the luscious fruits, the milk and honey—and ignored the walled cities and the giants that must be conquered. Furthermore, they ignored the commands of God. They thought only of going and possessing the coveted things of life in defiance of both difficulties and the Divine commandments. As a result they were smote down and destroyed.

These were the impractical visionaries of that generation. They desired to progress, but they refused to face realities.

The third group took a still different position. They had no longings for the flesh-pots of Egypt and they preferred not to return. They would like to possess the Promised Land, but had no desire to face the hardships and sacrifices necessary to secure it. They preferred to depend upon the Lord to do everything for them. If the Lord wants us to occupy the land, it is his responsibility to see that we get there, they reasoned. Let him first work a few miracles such as earthquakes to shake down the walled cities and bring pestilences to kill the giants who would oppose us. Otherwise, we'll just camp here and wait for something to happen. Perhaps, someday the miracles will occur. Then when the Jordan River is low and easy to ford, the weather is fair, and everything being favorable, we will stroll over into Canaan, settle down to enjoy the fruits with the daily desert of milk and honey.

This group were the standpatters of that day. They believed in "faith without works" and were weak of spirit and cowards at heart. They were ever looking for something for nothing. The Lord owed them a living. If alive today, they would probably be asking the government to take care of them and make everything easy and pleasant for them.

Caleb and Joshua led the fourth and last group. They pleaded to go forward. The land is ours, and with the aid of the Lord we can take it. It will be a hard fight, but the reward is worth it. They believed it could be done and were willing to try.

These were the progressives of that generation—the men who would push forward regardless. But they were stoned with stones by the others—a fate that often befalls the leaders of any great forward movement.

Such are the attitudes of human-beings. Each generation has its Promised Land, stretching out into the future. Before it can be reached, however, there are always obstacles to overcome—the walled cities and the giants who oppose them.

It is ever thus. Life offers little for those who refuse to pay the price. The Promised Land is just a potential inheritance, never a gift.

There are no times for the defeatists, no day for cowards and coddled nomads who would prefer to wander in the wilderness, afraid to turn back, and too timid to face what lies in the land beyond.

We must follow the lead of the rational optimists. It will take fighting and sacrifice, but the price is worth it, and with the aid of the Lord, we can win."

REQUIREMENTS LESS FOR ENLISTMENTS IN US AIR CORPS SERVICE

Sgt. William J. Hess, recruiting sergeant in charge of the Army Recruiting Station in Brownwood, states that the requirements for enlistment in the ground forces of the U. S. Army Air Corps has been lowered to include those men who have completed one year in high school and can pass an examination covering such work. Sergeant Hess said that the average boy who has completed as much as one year in high school should be able to pass this examination without much trouble. Sgt. Hess will be glad to give any further information to any one who is interested if they will write or call in person to the Army Recruiting Station, Soldiers and Sailors Memorial Hall, Brownwood. Vacancies open for enlistment at present are for Randolph Field and Brooks Field, Texas.

Destroyer Squadrons

Destroyer squadrons of Uncle Sam's Navy usually float in water but if the ocean should suddenly dry up they can call on the army air corps giant Randolph field Texas. For help the "West Point of the Air" uses enough gasoline in a year to float an entire squadron of navy destroyers. Call off flying for twelve months and Randolph field will have more than 18,000 tons of high test gasoline available. In January alone flying cadet training activities used slightly more than 500,000 gallons of fuel or enough to float a 1,500 ton destroyer. Their mileage isn't bad either considering the 450 horsepower motors used in the low wing basic training planes it's about six miles per gallon.

Lot's of vacancies are available for this branch of the service for the young men who are really interested in getting a start in aviation these vacancies are for the west coast and men who enlist for this branch of the service will be sent to Randolph Field before being sent on to California. Vacancies are also available for foreign service in the Philippine Islands. But men who wish to enlist for foreign service will have to do so in the next four or five days as these vacancies are expected to be closed about the nineteenth.

New enlistments made by the Brownwood recruiting office include for the 60th. Coast Artillery Philippine Islands: Melvin T. Contwell, Brownwood; Eugene S. Corden; and J. B. Hawkins, May; and for the Air Corps Mather Field California.

Improved Uniform International SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for June 1

BROADENING CHRISTIAN HORIZONS: THE ANTIOCH MOVEMENT

LESSON TEXT—Acts 11:19-30. GOLDEN TEXT—For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek.—Romans 1:16.

