One Thousand Have Chest X-Ray Here Last Week

An even one thousand Mills County citizens turned out for a FREE Chest X-Ray during the two days survey conducted here last week Friday and Saturday by the Texas State Department of Health.

Of this number 517 were X-Rayed on Friday and 483 on Saturday.

Mills County chairman, W. P. Duren, expressed his appreciation to the many volunteer workers who took part in helping with the X-Ray Survey here. The response from these volunteer workers was very gratifying and was certainly appreciated by officials.

While the committee in charge was hopeful of having at least 1,500 county residents take advantage of the FREE Survey, the number that did take part was gratifying.

The Portable X-Ray unit was capable of taking care of more than responded here, however, the number that turned out was an average day for their survey.

Two Flock System Could Level Egg Production, Says Poultry Specialist

During the last few months of the hen's laying year and the two flock system would help solve this problem. Wormell says in one area where poultrymen strive to produce only top quality eggs, a requirement of the organization is that replacement chicks be put down three times each year. He also says that a chief reason for the success of the cage method of handling laying hens is that production is kept on an even keel the year round.

And another major advantage, he adds, the egg producer by following the two flock program can have a dependable year-round income from his poultry enterprise.

Wormell points out that presently about 50 percent of the chicks hatched in Texas for flock replacements are placed during the first quarter of the year; about 37 percent the second; 6 percent the third and 7 percent the fourth quarter. This, he adds, is strong evidence that a new flock could be producing when egg prices are normally at their peak . . . in the fall and winter months.

In making his appeal to hunters he stated that he has received a number of complaints from farmers and ranchers about shooting being done from roads with shotguns and rifles.

It is illegal to shoot from roads and highways and as the Sheriff pointed out further it endangers the lives of those working in fields along roads where they may not be seen. Also the matter of livestock should be considered by hunters.

Sheriff Stubblefield stated he will appreciate the cooperation from Mills County citizens during the hunting season in this connection.

"God And Country" Scout Award To Be Presented To Penn Barnett

For the first time in Mills County, a young man registered with the Boy Scouts of America will be presented the God and Country Award. Presentation will take place at the 10:50 morning service at the First Methodist Church. The award will be given to Penn Barnett, asst. Scout Master of Troop 77, who has had nearly ten years in Scouting as Cub, Boy and Explorer. In addition to leadership in the local scout troop, Penn has attended two National Scout Jamborees, the 1949 Jamboree at Valley Forge, Penna., and the 1953 Jamboree in California.

Penn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Barnett of this city. He is a graduate of Goldthwaite High School, class of 1955, and will enter the University of Texas this fall.

The award gets its name from the opening words of the Scout Oath or Promise "On my honor I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country . . .". In this Scout Promise and the 12th Scout Law: "A scout is reverent". Scouting recognizes the basic importance of religion in the process of character building and gives strong incentives toward the attainment of spiritual ideals. At the same time it has avoided any semblance of giving religious instruction because this is the prerogative and the responsibility of the Church and the home. In the Church Awards program a Scout is directed to his spiritual home for religious instruction and is encouraged by Scouting to fulfill the standards established by the Church to give him practical guidance in the achievement of the spiritual pledges made in the Scout Promise and the 12th Scout Law.

As a Scout strives to achieve a God and Country Award with the help of his Pastor he will be strengthened in four important endeavors:

1. To be more faithful in his religious duties.

2. To deepen his personal devotional life.

3. To encourage him to deeper study of the teachings, practices, policies and organization of his own Church.

4. To give practical expression to his religious convictions in service to his Church.

As a general qualification for receiving the God and Country Award it is assumed that the candidate is regular in attendance at Sunday School and Church and gives evidence of Christian character and conduct in all relationships.

In preparation for the Award, Penn put in a year of special service in co-operation with the pastor of his church. Officials of the local Scout Council will share in the presentation of the Award Sunday.

THE OLD HOME TOWN By STANLEY

Inside WASHINGTON MARCH OF EVENTS

Eisenhower's Decision Must Be Made by March Republican Strategists Now Assuming He Will Run

Special to Central Press Association WASHINGTON—March 7, 1956, is now believed to be the "magnum date" as far as President Eisenhower's declaration on his second-term intentions is concerned.

