Hunting - Fishing Licenses To Be Processed Soon

Austin.— Hunting and fishing licenses for the new state fiscal year beginning September 1 will be in the hands of dealers by the last week of this month, according to the Chief License Clerk of the Game and Fish Commission.

The licenses which will be good for twelve months dating from September 1 will be distributed through approximately one thousand seven hundred licenses deputies, mainly sporting goods stores and hardware merchants, plus county clerks and game wardens.

The Chief License Clerk said approximately four hundred ten thousand fishing licenses and approximately three hundred eighty thousand hunting licenses were sold last year. Individual resident fishing licenses cost $1.65 and individual resident hunting licenses cost $2.15.

It was noted by the Chief License Clerk that the number of fishing licenses issued shows an increasing trend out of proportion to the hunting license rate. Until recent years, Texas issued about the same number of each. This year about thirty thousand more fishing licenses will be distributed.

The Chief License Clerk said this reflects the new emphasis on fishing that has accompanied the gradual growth in fishing waters primarily because of additional lakes and reservoirs. He said he foresees even a greater spread since water-conservation Texas has elaborate plans for more water impoundments.

One new angle this year concerns the hunters and fishermen 65 years of age or older who, by Legislative act, do not have to buy either a hunting or fishing license. The same privilege applies to youngsters under seventeen years of age. Both young and old categories, however, must obtain exempt licenses for big game.

Vocational Agriculture And Social Science Instructors Are Selected

Selection of Vocational Agriculture and Social Science instructors for Goldthwaite High School was announced Tuesday by Supt., J. T. Jones.

James Bowman was selected as Social Science teacher to fill the vacancy created when Johnny Husack left the system in June to answer the call to military service.

Mr. Bowman, formerly held this position until he resigned at mid-term, last year, to accept other employment. The Bowman's moved from here to Houston and will now move back to Goldthwaite before the opening of school on September 1. Mr. and Mrs. Bowman have two sons and a daughter.

The newly elected Vocational Agriculture teacher is Alvin M. Hunt who comes here from Floresville, Texas, where he has been for the past three years.

Mr. Hunt is a graduate of Corsicana High School with a Bachelor's Degree from Sam Houston State College. He comes well recommended as having had a well balanced program in the several phases of vocational agriculture and plans to carry extensive projects in all phases of livestock raising, poultry enterprises and farm shop work. Mr. and Mrs. Hunt and their Actual ownership of lambs and yearlings at least 30 days before slaughter is required for the producer or the feeder to qualify for payment under the National Wool Act of 1954. L. H. Soules, Chairman of the Mills County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee stresses this point because of the many queries throughout the wool and lamb producing area.

The questions indicate that some are under the impression that the period of ownership starts when the lambs or yearlings are contracted for. Actually, the period of ownership starts when the lambs or yearlings are purchased. In the case of feeding, if the feeder buys the lambs or yearlings with the wool on and actually owns them for 30 days before marketing he is entitled to the wool payment. If owned by the feeder less than 30 days, the previous 30-day owner, usually the producer, is entitled to the payment.

In any case, Mr. Soules explains, the one entitled to the payment must make application and must certify that he has owned the lambs or yearlings for at least 30 days. The application for payment and the necessary ownership certification must be sent to the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office. Payments will be made after all records of all 1955 wool sales made between April 1, 1955 and April 1, 1956. The amount of the payment to the grower will be based on the percentage needed to bring the average return to wool growers up to 62 cents per pound.

Mr. Soules emphasizes again that since the payment is based on a percentage of what the wool grower receives for his wool, the higher the price the individual grower receives, the greater his payment. He urges growers to get applications in to the County ASC Office as soon after the sale as possible and not later than 30 days after the close of the marketing year.

Producers are urged to remember also that the last day to cast ballot in the wool referendum is Friday, August 19th. Ballots should be mailed or brought to the ASC Office.

Goldthwaite School Board will be in a called session next Monday night at which time final plans will be made for opening of school and the year's operation.

Several applications have been filed for bus drivers jobs, but, the greatest number of applications on hand so far are for lunchroom work. Applications may be filed until Monday night.

Inside WASHINGTON MARCH OF EVENTS

Government Economists Worried Over Inflation | Money Policy Will Be Adjusted If It Comes

WASHINGTON—That old bugaboo, inflation, is beginning to worry government economists.

