Merchant Marine Men Enthused Over A-Ship Atom Vessel May Give U. S. Sea Glory Again

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—The men whose bread and butter comes from the American merchant marine are understandably enthusiastic about President Eisenhower's plan for an atom-powered freighter.

They believe this may be the answer to the disturbing problem now confronting United States shipowners. Because of operating costs higher than those of any other country, America's status as a maritime nation has rapidly deteriorated since World War II.

However, once the pioneering work has been accomplished, the cost of maintaining nuclear-powered vessels will be sensationally low. Fuel price will be negligible. The absence of boilers and other cumbersome machinery will make room for revenue-producing cargo.

So the mighty atom may enable the United States to regain the proud position it held in the days of the Yankee Clippers, a century ago, when American ships made more money and sailed faster and farther than rival vessels.

Clipper Ship • VIETNAM AID—Informed circles in Washington report that the United States has decided to cut off aid to South Vietnam if the present American-backed government of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem falls.

The decision depends largely on the report brought back from Vietnam by Gen. J. Lawton Collins, President Eisenhower's personal emissary to the Indochinese nation.

ECONOMIZING—The public relations office at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has made a $3.75 contribution to the cause of government economy.

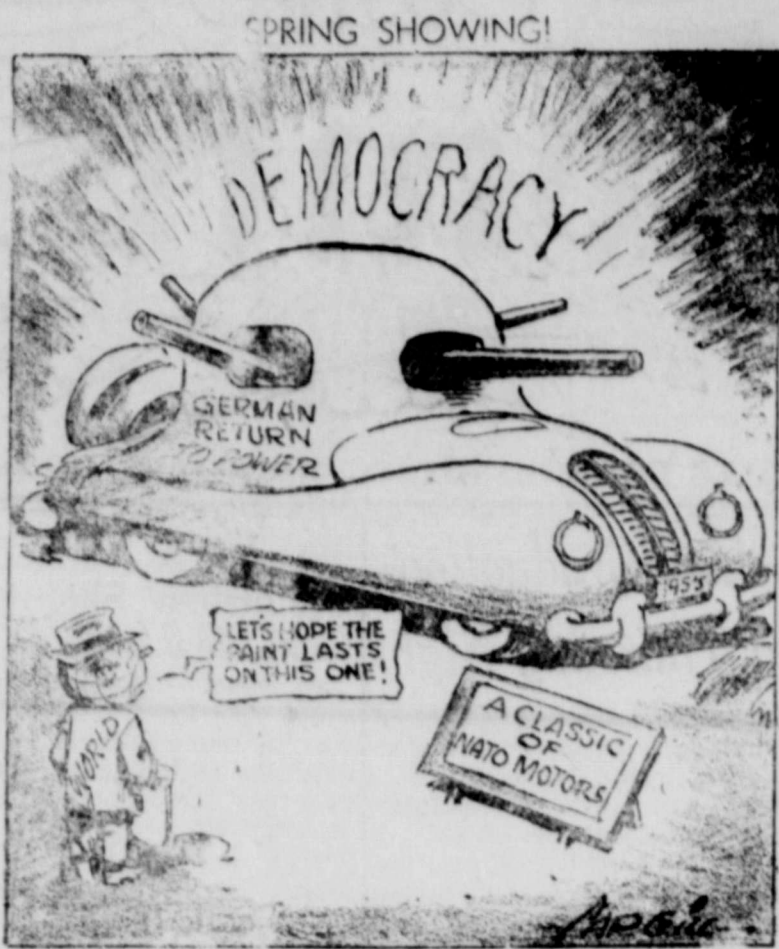

Here is how the money has been saved: on one wall of the office hangs a row of photographs. Each one measures about two feet by three, covered by glass.

However, one of the pictures is that of Nelson Rockefeller who left the department some time ago to take a White House job.

KNOWLAND'S IRE—Rumors are circulating in Washington that Senator William F. Knowland is almost at the point of resigning as Republican leader of the Senate.

Knowland, the strongest advocate of a "tough" policy toward Red China, has made it clear that he would not sit idly by if the United States decides to ignore the Nationalists in any decisions on Formosa.

