Entries Coming In For Nineteenth Annual Mills County Stock Show

Lions Club To Hold Annual Christmas Meeting Dec. 18

Tuesday night of next week the Goldthwaite Lions Club will have their annual Christmas meeting at the Hangar.

The Christmas spirit will predominate the meeting in the appearance of the two Tall Twisters as Characters of Old and Saint Nick himself. The identity of the three may be somewhat of a mystery but members and guests will likely experience some joy in their presence and acts.

The occasion will be Ladies Night when every member is requested to attend, and bring his wife as a guest. Each one is requested also to bring an inexpensive gift or toy that will be passed on to some needy child of Mills county in time to brighten his otherwise dim Christmas. The meeting will start with dinner at 7:00 P. M.

The Lions Club Program Committee for this meeting is composed of Charles Conradt and J. T. Jones, who have been successful in arranging for district 2-A governor, John J. Painter of the Harndale Club of San Antonio to be present and highlight the meeting with an address on Lionism. He will be accompanied by his wife.

Santa Claus and Tax Collectors may not be so rare but addresses such as Lion Governor Painter can bring will be very unusual for the local club and our town. Lions, don't miss this meeting!

Mrs. Aaron Cline underwent surgery at Scott and White Hospital, Temple, Monday of this week. She is reported to be improving and expects to be home in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. White and daughter, Mary Sue of Temple spent the weekend with Misses Abbie and Ruth Ervin and J. P. Ervin.

Plans started shaping up for the nineteenth annual Mills County Stock Show as entries started to come in for the annual event during the past week. The Show will be held at the agriculture buildings in Goldthwaite on Monday and Tuesday, January 14 and 15, 1957.

R. L. Steen, president of the Mills County Livestock Raisers' Association, which sponsors the show, said this week that entry blanks have been distributed to the county agent and agriculture teachers of Mills county where they are now available to all club members and breeders.

Members of the county 4-H Club may secure their entry blanks from George Reese, county agent, while FFA members may contact their vocational agriculture teacher at Goldthwaite, Mullin, Priddy or Star.

Entry blanks may also be secured by club members or breeders from R. L. Steen at Steen Hardware or Norman Duren at Duren Equipment Company in Goldthwaite.

Association officials are urging all club members and breeders to get their show entries in early to avoid the last minute rush. Deadline for entries is Saturday, January 5.

CATALOGUES OUT
 The 1957 show catalogues have been printed and delivered to show officials and are now in the process of being distributed to interested parties in this county and throughout the state.

Official program for the two day show and complete details of the event are presented in the catalogue. Anyone interested in securing a copy may do so by contacting Mr. Steen or Mr. Duren.

TRIMMING THE MITTEN TREE

Have you ever heard of, or would you like to see "a gay Mitten Tree? Well, you can! The first Mitten Tree grew on the floor of a Philadelphia department store in 1950. That year, 5,600 pairs of mittens were hung on Mitten Trees throughout the nation. In 1954, 75,000 pairs were donated to the American Friends Service Committee for needy children.

Troop number eight of the local Girl Scouts are sponsoring the Mitten Tree here. It has been placed in Duren Grocery Store and everyone is asked to contribute as many pairs of gloves or mittens as possible, they will be used as decorations or fruit on the tree. You may place a card with your name and address inside the mittens and you may receive a letter of thanks from some grateful child or mother in another part of the world.

This is a national project for the Girl Scouts and Troop 8 is using the Mitten Tree as their project. The leaders of this troop are Mrs. Larry Dalton and Mrs. Houston Duren, who are responsible for the delightful tree being placed in the store here.

Since there are so many needy children in the world today, it would indeed be a wonderful thing if every adult as well as each Girl Scout would hang a pair of mittens or gloves on this tree. After the holidays, the mittens will be taken from the tree and shipped to the national headquarters where they will be distributed to the various places throughout the world where they are most needed.

Mr. Boyd is the son of Mrs. Annie Curtis of Mullin and brother of Mrs. Willie Pafford also of Mullin.

