General Canham Thanks City For Many Courtesies

Major General Charles D. W. Canham, who commands the 82nd Airborne Division, and his staff, Colonel C. W. G. ... came to Goldthwaite on Tuesday afternoon of this week to thank President pro tempore ... of the City of Goldthwaite for the courtesies that have been extended here to their paratroopers during the Army-Air Force maneuver, since Longhorn.

The 82nd Airborne Division is scheduled to start the re-journey to Fort Bragg, N. C. on Thursday of this week. Paratroopers were due to leave at Fort Bragg, by surface transport, on Thursday of next week.

General Canham and Mills County were so kind to all of us while we were in your midst that we plan to come back next year," General Canham told Mr. Moreland.

Mr. Moreland praised the conduct of the 82nd Airborne Division troops while in area and thanked General Canham for the great contribution that entertainers from the paratroopers made to the recent Goldthwaite Lions Style Show.

General Canham told Mr. Moreland that his assistant Division Commander, Brigadier General Joseph P. Cleland, has received orders taking him to duty in Korea. Along with General Canham and Colonel ... General Cleland recently had a dinner guest of the local Club.

General Canham and Colonel Rich here on Monday Mr. Moreland enthusiastically endorsed the action of a group of Lampasas citizens who have written to Governor Shivers recommending that all members of the 82nd Airborne Division be made honorary citizens of Texas.

Robbers Of Post Office At Mullin Seized Quickly

Swift action by Sheriff C. F. Stubblefield, Texas Ranger Clarence Nordyke and U. S. Postal Inspectors this week resulted in apprehension at Midland of three suspects who are believed to have participated in a robbery of the Mullin Post Office last Sunday night.

On Wednesday of this week Sheriff Stubblefield was in Midland, where the suspects—who are NOT residents of Mills County—were picked up on the basis of an alarm that was sent out after entry into the Post Office at Mullin, where Ernest Lynn Fisher is Postmaster.

In the course of the robbery, in which, apparently, a pickup vehicle was used for transportation, a safe was removed after the door of the Mullin Post Office had been pried open.

The safe was taken into the open countryside on the old Wire Road west of Mullin, where the burglars broke into it and removed cash amounting to approximately $50.00.

Postage stamps that were in the safe-keeping of Postmaster Fisher either were overlooked or were ignored by the robbers in their haste to make off with the safe which, it was estimated, weighed about 400 pounds.

News of the entry into the Mullin Post Office immediately sent law enforcement officers into action, including agents of the United States Government. Uncle Sam, it was pointed out, takes a very dim view of trespassing on government property and retribution almost invariably is swift in cases of violations of property of the United States Department of the Post Office or mail entrusted to its care.

So far as is known, there was no tampering with mail in the Mullin Post Office since cash appeared to have been the primary objective of the burglars.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dennard and children of Jal, New Mexico spent the Easter holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dennard, and other relatives.

Commissioners Meet

The Mills County Commissioners Court met at the Mills County Court House last Monday. The Commissioners transacted routine business, including approval of the quarterly report of County Treasurer Bertha Weathers, which is published as an advertisement on another page of this week's Eagle. Johnson of Goldthwaite, who submitted to major surgery at the Scott and White Memorial Hospital in Temple last Monday, was reported making favorable progress toward recovery as the Eagle went to press this week. Amos And Solly Place "Ad" For Six Inches Rain

The ultra ultra or something like that in advertising is to be found on the classified advertising page of this week's Eagle in the form of an "ad" by A. W. "Uncle Amos" Lilly and his partner, C. L. "Solly" Featherston. Their advertisement reads as follows:

"Wanted At Once—A Good Six Inch Rain."

Here's hoping that the advertisement gets results. Anybody who can deliver is invited to telephone Goldthwaite number 5.

When "Uncle Amos" and "Solly" bought their advertising space a warm, drying wind was blowing. At about the same time, Harry Allen was reporting that on Wednesday of last week he measured .11 of an inch of rain and that on Friday his measurement for the U. S. Weather Bureau was .7 of an inch, making a total of .81 of an inch of rain in Goldthwaite for last week. There has been NO rain since then—at least not up until Wednesday night of this week.

Last week Edwin H. Hapgood, the sage of Rancho Neuces-Seco in Big Valley measured .84 of an inch of rain — .12 on Wednesday and .72 on Friday. It was slow and soaking and did not put any water into his glorified tank, more properly known as (Continued on Back Page.)

Jack Cooksey Is School Chairman

The Board of Trustees of the Mullin Independent School District organized on Tuesday night of this week when Jack Cooksey, Jr., was elected Chairman. Hubert Reeves was elected Vice Chairman and Glynn Sanders was elected Secretary. Other business that was transacted at the meeting was of a routine nature.

Bank Remodeling

Remodeling of the quarters of the Mills County State Bank, formerly the Trent State Bank, proceeded apace this week. What with the knocking out of the wall between the bank and the former location of the Coffee Shop, into which the bank quarters will expand, and the sifting of dust and plaster as the mezzanine of the bank was raised, lowered or partially eliminated, Cashier Dumble Hamilton complained about keeping his hair clean. (What hair?) Mr. Hamilton will have to be worrying about dust on his bald pate for another two or three weeks, according to present calculations.