Exploratory talks with Communist China on a cease-fire, without the presence of the Nationalists, probably would not lead Knowland to quit. However, if the United States decides to give up Quemoy and Matsu, watch for an explosion.

I have been lamenting over the shortness of time and so many of my good intentions still unperformed. Seriously Disabled Persons Should Check Their Social Security Status Seriously disabled people who used to work in employment or self-employment covered by the social security law should get in touch with the Austin social security office, James B. Marley, social security district manager, announced today.

Mr. Marley pointed out that people who have been totally disabled for 6 months or longer, and who worked in employment or self-employment covered by the social security law for as many as 5 years out of the 10 years before they were disabled should get further information about this law. Active military service and employment in the railroad industry may count toward the needed amount of work. By applying to have their social security earnings records frozen, disabled people may prevent loss or reduction of future benefits.

Some people now receiving old-age insurance payments or who will become eligible for old age payments in July were disabled for long periods of time before they reached age 65 and are still disabled. They may start getting larger payments as of July and will get them more promptly if they file an application for a "disability freeze" by June 30. If the disabled person dies after June 30, the disability freeze can protect his family's rights to survivors payments but only if he had applied for it before death. For this reason, it is important for every person who meets the requirements for the "freeze" to apply for it by June 30.

New Cotton Variety Recommendations Announced From Ten Producing Areas

COLLEGE STATION, (Spec.)—Revised cotton variety recommendations for each of 10 major producing areas of Texas have grown out of a statewide variety testing program conducted from 1951-53 at 21 locations throughout the state.

Objective of the continuing tests is to inform growers of the performance of new varieties and strains and to compare such types with standard varieties in general use. This information also is useful to plant breeders, spinners and workers in many other segments of the cotton industry.

Results of the tests and variety recommendations are contained in a recent publication by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Agricultural Extension Service.

Acreage yield in pounds of lint cotton was given highest priority in selecting varieties to be recommended. Other characteristics such as adaptation to existing harvest methods, fiber properties, disease resistance and earliness of maturity also were considered.

Copies of bulletin 788, Performance of Cotton Varieties in Texas, 1951-53 may be obtained from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Mrs. George Shady and her sister, Miss Lewis of San Angelo were guests of Mrs. Coley Sevier last Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Springer and children of Corpus Christi and Mrs. Bess Wright of Dallas were weekend guests of their mother and brother, Mrs. T. J. Shipp and Lewis Shipp.

Mr. Marley emphasized that the law protects the social security rights of a worker who is suffering from prolonged total disability but does not pay cash benefits to him before he is 65.

We have a gracious invitation from Mrs. Edna Dwyer to spend the night with her today (May 25) comes from Abilene from daughter Carol Jean. She will get home Monday. We have a chance to come to see her. We hope she comes late getting there. Written Aunt Edna to get out for her.

Sweet peas are blooming. I have enjoyed pansies longest. The climbing ones has had some beautiful, and the Paul's Scarlet like a bouquet of red. It takes time and to learn the tricks of things in El Paso's soil and climate. I didn't get any petunia seed to come up, and most of my zinnias have died soon after they came up.

John and Bill work at the grass constantly. Every day it's water, water, water. We noticed that the Artegaas grass next door and Captain Lane's, second door on the other side of us, looked green and luxuriant while ours and Mr. Simmon's, next door looked brown and thin. Bill and Mr. Simmons asked their neighbors "How come?" Then they followed suit — spread ammonium sulphate on the grass. Now ours is getting thick and greening up. You should just see the difference it makes. We have to fight an ever increasing alkali condition in the soil here.

Waste grease is an ever increasing quantity in our household. It fills up all the containers and takes up lots of space in the refrigerator. I have undertaken to get rid of it by making it into soap. I have made so much soap John thinks there won't be room in the car for all of it.

Tuesday evening I was in my room sorting letters when the door bell rang. My dress was far from fresh, I had on my old shoes, my hair was rolled up, no make up on my face, and for a coat I was wearing one of John's old shirts. I went to the door. There stood Mrs. Phillip Shaw holding her youngest granddaughter in her arms, looking as gracious and fresh as a May morning. She reads my letters and she came especially to see me. We had talked over the phone, but had never seen each other.

