Grain Harvest In Full Swing Here

Yields Up To 70 Bushels Reported Although Some Grain Will Be Lost

Favorable Weather Important Factor In Next Few Days

The 1957 grain harvest in Mills County is in full swing. If you drive out of Goldthwaite in any direction of the county you can see every effort being made by farmers to save all they can of the 1957 grain crop—the first in a number of years.

Farmers have been taking advantage of every possibility with grain being cut in win-rows, bundled and shocked and by combining as soon as heavy equipment was able to be put into fields. In a few places you can see grain in bales.

What looked like the best prospects in eight years for grain early this spring turned out to be viewed as a lost cause by many during the several weeks that followed in April and May when the heavy spring rains set in without a let-up. When the rains stopped and the sun came out the picture brightened up at a rapid rate and it appears now that farmers in Mills county will harvest a good crop of grain with yields of up to 70 bushels per acre reported in a number of places.

An estimated 42,000 acres of grain was planted in Mills county this year. Most of this is in oats with a small part of wheat and speltz. Because of heavy rains most of the grain grew tall with heavy straw and much of it fell a good deal in the fields. Harvesters are having to use pick-up fingers on their equipment to save as much of their crop as possible. With this method in most fields practically all grain is being saved while in some spots farmers report they are unable to save a reasonably high percentage of their crop.

In making some spot checks Monday, Eagle editor Vic E. Koleber and County Agent George Reese found that a few farmers have completed their grain harvest, where conditions were more favorable, but it appeared that harvesting throughout the county is about half way now.

Lee Walton, south of Center City, reported yield of 70 bu. per acre from a field of Mustang Oats. Mr. Walton had 110 acres in oats and reported that some will yield as low as 15 bushels per acre. In commenting on the crop Mr. Walton said: "I built a barn eight years ago and this is the first time that I'll be able to fill it with oats."

South of Star, Woodrow Boykin, reported harvesting Nor-tex Oats yielding 70 bushels per acre. He harvested about three thousand bushels from 40 to 50 acres.

Some reports from over the county are not that bright, or encouraging. Some farmers are still unable to get in their fields where there is seeping from the heavy rains. However, if the weather holds out a few more days with sunshine and wind it is estimated that many farmers will be surprised about the amount of grain that will be made in the county.

While some farmers are just now beginning to get into their fields those who completed their harvesting early this week and have plowed their corn are ready for another rain.

In cases where much of the grain will be lost the outlook, nevertheless, isn't too gloomy. In many such cases the farmers benefited a great deal by having good grazing for their stock during the spring weeks and will have additional grazing in the weeks ahead as well as getting good pastures at the same time. This will mean much to their operation during the fall and winter season.

As one farmer who kept his sheep on his grain real late put it this week: "This 4500 bushel grain crop, regardless of yield per acre, comes as a sort of gift to me, since I thought I had value received from my grazing anyway."

Salvation Army Fund Drive To Begin Here Wednesday Morning

Glynn Collier, campaign chairman for the Mills County annual Salvation Army campaign this year states that the drive this year will get underway with a kickoff coffee meeting next Wednesday morning at 10:00 a.m. at McLean's Cafe. The goal for the county this year is $1,000.00. According to Collier all communities in the county will be worked this year and a total of about 60 workers will help to make this campaign a success.

The local Salvation Army committee composed of persons representing the entire county, helped many people locally with emergency relief during the past twelve months according to Warren Duren, chairman. This emergency relief is given by the local committee without any "red tape." This committee is organized to provide immediate assistance to those in need without regard to race, color or creed. Committee members serve without any pay other than the satisfaction of carrying on a badly needed humanitarian program.

All money received in the campaign will be turned over to the local treasurer to be prorated for local and statewide use. The state agencies of the Salvation Army which receive a portion of the funds offer services which the county may use at any time they are needed. These include disaster relief work, a prison-parole system, home and hospital for unwed mothers, and miscellaneous down-to-earth activities of the Salvation Army that might go unattended otherwise.

A LESSON FROM THE ROBINS

During a hot day in May two robins were fighting at a bird bath, thus preventing each from bathing. Then something happened. They quit fighting and bathed side-by-side.

Free men living in a union of friendly states have learned that more is gained by working together, but in many parts of the world men are still fighting.