Were Your Children Counted In Census?

Any parents of children of school age who may not have had their children enumerated in the school census that has just been completed were urged this week to communicate with County Judge Lewis B. Porter, who also is Superintendent of Schools, ex-officio, for Mills County. Judge Porter emphasized the importance of including all children of school age in the enumeration so that the full benefit of the count of scholars may be enjoyed by the schools of the County.

City Council Asks Resignation Of Charlie T. Wilson As Mayor

The Goldthwaite City Council, which unanimously requested the resignation of Charlie T.

Wilson as Mayor at a meeting on Thursday night of last week, was awaiting developments as the Eagle went to press this week.

The requested resignation has not yet been received, according to Jesse Moreland, President pro tempore of the City Council. Pending action by Mr. Wilson, if any, the City Council as yet has not made a public statement to explain its reasons for requesting the resignation of the Mayor.

William G. Yarborough, attorney for Mr. Wilson, said that for the time-being he had no public comment or statement to make in the matter. Mr. Yarborough was called into the Council meeting on Thursday night of last week to represent the Mayor.

So far as was known, Mr. Wilson was out of town. The next regularly scheduled meeting of the Goldthwaite Municipal Council is not due until the night of Monday, May 5.

Mr. Wilson was elected Mayor in voting on April 1 by a count of 262 ballots as against 197 ballots for his opponent, Howard Hoover. The Mayor was installed in office on the night of April 7, taking his oath of office from the retiring Mayor, Loy Long. The request for his resignation came approximately 72 hours later.

Since the Council meeting of Thursday night of last week, Aldermen have obtained legal advice upon possible procedures to be taken, depending upon developments. Developments, it was understood, were contingent upon what the response might be to the City Council's request that the Mayor resign.

Also at the Council meeting on Thursday night of last week the Aldermen unanimously approved committee appointments and gave unanimous approval to the appointment of W. C. Barnett as City Treasurer. Such matters are dealt with in the Minutes as published in full in this week's Eagle.

At its meeting on the night of Monday, April 7, the City Council elected Alderman Moreland as its President pro tempore and it reelected Raymond Summy as City Secretary.

In announcing plans for the occasion Harold D. Roberson, Chairman of the 1952 Muster of the Aggies, urged all former Texas A. & M. students to gather, along with members of their families—including parents, wives and children—and to be sure to invite men hereabouts in the Armed Services and who may be Aggie men.

This year's Muster will be marked by a picnic supper, which each Aggie will provide for himself, his family and his guests, Mr. Roberson said.

SENATOR CONNALLY'S ANNOUNCEMENT

The countless persons in Texas, throughout the United States and in many countries beyond our shores who have admired and respected Senator Tom Connally for his distinguished services to his State and Nation will be gratified, we believe, by his announcement that, after all, he will not be a candidate for reelection.

We have been among those who had wished that Senator Connally would decide to retire, full of the honor that is his due, rather than engage, at his age, in a contest to remain in public life. After 35 years in Congress — 12 years in the House of Representatives and 23 years in the Senate — Senator Connally, at the age of almost 75, has told the people of Texas what his friends have been telling him. That is, that his Senate service has been a crushing burden and that "I will not engage in a bitter, arduous and taxing campaign in order to continue to carry this burden."

By making his announcement, Senator Connally has taken his rightful place among our Elder Statesmen. Had he not made that announcement, many of those who regarded him with affectionate esteem and who recognized his accomplishments would, like ourselves, have had to continue in the position of opposing him on the grounds that the burden Senator Connally has been carrying ought to be transferred to the shoulders of a younger man.

For several months it has been our opinion that the man who is most fitted to take Senator Connally's place in Washington is Texas Attorney General Price Daniel. He is an announced candidate for the United States Senate, subject to the July 26 Democratic primary election in Texas. We believe that no one will be more gratified than Attorney General Price Daniel that he now will be able to wage his campaign for nomination and election to the U. S. Senate without having to dim the luster that accompanies the name of Senator Connally because of his half a century of public service. Before going to Washington as a Congressman, Senator Connally had been in public life in Texas for 15 years.

As our tribute to Senator Connally, we publish in the following paragraphs the full text of his announcement of last Sunday night, feeling that all of those who know him will endorse completely his statements about his own service. Here is Senator Connally's announcement:

To: The People of Texas. I have served you for 12 years in the House of Representatives and for 23 years in the United States Senate. Whatever ability I possess has been devoted to your interests and to the interests of the people of the United States.

During all of that time there has never been any intimation from any source that I have done anything that would reflect upon my integrity or upon my devotion to the public office.

After long and careful consideration over the months, I have concluded that I do not desire to be a candidate in the primaries in Texas for renomination to the United States Senate. I have never made a formal announcement of such a candidacy. I have never filed any application to have my name placed on the ticket. For these and other reasons of purely personal character, I have not and will not file an application for my name to be placed upon the ticket.

