Swimming Pool Project As It Appeared A Week Ago

Pictured here is part of the group of businessmen who reported for work last week Wednesday morning at five o'clock to help give the pool the first coat of paint.

Left to right they are: Houston Duren, Ray Duren, Claude C. Collier, R. C. Rhodes, LeRoy Stacy, E. B. Gilliam, Jr., Howard Campbell and Warren P. Duren. They had just completed most of the shallow part of the pool and were starting down the incline towards the deep end. In the foreground is Carl Letbetter, who was kept busy with a heavy duty broom clearing the way for the painters.

This picture was taken from the southeast corner of the Pool and also shows the bathhouses and checking room building under construction.

Much progress has been made since that time and actual construction is now in its final stages with fence and sidewalks around the pool being completed.

INCENTIVE BEST

In a national letter writing contest conducted by a manufacturing company on the subject "How I Can Benefit From Free Competitive Enterprise," replies were received from every state and Alaska and Hawaii. The winner was Carolyn Heintz.

She said, "There isn't any miracle about our power to produce; it's just that our system of incentives and rewards is a better spur than force."

Production results from individual opportunity, free from repressive government.

GOT $5,800 TO SPARE?

Our national debt, which now is close to $263,000,000,000, could be paid off immediately. All that is necessary is for each and every family in this country to donate $5,874!

Yes — that's correct. Your family's share of our staggering debt is more than $5,800. That is our heritage from a series of wars coupled with waste and financial recklessness in government. And that's why our biggest domestic problem is to cut government costs, to balance the budget, to start reducing the debt as soon as we can, and to reduce the tax burden.

U. S. Air Force Seeking Lightweight Jet Fighter Jet Aces Declare MIGs Outmaneuver U. S. Craft

WASHINGTON—The Air Force, which has been frequently criticized lately because United States jet fighters are too heavy, is working overtime on the development of a lightweight craft. It has already begun serious consultations with a major airplane manufacturer in the hopes of turning out a plane that will match the MIG-15 in maneuverability.

Criticism has been hurled at both the Air Force and at American aircraft makers for overloading speedy jets with too many unnecessary pieces of equipment, which add to their weight and rob them of much of their maneuverability.

Jet aces back from Korea have consistently reported that the Russian-built MIG climbs faster, turns more quickly and in general can get around with less effort than do Sabers and Thunderjets.

The aces say the MIG has these advantages because it is a "stripped down" plane without such American "luxuries" as two separate landing-gear systems, self-sealing fuel tanks and many other so-called "safety" features. Besides, say the pilots, the self-sealing fuel tanks turn out to be useless if hit by a cannon shell.

Gen. Nathan Twining

PENTAGON PENNY-PINCHING — Pentagon observers point out that President Eisenhower's reshuffled Joint Chiefs of Staff is notable for the tight-fisted characteristics of some of its members, as well as for their military "savvy."

Gen. Nathan Twining, named to succeed Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg as Air Force chief of staff in the first JCS reorganization move, has won a reputation as one of the shrewdest economizers in the armed forces.

Two officers whose ability to "do the most with the least" has come to the personal attention of the President have been named, respectively, NATO commander and chief of navy operations.

They are Gen. Alfred Gruenther, who served as Ike's right hand man at North Atlantic Treaty Organization headquarters, and Adm. Robert B. Carney, NATO commander in Southern Europe.

The JCS appointments are strictly in line with Mr. Eisenhower's pledge to obtain greater military efficiency at less cost to the taxpayers.

PENNY WISE? — In spite of these economy gestures, the Eisenhower administration's five-billion-plus reduction in ex-President Truman's military budget was bound to raise loud squawks of protest.

In the first place, the action is strongly reminiscent of the reductions in military spending made by former Defense Secretary Louis Johnson shortly before the Korean war began.

Many blame the Johnson cuts for the fact that U. S. forces were not prepared to turn the Communists back in their tracks at the outset.

Actually, though, the ex-secretary's economics did not go deep enough to have any appreciable effect on the state of military readiness in the Far East.

The best military minds presumably are convinced that the same holds true in the present situation. The whole Eisenhower strategy in military matters is geared to "Not necessarily the biggest, but the best."