In two minutes the robins discovered fighting is futile—men take longer to learn.

During the past several weeks we have noted a good bit of comment from citizens in general as well as from our elected officials in Washington regarding the demand for economy in government. Yes, even our Senator, Democratic Leader, Lyndon B. Johnson has come out repeatedly during recent weeks with statements about cutting the budget and effecting economy.

This action by Senator Johnson, in light of past records, makes one wonder whether he has really had a change of heart or whether he is just playing more politics.

According to a dispatch from Washington by Walter C. Hornaday a few days ago a Republican took the trouble to check Senator Johnson's past economy record and found he didn't have one.

The investigator went over the votes of Johnson and Sen. Harry F. Byrd (Dem.) of Virginia during 1955 and 1956. He reported that on 57 roll calls, Johnson voted for economy 3 times, against 53 and wasn't recorded on one occasion. Byrd's record was for economy 59 times, against 2, and not recorded 5 times.

CONTROL GOES WITH MONEY

The plan for having the federal government provide $2 billion in federal aid to the nation's schools over a four-year period drew this comment from Senator Knowland: "My practical knowledge of Washington leads me to the conclusion that nothing terminates in four years. And I have never seen the Federal Government contribute money without wanting to exercise control."

OSWEGO, KANSAS, INDEPENDENT: "Dry weather, heat, floods, blizzards may hinder growth and development in field crops, orchards and livestock but none of those elements seem to have the slightest effect of retardation on the continuing growth and expansion of the public payrolls, at both the national and state levels, as well as in lower categories. How to head it off seems to be the problem of the ages. . . The case of the sad ending of the cow that continued to suck herself is recalled."

Who Owns Pacific Isle— United States or Britain? H-Bomb Tests by In August Renewed

Special to Central Press Association

WASHINGTON—Christmas island has been catapulted into the news because of Britain's determination to carry out a series of hydrogen bomb tests in the vicinity of the South Pacific by next August.

Yet few persons realize that this coral outcrop covered with sand and scanty soil has itself been the center of a "friendly controversy" between the United States and Britain. Both nations claim to own the 200 square mile stretch of island which rises 40 feet above the sea at its highest point.

The United States concedes that British James Cook discovered the island on Christmas Eve, 1777. It was Cook who gave it its name. However, the U. S. says that no formal announcement of ownership was ever made by Britain.

The American claim to Christmas island goes back to the 1850s, when an American seaman worked the island's guano deposits. The British organization did the same, although remained uninhabited for many years.

IN 1939 THE BRITISH designated the island as part of its Gilbert and Ellice Islands colony. However, after World War II the U. S. occupied the island and built a base there.

For some time thereafter, a group of Englishmen held the island and a group of Americans held the other. Each group would raise their own flag and at sunset the flag would take down the Stars and Stripes and the British would raise the Union Jack. Between sunset and sunrise they would play together. There wasn't much else to do.

After World War II the U. S. military contingent left the island. State department officials say that shortly afterward a civilian contingent which was planted to administer the island's appearance since there was nothing to administer.

The British did not return to Christmas until they claimed it as a base for their nuclear test operations this year. The tests were announced, after consultation with the State department. British physicists, engineers and atom experts were dispatched to the island. The State department had no objection to the island's use as a base of British nuclear operations. It pointedly advised British officials that the United States serves its claim to the island.

WHILE THE DEPARTMENT has no intention of making a "friendly controversy" before the United Nations to determine who actually owns it, one authoritative source said that the U. S. wants it "she'll have to give us another island in trade."

He added, "We'll just sit down and talk with the British and make a possible exchange of islands after the forthcoming summit conference if we can find time to do so."

Meanwhile, he said the British have made assurance that the island won't be blown up. (The tests will be "air burst")

The island doesn't seem to have any dollar value, except perhaps as a possible base for airplanes flying between the United States and New Zealand or Australia. (The scheduled tests have already disrupted plans for a Honolulu-to-Tahiti airline to establish a stopover base at Christmas island.)

The island lies just north of the Equator. It has a tropical climate but the surrounding ocean and trade winds from the west vent extremes of heat. The friendship between the United States and Britain is not likely to cause any heat over the island but it remains one of the most amicable international disputes in history.

