City Utilities Asks Customers To Stop Watering Lawns And Gardens

City Utilities officials have served notice to customers asking them to refrain from watering lawns and gardens in order to insure fire protection and to provide water to all customers for household purposes during the peak summer water consumption season.

The request is effective immediately according to official notice, appearing in this issue of the paper, which is also being distributed to all water users.

Officials pointed out that the water supply in storage has been dropping at a fast rate during the past two weeks. During the past two days water pressure in some sections of the city dropped to an extremely low point during the evening hours when the use of water was at an all time high.

Some homes located on higher elevation than others were without water for a number of hours.

With all water users cooperating the situation will be remedied and all water customers will have sufficient water for household purposes. Enough water is being pumped from city wells to supply domestic needs of the city and officials hope that the extreme hot and dry season will not last too long.

As soon as the supply has gained enough, customers will be notified as to limited use for outdoor purposes.

Customers are also informed that the odors they may have noticed from the water during the past week comes from a harmless algae growth that has

Inside WASHINGTON MARCH OF EVENTS

Eisenhower and Stevenson Capital Politicians Predict Return 'Match' Next Year

WASHINGTON—Most Washington politicians are more and more convinced that the 1956 presidential candidates again will be Eisenhower and Stevenson. While the President has not announced his intentions, GOP strategists are pinning their hopes on his candidacy and don't believe he'll let them down. Stevenson is also emerging as the Democratic nominee, with his close friends saying he is available.

With the withdrawal of Senators Richard Russell and Stuart Symington, Stevenson appears far and away the best bet for the Democratic nomination. Govs. Averell Harriman of New York and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan also have said they will support Stevenson thus eliminating two other top possibilities.

Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee still remains in the picture, but it is doubtful that he could muster enough support to win the nomination if Stevenson goes after it.

VACCINE BATTLE—Republicans are quietly claiming an early victory in their battle with Senate Democratic leaders over need for federal stand-by controls on distribution of Salk polio vaccine.

CGP insiders predict Congress will not override President Eisenhower's opposition to the controls which the administration regards as unnecessary. They base their forecast on two developments:

1—Democratic members of the Senate labor committee have given up completely on all proposals for rigid automatic regulations to allocate the vaccine on a priority basis.

2—As a result of an informal GOP boycott of the labor committee, action has been delayed on the Salk legislation. Meanwhile, the American Medical Association has called for public hearings on the issue.

The upshot, say the Republicans, is that the administration has gained enough time to win support of its stand and that labor committee Democrats will ease off in their demands for the legislation.

TAX CUTS FIRST—Administration sources say President Eisenhower didn't exactly mean it that way when he said "the first thing we must do is balance the budget," before cutting taxes.

They explain that a balanced budget is still the administration's No. 1 fiscal goal, but that taxes will be cut even before that goal is achieved. Tax reductions are almost certainly in sight in 1956, but not a balanced budget.

The administration policy, according to those who know, is this: federal expenses must be brought into line with federal income, but that is a long-range, long-haul job.

To help bring it about, revenue should be increased as much as possible, not by boosting tax rates, but by assuring a booming economy so that more individuals and more firms will have higher income on which to pay taxes.

The way to do this, the administration feels, is to lower current tax rates, so people will spend more money, give the nation an economic shot in the arm and provide more taxable income.

TIME SAVER—It happened during an informal discussion just before a meeting of the Senate agriculture committee.

