VOLUME FIFTY-THREE

GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS - FRIDAY, JULY 18, 1947

NUMBER FORTY-FIVE

THE BOSS IS NOT RESPONSIBLE
WHAT OLD MAN 100 SAYS IN COLUMN - NEITHER IS THE OLD
IF YOU GET MAD, COUNT AT A THOUSAND BEFORE YOU
NOT OR BEAT HIM UP - THE BOSS

AT HOME
Old Man 100 is fixin' to start Buy At Home campaign right figures he'll start at the beginning—the tax-eater first,
the merchant second, and then come on down and tell the taxpayers why they should spend their dollars in Mills County so to keep the profits, if any, here at home. The Boss says he's taxpaying property-owner and does all kind of job printing and has put in a line of office supplies and machines and hires four veterans and he can't figure out why some of them tax-eaters takes his good tax money and orders their printing from Brownwood, Waco and Austin. The Old Man tells him that maybe they're huntin'
new jobs in them big cities —and then the Boss says they're able to need them—come election next year. The Old Man tells the Boss he should maybe hire a young red-head as printin' and office-supply saleslady to do a little under-the-chin tickling around town here, but the Boss jest snorts "E-H-I"
which the Old Man guesses means "Buy At Home." (To be

A NEW JEEP
The Old Man's spies report that Prof. Patton was seen one afternoon last week taking mothers, grandmothers and great-grandmothers out for a ride in the new Jeep that Camp Hood recently donated to the Goldthwaite Schools. The Prof.
is learning to drive it. (The Old Man had to do that once, too, take-out the grandmother first so that he could get to take the granddaughter later.) If the Prof. asks any young ladies to ride with him in the Jeep they should jump at the word "bar"
it's reported to be lots of fun, and on hot afternoons you really get aired out. Besides, they ain't no lights on it now, and the Prof. has to bring his passengers home before dark.

BAR GRADUATE
Now Grady Tullios has known
the Old Man a long time—
Grady has been around here quite a spell, too—and says he knew the Old Man had been studying for the bar for a long time. He says he read where Mr. ME last week reported in this column where the Old Man had finally passed his bar exams—but didn't pass no bar
—while he was in CC. The Old Man looked up the word "bar" in the Boss' Webster's and found it had 22 different meanings, and Grady says he bets the Old Man will make all 22 of 'em yet—if he ever passes the first one.

BACHELOR BRIAN
One of the Old Man's spies reports that Bachelor Brian is having more troubles again.
Jest last Saturday Brian got a letter addressed to Mr. and Mrs.
Brian, and started out hunting
the "Mrs." part but Mrs. her.
Also, people keep calling him up when their butane system gets out of order, and they used to call him from the country to report when the school buses needed new brakes. Bachelor Brian is thinking some of changing his last name to something like "Htlms"—or maybe Nwrb. The Old Man's advice to Brian is to jump the broomstick—if he has one—and let the Mrs. take care of the little details. Somebody should introduce Bachelor Brian to Widow Willing.

WARNINGS
All them warnings coming from Big Shots nowadays and printed in the dailies have give the Old Man a bad case of jitters.
In one day the Pres. warned against inflation (the Old Man counted his cash money and found out it wasn't hurtin' him any), and the Sec. of St.
warned that them Rush-nwould lick us Uses quick unless we put them European countries back on their feet. The Old Man has suspected that them people over there have been laying down ever since the US started keepin' them on with US taxpayers money. The Old Man get them off their beds if we ever get on their feet to and up on their feet to ask them in a real nice way if they wouldn't please do jest a little work once in a while to help themselves some. It looks like the Uses has conquered the world, all right, but can't figure out jest what to do with it—that is, all except Rush-a. But

Uniform Safety Regulations Urged To Aid Driving And Cut Accidents

By PYKE JOHNSON

President, Automotive Safety Foundation

The driver of this car disregarded a plainly marked warning sign and crossed the tracks directly into the path of a passenger train. His machine was swept up like a leaf and raked over the tracks. The driver and two occupants were killed. Signs, lights and bells are placed at crossings for the protection of motorists. Yet 2,000 were killed last year, and 70,000 injured, because they did not trouble to stop, look both ways, and listen for the warning whistle.

Forty-seven million American drivers can't be wrong. But unfortunately they can be confused -- and often are -- due to the maze of divergent and contradictory laws and ordinances regulating the use of motor vehicles in various parts of the country.

While the motorist may be thoroughly familiar with the traffic rules in his own community and state, he cannot depend upon that knowledge when traveling any distance beyond his home borders. If he does, he may wind up either in the hospital or in jail. For in the present chaotic situation, what is traffic law observance in one state may be a violation in another, and a direct invitation to sudden death into the bargain.

It is patently absurd to expect drivers to know all the different highway directives now in force in all cities and states of the nation. Yet in effect, such behind-the-wheel omniscience seems to be demanded of them at the present time, when the volume of inter-state travel is greater than ever before in our history. This tremendous increase is reflected in the fact that last year the total motor vehicle mileage in the United States exceeded by 4 per cent the all-time record of 333 billion miles set in 1941. This year the mileage is soaring to even more astronomical levels. The annual tourist business in this country alone amounts to over six billion dollars, which gives some idea of the interstate movement involved in seeing America first.

That the lack of uniformity in state and local traffic rules persists does not mean that its disadvantages are not recognized. The mounting highway casualty lists tell us that it is fraught with hazards. We know that it hampers the free flow of traffic and causes a great deal of personal inconvenience and vexation. Moreover, we know that it seriously tends to lessen observance of regulations, inasmuch as conflicting, illogical and archaic laws are hardly calculated to win the respect of the citizen.

