Austin, Texas— Ex-Land Commissioner Bascom Giles continues to make headlines as investigation of the veterans' land program expands in an ever-widening circle.

Giles, former chairman of the Veterans Land Board was indicted at San Antonio on a charge that he accepted a bribe of $30,000 from real estate and cattlemen C. B. Wynn and Arthur McKenzie. They too were indicted. Giles made bond of $50,000; Wynn and Arthur McKenzie bonds were $2,500 each.

Earlier, Giles and L. V. Ruffin and C. B. Sheffield were indicted by the Travis County grand jury on conspiracy to defraud the state of $82,500. Giles made bond of $60,000 in the Travis cases.

In San Antonio, Giles was reported as saying that when he comes to trial he will have plenty to say.

"I welcome an opportunity to stand trial on this case so that the full facts can be developed," Giles stated. "There's certainly another side to this whole story, and I'll tell it to the proper authorities at the proper time."

Governor Shivers has released a letter to investigators offering to testify publicly. He said, "The public is entitled to have the facts and to have them now—without a smokescreen of veiled threats, rumors and insinuations."

Attorney General John Ben Shepperd already has appeared before every grand jury investigating block land sales, and before both houses of the Legislature. He has stated publicly that he would testify at any time.

A full investigation of every phase of land office operations since Giles took office as commissioner on Jan. 1, 1939 was called for by Rep. D. B. Hardeman of Denison. He introduced a bill in the House appropriating $500,000 for the special investigation.

Meanwhile Shepperd filed a civil suit for the state, against Giles, for recovery of $171,428 assertedly paid out in two block land deals with Ruffin and Sheffield.

A special grand jury to continue land investigations was empaneled at Austin, on request of District Attorney Les Proctor. The State has provided Procedure.

Local Girl Scouts And Brownies To Start Cookie Sale Tomorrow

The Goldthwaite Girl Scouts Association is conducting a second annual cookie sale from Friday, March 18, through Saturday, March 26th. The purpose of the cookie sale is to raise funds for the development of a new campsite for the Heart of Texas Girl Scout Council, of which Goldthwaite is an associate member.

This sale is being conducted throughout the Heart of Texas Council in the following counties: Brown, Callahan, Coleman, Comanche, Eastland, Erath, Jack, McCulloch, Mills, Palo Pinto, Parker, Runtless, Shackelford, Stephens, Throckmorton, and Young.

The Texas State Parks Board has granted to the Heart of Texas Council a 50 year lease on approximately 70 acres of land in the 36th Division State Park. There is included in the lease about 800 feet of shoreline. The State Park is located on the north side of Lake Brownwood about 15 miles south of Cross Plains, which means it is very near the geographical center of the Council and would be accessible to all girls within the 16-county Council jurisdiction.

Establishing a camp on this site will mean that the Goldthwaite Girl Scout Association will have a part in offering our Girl Scouts an enlarged camping program with activities that they never before had an opportunity to enjoy. Boating, sailing, and a more extensive waterfront program will mean much to every girl who is a Girl Scout.

With inadequate and fluctuating camping facilities, the Heart of Texas Council, since its organization in 1947, has supplied only 15% of its registered membership of approximately 2,000 girls with a sound and desirable established camping period during every summer. With the development of this new campsite, the Council will have facilities adequate for camping at least 60% of the present registered membership. The site contains sufficient acreage to allow for expansion as the membership grows from year to year.

Camping in natural surroundings is as vital to the normal growth of girls as it is to boys. Every girl who joins a Girl Scout troop has high hopes for the new experiences and fun Girl Scouting holds for her. The climax of her experience is in camp.

Although the progress may seem slow, initial steps have been taken to get the camp underway. The architect has completed plans for the camp which have been approved by the Camping Division of Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. The State Parks Board has also given its approval. Therefore, it is hoped that after this 1955 Cookie Sale there will be enough funds to let the contracts for the water system and sewage disposal system, and perhaps one troop camp cabin.