The reason: That date is the deadline by which sponsors of an "Ike in '56" delegation to the GOP National Convention must know whether the chief executive will file the legally necessary "consent" to such a move in his behalf.

Mr. Eisenhower has shown no inclination to declare himself in advance of the deadline date, though Republican strategists are proceeding on the assumption that, barring the unexpected, he will run again.

Should Ike seek a second term, he would almost certainly be nominated by acclamation, with no token electioneering for the "favorite son" aspirants who figure in most conventions.

Nor would there be any contest for the vice presidential nomination. The President has made it clear that if he does run again, he will want to name his ticket-mate.

Top Republicans think it highly unlikely that Ike would choose anyone other than Richard M. Nixon, with whose work the man in the White House is well pleased.

KEFAUVER'S QUEST—His friends maintain that Senator Estes Kefauver has a much better chance of winning the Democratic presidential nomination in 1956 than a lot of political experts admit.

They point out that the tall Tennessee is in the public eye more than almost any other Democrat and that he is digging up more "issues" for use against the Republicans than the rest of the party combined.

It is Kefauver, of course, who is leading the Democratic efforts to "expose" the Dixon-Yates power contract. His position as chairman of the Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee will give him other opportunities to depict the Eisenhower administration as the friend of big business.

Kefauver is also in charge of the Senate's investigation of juvenile delinquency. While the inquiry rarely gets nationwide headlines, local attention is focused on Kefauver wherever he goes. Mothers and fathers pack hearing rooms, anxious to learn from the Tennessee Democrat how to cope with one of their most vexing problems. That, say his friends, is the kind of thing that wins elections.

THE COLONEL AND THE STRIPPER—A colonel's lady who obviously must remain anonymous has come up with a real life experience which may rank with the best stories stemming from the summer heat wave.

On a motor trip to Philadelphia with her husband one scorching day she says she shed one by one her garters, her hose, her girdle, and sundry other intimate garments.

Meanwhile, she was munching bananas and, being by nature a neat soul, stuffed the peels back into the paper sack.

In Philly, she waited in the car while the colonel checked in at a swank hotel. When he came to fetch her she deposited girdle, hose, etc., into the same bag with the banana skins.

VIC'S . . . SOLILOQUY

Mills County came in for recognition and honors on a national level recently during the American Bar Association convention at Philadelphia. The Bell-Lampasas-Mills Counties Bar Association was one of five groups in the United States to be honored by the national organization for local activities.

Recognition to the local group was for: "its activity in the areas of unauthorized practice of the law, public relations and participation in community affairs."

Delightful Pet to Dangerous Beast. This paragraph, from an editorial in Christian Economics, could be profitably read and memorized by all of us: "There is little danger that the people of our country will ever adopt communism. We know it for what it is and we do not want it. Our danger arises from the fact that most of our citizens are not yet aware that socialism, when fully developed, becomes communism or some form of totalitarianism. Baby tigers are said to be delightful pets but they grow into dangerous beasts."

Keep that in mind when you hear it argued that government should operate some business or other, or steadily enlarge its authority over the lives and destinies of individuals and enterprises. Lookout for the dangerous beast!

Now that schools are again open with hundreds of children going back and forth to classes it may be well for all of us to stop, look and listen. Hundreds and thousands of youngsters are crossing many streets while going to school in the community, state and nation. On the community level, it is the responsibility of the folks living and driving in the community to use the utmost caution and practice and observe safety rules. It will be well to bear in mind the danger involved while passing school buildings and play grounds where children are coming and going in their daily activity.

LEGAL EXTORTION General Motors has been required to notify some 18,000 workmen that they will have to join a certain union by a specified date or lose their jobs, except in the 17 states which have passed the right-to-work laws. This is in accordance with the Taft-Hartley act. Under it, when a company signs up for a union shop a non-union man can be hired, but he must join the union in 90 days and pay dues or be fired. The law does not even limit assessments that can be charged him.

The issue here is neither pro-union nor anti-union—it involves the basic principle of the right of choice and the right to work without coercion. What becomes of a free country when a man is forced to join and "pay in order to earn his bread and butter?"

Would anyone advocate a law forcing or allowing General Motors to fire a man if he did not resign from a union within 90 days after it hired him? How would that be different from the present situation where it has to fire him if he doesn't join?