While there are in every state certain conditions which present distinctly local problems (i.e. which special provisions must be made in the state motor vehicle law, the essential characteristics of sound traffic regulations do not vary materially. For instance, identical statutory directives are imperative for turning movements, right-of-way, overtaking and passing, stops for through highways and railroad grade crossings, and pedestrians' rights and duties. And certainly no logical reason can be adduced by the different jurisdictions for failure to standardize equipment requirements, including lights, brakes and warning devices, as well as limitations on the size and weight of individual vehicles or combinations.

By the same token, there can be no disputing that uniform provisions for driver licensing are highly desirable, in order that each state may recognize permits issued in other jurisdictions. Neither can there be any doubt of the usefulness of uniform provisions for suspension and revocation of licenses so that incompetent and reckless drivers may be weeded out. And so on down the line with the other important regulations designed to improve the safety and efficiency of highway transportation -- uniformity not only provides the basic for comprehensive statutory agreement on a national scale but helps to ensure more local control.

All the fundamental requirements for good traffic law are embraced in the Uniform Vehicle Code for states and the Model Municipal Ordinance for cities, which together comprise the nationally accepted standards for such legislation. Enactment of these basic statutes by every commonwealth and community is urged by the press, state highway and motor vehicle officials, the police, women's clubs, farm organizations, Chambers of Commerce, automobile clubs and numerous other groups throughout the United States. In fact, 81 national organizations with a total membership of over 100 million persons, are now working toward that end. The President's Highway Safety Conference set up the achievement of uniformity through out the length and breadth of the land as a major objective of the nationwide accident prevention program.

In the drama of saving lives and curtailing huge economic losses through safety measures, the principle of uniformity plays a vital role from first to last. Indeed it goes back to the very elements of highway design itself. Thus the American Association of State Highway Officials has long realized the necessity of creating policies of road design which could serve as national standards. These have gradually been developed and deal with such vital safety factors as alignment, grades, curves, sight distances, width of pavements and shoulders, clearances, intersection layouts, and many others. Their refined standards help to provide the "built-in" safety of our modern expressways and will be incorporated generally in the 40,000

NOTICE

For the past three days, consumption of water by Goldthwaite citizens has exceeded the supply, even though the amount pumped each day is at an all-time high of 180,000 Gallons per day. The Excursion Rate put into effect on May 20th will be removed on July 20 unless some other factor lowers consumption of water. If the rate is removed, however, each customer will be notified.

Farm Safety Week Proclaimed By President - JULY 20 to 26

By MRS. EMOGENE HAENISCH
COUNTY H. D. AGENT

In a recent proclamation by President Harry S. Truman, the week of July 20, 1947, was proclaimed National Farm Safety Week, as a spearhead to a year-round farm safety program.

All who climb must be careful in barns, in trees, upon houses, ladders, and tree limbs must be sound, safe and dependable. Fixing roofs—the battlements against solid support, watched as slipping and tumbling. Trimming trees and repairing chimneys must be approached with thought and careful preparation. Things done in a thoughtless hurry may have to be paid for by recovery in days of long drawn out hospital treatment.

After "falls" comes machinery. Strain and labor can be saved by farm machinery, but risk and rolls can hide there too. Power out of control can smash things up and retard work and success by unhappy days and nights of suffering and expense. That corn picker is ready to grab a tender hand when the clogging corn stocks are removed and the power releases the machinery still in gear. Machinery is to be the farmer's servant—not his whip master and executioner.

Animals can bite and gore, kick and butt; they can run away and overturn things. They must be understood, respected and handled with care. Animals on the farm can be man's friends and helpers, his producers and profit providers, but they can be frightened, they can be irritated, they can be wild, reckless and destructive. Animals must be studied and guarded always as an area of danger.

Heat exhaustions come in for their share of attention. The sun can make the hay grow, but it can also make the head ache. The haymow can be too hot, the hay field can be potent in sun stroke, the lift can be too heavy, the strain can be too great. The heart can surrender to excessive demand.

Housewives can overdo. The hours of cooking and canning can be too long. There are limits to human strength and endurance. Safety to man, woman, and child on a farm calls for the practice of prudence and the pay of patience.

One of the strange facts of safety investigation is that the home is the area of the most accidents. The upturned corner of a rug, and an unrepaid step, unsteady railing, slippery soap in a bath tub a dark stairway an ill packed closet, unsteady boxes on a shelf, a step ladder that needs a nail or a screw, all the little demons of carelessness that come to trip feet, break bones, bump heads, injure backs make up the mean and pain delivering population of the areas of danger in the home.

Better the pleasant memories of carefulness than the sad regrets and remorse of indifference. Help to make the following year safer.

RFD MURRAY COX TO BROADCAST HERE

MURRAY COX, RFD (roving farm editor) for WFAA-820, will be at the West Cross Timbers Sheep and Goat Raisers' Show and Sale at Legion Park in Goldthwaite next Wednesday and will make his regular noon-day state-wide broadcast from the show barns here from 12:15 to 12:30. His regular broadcasts are heard over WFAA Monday through Friday at 12:15 p. m., and he gives a special summary of the week's farm news each Saturday at 8:15 a. m.

WEST CROSS TIMBERS SHEEP & GOAT SHOW AND SALE TO BE HERE WEDNESDAY-THURS.

The fourth annual show and sale of West Cross Timbers Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association will be held at Legion Park at Goldthwaite next Wednesday and Thursday, July 23 and 24.

The West Cross Timbers Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association is composed of approximately 35 counties located in Central Texas. Entries for the show and sale have been received from approximately one-half of counties located in West Cross Timbers Area. Breeders of registered sheep and goats think this will be one of the largest sales the West Cross Timbers have ever held. The association was organized four years ago by representatives of several counties who had been holding annual sheep and goat sales in their particular counties. It was their opinion that one show and sale would prove more beneficial than individual county sales. The first two shows were held in Mineral Wells, Texas. The last two shows have been held in Goldthwaite.

Most of the registered breeders in Cross Timbers Area feel that if a good show barn could be erected in Goldthwaite that this would probably be selected as a permanent headquarters for this show and sale and that the annual show could be held here each year. About 350 entries have already been made with the secretary of the show who is Hollis Blackwell. Approximately 300 of this number will be sold at the annual auction sale Thursday, July 24th.

