"straw poll" on how the members of the Eagle feel about a swimming pool for Goldthwaite about complete with 121 votes enthusiastically in favor of project and with nine ballots cast with determination to build it. The nine NO votes, of course, may represent the wishes of more than nine persons, just as many of the YES votes reflect the feelings of others.

have been interested in the fact that a great many who participated in the "straw poll" did not give their names to their neighbors. We are not publishing the names because we respect the right to privacy, even where public business is concerned.

one of the NO votes, I feel, was based on misunderstanding. It is to be repeated that water is not a problem for a swimming pool because the same water would be used and re-circulated through a filtering and chlorination system. Also, public tax funds are not involved in the proposed pool. It is proposed to build a swimming pool with proceeds from private subscriptions and a revenue bond issue. The proceeds of the revenue bond issue would be met through payment of admissions to swimming pool. The swimming pool would not be a private enterprise and would not be in competition with private swimming. That, too, ought to be in mind, in view of some of the NO votes that are listed as a matter of interest in the reading public.

of those who oppose the swimming pool project, I have written a letter to the editor. It says: "We need a larger water well. Our Court has a well that could be made to have more water." The NO vote against the swimming pool was on what were described as "different reasons." That is, I do not want a swimming pool in my yard. Another part of the "straw poll" vote without giving any real reason still another wrote: "Adam and Eve disobeyed in the Garden of Eden, and of nakedness was the sin they tried to hide from God by making clothes. Where is the compass of that sin today?"

the same lines, another wrote: "Proverbs 15:1 says 'Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people.' In the beginning, a sin for Adam and Eve was committed. We need to keep the temple of the same sin from our hearts today. Matthew 6:13: 'Lead us not into temptation.'" respect the right of other persons to oppose a swimming pool on the basis of religious beliefs, but, at the same time, be mindful that at this time there are millions of men, women and children who are having wholesome and healthful swimming.

EDITORIAL

You can vote in the first Democratic primary election Saturday and still be perfectly free to cast a ballot for Dwight D. Eisenhower for President in November. Under the terms of the Texas Election Code the only persons who are barred from participating in the primary election Saturday are those who do not take part in Republican meetings on the day.

has come to our attention that many persons have indicated hesitancy to vote in the primary on Saturday for the reason that it would hamper their freedom of choice in the general election in November. That is why we are publishing this short editorial.

moral and legal commitments of those who vote on Saturday are to support the candidates whose names will appear on Saturday's ballot. The names of the candidates do not appear on Saturday's ballot. So, you can exercise your right to vote on Saturday without endangering your freedom of choice in November.

Caradan, North Bennett Groups Meet August 8

The Caradan Community Club and the North Bennett Club, both of which have been working for the highest welfare of those who live in the respective communities, will join forces at a meeting on Friday night, August 8, to make further plans for a brighter future.

Mrs. George Denman, Jr., reported that when the Caradan and North Bennett Community Clubs meet on August 8 there will be an election of officers for the merged organizations.

In addition to electing officers, the meeting will discuss the Community Center that has been established at the Midway Schoolhouse, where some work already has been done and where a Youth Group has been organized.

"Since the North Bennett people have joined with us we hope to have a better Community Center," Mrs. Denman said. Already, the Youth Club has painted a sign for the old Midway Schoolhouse. Painted on the sign are the letters, "WELCOME — COMMUNITY CENTER."

While the Caradan Community Club has been engaging for some time in community welfare, the North Bennett Club has been busy preparing for competition in a community improvement contest — the details of which were presented at two meetings by County Agriculture Agent George G. Reese.

San Saba News Features Farm Of Cockrells In Buffel Grass Story

(Editor's Note: This week the SAN SABA NEWS is printing an article on buffel grass which features the Cockrell farm in Big Valley. The Eagle is grateful to the San Saba News for making it possible for us to publish, simultaneously, the following article on buffel grass and the Cockrells as written by John Bogard, Mr. Bogard is news editor of the San Saba News.)

By JOHN BOGARD

Grass is the backbone of livestock production; and interest has been building recently in the establishment of permanent or semi-permanent pastures of better grasses on cultivated acreage.

One of the most talked about grasses . . . this year is buffel grass, a hardy perennial that has found favor in South Texas and now is being tried under a variety of soil and moisture conditions by farmers and ranchers.

Plantings have ranged from small back-yard seed plots to those of several acres, with some plantings for grazing purposes only and some for commercial or private seed production. There was not enough seed available last season to meet local demand. The seed sell for about $6.00 per pound.

The largest commercial planting of buffel grass in this area this spring was on the Cockrell farm, about midway between San Saba and Goldthwaite, on Highway 16. Approximately 90 acres of the grass was planted in May, with exceptionally good results obtained in view of adverse moisture conditions.

This farm, comprising about 300 acres, is owned and operated jointly by two brothers, Hoyt

H. Howard Homsley, who was Superintendent of Schools at Mullin during the 1951-1952 academic year, this week resigned his post in order to accept appointment as School Superintendent at Loraine in Mitchell County.

With his family, Mr. Homsley planned to move to Loraine next week.

Mrs. Homsley, who taught domestic science in the Mullin Schools, has been appointed to teach the sixth grade in the Grammar School at Loraine.

Prior to his Superintendency at Mullin, Mr. Homsley held a similar post at the Three-Way School in Bailey County. He was largely responsible for its construction and he established a pattern that subsequently was followed by many other Superintendents elsewhere when he issued detailed financial statements at frequent intervals and made them available to all patrons of his school district. He followed a similar practice during his service at Mullin.