Mrs. Shaw teaches in the El Paso schools. She has taught at Indian Creek. They have a

It's the new kind of hardtop—
The 4-Door Riviera!

THERE seems to be some confusion about what a hardtop really is, and we'd like to set the matter straight.

A hardtop is a car that looks like a Convertible with the top up—but has a solid steel roof overhead—and no center posts in the side window areas.

Up until just recently, it could be built in volume only with two doors—not more—because it would take wholly new structural principles to hinge another set of doors without floor-to-roof center posts.

But Buick came up with those new structural principles and is now building—in volume—hardtops with four doors.

You see one pictured here. It's the 4-Door Riviera. And it's taking the country by storm...

Because here, at long last, is an automobile with the sleek and sporty styling of a true hardtop—but with separate doors for rear-seat passengers, plus the added room of a full-size Buick Sedan.

On top of that, this beauty is all Buick—with the buoyant ride of Buick's all-coil springing—the walloping might of Buick's record-high V8 power—the whip-quick getaway and sizable gas savings of Buick's spectacular Variable Pitch Dynaflow.*

And it's available in Buick's two lowest-priced Series—the budget-tagged 188-hp SPECIAL, and the high-performance 236-hp CENTURY, illustrated here.

Come visit us for a first-hand meeting with the 4-Door Riviera—and see how quickly and how easily the last word in automobiles can be yours.

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Seriously Disabled Persons Should Check Their Social Security Status

Seriously disabled people who used to work in employment or self-employment covered by the social security law should get in touch with the Austin social security office, James B. Marley, social security district manager, announced today.

Mr. Marley pointed out that people who have been totally disabled for 6 months or longer, and who worked in employment or self-employment covered by the social security law for as many as 5 years out of the 10 years before they were disabled should get further information about this law. Active military service and employment in the railroad industry may count toward the needed amount of work. By applying to have their social security earnings records frozen, disabled people may prevent loss or reduction of future benefits.

Some people now receiving old-age insurance payments or who will become eligible for old age payments in July were disabled for long periods of time before they reached age 65 and are still disabled. They may start getting larger payments as of July and will get them more promptly if they file an application for a "disability freeze" by June 30. If the disabled person dies after June 30, the disability freeze can protect his family's rights to survivors payments but only if he had applied for it before death. For this reason, it is important for every person who meets the requirements for the "freeze" to apply for it by June 30.

New Cotton Variety Recommendations Announced From Ten Producing Areas

COLLEGE STATION, (Spec.)—Revised cotton variety recommendations for each of 10 major producing areas of Texas have grown out of a statewide variety testing program conducted from 1951-53 at 21 locations throughout the state.

Objective of the continuing tests is to inform growers of the performance of new varieties and strains and to compare such types with standard varieties in general use. This information also is useful to plant breeders, spinners and workers in many other segments of the cotton industry.

Results of the tests and variety recommendations are contained in a recent publication by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Agricultural Extension Service. Acreage yield in pounds of lint cotton was given highest priority in selecting varieties to be recommended. Other characteristics such as adaption to existing harvest methods, fiber properties, disease resistance and earliness of maturity also were considered.

Copies of bulletin 788, Performance of Cotton Varieties in Texas, 1951-53 may be obtained from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Mrs. George Shady and her sister, Miss Lewis of San Angelo were guests of Mrs. Coley Sevier last Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Springer and children of Corpus Christi and Mrs. Bess Wright of Dallas were weekend guests of their mother and brother, Mrs. T. J. Shipp and Lewis Shipp.

Mr. Marley emphasized that the law protects the social security rights of a worker who is suffering from prolonged total disability but does not pay cash benefits to him before he is 65.

It's the new kind of hardtop—The 4-Door Riviera!

THERE seems to be some confusion about what a hardtop really is, and we'd like to set the matter straight.

A hardtop is a car that looks like a Convertible with the top up—but has a solid steel roof overhead—and no center posts in the side window areas.

Up until just recently, it could be built in volume only with two doors—not more—because it would take wholly new structural principles to hinge another set of doors without floor-to-roof center posts.

But Buick came up with those new structural principles and is now building—in volume—hardtops with four doors.

You see one pictured here. It's the 4-Door Riviera. And it's taking the country by storm...