TODAY'S Menu

Chocolate Milk Stars
In Flavorful Desserts

By ALICE DENHOFF

MANY of us, and certainly all youngsters, consider dessert the most interesting and certainly the best part of the meal. Desserts, therefore, should be light, pretty and well packed with nutrients.

Flavor Ingredient

That's where a bottle of chocolate drink comes in handy as an easy-to-do flavor ingredient as well as a fine source of nutrition. Chocolate Milk Almond Mold is packed full of health and fine flavor.

To serve 4-6, soften 1/2 tsp. plain gelatin in 1/4 c. cold bottled or canned chocolate milk. Add 1/2 c. hot chocolate milk and stir until gelatin is dissolved.

Cook 1/2 c. sugar over low heat, stirring constantly until melted and lightly browned.

Gradually add remaining 1 c. hot chocolate milk, stirring constantly.

Add to gelatin mixture and mix well. Chill until slightly thickened. Beat well.

Fold in 1 c. heavy cream and 1/2 c. toasted, slivered almonds. Chill until firm. Unmold.

Springtime Dessert

Next is a deliciously light and flavorful pudding, an excellent way to finish a Springtime meal.

To serve 6, soften 2 tsp. unflavored gelatin in 1/2 c. cold orange juice. Add 1/2 c. hot orange juice and stir until gelatin is dissolved.

Add 1/2 c. sugar and 1 c. chocolate milk. Mix well.

Chill until slightly thickened. Beat thoroughly.

Beat 2 egg whites until stiff but not dry.

Whip 1 c. heavy cream and fold with egg whites into chocolate milk-orange mixture. Turn into 1 1/2-qt. mold. Chill until firm. Unmold.

If desired, garnish with orange sections.

Angel Cake

For a delicious angel cake, combine 3 slightly beaten egg yolks, 1/4 c. sugar and 1/2 tsp. salt. Blend. Gradually add 1 c. chocolate milk and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cool, then freeze until mushy.

Beat until smooth.

Fold in 1 c. heavy cream that has been whipped and tsp. vanilla. Freeze until firm, stirring frequently during the first hour.

Meanwhile, prepare a 1-lb. package angel food cake mix according to package directions, using a 10-in. tube pan. Cut a 1-in. slice from top of cake. Scoop out cake, leaving a wall about 1-in. thick. Fill with chocolate milk mixture. Top with cake slice. Freeze 3-4 hrs. or until firm.

Frost with sweetened whipped cream and sprinkle with grated semi-sweet chocolate.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health.

for planning assistance for these municipalities and to arrange for planning advances and grants from the Housing and Home Finance Agency under the provisions of the Federal Housing Act of 1954 or from other sources.

The planning and allocation of funds is the first step in improvement of health, social and economic standards of thousands of Texas citizens through urban renewal.

The urban renewal program of assistance, authorized in the Housing Act of 1954, carries out the recommendations of President Eisenhower for broadscale clearance and prevention of slums and blight and for improving and conserving good neighborhoods.

These special aids can be, and are being applied to the problems of communities of any size, from small towns in rural areas to the largest metropolitan centers. Larger cities may go ahead on their own.

Scarcely a Texas community has not felt the scourge of slums. Slums have spread so far, their costs have become so great, that they are now a problem of national dimensions and concern.

Slums are the final product of a continuing process of decay that, in various stages, affects a large part of the community and threatens all of it—decay that comes largely from civic neglect and inaction.

A national study found that blighted areas were forming faster than old ones were being cleared, which justifies assistance for communities which face up to the problem of neighborhood decay and undertake long-range programs directed to its prevention.

The new law will make it possible for the Texas State Department of Health to work with smaller cities for this planning and will allocate federal funds enabling only highest caliber master planning to prevent further blight.

Only prompt action and a willingness to help themselves to keep a healthy environment is needed by cities of under 25,000 population to receive this assistance.

LCRA To Join Electric Companies In Nationwide Operations Alert

The Lower Colorado River Authority has announced that it will participate in the Nationwide Operation Alert next July along with a Southwest Regional group of electric power companies and other electrical distribution systems, Mr. W. D. McGill, State Civil Defense Director said today.

The Southwest systems which will coordinate their activities during the Civil Defense Alert will, for the most part, include those States which make up the Southwest Interconnected Systems. This Interconnected System enables the electric suppliers to exchange electricity through mutually operated switching stations during times of emergency or when other conditions make it desirable, according to Mr. W. S. Gideon, LCRA's general manager.