Here is a good example of might being right. A powerful private labor organization can legally extort money (dues) from a man on the penalty of having him fired.

Apparently the only solution is for the balance of the individual states to pass right-to-work laws as 17 have already done.

HOW TO GET THINGS DONE There are two ways to get things done. One is through the use of force, coercion and threats. The other is to offer incentives and high hopes. A good example of these diametrical opposites is found in oil production in this country as contrasted with Russia.

Searching for oil is a long-shot proposition. The great majority of wells drilled in new territory turn out dry and worthless. One Texas oilman has actually sunk 196 dry holes in a row. But he's still working, still hoping. For, if the chance of a big strike is realized, he will be able to reap a good profit in return for the time and money and labor he expended, and risks he freely took.

In Russia, according to a Soviet geologist who escaped this country, it's a criminal offense to fail to strike oil. Soviet law, a geologist who works in a dry hole can be sometimes is, packed off to forced labor in Siberia.

How do these two systems get things done? The answer: American oil men produce close to 4,500,000 barrels of crude oil daily to Russia 1,000,000 barrels. Putting it another way, we produce 4 1/2 percent of the world's oil. Russia together with all satellites produce only 1 1/2 percent.

You can make a man work by putting a gun in his back but you'll always get minimal results. Prison labor is less productive than free labor. That's why an economic system based on free enterprise—on results by voluntary action—spurred by inducement—always far more productive than a system based on the power of government to order men and women about.

To Stand Forever in Quiet Dignity To generations still unborn a well chosen monument bespeak a deeply shared devotion.

Hillside Mission

Poverty is no disgrace but is inconvenient. The Bible says: "Delight thyself also in the Lord; and he shall give the desires of thine heart." Psalms 37:4. The Bible says also about God, who makes all nature—Who makes everything: "For every beast of the forest is mine, and the cattle upon a thousand hills. I know all the fowls of the mountains; and the wild beasts of the field are mine. If I were hungry, I would not tell thee; for the world is mine, and the fullness thereof." Psalms 50:10-12.

TODAY'S Menu Easy-To-Make Desserts

By ALICE DENHOFF

ALL the prepared frozen foods and mixes offer a variety of ways to achieve originality, with little effort, in serving meals. Here's a perfectly heavenly way to make a delicious angel food cake with a packaged mix. The angel food mix, instead of being baked in the usual pan, is baked in four layer cake pans so that there are four fairly thin layers.

Angel Food

Prepare angel food mix as directed on package. Lightly grease 4 (9-inch) layer cake pans and line bottoms of pans with waxed paper. Bake at 325° F. 25 to 30 min. or until top springs back when lightly touched with fingertip. Invert pans on cake racks to cool. When thoroughly cool, remove from pans.

Meanwhile, melt 24 marshmallows in 1/2 c. strong coffee over low heat, stirring often. Chill until partially set. Whip 1/2 c. whipping cream; fold in. Spread between cake layers. Chill until set. Whip another 1/2 c. cream; fold in 2 tsp. chocolate syrup. Spread on top of cake. Garnish with shaved, unsweetened chocolate.

Apple Butter Pie, with a baked pie shell or graham cracker crust, is ever so easy to make.

Mix 1/4 tsp. cinnamon, 1/2 c. sugar and 1/2 tsp. cornstarch. Add 1/2 c. water, 1 c. apple butter and 1/2 c. raisins. Cook over low heat until thickened. Then cook 10 min. over low heat or in double boiler. Add tsp. grated lemon rind, 2 tsp. lemon juice and 1/2 c. chopped nuts. Separate 2 eggs and add beaten yolks; cook 2 min. longer. Chill and pour mixture into pie crust.

Cover with meringue made by beating 2 egg whites with 2 tsp. confectioner's sugar. Brown 10 min. at 375° F.

Chilled Dessert

For a refreshing, easily prepared chilled dessert, freeze 1 c. orange juice with 1/2 c. sugar in automatic refrigerator, freezing to a mush in rapid freezing unit. Fold in 1 c. whipping cream and 1 c. (3 ounces) peanut brittle that has been rolled very fine. Let stand until frozen again, but no longer, then serve.