I want to express to the people of Texas my abiding gratitude for the honors they have paid me, and to my friends and the public generally my heartfelt thanks for all of their consideration.

In the discharge of my duties in the Congress, I have voted my honest convictions and my honest convictions alone. My course has been an independent one following no dictates from any source, sanction, or group as to the course I should pursue. I have stood upon my record and upon no one else's record. I have endeavored faithfully and honestly and efficiently to represent the people of Texas and the people of the United States. I have had no other interests, material or otherwise, except to perform my duty and to do that which I regarded as in the interests of the public welfare and the interests of the people whom I represent.

During my service I have come to know the stress, the crushing burden and the heavy responsibilities of service in the Senate. I will not engage in a bitter, arduous and taxing campaign in order to continue to carry this burden. My record in the past is evidence of my devotion to duty. I have been honored and my record has been approved many times and I want the people of Texas and the public and my beloved friends to know of my unmeasured gratitude for all that they have done for me. My interest in them shall continue and my devotion to the public welfare will continue, and with a deep sense of gratitude I make this report to them of my desire not again to seek re-election to the high and honorable office which they have conferred upon me.

The impending retirement of Senator Connally is a matter of international interest — primarily because he has been Chairman of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee for so long. But if the Republicans should win Senate control next November, he would have lost that post anyway. Whatever happens in November, Senator Connally will be in a position to give objective advice, free of partisan considerations, on the basis of his long experience. In retiring, full of honors and distinction, he need not feel that his usefulness to his country is over.

GUEST EDITORIAL

(Editor's Note: The federal Government's seizure of the steel industry last week plunged the country into another great debate that may be expected to continue until the November elections because of the struggle between advocates of free enterprise and those who are for socialism—which means basically ownership of the means of production by the state. In commenting on the manner in which President Truman handled the matter in which he ignored the Taft Hartley Law—the Houston Chronicle declared editorially that we have a labor government in Washington. Following is the editorial from the Houston Chronicle in full.)

The developments in the field of labor and management relations this week make it clear that this government is now being operated as a labor government, such as England was under Clement Attlee, with the important distinction that union leaders in the United States have to accept none of the responsibilities growing out of the power they exercise.

President Truman made a speech on Tuesday night which could not have pleased Philip Murray, head of the steelworkers union, more if he had written it himself. It was a completely partisan utterance.

The Chronicle does not believe that errors of judgement have not been committed by the steel management or that the steel companies are entitled to whatever price increase they see fit to demand. But at the same time it is utterly unconvinced that union labor in the steel industry is entitled to what the Wage Stabilization Board gave it and that the award does not do damage to the nation's wage and price stabilization policy.

Mr. Truman's position today is at the opposite pole from that which he occupied on the occasion of the 1946 railroad strike when he wanted to draft strikers into the army. And yet there is a resemblance because then and now, the President lost his head. He was not exercising good judgment in either instance.

All of those citizens who are not a part of organized labor nor in management do not have to be told that Mr. Truman's trend has been to accept more and more domination from labor union bosses. The Murrys, the Lewis and the Greens have become dictators on the political scene. Men previously employed by union labor and beholden to its leaders masquerade as public members of boards dealing with disputes between management and the workers. Union labor demands and gets for less than 10 per cent of the population privileges which are denied to the other 90 per cent. Laws are written with exemptions for the goons and hoodlums who engage in union terrorism.

Under such circumstances the leaders of the organized workers have no reason to want control of government such as their British counterparts have enjoyed. They are in this country the power and force behind government able to direct its activities and suffer none of the consequences that may flow from the granting of their demands.

Quote Of The Week

It happened a few days back that Sheriff C. F. Stubbiefield apprehended an alleged forger.

The accused was taken to the office of Justice of the Peace E. A. Obenhaus where, in the presence of County Attorney A. M. Pribble, the formalities of posting bond were observed.

In the course of the formalities, the accused was called upon to sign his name to the bond papers, which he did. The Sheriff took a long and careful look at the signature on the bond and then turned to the accused with the following classic remark:

"That signature that you just put on the bond papers sure enough was not the same signature that you are alleged to have been writing on those checks!"

The Eagle's Aery

By The Editor

There is some unfinished business left over from Exercise Longhorn. The editor was reminded of that when this week Mrs. Dora Goode of Star sent in her news letter. Before picking up some odds and ends, the following paragraphs contain Mrs. Goode's report on how the Star area fared during the greatest Army-Air Force maneuvers in our entire history. Here is Mrs. Goode's report:

"The war maneuvers are over, and a slow rain is settling the dust that floated over us in a white haze, blotting out the hills at times like a bad dust storm. But all in all, we saw little of the maneuvers, being on the extreme north edge. The road below us, just skirting the school house, was busy during most of the exercises with convoys coming and going and going but we couldn't see anything from our side of the village. But the roar and grind and dust was terrific. When the retreat started, with the U. S. advance, there was a lot of traffic along our street (FM Spur number 1040) for a couple of days—cannon, all kinds of vehicles, tanks—all rushing along in a mad scramble, to prevent the enemy, or to keep from being snared, we couldn't tell which.