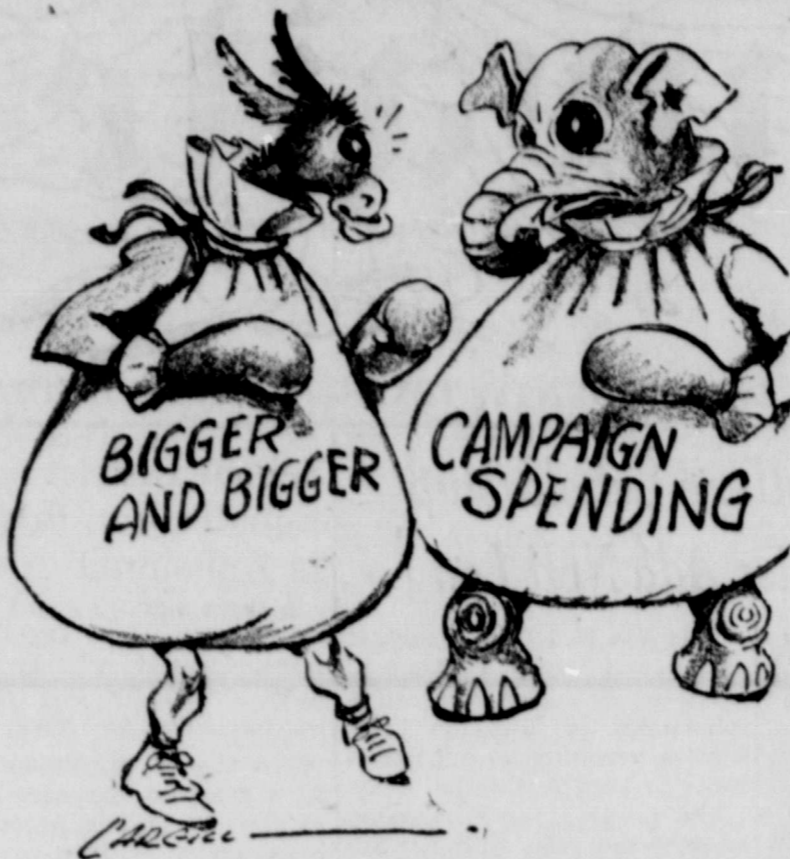

Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D), Louisiana, was explaining that he had been unable to assemble a quorum of the committee for a closed session because a number of members had conflicting appointments, including meetings of other committees.

Senator Hubert H. Humphrey (D), Minnesota, said he had a solution: "There's nothing wrong with this Senate that 48-hour days and 13-day weeks wouldn't cure."

Humphrey also delivered some opinions on what it takes to be a senator. He said: "One of the real credentials for being in this business is to be nuts—but I like it."

The handful of other senators nodded grim approval.

At any rate here is one example of just how prominent a place Davy has with the younger set.

Not long ago little Glenn Hamilton, seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. 'Dumble' Hamilton, was working on his Baptist Training Union lesson. His mom Jane was helping him as they were studying a Bible scripture about DAVID.

After a while Glenn looked up at his mother and while displaying a rather serious look in his eyes, said: "There are two Davids in the Bible." His mother said to him, "Is That Right?" and he came back with: "Why yes, there is this David and Davy Crockett."

Now I ask you, just how much farther can something of this nature go?

The awning was provided by E. B. Gilliam Jr., and the pipe and labor for the frame work were provided by Howard Campbell of Smith-Campbell Butane Company. I understand Lester Geeslin, C. D. ## Desserts Like These Are Meant For Parties

By ALICE DENHOFF

CHILDREN'S parties call for something special in desserts, but adults, too, occasionally like to indulge a sweet tooth. These recipes are for the richest—but most delicious—desserts you have ever served.

Prune Whip

To serve 4, pit and slice 1/2 c. unsweetened, cooked prunes. Blend thoroughly with 1/4 c. sugar, 1/4 tsp. powdered cloves and 1 tsp. vanilla. Whip 1 c. heavy cream. Beat prune mixture into whipped cream.

Fold in 12 finely-rolled graham crackers (1 c. crumbs). Chill thoroughly. Beat 2 egg whites stiff, but not dry; add remaining sugar from 1/2 c. from which 1/4 c. sugar was taken. Add 1 tsp. at a time and beat well after each addition. Fold into chilled mixture. Serve very cold.

Mint and Nuts

Candy Store Surprise is a nice number for every member of the family, except perhaps the waist-line-watchers.

To serve 4-5, mix 1 egg yolk in saucpan with a small amount taken from 2 c. milk. Then add remaining milk, 1 tsp. sugar, 1/2 tsp. salt and 3 tsp. quick-cooking tapioca. Place over medium heat. Cook until mixture comes to a full boil, stirring constantly. This takes 5 to 8 min. Be careful not to overcook! Mixture thickens as it cools.