Because here, at long last, is an automobile with the sleek and sporty styling of a true hardtop—but with separate doors for rear-seat passengers, plus the added room of a full-size Buick Sedan.

On top of that, this beauty is all Buick—with the buoyant ride of Buick's all-coil springing—the walloping might of Buick's record-high V8 power—the whip-quick getaway and sizable gas savings of Buick's spectacular Variable Pitch Dynaflo.*

And it's available in Buick's two lowest-priced Series—the budget-tagged 188-hp SPECIAL, and the high-performance 236-hp CENTURY, illustrated here.

Come visit us for a first-hand meeting with the 4-Door Riviera—and see how quickly and how easily the last word in automobiles can be yours.

*Dynaflo Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Soil Conservation Representatives Check Moisture Penetration After Rain

Dr. J. B. Stephens (right) points out to Raymond Morgan, (center) vice-president of the First State Bank of Bangs, and Vaughn Speakman, (left) of the Soil Conservation Service, the depth to which moisture had Digging in the pasture where there was some pretty good cover on the ground, it was found that the moisture had penetrated to a depth of 44 inches. Just a few feet away where the ground was bare it was found that the moisture had penetrated to a depth of seven inches. Morgan observed that after a few days of hot sun and dry wind the moisture in the bare areas would be gone. Mixture down 44 inches though would support plant growth for quite some time.

Digging in Dr. Stephens' grain field it was found that a surface crust had developed. The surface crust had sealed over the top of the soil and prevented the penetration of moisture. Here again it was found the moisture had penetrated about seven inches. Digging in his field Dr. Stephens found that a plow pan has developed that is also hindering the penetration of moisture. Where there was some ridges or furrows that had held the moisture for a little while, it was found that it had penetrated to a depth of 30 inches. Dr. Stephens observed that in addition to terracing and contour farming he needed additional organic matter in his soil to prevent the surface crust and to condition the soil so it will take up moisture faster.

Dr. Stephens has requested assistance from the Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District for help in developing a soil, water and plant conservation program for his fields and pastures. Technicians of the Soil Conservation Service will assist Dr. Stephens in developing his program.

Brown-Mills Soil Conservation News

By CHARLES HAENISCH
Raymond Morgan, vice-president of the First State Bank of Bangs, and Dr. J. B. Stephens, also of Bangs, report that they have received about seven inches of rain during the last series of storms. Morgan and Dr.

Stephens, accompanied by Vaughn Speakman and Walter Dickens, Soil Conservation Service technicians, made an inspection of Dr. Stephens' farm southeast of Bangs to see what this seven inches or rain had done.

president and Mrs. Gladney Smith was elected secretary and treasurer.

The meeting was held at the H. P. Morris home, north of Grosvenor. Members of the group, technicians of the Soil Conservation Service, G. G. Goss, supervisor of the Brown-Mills Conservation District, Zone 1, and Mrs. G. G. Goss enjoyed a feast of barbecued goat with all of the trimmings. Approximately fifteen district cooperators and their families were in attendance at the meeting.

It was reported that 200 acres of pasture pitting have been completed in the Grosvenor area and there are plans studied for an additional 400 acres to be pitted. Members of the group have been planning deferred grazing to give pitted areas a chance to establish a cover. Some grass planting has been done and others are planning to do some. Gladney Smith reports that Blue panic grass and Buffelgrass that he planted is up.

State Capitol NEWS

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Tex.—Despite the big news about final passage of the state tax bill, news about Bascom Giles stole the spotlight from the Legislature the past week.

This time events took quite a different turn.

The climax came when a 75-year-old, retired mail carrier, Cass Adrian, was arrested and charged with attempting to extort $800,000 from the former land commissioner.

Filing of the charge against Adrian was preceded by a series of events, all kept secret, dating back to February 1.

Giles reported receiving two letters, prior to the one Adrian charged with mailing, in which the writer each time asked for $5,100.

Travis Co. Sheriff T. O. Lang revealed that the first letter, received by Giles before he was indicted, threatened to expose documentary evidence unless $5,100 was paid. With this letter was a crude drawing. It directed Giles to a culvert south of Austin where he was to leave the money, wrapped in a burlap sack. He was to drop the money there at 4 p.m. on Feb. 4. Included was a promise to return the money in 30 days—after using it "to pull a deal on the border" that would net $100,000.