Mrs. Boyd is the daughter of Mrs. F. A. Cummings of San Angelo, also formerly of this county.

Yes Sir, that's what a fellow could call a wonderful Christmas present for himself and his family.

NOTES FROM SUBSCRIBERS

Mrs. Winnie Pugh, formerly Winnie Brown, writes from Houston: "I am enclosing money order to renew our subscription. We like to keep up with our old home town even though we have been gone twenty-six years. It still seems like home."

From Robstown, Texas Mrs. Floyd B. Weaver writes as follows: "We had thought we would not send for another year's subscription, but, every Saturday when the Eagle comes we are so glad to hear from home that we wonder why we ever thought of doing without it. Thanks for not having us miss an issue."

Mrs. L. B. Covington writes from Killeen as follows: "Please keep the Eagle coming down this way. Enclosed you will find check for renewal."

From Miami, Arizona Tas Renfro writes this note: "Enclosed is check for the paper. We are always glad to get the Eagle to see what is going on back home."

It's always nice to know that a guy is a good enough sport, or sportsman, to tell one that happens on himself. Of course, there is always the possibility that having someone else along when it happens makes it easier to tell when they get back—'cause if the principal doesn't tell it then someone else is sure to come out with the details anyway.

Hollis Blackwell had the good fortune of bagging a turkey gobbler while out hunting a while back on some of his ranch property. That was what he was looking for so one would guess it was a real pleasure.

He told a friend how he heard the gobbler and started to look for him. Finally he saw his head sticking up through some brush. He got down on his belly and started crawling to get in range for a kill. After crawling a good many yards he got within range and about that time the gobbler again stuck his head up high and this time it was too bad for the turkey. Hollis raised his gun and lowered the boom on him.

Then he went up to get his turkey and found out the whole sad story. The turkey was a tame gobbler that had been staked out there with feed as a decoy by some of Hollis' hunting buddies.

Al T. Langford was with Hollis on this hunting trip and the story goes that Al said: "Boy this is too good to keep a secret, so you just as well go ahead and tell the boys what happened."

Betsy Glass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Glass called the other day and gave high praise for the good results she got from an Eagle classified ad. Said Betsy: "I want to congratulate you on the fine paper you have and tell you about the wonderful results I got on the ad I ran to sell my bicycle. The day the paper came out I had four calls and sold the bike the first thing."

Reports have it that one or two other bicycles were also sold on the strength of that one little ad. We are happy to hear such reports and might add here that the little classified ads in the Eagle can do the same for you. If you want to buy, sell or trade, just call the Eagle office and use the classified ads. The price is reasonable and results are unusually good.

State Capitol NEWS

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Tex.—Education has added two more "urgent" items to the list of increased money demands awaiting the incoming Legislature.

First report of the new Commission on Higher Education strongly recommends bringing college faculty salaries in line with other progressive states. Simultaneously, it suggested raising tuition fees, unchanged after 20 years of inflation.

Texas tuition charges of $25 a semester for in-state students, $150 for outsiders, lags far behind those in other states. But even substantial tuition increases would meet only a portion of salary raises, it was claimed.

Public school teachers also seek higher pay. They term the need an "immediate crisis" and ask that the Legislature treat it as an emergency measure.

Teacher salaries were last raised in 1953. State minimum wage for a beginning teacher with bachelor's degree is $2,805 per year.

Texas State Teachers Association's House of Delegates also called for a full study of the "Cavness plan" to ease school financing problems. State Auditor C. H. Cavness proposed some 18 months ago that only 27½ per cent of revenue from school-owned oil lands be invested in the permanent school fund. This would free 72½ per cent of this revenue, an estimated $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 a year, to meet current expenses.

DANIEL LISTS GOALS—Incoming Gov. Price Daniel said he believes there are a multitude of other problems with which the Legislature can deal more effectively than school integration.

He favors local determination, rather than state-wide legislation.

At the outset of a series of conferences with lawmakers, Daniel emphasized these issues: (1) overall state financing, (2) narcotics control, (3) teacher pay raises, (4) water conservation, (5) lobby control, (6) housing of state archives.