This cookie sale and future cookie sales will be the principal source of funds for developing the Girl Scout camp. It is a selling campaign and the girls request that no donations be offered there. When we buy Girl Scout cookies, we will be helping to provide better camping program, not only for the girls in Goldthwaite who are Girl Scouts now, but for those who will be Girl Scouts in years to come.

Mrs. Jesse Moreland, Chairman of the Cookie Sale for Goldthwaite, has announced that last year local Girl Scouts and Brownies sold an average of 12 boxes of cookies. They have set their goal this year of 18 boxes for each girl in the sales campaign.

No Third Major Party On Next Year's Ballot
Fewer Strikes Expected After Unions' Merging

WASHINGTON—You can discount the recent talk about the possibility of a third major political party appearing on the ballot in the 1956 presidential election.

It is doubtful that the Republican wing opposed to the Eisenhower administration could muster enough strength to put a presidential candidate in the field despite its Lincoln Day blast at Ike. GOP Chairman Leonard Hall and other regular Republicans also say that dissident members of the party will be back in the fold by election day despite their grumbling.

Of course, Democrats would like to see a second Republican group come into the picture. With a split in GOP ranks, their chance of winning back the White House would be enhanced. However, even the most optimistic Democrats are not counting on such a possibility. They feel sure Eisenhower will run for re-election and that the Republicans will close ranks behind him, whatever their disagreements.

UNION UNITY—Look for fewer strikes when merger of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations takes effect sometime within a year. That is the word from labor experts who contradict speculation that walkouts will become more frequent because of labor unity and the resultant increase in the power of organized workmen.

These experts point out that many strikes are caused by jurisdictional disputes between unions. The merger will largely do away with such disputes, since there will be far less competition for collective bargaining rights.

However, more important, the experts say that, although the merger will mean larger strike funds, union leaders are likely to scale down their pay-raise demands when they no longer have to "make a record" to keep their workers from thinking they could do better with some other union, or to attract workers who are still unorganized. Thus management will be better able to meet union demands or compromise on them without a strike.

Incidentally, the experts say Walter Reuther is far from through as a powerful labor force despite the fact that George Meany will be the first AFL-CIO president. They point out that Reuther is still president of the powerful auto workers' union, which, merger or not, will be the pacemaker for the pay demands of organized labor.

HOUSING—The government wants to find out just how sound is the continuing boom in the housing industry. Federal men are making surveys to check vacant houses and apartments against home-building activity.

A Commerce department spokesman says there is nothing alarming about the high rate of home construction since there are unfilled housing requirements in virtually every state. However, what is lacking is up to date information on which the expansion can be accurately measured. The last survey of this kind was in 1950.

LAME DUCK PERILS—The perils of a "lame duck" were best exemplified recently in Washington by former Rep. Harold C. Hagen (R), Minnesota, who was defeated for re-election last fall. Hagen was mentioned prominently as a good bet for a high-paying job with the Government Printing Office. He was, that is, until it came to the attention of Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield.

It was recalled suddenly that Hagen led an outspoken fight against an increase in postal rates advocated by Summerfield. Hagen no longer is in the running for the job.

SOLILOQUY

FROZEN HOST was the title of a little article written by Dick Emmons in which he seemed to take words out of many a man's mouth. Further caption of his episode stated "With guests due, this writer can't smoke or eat—or breathe on the picture window. . . ."

Mr. Emmons said: "Life around our house, a pleasant little mortgage-covered villa surrounded by special assessments, can be very relaxed indeed. Except for the half hour or so when everything's ready and we're waiting for party guests to arrive. . . ."

"Occasionally, though, when I get to fretting about the state of world affairs or next week's dental appointment, I forget myself. It happened the other night at Guest Arrival Hour Minus Ten. . . ."

"For some reason, animal impulse, I suppose, I unconsciously reached in my shirt pocket, pulled out a cigarette and lit it. "Yipe!" croaked my wife. "What's the matter with you? You know you can't use an ash tray now!"

"Something inside me snapped, I guess," I said shakily. "I'll go lean over the kitchen sink and smoke it."