The nation's general prosperity is rapidly reducing unemployment rolls and some experts believe that by early autumn, overtime work will be prevalent in many industries in order to keep pace with the demand for products.

Overtime pay, of course, would mean higher production costs and therefore, higher prices.

The Eisenhower administration is quietly preparing to meet such a situation, should it develop, by adjusting its money policy.

An indication of the precautionary procedure being followed is the Treasury's recent decision to put on the market another 750 million dollars worth of long-term bonds. This would provide some cushion for any spiral in the price structure.

Democrats are closely watching the situation because even mild inflation would provide them with a desperately needed issue in 1956, particularly if the rise in prices should simmer down to the housewife level.

The President and his advisers are determined to make certain that the Democrats don't get to make use of any such issue. It plagued former President Harry S. Truman throughout his term in office.

DOLLAR BILL—You can expect President Eisenhower to sign legislation raising the minimum wage to one dollar an hour—despite his previous insistence that the nation's economy could not stand anything more than 90 cents.

Congress is sure to approve a boost of 25 cents over the current 75-cent hourly limit, and Mr. Eisenhower almost certainly will go along.

He will do so, however, only after his Council of Economic Advisers assures him that the United States economy will not suffer as a result. The council is already gathering the information on the subject.

Organized labor has demanded that the minimum wage be pegged at $1.25 an hour, but even its best friends in Congress refused to go that far, fearing a 50 cent increase would cause widespread unemployment.

Labor will be satisfied with the "dollar bill," however, figuring it will be enough of an improvement for the time being and will be willing to wait a while longer for a larger boost.

PROSPERITY—The report by Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks that present signs indicate industrial production and sales will break all records this year quickly brought a statement from the American Federation of Labor.

The AFL in one of its news organs said that "naturally, Mr. Weeks and other GOP spokesmen will try to claim credit for the return of prosperity which they feel is due to the more favorable climate for business created by this administration."

It added, "But the real key to better business conditions . . . is the sharp increase in purchasing power this year. This has resulted from wage increases won by unions for millions of workers and from wider employment."

BIG WAIT—President Eisenhower did not have any advance text of his pre-Geneva report to the people for a special reason.

While Mr. Eisenhower generally gives out such advance texts on his talks, he didn't do so this time because he apparently wanted to wait and take advantage of any Soviet remarks.

And he had plenty and took advantage of them. Just a number of hours before the chief executive took to the airways, Premier Nikolai Bulganin held an unprecedented news conference in Moscow.

It was announced about a week before Mr. Eisenhower spoke that there would be no advance text on his report. Whether or not he had knowledge that far ahead that Bulganin was going to speak to newsmen in the first such conference ever held in Russia—probably never will be told.

THIRST QUENCHER?

VIC'S . . . SOLILOQUY

When the four young sons of Mr. and Mrs. Roydston House talked their folks into letting them sleep out in the open the other night they didn't realize they were in for an eventful experience before morning. But, that is just exactly what happened to them.

When they came home from church last week Monday evening the boys decided it would be nice to sleep out in the yard. The weather was nice and warm, the sky clear at their home nine miles East of Goldthwaite. There was Rodney, 9, Gary 7, and the twins, Dayton and Wayne, six years of age.

Their parents gave them the go ahead signal and they fixed their places out under the stars and were off to dream land before very long.

Sometime during the early morning hour, about 4:30 a.m. Mr. House heard their family dog who was really raising a ruckus about that time. From what we hear it didn't take him very long to get out into the yard and see what was happening.

About six feet from where one of the boys was bunked for the night the family dog had encountered a Porcupine. Maybe you think the boys didn't come to life in a hurry. Sleeping out for the night was all over.

The "Porc" headed for the nearest tree and headed for higher and safer grounds. By that time the boys and their dad got their spot light from the tractor and his 22 target and were out after the varmit, which was felled a short time later.

Later that day the boys were displaying their catch around town. They didn't say much but from the expression on their faces one got the general impression they were thinking: "We caught a Porcupine—Pappa shot him."