The entire regional group is organized and working as a unit, under an arrangement whereby if one system were to suffer severe losses of generating capacity, the other system would come to its aid automatically. Arrangements have been made between companies for exchange of equipment, supplies and even workers, if the need justifies it.

Included in the regional group are electric power systems from Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas, Kansas, Nebraska, New Mexico and part of Missouri and Mississippi.

In addition to the regional group, each of the companies—including the LCRA—has its own emergency organization whereby it can handle disasters of major extent without having to call for outside aid. Mr. Gideon said. This is accomplished through a plan in which all departments of the LCRA would be utilized in emergency work.

Most of the companies of this regional group—including the LCRA—have had emergency plans in operation since before World War II. These plans were originally formulated to cope with hurricanes or unusual ice storms. These plans were broadened to take care of possible emergencies which might have arisen during World War II, and since the war they were further enlarged to cover the possibility of attack and nuclear weapons.

Mr. McGill listed four major reasons for the regional group's participation in the National Civil Defense Alert. They are:

1. To analyze the company system to see if they are adequate in generating to cope with possible losses from nuclear attack.
2. To find out if the transmission line facilities of the interconnected systems are sufficient to meet the emergency needs of atomic war.
3. To give each organization in the group an opportunity to analyze its own emergency plan to see if any changes or adjustments need to be made.

4. To check the adequacy of communication facilities between companies under such an emergency.

Father Of Archie B. Lindsay Is Buried In San Saba Sunday

Funeral services for Samuel J. Tilden Lindsey, 80, San Saba building contractor, were conducted at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, June 9, at the Howell-Doran chapel with the Rev. A. A. Carter officiating, assisted by the Rev. W. L. White and the Rev. C. E. Bradford.

Lindsay died at 10 p.m. Friday, June 7, at his home in San Saba following an illness of several months.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Sarah H. Lindsey of San Saba; four children, Archie B. Lindsey of Goldthwaite, Mrs. Earl Thomas of Fort Worth, Mrs. Worth House of Austin and Morris S. Lindsey of Houston; four brothers, A. L. Lindsey of Brownwood, Ward Lindsey of Springtown, Joe Lindsey of Guthrie and John Lindsey of Oklahoma; a sister, Mrs. W. C. Williams of Lamesa; eight grandchildren; ten great-grandchildren; and numerous nephews and nieces. Born March 31, 1877, in Parker county, he was the son of Charles William Lindsey, rancher, San Saba county tax assessor-collector, and rural school teacher; and of the former Harriet E. Lewis. He was one of a big family, having seven brothers, four sisters and three half-brothers.

Lindsay moved with the family to San Saba county in 1883. He was married Nov. 13, 1898, in San Saba to Miss Sarah Hendrick, who survives. While a young man he became a member of the Methodist church. As a building contractor he built many residences in San Saba, and in recent years had worked principally as a paper hanger and carpenter. Because of failing health he had not worked since the first of this year.

Pallbearers were Reuben Sentertitt, John Lee Walker, Leon Hartley, Jack Sullivan, Douglas Sullivan and Harry Timberlake. Interment was in China Creek cemetery. Howell-Doran funeral home in charge.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

BY HUBERT L. BERRY

Now that much needed rains have come, it is time to take stock of the situation which exists on our range land.

First of all, the feeling of optimism is high following what seemed an endless drought. Livestock and commodity prices are better, thus giving farmers and business men alike good reason to smile. To date we have received as much rainfall in five months as we normally get in twelve. Warm season grasses are coming where all roots were feared dead. Annual clovers are growing where there has been no seed source in years.

These facts give us ample reason to say this is truly "The Good Earth," however we must not lose sight of the fact that many of our ranges have sustained tremendous losses of soil and plant of soil and plant life. To permit quick re-growth after heavy grazing, plants must have thrifty root systems. The only way to insure a thrifty root system is to permit adequate top growth.

Many livestock raisers are tempted to increase herds rapidly. This might appear to some ranchers as the way to take advantage of good rain fall years. Such is not the case, however, with such District cooperators as L. B. Burnham, Owens Brothers, Garth Wall, Dr. T. C. Graves, David Waters and many others who maintained good grass during the worst drought on record.