Farmers Home Administration Committeemen Attend State Meet

The aims and purposes of the U. S. Department of Agriculture—Farmers Home Administration program for the 1955-56 year were recently outlined at a State Meeting of FHA personnel in San Antonio, Texas. Mr. Walter T. McKay, State Director, presided. Previously the Farmers Home Administration program in Texas was administered through 10 State Field Representatives which plan of operation has been changed to an Area plan of operation with 21 Areas serving the State. L. A. Machemen from counties comprising the Unit as follows: Burnet County: Mr. Maurice A. Glimp, Rt. 1, Burnet, Texas, Mr. Brownlee Field, Rt. 1, Burnet, Texas, and Mr. Jack Frazier, Rt. 1 Burnet, Texas; Lampasas County: Mr. J. Edwin Moore, Rt. 1, Lometa, Texas, Mr. J. Claibourne Walton, Rt. 1, Lometa, Texas, and Mr. Ben C. Lang, Rt. 3, Lampasas, Texas; Mills County: Mr. Delmer D. Geeslin, Rt. 1, Goldthwaite, Texas, Mr. Ewell H. Priddy, Rt. 1, Mullin, Texas and Mr. Oran W. Carothers, Moline Rt., Goldthwaite, Texas.

The Supervisory personnel of the counties in attendance assisted in discussing various laws under which the FHA operates.

Discussing Farm Ownership Loans, Insured Mortgage Loans, Production & Subsistence Loans, Emergency Loans, Special Livestock Loans, and Soil & Water Conservation Loans.

Area Supervisor Mache-mehl, along with County Supervisor Cole, sees great possibilities under the Soil & Water Loan program for farmers and ranchers in this Area to utilize this type of credit where not obtainable from local or private institutions. A longer range program for soil improvement work, and Water Conservation properly financed on individual farms and ranches is the aim of the Soil and Water program of the FHA.

Miss Odena Ward spent the weekend in Llano with her sister, Mrs. Bobby Brown and family.

Brady Soil Conservation District was erected on the L. B. Burnham farm last week. The marker is located approximately one mile south of the Colorado River bridge.

Plans for erecting markers between other adjoining soil conservation districts are now in the making.

In order to provide an adequate supply of livestock water in pastures and help in the distribution of grazing, several farmers in the district have had farm ponds constructed recently. Technicians of the Soil Conservation Service last week surveyed farm ponds for Arnold Head of Center City, C. E. Tuberville south of Center City, Harold Johanson west of Goldthwaite, and C. W. Lawson of Big Valley.

O. E. Sides and Olin Kemp, south of Goldthwaite, have had ponds checked for completion.

Terraces were laid out for Melvin Schwartz near Priddy. These terraces complete Melvin's terrace system.

Administration of a new law designed to give the Texas sweet potato industry a boost is now in full sway.

The law, which became effective Sept. 1, requires that all commercial lots of sweet potatoes moving into, within, or out of Texas be graded and certified by the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Some 60 TDA inspectors are available for the job of seeing that grading specifications are being met by marketers in the various growing regions where new crop potatoes are appearing.

Potatoes are divided into three classifications—No. 1's, No. 2's and Unclassifieds. Classification depends on size, weight, shape and defects.

For instance, No. 1 potatoes must be no more than 3 to 10 inches long, no more than 3 3/4 inches in diameter, weigh no more than 20 ounces and have not more than 5 per cent serious damage. Soft rot damage in any single lot must not exceed two per cent.

Texas specifications are uniform with those of all states who have adopted the U. S. grading standards.

The new law will not directly affect most farmers, since packers, processors and marketers assume responsibility for grading and packaging. Only if the farmer markets his crop through a retailer, directly, in commercial lots of 25 or more bushels is he required grading and certification.

Although sweet potatoes are grown over many areas of the state, most of Texas' commercial crop comes from two separate areas in extreme East Texas and on the lower plains.

After harvesting, most crops are sold to commercial packers who clean and process them for packing in 50 lb. crates, sacks or baskets. No sweet potatoes are allowed on the market until grading has met with state inspection standards and containers have been sealed with the Texas Department of Agriculture certificate.

By the same token, all potatoes moving into Texas must be graded according to TDA specifications. All offenses are punishable by fine, imprisonment, or both.

The over-all effect of the program will be in increase and insure markets for producers and to assure consumers of the quality they are seeking.