Congress, of course, has the last word on spending. There is a good chance that, despite protests within its own ranks, Capitol Hill may decide that the President hasn't gone far enough and will trim funds for the military even more than he suggested.

VIC'S SOLILOQUY

When fourteen local businessmen got up early to make their appearance last week Wednesday morning about five o'clock at the swimming pool to paint the pool floor it was a good picture to behold—after they all got to work.

When this reporter arrived on the scene—at six o'clock—they were all there on the job, but not one would commit himself as to whether they all got there on time. The important fact was they were there to do a job and a good job they did in record time, too.

About that time Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Wicker came with their picture taking equipment and went to work. The results of what happened you can see on later pages of this paper. It took considerable maneuvering to get some of them "shot," but, in most cases it worked out just fine. Guess they realized that it may prove as evidence that they were out there lending their support by wielding the paint brush to the community project.

V. C. Bradford started out painting with a two inch brush — but soon graduated to the position of straw boss. After that time they kept him busy mixing paint — pouring it from one five gallon bucket to another — and delivering it to the rest of the gang as they called for more.

The one guy displaying the best looking brush, from all indications, was LeRoy Stacy who came out on the job with what appeared to be a brand new one and, by the way, it was a good sized brush too.

After working away for some time Howard Campbell got up and took a good stretch and looked around to see what everyone was doing, then he commented: "Boy, I've been working for an hour and fifteen minutes without a smoke—it's time for a good smoke now."

There for a while it looked like Warren P. Duren was really getting behind with his strip of territory that he was trying to hold down with the assembly line of painting the floor of the pool as they moved downhill. Well, after a while one of the fellows gave him a bit of support by stating he got behind because he went after a cup of coffee. You see coffee was being served on the ground.

Houston Duren was busy hoeing his row down by the west telope Gap community visited relatives in this city the first of the week.

Four trains a day will seem queer for a time, but we will soon get accustomed to these city ways.

Grover Price, son of Mr. J. V. Price, called at the Eagle office this week to see how the Great Religious Weekly was printed.

R. E. Clements and family left Wednesday night for a visit to G. W. Cunningham and family.

W. J. Oliver and family now occupy the Urquhart dwelling on Fisher Street, just opposite Prof. Hatcher's school.

J. C. Bayley of Pleasant Grove had business in this city Tuesday.

W. C. Barnett, City Utilities manager, who has been supervising the job of constructing the pool, was on the job from early until late as he has been for the past several weeks. W. C. has been plenty occupied since the project started and is pushing for completion as soon as possible.

They tried their best for a while to get Claude Collier, President of the Lions Club, fenced in with paint all around him but he seemed to manage to keep up his end of the row without too much trouble. When they came to the end of the line he was right there with the rest of them.

Louis Glass, A. L. Whittaker and V. A. Hudson spent some time putting the finishing touches on the white wall and then buckled down to the task of helping the rest in getting the pretty blue coat on the floor. "Whit" said: "I'll get over here in the corner where I'll not be in somebody's way." To this "Brad" replied: "I tried to tell them when I first came out here I might get in someone's way, but they wouldn't listen to me."

Working as tirelessly as he has during the past year for the swimming pool was Ray Duren at the job of getting the floor painted. He was there at the start and at the finish.

E. B. Gilliam, Jr., took his first row right down the middle of the pool. He wouldn't look one way or the other, very much. Just kept on painting. When one remarked that they were getting paint on their clothes, Ed said: "Well, that'll show the family you were down here painting."

They said that R. C. "Doc" Rhodes was down there, looking on the spot, when five o'clock came to get started. He had a lot to say all through the job until just before it finished. He was caught at the far end with a strip to be painted to the ladder to get out. When the rest of them started to clear out he shouted: "Don't all you fellows leave once."

Carl Letbetter spent most all of his time pushing a broom. When he got caught with sweeping dirt he started on paint. He and his broom were in the way of a flash bulb in the way of a flash bulb. Just before leaving photographer B. C. Wicker asked Carl what he would give to keep that picture away from Mrs. Letbetter.