Several hundred words about a sparkling sink followed and Miss Mary Isenhower, teacher of the Chappell Hill school, was a visitor at this office yesterday.

J. H. Randolph this week bought the interest of Jesse Lowe in the lumber business here and will continue the two yards as heretofore.

Mullin and vicinity was visited by a heavy hail storm Wednesday afternoon. A note from Dr. Herrington to the Eagle stated that hail drifted against the railroad several feet deep and that over 400 panes of glass were broken in Mullin by the hail stones. Reports say the storm passed through a narrow strip from east to west and some of the stones were real large.

J. S. Kuykendall, who recently purchased from Mr. Fairman the lot just opposite Dr. Wilson's residence, is having a residence built thereon.

A. J. Gatlin this week bought 100 bales of cotton from farmers of Harkyville, San Saba County, and a part of the cotton has already been delivered. The price was 7 cents and upwards.

T. F. Elliott was here from Antelope Gap the first of the week.

B. A. Harris returned yesterday from St. Louis where he went to buy additions to his stock of goods.

I finally just used my cupped palm as an ash tray and later went out and buried the butt in the back yard.

THE OLD CONTROL "I don't know what got into me that night, but a moment or so after I came back in, my hand strayed to a pyramid of bonbons. . . ."

"Halt, who goes there?" my wife challenged. "Friend, sir," I replied, reddening. "I just don't seem to have the old control tonight. . . ."

"Hold it, Professor! Don't bruise those pillows! They're plumped to perfection. . . ."

NO FLOWER EITHER "I Don't suppose I could take one of the smaller, late blooming asters out of the centerpiece for my lapel," I said softly a few moments later.

"Touch that floral arrangement I worked on all afternoon and I'll shoot your hand off," my wife said sweetly. "And another thing, Don't stand there breathing on the picture window. . . ."

"Why don't I just stop breathing altogether?" I suggested humbly.

"Luckily, the doorbell rang before she could answer. In the excitement of arriving guests and my sudden release, I showed Charley Newton into the pile of plumped pillows, passes a tray of asters and was eagerly smoking a bonbon in no time at all."

Now that, folks, is what Mr. Emmons had to say about the situation.

YOU ARE NOT ALONE In almost every corner of the earth, the Red Cross is recognized as a symbol of the good neighbor. It may represent you—through your membership in helping other people in times of trouble. Or it may represent warmhearted people, whom you do not know, rallying to your aid in an emergency.

There was a time in our history when people counted on neighbors or close relatives to help them through periods of misfortune. Our way of life stands largely from that period across-the-fence sharing of adversity.

Today life is more complex. Many of us live in the impersonal atmosphere of great cities. Much of our population shifts back and forth across the country, hardly passing a put down neighborly rose. The protective unity of families weakened as individual members scatter from the home community.

But people have not changed. In time of trouble, they need assurance that they are not alone. To help provide this assurance, millions of Americans turn to their Red Cross. Because they join and serve, they are able to extend a friendly hand to those who most need help.

We see that help in the millions of pints of blood given through Red Cross to those who would die without it. We see it when a New England fisherman who lost his boat in a hurricane is given another that he can earn a living for his family. We see it in emergency help to the family of a serviceman who is away from home.

When the Red Cross answers the call of those in need, Americans keep alive one of our great traditions—friendly, neighborly help to our fellow man.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Nickols Attend Theatre Convention In Dallas

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Nickols attended The Drive-In Theatre Convention which was held in Dallas last week on Wednesday they were guests of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer at the company's "Ticket-Selling Workshop" held at the Adolphus Hotel. There were over five hundred Texas Theatre owners and managers present at this convention, the first time in theatre history that that many exhibitors had been together in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Nickols stated they found out that businessmen all over the country are just as happy as the operators of movie theatres about the increase in attendance at the theatre. Business analysts who spoke at the meeting revealed that there is a direct relation between the health of general business and the welfare of the movie theatre in the same community.