P. E. Gully of Uvalde, Texas, who is known among ranchmen as being an excellent sheep and goat man has been secured as the auctioneer.

Word has just been received by Dr. T. C. Graves and L. F. Bain of the West Cross Timbers Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association Advertising Committee that Murray Cox, Rural Farm Director, with Radio Station WFFA will make his noon broadcast from Goldthwaite at 12:15 to 12:30.

The committee was asked to have several farmers and ranchers from Mills and adjoining counties present at that time for Mr. Cox to interview for the broadcast.

The committee feels fortunate in having Mr. Cox visit us and make his noon broadcast over Station WFFA from here.

A free barbecue on the grounds will be a feature of the Show and Sale on both next Tuesday and Wednesday at noon.

Officers of the West Cross Timbers Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association are:

Dr. R. H. Hodges of Garden City, President.
M. L. Jernigan, Goldthwaite, Vice-President.
Hollis Blackwell, Goldthwaite, Secretary.

Mr. Blackwell said entries for the Show and Sale have come in from all of the 35 counties of the association, and that some of the best sheep and goats in the world would be exhibited and sold here next week. Entries from as far away as Rock-springs, Sonora and San Angelo in West Texas, and Morgan Mills in East Texas, and Uvalde and San Antonio in South Texas have been entered in the Show and Sale.

Only registered animals will be shown and sold. Animals must be in pens by 10:00 o'clock on July 23. Judging will start at one o'clock on July 23. The judges' decision will be final.

A sifting committee will pass on all animals.

One individual may enter in the show or sale only 5 Bucks or five Rams or not over 10 head goats and 10 head sheep. Show goats or sheep may be brought and not offered for sale but entry fee must be paid on all.

No private sales must be made on grounds. All animals sold must go through auction ring.

WE'RE SORRY

To the merchants whose ads had to be left out this week The Eagle herewith offers its apologies. Due to newspaper shortage, which is nation-wide, several ads and some news items that came in late had to be carried over to next week. The Eagle will continue to carry each week President Truman's national highway traffic accident prevention campaign—which we believe to be the greatest ever carried in any newspaper—if it can prevent the killing on our streets and highways of 10,000 persons during the balance of this year.

(Intended for last week.)

The Fourth found most of us spending the day at the river with picnic dinners and supper. Swimming and fishing was the order of the day though many of us just stretched out in the shade and enjoyed a good nap. We wound up the day with roller skating in the gym at Indian Creek.

Numa Crowder was home for the Fourth. He is attending Abilene Christian College where he was voted most popular and outstanding boy of the Junior Class of 1947. He is preaching every Sunday at Big Lake.

Mrs. Irene Reeves received word that her daughter, Mrs. O. B. Singleton of Menard is very ill. She will go there this week to be with her.

Miss Nelda Rogers of Brownwood spent the week-end with Miss June Hanna. They will attend the singing school at Brooksmith this week.

F. L. Crowder, Jr. plans to attend the singing school in Zephyr this week.

Members of the church here are meeting today (Monday) to build the brush arbor for the meeting which starts the 18th of this month. Brother Hoover of San Saba is conducting the meeting again this year.

MORRIS REUNION

Descendants of Dave and Alice Morris (deceased) met in a family reunion July 5 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Johnson, Jr. for a picnic supper and fish-fry.

Long tables heavily laden with food were set on the spacious lawns and merry and festive hours were spent visiting. A movie of a colorful and exciting pheasant hunt on the E. T. Fairman ranch was shown during the evening and scenery taken from Utah through National Parks homeward to Texas by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Ferrill, Jr.

Beautiful violin music was enjoyed from the accomplished young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Morris of Tulsa and the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Ferrill, Jr. of Ogden, Utah.

Those attending this happy reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morris of Goldthwaite; Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Morris and daughters, Alice Sue and Greta

Ann of Tulsa, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Johnson, Jr., and son, Robert Henry of Goldthwaite; Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Morris and son, Wayne Howard, of Harper Texas; L. H. Morris of Fort Worth; Mrs. Elvis Morris and granddaughter, Cynthia Woodard of Goldthwaite; Mrs. Ada Morris Childress and son, James Arthur of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Casbeer and grandson, David Fuqua of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hoover and son, Michael of Goldthwaite; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Ferrell, Jr., and children, Billy and Sandra of Ogden, Utah; and Mr. and Mrs. Wade Holden and son John Wade, Jr.

Jones Valley
H. D. Club

The Jones Valley Home Demonstration Club met July 8th with Mrs. Tillman Smith. At 3 o'clock the president, Mrs. Delton Barnett, called the house to order. For an opening song we sang "Shortening Bread." Roll call was answered by 12 members. Plans were made for our club party. It will be August 2 at Mrs. J. D. Berry's home. The entertainment committee for the party consists of chairman, Mrs. Hawley Jernigan, Mrs. J. H. Hale, Vera Mae Bell, Doris Smith and Mrs. Arthur Wilcox. This committee is to have a report at our next meeting.

The Mills County H. D. Recommendations were read and discussed. We chose three books from our reading list for the club to decide on one to buy. The books we picked were: "The Tug and I", "The Green Grass of Wyoming" and "The Miracle of the Bells".

An exhibit committee consisting of Mrs. J. H. Hale and Mrs. Albert Tuley are to have plans for our style show by our next meeting.

Mrs. Haenisch gave a very interesting discussion on "How to Lay a Pattern".

For recreation we had a spelling match. Our hostess served a delicious beverage to the members and eight children.

The next meeting will be on Thursday, July 24 with Mrs. J. H. Hale.—Reporter.

Miss Hallie Early Is Married To
Billy W. Johnson

The marriage of Miss Hallie Early, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Early of Brownwood and former residents of Goldthwaite, to Billy Wood Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Johnson, was solemnized at the First Baptist Church Friday evening, June 20. The double ring rites were read by Rev. H. H. Hargrove.