Eagle Readers Are Being Polled On Views For Price Support Program

Citizens of Texas and Colorado are being offered the opportunity to express their views as to the agricultural program this week through publication of a ballot in their weekly papers...

The secret ballot, which need not be signed, is being carried this week in regular edition. The reason for this poll is the apparent differences of opinion between some organized groups and the rank and file producers...

The state livestock paper of Colorado, The Denver Record-

Stockman, last week ran the ballot. A partial count of the ballots revealed that 43 per cent voted in favor of livestock and grain supports...

The Eagle will co-operate in the poll and Ted Gouldy of the Live Stock News Service in Fort Worth has offered to tabulate the returns from the some 350 Texas county newspapers...

Cover-Up Story

By VERA WINSTON

THE stole is doing quite a job this season, appearing with suits, with dresses and on its own. It is attractively shown with a pretty dress of printed cotton that makes much use of tucking. This detail is used strategically on the bodice where it alternates with stitching to give a firm, snug look. The low neckline is supported by shoulder straps which are of solid black as is the piping on the bodice. The tucking is repeated at the hips from which unpressed pleats give fullness. The stole is lined in black and is reversible.

PARENT PROBLEM

The Accident-Prone Child

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

YOU and I have read of accident-prone adults, persons who meet with one accident after another. Many of these accident-prone persons may have been victims of accidents in all sorts of situations in childhood.

You know the child from two to eight, even older, who is always getting hurt. He may be very high-strung, rushing here and there pell-mell. Like the automobile driver with many accidents, this child may usually be in too great a hurry.

Poised Family Atmosphere

Anything we can do to quiet him down and help him feel more composed and serene should decrease his accidents. To this end we may need to quiet ourselves down and provide him with a more poised family atmosphere.

The child's seeming excitability may come from other causes, such as worries and anxieties deeply hidden in him. We may help him, therefore, through more love and understanding.

And, of course, the child who often gets hurt may have poor physical coordination or poor vision.

Just to shout at a child to "Look where you are going" when he bumps into an object or another person, hardly helps. But to find ways to induce him to walk instead of running when no haste is needed should bear fruit.

Hurt Playing Games

Sometimes, even a child from five to twelve, who usually seems calm, may grow excited and tend to bump into things and get injured or hurt in games, especially of the competitive type.

To punish a child after he has bumped into something or injured it or himself during restrained activity, is unwise. Damage has been done. The problem is to prevent accidents henceforth. When two youngsters chase each other through the house throwing objects at each other, don't wait till one is injured. Some precious piece of furniture is broken. See that they are violent action at once.

Cultivate more quiet and wholesome activities.

Teenage Awkwardness

The boy or girl entering his early teens may be very awkward, often falling over or dropping things. During rapid-growing periods, attention is poor, a fact which is overlooked.

So many of his accidents are emotional causes and his awkwardness and clumsiness may be magnified by his parents. They ridicule or scold him for being so awkward and careless. Such times we should strive to be as gracious as if he were a guest. When we treat a child as a guest, we win more respect for him and ourselves. We win more respect for him and ourselves. We win more respect for him and ourselves.

Paul's Joy in Christ

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Philippians

During Paul's imprisonment in Rome for two years before his martyrdom he lived in his own house, but was continuously chained to a Roman soldier, even while writing epistles to the various churches.

Paul was allowed visitors with whom he pleaded the cause of Christ. The soldiers guarding him heard this talk, as Paul writes to the Philippians, "my bonds become manifest in Christ in all the palace"

Paul writes of sending his "brother and companion," Epaphroditus to Philippi. He had been very sick, Paul writes, but "God had mercy on him; and not on him only, but on me also, lest I should have sorrow upon sorrow."

Paul ends his epistle to the Philippians by thanking them for gifts brought to him by Epaphroditus. He called them "an odor of a sweet smell, a sacrifice acceptable, well pleasing to God." MEMORY VERSE—Philippians 4:7.

