DEMOCRATIC LOGIC.

Another Step Downward-Grant's Southern St. Louis Republican.

The administration has taken another step downward in the estimation of the "stalwarts." It seems that the friends and Recent Important Events at Home and admirers of the late Senator Chandler have perpetuated his memory in a brilliant biography, which sets forth the liant biography, which sets forth the innumerable public and private virtues of the deceased statesman and holds taken suddenly sick and obliged to retire of the deceased statesman and holds him up as an example worthy of everpersuasion, was induced to take one; but Mr. Hayes, who ought to have purchased at least a dozen in morocco and gilt, reused to buy any-in other words, would

Now this is terrible; in fact, little less than treason of the worst sort. Chandler than treason of the worst sort. Chandler to move to. They told him that some was one of those great and good men, white men had traveled through Texas and without whose services Mr. Hayes would not be where he is. He was the ring-in Kansas, with fine two-story white houses leader in the centennial fraud, and did cleantly furnished with piano, fine carmore than anybody else to push it through. Yet Mr. Hayes, forgetting or ignoring the immense debt he owes him. will not buy Chandler's "Life!" Such base ingratitude may well fire the "stal-wart" heart and rouse it to deeds of State, he said, condemned the movement, not have the Chandler biography in the house in any shape or at any price.

THE GRANT SOUTHERN POLICY.

The discussion of Presidential aspirations in the Republican camp has rethe Republican party almost powerless side, as a at the South, and there is no guarantee present a dissenting report in favor of the that they will not be repeated." He neither realized clearly what he could do nor what he could not do in his position, and he yielded far too much weight to the advice of men, some of whom had less honesty of purpose, and a good deal more political capacity than policy of the Grant administration in the South, the policy of supporting carpet-bag governments, upholding Kellogg, Ames, Moses, Packard, and other adventures, and turning out Legislatures with the bayonet, was an inexcusable blunder. His opponents make the charge and his partisans are forced to charge and his partisans are forced to admit it—and what makes the matter more discouraging is that, as the Tribune propriated by the bill shall be paid out for the transportation of troops to be used as police at the polls—The Treasury Department purchased 315,000 ounces of silver for the Philadelphia and San Francisco Mints says, if Grant were President again, "there is no guarantee that his mistakes would not be repeated."

Pastor Blake's Love Affair.

Cleveland Cor. Cincinnati Commercial. Rev. S. L. Blake, pastor of Woodland Avenue Presbyterian Church, this city, preached his farewell sermon to-day. Rev. Blake became pastor of this society about two years ago, and soon increased its number very materially, gaining in a short time much prominence in the city. Last July Mrs. Blake died in childbirth, and last September a Miss Blood of Cincinnati, a rather prepossessing young lady, came here to attend a Normal School. Soon after her arrival Rev. Blake's eyes fell upon her, and there was a love affair, which soon became the chief topic of conversation among all mariageable ladies of the society and their mothers and relatives. Thus it was that the reverend gentleman found a feeling against him which he could not overcome. and accordingly, last Sunday, tendered his resignation, to take effect on the

from the Senate. The Senator suffers from rush of blood to the head. No serious aphim up as an example worthy of everlasting imitation. The publishers naturally supposed that the book would have a very heavy sale in Washington, especially among those officials who owe so much to the indomitable energy and impudence of the illustrious defunct. So agents were ordered to canvass government circles diligently. Department ernment circles diligently. Department clerks generally declined with thanks; to be classed above No. 7 D's—The Senate Exodus Committee held a chort session today and examined A A. He testified that 300 or 450 negro emigrants, mostly from Texas, had come to Fort Scott, about 100 of whom were men, the remain-der women and children. They were generally in destitute conditions, and depended for employment on odd jobs. He had conversed with quite a number of them who gave no other reasons for emigrating than hard times in their section of the South, resulting from short crops last year, and their under-standing that Kansas was a favorable place These traveling agents charged negro emigrants from $2 to $3 each for purchasing their tickets. Mr. Harris did not think that the exodus was a political movement in Kansas, as the Republicans did not need as it resulted in bringing to the State pauperized laborers, who were not self-supporting, and were not needed there.