Mr. Homsley, who is a sports enthusiast, coached the girls' basketball team at Mullin. The Mullin girls, under Mr. Homsley's coaching, won a State-wide title in their class in tournament competition at San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. Homsley have three daughters, Barbara, Margie and Queenie.

(The Eagle is deeply sorry that the Homsleys are leaving Mills County. We are grateful for the contributions that both Mr. and Mrs. Homsley made while they were among us and we wish them happiness and satisfaction in Loraine.—The Editor.)

Other 4-H Club members who attended the Camp with County Agriculture Agent George G. Reese were Dana Howard Saylor, W. V. Horton, Jr., Del Barnett, Wayne Poe and John Howard Owens.

Bank To Close For Saturday Election

The Mills County State Bank will be closed next Saturday because of the first Democratic primary election. On every Saturday thereafter, the Mills County State Bank will close at noon, maintaining Saturday hours only from 9:00 a. m., until noon, it was announced by Executive Vice President Warren P. Duren.

Mrs. Harwell Rocks

Mrs. S. L. Harwell, who formerly lived just east of Goldthwaite, went through this week's California earthquake at her home at Garvey. "We had quite an earthquake this morning," Mrs. Harwell wrote to the Eagle. "Makes me long for good old Mills County, where you are not 'rocked' in your bed."

Docket Cases

Latest entries on the docket of Justice of the Peace E. A. Obenhaus included the following this week:

Josie H. Bible, charged by Highway Patrolman Jess Askey with running a stop sign, pleaded guilty, fine and costs totaled $14.00.

P. H. Ford, charged by Patrolman Askey with running a stop sign, pleaded guilty, fine and costs totaled $14.00.

W. R. Sanderford, A. G. Aquilar and James Arliss Smith all were charged by W. R. Gunn with operating overloaded trucks. They pleaded guilty and each paid penalties of $14.00, including costs.

Weather Report

Believe it or not — it rained in Mills County during the past week but you had to be in the right place to know about it.

Mrs. Clementine Wilmeth Briley reported .7 of an inch at Ebony last week. That rain, she said, "put a tinge of green on the grass, but we need much more."

Edwin H. "Old Hap" Hapgood of Rancho Nueces in Big Valley reported .08 of an inch of rain in Big Valley last Saturday and .55 of an inch, also in Big Valley, of course, last Sunday.

Judge Dice And Jim Evetts Make Bids For Votes

As the Democratic primary election campaign went into the home stretch this week statements to the voters were made by District Judge Wesley Dice, who seeks renomination Saturday, and by his opponent, Jim Evetts, who now is District Attorney.

Pre-election day statements also were made by Raymond Thornton of Belton and Tom A. Carlile of Killeen, who are fighting it out at the ballot box for nomination as District Attorney.

In his statement, Judge Dice said:

"As your District Judge, I am seeking re-election solely upon the record I have made as Presiding Judge of your district court.

I took an oath of office to uphold and defend the laws and Constitution of Texas. This I have done. I further took an oath of office to faithfully and impartially discharge the duties of the office of District Judge. This I have done to the best of my ability.

"In the trial of civil cases involving the rights between men, I have tried to be fair and impartial to both sides, regardless of who was on one side or who was on the other. In the trial of criminal cases I have been fair to the State and to the accused. I have never prosecuted any man from the bench nor have I defended any man from the bench but have done my best to give every man a fair and impartial trial.

"In the trial of every case my only motive has been that justice would be done and the case tried without error on my part. My record of cases affirmed by the higher courts on appeal is one of which I am proud.

"I have done my best to make you a good District Judge and to make a record that would reflect honor and credit to your District Court. I have tried to give you a clean, fair and honest administration of justice.

CITIZENS VOTE SATURDAY IN POLITICAL CURTAIN RAISER; LOCAL RACES BOOM INTEREST

Mills County voters will cast their ballots in 18 boxes next Saturday in the first Democratic primary election which will be held for the purpose of nominating Democratic Party candidates but the results of which, in many cases, will be equivalent to election.

County Clerk Earl Summy this week estimated that approximately 2,300 persons will vote in Mills County. He said that in advance of the primary 125 persons had cast absentee ballots.

Polls will be open from 8:00 o'clock Saturday morning until 7:00 o'clock Saturday night.

Within a few minutes after the polls close, the compilation of the results will begin and figures will be posted on a bulletin board at the bandstand on the lawn of the Mills County Court House.

Joe A. Palmer, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Mills County Democratic Party, said the following Judges for the election have been appointed:

Box 1, Goldthwaite, Mrs. Joe A. Palmer; 3, Scallorn, Fields Hines; 4, Center City, Martin McCasland; 5, Payne Gap, Virgil Howard; 6, Star, T. L. Adams; 7, Caradan, Raymond Horton; 8, Mullin, George M. Fletcher; 9, Fisher (Democrat), Mrs. E. P. Hodges; 10, Priddy, Ray Priddy; 11, Big Valley, C. S. Miller; 12, Rock Springs, B. D. Tippen; 13, Jones Valley (Rat-tler), O. B. Bell; 14, Regency, B. F. Egger; 15, Ebony, W. C. Whittenburg; 16, Ridge, Warren Freeman; 18, Mt. Olive, A. B. Neal; 19, Goldthwaite, J. R. Parker; 20, Pompey, W. B. Black. (There are no boxes numbered 2 and 17.)

Interest in the election is high because of contests on a State-wide basis as well as in Mills County.

In the County there were indications of a close race for nomination for County Judge and Superintendent of Public Instruction between John L. Patterson, the challenger, and Lewis B. Porter, incumbent.