Remove from heat. Beat 1 egg white until foamy. Add 2 tsp. sugar, 1 tsp. at a time, and continue beating until mixture stands in very soft peaks. Add hot tapioca mixture, stirring constantly. Add 1/2 tsp. vanilla and 1/4 c. crushed peanut brittle or peppermint candy.

Party Fare

Cream Cheese Cake is a rich dessert that makes good party fare.

To serve 10 to 12, roll into crumbs 3/4 package zwieback and to the crumbs add 2 tsp. melted butter and 2 tsp. sugar. Press into bottom and sides of a spring form pan.

Mix 1/2 c. sugar, 2 tsp. flour, 1/4 tsp. salt, 5 1/2 packages cream cheese, juice and rind of one lemon. Add 4 well-beaten egg yolks, tsp. vanilla and one c. cream.

Fold in 4 beaten egg whites. Pour mixture into crumb crust and bake at 325° F. for 1 1/2 hours or until set.

Sweetclover Remains On Top Of List As Soil Building Legume

COLLEGE STATION, (Spec.) — Despite the development of many improved varieties, sweetclover, one of the oldest soil building legumes, remains the most widely adapted and recommended for use in Texas.

"Through more than 67 years of testing at Texas experimental stations, sweetclover gained and has retained a leading position in modern farming practices," says Dr. R. C. Potts, agronomist at Texas A. & M. College.

As early as 1894 plant scientists had noted the value of sweetclover as "a renovating crop for enriching worn lands."

Madrid and Hubam are the more important sweetclover varieties now grown in the state. Evergreen and annual yellow-flowered sweetclover are of less adaptability. Sweetclover provides abundant grazing and when harvested is a profitable hay and silage crop. Dr. Potts notes in a recent publication, "Sweetclover in Texas".

The protein and phosphorus content of this legume is described as "excellent." At Temple, steers on sweetclover-pasture gained up to 2.1 pounds daily.

Production of sweetclover seed has added substantially to Texas farm income in recent years, averaging 11,060,000 pounds annually for the period 1950-53. Most of it was produced in the Blackland and Grand Prairie regions. Harvested yields averaged 150 to 300 pounds of seed an acre.

Sweetclover adds nitrogen to the soil, makes the soil more friable increasing aeration and provides a protective land cover. Maximum soil benefits are obtained by harvesting a seed crop and returning the crop residue to the soil.

REVISION OF TEXAS SEED LAWS

Prospects are somewhat brighter now toward curtailing any further spread of two of Texas' primary crop-destroying noxious weeds.

The Texas Legislature in its recent session passed a measure making it unlawful to offer for sale any seed containing traces of nut grass or field bindweed.

Although nutgrass has been present in East Texas fields for many years, its spread across the state has been alarming in the past 20 years. Field bindweed, virtually unknown in Texas 20 years ago, has crept into the state through interstate seed sales from Oklahoma and New Mexico. It has rendered thousands of acres of once productive land practically useless.

The new seed provisions, amending the Texas Seed Act, also cut down the permissive presence of many other weeds in commercial seeds. These noxious weeds are divided into two groups: "primary" and "secondary." With exception of nutgrass and field bindweed which are totally prohibited, "primary" weeds in excess of 100 weed seed per pound are barred from sale.

"Secondary" noxious weeds in excess of 200 weed seed per pound are prohibited from sale.

This means that presence in commercial seed of more than 100 seeds-per-pound of dodder, curled dock, blueweed, Canada thistle, or Johnson grass—all primary weeds—make such seeds unsalable. However, crops containing Johnson grass in excessive quantities may be sold when labeled "Pasture Mixture."

Secondary noxious Weeds, or weeds that can be controlled by good cultural practice in spite of their objectionability, include such familiar species as Russian thistle, Bermuda grass, wild oats, wild onion and garlic, wild carrot, wild mustard, goat grass, puncturevine (goat head), cocklebur, and wild radish. Their prohibition in excess of 200 weed seed per pound of commercial crop seed does not of course entail prohibition of cultivation of any one for domestic purposes, such as the use of Bermuda grass as a lawn covering. These new seed law provisions, now in effect, also provide that seed offered for sale must be tested every nine months, instead of once a year as required by previous statutes. This further tightening of Texas seed laws is aimed primarily at making Texas seed restrictions conform to those of surrounding states and to keep our crops free from unnecessary pollution.