"But it was a sad time for the dumb inhabitants of the creeks and valleys. Crows started towards the creek, circled around with a few caws, and headed back to the mountains. Squirrels stayed in the winter storehouses with only an occasional peep. One night Star was full of stray dogs—lost, crying, frightened and hungry. They had fled their homes from the grind of convoys as they surged to and fro, with the accompanying cannon blasts. Some of our little boys, disappointed at not seeing any shooting, got a batch of fire crackers, to help the U. S. forces shove the Aggressors on to the Colorado. And that was all the fireworks we heard, but it was quite in good harmony with all the dust grind and roar.

"One man reported that the army boys killed all the snakes on his place, for which he was indeed glad. Another said that all the brush on his place was mowed down—and thus there was another glad farmer. One blue farmer said all his stock was scattered and ranging twenty miles from home. Still another report is that the boys killed all the rabbits. I haven't heard, but I venture to say that there's not a fox in the whole maneuver area—from Ft. Hood to the Colorado, and from Star and Evant to Lampasas, and on down to the rough country around Pearl and Bee House."

The above report by Mrs. Dora Goode of Star served to remind the editor that in reporting in last week's Eagle on the big jump by the 508th Airborne Regimental combat team due credit was not given to L. B. Burnham, on whose land along the Colorado river many of the paratroopers found their drop zone. On the San Saba side of the river the drops were into land owned by both Mr. Burnham and Pat Kennedy.

So far as can be learned, damage from the maneuvers was not as great in Mills County as had been expected. A number of small bridges suffered, of course, and dirt roads in a number of places showed clearly where tanks had crossed. Military authorities, however, said that most of the damage to fences was by infantry and not by tanks. The fences that were cut down by the footsloggers resulted in a number of reports of lost or strayed livestock and, in all probability, it will be a while before all livestock themselves back in their pastures.

As usual, after any exercise the magnitude of the Longhorn, there is some "can be told" material. One of the events that did not get into the paper was a planned table wany of Infantry in a strip three miles south of Goldthwaite in "Flea" Division. Major General Bruce C. Clarke's First Division.

Before his forces moved, Mills County General Clark even rehearsed the "Flea" invasion of Mills County. The practice showed that in along with their weapons, ammunition, food and water, they were landed from "flea" planes three hours and ten minutes with 268 landings and being required. General Clark was disappointed that he could not treat Goldthwaite as the "Fleaborne" invasion.

The Mills County citizens went all-out to extend hospitality to visiting soldiers in numerous that it is not to mention all of them some of the acts of kindness and consideration as to For example, after Goldthwaite last week, Mr. and Mrs. Summy turned over to the Lake Merrett over to a few men who, as a result, the best night of rest that they enjoyed since the start of maneuvers. In the rain of week Mrs. E. P. Adams sympathized with military directors who were on the convoys as they seemed to be endlessly passing home but she dropped her home rushing but she them. It is for sure that Adams and the Earl be and many others like them be remembered for always a warm glow by many already are engaged in duty far away from home.

Miss Dorris Ann Ackley Becomes Bride Of Robert Miller At Sealy

Miss Dorris Ann Ackley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Ackley of Sealy, and Robert Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Miller of Goldthwaite, were united in marriage Saturday evening, March 29, when they repeated vows before the pastor in the First Baptist church of Sealy. The Rev. E. L. Barton of Sealy read the ceremony at 8 p. m. in a setting of baskets of white stock, accented by candlelight.

The traditional wedding marches were played by Mrs. J. G. Ackley, of Austin, aunt of the bride, at the piano. She also accompanied the three soloists, Glen Ackley, brother of the bride, Miss Gerry Tauber, of Sealy, and the Rev. Dick Camp of Houston. Young Mr. Ackley sang "Because," Miss Tauber, "The Lord's Prayer" in song, and Rev. Camp offered the prayer.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length formal of white lace over tulle. The strapless bodice of the gown was fitted, and the skirt was full. A white satin cape fell over the shoulders of the bride, and her fingertip length veil of illusion fell from an ornate tiara entwined with pearls. Completing her ensemble were dainty white satin shoes. She carried a white orchid over a white Bible, and a single strand of pearls was her only ornament.

Mrs. W. F. Richter, of Bellville, was the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Misses Kucera, Jo Helen Horton, Betty Buchala, and Alberta App, all of Sealy. They were attired in ankle length gowns in identical fashion, each in a different hue, in aqua, pink, green, yellow and blue. They were styled with a low neckline, short puff sleeves, and accordion-pleated skirts. Their picture hats matched their mits of net, and each carried a bouquet of daisies.

Little Misses Linda Kay Miller of Goldthwaite and Kay Ann Brune of Sealy were flower girls, gowned in white dresses. Stevie Sutton of Sealy was the ringbearer.

The groom's best man was W. F. Richter, of Bellville. Jimmie Laughlin of Goldthwaite, and John Gosler, James Brune, and Wilbert Howard of Sealy were groomsmen, and Waco Williams of Sealy and Billy Joe Heath of Goldthwaite ushered.