In Precinct 1 Commissioner Jess Y. Tullos is opposed by Luther Ray "Bully" Rudd and Craig C. Wesson.

In Precinct 3, in which K. B. Henry is not seeking renomination, R. T. Ratliff, W. T. "Son" Lee, A. A. Downey, Niles E. Wootten and Eli Edmondson all have been campaigning for the post of County Commissioner.

The voters in Precinct 4 have a choice between J. Frank Davis, the incumbent County Commissioner, and Cecil Egger. Fred V. Wall is unopposed in Precinct 2.

County officials who are unopposed for renomination are Sheriff-Tax Assessor-Collector C. F. Stubblefield, County and District Clerk Summy, County Attorney A. M. Pribble, County Treasurer Bertha Weathers, County Surveyor J. C. Long and Justice of the Peace E. A. Obenhaus.

Interest also was running high this week in the political fortunes of Governor Allan Shivers, who is seeking renomination against Ralph Yarborough and Mrs. Allene M. Traylor.

For the United States Senate, Attorney General Price Daniel, an ardent champion of the Texas tidelands cause, is opposed by Lindley Beckworth and E. W. Napier.

Representative O. C. Fisher, of the 21st Texas Congressional District has an opponent in the person of Ira Galloway, Coleman County Judge.

Two other contests of importance to Mills County involve the bid of District Judge Wesley Dice for renomination against Jim Evetts, at present Prosecuting Attorney for the 27th Judicial District. The post of District Attorney that is being vacated by Mr. Evetts is being sought by Raymond Thornton of Belton and Tom A. Carlile of Killeen.

State Senator Carlos Ashley and State Representative W. R. "Bill" Chambers are unopposed.

Special interest attaches to the fact that this year Texas will elect a Congressman-at-Large. He will serve only for two years, during which time the Legislature is expected to re-apportion Congressional Districts and thereby abolish the post of Congressman-at-Large. While seven candidates are seeking the nomination, many newspapers and leaders have urged the nomination of Martin Dies on the grounds that having served in Congress, he would not go to Washington as a "freshman." It is considered that a member of Congress usually requires at least two years for learning the ropes and, it has been pointed out in many quarters, Mr. Dies already knows his way around Washington very well.

Olin Culberson, who seeks renomination as Railroad Commissioner, is opposed by Joe Laird. Mr. Culberson has been given the support of the Goldthwaite Volunteer Fire Department.

Lieutenant Governor Ben Ramsey is considered certain to be renominated on Saturday, despite the fact that he is opposed by Frank H. Morales.

Candidates for numerous other State offices, including a number of Judgeships, are to be nominated on Saturday. Their names appeared on a sample ballot that was printed in the July 11 issue of the Eagle. The contest for Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals, has been of special interest in Mills County inasmuch as A. W. "Uncle Amos" Lilly has been pushing the cam-

Peggy Rowlett Reports On Arrival Of The Massey Brothers In Korea

Cpl. Bobby C. Massey of the Army and Seaman Ralph Massey of the Navy, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Massey, have arrived for duty in Korea. So far as is known, neither knows that the other is there. And, for that matter, the Eagle would not have known about it except that but it is being printed again because she is so good a reporter. What happened was this:

On Tuesday, the telephone rang at the Eagle and a sweet voice said: "I want to report some news about my uncles." Peggy went on to tell how Uncle Bobby and Uncle Ralph were in Korea and how they had not yet met up with each other because there had not been time enough to get the word back to Korea in letters from home.

Peggy Rowlett obviously is proud of her uncles, as indeed she ought to be. And she helped to get the Eagle straight on family relationships by explaining that her grandmother, Mrs. Jesse Massey, is the mother of Bobby and Ralph. She made it clear, too, of course, that her mother, Mrs. Homer Rowlett, is a daughter of Mrs. Massey.

What Peggy may not know is that her Grandmother confided to the Eagle that Peggy had done some earnest worrying because nobody was doing anything about telling the newspaper about those letters from Ralph and Bobby, mailed from Korea. So Peggy, at the suggestion of Mrs. Massey, did the reporting—for which, Peggy, the Eagle is grateful.

THE PRECIOUS RIGHT TO VOTE

Voting always is important in America. Our ideal is to have government controlled by the people and not to have the people controlled by government. Voting on Saturday in Texas is especially important because it will provide opportunity in many cases for the people to make their voices heard on great issues.

The issues include the fate of the Texas tidelands, what the people think about the sprawling Washington bureaucracy which seeks to perpetuate itself in power by setting up class against class and by granting special privileges to minority but highly organized unions, and what the people think about corruption — the callous, cynical abuse of power; use of the weapon of taxation to destroy, corruption in high places, and the idea that the "brass collar" still can be imposed upon the necks of the people of the South.

Governor Allan Shivers, who is asking for reelection; and Price Daniel, who is a candidate for the United States Senate, stand squarely and courageously for morality in government, for States' rights, for the return of the tidelands, for an end to the appalling waste by bureaucrats and for writing "finish" to dictation to the South by northern political machines and selfish, monopolistic unions which seek for themselves rights and privileges that they would deny to others.

Both Governor Shivers and Price Daniel have stood up and have fought the evils of the "Queer Deal," about which so many complain so much but about which so few do so little. We believe that votes for Governor Shivers and for Price Daniel will put the people of Texas clearly on record as objecting to the steal of the tidelands, as objecting to disregard of the moral code, and as objecting to the squandering of our substance by those who, ever since they came into power, have followed the policy of "tax and tax and spend and spend" — a policy designed deliberately to take us on the road of Socialism to totalitarianism. In our opinion, any thinking person will recognize the opponents of Governor Shivers and Price Daniel as the subservient tools of the "Queer Deal." Any vote against Governor Shivers and Price Daniel will serve the purposes of those who long ago turned their backs on the true and decent principles of the Democratic Party.