WATER LOCAL PROBLEM—Texas' water problems must be met locally, says Rep. Waggoner Carr of Lubbock.

Carr, unopposed candidate for Speaker of the House, feels that people in each water shed area should devise plans to meet their own unusual conditions and carry them out with possible aid of state credit. He termed "futile" any further effort to finance water conservation with a state-wide tax that would be fair to all parts of the state.

SALES ACT CONTESTED—Texas' new sales limitation act is up for its first legal test.

State Supreme Court is considering a case stemming from the 1955 law which prohibits grocers from limiting sales of items advertised at below-cost prices.

Contestants are a San Antonio grocer who defied the law and the San Antonio Retail Grocers Association which sought enforcement through a court injunction. A San Antonio district court refused to grant the injunction.

Attorneys for the defendant contend the law is unconstitutional and discriminatory. It applies, they point out, only to grocers and not to other retailers selling the same merchandise.

Association attorneys counter that control of "loss-leader" selling is needed "to keep the big man from gobbling up the little man."

SHIVERS HONORED—More than 2,000 Texans and a distinguished "ex" paid tribute to Gov. and Mrs. Allan Shivers at a mammoth dinner party in Dallas.

President Eisenhower sent personal greetings. Leading statesmen and businessmen saluted the man who in a few weeks ends a record-breaking tenure as chief executive. Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby termed Mrs.

Shivers an expert in "glass house living."

Wit abounded. Example by Supreme Court Justice Ruel Walker: "I came not to bury Shivers, I came here to praise him."

STATE REGULATION CHAMPIONED—Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd has gone to bat against federal regulation of Texas insurance companies.

Shepperd filed a friend of the court brief in behalf of American Hospital and Life Insurance Company's fight against a Federal Trade Commission ruling. American Hospital is a Texas firm. Its case has now reached U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

Shepperd contended the McCarran-Ferguson Act specifically authorizes states to regulate insurance to the exclusion of the federal government or any of its agencies.

AUDITOR REPORTS—State Auditor C. H. Cavness' lengthy annual report on state departments unearthed no scandals. But he suggested several agencies toe the mark a little better in their financial record keeping.

These included the State Board of Morticians, Agriculture Department, Austin State School, Surplus Property Agency, State Board of Medical Examiners, State Parks Board, and Waco State Home.

Cavness noted that certain sections of the General Land Office are understaffed, but present personnel seemed qualified.

WCTU STRATEGY—Banning of alcoholic beverages in grocery stores will be the prime legislative goal of the Women's Christian Temperance Union next year.

A petition to this effect, bearing 100,000 signatures, was exhibited at the WCTU convention in Austin.

A resolution, aimed at the Legislature, urged that public school text books "have no discussion of moderation, but simply teach the students the bad effects of alcohol."

THINK BEFORE SIGNING

Whenever you are asked to sign something, your signature should be a warning signal that in some way you may become legally obligated by what you sign.

Usually you are asked to sign something as a result of a business transaction, such as a contract, a receipt, an order, a release, an option, a mortgage or a deed. For your own protection, you should clearly understand WHAT you sign, WHY you are signing it, and what the consequences may be. It is rarely possible for a person who has signed a document to avoid its legal effects.

You can decrease your legal risks by always taking these precautions before you sign anything:

KNOW WHAT YOU ARE SIGNING AND WHAT THE DOCUMENT CONTAINS. Understand clearly what it means. Don't be confused by its title—a "statement" may be a release of all your claims, or a "contract" may be a negotiable promissory note. "Co-signing" a note may result in your having to pay it. READ EVERYTHING IN ANY DOCUMENT. Clauses in fine print may be important. Remember, too, that oral promises not included in writing may be unenforceable. Take nothing for granted.

CHECK AND VERIFY THE DOCUMENT. Be sure the dates, prices, names and conditions filled in are correct. You are bound by what it SAYS, not by what you THOUGHT it said.

ASK QUESTIONS. Inquire about conditions and items of importance to you. Don't sign unless you understand what it means. Language clearly stating what you want can be inserted.