The bride's mother wore a natural linen dress with navy accessories, while the groom's mother selected blue with pink accents. Their corsages were purple orchids.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Sealy Public School cafeteria. A three tiered wedding cake, square in shape, was ornamented with sugar confections and topped with the traditional bride and groom.

When the couple left on a honeymoon trip the bride was wearing a baby blue linen suit with white accessories. She is a student at Sealy High School and attended Blinn Junior College. The groom, a graduate of Goldthwaite High School, is now employed with the Santa Fe Railroad. They are making their home at Sealy for the present.

Those from Goldthwaite who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Miller and children, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hudson and children, Mrs. Fred Laughlin, and Mrs. Lina McLean.

Saturday afternoon, April 12, Mrs. Walter Simpson held open house at her home in Goldthwaite from 3:30 until 5:30 in honor of Miss Earlene Nix, bride-elect of Adron Anderson of Midland. Co-hostesses for the occasion were Mmes. Truman Vaughan, Maurice Knight, and Floyd Daniel. Guests were greeted by Mrs. Knight, and in the receiving line were the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Lynn Nix, and Mrs. W. T. Anderson, of Mullin, mother of the groom-to-be.

Those who alternated in serving were Misses Yvonne Nix of Waco, Patsy and Peggy Bramblett of Mullin, and Wanda Davis of Goldthwaite, cousins of the bride-elect, and Miss Scottie Vaughan. Good-bys were said to Mmes. Vaughan and Simpson.

Approximately seventy-five guests called during the appointed hours, and many other gifts were received from those who were unable to attend.

The centerpiece was a bride doll, surrounded by snapdragons, with lavender streamers extending from the doll's hands, bearing the inscriptions "Earlene and Adron" and "June 21, 1952" in gold. Yellow tapers in crystal holders and pink napkins, inscribed in gold, completed the decor. Crystal and silver appointments were used in serving the green punch and yellow cake squares, which were iced in white and decorated with tiny pink flowers.

Arrangements of varied colored snapdragons and potted plants decorated the party rooms. The Easter color scheme was used for the refreshment table, which was laid with an ecru lace cloth over yellow.

Cecil Bryan, Jr., And Edgar Leonhard Meet In Germany

Pfc. Edgar Leonhard, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Leonhard, and Cecil Bryan, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bryan, recently had a fine reunion at Mainz, Germany, after they caught up with each other's whereabouts through the columns of the Eagle.

It happened this way: Pfc. Leonhard, who is stationed near Babenhausen, read in the Eagle that Cecil Bryan, Jr., was over at Mainz. So Edgar made the trip of about 65 miles to have a good old chin wag with somebody from Mills County.

While Edgar and Cecil were taking up all of the space available in Pfc. Bryan's barracks at Mainz along came a Sergeant and this time the Sergeant was a nice guy. He turned out to be one of Edgar Leonhard's cousins and he promptly joined in the reunion. Don't ask for the name of the cousin, please. An effort was made to obtain that information from Jimmy Leonhard of the Goldthwaite Post Office who contributed only the information that Edgar has a whole hatful of cousins and anyway, Jimmy said, that Sergeant cousin is NOT from Mills County.

NOTED CHOIR SINGS AT BAPTIST CHURCH THIS THURSDAY

Pictured above is the A Cappella Choir of Howard Payne College which was scheduled to present a varied and interesting program at the First Baptist Church of Goldthwaite at 8:00 o'clock on Thursday night of this week. The Rev. J. T. Ayers, Pastor, said that all of Mills County is invited to the program, for which there will be no admission. The choir, under the direction of Charles Richey, includes two male quartets and the Howard Payne Madrigal Singers. It was scheduled to present on its program this

Thursday night a variety of types of music as the final performance of a three-day tour of Del Rio, Uvalde, San Antonio, Llano and, of course, Goldthwaite.

Prior to Thursday night's program the ladies of the First Baptist Church planned to entertain the members of the choir at supper.

"We hope that as many persons as possible will take advantage of the evening of good music that the visitors from Howard Payne College will present on Thursday night," Brother Ayers said.

"Old Timer" Brings Parents For Easter

Mr. and Mrs. James Booker and their small son, "Old Timer," were Easter guests of Mr. Booker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther E. Booker, and of his sister, Miss Pauline Booker.

"Old Timer" often comes to Goldthwaite to visit his grandparents and Aunt Pauline but the fact that his parents were able to come with him made the Easter reunion at the Booker home a grand occasion. "Old Timer's" Dad is a radar man at Kelly Field, near San Antonio, and the demand of his job keep him from visiting around as much as he would wish to do so.

Ted Dennard of Jal, New Mexico, spent the Easter holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dennard.

...were happy over the rain... and Friday night. The gauge registered .85 in. ... that wind and sand... next day. Spring comes... with timid step. Slowly... trees leaf out, and in low... the grass shows green, look... carefully—its sparse... makes the heart ache. My... said he must go to... again tomorrow to... borrow more money to... more feed for the cattle.