We hope, by establishing these standards of excellence in Texas, to bring Texas nearer the top in production and marketing of this stable commodity.

Social Security Information As Effecting Farmers And Farmhands

This is the fourth in a series of articles on social security for farm operators answering new questions.

BY JAMES B. MARLEY
 District Manager of the Austin, Texas social security office.

A farm owner who arranges with someone to produce a crop or livestock on his land for a percentage share of the total crops produced does not get social security credit for that income. As I mentioned in my preceding article, his share of the crop is considered rental income and is excluded.

A farm business partnership, however, is another matter. If you have a farm and enter into a business partnership or a joint venture with someone to operate it jointly, both of you are self-employed, just as partners in a non-farm enterprise operated for profit. In these cases each partner makes a report of his share of net earnings separately as a self-employed person, for social security purposes, and pays the self-employment tax on that share.

The general features of any partnership are that each of the partners contributes in some way as agreed upon to the operation of the business. If there are losses, each will bear a share. Profits are also shared. Moreover, the partners are individually and jointly responsible for the debts of the partnership. A partnership is indicated if the parties hold themselves out as partners by using a partnership name in their dealings with others, have a joint bank account, etc. Generally, each member of a farm partnership would take part in making decisions regarding the management and control of the farm operations. They let everyone know they are operating the farm together. They each take part in the daily work connected with the operation of the farm and supervise the daily work of the farm hands.

It is possible, too, for a husband and wife to operate a farm as business partners, in which event, both would be self-employed for social security purposes. In the usual family farm arrangement, however, one party—usually the husband—has the actual management and control of the farm. In these cases, he, not his wife, is the self-employed farmer, and the net earnings from the farm operation should be reported in his name alone for social security purposes.

By the same token, a father and his child may enter into an arrangement whereby they are actually partners or joint venturers in the farm operation. In that event, both of them would be considered self-employed, and each would report his share of the net earnings and pay the social security tax on that share. However, if they are not partners and one of them owns the land but does not take part in operating it, only the one who actually farms the land is self-employed.

There are other family arrangements in relation to social security coverage for farm work. I shall discuss them in my next article.

Time came to leave this week, had to be done while I could have the machine. To return the appreciated visits of my neighbors had been my good intention. I must plant my phlox and hollyhock, or else no hope

Humble To Cover Football Games

Texas will have the most comprehensive radio and TV football coverage in history brought to them this season by Humble Oil & Refining Company, sponsors of Southwest Conference football broadcasts for the last 21 years.

Included in the coverage will be five telecasts of Southwest for bloom next spring. When I realized to finish the dress was hopeless, I set my goal to do the machine sewing then the finishing could come later.

Tuesday morning came. A wonderful rain, 1.7 in. I wondered could I plant my flower seed. I had wanted to haul up dirt to fix the flower beds. I remembered I could get dry sand from the chicken house. The rain slacked before noon. John went to Goldthwaite, I admonished him to get himself a good dinner. So often he tells me he has had a piece of pie and a glass of milk. I kept hard at my sewing till a good part of the evening was gone. I stopped to plant my seed. I was afraid of John's protest if I wanted till he returned. But of course the car was gone. No way to haul sand but with the tub and little wagon.

A space along the fence I aspired for hollyhocks was deep in water, held by that tenacious clay. I stuck the spading fork deep down to try to let it out. About that time I heard a car door slam. The man of the house was home. My hopes fell. I started out with the little wagon. He said he was going down to Malone's. He would come back by the chicken house and haul it to the house for me. "But," I said, "We can't lift the tub of sand into the car. It needs to be loaded in it."

Conference games, statewide broadcasts of 54 Southwest Conference games, and West Texas network broadcasts of the complete Texas Tech and Texas Western schedules.

In addition, Humble's popular TV program, Texas in Review, will feature highlights from each week's Southwest Conference games. Kern Tips, who heads Humble's staff of announcers, will narrate these highlights on 18 Texas TV stations the Monday or Tuesday following the games. The first of these Texas in Review football features will be shown Monday, September 19, with the most interesting plays from the Texas-Texas Tech, TCU-Kansas, and Baylor-Hardin-Simmons games to be shown.

Then he decided to do that first. He helped me place the sand. I fixed the beds. I planted phlox along the south border of the bed outside my kitchen window.