The informal, candlelight ceremony was performed before an altar banked with palm, white and green gladioli, ester reeds, feverfew and marconi. Floor candelabra held white tapers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an afternoon dress of white embroidered marquisette with short puffed sleeves, low neckline and fitted bodice. Her hat was a creation of white tulle, off-the-face fashion with two large white flowers in the back, from which the short tulle streamers flowed. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls.

Mrs. Ellabeth Lamkin, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor and Miss Hazel Johnson, sister of the groom, served as maid of honor.

The bride's mother was attired in a model of grey bemberg sheer with black accessories and a white gladioli corsage. The groom's mother wore a salmon pink mesh dress with black accessories and a white gladioli corsage.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The three-tiered wedding cake, topped with handmade flowers, formed the central interest of the bride's table, which was decorated with white gladioli.

The bride is a graduate of Brownwood High School and attended Daniel Baker and Howard Payne Colleges. Mr. Johnson, also a graduate of Brownwood High School, served in the Navy two years, part of which he spent in the Pacific. He is now attending Howard Payne College.

For going away, Mrs. Johnson chose a white two-piece plique suit, a panama hat and white and brown accessories.

FARM AND RANCH
CHATTER

WITH LAYNE BEATY WBAP
6:00 AM Week Days—10:15 AM Sundays

Farmers around Lewisville, in Denton County, are taking a logical course in their efforts to drive down stakes which will hold their agriculture on a solid footing. They are giving thorough study to bermuda grass and Buffalo grass for pastures and for land rebuilding. Madrid clover is another favorite, for pasturing and for seed harvest, which is good this year, along with a good price.

Another thing the Lewisville farmers are doing is the complete planning of water disposal on a watershed before they build terraces. They like terraces, but they want to get the maximum benefit from them, and they say terraces aren't good unless there is some suitable place for the run-off water to go. They say they've seen roadside ditches widened and deepened because of careless water drainage from terraced fields.

Cotton insects have been worse in Texas than they are this year, but boll weavils and flea hoppers are in a healthy condition where cotton is maturing. Texas acreage is up 30 per cent over last year, and the highest since 1942, but still below the 1936-45 average. Oklahoma, with two per cent less than in 1946, is the only cotton state to reduce acreage this year.

U. S. Citizens have been to Mexico officially to observe the foot and mouth disease fight down there, report back that they are satisfied with the effectiveness of the campaign. This was the report also of the committee of Congress which made an inspection trip before passing upon the U. S. Department of Agriculture request for additional funds with which to continue U. S. participation.

One sidelight to the campaign is the switchover of many Mexican farmers from oxen power to tractor power. Oxen are susceptible to foot and mouth disease. Mules aren't, but mules and tractors both are being used to replace the older type of motive power which necessarily is being sacrificed.

More about the 2, 4-D damage to cotton fields: We learn reliably that none of the cotton accidentally dusted with the chemical weed killer in Wharton and Matagorda counties last month will be a total loss but that around 5,000 acres of cotton are being ruined. Everyone concerned seems

After a short wedding trip to Mineral Wells, the couple will be at home at 1510 Avenue B.

FALL
GARDEN PLANTING

It isn't too early to start thinking about planting that fall garden, say horticulturists of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

Now, while supply and selection of garden materials are good, the smart gardener will begin to plan and lay in supplies of seed, inoculating dust, seed testing materials, insecticides and fertilizers. Planning what to plant, when and how much is just another wise step in modern vegetable raising, the horticulturists say.

Here are a few things to do in the future fall garden site that will start things off right. "Shave" the plot where the garden will go. Add well-rotted barnyard fertilizer, applied broadcast, and plow or spade it in near the top of the ground. Keep the site well pulverized, and watered if it needs moisture. Start now controlling weeds and grasses, to get a headstart on the pests.

GALA TECHNICOLOR WARNER MUSICAL AT MELBA TUESDAY

Another of Warner Bros.' star-studded, tuneful and joyous Technicolor musicals begins a local engagement at the Melba on Tuesday and Wednesday. It is "The Time, The Place and The Girl," starring the popular screen combination of Dennis Morgan and Jack Carson, and, for plenty of romantic interest, Martha Vickers and Janis Paige. The film spins an entertaining story of a night club-singer (Morgan) and an orchestra leader (Carson) whose plans for opening a night club are temporarily stymied by Ladislaus Cassel's (S. Z. Sakall's) stuffy manager, (played by Donald Woods) who feels that the noise emanating from the club will greatly disturb the musical genius. Threatened with an injunction, Steve Ross (Dennis Morgan), the singer, takes the bull by the horns and wins Cassel and his beautiful granddaughter, Vicki (Martha Vickers), over to his side. When Steve's ex-girl Elaine (Angela Greene) runs off with John Braden (Alan Hale), the wealthy Texas oil man who has promised to back Steve's and Jeff's (Jack Carson's) musical comedy venture, Cassel and Vicki again come to the fore but meet with some unexpected opposition.

"MY BROTHER TALKS TO HORSES" STORY OF COLORFUL CAPTIVATING CHARACTERS

The captivating story of a youngster whose proclivity for "talking" to horses alters the entire fortunes of his household brings "Butch" Jenkins to the Melba screen in "My Brother Talks to Horses." It is a role which will endear him even more with the millions of fans who have proclaimed him the leading child actor of his day.

Laid in a picturesquely nostalgic setting of Baltimore at the turn of the century, "My Brother Talks to Horses" presents one of the most delightful and eccentric families seen on the screen since the memorable "You Can't Take It With You" household. First there is nine-year-old Lewie Penros ("Butch") who not only communes with horses but who can go nowhere without being trailed by a variegated parade of canine admirers; who does his best to find out just how a chicken lays an egg (and yearns to duplicate the feat!), and who has a system of pronouncing multi-syllable words that is uniquely his own.