Smead Manufacturing Company of Hastings Minnesota, distributed a scroll a few days back that rings out a tender note. The author of the message contained on this scroll is unknown, but our guess is his written words will live on for a long time. He wrote:

A BUSINESS MAN'S PRAYER
Teach me that sixty minutes makes an hour, sixteen ounces a pound, and one hundred cents a dollar—Help me so to live that I can lie down at night with a clear conscience, without a gun under my pillow, and unharmed by the faces of those to whom I have brought pain—Grant that I may earn my meal ticket on the square, and in earning it I may do unto others as I would have others do unto me—Deafen me to the jingle of tainted money and to the rustle of unholly skirts—Blind me to the faults of the other fellow, but reveal to me my own—Guide me so that each night

When I look across the dinner table at my wife, who has been a blessing to me, I shall have nothing to conceal—Keep me young enough to laugh with little children, and sympathetic enough to be considerate of old age—And when comes the day of darkening shades and the smell of flowers, the tread of soft footsteps and the crunching wheels in the yard—make the ceremony short and the epitaph simple—"Here lies a man"

A SAFETY MESSAGE

The cemetery is full of drivers who had the right of way. This rather ancient wisecrack states a truth that should receive a good deal of consideration this month when the traffic safety spotlight is beamed on the Signs of Life.

The purpose of the Signs of Life program is to encourage recognition of the basic traffic sign shapes and observance of all traffic signs, signals, and pavement markings and the laws and rules behind them.

Traffic signs are provided for the protection of drivers and pedestrians. Yet drivers and walkers constantly disregard these safeguards—frequently throwing away their own lives in the process. This is a matter of record. Statistics show that in most traffic accidents the cause is some violation of the law of safe driving or walking. Observation of the Signs of Life and the laws and common sense rules they represent can save many of these lives. A driver or walker should take mere observance of the law.

You can be killed driving across an intersection on through street, if a driver realize you have the right of way. Similarly, you can be killed even though you have the right of way in either case it will be small comfort to you or your relatives that the law was of the law.

Safe walking or driving any individual should include observance of the following rules:

1. Know the Signs of Life their shapes so you can recognize them on sight. Obey them meticulously.
2. Be willing to yield your legal rights whenever necessary to prevent a traffic accident.

And only flame-fast gas gives such quick, efficient service — and at an operating cost that is a fraction of other types. A new gas dryer will add smartness and economy to your kitchen or utility room. Still another new weapon is being perfected in man's continual war against harmful insects.

The Texas and U.S.D.A. entomologists are studying effects of chemicals which inhibit the normal development of insects by slowing down their growing processes. This is a new and unique approach which shows early chances of success.

These chemicals, which are proving effective in many instances where insecticides have failed, work in various ways. Some, such as colchicine and aminopterin, prevent cell division and growth. Another, sulfanilamide—one of the wonder drugs—slows down an insect's metabolism.

None of the experimental chemicals act as insecticides, which are almost immediately deadly to insects. But in some instances, the larvae-to-adult development period is being extended so as to prevent maturity.

One of the most interesting of these experiments concerns the development of the house fly. Some flies have a resistance to DDT. Against others, the insecticide is still effective.

Experiments have proved that in the cases of the DDT-resistant flies, the growth-stunting chemicals are more effective than with those flies that are not-resistant. Therefore, stunting chemicals pick up where DDT leaves off.

The chemical used in these fly larvae-development tests is piperonyl butoxide, a non-toxic compound which appears to be one of the most promising of all the experimental drugs. By adding this chemical to other insecticides, tests indicate that larvae development can be markedly reduced.

In the case of DDT-resistant flies, only 3 per cent of the resistant flies became fully developed whereas 16 per cent of the normal flies survived.

Census Bureau To Obtain Part-Time Worker Information

Special supplementary questions designed to find out whether unemployed persons are seeking full-time or part-time work will be asked in the August Current Population Survey, according to Supervisor Charles E. Fay of the Census Bureau's district office at Dallas, Texas.

The Current Population Survey is conducted locally and in 229 other areas of the country each month to collect up to date national figures in employment and unemployment. The survey will be carried out during the week of August 15-19, 1955.

Current Population Survey information will be collected locally by Mrs. Nella Casbeer of Lampasas, Texas.

Farm & Home Management Increases In Importance In Today's Operation

College Station.— Good farm and home managers are known for their ability to "stay ahead of the pack." In predicting the future, John G. McHaney, extension economist, says that changes place real profit premiums on outstanding family management.

World and national forces are today shaping the prices of tomorrow, next year and the next decade, and government programs may be tending to bring higher or lower prices, explains the specialist. "Knowledge and understanding of how these forces work and their ultimate effect upon agricultural production and prices are basic for making management plans."