In every town, when people go to the movies, this means hundreds of potential buyers of every kind of merchandise, for the theatre patrons all pass the stores windows twice, coming and going. In towns where movie houses have gone out of business, the chief sufferers have always been the merchants in the town. Whole communities of business men have banded together to reopen closed theatres lately to regain patronage lost when movie traffic ceased.

Mr. Nickols said that he has news for the people of Goldthwaite and Mills County. While in Dallas he purchased equipment for Cinemascope, Wide-Screen, and Vista Vision and as soon as it can be installed he will be able to show all pictures made, no matter what process. Some of the Big Ones coming are "The Robe," "White Christmas," "Country Girl," "The Egyptain," "7 Brides For 7 Brothers," and many others.

Brownie Troop 4 Visits Telephone Office And Lockers

By MARSHA EDINGTON
Brownie Troop 4 met in regular meeting at the Little House, March 9, with eight Brownies present.

After the business meeting, refreshments were served by Kay Benningfield, hostess. Then Mrs. Kemp, our leader, took us to the local office of the Southwestern States Telephone Company. Mrs. Frizzelle met us at the door and accompanied us through the building. We saw some very interesting things including the method used in timing a call and how to find prices for long distance calls. We also enjoyed watching the operators at work.

From the telephone office we next visited the Locker Plant. Mrs. Daniel met us and Houston Loudamy took us through the plant beginning at the butcher room and ending in the locker rooms where meat is kept after packaging.

Our thanks to those nice people for helping us learn more about places of business of our community.

Town-Mills Soil Conservation News

REPORT FOR 1954
(Third in a Series of Four)
ORGANIZATIONS ASSISTING THE DISTRICT:

USDA SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE: Through the Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District the services of the technicians of the USDA Soil Conservation Service are made available to landowners and operators of the district. District cooperators, upon request, receive assistance of the technicians. Assistance is available on any phase of soil, water, or plant conservation.

To date 1,522 landowners and operators are cooperators in the District. These cooperators have received assistance in developing conservation programs for protecting and improving their land. During this year, 1,008 district cooperators were given on-site assistance in applying their conservation program to their land. This assistance was in the form of working out water conservation and water disposal problems, management problems on grassland and pastures, soil protection and improvement problems on cultivated land, problems in fishpond and wildlife management.

In connection with the AC Program the Soil Conservation Service has given assistance in laying out, supervising the construction and checking for completion, during the year, 161 tanks, 136 miles of terraces, 9 miles of diversion terraces and 119 acres of conservation irrigation systems.

OTHER FEDERAL AND STATE AGENCIES: The county agent of Brown County has been cooperative in developing programs for the District and informing farmers and ranchers of the services that are available. A great deal of work has been done with the young farm people on the importance and practicability of conservation. For the future of land and our people we are very glad to see our young people receiving this training to prepare them for the future.

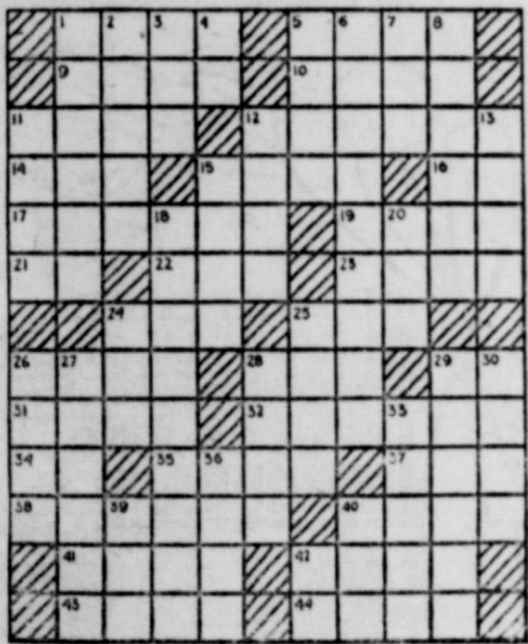

Many of the vocational agriculture teachers of the District are stressing the importance of conservation in agriculture and many of them are training teams for the grass judging and soil judging contests. The ASC Committees in the District have been very cooperative in projecting the basic objective of the Department of Agriculture in the Agricultural Conservation Program. These programs have been developed to fit the needs of the land and the people.