Mullin "One And Eight Class" Of 1915 Has Reunion Last Sunday

MRS. GEO. B. GOLIGHTLY of the One and Eight Class of Mullin High School of 1915 held her annual reunion Sunday at the First Methodist church at the eleven o'clock hour when the Principal and former instructor at time of graduation, E. W. Deckert, delivered the sermon at which time the members of the class and their families were present. Also the Superintendent of the class of 1915, A. H. Daniel, and his wife of Waco were present.

After Church Services the group went to Wilson Park where a picnic lunch was served.

In the afternoon a program was rendered at which time the secretary of the class, Mrs. M. Worthman of Tuttle, Oklahoma, was in charge of the program.

Special music was rendered by the present Superintendent of the Mullin Schools, W. Newhouse, and his family. It consisted of special vocal numbers and one clarinet solo.

George B. Golightly of Mullin, a member of the class, gave a class history which dated back to 1906 when three members of the class started to school and had as their first teacher, Miss Erma Harrison, who now resides at Goldthwaite and who was present at the reunion to greet her former pupils. The history took in the members of the class who entered during the years, and related some of the pranks played and also some of the more serious moments.

Several former teachers were present who made short talks, along with class members and friends.

The principal address was given by Rev. Mr. Deckert and was followed by A. H. Daniel.

The class decided to not have their reunion next year since three members live out of the state, but to have a big and better one in 1955, when it will have been forty years since their graduation.

Members of the class include: Willie Wasserman, Mullin; Mrs. George B. Golightly, Hamilton; Mrs. Will Dixon, Bangs; Mrs. Katie Pyburn, Waco; Mrs. Robert S. Bowen, Dallas; Mrs. Nettie Alsbrooks, Levelland; Mrs. Gilbert Chancellor, Hot Springs, New Mexico; Mrs. Frank M. Wortman, Tuttle, Oklahoma; and Mrs. Homer Robertson, Phoenix, Arizona.

Tom Henry Goes To Mullin

Tom Henry has been selected as Vocational Agriculture teacher of Mullin Schools, according to announcement by Ben Newhouse, superintendent.

Mr. Henry, who has taught in Goldthwaite Schools, has been associated with San Saba Schools for the past several years. He is expected to move to Mullin sometime this week and will assume his new duties shortly.

LONE STAR Agriculture Released by The Texas Department of Agriculture

By John C. White, Commissioner

A NEW LOOK AT THE DROUGHT

The Southwest—and Texas in particular—is still locked in the searing hot grip of drought. No one is more conscious of this fact, nor feels its effect more than our state farmers and ranchers. Every day, untold thousands more dollars in crop and beef production are paid in tribute to the merciless sun.

The drought made its appearance over three years ago. Record high temperatures in June ushered in the threat much earlier than last year. What will be its effect on yields and dollar gains in 1953? Although it is too early to accurately predict actual money losses, a look at the cotton and cattle situation gives an advance picture as to what we may expect.

Judging from conditions of late June, Texas farmers will be fortunate if their 1953 cotton production equals last year's 3,808,000 bales. And last year was far from being normal since the state is capable of raising nearly 6 million bales.

Without immediate additional moisture in our cotton areas, we may expect the present production outlook of some 3,800,000 bales to fall off even more before the official U. S. D. A.

Parents Should Apply For School District Transfers

John L. Patterson, ex-officio County School Superintendent, stated today that all parents who intend to send their children to school in any school other than in their home district, should make application before August 1, 1953.

It is important that children be transferred through the County Superintendent's office in order that these pupils may be counted on the average daily attendance of the receiving

The same is true of all 12 major shipping points in Texas.

One day last month, cattle receipts at a large Texas market totaled 10,500 head—the greatest number received at that point since August 8, 1934.