Right now with the price-cost squeeze continuing to tighten on the farmer, management and more efficient production offer some relief. Prices paid for farm products continue to decline—about 5 percent lower now than a year ago—prices of production items needed by the farmer have declined only one percent. The incomes for consumers are now about four percent above those of last summer and food store sales are six percent higher.

During the past year competition in the consumer market has become extremely keen, says the economist. Credit has been used by many retailers to promote sales with the result that credit outstanding has increased more rapidly than income and is near peak levels. Under present conditions it will pay to shop around for consumer goods, says McHaney. Money saved in this manner amounts to an increase in the family income and is good management. But, he warns, it is also good management not to over extend credit nor to purchase items not particularly needed just because they can be obtained at bargain prices. All must be paid for sooner or later.

PARENT PROBLEMS

First Lessons In Art

by GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.
A CHILD entering kindergarten or first grade will often work at coloring, drawing, cutting, pasting, molding and doing many other things with his hands. If he has had practice in these skills and creative activities at home for several years, he has a good head start at school, especially if he has often enjoyed these activities with playmates in his home or theirs.

Lonely and Discouraged
If he has not had such useful experience before entering school, he may be greatly handicapped. He may not easily catch on as other children do. He may feel lonely and discouraged and his teacher may soon report to you that he does not cooperate or that he is immature (I wish teachers would never use this ugly word!).

The mother of a preschool tot should start now, to prepare him in these directions.

Paste Pictures
Spend time with him, encouraging him, at an early age, to color, draw, cut and paste. Very soon he will like to cut out pictures with snub-nosed scissors from old papers and magazines. Soon he will like to paste some of these pictures on a large sheet of paper, which could be wrapping paper, unprinted news or backs of remnants of wallpaper. You can make improvised paste from flour and water and buy inexpensive coloring books. Using them will help him to become acquainted with colors and learn eye and hand coordination in keeping within boundaries. It's better still, to encourage him to design his own pictures and color them.

First Scribbles
Learn to appreciate and enjoy his first scribbles and his gradual growth in drawing pictures which look a bit like something familiar to you. If you can't recognize what he had drawn, don't ask him. Wait, and he will name it for you.

Before he is five, he might like to have fun with finger paints or with water colors and a brush. Also, he will enjoy building all sorts of structures, with large and smaller blocks, checkers and dominoes.

Read to Him
Read to this young child. Begin as soon as he will look and listen for a few minutes at a stretch and keep on reading to him after he enters school.

Learning to listen is good training in the kind of concentration he will need to exercise at school.

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Austin, Tex.— Whether Texas school laws have been nullified is under a statewide advisory committee's study.

Gov. Allan Shivers outlined major desegregation problems at the committee's initial meeting last week. Although he denounced the US Supreme Court decree, he said the answer was not in defiance. He recommended adjustment in the best interest of Texas school children.

Shivers said an El Paso district court decision ordering desegregation at Texas Western College may necessitate rewriting the Gilmer-Alken laws. School money now is allocated on the basis of separate, but equal, facilities for white and colored.

Bi-racial, the group includes 34 community leaders appointed by the governor and eight legislators named by the house speaker and lieutenant governor.

Will Morris Grews, San Antonio lawyer and contractor, was named to head a 12-member executive committee. A legal subcommittee will study legislative needs.

Areas of study suggested by the governor:

1. What to do about present compulsory attendance and compulsory segregation laws.
2. Whether either white or colored children can be forced to attend a certain school, or integrate, against their will.
3. Ways and means of giving maximum authority to local school districts.

POLIO VACCINE ALLOCATED
Children under 10 and expectant mothers have won priority recognition for Texas' supply of commercial Salk vaccine.

Such preference was recommended by the State Polio Vaccine Committee. Dr. Henry Hoile, state health commissioner, called the group to decide how the 36,540 vaccine doses released to Texas should be used.

Recommended use was split, 83 per cent commercially, 17 per cent by public agencies. Agencies were asked to order through retail outlets, not from manufacturers. Doctors were urged to keep accurate records.

Nationally, it had been suggested preference be given children 5 to 9. Basis for the exchange in Texas was records showing 44 per cent of paralytic polio last year hit children under 5.

Though the state vaccine committee has no official authority, it anticipated no difficulty in getting cooperation. Its nine members represent top officials and leaders in the medical, pharmaceutical and osteopathic profession.