As Giles was out of town, he did not receive the first letter in time to act.

When the second letter arrived, dated Feb. 9, it directed Giles to leave the money in the culvert by 4:30 p.m., Feb. 11, or "the evidence could not be bought at any price."

A trap was set. Giles drove to drop site and left $70 in a burlap sack, as deputies watched the area. No one stopped to pick up the sack. But a man later identified as Adrian drove by. After 36 hours of waiting, Giles returned to the culvert and picked up the money.

A third letter then came. It was dated Feb. 11. It advised Giles that the writer was aware of the trap. It read "All three of us was watching you with field glasses when you placed the law on both sides of the culvert . . ."

This letter directed Giles to prepare $300,000 in $20, $50 and $100 bills for delivery at a place and time to be designated in a future letter. But the promised instructions were never received.

ed. When arrested, Adrian flatly denied knowing anything about the extortion attempt. He was released after posting a $1,500 bond. Trial was set for June 13.

MORE TAXES COMING

Jefferson Davis' birthday was celebrated by the Legislature. The solons handed Governor Shivers a tax bill! It levied an additional $49,000,000 per year. Thus ended another bitter tax battle.

As finally voted, the measure provides $57,038,000 added revenue for general purposes during the next two years. Also $41,069,000 additional for road work. Thus it furnishes the funds to unblock the $56,000,000 new money requirements of the $1,525,000,000 appropriations bill already passed.

Its biggest take was from beer. And a bitter-end fight by beer partisans nearly wrecked the measure in its final stages. Their argument was based on the fact that conferees dropped out of the final bill the Senate's "token" $2,000,000 levy on "dedicated" natural gas and an intangible assets tax on gas pipelines.

On final passage the tax bill cleared the house only by a 72 to 67 vote; and the Senate by a scarce 18 to 13 margin.

Included in the tax bill was a one-cent increase in the present four-cent gasoline tax; a one-cent increase in the present four-cent cigarette tax; and an increase of $2.30 per barrel, or mills per bottle, on beer.

Senators voted a $3.30 per barrel beer increase while Representatives favored small increases in beer and wine dealers' license fees.

Dropped on the final round were the House taxes on cigars, tobacco, trading stamps, and an increase in the natural gas production tax.

Rejected were numerous Senate proposals for gross receipts levies on manufacturers, hotels, motels, department stores.

A $6,500,000 cushion was given the general revenue fund for the next two years. This permitted passage of several small appropriation bills for new courts; for putting state employees under federal social security; another $475,000 for legislative expenses; and grants to state agencies for further investigation of the Land Office and Veterans' Land Board affairs.

DIFFERENT MONEY PROBLEM
An entirely different money problem faced the State Board of Education.

Where to find eligible securities in which to invest a cash surplus of $12,060,095 of its permanent fund was this board's problem.

SPENDING BILLS
Wrapped up near the close of the session was Sen. George Moffett's bill appropriating $7,000,000 for the construction of a new state courts building and a state office building in Austin. It also provides $500,000 for repairing and air-conditioning the Capitol; and $500,000 for metals and chemical industries. operation of the new State Building Commission.

All the money comes from the surplus of the Confederate Pension Fund, as authorized by a constitutional amendment approved by the people last year. The pension fund will have a further $1,600,000 surplus, after all Confederate widows' pensions are paid for the ensuing two years.

Hints Offered For A Safer Vacation Trip

COLLEGE STATION, (Spec.)— Vacation motor travel is big business in the United States. Each year more and more vacationers take to the road, with the majority in private cars and the average car is driven 1,200 miles during the vacation. As motor travel booms, traffic accidents, especially in rural areas, also boom.

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Committee offers a few suggestions which they feel, if followed, will take some of the boom out of accidents. Give the family car a thorough check-up before starting and watch for signs of trouble along the way. Don't block vision, say the experts, by improperly loading the car. Good vision is a must for safe driving.

Be prepared for emergencies. A first aid kit, maps, permits, identification, a flashlight and a tool kit and may be a few spare parts should be carried along.