Attractive Home Lawns Don't Just Happen; Much Work Required

COLLEGE STATION, (Spec.)— Attractive home lawns don't just happen—they are the results of considerable time and effort.

Establishing a new lawn requires the use of adapted grasses, proper watering, mowing, fertilization and drainage, E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist, says.

Texas home owners have a choice of two popular lawn grasses. Bermuda-grass is most widely adapted to growing conditions of the state. The other species, broad-leaved St. Augustinegrass, is recommended in the eastern and southern areas of the state. Buffalo, perennial ryegrass and Kentucky Bluegrass are varieties of lesser importance.

A sandy loam type soil high in organic matter forms an ideal foundation for lawns. Most soils need more organic matter. Its addition in the form of peat, compost or well decomposed gin trash, sawdust or leaf mold is suggested.

To insure proper drainage and smoothness, most lawns will require some grading or leveling.

If the lawn is seeded, use high quality seed of a single grass, not a lawn mixture. Spread seed evenly. Sodding, laying grass in solid strips, is expensive and time consuming but gives the desired grass cover quickly. If you sprig, the grass runners should be packed firmly into the soil.

Sprinkle lightly and frequently until the grasses become established. As they take a foothold, water less often and increase the amount.

Mowing at a height of one and one-half to two inches will encourage spreading and will control invading weeds. And, don't overlook fertilizers in the establishment of your lawn. A soil test will determine which plant nutrient and in what quantities are needed. County agents can furnish complete information on sampling the soil, the specialist adds.

Bindweed Can Be Controlled

COLLEGE STATION, (Spec.)— Bindweed can be controlled on large acreages of cropland through competitive cropping, intensive cultivation and the use of 2, 4-D.

These practices are recommended as a result of experiments conducted in the Texas Panhandle since 1949 by A. F. Weise, agronomist for the Amarillo Experiment Station, and H. E. Rea, agronomist for the Main Station at College Station. Wheat was the best competitor itive crop used. Sorghum was not easily established during the summer when the weeds were growing vigorously. A fallow-wheat system, using intensive cultivation during the fallow periods, eliminated 92 percent of the weeds in three years.

Color-scheming is fun WITH THE Dutch Boy Color Gallery A & A Paint & Supply Truett Aldridge General Contractor

The 2,4-D was applied in the fall before the wheat was planted or in the spring when the wheat was fully tillered.

Patches of bindweed up to half an acre in size were eradicated with applications of soil sterilants, such as sodium chlorate, Concentrated Borascu, Atlacide, Polybor chlorate and Karmex W at rates of 5, 16, 7, 12 and three-eighths pounds, respectively, per square rod. One application of a soil sterilant seldom completely eliminated bindweed; retreatments usually were necessary for complete eradication.

Complete results of these studies are given in the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station's bulletin 802. Copies are available from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

PARENT PROBLEMS

Teaching Your Child How to Be Obedient

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

IT won't help to tell a child he "ought" to be careful crossing the street or that he "ought" not to play with the electric light plug. "Ought" has to be replaced with the word "must." That's the advice Dr. Margaret Meade, celebrated anthropologist and author, gave parents in a recent speech.

"In this dangerous mechanical world," Dr. Meade said, "children must obey instantly. In fact, we have more need for instant obedience today than ever before—and we are getting less."

Too Much Permissiveness
Influenced, presumably, by her famous studies of primitive peoples and their ways of bringing up children to obey their parents, Dr. Meade is distressed over the theory of permissiveness with young children that prevails in many homes.

As I have often pointed out in this column, the more you explain to a child why he should not run into the street, play in the fire, or torment the puppy, the more likely he may be to go ahead and do just what you've told him not to. He needs to learn to accept No or Don't as final even if he cannot clearly see the reason why. Let's do our reasoning with him when there's no emergency, when we really are persuasive and he is emotionally ready to be persuaded.

Parental Attitude
Dr. Meade advises parents to adopt an attitude with children that says, "I am a responsible person in this situation. Therefore, within this situation, you must accept my judgment. I, on my side, agree not to bully, not to nag, not to give any unnecessary orders."