There is another candidate who has fought the good fight — honestly, without equivocation, and in the public interest. He is our Representative in Congress from the 21st Texas Congressional District — O. C. Fisher. Congressman Fisher has served all of us well. As we have pointed out before, he talks and acts in Washington just as he does in the 21st Texas Congressional District. He was forthright and sincere in denouncing the mink coat, deep freeze and "just a little ham" corruptionists in high places. Congressman Fisher has worked long, loyally and ardently in behalf of the people of our District. He knows the problems that are peculiar to an area in which animal husbandry is the economic basis. If only as a matter of gratitude and an expression of appreciation for good service rendered, there ought to be a thumping big vote FOR Congressman Fisher on Saturday.

The Eagle also feels able to endorse the candidacy of Olin Culberson for renomination as Railroad Commissioner. He has the backing of the Goldthwaite Volunteer Fire Department, and that is good enough for us.

In the contests for other offices, either we do not know enough about the candidates to exercise our duty to raise our voice — with the exception of Ben Ramsey, who certainly merits renomination as Lieutenant Governor — or personalities are involved. Many of the candidates about whom we shall make decisions on Saturday are known personally to most of us. This newspaper is concerned with principles and not with personalities and we think that where personalities rather than issues are involved in making decisions, the voters deserve what they get — although there are times when what they give themselves is certainly not the best that could have been had!

Wherever you stand, either on issues or personalities, your vote on Saturday will be important. Those who are qualified for the franchise have more than a right to vote. They have a duty to cast their ballots and, in so doing, to consider what result will be best for the most people. At this period of crisis there ought to be cheering support for the men who stand first and foremost for the general welfare, no matter what the cost to themselves might be.

Such men include Allan Shivers, Price Daniel and Congressman O. C. Fisher.

GUEST EDITORIAL

(Editor's Note: In view of the tremendous importance of grass to Mills County, we are giving this space this week to an article by Stuart McGregor, who wrote in the Dallas Morning News that "finally Texas knows its grass." Since the annual value of Texas grass is about $340,000,000, we think it is important that everybody read Mr. McGregor's article, especially in Mills County. Here it is.)

By STUART MCGREGOR

When the Farmer from the Old South came out of the forests and stood at the brink of the Blackland Prairie, he gazed across the grassy expanse in amazement. He dipped his plow into the black soil and brought forth what seemed to him a miracle in cotton production.

He marched rapidly westward as open range lands became ranches and ranches became farms. How easy it was to turn the virgin grassland to cultivation! No timber to remove! A level, plowable land! Maybe he did notice that the soil was becoming thin in places. Eventually he learned something about the science of geography—the hard way.

Throughout the world one finds a geographic pattern—a pattern made up of soil, climate and native plant life. There are many variations of this pattern but in general it runs thus. In the lower humid regions are the heavy forests which thin to secondary forests and woodlands a little farther inland. Then come the open ranges with, first, the tall grasses, then the short grasses with increasingly arid climate and thin, stony soils. Last come the mountains and amongst these the high plateau basins with desert vegetation.

This whole pattern exists in Texas, stretching from the Sabine River to the Diablo Plateau Basin—a pattern of changing natural environment. Westward marching Texans fought it for years, not always with understanding. There were many aspects of the problem which arose, including grass—one of nature's greatest resources in its rightful place—something to be conserved, utilized with intelligence.

The westward marching farmer did not understand this. His first impulse was to plow up the grass where there was even a little top soil. To him values were in crops, not grass. He went far beyond the dividing line between natural grass land and this was his first mistake.

His second mistake was that, where he left the grass on the surface, he looked upon it as a God-given thing, like air, something for which he had no responsibility. He did not understand that overgrazed grasslands erode and yield to noxious vegetation.

He did not understand that grazing down the tall grasses and erection of barriers in railroads, highways and plowed fields would eliminate the grass fires that for ages had kept a marginal woodland-grass land an open prairie. With a kindly eye for anything that looked like a tree, he permitted cedar, mesquite, huisache, prickly pear and other less valuable vegetation to march across 50,000,000 acres of grasslands.

But we Texans are coming to understand that grass is our greatest resource on something like 100,000,000 acres, or approximately 60 per cent of the entire area of the state. We are coming to understand that grass must be conserved just as forests are conserved, that worn-out and eroded areas can be restored to grass, and that, in many instances, new grasses can be introduced. We are even introducing grasses in former non-grass areas with high success.

The annual value of Texas grass is about $340,000,000, according to Dr. Vernon A. Young of A. & M. College. This value can be greatly increased, is being increased, through the efforts of the A. & M. College and other agencies, including the United States Soil Conservation and the Texas Research Foundation.

The Texas economy will always depend much on grass. As recognition of Texas' natural adaptability to grass, nature placed in this state 570 species of native grasses, half of the whole number of species in the United States.

And it is well. Whatever change may come with towering industry and teeming population, that old spirit of Texas, which was essentially the spirit of freedom, will be with us as long as we have the open spaces, the elbow room, of our grasslands.

Several weeks, were expected home yesterday. They have decided, so we understand, that Mills County is good enough for them or anybody else.

VOTE NEXT SATURDAY!