If substantial sums are involved, consult with your attorney.

RETAIN A COPY. Be sure the proper persons sign. Request and retain a copy. Record it, if necessary, with the proper public official.

Like your fingerprint, your signature is unique. No one else has one exactly like it. Only you can sign it, and affixing it may set into motion events of great legal consequences. Treat it with the importance it deserves, and do not bestow it carelessly. If in doubt, seek information and advice.

(This column, based on Texas law and prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

MODERN HOMEMAKING RECIPES... HOUSEHOLD HELPS

By Julia Hunter
HOME ECONOMICS DIRECTOR, LONE STAR GAS COMPANY

Most folks say that candy is a Christmas tradition as important as "turkey and all the trimmings". And candy-making is part of the fun of the holiday season. We agree, so here are some suggestions to help you make your candy "goodies" a complete success. Good equipment for candy-making includes a pan with a close fitting cover, large enough to allow for boiling and heavy enough to prevent ingredients from scorching; a wooden spoon for beating, a spatula, waxed paper, metal baking sheets, a platter, standard measuring cups and spoons, and a candy thermometer.

In making candy, remember these rules: Use a dependable recipe and don't try to change it. Measure ingredients and follow directions exactly. Proportions and temperatures have been carefully worked out to make the recipe successful. Candies made with milk should be cooked over medium heat to avoid scorching. Candies made with water may be boiled faster. Sugary candy is often caused by sugar crystals finding their way into the candy as it cooks or cools. To help prevent sugar crystals from forming around the sides of the candy pan, stir the sugar in thoroughly before cooking the mixture. Cover the cooking pan until the mixture boils, for the steam will melt the sugar crystals down from the sides of the pan. Once boiling starts, uncover the pan.

To help prevent sugar crystals as the candy cools, be sure the candy is not moved about during the cooling period. When making candies such as taffies, caramels or brittles, never scrape the last of the syrup from the pan.

A candy thermometer is a good investment as it takes the guesswork out of testing. Use the manufacturer's directions for the thermometer. Without a thermometer, follow the cold-water test, trying only one or two drops of mixture at a time. Be sure to remove candy from heat as you test, for even a few moments extra cooking may be too much. Keep a close eye on the candy during the last few minutes of cooking, as the temperature rises with great speed once it reaches 220 degrees F. Unless the recipe calls for it, don't beat the candy before it has cooled. The ideal temperature is 110 degrees F., or when the saucepan feels lukewarm to palm of the hand. Vigorous beating is not necessary. A steady beating will produce creamy candy. If there is excess moisture in the air, it is advisable to cook candies to a slightly firmer stage—a degree or so above what is given in the recipe.

For additional free information on candy making send a postcard to the Home Economics Department, Lone Star Gas Company, Room 601 at 301 South Harwood, Dallas 1, Texas.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Holiday Delight: Combine ½-pound Brazil nuts, cut in lengthwise halves; ½-pound walnuts, coarsely chopped; ½-pound candied cherries, cut in half; ½-pound candied pineapple, cut in good size pieces. Combine in saucepan and cook over medium flames to soft ball stage (234 degrees F.) 3-cups sugar, 1-cup light corn syrup, 1½-cups light cream. Remove from flame and begin beating immediately. (It will begin to thicken and change color.) Add 1½-teaspoons vanilla. Continue beating and add fruit and nut mixture slowly. When all ingredients have been added, mixture will be thick and sticky. Pack into two 8-inch square waxed paper lined pans, pressing down firmly with a wet spoon. Chill in refrigerator. After a few hours the sticky syrup will become firm and almost white in color. Cut into pieces after 24 hours. Store in refrigerator until ready to use. Keeps indefinitely.

PALO DURO CANYON was famous for this massive rock formation at its edge long before the canyon became a 15,000-acre state park. It is known as "The Lighthouse," so named by the Spanish Explorer Francisco de Coronado. It is one of many strange formations. Entrance to the park is at the end of Texas Highway 217 which originates at Canyon, Texas.