Grass is a crop. We cannot regard it otherwise and continue to prosper. Graze an eat crop too long and there is little chance of harvesting any grain. Graze the better range grasses too close continuously and they eventually die. The fact remains more true than ever that grass is the cheapest livestock feed.

H. R. Collier Families Enjoy Reunion At Family Home Sunday

Last Sunday, June 9, the children of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Collier gathered at the family home for their annual reunion.

Those present for the occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. Luther Whitlock Sr., Grace and Willa Dean of Blythe, California; Mr. and Mrs. Luther Whitlock Jr., and Gerilenn, Killeen; Mr. and

It was a wonderfully happy day. John Briley walked over to the Griffin place Saturday to see Charlie, but his daughter, Gladys, had come for him the Sunday before and had taken him home with her to San Antonio.

We hear that Mrs. Hubert Reeves and Joe are attending Howard Payne College this summer. We were really happy to learn that Howard Payne would not be moved from Brownwood.

Last Sunday we went to church at Goldthwaite. Got to see the Dale Reids and the Luther Jernigans. Mr. and Mrs. House and their four boys came home with Mrs. Dwyer for dinner. We really enjoyed getting acquainted with the Houses. They impressed me as an ideal family. Mr. House said he was worth 6 million. That his wife two million, and each of his boys was worth a million. Can you think of a man's saying anything nicer than that about his family?

My sister, Mrs. Grace Bateman, writes from Fort Worth that she and John Bateman almost burst with pride when they saw their tall, redheaded son, John Robert, walk across the stage to receive his M. D. degree at Galveston May 30. John Robert is to intern in the Hospital of the Good Samaritan in Los Angeles, but he will be at home until the State Board Exams June 26.

Grace writes from El Paso that Bill took Johnny to the store with him the first three days after we left. Billy was home Thursday, Genova came and school closed that day. Bill called him his assistant manager and paid him one dollar for the three days. I can imagine how grand Johnny felt. He had so often played that he was going to the store to work.

The Angus Burns write from England that they expect to be here for the Wilmeth reunion, July fourth.

LONGHORN CAVERN STATE PARK has this delightful headquarters building where visitors gather to descend into the world's third largest cave. Park Road Four passes this building on its scenic route between U. S. Highway 281 and State Highway 29. The headquarters and cave are surrounded by a beautiful park of 700 acres. Eight miles distant on the same Park Road is Inks Lake State Park, a famous spot for fishing and water sports.—Photo by Tanner Studio.

LONGHORN CAVERN STATE PARK has as its chief attraction the third largest cave in the world. Tours through the amazing cavern are conducted every hour on the hour from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., except at noon. About two hours time is required to complete the underground trip. It is equally enjoyable in winter and summer. A constant temperature of 64 degrees prevails.

This remarkable natural wonder is reached by Park Road Four which leaves U. S. Highway 281 between Marble Falls and Burnet. Passing near the headquarters building and cavern entrance the park road continues to Inks Lake State Park, eight miles farther, and then to an intersection with State Highway 29 near Buchanan Dam. The road winds around the shore of Inks Lake for much of the way.

Besides the interesting stalactites reaching down from the cave roof and the stalagmites growing upward, Longhorn Cavern is notable for its crystal like walls that reflect the concealed electric lights strung through two miles of the underground passages.

Especially beautiful parts of the cavern have been given appropriate names, such as the Queen's Throne, Cathedral Room, Chandelier Room, Jacob's Well and Frozen Waterfall. The cave has never been completely explored.

Authenticated history of the discovery of the huge cavern is lacking, though scientists have found in it evidence that it had been visited for many centuries. It was opened to park visitors in 1932 and since then has been viewed by millions.

During the War Between the States, Longhorn Cavern was used by the Confederates as a powder factory and storage place. It is reputed, also, to have been a hide-out of Sam Bass, the bandit, and many people believe he left hidden treasure there that has never been uncovered.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

CONTINGENCIES

In this unpredictable life of ours, it is the law's business to take a long look into the future and say what would "happen if."

For in your contracts, leases, wills, insurance policies, escrows, and the like, you had better say what would "happen if" some of your best laid plans go awry. Such events the law calls "contingencies."