"The Will of the People is the only legitimate Foundation of any Government and to protect its Free Expression should be our First Object."

IN THOSE WORDS, THOMAS JEFFERSON HAPPILY SUMMARIZED THE INHERENT STRENGTH OF THE DEMOCRATIC STRUCTURE.

THE RIGHT OF THE INDIVIDUAL, IN AMERICA, TO VOICE HIS OPINIONS AND VOTE FOR HIS CONVICTIONS, GIVES OUR DEMOCRACY THE ESSENTIAL VITALITY FOR GROWTH AND PROGRESS THROUGH THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE.

The Eagle's Aery

By The Editor

While the Goldthwaite Lions Club and other civic leaders work here to bring into being a swimming pool-recreation area for Goldthwaite, it ought to be emphasized also that other individuals and groups among our citizens are striving to bring about the growth and greater prosperity of Goldthwaite and Mills County generally by economic means. In other words, the effort to attract business interests here is being made earnestly and intelligently and, if it keeps up, there is promise of success.

Correspondence now is being conducted with at least two firms that would like to take advantage of our location and splendid transportation facilities. If they establish portions of their businesses here, there would be more money in circulation and, eventually, we would achieve economic diversification. We would not be so completely dependent upon the returns from the land. They, in turn, are dependent upon the vagaries of the weather.

It is rare that a week ever goes by without having several persons drop in at the Eagle office to say they were "back home" on a visit. When they are asked why they do not stay home instead of living some where else, the answer always is the same simple one: "If I could earn a living in Mill County, it is the one place in the world in which we would want to live." We have lost a great many persons who want to live here but have moved away so as to be able to meet their responsibilities to their families.

Since the Goldthwaite Lions Club established a committee that has been charged with the responsibility of attracting business interests to Goldthwaite, the editor has received several letters from persons who live here once upon a time, and who would return if there were livelihoods here for them.

The writers of the letters have asked that they NOT be published and that names NOT be used — because the writers have done the editor the honor of confiding to him the duties that at present stand the way of earning a living in Mills County. Those difficulties would cease to exist once we had here means by which people could support themselves.

In writing on this subject, the past the editor has placed a great deal of emphasis on the loss of our young people as on the need to provide jobs for them here if they are to be at home. Some of the letters that have come to the editor recently recognize the importance of keeping our young people at home by providing jobs and recreation for them. But they stress, too, that there are many others who no longer are quite so young but who are willing and able to work who would like to come home, too.

This desire of people to live in Mills County ought to be an incentive to those who are working to substitute growth for loss of population here. Many another town in Texas has the same idea and is getting some.

To the Voters of Mills County

I have tried to see each and every voter of Mills County.

I have made a rather thorough canvass notwithstanding the fact that this has been the busiest year in office and for the Commissioners Court that we have had in the 4 years that I have been in office.

We have been fortunate in carrying farm-to-market roads as there has been 3 miles as much road built and contracted to be built in the last four years as there had been built in the County prior to that date. These highways have been distributed to each of the 4 precincts in the county. I feel that our success has been chiefly because we have been co-operative with the Highway Department and the land owners of Mills County.

To each voter who assists in trying to be re-elected July 26th I say thank you, and assure you that I will do my best to CONTINUE with service if re-elected.

Tooter Kelly Eats His Birthday Dime

Kenneth Dale "Tooter" Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold K. Kelly, had his fourth birthday anniversary last Monday and the celebration led to a trip to Dr. M. A. Childress. Among Tooter's gifts were two dimes. One went into his Piggy bank in the Kelly living room and the other went into Tooter. No serious damage was done except that the dime still is in Tooter and his mother did more worrying than usual. Daddy Kelly received progress reports about Tooter at the Eagle office after the dime was swallowed. He does not know whether it was a Roosevelt dime or whether it had Miss Liberty on it.

The gift they never gift-wrap

The simple little box you see above contains a very special gift. It holds a doctor's prescription . . . an important aid to better health.

Each time your physician prescribes a medicine for you, you benefit from the practical application of that physician's knowledge, and the training and skill of your pharmacist. Often, too, you benefit from some recent and hard-won discovery by men of research.

Because of the continuing advances in the field of medicine, there are happy endings today to many illnesses that would have been real tragedies only a few years ago. But although these gifts of modern science are now available, too many of us neglect to take advantage of them in time.

New drugs, new skills in diagnosis, better methods of treatment—all are most effective during the early stages of illness.

If you are not feeling as well as you should, visit your physician and take advantage of his professional advice. Don't wait until it is too late to reap the full benefits of the gifts that medical science has brought within your reach. But before this we will cooperate with the Oakland meeting beginning July 25 with David Allan, Minister of the Austin Avenue Church of Christ in Brownwood, doing the preaching.

We are glad to report that Ben Egger is doing fine after an operation at a Marlin hospital two weeks ago.

We got word two weeks ago that our good friend, Robert Bolton, of Chowchilla, Calif., was holding a meeting at Elm Grove in San Saba County, and wanted us to come over. We had never been to Elm Grove, but were told to go by Indian Creek to Keys' Crossing. So we started out. After we passed the Gene Posey house at Indian Creek the way was entirely unknown to us, but we found the place without much trouble, though the roads on that side of the river made our roads over here look like good roads. Brother Bolton came home with us and spent the night.

High winds followed the planting for several days, and some of the seed were blown out of the ground, resulting in spotty stands in places exposed to the full force of the wind. The seed came up on May 20 following a light rain. Since that time only half an inch of rain has fallen, but in spite of these arid conditions the grass is now about knee high, in a lush green growing condition and is seeding heavily. Nearby grasses and weeds, including Johnson grass, have quit growing and are withering and dying because of lack of moisture.