NEW PURINA Bite-Size CHECKER PLAN OF GROWING PULLETS

Compared to usual mash feeding, the new Bite-Size Checker plan can make a big cut in your growing cost. Chicks start eating the new, smaller Checkers when only 4 to 6 weeks old. It takes less feed because pullets spill less out of the hoppers. And the few Checkers that are spilled are quickly picked up—not lost on the ground like mash.

erative in projecting the basic objective of the Department of Agriculture in the Agricultural Conservation Program. These programs have been developed to fit the needs of the land and the people.

The District is looking forward to continued good working relations with the Farmers Home Administration, especially in their new soil and water conservation loan program. This is a program that we feel has been needed for many years. This is a program that should make it possible for many farmers to install conservation measures that they have been unable to finance.

U. S. Department of Interior, Fish and Wildlife Service: The Fish and Wildlife Service has cooperated very closely with the District and has supplied fish to District cooperators to stock 90 ponds. Fish stocked have been bass and blue gill and channal catfish.

BROWN COUNTY FARM AND RANCH CLUB: One of the unique organizations in the Brown-Mills District and the State of Texas is the Brown County Farm and Ranch Club. This organization was organized primarily to promote a better understanding between farmer and business man in matters of mutual interest. Soil Conservation District activities have loomed as a subject in which mutual interest is high. The supervisors of the District have been very much impressed by the interest and action that this organization has taken in the conservation problem of the District. A range field day attended by over 300 people was a very impressive occasion. Especially when local farmers, ranchers, and business men worked closely together to feed the crowd a barbecue dinner free of charge. This is a very good indication of the concern over common problems. All of us working together with this spirit of friendship and common cause will no doubt enable us to overcome all obstacles.

Not only did members of the Farm and Ranch Club supply the barbecue but members also served on the Advisory committee for the District in working out a program that would fit the needs of the land and the people.

In sponsoring the Brown County Youth Fair, the club has given conservation a prominent place in the program with educational booths on conservation and a grass judging contest.

The Sportsman Club of Brownwood is vitally interested in conservation. We are looking forward to working with this organization on problems of farmers and sportsmen.

Two Delicious Pies For the Sweet Tooth

By ALICE DENHOFF
SWEET things today, leading off with a custard meringue pie to delight non-waistline-watchers.

Make the crust by blending together thoroughly about 20 graham crackers, rolled fine to make 1/2 c. crumbs, 1/4 c. softened butter or margarine, and 1/4 c. sugar. Press firmly in an even layer against sides and bottom of 9-in. pie plate. Bake at 375° F. for 8 min. Cool.

Making the Filling
For the filling, scald 2 c. milk in double boiler top. Mix well 1/4 c. sugar, 2 tsp. cornstarch and 1/4 tsp. salt. Add slowly to scalded milk, stirring constantly, and cook over hot water until the mixture thickens. Cover, cook 10 minutes longer.

Beat 3 egg yolks, blend in a little of the cooked mixture and add gradually to rest of mixture in double boiler. Cook 2 min., stirring constantly. Cool; add tsp. vanilla.

Top With Meringue
Four into graham-cracker crust and top with meringue.

To make meringue, add a few grains salt to 3 egg whites; beat stiff but not dry. Continue beating, and gradually add 6 tbsp. sugar, beating until all sugar is added and egg whites stand up in peaks.

Spread on filling. Bake in very hot oven (425° F.) for 5 min.

Apricot Party Pie
Apricot Party Pie is another delectable dessert.

To serve 6-8, boil 2 c. dried apricots in 3 c. water until tender—about 30 min. Add 1/4 c. granulated sugar and cook 5 min. more.

Reserve 12 cooked apricot halves and beat remaining apricots to a pulp. Add 1/2 c. drained crushed pineapple and cook, stirring, until mixture is thick. Cool.