Philip, Gene Earl and Ronald Auldridge spent last weekend with their aunt, Mrs. Erroll Sheppard and family at Killeen.

Mrs. Bill Holyfield and children, Billy and Celia Ann of Fort Worth are visiting her sister, Mrs. Fred Reynolds, Mr. Reynolds and other relatives here.

Brown-Mills Soil Conservation News

By CHARLES HAENISCH

Farm and ranch conservation plans were recently developed on the farms and ranches of W. W. Fox, L. R. Rudd, Arnold Head, and Rodney Wallace. Soil Conservation Service technicians assisted these cooperators of the Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District in making plans for better utilizing and conserving their soil, water, and plants. Each of these cooperators had begun applying conservation work to their land, but feel that by using their conservation plan as a guide, they will be able to do their conservation jobs better and faster.

Diversion terraces are being built this week on the Arthur Gromatsky farm and the J. C. Tiemann farm near Priddy. These diversions are being constructed above cultivated fields to divert runoff water from pastures around the fields.

Ranges that are being deferred are responding favorably to the recent rains that fell. Maurice Knight near Center City has 187 acres that has been deferred since April 1. Mr. Knight says that the grasses are growing fine and that he has more grass on the 187 acres than on any other 500 acres on his place.

Thurman Head, south of Goldthwaite, has 356 acres that has been deferred since May 1st. His pasture is also doing good and is getting a good grass cover on it.

In order to use rangeland properly, livestock water should be placed at locations in the pasture that will better distribute the grazing of the livestock. Soil Conservation Service technicians this week staked ponds for Wesley Schmidt, Andrew Montgomery, Loyd King, and Arthur Gromatsky. These ponds will be used for livestock water.

Terraces are being built this week for William Arthur Cline, Arnold Head, Charley Hall, H. C. Schunke, and Luther Roach. These terraces are being constructed on cultivated land to break the slope of the land and release the excess water to an adequate outlet. County Commissioners O. H. Shaw of Precinct No. 1 and Fred Wall of Precinct No. 2 are the contractors for these jobs.

San Saba Peak

By MRS. DUTCH SMITH

We received a nice rain, one and 4 inches for which we are very grateful.

Two of our children, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Ball, Jimmy and Jesse Loyd of Houston and Johnny and Margaret Ann of Burnet spent the weekend with us. Johnny and Margaret Ann had just returned from a trip which took them through several states and on in to Canada. They reported a most wonderful trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Shafer and family and a sister visited over the weekend with their sister, Mrs. P. R. Jordan and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Dutch Smith visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Harris of the Scallorn community. My sister and her husband, the Boyd Leveretts from San Saba and my oldest brother were also there for a visit.

Mrs. Jesse Ball and Mrs. Dutch Smith and Jesse Loyd made pop calls in Goldthwaite Saturday evening, visiting with Mrs. Arthur Cline, Mrs. Eula Nickols, Mrs. Tom Hulstutler and Mr. and Mrs. Kyle Johnston and Johnnie Mark of Galveston.

The Johnstons were reared here and Mrs. Johnston will be remembered as the former Miss Agnes Byrd.

I think I should change the name of my news to the Smith News—as that's all I know to write about.

Dutch and I visited Sunday evening until church time at Shady Oak Ranch.

Dad Stucky is just about the same. He has been very ill since July 4. Two of his children are helping the Hughes care for him.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Laughlin entertained a number of friends with an ice cream social last Friday night. Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Smith showed some pictures made on their recent trip and also other pictures.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Laughlin were guests in the Dutch Smith home Thursday evening.

Salt, Water And Fences Are Listed As Valuable Range Management Tools

College Station.—Tools are equipment used for doing specific jobs. The quality of the tools used is important but equally or more so is how the tools are utilized for doing the job. A. H. Walker, extension range specialist, says the salting and watering facilities and fences on the range are excellent management tools, but how well they are used determines their value.

Most operators, either from habit or because of convenience, salt at the watering places. Walker explains that better distribution of grazing and less trampling of plants is secured by salting away from the watering facilities . . . a fourth, half or even a mile away. Research studies, he adds, at the Sonora Station have shown that more uniform grazing is obtained from cattle sheep and goats when the water is at one end of the pasture and the salt at the other.