Four acres of the grass was planted on the Colorado river bottom land where it could be irrigated. In a period of about six weeks it had formed a dense and spreading crown, reached a height of more than three feet and was spreading into the middles with a dense mass of stems multiplying from the crown.

One small plot, planted where other crops had consistently failed, was given an application of fertilizer. In six weeks time it had reached as high as a man's armpits and had overlapped the 48-inch middles with its dense growth.

In one small uncultivated area infested with greasewood, some buffel grass seed was broadcast to test it "in the rough." Hard-pressed by a thick choking mass of greasewood, the buffel grass seems to be holding its own and is producing seed heads. The Cockrells believe that next year, with an established system of crown buds and an early start, the buffel will begin giving the greasewood some competition.

Seed harvest began on a limited scale about June 25, and seed production will continue until frost. Seeds are harvested by hand-stripping the seed heads, although the Cockrells have plans for testing a modified combine later. By last week they had gathered more than 100 pounds of the seed, and with a large percentage of the seed heads beginning to mature rapidly the full-scale seed harvest is expected to get underway within the next few days.

The average buffel grass seed yield in Texas last year was about 120 pounds to the acre, with a maximum yield up to 500 pounds per acre. The San Saba Future Farmer chapter, on a dry-land plot of grass established last year, already have stripped more than 100 pounds of seed from four-tenths of an acre this year, with expectations of further seed yields if it rains. Market price on this seed now is $5.50 per pound, or $5.00 per pound in small lots. The plot came into production earlier than the plantings on the Cockrell farm because it came out in the early spring from crown buds of last year's growth.

Buffel grass is peculiarly adapted to the purpose for which the Cockrells selected it—control of wind erosion and restoring organic matter to the soil. It develops a massive root system, with roots having been observed to penetrate to a depth of as much as eight feet. Tests on some of the grass grown in the San Antonio area have indicated that the root system alone will produce as much as 40 tons of dry organic matter per acre. These roots die out each year after frost, and new feeder roots are put down from crown buds the following year. This feature alone makes it highly valuable in a program of soil building and conservation.

Because of its massive root system, it has proved to be highly drought resistant, and continues growing when other grasses and weeds wither or die during the hot months of summer. Tests have shown that it grows well on worn-out blow sand and other poor soils where regular crops can not be grown profitably, but it will respond well to fertilizer on such soils of low fertility.

Tests of feed value indicate that buffel grass, even that grown in blow sand of low fertility, has an exceptionally high protein content of more than 20 percent in early spring, and 10.76 percent in July. Seed stalks and dead leaves were included in the material tested. It is highly palatable to livestock, preference tests have indicated.

Buffel reseeds very freely, the seed being rather fluffy and born in clusters. However, it does not mature uniformly, and is difficult to harvest and to clean. It was introduced into the United States a few years ago, for testing, from a low-rainfall area of Africa.

"We believe this grass is the answer to what we have been looking for to put on our farm," Hoyt Cockrell said. "We studied it carefully under field conditions in the San Antonio area before deciding which grass to use, and our experiences with it so far have been very encouraging." His wife confirmed the enthusiasm the men have for their new venture. "We have buffel grass for breakfast, dinner and supper," she confided to a visitor, referring of course to the conversation.

The men said that visitors are welcome on the Cockrell farm at any time, especially those who share their interest in buffel grass.

Our WASHINGTON Letter

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

(Editor's Note: With Congress in adjournment, Congressman O. C. Fisher has temporarily discontinued his weekly Washington newsletter. In its absence, the Eagle this week prints in this space a news article from Junction reporting on a recent speech by Congressman Fisher there.)

JUNCTION—A major achievement of the recent session of Congress was the trimming of $9 billion from President Truman's budget request, Rep. O. C. Fisher told a crowd of more than 300 people at the county courthouse here.

"And there was a lot more fat that could and should have been removed," he added.

Fisher was the honored guest of the Kimble County Electric Coop. at its annual 5-county membership meeting. The Congressman is a native of Kimble County and still operates a stock farm there.

"One of the big jobs of this day," Fisher said, "is to eliminate waste, extravagance and non-essential spending on a State and National level. A strong nation must be a solvent nation."

Rep. Fisher pointed to several cuts he said should have been made. He was critical of the $2 billion foreign economic aid fund voted by Congress—in addition to military assistance.

"The war has been over seven years and we are still asked to build public works and bolster sagging finances of many foreign countries. I voted against this twenty-hundred-million-dollar economic aid because I was convinced it is not essential to our security. We simply cannot afford to finance an international WPA—in Arabia, Israel, and elsewhere—to be paid for, year after year, by hard-pressed American taxpayers," he cautioned.

Turning to the subject of Agriculture, Fisher in a radio address said the House amendment to the military appropriation bill, which requires preference for domestic wool in military procurement orders, should be of help to our growers.

Some foreign wools, he said, have been dumped and sold at abnormally low prices because of subsidies paid to exporters by the governments of certain exporting countries, in order to get American dollars. Thus, he explained, the American growers have been competing not only with the world market but also with foreign subsidies.

The House passed a bill to clarify the law and require an import fee to be levied, above the present tariff, to protect our growers against this practice, but the Senate did not reach the bill before the recent recess.

Cecil Egger and Edward Egger are helping build the Paschal home up near Brownwood.

Dewey Smith and Charm Whittenburg are drilling a well for Mr. Moore at Indian Creek.