Dr. Meade makes much of never giving unnecessary orders. She warns mothers that, if they kept a list of their commands to a young child in a single day, they would find 75 percent or even 90 percent absolutely unnecessary. As a result, when a parent says, "Get back on the sidewalk because a car is coming around the corner," the child may very well not obey.

As we try to teach the young child to obey, we must be reasonable and discipline ourselves.

News Of The Ebony Community

By CLEMENTINE WILMETH BRILEY

Tuesday, June 28, was the annual homecoming of the children. All day long the children were pre-occupied with preparation. As night came on, expectation tightened. At last at 9:30 two bright lights were coming down the Griffin lane. Hope ran high. Yes, they were coming around the Singleton patch. In a few minutes they were at the gate. The Belches—Bill, Grace, Billy, and Johnny. The Mitchells—O. R., Ruth, Robert, Jill, and Jan. They were just fresh from vacation highlights at El Paso—two visits to Juarez; a night at Ruidosa; visits to White Sands, Cloudcroft, and Carlsbad Cavern; and a drive through Lincoln National Forest and Apache Indian Reservation.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO LEASE

The School Board of Goldthwaite Independent School District will lease to best bidder the North 55 acres of the Gartman Land.

Sealed bids will be opened at board meeting on July 11, 1955, at 8:00 o'clock P. M.

Bid form contract may be secured from board secretary Dr. T. C. Graves or superintendent J. T. Jones.

early Saturday morning for Bentonville, Ark. to visit Mr. and Mrs. Orvel Egger. At Goldthwaite they picked up Ynell. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Duncan will look after their things while they are gone.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Walker arrived Thursday evening from Houston to visit her sister, Mrs. Hubert Reeves. Her father, Mr. John Guthrie, returned home with them Saturday.

We extend our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Blue Thompson in the death of her brother, Marvin Cole.

In addition to the Briley generations already here, Carol Jean and Marilyn (Mrs. Tommy Sherfield) and the great-granddaughter (Brenda Sherfield, 13 mos.) all of Beaumont, arrived at Goldthwaite on the midnight train Friday night and were met by Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Belch. This brought the number of our family to fourteen.

The Wilmeth family met in reunion Saturday, July 2, at the Dwyer home. Present, besides the Briley fourteen, were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wilmeth of Brownwood; Miss Marie Wilmeth of Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wilmeth and Lucy Gale, Nancy, and Joe of Mozelle; Mrs. Gene Prewitt and daughters, Ellen Prewitt and Sylvia Gene Wilmeth (daughter of the late Dutch Wilmeth) of Grandview; Mrs. Edna Dwyer; Mr. and Mrs. Austin Cawyer of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Everett of Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. John Bate-man and Joe of Fort Worth; and a guest, Don Vinzant, of Fort Worth.

The Ebony of yesteryear came to life Thursday night when our oldtime friends and neighbors and their younger generation met at the home of Mrs. Edna Dwyer for a forty-two party and ice cream supper. In spite of an effort to send an invitation to all, some were absent. Those who were there: Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Reid and Benna, Judy, and Robin, and Mrs. Cloud Mashburn, all of Goldthwaite; Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Mitchell and Robert, Jill, and Jan of Beaumont; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Belch and Billy and Johnny of El Paso; Mr. and Mrs. Austin Cawyer of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hanna and Mrs. Janie Hanna of Oakland; Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Egger and Larry, Kathie, and Rita Jean of Regency; Mr. and Mrs. Hulon Egger and Mari-anna of Regency; Mrs. Edna Dwyer; Mr. and Mrs. Charm Whittenburg and Clint, and Jack; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Egger and Jerry; Mr. and Mrs. John Briley; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Egger; Mrs. Johnny Humphries; Mrs. Stanley Reeves and her granddaughters, Nancy Reeves and Evelyn Hardin of Big Spring.

Edward Egger lit up the yard with his extension light. Forty-two tables were on the wide verandas and in the yard. The porch swing attracted the children, and a circle of chairs in the yard look care of those who came to chat. There were plenty of cakes and ice cream. And how we did enjoy each other. Mrs. Cloud Mashburn (Betty Philen) said she never missed a chance to come to Ebony and if all the people were gone, she would still be glad to see the hills. Thus it seems to charm us all. Yet I insist that these parts are unconquerable; There are so many weapons with which it conquers. Besides the drouth, there are the ragweeds, the grassburs, the mesquites, the cactus, and the everlasting rocks.