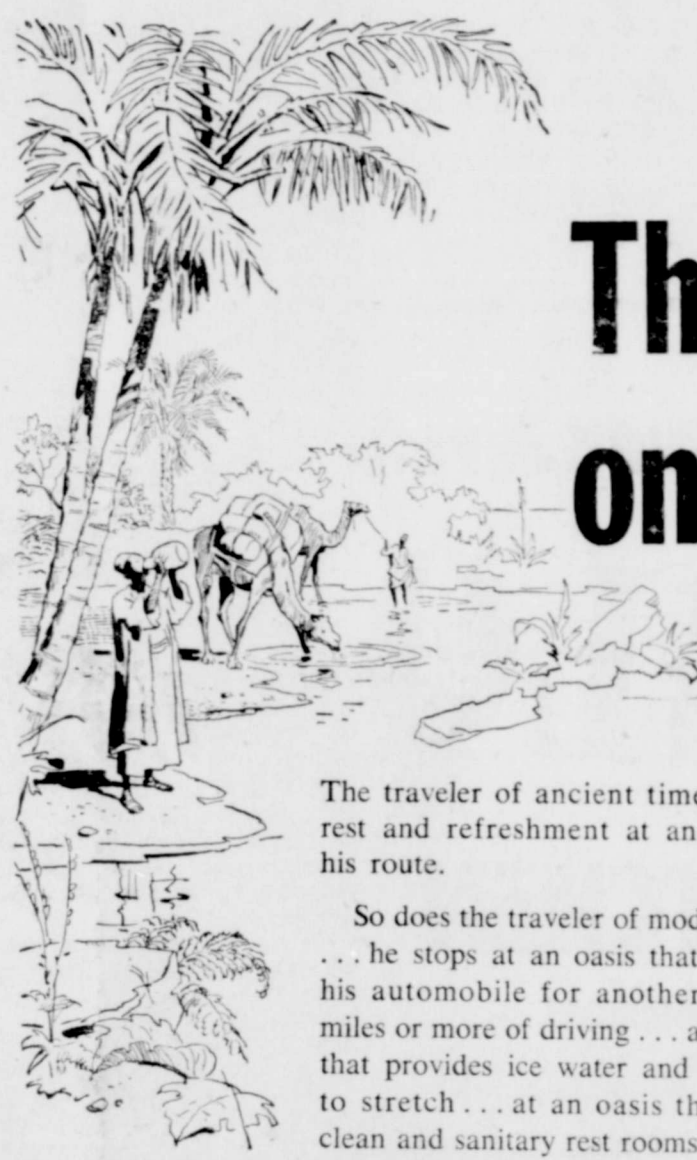

These two commodities alone — cotton and cattle — indicate it is time for farmers and ranchers to tighten their belts. Once again we may have to look for disaster relief from the federal government. The movement is underway now to secure help for our stricken agriculture. If aid is secured from a sympathetic government, we will once more surmount the mounting obstacle of drought.

The Mills County Board of Education will meet early in August to consider transfers. The date of this meeting will be announced later.

The OASIS on your route

The traveler of ancient times sought rest and refreshment at an oasis on his route.

So does the traveler of modern times... he stops at an oasis that prepares his automobile for another hundred miles or more of driving... at an oasis that provides ice water and a chance to stretch... at an oasis that offers clean and sanitary rest rooms... at an oasis where our traveler can give and get a friendly greeting.

Today's oasis is the service station on the American highway.

It makes your trip. It provides your contact with the country through which you're driving. On its driveway you feel at home; you get the impression wherever you stop, that this is your America.

Not one service station, but thousands of them. All along the highways you'll find them staffed and equipped to give your car the expert care it requires, to make your brief visits on their driveways comfortable and pleasant.

The service station where you buy gasoline and motor oil is your chief contact with the American oil industry. It is probably an individual enterprise; and it competes to give you better service and better products than another station down the street or on the other side of town. No small part of the oil industry's progress in the service of the motorist finds final expression on service station driveways.

Lathon Jernigan Will Sail On July 8 For Sixty-Five Day European Tour

Paris, Amsterdam, Vienna, French Riviera, Brussels, Rome, Bonn, Venice, London, Holland, Salzburg and Edinburg Music Festivals! It sounds like a remote dream or life ambition, but it will actually happen to Lathon Jernigan, son of Mr. and

LATHON JERNIGAN

Mrs. Malcolm Jernigan of Goldthwaite. Lathon, who is a piano pupil of Mrs. Mary Ellen Trent Schulze of Goldthwaite and Miss Grace Switzer of Dallas, has recently been awarded his Diploma from the Sherwood Music School of Chicago, Illinois, of which Dr. Leo Podolsky is the Vice President. Lathon will meet Dr. and Mrs. Podolsky in New York, joining there the rest of the group whom the Podolskys are taking for an educational tour to Europe. The group will represent many states. The tour will last about sixty-five days.