PARK OF THE WEEK—PALO DURO CANYON STATE PARK has inspired the wonder of men from the time Coronado's exploring expedition came upon it in 1541 A. D. and word was spread of this astounding gash in the high plains.

The state park's 15,103 acres offer unforgettable views of fantastic rock formations left as erosion carved through the crust of the Earth down to strata three hundred million years old.

Since becoming a state park, Palo Duro Canyon has been visited by more than a million and a half people, many of whom return again and again to explore its trails, fortress-like cliffs and colorful "Spanish skirts" under varying sky and light conditions.

A great number of marked trails and a stable of good riding horses makes it possible to go into all parts of the colorful wonderland. Some are content with the panoramic views that can be seen from Coronado Lodge or from the paved road winding down 1120 feet from the plain to the bed of Prairie Dog Creek. Striking scenic and geologic formations can be enjoyed with ease from a narrow is opportunity to follow a part of Coronado's Trail, explore Indian campsites and see the battleground of Smoky Rock Gardens and the dugout in which Col. Charles Goodnight made the first white man's home in the Texas Panhandle.

Dioramas of prehistoric life in Palo Duro Canyon and other informative exhibits can be seen at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum on the campus of West Texas State College in Canyon.

FRUIT CAKES

It is still time to bake fruit cakes even though they may have time to develop mellow, spicy and good texture. Get together with a friend and make fruit cake in the light kind, and the dark, spicy one. Then the cakes so each will have a variety. Extra ones make fine Christmas gifts. All dried and candied nuts, peels and nuts, and make the batter the second day. It's a must to make a fruit cake with a tender crust.

Recipes for light and dark fruit cake, and for uncooked fruit cake are given in the colorful Extension Bulletin, CHRISTMAS TIME AT HOME. Also, directions for decorating, glazing, canning and storing fruit cakes.

BRIEFS FOR FOOD SHOPPERS

Consider the cheaper versus the more expensive foods of similar composition and food value when you shop. Often the food value of the cheaper food is just as good.

Examples are canned or non-fat dry milk solids versus fresh milk; uncooked cereal versus ready-to-eat cereals; milk-flavored cheese; and canned fruits versus frozen fruits. Use the cheaper cuts of beef in pot-roasts or stuffed or flank steaks; use ground meat in loaves, patties or combined with vegetables in one-dish meals.

As food prices continue to rise, wise planning and buying becomes more important.

"EAT WELL FOR LESS," a bulletin written by extension foods and nutrition specialists, will help you do a better job.

THE EGG BUCKET

The egg bucket is on its way out. The once common sight of the farm boy using "egg wampus" as a means for groceries and, occasionally, "show money" is on the wane.

The agricultural revolution of the last 20 years has taken its toll of this and other farm traditions as farming has become less diversified and more specialized. The common reason is that it simply is not worth the time, labor and feed involved to keep a few hens on the side and bring the fruits of their labors to town on Saturday.

Yet a great many Texas farmers may be missing a bet for supplemental income by overlooking the possibility of using egg production as a "specialized" sideline.

While the old "hen house" with a few old tottering birds is an unlikely profit maker, modern facilities and improved handling operations can be made to turn in a nice profit. There is always a market for top-quality eggs, and Texas consumers several times more eggs than it produces.

Best way to get into a profitable egg business is to install an assembly line operation, providing for cooling, proper cleaning and regular marketing. Eggs from such a caged layer plant are not only in constant demand, but usually bring a nice premium in the market place.

For a great many of those Texas farmers who have gone out of the broiler business due to low prices, their empty houses might well be put to profitable use in egg production.

As added incentive for premium egg quality, on-the-farm grading and candling are certain to up the profit margin. Accurate grading facilities can be obtained at little cost, and free instruction and candling processes will be given on request from the Texas Department of Agriculture or U.S.D.A. extension workers.

Egg producers who provide for adequate grading and standards now will also be getting in on the ground floor of the proposed Texas law which will make grading mandatory.

Texas is the only state which does not already have such a law, and its inauguration is certain to boost Texas' possibilities as a major egg producer.