Use Packaged Pudding
Place apricot mixture in a baked 9-in. pie shell; spread with 2 c. cooled thick vanilla cream pudding made from packaged pudding. Decorate with apricot halves and, if desired, garnish with a border of whipped cream. Chill well, before cutting.

Questions And Answers On Filing Income Tax Returns For Year 1954

DIVIDEND EXCLUSION AND DIVIDEND CREDIT

Question: What are the benefits under the new law for 1954 in regard to dividend income?
Answer: There are two. The first is the exclusion of the first $50.00 of dividends received from a domestic corporation, which is a deduction from income. The second is the dividend credit, which is a reduction in the amount of income tax.

Question: What is this $50.00 exclusion?
Answer: For the year 1954, a taxpayer may exclude the first $50.00 received from domestic corporations paying ordinary corporation taxes. No exclusion is allowed on dividends received from corporations that do not pay the regular corporation income taxes.

Question: What are some of the types of corporations that do not pay regular corporation taxes?
Answer: Generally, they will be certain insurance companies, exempt charitable and educational institutions, farmers' exempt cooperatives, most life insurance companies, mutual savings banks, building and loan associations, and savings and loan associations.

Question: What is the dividend credit?
Answer: This is a credit or reduction from the tax. The credit applies only to those dividends received after July 31, 1954 and only from those corporations that pay the regular income taxes. The taxpayer may deduct up to 4% of these dividends from his income tax liability.

Question: Does the taxpayer also get 4% on the $50.00 of dividend excluded from his income?
Answer: No, the credit applies only to that part of the dividends which is subject to income tax.

Question: Are there any limitations on this credit?
Answer: Yes, there are. The 4% gives only the maximum credit. The credit is limited to the total income tax reduced by the foreign tax credit or 2% of the taxable income, whichever is less.

Question: May these dividend benefits be claimed on any type of income tax form?
Answer: The exclusion can be claimed on any form; the 1040-A, Short-Form 1040, and Long-Form 1040. The dividend credit can only be claimed on Short-Form 1040 and Long-Form 1040. It cannot be claimed on the Wage Earners' Return, Form 1040-A.

Question: What is the exclusion for dividends received by married persons who are residents of Texas, a community property state?
Answer: As mentioned above, each taxpayer is entitled to exclude the first $50.00 of dividend income. In Texas, dividend income is community income, with one-half taxable to the husband and one-half taxable to the wife. Therefore, the dividend exclusion for a Texas husband and wife would be allowed to the extent of $50.00 for each, or a total of $100.00.

Question: Should a taxpayer include a schedule with his return to show the details supporting the dividend exclusion and dividend credit?
Answer: Yes. On the 1954 individual income tax return, Form 1040, a Schedule J has been provided to compute the dividend exclusion and credit. This Schedule provides a very practical and logical means of determining the exclusion and credit and if it is completed line by line it will give the correct figures to exclude and the correct credit to use.

Hillside Mission

By LIDA BYRNE

The Bible tells us in Ecclesiastes 1:9 that there is no new thing under the sun. About 3853 years ago fire and brimstone rained on the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, also all the plain, and that which grew upon the ground was overthrown because of sin. (Genesis 19:24). Some of the modern weapons of warfare, we are told, consist of fire and brimstone, and that the explosion of a bomb causes a terrible wind.

"Upon the wicked he shall rain snares, fire and brimstone, and a horrible tempest: This shall be the portion of their cup." Psalms 11:6. In Amos 4:12 we find the admonition, "prepare to meet thy God."

First Baptist Church To Take Part In Simultaneous Evangelistic Crusade

Texas Baptist have set a goal of 100,000 new converts to be baptized into the denomination's churches in the state during simultaneous evangelistic crusades being conducted during March and April.

The crusades involve more than one million Texas Baptist belonging to 2,800 participating churches. An estimated 43,600 evangelistic sermons will be preached in Texas Baptist churches during the crusade.

"The goal of new members," according to Dr. C. Wade Freeman, superintendent of evangelism for Texas Baptists, "means that one new convert must be won for every 14 Baptist church members in the state."