The week has been brimming full. How we have enjoyed the neighbors and friends, the children, the grandchildren, and the precious little great-granddaughter toddling through the house with all her many antics. But now comes Monday and they go their separate ways. Not till next year shall we meet again. All is lovely and quiet, but there's gladness in remembrance.

Janice Ann Cockrell returned home Saturday from a two week's visit in Grand Prairie and Fort Worth with her cousins, Shirley Gilbert and Donna Rae Stricklin.

Superb Brunch Spreads

By ALICE DENHOFF

MORE and more, brunch is becoming popular as a way to entertain; but after a series of such parties, there tends to be a monotony about the menu. For that something different, try serving some delicious biscuits and breads prepared with canned Louisiana yams. Sounds strange, doesn't it? Well, it will be even more strange if you aren't asked for the recipes.

Makes Twelve

First the pinwheels, the recipe is for one dozen. Combine 2 c. biscuit mix and 1/2 c. milk, mixing well. Turn out on lightly floured surface and knead 10 times. Roll or pat into rectangle.

Combine a #303 can yams, drained and mashed, tsp. cinnamon, 1/4 c. milk and 1/2 c. raisins; mix well. Spread mixture over biscuit dough and dot with tsp. butter or margarine. Roll up jelly-roll fashion and cut in 1 in. slices. Place cut side up on greased baking sheet and in very hot oven (450° F.) for 15-20 minutes or until golden brown.

Superb Bread

Now settle down to a bit of baking and turn out a simply superb bread made with such good things as yams, almonds and orange juice. Cream 1/4 c. shortening; add 1/4 c. firmly packed brown sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Add 2 well-beaten eggs, a #2 can drained and mashed yams and 1/4 c. orange juice; beat well. Sift together 2 c. sifted all-purpose flour, 4 tsp. baking powder and 1/2 tsp. salt.

Add 1/2 c. chopped almonds and 1 1/2 tsp. grated orange rind, mixing well. Add flour mixture to yam mixture and mix only until ingredients are combined (makes a very stiff batter). Spread in greased 9 x 5 x 3-in. pan and bake at 350° F. for 1 hr. and 15 min. Turn out of pan and cool.

Yams and Bacon

Now for some delicious biscuits made with yams and bacon. To make about 10 biscuits, sift 1 1/2 c. sifted all-purpose flour, 4 tsp. baking powder and 1/2 tsp. salt together. Cut in 1/2 c. shortening until mixture is like coarse meal. Combine 1/4 c. milk, a #2 can yams, drained and mashed and 5 slices crisp, cooked bacon that have been well crumbled. Mix well. Blend into flour mixture. Roll or pat out to 1/2 in. thickness on lightly floured surface. Cut with floured 2 1/2-in. cutter. Place on baking sheet and bake at 425° F. about 15 min., or until golden brown.

The Southern Kingdom Overthrown ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—II Kings 24:20b-25:21; Jeremiah 38:1-39:14.

Jeremiah was cast into a miry dungeon by angry princes for advising his people to surrender to the invading army. Ebedmelech, an Ethiopian, went to the king who told him to take men and get Jeremiah out.

After Jeremiah's liberation, the king talked with him. Jeremiah warned the king to surrender to the enemy and save his life. If he did not Jerusalem would surely be destroyed and the women and children taken captives.

Jerusalem fell. The Judean army and the king fled, but the invading army pursued Zedekiah. They overtook him in the plains and carried him to the king of Babylon where judgment was pronounced upon him.

Nebuchadnezzar's captain of the guard, Nebuzaradan, burnt the temple and the great houses of Jerusalem. He took many prisoners, leaving only the poorest to tend the vineyards and farms. MEMORY VERSE—Galatians 6:7.

Brown-Mills Soil Conservation News

By CHARLES HAENISCH

COVER CROP time is just around the corner. Many farmers and ranchers in the Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District are beginning to prepare for the planting of their cover crops. A variety of legumes are used in this area as a cover crop. The legumes more commonly used are Hairy Vetch, Hubam sweetclover, Madrid sweetclover, Evergreen sweetclover, and Austrian winterpeas. Each of these legumes have been tried and proven in this area.