At the Melba Saturday night prevue, Sunday and Monday.

They enjoyed their visit and the most delicious lunch they served at the noon hour.

Would be glad to get more news from the people of the Star community. Just write your news and leave it in the Postoffice or with me, Mrs. A. B. Soules.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

CARNATION TROOP II

Carnation Troop II met at the Little House on Monday July 14, 1947. The new officers took their offices. Sybil, our chairman, called the meeting to order. Since Annette Lindsey is away for the summer, Monette was nominated patrol leader of the Wren Patrol. Since we are taking up outdoor badges this summer we elected assistant patrol leaders. Bobbie Blackburn is assistant patrol leader for the Robin Patrol. Jane Long is the assistant patrol leader of the Wren Patrol.

We then finished our talks.

The patrols gave their Investiture Ceremony.

Our patrol leaders and assistant patrol leaders, with Mrs. McLean and Mrs. Saylor, are to meet to discuss our new badge work, on Thursday afternoon at 4 p. m.

A letter was read from Miss Bobbie Wash, the Area Girl Scout Executive, telling how glad she was the three girls, Angeline, Marvina and Bobbie, could come to the camp. She sent their certificates on Badge Work which they accomplished while in camp.

We closed with songs. Scribe—Peggy Sue Greathouse

Our WASHINGTON Letter

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

FUEL FOR INFLATION

The cockiest man in Washington these days is old John L. Lewis. A reporter who was present when Lewis signed the new contracts with the coal operators told me the mine worker's Dictator beamed and boasted of his power.

As you know, the new agreement ups hourly wages of miners from an average of $1.47 to almost $2. In addition, the direct royalty tax imposed on each ton of coal is doubled to 10 cents. The total take in this fund will now approximate $35 million a year, perhaps a little more.

The impact of this increase will be reflected in the increased cost of living to the American people. The price of coal will jump about 75 cents a ton to the consumer. Industry will, of course, pass the increased cost on to the consumer of manufactured goods. And so it goes.

The new contract was made under pressure from the steel industry. It was that industry that in February of last year yielded to CIO's Phil Murray's demands after the big strike and resulted in the Government wage stabilization program being discarded. Then followed the upsurge of wages and prices, and the cost of living boomed. So from the standpoint of the welfare of the worker, Murray's paper victory was of little value.

Indeed, in August of 1946, the AFL smarting from the sting of the increased cost of living, put the blame squarely on the tactics of the CIO in breaking the wage line. Here is what AFL said about it: Practically the entire living-cost rise has occurred since the steel workers forced the price-ceiling break in February, and as a direct result of that break."

It follows that the Lewis victory may be a paper victory, as was that of Phil Murray. It will mean the miner's dollar will not buy quite as much, and other workers will make similar demands. Wage levels will advance and so will the cost of what the worker buys. The family budget for all people will have to be worked up.

In forcing the big concessions from the coal operators, Lewis snarled and roared defiance at Congress. He boasted that he would beat every member who voted for the Taft-Hartley bill.

The coal miners boss had good reason for not liking the new labor bill. Among other curbs, it requires that welfare funds such as those for the miners, must be under a joint control of industry and the union. That means that Lewis cannot dictate the spending of that $35 million a year, and he doesn't like it. In the past he has used sizable sums of money in political campaigns, and that authority will be curbed in the future.

Another labor czar who was in the news last week was Cesar Petrillo, President of the American Federation of Musicians. As such, he rules with an iron hand over what music can be recorded, what bands can broadcast, etc. It is said his monopoly control over the professional musicians of the country equals or perhaps exceeds that of John L. Lewis over the coal miners.

As a member of a House Labor sub-committee, I questioned Petrillo at length regarding his future plans. He said he will not make new contracts with any recording companies after present ones expire in December, and that beginning on February 1st, no big-time bands will be permitted to broadcast over the networks.

The Music Dictator admitted the Taft-Hartley law has curbed much of his power, such as requiring stand-by union orchestras to be paid when amateurs are broadcasting. He said if permitted by anti-trust laws, his union may become the exclusive makers of records in the future. The committee is probing all power, and plans to recommend needed laws to further protect music lovers and the American people from his abuses.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Life" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ Scientist, on Sunday, July 20.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup; thou maintainest my lot... Thou wilt shew me the path of life" (Psalms 16:5, 11).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon, is the following from the Bible: "Yet the Lord will command his loving-kindness in the daytime, and in the night his song shall be with me, and my prayer unto the God of my life" (Psalms 42:8).

Mr. Jess Rasco and family went to Brownwood to Church Sunday night.

HILLSIDE MISSION

—By LIDA BYRNE

A woman who has recently been through considerable bodily affliction, said to me: "I expect to get well". Job, in all his afflictions had faith. In Job, chapter 23 he says: "When he hath tried me, I shall come forth as gold." Some of us are not that optimistic. Some of us borrow trouble, and borrowed trouble is never paid back, it just stays with the one who borrows it.

Some people, like Job, are tried; for God's Word says in Psalms 34:19: "Many are the afflictions of the righteous, but the Lord delivereth him out of them all."

We are told "nothing but sunshine makes the desert." Clouds are also needed. Some trials make us appreciate the good when it comes. "The darkest hour is just before the dawn." Jesus said in St. John 14:1 "Let not your heart be troubled; ye believed in God, believe also in me."

MISS DREUCKHAMMER AND MR. WUISTINGER UNITED IN MARRIAGE

MR. AND MRS. BENJAMIN WUISTINGER

Rev. A. H. Muehlbrad read the wedding ceremony June 12th, when Miss Lorene Druceckhammer and Benjamin Wuistinger were married in the Zion Lutheran Church at Priddy in a double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Druceckhammer of Priddy and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wuistinger of Pottsville.