Salt should be placed on knolls, benches, openings in the timber or the gentle slopes, says the specialist. Cattle need an average of two pounds of salt each month with more in the lush growing season. Sheep need about a half pound each month and granulated salt fed in protected trough is recommended.

Walker says place the watering facilities to get a balanced utilization of forage and this means proper grazing distribution. In excessive steep and rough country, water should be available each half mile and in relatively flat country at intervals of one to one and a half miles. Earthen tanks should be deep with a small surface area to cut down on evaporation. In some sections of Texas from five to seven feet of water are lost annually to evaporation, says Walker.

Be sure to build the fence for the purpose intended. Smaller pastures give better distribution of livestock, make deferred grazing possible and lend themselves to systematic range improvement practices, such as brush control and seasonal grazing. Finally, Walker says, use a map to spot these management tools if the most value is to be obtained from their use on your range.

Old Age Assistance Benefits Increase Starting September

Austin—Old people in Texas heaved a sigh of relief Thursday as Attorney General John Ben Shepperd ruled that they will begin receiving increased old age assistance benefits in September.

The bill passed by the Legislature provided for the additional $7 million dollars in assistance to begin in September. But because the bill was passed by a voice vote, it ran into a constitutional snag providing that such bills cannot go into effect until 90 days after the session ends which would be September 6.

The delay in the effective date raised a question as to whether the additional funds could be made available before October 1.

Shepperd ruled that the increased allocations for September could be made September 6. This permits payment of the increase for that month.

This opinion was requested by the State Department of Public Welfare.

Tommy Collier of Waco is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Collier.

Highlights And Sidelights On The U. S. Development Of Atomic Energy

(The following is the sixth of a series of seven articles discussing the highlights and sidelights which have accompanied the nation's development of atomic energy. Prepared at the Hanford atomic energy plant, the series deals with the human things which followed in the wake of the first historic announcement that man had harnessed the atom. It touches upon the things which lie ahead.)

BY BILL JURY
General Electric News Bureau
Hanford Atomic Plant

In the industrial world of the next decade, radiation from the widespread use of radioactive materials for peaceful purposes may exceed by tens of millions of times the world's present supply of radium.

But radiation hazards on any foreseeable scale are controllable, according to one of the nation's foremost experts on radiation, and eventually workers should be able to protect themselves from "normal" radiation in an atomic plant just as they now guard themselves from acids in other industries.

Dr. Herbert M. Parker, General Electric company scientist at the Hanford atomic energy plant near Richland, Washington, has said that people working in future power plants or factories using radioactive materials easily can be protected from external radiation. Harm from radioactive materials deposited inside the bodies of human beings also can be prevented, but this may involve imposing excessively high safety standards, at least until some of the present unknowns have been solved.

Dr. Parker, who has been working on radiation protection ever since the beginning of the nation's atomic efforts 12 years ago, points out that the atomic industry was spawned in safety—at the expense of considerable investments in radiation protection.

Safety precautions at the plutonium-manufacturing works at Hanford by necessity are all-encompassing, and some of the protective clothing worn by employees are grotesque and weird by today's fashion standards. But much of the paraphernalia is just as vital to the safety of the Hanford employee as the diving helmet and the air hose are to the salvage diver.

The plastic, man-shaped radiation barriers developed at Hanford and later copied by other nuclear research industries here and abroad enable a man to enter a contaminated area, operate instruments, perform maintenance and repair work, or accomplish other tasks that must be done but can't be done remotely from the outside.

Since termed the "plastic man" outfit, the suit is connected to the outside by means of a tunnel which serves as an entrance and exit for an employee and also provides him with a means of obtaining clean air from the outside. In effect, it provides a little island of safe space in the midst of an area contaminated with deadly radioactive material.

At present, there still is a considerable monitoring force at Hanford and other atomic plants whose duty it is to "make sure" for thousands of workers that an area is safe and to prescribe precautions. But in the future, scientists predict, there will come a day when workers will be able to deal with the problems of radiation, just as they now guard themselves from acids, and recognize the danger of walking under ladders.