With the driver rests much of the responsibility for a safe trip. His efficiency is greatly affected by fatigue. Plan the trip, urges the committee, to allow rest stops during the day and a good night's sleep each night. And don't try to drive and see the sights at the same time.

Ignorance of the law is only an excuse. Most states use standard traffic sign shapes. They are a constant guide to safe driving; know and obey them.

Traffic will be a problem during the vacation season in all parts of the country. Just don't get in a hurry and don't drive faster than conditions justify, says the committee. Be adaptable and fit your driving to the peculiarities and conditions that exist in the areas through which you may travel.

Finally, says the committee, take safety with you. It will bring you home in good shape and you can look forward to next year's trip.

All Chevrolet's competitors and most of the high-priced cars tried it recently in official NASCAR* trials—and took a licking!

Meat the champ! The new Chevrolet "Turbo-Fire V8" — the most modern V8 on the road today. Here's what happened—

Daytona Beach, NASCAR Acceleration Tests Over Measured Mile From Standing Start. Chevrolet captured the 4 top positions in its class! 8 of the first 11! And on a time basis Chevrolet beat every high-priced car, too—but one! But wait!—this is just the beginning!

Daytona Beach, NASCAR 2-Way Straightaway Running Over Measured Mile. Open to cars from 250 to 299 cu. in. displacement. Chevrolet captured 3 of the first 5 places!

Columbia, S. C. NASCAR 100-Mile Race on half-mile track. Very tight turns. Chevrolet finished first!

Fayetteville, N. C. NASCAR Late Model Event. Chevrolet again finished first. Because of even tighter turns the driver chose to run the entire 150 laps in second gear! Yet no overheating or pit stops!

These facts you can't laugh off. Sales leader. Road leader. A crowning achievement of Chevrolet and General Motors. Try a Chevrolet... and live in a land of going-away where you win all the argument! Soon, maybe?

Brown-Mills Soil Conservation News

By CHARLES HAENISCH

Cooperators with the Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District are finding that properly grazed land is directly related to good fishing in this area. The number of livestock grazing on pastures will affect the amount of fish food in the water. Where the land is overgrazed it results in soil erosion from the pasture land, thus muddy water collects in farm ponds. Game fish, such as bluegill and bass, feed by sight. If the water coming into the farm pond is muddy, fish cannot feed.

Eastern dams in this area are constructed primarily for livestock water to get better distribution of grazing. They can have the added value of fish production, provided the grass is protected from overgrazing. When too many livestock is grazed on a pasture the grass is destroyed. Since grasses are the most valuable plants for holding the soil in place, the more grass left on the land allows for more water penetration into the soil. This additional water produces more grass. The increase in grass production results in more feed for livestock. This also prevents the farm pond from filling with mud and allows for better fishing.

Overgrazing hurts the pastures as well as filling up farm ponds with eroded soil. Weeds gradually replace grasses, gullies are formed on hillsides and the topsoil is washed away into farm ponds and creeks where it loses its value for grass production. This also results in the ponds becoming muddy and destroying fish food.

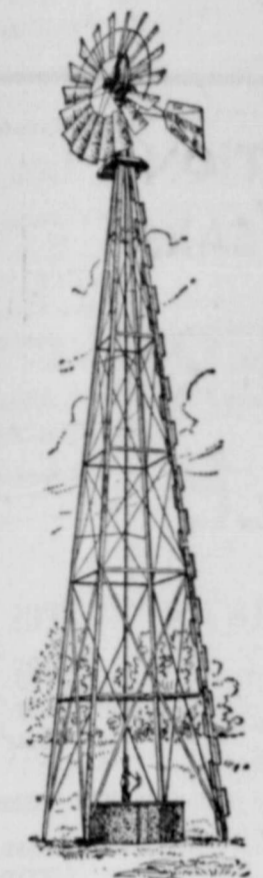

There is a close connection between livestock and fish production. Where pasture land is properly grazed there can be good fishing in local ponds, but overgrazing destroys the fishing. A fish pond with one acre of surface area can produce as much as one hundred and fifty pounds of fish annually if it is properly managed.