Miss Charlene Druceckhammer was maid of honor and Norman Druceckhammer was best man. The bridesmaids were Miss Merline Lubke and Miss Berniece Tiemann and the groomsmen were Harvey Wuistinger and Georgie Schuman. The brides attendants wore carnation corsages on net-formals in pastel colors.

The flower girl, Patricia Ann Teinert was attended by Robert Ray Tiemann. Gayland Marwitz was ring bearer.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional white satin gown and a finger tip veil which fell from a lace halo. She carried a white Bible topped with a lovely arrangement of white carnations.

Mrs. Herbert Marwitz and Mrs. H. A. Teinert sang, "I Love You Truly" accompanied by Miss Malinda Mieman.

The elaborate reception, at the home of the bride's parents, was enjoyed by a large number of guests.

T. J. Watson, Center City Soil Conservation group leader, has corn on land following oats two years and corn following vetch and oats two years. Corn following vetch is much greener and approximately 2 feet taller than corn following oats.

W. W. Boykin whose farm is located in the Star Conservation group recently harvested 150 lbs. of vetch and approximately 8 bushels of wheat per acre, valued at $16.00 per acre for wheat and $32.00 per acre for vetch, from a fertilized plot. Unfertilized wheat in the same field made approximately 10 bushels of wheat per acre.

H. P. Beard of the Caradan Conservation group has 14 acres of Madrid Clover that 200 sheep grazed for 3 weeks. The sheep were not out of the field during the 3 weeks.

Dewey Gerald, Caradan Conservation group, stated his land has been worked in cotton for 50 years before he bought it. In the summer of '46 he could hardly plow it. Big clods would come to the surface when he plowed. After one year of growing vetch on the land, he is plowing his stubble and he states the land is much easier to plow and clods are very easy to break.

Jim Soules, Star Conservation group, has 28 acres of Madrid clover that has made a good growth on oat stubble land where oats were harvested. Mr. Soules is of the opinion that steers that are grazing this field are gaining 3 lbs. daily with no supplemental feed.

Weldon Hill and children spent last week-end in Temple with Mrs. Weldon Hill who underwent an operation in the Scott and White Hospital. Mrs. Hill is doing fine and expecting to be home soon.

Dr. Graves said that Goldth- waite was receiving a great honor to have the annual Show and Sale here for two successive years, and invited the Lions and other business men to come out and help eat up the barbeque.

The club voted to buy 200 metal plates to be attached to auto license plates advertising the Goldthwaite Eagle football team, and to sell them and give the profits toward buying shoes for the team.

Dr. T. C. Graves, appointed at last meeting to investigate the fly and mosquito situation here, read a letter from the office of the State Health Department to Dr. Ruel Slaughter, county-city health officer, concerning spray- ing of homes with DDT. After a discussion, the club decided to ask Dr. Slaughter's advice about a city-wide insect spray- ing campaign for Goldthwaite.

Lion President Saegert brought up the matter of the club spon- soring one of President Tru- man's Highway Safety Programs now appearing in The Eagle, at a cost of $17.50 to the club, and one member immediately said he was against it and the matter was dropped without even being submitted to a vote. President Truman's highway accident pre- vention program is now simul- taneously in all good weekly newspapers in the United States and was brought about to try to prevent the useless slaughter on the streets and highways of 10- 000 people in this country dur- ing the rest of the year. There are 13 weekly programs in the series, and they have been spon- sored in The Eagle to date by:

The Trent State Bank.
City of Goldthwaite Utilities.
Harry F. Edmonson Post American Legion.
Mills County Post No. 4377 Veterans of Foreign Wars.
Six other ads in the series have already been contracted for and The Eagle hopes to be able to change the Lion Club's member's mind who was against it in time to have that club

Goldthwaite beat Dublin four to two in the Brazos League game and won from Coryell City seven to six for the right to enter the State Tournament at Waco. UNIFORMITY SPELLS SAFETY

No sympathy can be spared the automobile driver who, through carelessness or deliberate disregard of safety or traffic regulations, is involved in a fatal traffic accident. Yet consider the plight of the driver who innocently crashed his automobile into another one or ran down a pedestrian because he did not know the traffic regulations of the locality in which he was driving at the time.

This can easily happen. It does happen daily—especially during these months of tourist travel—because of the amazing lack of uniformity in traffic regulations throughout the nation. Differences in regulations and traffic control devices make for confusion and misunderstanding which increase fatalities on our streets and highways. Tourists often don't know what to expect in arm signals, light dimming and other rules, with the result that they innocently become involved in accidents or violations while acting in good faith.

Speed limits vary from state to state, a right-turn arm signal in one state means left turn in another. SLOW and STOP signs in one region look like route markers in the next. The unhappy motorist cannot be expected to memorize the varying rule books of 48 different states.

What, then, can be done to help the individual driver reduce highway accidents and save lives? An important and much needed step is a concerted effort to standardize traffic laws, so that we shall have greater uniformity and more consistent enforcement. We must bring order to our confused and variable systems of traffic regulation.

The time and effort expended by state and local legislative bodies in making their traffic control conform with that of other states would be well justified if even one of the many lives lost could be saved by such actions. The cost would be insignificant in comparison with the two billion dollars in economic loss caused last year by traffic accidents.

JUST A PUSH

—By Sam Say

There continues much complaint about shortage of newspaper paper.

One publisher said last week: "I have gathered up odds and ends in order to get out the present issue"—Another publisher complained that if the acute shortage of print paper continued he would be forced to reduce the size of the periodical, saying too that prices had become a matter of concern, saying that "I recently paid one thousand one hundred and seventy dollars for paper to get out a single issue."

It is most evident that the paper we so readily destroy is costing others large money. We are truly accused of being a wasteful people but nothing comes to our hands with which we are so destructive as paper. We mutilate and tear and burn as though it came down in tons from the clouds above.

The south has some thoughtful men who recently have planned to fill in the gap and doctor up this paper shortage.