The House Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds agreed to report favorably vealed a singular unanimity on one point—the Grant policy in the South from 1868 to 1876. It is agreed on all hands that the policy was a failure. The New York Tribune asks: "For what reason can Southern Republicans desire another term of Grant? Do they desire another term of Grant? Do they desire to be driven from the narrow foothold which they retain at the South? The nomination of Gen. Grant would promise only a return to the same mistaken policy which was pursued for eight years until the Republicans had been badly beaten both at the South and North. If a strong hand is wanted in dealing with the Southern problem, it surely is not that hand which wrought complete overthrow of the loyal party throughout the South. The mistakes of Gen. Grant in South. The mistakes of Gen. Grant in troversy in army circles and before the dealing with that problem have made the Republican party almost powerless the Republican party almost powerless minority of the committee, will Adolph Woolner, a distiller of Peoria, Illino's spoke in oppo-sition to the Carlisle bill, (which he said ought to be entitled a bill to disturb the Internal Revenue), to give distillers and curers of fine whiskies a bonus of 182 per cent. of the tax, an additional inducement to defraud the Government of another 182 per cent, of the tax. He argued that under the present law the revenue from whisky was very closely collected, and trade was prosperous, and that under the proposed law distillers who had three years in which to pay the tax would pay tax of twenty cents less per galtrary to all rules of trade. The result of the bill would be to abandon the system of cish down tax-payers. The great danger would be in the temptation to commit fraud. The trade needed no relief, and the best thing that could be done was to let well enough alone—These views were reinforced by W. R. Bush, Proud and T. J. McNamara, of Cincinnatti. The bill was advocated by Thomason, of Louisville, and Henry S. Har ris, of Philadelphia. The latter said he had let $750,000 ten years ero, in consequence. his resignation, to take effect on the meeting of the Cleveland Presbytery in April. At the same time he asked to be permitted to close his connection with the church to-day. This the trustees desided to permit.

present company, with a paid-up capital of $1,000,000, and that was also gone.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

A Speech Delivered by a San Francisco Broker on the Subject.

The following is a copy of a speech delivered by Assemblyman Gorley recently on the question permitting women ing from her accustomed orbit, rush madother purposes.

Wednesday—Mr. Cameron, (Wis.) rose to what he deemed to amount to a question of privilege. He stated that he was surprised to see that the testimony of E. S. Webber, taken before the Sub-Committee of the Committee on Privileges and Elections at New Orleans, appeared in the printed record of the case laid on the Senators desk, though owing to his failure to appear before the committee to rose examination, the committee had agreed to strike his direct examination on brows of our Western poets. Allow me to repeat a few lines written under inspiration while contemplating this grand and meritorious subject entitled, "An Apostrophe to Women" the testimony, appears on the very last page of the volume, but a great many of those who might read the evidence would Apostrophe to Woman."
Mr. Del Valle (interrupting). I move

And as the new found star appears, Beyond the millions of its peers— Glimmering there as though constrained To hide the brilliancy it contained,

Then to the front on wheels of fire.

It rushed there only to expire.

Typical of this brilliant star, Mr. Speaker, is woman. Why, Mr. Speaker, to my mind there is naught on earth more beautiful or intelligent than a woman. On her brow is written calm and holy purity—beautiful as thoughts of Eden spheres, while on her cheek glows the spirit of Divinity. [Loud applause.] Amid the jarring discords of life, her voice is like the sweet trillings of a silver life. ver lute. Around her angel brow clustering glories of glossy ringlets ripple in sunny waves around her pleasant face like sea billows around a beautiful isle. Mr. Speaker, the man who could conscientiously oppose this mixture of our best society in the punch bowl of politics, would be guilty of taking his lemonade without sugar or a stick in it. Yes, the man who would oppose this righteous measure, would oppose his wife from attending a temperance lecture, and compel her to remain at home and sew agate buttons on his dirty shirt. I am in favor of woman's suffrage, Mr. Speaker. the eminent and gifted orator, Mr. Lane. of the 12th, to the contrary notwithstanding, who is anxious for an opportunity to sit down upon it with so ponderous a corporation. May the Lord have mercy on his soul, for the women of our State cannot. When years have fled, and these luxuriant locks of mine have mingled with the gray, and perchance, too, I may be bald by piety and virtuous ways, it will be my proudest plume; not that I never, but that I ever, assisted woman from a hell physically, to a heaven politically. [Applause.]
As Mr. Gorley is perfectly denuded of Attention is called to the advertisement of Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic which appears in another column. It is endorsed by all physicians as containing the very elements essential to the eradication of the seeds of Dyspepsia, General Debility, Female Dis-Dyspepsia, General Debility, Female Diseases, want of vitality, etc., from the system. The medicine is manufactured by the Dr. Harter Medicine Company, at No. 213 North Main street, St. Louis, Mo. A large force of men are kept continuously at work receiving and filling orders and shipping goods, and the sales are rapidly increasing. You may have a prejudice to what some might term a patent medicine, but in this case it would be absurd, for it is a medicine compounded with great care by skilled per sons and contains iron and calisava bark in connection with the phosphates, and any who have the slightest knowledge of medi cines know that these are necessary in cases where the constitution is shattered or weakened. Let at least one bottle be tried by you who are in need of medicine and you will thereafter use it and save many an expensive doctor bill.