Brother Bradley preached on "The Christian Warfare." Next time he expects to preach on "The Purpose of Life," or "Why we are Here." We invite you to be present. Besides a good sermon, he brought us a nice surprise this time — James Beckner of Fort Worth, an accomplished song leader, who led our singing.

After Church Mr. and Mrs. Bradley, James Beckner, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hanna, and Mr. and Mrs. John Briley went home with Mrs. Edna Dwyer for dinner. After dinner Jim Wilmeth of Brownwood also came. The dinner was a masterpiece, but it did not overshadow the congenial comradeship of the participants. It was an association to be enjoyed and remembered.

Mr. and Mrs. Blue Thompson and their daughter, Mrs. George Russell, and baby of Big Spring visited Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Egger Tuesday night. Mrs. Egger said Mr. and Mrs. Thompson were expecting all their children home for Easter Sunday. The Lucky Thompsons! They're always having some of their children visit them. I see mine just about once a year.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Cawyer of Orange spent part of Friday night with Mrs. Edna Dwyer. They went on to Abilene Saturday to visit their daughter, Ednabeth, at A. C. C. They also spent Sunday night at the Dwyer home.

Ynell Egger of Southwest State College, San Marcos, spent the Easter holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Egger.

The Dwyer-Briley trio got to attend Church at the Austin Avenue Church of Christ in Brownwood Wednesday night and Sunday night. Wednesday night Jim Wilmeth came out for them and brought them back. He spent the night with Mrs. Dwyer. Sunday night Jim Wilmeth took them up, and the Cawyers brought them back. Wednesday night Church began at eight o'clock. We got back home at 9:50. Sunday night Church began at seven. We arrived home at 8:55. Both nights we lingered to talk with friends after Church. In the horse and buggy days it took two days to go to Brownwood and back.

Tuesday I suddenly realized an opportunity. Captian and Mrs. Charles White of Los Angeles, visiting at the Reeves home, were still here. Charles got his wife in Czechoslovakia. He too is an accomplished linguist. He reads and speaks German. Among my mother's keepsakes were some things I longed to have interpreted — some documents written in German, a drawing of her mother's with title in German, a picture of her mother with an inscription on the back written in German. I gathered these things up and hid me over to the Reeves domicile to contact Charles and Geesla.

I remember when a child in Arkansas, one happy Sunday afternoon we sat on our porch visiting with my Wilmeth cousins and my aunt. Mamma was showing them pictures. She handed them a picture of her mother with writing on the back in German. Suddenly she was in tears. She interpreted the writing, "Farewell, my child, God bless you." Just a short time before her death at Houston her mother had sent it to her while Mamma was teaching at Bryan.

Among the documents Charles and Geesla interpreted were a christening certificate of my grandfather Schulz. It said his mother's name was, Clementine. There was a marriage certificate, a birth certificate, and a passport written in 1859 for my grandmother and her five children from Brazil to Europe. The drawing was their home in Brazil. The picture was the one I had hoped it was — the one she showed that afternoon in Arkansas.

I seldom saw my mother show any emotion. I often wondered what all she kept locked up in her heart. Before I was born she had lost three children. In two weeks, during an epidemic of bloody flux in Collin County, she lost her sister, Clementine, her baby, Maud, and her firstborn son, Eugene, three years old. My sister, Nellie Malone, often told me how sweet and smart he was. She said Dutch always reminded her of him. In the home in Collin County my father had a schoolroom where he taught school. It had been his ambition to start a college, but the war swept it all away.

Once when we were having a family reunion — not so many years ago — my Sister Clara, the late Mrs. Abe Millar, of Ballinger said, "Ma, do you remember how little Eugene! used to take Pa's stick and point to the notes on the board and sing Sweet By and By?" Suddenly my mother wept. We had not sensed how deep was her grief, nor how well she remembered it. Little Eugene had been gone 31 years.

Mrs. J. Everett Evans and Miss Gladys of Goldthwaite spent several days last week with Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Hill.

George Watson and family of Burnet visited recently with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Watson, Lee and other relatives.

Miss Brockie McCasland of Abilene spent Easter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Brock McCasland and Grandmother Shaw.

Mr. and Mrs. John Elliott and family of Goldthwaite visited Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carr.

Mrs. Nelson Waggoner visited Friday morning with Mrs. Jack Porter.

Mrs. Herbert Coffman and boys visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Arnold of Pearl Sunday. Mr. Arnold was also celebrating a birthday.

Well, the maneuvers are over and everything seems quite, since the soldiers have left.

Jess Ball went to Houston to get his mother and sister who are spending a couple of weeks with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyd King and Rocky and Mr. and Mrs. Dutch Smith visited in the Fate Eckert home one night last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Mallory and children of Dallas spent the weekend with Mrs. Mallory's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fate Eckert.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyd King entertained his relatives Sunday. Johnnie Smith visited in the Fred Whittenburg home Sunday evening. There were also several other of his buddies whom he graduated with present.

Mr. and Mrs. Dutch Smith visited their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Ball, after Church Sunday.

Gene Johnson of Austin visited with his aunt and uncle, the Fate Eckerts, during the Easter holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Dutch Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Fate Eckert and Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Mallory played canasta with the Leo Morrisseys in town Saturday night.