Dr. Podolsky, himself a concert pianist, instructor, and lecturer, is the editor of classical Sonatas and other works, foreign editor for the "Southwestern Musician" musical magazine, and a member of The International Academy of the Mozarteums at Salzburg, Austria. Being a world traveler, and having resided in a re-visited Europe quality Dr. Podolsky to conduct a tour which includes not only places which will be of most interest to the music student but to anyone seeking to broaden their cultural and educational outlook.

The tour leaves July 5th on the liner "U. S. S. Constitution" and arrives in Gibraltar on July 14th. Fifteen days are to be spent touring Spain and Portugal and visiting their principal cities such as Granada, Malaga, Seville, Toledo, Salamanca, Barcelona, Lisbon, Tueduz, Sintra, Cascais, Estoril, Belem, Alcobaca, Leiria, Bussaco (to visit the former King's palace) and a fast boat trip to Palma, Majorca to visit Chopin's cell in the Monastery with his piano still there. Flying to Cannes, France, the group will take a short Mediterranean cruise after a glimpse of the French Riviera, Monte Carlo, Nice etc., to Naples, Italy. Principal cities to be visited in Italy are Pompeii, Amalfi, Sorrento, Capri, Rome, Venice and Florence, Vicenza, Verona, Milan and Bolzano—attending all possible concerts, recitals, operas and festivals along the entire trip. On August 13th, the group takes a plane north and crosses Austrian Alps into Munich, Germany, Aregsburg, Berchtesgaden and Konisee (visiting "Hitler's Eagle Nest"). From there the group takes a bus tour via Innsbruck to Salzburg, Austria. The party will spend ten days at Salzburg, birthplace of Mozart, and world-famous for its music festivals. Both registered members of the group and local students will study with Dr. Podolsky in the Mozarteums, renowned musical institution. Dr. Podolsky has had the distinction of being appointed on the International Summer Academy faculty in 1949, representing the United States as guest artist-teacher, and has been re-invited for this summer. Members of the group will be given the unique opportunity to attend symposiums conducted by some of the great artists and conductors appearing with the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra, and will attend many lectures and festival events.

After Salzburg, if the party is not crowded for time, there will possibly be time for a short side trip to Vienna. The group will leave Austria to go back through Germany to Nurnberg, Frankfurt (birthplace of Goethe), Heidelberg (a concert given for the group by chosen students of the Conservatory of Music), a boat ride on the Rhine to Bonn (Beethoven's birthplace, also a reception) and on to Holland's Music Festival in Amsterdam, and also visiting the Hague and the beautiful seaside resort of Scheveningen. On to Belgium, the group visits the cities of Brussels, Bruges, Antwerp, Ghent, Malines (world-famous chimes) and Ostend.

In their chartered motor-coach for the trip, they will go to Paris, France. Attending a formal performance of the Paris Opera is an experience which will long be remembered by the group. Also, a historic concert is to be given at Versailles. Other high-lights in the incomparable "Paree" will be tours to the Cathedral of Notre Dame, Eiffel Tower, the Arc de Triomphe—also to the house where Chopin died. A reception for the group is to be given by the Conservatoire Russe, with many representatives of the musical and diplomatic Paris. A drive through France to Biarritz (where a special Festival of Basque dances will be attended), and back to Rouen from where the party files to London.

After a stay in London the group will make a trip through the Shakespearean country, visiting Oxford, Windsor, Eton, Sulgrave Manor (ancient home of the Washington family and the foremost of American shrines in Britain) and many other old-world towns. After a visit to the Edinburg Music Festival, the group will fly back to New York on September 8th with a life-time of memories crowded into sixty-five days.

TODAYS Menu

Foods to Cook Over Open Fire

By ALICE DENHOFF

PICNIC time coming! And what is there that tastes as delectable, as satisfying, as downright perfect as the foods prepared over an open fire and consumed out-of-doors at the very first picnic of the season? Food that cooks quickly and can be eaten between buses is easiest and best, be it steak or hamburger. But good and not expensive is round steak when prepared this way.