In the little town Childersburg, Alabama, among the pine forests, there has been concentrated 30 millions of dollars to establish a factory for production of print paper only. The industry will need to draw on 500 thousand acres of pinery for pulp. At this time it is reported that two hundred and fifty thousand acres have already been purchased.

The techni-botanist tell us that our mild weather climate produces pulp wood trees so much sooner from start than the rigorous northern climate from which county comes most of our production. The spruce tree is said to require from thirty to fifty years growth before reaching a good pulp stage while the southern pine requires from fifteen to twenty years.

That seems to be a long look in order to meet adequate requirements but many large matters can't happen over night.

You understand of course that I am rambling in a field of science second handed but I have always admired the genius of man's highest productivity. If all ledge had made him a better man morally, I'd be ready to invent, his climbing the steeps of scientific knowledge—Man's progress in the material world, his astounding to shout.

Many are pointing out to us a dangerous decadence and a crash in the near future.

They could be sounding a prophetic note. I do not know. Such forebodings carries a sense of expectancy because of guilt.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Light on the Problem Of Human Suffering

LESSON TEXT FOR JULY 20—Job 1:8; 2:7-10; 19:7-10; 42:1-3; James 5:11.

MEMORY SELECTION—Thou therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ.—II Timothy 2:3.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D., of The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

HUMAN suffering—what a problem it is to all of us, in greater or smaller measure. From the broken heart of men and women comes the question "Why?"

We cannot always answer, nor do we fully know the meaning and purpose. We must often simply put ourselves and our loved ones into the hands of God, trusting him to bring us into assurance and victory.

There are some things we can know, and they are most helpful. The book of Job reveals much concerning the background of suffering and its uses and advantages. It is not all loss and pain. God does not forget his people in their hour of trial.

Job had suffered the loss of property, family, and was now personally afflicted by sickness of his body. His friends who came to comfort him had added to his troubles by their pious platitudes about suffering being the result of sin (cf. John 9:3), and so on.

There was enough truth in what they said to make it hurt, and so we are doubly glad we are given a look behind the scenes. We learn that this was not a struggle between God and Job, nor even between Satan and Job. We see

I. The Battle Between God and Satan (Job 1:8).

READ the entire story here and you will see that Satan, when faced by God with the godly example of Job's life, threw down a challenge. He declared that the only reason Job loved God was because he received so much good out of it, because God protected him.

The issue was clearly drawn; the question was whether God was able to keep a man in the midst of trial and suffering. Was His grace sufficient for the dark hours of life as well as the happy and bright ones?

Having stripped Job of all his possessions, and left him childless and heart broken, Satan had to admit failure up to that point. But he sneeringly slandered both Job and God by saying that Job was not concerned about these other things so long as his own body was unharmed (2:4, 5).

So the Lord permitted him to afflict Job's body, and we see the conflict raging in

II. The Battleground—the Life of Job (2:7-10; 19:7-10).

THE mystery of God's permissive will enters into the picture here, and we learn too that Satan, while a mighty being, has limits to his power. God may give him liberty to test his people, but it is never with the thought that they will fall; rather to prove that they can stand true come what may.

Was any mortal ever more afflicted than Job? We find him finally an outcast, sitting on an ash heap, scraping the awful sores upon his poor body.

Job did have his times of questioning and doubt (19:7-10). He felt at times that God had forsaken him. He misunderstood the providences of God. But through it all he held on to his faith in God. He could do without his possessions (1:21). God could even take his life and he would say, "Though he slay me, yet will I trust him." He saw beyond the grave; for he knew that if his body were destroyed he would still see his Redeemer.

What more sublime expression of faith could a man make than to say in his hour of seeming despair, "I know that my Redeemer liveth."

How did it all come out in the end? That is our last point.

III. The Outcome—Victory for God in Job (42:1-5; James 5:11).

JOB had to come to the end of himself. Judging himself to be unworthy (42:6), he repented of all his own self-righteousness and cast himself upon the mercy of God. God then vindicated him and restored him to a place of blessing and usefulness.

The answer then to our problem is this—God is able to keep to the uttermost those who put their trust in him (Heb. 7:25) through the grace he gives. Suffering may be in his permissive will for our own self-judgment and growth in grace. But back of it all is the assurance that God knows about it, he has not turned away; that in due season, if we faint not, we shall see victory.

Ultimately, the question is not whether we can stand or not, but whether God is able to keep us in the midst of the onslaught of the world, the flesh and the devil. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Swing Of Southwest Farm Markets

By USDA

Most southwest farm products found fully steady to strong markets last week, but many fruits and vegetables and a few livestock sold lower, according to the Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

After early-week declines, spot cotton scored sharp advances following the July 7 acreage report, and netted gains of $8.50 to $11.00 per bale. Grain markets developed generally strong tendencies last week. Corn netted little change, for cash premium reductions offset futures market rises. An average crop of 2.6 billion bushels is forecast—675 million less than last year.

Eggs and poultry of good quality found steady to firm markets last week, and lower grades held around steady. Fort Worth bought most eggs on candled grade at 47 cents per dozen for select whites, 44 to 45 for best mixed, and 40 to 42 for medium.

Most sheep and lambs gained 25 cents to $1 or more last week. Medium to good spring lambs brought $18 to $20 at San Antonio.

Butcher hogs and sows sold 50 cents to $1.75 higher at southwest markets last week, while stocker and feeder pigs dropped mostly $1 to $2. Good and choice barrows and gilts topped at $25 at San Antonio, $25.50 at Fort Worth.

Only minor weak spots marred a generally advancing cattle market last week. Houston paid $25 for choice club yearlings, and $14 to $20 for common to medium steers and yearlings. Good fed yearlings drew $26.50 at Oklahoma City and steers mostly $23.50 to $27.50 at Denver.

POOLING EFFORTS FOR PROFITS

College Station, July 7—Hemilton County legume growers believe it takes organization to move a million and a half pounds of vetch and clover seed. After small scale tryouts, the farmers have gone all out and formed a country-wide legume growers association, reports Hamilton County Agriculture Agent E. R. Lawrence.