News Of The Ebony Community

By CLEMENTINE WILMETH BRILEY

Wedding bells rang for Ebony this week as Clayton Egger brought home his bride. He and Miss Helen Tolbot of Brownwood were married Saturday evening, Aug. 6, at five o'clock in the W. A. Bell Club Room of the Howard Payne Library. Bud Howard Payne was best man, Dr. Seale Cutbirth of Fort Worth, Threlton Cutbirth of Pierce, Bill Tippen of Abilene and Bill Alcorn of Brownwood were ushers. Dr. Guy Newman, Pres. of Howard Payne College, performed the ceremony. Clayton is a son of Mrs. Effie Tippen Egger and the late Will Egger. He was born and reared at Ebony. His father died when he was too small to remember, but his mother carried on and won for herself the reputation of being one of the best stock farmers in this part of the country. Clayton is a graduate of Howard Payne College. He gave up a job with a Houston oil company last year and came home to devote his entire time to his ranch here stocked with herefords and sheep. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Egger left for a honeymoon in New Mexico. They will be at home at 1009 Lackey Ave. in Brownwood.

Out-of-town relatives attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cutbirth and Threlton of Pierce; Dr. and Mrs. Seale Cutbirth of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Bud Tippen of Galveston; Mrs. Will Tippen of Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Pete Tippen and Peter and Philip of Arlington, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tippen and Larry Kent of Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McCann and Camille and Cindy of Lometa; Mr. and Mrs. Rob Philen and Debbie and Donnie of Dallas; and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Philen and Mittie and Dinky of Texas City.

Attending from Ebony were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Egger; Mr. and Mrs. Charm Whittenburg; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Egger and Jerry; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Reeves; and Mrs. Johnny Humphries.

As we went to town Friday J. Griffin and a boy companion were slaying tall careless weeds in the Griffin peanuts. When we returned the last enemy was slain and the peanuts were fine.

We came by the nursing home Friday to see Mammy Reeves. Daughter Brownie is still with her to be companionable and to look after her needs. Mrs. Carrie Hildebrand Peck says she is on the mend, though she has been quite ill since we saw her last. She says she weighs 75 lbs.

We also came out Austin Ave. to the home of Mrs. Charlie Forsythe. Last year just before we left for El Paso John saw her down town. She said her sister, Mrs. Bertie Foster, was in the hospital with a stroke and was in a very critical condition. Mrs. Forsythe welcomed us into her nice, comfortable home. She took us back to a large, cool bedroom at the rear, and there was Bertie in her wheel chair. She said she was spending the day with Jessie. With help she can walk some now. She seemed quite hopeful. Bertie and Jessie were the Lewellyn girls of Elkins. John and I both knew them in our youth, and I had visited at their large, comfortable, rock home. I remember the pink oleander in bloom in its tub on the porch. The Lewellyns were of the salt of the earth.

We talked of the Elkins of long ago—its protracted meetings, its singing conventions, and its many lively young people. Like Ebony it was laid waste by the Camp Bowie Maneuver Area. Hearing that Mrs. Edna Dwyer was in Medical Arts Hospital at Brownwood, we went to church at Brownwood Sunday and went home with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wilmeth for dinner. While waiting for time to go to the hospital we drove out Coggin Ave. to find the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip A. Shaw. He works in El Paso and she teaches there. She and the grandchildren have been spending the summer at their pretty, shady home in Brownwood. He had just got in last night for a three weeks vacation. Our visit was all too short, but I got off with a lot of her beautiful peony-like hollyhock seed which she raised in El Paso. If we plant them now, they should bloom for us next spring.

We went by for Mrs. Lena Crowder and went on to the hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Austin Cawyer had already arrived from Orange, and Daughter Beth had come from Abilene. Mrs. Dwyer was in bed, but seemed quite comfortable and jolly. The doctors pronounce her case a ruptured appendix, but say it has formed an abscess, and they think they can drain it.

Returning home we stopped by to see Mrs. Effie Egger. She is quite happy over her new daughter-in-law. She loaded us with sweet milk, tomatoes, and okra. Mrs. Johnny Humphries was there. While Johnny is working in Dallas, she and Mrs. Egger will keep each other company at night.

On down the road we found Dewey Smith loading his car with water melons from his patch. He got back over the fence and plucked a fine one for us.

Misses Grace Denison and Jerry Laurie of Dallas spent the weekend with Mrs. Will Burks. Mrs. Burks accompanied them to Zephyr Saturday where they visited Alfred Denison and family.

Scallorn News

By ORA BLACK

The Baptist Meeting at Scallorn got underway Friday evening and will continue through Sunday August 14. Rev. Hagan of Lometa Church is doing the preaching.