Scattered abroad! As the flying sparks and embers from a fire which is wildly beaten will light many new fires, just so persecution of the early Christians sent them abroad and established new centers for the preaching of the gospel. Verse 19 of our lesson connects with Acts 8:4. The mission by Philip in Samaria was paralleled by that of others in Phoenicia, Cyprus, and now in Antioch. That great city was not far from Jerusalem, but it was far from God. A mighty city, rich in trade, it was also deep in all kinds of sin; but there it pleased God to establish a great center of Christian testimony. God loves to do new things (see, for example, II Cor. 5:17; Isa. 43:19; Ps. 33:3; Rev. 21:5).

I. A New Church (vv. 19-21). What a splendid church it was! Here in the midst of the most evil surroundings the sweet flower of Christian faith grew, as it so often does.

It was a church built upon a faithful testimony by God's chosen witnesses "preaching the Lord Jesus" (v. 20). Their names are not noted, but their message is, and its blessed results. It was a gathering place for all people—Jews and Gentiles. The disciples from Jerusalem preached at first only to the Jews, but God sent others (v. 20), who preached His grace to the Gentiles. Note also that the Antioch church was a living witness. "The hand of the Lord was with them"—little wonder then that "a great number believed and were turned to the Lord." Your church—and mine—might learn much by studying the church at Antioch.

II. A New Fellowship (vv. 22-26). The genius of Christianity is fellowship. Those who have a religious belief which makes them exclusive—not willing to fellowship with other Christians—do not truly represent their Lord.

When the church at Jerusalem heard the good news, they sent Barnabas to help the new converts and establish fellowship. He was the ideal man to send, for "he was a good man." It is far more important that a man be good than that he be brilliant if he is to edify young converts. He was "full of the Holy Ghost." He was also "full of faith," and no man that is not, need undertake the work of instructing and developing young converts, especially converts from heathenism so dark as that in Antioch. He was free from the love of gold (4:36, 37). He was free from personal ambition and jealousy in his work (vv. 25, 26). He was very sharp-eyed to see the sincerity and promise of a young convert (9:27). "When he was come, and had seen the grace of God, (he) was glad" (John W. Bradbury).

Into this new fellowship of life and service the gracious and generous Barnabas brought a new evangelist—Saul, God's prepared man for this hour.

But we have another new thing in our lesson, one of great importance.

III. A New Name

Christian, the beautiful name of those who follow Christ was first used at Antioch. It may have held a measure of contempt (see Acts 26:28; I Pet. 4:16), but it was a remarkably suitable name for those who had come out of paganism now to live, in their old surroundings, a new life, a separated life, the Christ life.

This name "combines Jewish thought with Greek and Latin language, and thus, like the inscription on the cross, bears witness to the universality of Christianity as a religion for the whole world. The idea of 'Christ' (Messiah) is Jewish; the substantive 'Christ' (Christos) is Greek, and the adjectival termination 'ian' (ianus) is Latin. This new name was intended to introduce and mark the difference between Jews and Gentiles on the one hand, and those who, whether Jews or Gentiles, were followers of Jesus Christ. The term 'Christian' evidently points to the Person of Christ, and to those who are associated with Him as His followers. It implies and involves union and close association with Christ" (W. H. Griffith Thomas).

Those believers at Antioch not only bore the name, they practiced the life of Christ. Next Sunday we shall study their activity for Christ, for in that city began the great missionary movement which goes on to our day. In our lesson today we have another practical expression of their faith. They gave of their means, "every man according to his abilities," to meet the need of their new-found Jewish brethren in Judea.

Miss Scott came from Goldthwaite Friday to be present for the H. D. Club which met with Mrs. Alvin Ketchum. On account of excessive rains the day before, only three members were present—Mrs. Ketchum, Mrs. Cloud Mashburn, and Mrs. Dale Reid. A creek that makes the road impassable every time it gets up kept some of us from being there. Then the army trucks have made bog holes in the low places in our roads until we are almost afraid to start out after a rain for fear we won't get home. Miss Scott said she dragged high center nearly all the way out here. The place of meeting for next time will be announced in next week's paper.

And the grain is ripening, even on low ground, ready for the harvest. And the farmers are worrying about the low ground crop—about the bogging down of reapers, or combines, maybe the possible loss of 25 or more acres of fine grain. Where's the cradles and the scythes? Remember how our fathers used to do? No fine machines to get it all in shock in a day. And why let it all go to waste?