Last year 66,634 converts were baptized into Baptist churches in Texas for a ratio of one baptism for 20 members. Dr. Freeman explains that the goal is high because of the large number of churches participating in the evangelistic crusade. He said, "Souls will be converted and every New Testament faith will feel the impact of evangelism when thousands of people become prayerfully concerned about the spiritual welfare of their neighbors and other friends."

In the southern section of the state, 363 churches began simultaneous evangelistic crusades March 6. The central part of the state will begin similar services March 27 and the northern section April 10. In most instances, churches will conduct two-week revivals. In Goldthwaite services will be conducted March 25 through April 3.

The Texas Baptist evangelism dates coincide with dates for simultaneous evangelism dates being observed by the entire Southern Baptist Convention which is divided into three zones. Approximately 25,500 Southern Baptist churches are participating in the crusades.

Since the Baptist General Convention of Texas started using the plan of simultaneous revivals in 1950, there has been a minimum of 50,000 new members added to Baptist churches in the state each year.

The Cross and Christian Discipleship ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Matthew 21:1-11; Luke 9:23-24; John 12:20-26; II Corinthians 5:14-19; Galatians 2:20-21; 6:14-17.

On their way to Jerusalem, Jesus told two of the disciples: "Go into the village (of Bethphage) and find an ass tied, and a colt with her; loose them, and bring them to Me."

The disciples found the animals as Jesus had said. They untied them and brought them to Jesus. They spread their clothes on the animal and set Christ Jesus on her back.

A multitude followed Jesus. They spread their garments in the way and some cut down branches from the trees and strewed them in the way, and all cried, "Hosanna to the Son of David!"

"And when He was come into Jerusalem, all the city was moved, saying, Who is this? and the multitude said: This is Jesus the prophet of Nazareth." MEMORY VERSE—Matthew 21:9.

Clementine Wilmeth Briley Writes From Temporary Home In El Paso

By CLEMENTINE WILMETH BRILEY

The ACC Bible Lectureship ended Thursday night, Feb. 24. Mr. and Mrs. Andy Cook, who were letting me ride back to El Paso with them, were leaving Abilene until Sunday morning. So I had two more days at my disposal. I visited the library, went to town with Col. Jean, and attended Chapel service. I had often heard the singing of the chapel service over the radio, and it always thrilled me. I found that Lora McDermott, a daughter of Isom Wade, lived near Marie. For a long time Isom lived at Shiloh in San Saba County with his brother, Finis Wade, who had married Alice Dickens, sister to my sister-in-law, the late Mrs. Callie Wilmeth.

When we lived in Brownwood,

Isom boarded with us and went to Daniel Baker College. Later he married Cora Reavis of Locker. And now after all these years, I meet and visited with Lora, third from Lois. She is very sweet and pretty. Just a charming person. She looks more like Isom than her mother. She has attended Tech at Lubbock and the University of Texas, and is now doing research work for the University of Michigan. She has a pretty home and a nice family. Two daughters and a son I met. One daughter graduated from ACC last year, and is now working in a bank. The other graduates this spring. The son will enter this fall. Isom passed away last August in California. Cora still lives there.

Another person I heard of in Abilene I wanted so much to see was Jennie Bacon. I knew her when I was a child at Corlith, Ark. She was then a pretty young lady going with Charlie Bacon, a very nice young man. But Jennie lived near

WILL SAND STORMS COME THIS SPRING?

It is a standard joke that you can see a lot of Texas if you just stand in one spot and watch the land go by.

This has been particularly true the past two years. Many an East and South Texas housewife hurriedly removed her wash town, and it was too far for me to walk.

I tried to call my niece, Beth Cawyer Everett, but couldn't get her. At last I did get her. She and Harold had been buying the time of their lives buying furniture that afternoon. She and her friend, Jane Echols, took me to see Jennie Saturday night. We found her living in a brick mansion. Charlie passed away several years ago. She is in her 80's and has some trouble with her memory. But after we got there she didn't want us to leave, and she made Beth and Jane promise to come to see her again. We went to Beth's where I met Harold, a very handsome, likeable lad. He and Beth brought me back to Marie's.