Roll thin strips of round steak around onion and sliced pickle, and roll the whole thing in a jacket of bacon strips. Skewer together and broil slowly. They can be eaten right off the skewer.

To Flavor Steaks

And here's what an old barbecue hand suggests for those occasions when you want to have your steaks just right in flavor.

When the coals in the grill have turned red, toss 2 or 3 cut garlic cloves directly under your steaks. The garlic fumes will flavor the meat as it cooks, giving it the right, hearty flavor for an outdoor meal.

Come picnic time and the humble hamburger really comes into its own. Form the patties of ground meat mixed with minced onion and seasoning before you leave home. Place between aluminum foil or heavy waxed paper, and they're ready to cook when the fire is right. Sear on one side, then broil on the other, working quickly to keep the meat juicy.

Frankfurter Ideas

Then there's that other monarch of the picnic, the frankfurter, mainstay when the budget begins to sag.

To dress these favorites up in style, split large frankfurters down their middles, spread with prepared mustard, fill with chopped pickle, then turn over to the cooking department to broil. Chances are that you'll find this one the most requested item on your picnic menu right through the season.

For another fancy frank idea, split them lengthwise, insert a finger-sized piece of cheese in each and top with a slice of bacon. Broil until cheese is melted and bacon is cooked. Serve in long buns.

Lamb Shoulder Steaks

If the usual fare begins to pall, here's an idea—lamb shoulder steaks. They're thrifty buy and good eating when cooked over an outdoor grill. Broil them exactly as you would beefsteak.

For an inexpensive and easy picnic dish, put in kettle one potato for each person and cover with water. When spuds are almost tender, add enough frankfurters for everybody and heat thoroughly. With buttered buns, ketchup, fresh fruit and cookies for dessert, you have a simple and tasty picnic meal.

Oh, not yet lay by thy sword, O Freedom! Nor yet close thy lids in slumber, For thine enemy never sleeps. And thou must watch and combat.

—William Cullen Bryant

As Benjamin Franklin left Independence Hall, a woman asked him, "Mr. Franklin, what kind of a government have you given us?" He answered gravely, "A Republic, madam, if you can keep it." In painting this Independence Day scene in Hometown, U.S.A., the artist, E. Franklin Wittmack, has found an echo of Franklin's warning in a quotation from the poet William Cullen Bryant. The historic scene of Magna Charta, the signal light on old North Church Tower, the embattled "rebels" of a great new nation—symbolize the hard-won victories, and the priceless freedom, which, on Independence Day 1953, are given every Hometown in the land—not done to celebrate, but to protect.

120,009 turkeys on Purina Plan average 4 POUNDS FEED PER POUND GAIN!

Just about every turkey grower feeding the Purina Way last year reported better-than-ever results. Fifty-three of these growers sent their records to Purina. These records show 120,009 turkeys averaged 3.99 pounds of feed per pound of turkey... that's feed conversion that would have seemed almost impossible a few years back.

Census Bureau Issues Report On Texas Farmers

The average Texas farmer is a little over 49 years of age and has operated the same farm for 12 years, according to a report of the 1950 Census of Agriculture just received by Supervisor James M. Hamilton of the Census Bureau's district office at Fort Worth, Texas.

The report is a preprint of the General Report, 1950 Census On Agriculture, Volume II, Chapter 2, and presents data on age, residence, years on farm, work off the farm and other income of farm operators. The preprint is available from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, for $1 per copy.

Texas farm owners, on an average, are 11.4 years older than farm tenants, according to the Census report which states the average age of farm owners as 54.0 years and the average age of farm tenants as 42.6 years. Among farm operators reporting on number of years of residence on the same farm, owners averaged 16 years and tenants averaged 6 years.

Almost two out of five Texas farmers derived income from work off the farm, according to Census Bureau. Of 331,416 Texas farm operators enumerated in the 1950 Census, 135,670 reported work off the farm in 1949 and 60.7 per cent of these had worked 100 days or more off the farm.