Last year, when 18 farmers planted and harvested hairy vetch seed, they made $3,500 extra by pooling and marketing their seed together. Seeing possibilities, the group formed itself into a small association and the number of farmers planting vetch for seed jumped to 250. Since there is a big demand for legume seed, the growers then organized on a county-wide basis, drew up by-laws and received a charter from Austin.

Going into action, the association is constructing a 40 by 100 foot steel, concrete-floored building to house a vetch and clover cleaning machine. They estimate a 1,500,000 pound legume seed crop this year.

U. S. Imports of honey are three times as large thus far in 1947 as compared with a year ago. Cuba, Canada and Chili are the leading exporters.

At present prices of cotton and cotton seed, no grower can afford to lose the one bale out of seven which insects normally steal.

FOR YOUR SAFETY

Every known facility for safe operation and control of an automobile is built into it. These safety features have been given gruelling tests, they have been proved and perfected by years of the finest engineering experience. But their maintenance and handling are up to you. Safe driving depends upon the efficient operation of these factors.

Watch your steering gear for excessive play—keep your brakes in trim, inspect tires for weaknesses that may result in blowouts. Be sure all lights are working, "one-eyed" cars are dangerous. Check your mirror for clear rear-vision. Be sure your horn works—but don't abuse its use. Do your windshield wipers wipe?

Remember, no matter how good the safety features of your car—they are only as good as your ability to control them. If you are overtired from driving strain—stop, rest, drink a cup of coffee. If you are mentally or nervously upset, let someone else drive. If you've been drinking, stay off the road.

Keep your car—and yourself—always in condition for safe motoring.

OLD MAN 100—

"who'd want Rush-a, anyway? Them Big Shots popping off now and them Big Bums popping off sooner or later has got the Old Man worked up to where he is willing to now give ALL his 11 dollar salary (7th permit'in) to taxes—instead of the measly one-third which he is now drivin' willin'ly (?) for the upkeep of them foreign countries which are not smart enough (like US) to unspoke themselves. The Old Man jest read where everybody works (that is, over here) four days a week for himself and two days for them tax-eaters to govern us and keep us from runnin' over one another. Somebody, sometime, somewhere should start feeling sorry for the US (us suckers). Well, anyway it don't bother the Old Man too much—the 7th ailus gets what's left after taxes anyway.

WHAT YOU'RE THINKIN'—

A very successful business man—who the Old Man says is the best salesman in town—told the Old Man this one, and he could have been one of the characters in the play if it happened at Street's tank about 35 or 40 years ago: A young lady professional swimmer got so tired of people staring at her in her bathing suit when she put on exhibitions that she went out west and stayed on a ranch for two or three weeks. She would take long walks every day, and one day when she came to a tank she looked all around and couldn't see anybody in ten miles, so she stripped off and went in swimming. She did all her fancy strokes and dives for a while and then looked up to see an urchin on the bank tying knots in her unmentionables. She got mighty mad, and seeing an old tub on the bank she swam to it, held it in front of her and walked up to the urchin and said: "You little devil! Do you know what I'm thinking?" And the urchin said: "Yes'm, you thinkin' there's a bottom in that tub."

PLAYING MR. AND MRS.—

The Old Man's sistern-law told him this: A big business man named Jones had a very efficient secretary named Miss Smith. Sometimes when Mr. Jones had to travel he took Miss Smith along to help with the details. Onct they were returning home from a business trip and were all tired out. They decided to stop for the night at a little jerkwater town, but could not get nothing but a single room with two single beds at the small hotel. The hotel man jest hung a sheet between the beds for a curtain. Here's what happened after they undressed and went to bed. Miss Smith—

"Oh, Mr. Jones, I just happened to think you have a very important engagement at 8 in the mornin'." Mr. Jones—"Thank you, Miss Smith, for reminding me." Miss Smith—"And also, Mr. Jones, you have another engagement at nine." Mr. Jones—"Thank you again, Miss Smith." Miss Smith—"And I happened to think you have still another appointment at ten." Mr. Jones—"Miss Smith you have been working for me for ten years and I have never tried to get familiar with you, have I?" Miss Smith—"No, Mr. Jones." Mr. Jones—"Then why don't we play like we are Mr. and Mrs. just for tonight?" Miss Smith—"He, he, I think that's a grand idea, Mr. Jones." Mr. Jones—"Then shut up your blamed mouth and go to sleep."

DOUBLE TROUBLES—

Old Man Hummert's troubles are coming in doubles lately. Now that it's rained some and the Big Boss knows how the 7th like he would let the Old Man alone. But here's what happened: Last Saturday p. m. the Stingy Boss carefully counted out a bunch of Eagles and told the Old Man to go down on the bank corner and sell 'em—or else—and for 5c apiece, too. Now them Eagles, if anything at all, is worth a half of 1 per cent of 5c. Well, after the Old Man stood in the sun for two hours holding out papers and only sold two, he got another of his many bright ideas and started hollerin'. "Extra. Extra. Two men swindled. Read all about it!" A man came along and bought one—but said: "Here, old man, I don't see anything about two men being swindled." And the Old Man hollered: "Extra. Extra. Read all about it. Three men swindled."

And onct when the Old Man was living on the farm a sweet young thing visitor asked him: "How do you tell the ganders from the geese?" And the Old Man answered: "Oh, we never worry about that—just turn 'em all out together and let them figure it out for themselves."

And one time when the Old Man was a night watchman he was holding his lantern so a couple could see how to spoon. He said: "Young man, are you going to kiss that girl?" Young Man—"Oh, no, sir." Old Man—"Here, then. Hold this lantern." The Old Man used to be mighty quick at figures. Onct when he was a theatrical manager he hired ten chorus girls in five minutes.

And also the Old Man notices that a lot of girls, if they don't marry at 18 or 20, hang around that age until they do.