Last week Bill Sherwood reaped the benefits from the Madrid sweetclover he planted last September. He has baled approximately 800 bales of good clover hay. This hay will come in mighty handy this winter.

In order to be ready to plant your legumes this fall, there are a few things that need to be done now. First the type of legume you want to plant must be decided. This will be determined by the type of soil you have and the use you make of the legume. After you decide on the kind of legume you will plant locate the seed. Legume seed are scarce and will be hard to find at planting time. Secondly, begin to plan on a seed-bed preparation. A good seed-bed preparation is essential. Thirdly, decide on the type fertilizer to use. After this decision has been made, locate the fertilizer as this too may be scarce at planting time. Locate the inoculant you will use on the seed. A little planning before planting time may save a great deal of time this fall. For information concerning the planting of legumes contact your district supervisors or your Soil Conservation Service technicians.

Horbert Priddy, supervisor of the District from Priddy, reports that the Blue Panic grass he planted several weeks ago is doing good. Priddy planted Blue Panic several times and has had difficulty getting the grass up to a stand. It looks as though the rains have fallen just right this time to get the grass up in fine shape.

Twenty farmers in the Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District should have some mighty good fish fries in about a year and a half.

Through the Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District the Fish and Wildlife Service of the U. S. Department of Interior delivered a supply of catfish to the following farmers and ranchers:

Woodson Clary, S. M. McCasland, Wylie Mahan, Charlie McLean, Dr. T. C. Graves, W. W. Reynolds, W. H. Wasserman, Harry Welch, Howard Campbell, Ray O. Eubanks, A. O. Greele, Green Mankin, V. C. Bradford, C. A. Gromatsky, W. W. Head, Jim Soules, Chas. L. Stephens, Lee Walton, J. D. Wright, and Oscar Burns.

Proper fertilization and fish pond management will produce 1 to 1½ pound fish in eighteen months.

Austin, Tex. — School-age children of Texas will be given a second round of polio inoculations before the month ends.

Assurance has been given State Health Officer Henry A. Holte, by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, that manufacturers of the vaccine will have completed production and safety testing of enough vaccine to permit another round of inoculations and booster shots by the end of July.

Fifty five new cases of polio were reported for the latest reporting period, which ended June 25. It brought the state total to 509.

Austin has had 12 cases to date.

DRAFT EVADER SENTENCED
Two years in the federal penitentiary face Fred D. Jackson of Comanche.

He was sentenced by Federal Judge Ben H. Rice, Jr., when convicted of draft evasion. Jackson handled his own defense.

Asst. U. S. Dist. Atty. Lonny Zweimer, said that the Jehovah Witness minister refused to work in the Austin State Hospital when ordered to by his draft board—in lieu of military service. Yet he admitted working in a Fort Worth plant that manufactured military aircraft.

ADRIAN CASE DELAYED
Federal Judge Ben H. Rice, Jr., has postponed until next January a hearing to determine if 75-year-old John Cass Adrian of Austin is "mentally incompetent."

Adrian is a retired Austin mail carrier and Spanish American War veteran.

He is charged with writing a threatening letter to Former Land Commissioner Bascom Giles on May 13, and attempting to extort $800,000 from Giles.

PARR APPEALS
George B. Parr, "Boss of Duval County", has asked the US 5th Circuit Court of Appeals for permission to file two writs in his fight against charges of income tax evasion.

Parr wants the higher court to vacate an order setting his trial for July 18, and to stop proceedings until the Appeals Court reaches a decision.

Also, he wants the case heard in Laredo. Originally it was scheduled for Corpus Christi, then moved to Austin.

Parr has denied the government's charges that he failed to pay $55,000 in income taxes for the years 1949, 1950 and 1951.

CAREER ENDS
Rep. George S. Berry of Lubbock, whose career in public office began 30 years ago died in Austin last Friday. He was injured in an automobile accident on May 20.

Berry, who was 56, was serving his second term as a member of the Legislature. His first public office was as county attorney of Young County. Later he became assistant district attorney, and for a short time was assistant attorney general.

He was born in Granbury and moved to Lubbock in 1929.