Don't Be Surprised If Ira O. Harvey Builds An Airstrip

At the controls of a neat and highly airworthy four-place Ponzana airplane, Omar Harvey flew into Goldthwaite from San Antonio last Sunday with Mrs. Harvey and their daughters, Martha Lee and Carol Lynn. The flight was part of a big Easter surprise for Omar's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira O. Harvey of Fisher Street.

Soon after the Omar Harveys had taken off for the return flight to San Antonio to the accompaniment of farewells at the airstrip by Mr. and Mrs. John Dellis and their daughter, Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Weyman Harvey arrived from Fort Worth by way of Cherokee Creek in San Saba County. Weyman did not bring an airplane, as had his brother Omar, but he did bring a fine long string of bass, one of which weighed more than four pounds. Mr. and Mrs. Weyman Harvey returned to Fort Worth on Monday — by automobile.

Other Easter guests of the Ira Harveys included Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Bibby of Colorado City. As for Omar Harvey and his airplane, he has been flying a lot recently, especially on business trips that have taken him so far away from San Antonio as Tulsa, Okla.

Lost And Found Department Happy

Those goats that strayed into H. J. Leonhard's pasture turned out to be the property of Bob Kerby, who still is looking for some more goats that he knows he owns but which he cannot find on his own place. And that surveyor's rod that was lost by Charles Ford is back safely in the hands of its rightful owner, thereby cheering up the Eagle's lost and found department.

Cemetery Working At Hurst Ranch

An economy-minded House last week concluded action on another of the annual appropriation bills for the fiscal year which begins next July 1.

Thus far, a total of $6 and one-half billion has been whacked from the President's requests. Three major money bills remain to be disposed of, including the one on mutual security and foreign aid. The latter will undoubtedly be whittled down in several respects.

Last year our economy bloc in the House was fairly successful, but more cooperation is noticeable this year from Members who previously hesitated to lend a hand in our retrenchment program.

For some time I have been a member of this so-called Southern Economy Bloc. We hold weekly meetings, study budget estimates, appropriation bills, hearings, reports, etc., and then concentrate on amendments which we think are sound and proper and to the best interests of the taxpayers.

Cuts were made last week which would knock out about 100,000 requested civilian jobs in the Defense Department. We are convinced there is a lot of belt-tightening that can be done in that as well as other Departments without adversely affecting our defense program.

Our group is made up of Southern Democrats who are willing to buck the Administration pressures when we are convinced a proposed expenditure is not justified. When amendments are offered on the Floor, to reduce costs, we appeal to all Members, whether Democrat or Republican, for support. We have been fairly successful in these concentrated efforts.

Our goal is a balanced budget. We may not achieve it this year but we are moving in that direction.

The President's action in seizing the steel mills has caused much concern with respect to its legality. It is widely feared that if a President has the authority under the Constitution to seize steel mills, he could seize any other business concern if from his viewpoint he thought it was the thing to do. It is conceivable that by the abuse of such alleged authority, a President could take over a good part of private business in America and completely change our free enterprise system.

That may never be done, but if it can legally be done in this instance, then it might be done with even less restraint at some time in the future.

Under the Taft-Hartley law, the President is given authority by the Congress to cope with national emergencies such as was presented in the steel dispute. He could appoint a fact-finding board, then follow with an injunction which would defer the strike for 80 additional days during which the mediation service already set up would go into action. He has, however, made use of the 80-day cooling off period provision on two prior occasions against John L. Lewis, and both times the disputes were settled during the 80-day period.

Another serious complaint about the President's action is that he undertakes this way to force not only a wage increase but also a union shops upon the workers and the steel industries of the country.

In other words, the effect of his action has tended to force all steel employees into union shops by each steel industry without the employer, the unions, or the individual workers being consulted.

If the President had invoked the Taft-Hartley law — he had a legal right to do so — he had suspended any strike during the 80-day period, under the Taft-Hartley law each member of a union working for a particular company, would have had a right to vote for or against accepting the terms of an agreement by the employer before a strike could be called. If a majority of the workers should, in that case, decide to accept the terms, the issue would be settled. They would rarely get a chance unless the Taft-Hartley law is invoked. A steel worker in Pittsburgh was quoted on another day as saying:

"If they would give us a chance to vote on a settlement there would be some red in this union headquarters!"

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Weatherly of Brownwood were guests of the day of his mother, Mrs. Weatherly.

MESSAGE FROM GOV. SHIVERS

Continued from Editorial Page. Let's take a look at Texas, as Democratic state, and at the Texas Democrat. Texas is one of the Big Six the Democratic Convention, rank sixth in voting strength with our 52 votes, following New York's 94, Pennsylvania's 68, Illinois' 60, Ohio's 54. The seventh state, Massachusetts, is far down with 18. Texas has 5 per cent of the convention vote, while the average per state is 2 per cent. Obviously, our votes will not be a factor unless we put them with other votes to form a sizeable bloc. Always first thought in that direction is the "Solid South." It is a natural and traditional possibility, although not the possibility. The "Solid South" by its faithfulness to the Democratic cause down through the years has placed itself in a paradoxical position of being ignored by the Democratic Party. It's like the old shaggy dog story, where the dog was too shaggy. The South has too solid to remain, in its real power in the party. It's clear that the northern and western Democrats recognize this fact, because you really see them and their Texas and Southern spokesmen stirring around when there is any talk of a "Southern rebellion."