Sunday morning Andy Cook came for me. Marie had fixed up chrysanthemum and daisy plants for me, and her neighbor had given me a lot of irises. Andy loaded me and the flowers and took me to the home of his wife's parents. We all went to early morning church services which were over at ten. Before eleven we were on our way. We went the northern route passing through Anson, Snyder, Lamesa, Seminole, Hobbs, N. M., Carlsbad, N. M., and Salt Flat. Most of it country I had never seen before. As we passed through Snyder, I watched for the bank building on the southwest corner of the square that stands in the spot that was once the home of my half brother, the late A. C. Wilmeth, where I stayed and went to school when I was seventeen. Not far from El Paso we passed over some very mountainous country. Mary Cook said it was the foot hills of the Rockies. About eight o'clock, El Paso time, they delivered me to my door, flowers and all. Johnny was better and my folks all seemed glad to see me. It had been a wonderful week.

this winter. If above-normal winds come to the region this spring as they did last year, farmers probably will have a serious dust problem.

If the sand comes, it will again point up the need for adequate conservation practices. The government in the past has provided cooperative funds to encourage permanent improvements that will protect the soil in "blowing" areas. Protected land is the only sure solution to the annual problem.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Featherston and children of Kermit were guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Featherston and Linda and other relatives and friends several days recently.

HOLY SYMBOL OF CHRISTIANITY — EMBLAZONED IN SNOW ON A MOUNTAIN IN HOLY CROSS NATIONAL MONUMENT, COLORADO

The woman who has used an electric clothes dryer would never think of hanging her wash on a line again. She has learned that she can do her washing in any kind of weather, with a minimum of work and trouble. She knows that clothes dried electrically are cleaner, without smoke or dust to soil them. She has found, too, that the clothes dryer is easier on her family's clothes. They wear better and hold their color better, when wind and sun cannot damage them. She knows all these things, because she has learned from experience.

Research facts bear out her experience. The Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station found that "while items dried in the dryer 50 times were as white as those dried outdoors. As for holding color and preventing fading, the dryer excels. All colors—even those washed 50 times in hot detergent water—remained deep and clear except one unstable blue dye. All items faded in the outdoor drying, even though they were in partial shade."

TAX BILLS PENDING

Deadline for introduction of new bill in the Legislature arrived at midnight Friday. It found a wide variety of "big" tax bills out of which the House may choose its selection of $35 million in new money for general purposes— and a possible $45 million for highways.

Administration-sponsored were the Murphy two-cent gasoline tax increase and the Kirklind one-cent cigarette tax increase. Neither has been set for committee hearing.

Heard by committee and sent to sub-committee was Rep. Jerry Sadler's $3.30 per barrel beer tax.

Other top tax bills included:

1. A bill by Rep. Curtis Ford to apply the chain store tax to filling stations.

2. Rep. Jerry Sadler's $160 million-a-year one-cent processing tax on gasoline and condensates.

3. A constitutional amendment by Rep. Robert Patten, to raise a billion dollar permanent school fund surplus by added taxes, one-fourth to one-cent on gas one to five cents on oil, and increases on other natural resources.

4. A constitutional amendment by Rep. Jerry Sadler and Rep. M. O. Bell to require statewide voter approval of any new tax before it becomes effective.

5. Rep. C. D. Kirkham's proposal for a "road use" tax on trucks.

6. Revenue Chairman Stanton Stone's omnibus revision of the tax code, with the gasoline and cigarette increases included.

7. Rep. Robert Patten's "added value" bill on manufactured goods, estimated to produce $20 million a year.

8. Rep. Charles Sandahl's bill for a three-per-cent levy on radio and TV sets.

9. An indirect revenue-producer, Rep. J. B. Walling's "anti-waste" minimum price bill for natural gas, estimated to add $20 million a year to income from the present tax.