Sunday the Dwyer-Cawyers took us in their car, and we went to Church at Goldthwaite. I remembered that 57 years ago I went to Church there with my father who preached that day. It was in the horse-and-buggy days, and we had to go the day before to be there on time. We stayed all night at the Allen home. Mr. Allen was in the saddle business. I met quite a few Sunday after services, but none could remember that far back. Several told me they read my letter, and one lady paid me the nicest compliment. She said she liked to read it because it told of the things we all do. And that is just what I want it to be—a little picture of life as we live it down here on the farm.

We took our dinner with us, and thought we would eat at the park, then visit with friends in the afternoon. But Mrs. P. R. Reid got a hint of our coming and had Mr. and Mrs. Dale Reid capture us at Church and bring us to her house. Mr. and Mrs. Charm Whittenburg and Clint and Jack also went there. There were sixteen of us. We ate our dinner cafeteria style, and did we enjoy ourselves! On the way home we came by Regency and visited with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Egger and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Egger.

Mrs. William Adrion Anderson, who used to be the Eagle's Miss Earlene Nix but who is just another girl now, finally got around this week to writing to her former colleagues from Midland.

Mrs. Anderson left the Eagle on June 1. She was married on June 21. It took her until July 11 to write to the Eagle staff and then there was delay in mailing the letter because Mrs. Anderson launders her husband's shirts with stamps in the pockets and when the stamps are rescued it becomes necessary to scurry around and find new glue for them.

Major items of interest in the letter from Mrs. Anderson were:

- 1— She and Mr. Anderson are very happy.
- 2— There has been considerable rain in Midland; also dust. Mrs. Anderson washes her hair three times a week (no stamps in the hair).
- 3— Mr. and Mrs. Anderson may move to Odessa but that is NOT yet certain.
- 4— They have enjoyed sharing their social life with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ed Welch.
- 5— Eggs in Midland sell for 75 cents a dozen.
- 6— Mrs. Anderson rises daily at 6:30 a. m., and then for half an hour or so she has one dickens of a time getting her husband up and ready for his day's toil. Mr. Anderson, apparently, is a sleepy head.

7— Mr. Anderson's digestion is okay still yet. That is because a fine toaster presented to the newlyweds by Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Mays works so well that Mrs. Anderson has NOT attempted to bake biscuits.

8— Mr. Anderson has somewhat irregular working hours, but all the same his bride keeps up with her housework in good shape because her mother, Mrs. L. E. Nix, was so good a teacher.

For the most part the letter from Mrs. Anderson was for just the private eyes of her former co-workers on the Eagle. They concluded that she

Feasting And Politicking Can Be All Yours At Mullin On Saturday

All persons who like good food and enjoy seeing candidates politicking in the home stretch are cordially invited to have their dinner this Saturday at the G. I. Building in Mullin where the Mullin Cemetery Association will serve a tip-top feast at the bargain rate of 50 cents for each adult and only 25 cents for each child under ten years of age.

Eating will start at 11:30 o'clock Saturday morning. Mrs. Lewis Pafford is General Chairman. Those who are soliciting food for the dinner south of Mullin are Mrs. S. V. Roberts and Mrs. Autrey Keating while Mrs. Kyle Lawson and Mrs. Willard Mosier are bringing in the sheaves north of Mullin. Mrs. Vera Keating will be in charge of collecting food donations from those who may be unable to deliver them to the Mullin

G. I. Building Saturday morning. The important job of cashier has been assigned to Mrs. Harvey Dudley. Eugene Ingram is to be "general helper," which probably means that he will do all the chores that nobody else wants.

Mrs. Jewell Ivy, who apparently is the press agent for the big doings in Mullin on Saturday, hopes that everybody in Mills County will be present—after they cast their ballots in their home precincts, of course. By eating well and by joining in the visiting at the G. I. Building at Mullin on Saturday you also will be helping the good work that is being done year-in and year-out by the Mullin Cemetery Association.

Compare GMC point by point with any other truck!

Full-pressure lubrication protects all main bearings—force-feeds even to the piston pins!

Airplane-type main & rod bearings stand up under heavy pressures and high speeds—last longer!

Deep, rigid frame construction—just like the big GMC's—backbones the rugged, truck-built chassis!

"Shockproof," four-point cab suspension—same as heavy-duty

GMC's—prolongs the truck's life and protects the driver!

Recirculating ball-bearing steering mechanism assures "passenger car" ease in handling!

Long, "pillow-action" springs smooth the going, cushion the load!

ALLAN SHIVERS

FOR GOVERNOR

THE TRUTH ABOUT OLD AGE ASSISTANCE

Governor Allan Shivers wrote and helped pass the first Old-Age Assistance Law in Texas.

He stands for equitable distribution of funds for the needy.

Two years ago he was one of the leaders who tried to get more money for the aged, a cause that failed because the voters disapproved a constitutional amendment.

Governor Shivers has, in the past and will in the future, advocate making available to our deserving aged citizens not merely enough for meager existence, but sufficient funds to carry them through the evening years of life as proud, dignified citizens.

An increase of $5 in each pension check is due next October.

THE TRUTH ABOUT COUNTY ROAD FUNDS

Farm-to-market road building has been the greatest in history during the Shivers administration.

During Governor Shivers' administration, Mills County has received $522,963 rural road benefits from state highway user taxes as follows:

License fees $107,113; road bond surplus $54,450; construction of farm-to-market roads $182,200; authorized but not under construction $179,200.

In this County, 19 miles of farm-to-market roads have been built, and an additional 18 miles have been authorized for construction, for a total of 37 miles.