Texas is actually not a full-fledged Southern state, geographically, economically or politically. Truthfully, Texas is more or less a section in itself. Here in Texas we have a rural state where more people live in the city than in the country. We are farmers and ranchers watching huge factories being built in our fields and pastures. Our problems, once mainly confined to finding a market for our farm and ranch products, now run the gamut of industrial relationships.

The bustle and confusion of a growing state and a growing economy naturally produce violent contrasts in our social and political structures, and we inevitably find Texans who cling resolutely to the old ways and the old ideas clashing with Texans who like new ways.

Most Texans are willing to admit that times have changed, and not all of them are willing to admit that the change has been for the better.

The Texan is not a Southerner or a Midwesterner, or a Westerner; he is not exactly even a Southwesterner, but a man of Texas with a tradition and viewpoint all his own. He is essentially conservative, but alert to the changing scene about him. He is practical and cautiously progressive, a man who likes to study his course and make his own decisions.

He believes, instinctively and by training, in individual freedom, local self-government and states' rights. That makes him, ideologically as well as by birth and tradition, a Jeffersonian Democrat. He recognizes the proper role and the importance of the central government and supports it strongly in time of emergency. But he does not approve of an over-abundance of government anywhere — in Washington, in Austin, in the county courthouse or the city hall.

He finds a basic conflict between some of the things SOME Democrats stand for, and what he as a good Texas Democrat stands for.

He finds himself thrown in with a strange and motley crowd, dominated by big-city bosses, powerful politico-labor leaders, long-haired intellectuals, and self-serving professional "liberals."

He finds that the national Democratic Party is on record for many things he is against, and his national party leaders frankly and even arrogantly opposed to some some things he is for.

These things cause him to stop and think.

Added together, they do not necessarily make him a Republican or a Dixiecrat or anything else, other than a somewhat confused and often irritated Democrat. He does not necessarily want to see the Democratic administration replaced with a Republican administration, and he has shown conclusively on two recent occasions that he doesn't want to go off with a third party.

What can he do about it?

There are those who don't want him to do anything that has any chance of changing the status quo. They don't want him to choose any course that has a chance of succeeding. These are the self-designated "LOYAL DEMOCRATS" who say:

"First, let's surrender unconditionally. Then we will negotiate for the best terms possible."

In my reading of history, I find no indication that unconditional surrender was ever the father of victory.

Thus the Democrats in Texas, like the Republicans in Texas, are having a little internal war. There is nothing wrong with that, as long as the issues are made clear so the people can intelligently decide them for themselves.

The real issue, in my opinion, is:

Shall we, as Texas Democrats, take full advantage of the present favorable conditions to make our weight felt in the national party—or shall we just write a post card and say: "Dear Harry — Count on us, as usual."

My own ideas have been frequently expressed: I think we ought to fight, with all the resources at our command, for candidates and platforms that we, as Texas Democrats, can conscientiously support.

I believe that the loyalty of a good Democrat should be to Democratic principles rather than to political bosses.

I think, and have said many times, that our best bet is to send a delegation to the national convention UNINSTRUCTED—except in the sense that it will have our implied orders to look for the best man and the best platform that can be found—and I mean BEST FOR TEXAS.

If there is a better plan to accomplish the desired end, I will be for that. But I will not be for any plan, or for any planners, seeking to make the Democratic Party of Texas a mere appendage to the national party, without voice, without courage, without character and without any hope of improvement.

Six Inches Rain

IT MAKES A BIG DIFFERENCE WHETHER YOUR NOSE IS HELD TO THE GRINDSTONE BY THE IRON HAND OF DESPOTISM OR BY YOUR INDIVIDUAL AMBITION AND WILL TO WORK... THE DIFFERENCE IS FREEDOM.

BUT EVEN A FREE PEOPLE CAN'T ESCAPE NOSE-TO-THE-GRINDSTONE TASKS, THE PIONEERS WHO BUILT OUR DEMOCRACY KNEW THAT THE JOB MEANT PLENTY OF GRINDING LABOR—AND DID IT WILLINGLY, BECAUSE THEY HAD A VISION OF THE REWARDS.

AND THOUGH IDEAS, INITIATIVE AND IMAGINATION ARE QUALITIES IN WHICH A FREE ECONOMY EXCELS, IT IS STILL NOSE-TO-THE-GRINDSTONE TOIL THAT TRANSLATES THESE QUALITIES INTO AMERICA'S PRODUCTIVE POWER—AND NOSE-TO-THE-GRINDSTONE THRIFT THAT BULWARKS NATIONAL AND FAMILY SECURITY THROUGH LIFE INSURANCE AND SAVINGS.