SCHOOL SQUABBLE
A 1000-name petition was presented to Dr. J. W. Edgar, State Commissioner of Education, urging him to cancel certificates of the 110 teachers who struck in the recent school row in Irving.

Filing the petition were Clifford J. Moore and Donald O. Starrett, president and director, respectively, of the Council of Public Affairs at Irving.

They were advised by Dr. Edgar to have an attorney file a brief, supporting their contention, and if he decides he has jurisdiction, then each of the teachers involved will be granted individual public hearings.

Irving teachers struck in protest against the firing of Dr. John L. Beard as superintendent of the old Irving school board. When the district was abolished, and a new one created, the new board rehired Beard.

Dr. Edgar ruled earlier that the Irving school board did not have proper cause for canceling Dr. Beard's contract as superintendent.

Highlights And Sidelights On The U. S. Development of Atomic Energy

(The following is the first of a series of seven articles disclosing the highlights and sidelights which have accompanied the nation's development of atomic energy. Prepared at the Hanford atomic energy plant, the series will deal with the human things which followed in the wake of the first historic announcement that man had harnessed the atom. It will touch upon the things which lie ahead.)

BY BILL JURY
General Electric News Bureau
Hanford Atomic Plant

Seldom in American history have three neighboring villages seen such violent change as Hanford, White Bluffs and Richland in southeastern Washington during the infancy of the Atomic Age.

One of the tiny communities billowed almost overnight into a brawling boom town and quickly faded away and was lost to the desert wind and sand.

The second village was swallowed up, its value as a potential orchard center overshadowed by the need for an atomic energy plant site.

The third outlived the roaring boom period and since has grown into an incorporated city of 27,000 persons, its future secure as a business and residential area for atomic plant personnel.

Deep inside the barricaded boundaries of the Hanford atomic energy project today lies the remnants of the town which once was given great promise of becoming a leading producer of orchard crops. The town was White Bluffs.

Once a small orchard community on the banks of the majestic Columbia, it since has been absorbed by the sprawling, bustling Hanford project. Now it is a crossroad in the center of a 600-square-mile government reservation where General Electric company operates the Hanford plutonium plant for the Atomic Energy Commission. The town which gave its name to the Hanford project also was a quite community of 300 persons before its selection as a site for the huge atomic energy plant turned it into one of the biggest boom towns the West has ever known.

Moore than 50,000 persons, comprising workers and their families, moved into the area early in 1943 to help construct giant plant facilities. They were people from all over the country, recruited from wartime labor markets to build the original Hanford works. When their job was completed, most of them moved on. There who stayed behind to operate the atomic energy plant moved to Little Richland village, some 25 miles away from the nearest plant area.

Today, the town of Hanford is a ghost town, its blacktopped streets and windswept wooden frame skeletons offering only slight evidence of its brawling past.

Richland, village of 250 persons which stood 30 miles downriver from Hanford and White Bluffs, survived its sister communities and the fickle prosperity of the era. It expanded and absorbed its new people until today it is one of the largest cities in Eastern Washington.

Because of the almost complete absence of facilities for caring for its increased population in the early days of the Hanford project, the responsibility of providing the necessities of a big town was placed with the plant contractor, in those days, E. I. DuPont de Nemours, prime contractor to the Army Engineers.

The essential activities of a municipality—police and fire protection, supplying the necessary utilities and recreational facilities—are now provided by the Community Services Section of GE. This group covers all normal departments of most cities in the nation; everything from public works and safety, to parks and library boards. In addition, it manages most of the town real estate rentals and operates the plant administrative area.

The communities of Hanford and White Bluffs now are chapters in American history, but Richland—a child of the Atomic Age—is making history as this nation's first atomic city.

WATER NOTICE

In order to insure fire protection and to provide water to all customers for household purposes, it is necessary to curtail the use.

Until further notice all customers are asked to please refrain from watering of lawns and gardens.

When and if the supply has gained enough, you will be notified as to limited use for outdoor purposes.

The odors you may have noticed from water during the last week, comes from a harmless algae growth that has been pulled into the mains through increased use of water. We hope to eliminate this when water is available for flushing the mains.

Your usual cooperation is solicited.