How much rain did you get? W. A. Triplet, residing north of Mullin, has several answers to that question. On one of the recent rains his rain gauge showed that it had rained 2.8 inches. Triplet has been doing some pasture pitting. He was interested in what was happening so, with his slicker and boots on, he got out on the pasture while it was raining. As he walked out into the pasture he met the water coming off the bare unpitted part of his pasture. It was running down the road in a good stream. When he got to the pitted area, he found that no water was getting away. After the rain was over holes were dug and moisture penetrations measured. In the pitted area moisture had penetrated to a depth of 24 inches. Under the liveoak trees where there was some litter on the ground and a little grass, the moisture had penetrated to a depth of 12 inches. On the bare ground the moisture had penetrated to a depth of only three inches.

The pits on Mr. Triplet's place were used for the purpose of getting water into the ground so a good grass cover could be grown. Cover on the ground is essential to the conservation of moisture.

PINK BOLLWORM CONTROLS DELAYED

Two extremely opposite weather conditions have posed a threat to the cotton pink bollworm control program in Texas.

Unusual weather is nothing new here—it is practically normal for Texas as a matter of fact—but it can seriously change the State Department of Agriculture's efforts to keep insect populations to a minimum.

Sixty-four cotton growing counties in the South and Central portions of Texas have planting and plow-up deadlines enforced on cotton crops. This is designed to cut the breeding period of the pink bollworm. In order to be effective, cotton must be planted before a certain date and then the stalks destroyed as soon as practical after harvest.

This spring the planting deadline was extended in more than 30 counties for two reasons. At one time, it was too dry to plant the cotton. Ten days later, the fields were too wet to plow.

Irregular planting provides an almost continuous supply of young tender cotton which is ideal food for the pink bollworm. The situation cannot be helped to any great extent this year due to the weather. As a result, the control program hinges on strict compliance to the plow-up deadline. No winter hibernating places must be left in Texas cotton fields which would encourage a large insect build-up next year.

As an added precaution, farmers over the state are urged to follow a practical program of control over all types of insects this season. Careful planning of spraying or dusting keeps down cotton pests, and gives added value to the crop.

County agents, the Extension Service and the Texas Department of Agriculture are ready to offer advice on the best times for control measures. To spray or dust cotton at improper intervals means dollars lost to the farmer.

Get the facts first! Then act to your best advantage.

Red Sox Meet Camp Stanley; Opening Second Half Of League Play

BY CHARLES CONRADT
Well folks, it finally happened. Never in the last five year history of Mills County has a baseball game been rained out, but last Saturday night it did it. It took a Colored team to bring us this good luck, and everyone agreed that the rain was better than a baseball game anytime.

Some one has hid the record book and I still do not have the batting averages from the Boone game but as I promised last week it will be in writing next week.

The Red Sox were idle last week end except for the all-star game between the North and South teams of the league.

The South beat the North by the score of 8 to 3. The game being played last Sunday afternoon at Comfort. Only three Red Sox players were able to attend. Owen, 1st baseman, Campbell, Short stop and Red Winners, pitcher, along with Clyde Estep, manager of the Red Sox.

The Red Sox will play the San Angelo Oilers here Thursday night at 8:00. The Oilers have a good team and will be out to win from the league leading Red Sox.

The second half of the Hill Country League will start Sunday. The Red Sox will play Camp Stanley at Camp Stanley, and on the following Sunday will play Pat's Cubs here.

Firemen's Week Is Proclaimed By Governor

GREETINGS,

The men, women and children of Texas constitute our State's greatest resource. The protection of their lives and their property is one of the foremost responsibilities and economic factors in the welfare of Texas.

Our State has more than seven hundred fire departments, composed of patriotic men who are watchfully on guard every minute of the day to perform the important duty of preventing and extinguishing fires that threaten the life and material wealth of the State.

NOW, THEREFORE, I as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate the week of June 12 - 13, 1955, as in Texas in recognition of the high civic duty performed by the thousands of firemen in our State.

In official recognition whereof, I hereby affix my signature this 25th day of May, 1955.

Household Hint

When you dye an article, buy the dye according to the type of fabric to be dyed and prepare it according to the directions on the package. When tinting or dyeing, always use a container that allows ample room for moving the article about, and enough water to cover all the fabric completely. Rinse thoroughly when desired color has been reached.