Together we will continue to build a greater Texas Allan Shivers over in Morris County. Athens in Henderson County, has interested outside business interests in its advantages with the prospect that the steady drain of population will be stopped. Numerous others examples of ambition and enthusiasm can be cited and, what anybody else can do, we can do too.

As Minister James A. Fry told the Lions Club in a recent talk the drift to great cities because of the centralization of industries in them is just as disturbing as the centralization of government. Our concern ought to be very real because the matter of survival is wrapped up in it. We cannot stand still. Either we go forward or we go back. We have every reason to go forward, to grow and to prosper. Change is inevitable. Things cannot be as they always were. All of us have a stake in the efforts that are being made in behalf of a growing Goldthwaite and those who are working to make dreams come true should be encouraged in every way possible.

ful fun on beaches, in rivers and lakes and in swimming pools and, frankly, I cannot see that a moral issue is involved in any way.

Now, here are some of the remarks that came on YES ballots: "Swimming is one of the best sports that we can give our young people. A pool here would eliminate driving on dangerous highways while going to pools in other towns. A pool would be an outstanding asset to our town." Another YES vote carried, in part, the following remark: "Let's provide better entertainment, better opportunities, better schools, better Churches and a better government for a better people — young and old alike."

Still another YES ballot said: "I think it (a swimming pool) would be very nice." Many of the YES votes simply expressed favor of the swimming pool project and asserted a willingness to support a revenue bond issue and to subscribe to a fund that would give an equity to the undertaking.

I would like to state that during the past two weeks the Eagle has published ALL of the remarks that have accompanied NO votes while, in view of the fact that there were so many YES votes, we have published only a cross-section of the remarks that came with them.

The indication appears to be that unquestionably Goldthwaite and Mills County want a swimming pool and that the sooner we get on with the job the more public interest will be served.

paign of Jesse Owens, who has had considerable experience as a District Judge.

In Mills County Mr. Palmer is unopposed for renomination as Chairman of the Mills County Committee.

On Saturday, Mills County Republicans will hold a precinct convention at the Court House at 2:00 p. m. Persons who participate in the Republican precinct convention will be barred from voting in the Democratic Primary election under the provisions of the Texas Election Code.

Mr. Palmer said that while there will be no Democratic precinct conventions in Mills County on Saturday, the Executive Committee of the Democratic Party will meet at the Court House at 1:00 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon of next week.

Bids For Votes

"Upon the record I have made as your District Judge and my promise to continue the same fair, impartial and honest administration of justice in the future, I respectfully solicit your vote in the coming Democratic primary."

The statement by Mr. Evetts follows:

"As the campaign nears the close I wish to state that first, I am deeply appreciative to the splendid citizens of this district who have without exception, treated me and my candidacy with courtesy and consideration. I have personally handed out more than 40,000 cards and as there are more than 90,000 persons (men, women and children) in this district it has been impossible for me to see each one. I trust that those whom I have failed to see will take into consideration, the vast size of the district and the large number of people and will consider this as my solicitation of their vote, their influence and continued trust and friendship."

"The people of Mills, Lampasas, and Bell Counties, as democratic voters and citizens, will hire a District Attorney on Saturday, July 26th. When you employ an attorney, you look for a man who is qualified, capable, vigorous, honest, and fair. The duties of the office require not only hours of vigorous effort in the court room in the trial of cases, but thorough investigation, research and briefing of all cases, fair and impartial presentation of matters before the grand jury, and attention to the technical questions which opposing counsel may raise. In appellate matters it is also wise to present briefs to the Court of Criminal Appeals.

"I feel that I am capable of accomplishing all these things in a way that will bring credit to this district, and to law enforcement generally in this state. It matters not how efficient your peace officers may be. Their work is in vain unless it is backed up by prompt and vigorous prosecution of the cases before the courts."

In his statement Mr. Carille said:

"I feel that this year the voting citizens are examining the qualifications of the various candidates more closely than ever, consequently, I earnestly request that you carefully examine my qualifications and inquire of my background for the office of District Attorney.

"I have made an effort during this campaign to see and visit with each of the voters in this Judicial District. To those I have missed I would like to take this opportunity to earnestly and sincerely solicit your vote for Tom Carille for District Attorney, of the 27th Judicial District.

"If you see fit to honor me with this high office I pledge to you a prompt, impartial, and vigorous prosecution of all meritorious cases without fear or favor, I am not obligated nor will I become obligated to any group of persons or to any individual, seeking special favor under the law."

Weather Report

C. G. Featherston, who lives on the Caradan Road, said that last Saturday rain on his place measured .1 of an inch. Last Friday there was a very light shower down Scallorn way.

The Eagle's Roy Lee Hill, who, very much against his will and better judgement was made to predict rain for Thursday night of last week, was asked if there had been any rain at his place 3 1/2 miles southwest of Star. "NOOOOO," he roared in reply.

In addition to the reports above, there were some spatters of rain out Mullin way last weekend but how much they measured nobody knows. Anyway, we need more.

Welcome, Meiers!

Newcomers to Mills County include Mr. and Mrs. Milton F. Meier, formerly of Fredericksburg. They now live on the old Echols place between Priddy and Democrat. Mrs. Meier is the former Joy Whitehead of Castorville. Mr. and Mrs. Meier have a son, Douglas, who is nearly a year and a half old.

Mr. and Mrs. Worley Laughlin spent the weekend in Fort Worth with their sons, Bill and Charlie, and their families.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Rhodes visited relatives in Brownwood and Bangs Sunday.