Mrs. Charles Wright of Mullin and two grandchildren, Don and Barbara Bryson of Gouldbusk were guests in our home Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hines had as their guests last week their grandson, Frank Richard Todd of West Texas. After spending several days with his grandparents and aunt, Miss Greta Sue Hines, they took him to Santa Anna where he took the bus for home.

Miss Ima Chadwick of Brownwood is visiting in the Chadwick community with Mr. and Mrs. Clark Bristow.

Mr. and Mrs. Todd of Santa Anna and Mrs. Juster of Coleman were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hines and Miss Greta Sue.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Turman of Austin spent the weekend here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Black and brothers, Huntis and Layton.

The writer and son, Billie went to Brownwood Wednesday to visit a sister and to be present for the fish fry given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Black honoring him on his 77th birthday. A large crowd gathered to wish him many more happy birthdays, and help eat the 40 pounds of cat fish.

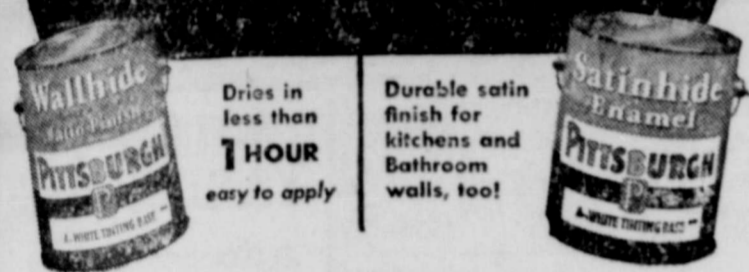

Mrs. Lora Mound has been in Stephenville with her sister, Mrs. Lila Ward for the past two weeks. Mrs. Ward underwent surgery some time ago and is still quite ill.

Mr. Stucky of Hot Springs, Arkansas, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Dick Hughes, Mr. Hughes and his father, Dad Stucky.

Deliverance and Return

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Ezra 1; 2:64-65; Isaiah 44:21-45:13.

More than 100 years before Cyrus, the Persian king was born, Isaiah prophesied that God would speak to him and tell him to free the Jewish captives. They were to return to Jerusalem and there rebuild God's temple.

Cyrus also ordered that all vessels of silver and gold that Nebuchadnezzar had rifled from the temple and put into the house of his gods, were to be returned to the Jews and restored to the temple.

Although Cyrus did not know God whose word came to him, he made proclamation that the Jews should go back to Judah. All men were to help them with silver, gold and goods to aid in the rebuilding.

So the Jews, numbering 42,360, with priests, Levites, men and women singers, porters with their mules and horses—all who had been torn from their homeland joyfully returned to it. MEMORY VERSE—Isaiah 45:22.

Miss Melva Joann Pafford And A/IC Fred Ray Noland Are Wed

MR. AND MRS. FRED RAY NOLAND

Miss Melva Joann Pafford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Pafford of Mullin became the bride of A/IC Fred Ray Noland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Noland of Hamilton, Saturday July 30, at 8:00 o'clock in a candlelight ceremony in the home of the bride's parents.

Patty Pafford, sister of the bride, lighted the candles which were set in flower arrangements of white gladioli and tapered palm leaves which formed the background for the double-ring vows. Rev. Morgan Beach, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Mullin officiated at the ceremony.

Miss Sue Rowlett played the traditional wedding marches and sang "Because" and "The Wedding Prayer".

Sherman Gardner of Fort Worth, brother-in-law of the groom served as best man. Mrs. D. L. Cummings of San Angelo, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore an aqua taffeta dress with a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride wore a powder blue linen suit with white accessories. Her only jewelry was a pair of pearl ear rings and a single strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom. She carried out the old tradition of something old, which was a cameo pin belonging to her grandmother, something new, something borrowed, which was her mother's wedding band, something blue, and a penny in her shoe. A white orchid atop a white Bible with white satin ribbon streamers tied in lovers knots formed the bridal bouquet.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the bride's home. The table was laid with a lace cloth over blue and centered with a two-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Small center-pieces of white and pink carnations were table decorations. Louise Noland, sister of the groom, assisted in registering the guests. Misses Peggy Lou and Jean Pafford, sisters of the bride and Miss Laura Jones assisted with serving. Those attending the reception were: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Fowler White, Sue and Ross Rowlett, Laura Jones, Jane Shelton and Bobby Edgar of Mullin. Mr. and Mrs. H. L.