Along the north border I planted a row of Mrs. Shaw's double hollyhocks. In a small space along the north fence I planted single hollyhocks. Then, because I had such a generous supply of seed, I sowed hollyhocks all along the back yard fence. I also mulched the shrubs from mounds of dried grass John had cut. I was very tired. I asked John about his dinner. He had had "a piece of pie and a glass of milk." I was so disgusted I didn't care much if he didn't have much for supper. After the dishes were washed, I went back to my sewing and actually got it all done. Then came the packing. It was 3:30 when I got to bed.

Wednesday dawned a lovely day. The mockingbird warbled a little at daybreak. The wren trilled her scale. The volunteer morning glories which have been draping themselves on the yard fence by the windmill—I had to watch diligently to keep them from grabbing the windmill tower—just began to bloom last week. Large beautiful blooms of Heavenly Blue and Silver Moon. Now they are literally covered with buds. On the other side of the gate, wild morning glories have draped the fence for some distance, and each morning they are covered on both sides and over the top with their beautiful little pink blooms. At the west end of the kitchen flower bed a bunch of golden rod has bloomed all summer. Each morning it is interspersed with heavenly blue blooms of a Texas wild flower, named by the Texas almanac "Widows' Tears." Only two petals—usually a drop of water between them—with leaves like Wandering Jew.

At one o'clock we said goodbye to all this and were off. I couldn't go by to see my brother because John had to be at the bank before it closed at two. We did go by the courthouse to see Miss Estelle Duren. I believe the nandina she gave me is going to grow. Mrs. Effie Egger said she would water it for me. After a few minutes with the Burt Brileys, we were on our way to Abilene. We had an invitation to spend the night with Beth and Harold. We easily found their pretty new home on Mockingbird Lane. Marie Wilmeth was there and she and Beth were in the dream kitchen concocting a delicious supper. After supper we went to prayer meeting at the College Church. So there I was once more in that large auditorium where I had such happy memories of the Bible Lectureship in February.

Next morning we were on our way again. We stopped at Van Horn to visit a few minutes with our niece, Mrs. Jim Bean. From there on to El Paso rain had fallen and the country was beautiful. Grass was green even to the top of the mountains. All along the road the irrigated sections were beautiful with their rank fields of cotton, but none quite so beautiful as the prosperous Rio Grande Valley with its farm after farm of cotton and alfalfa.

Just before sundown we drove up the Belich driveway. Billy and Johnny came running to greet us. Grace and Bill and all the neighbors gave us a hearty welcome. And Oh! the yard. The flowers we planted last spring are gorgeous. The Bermuda grass is as rank here as the St. Augustine was at Beaumont. Everything points to a happy nine months. And Johnny tells me he has quit calling people "Duhty Wats."

Mr. and Mrs. Woody Saylor of Kingsville spent the weekend with their mothers, Mrs. J. D. Brim and Mrs. Helen Saylor and other relatives here.

Juvenile Delinquency Due To Parental Laxity

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

LATELY, the news in the press and on the air seems to concentrate on the violence, murders, and robberies by adolescents, especially in the big cities, the operation of youth gangs in the poorer economic areas and the much needed efforts of state and local authorities to find more effective ways of handling these youths.

What can be expected then, when the child becomes a teenager?

The Senior Girl Scout Rally, for the Heart of Texas Area, met at Lake Brownwood last week, with Senior Scouts from Weatherford, Jacksboro, Throckmorton, Baird, Comanche, Brownwood and Goldthwaite participating in the five days of primitive camping. The national roundup will be the Girl Scouts' first big encampment and will bring together approximately 5,000 outstanding girls and adults from all sections of the United States. Miss Lawana Ann Benningfield, Scout from Goldthwaite attended the roundup and her name was selected as one of four representatives to be present at the Michigan meeting. ### Year Around Attraction

By VERA WINSTON

IT'S not difficult at all to find an enduring place in the wardrobe for the good, summer-into-fall suits and dresses that our manufacturers have produced at such down-to-earth prices. Here is one that is good at any time of year whenever and wherever the climate indicates. It is of brownish gray imported cotton with black velvet collar and bow-trimmed pockets. The jacket fastens with small, blending pearl buttons. The skirt is straight and narrow with a kick-pleat in back.