Who gets the "earnest money" you put down, if you cannot go through with buying that house? What if you want to pay up that loan and save interest? What happens if a partnership goes sour, or a partner gets sick or dies? What happens if the people you name in your will should die before you do, or, if you all perish in a common catastrophe like a car smashup?

The law is wise but it cannot do your thinking for you. It settles such questions—but not always to your liking. If you don't make a will, the law says who shall get your property. If you leave certain things out of a contract, the law assumes that you meant to put some certain things in. But how much better it would be in the first place to put them in the way you want them, by asking "what if?"

Take your will now: Your first desire, of course, is to take care of your wife and children—those nearest to you. But it won't hurt anything to put "contingent beneficiaries" in your will in case something happens to thwart your first intentions.

Review your will every year or so to see if it meets the new things that have come up, or arrange with your lawyer to write in "contingent beneficiaries"—those who will receive your property if your first beneficiaries should die before you do.

You may long ago have your son provided for in your will, but what about those lovely grandchildren he and his wife have presented to you since you wrote the will? What would happen to them if things go wrong and your son should die before you?

Or take your widowed sister and her children now. Suppose you and your immediate family should be wiped out: Would you want your property to go

A NEW APPROACH TO THE SCREW-WORM PROBLEM

Texas stockmen will be keenly interested in a new procedure for eradicating the screw-worm now being tested in the Florida cattle country.

In a joint Federal-state operation, a project is now underway involving the use of male screw-worm flies hatched under laboratory conditions and sterilized through radiation exposure to cobalt gamma rays.

It is believed that when the sterile male flies are released in a screw-worm infested area, a marked decrease in reproduction will result when many eggs produced by female flies in the area fail to hatch.

The Florida experiment which is being directed by R. C. Bushland of the Entomology Research Division at Kerrville, is not an attempt at eradication of the screw-worm but merely a test to see if it can be accomplished.

The research project grew out of a similar operation held on the Caribbean Island of Curacao in which a complete eradication was accomplished. In the Curacao project, 400 male screw worm flies per square mile were released. The Florida experiment will employ a release of 500 males per square mile each week for four months. This will require a total of about 2,000,000 lab-reared flies a week when operations reach their peak in the area to be treated, which is 40 by 50 miles.

equally to her and to your well-heeled bachelor brother? Or would you prefer to leave your brother some token of your affection, and then really take care of your sister?

You may be impatient with the law's long memory. Such things never happen, you think, but the court records are full of plans which failed. And so the law has ways in which you can provide for "what happens—if." One way is the device of contingent beneficiaries in your will and insurance policies.

The screw-worm is the larvae, or maggot, of the fly Callitroga hominivorax which develop from eggs laid on open wounds of animals. The screw-worm has been known to exist in Texas since 1842, probably coming from Mexico.

Because of the heavy Mexican infestation which migrates northward through Texas, the time eradication measure being tested in Florida presently would not be too effective in the southwest.

However, if tests should prove successful in the Southeastern project, Texas cattlemen can look forward to a time when the ever-present screw-worm problem is relieved.

Golden Rule of Giving Suggests Enduring Gifts For Bride

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE—MULLIN ENTERPRISE Page 9
Goldthwaite, Texas Thursday, June 13, 1957

Stores
Big Stocks
Helpful Hints

Now Plays
Gift Role

Choosing a gift for a bride,
Golden Rule is—as usual rule of thumb.
Put yourself in her white shoes and think what you'd like to have—something practical, of course . . . a gift that would get constant use.

You wouldn't want one of those hopeless presents that clutter an attic until it's dusted off and put on display when the donor is expected to visit.

Take the kitchen, the center of home life. Just about everything these days that goes into a kitchen—except the bride, of course—is made of enduring steel.

All appliances—large and small—are made to last. Pots and pans, knives, gadgets and utensils, garbage cans, canisters, ice crushers—the list goes on and on.

Personal Gifts, Too;
For other parts of the house,
you will always find practical gift ideas. An electric bed cover to keep her warm and an electric fan to keep her cool are bedroom equipment.

There are items to keep her beautiful and feeling fit as a bride for years to come: hair dryer, electric shaver, manicuring set.

Don't forget the personal gifts such as a sports watch, luggage or umbrella (if she didn't get one at the shower.)

A clock is a timely gift. It will help her help him get to work on time. A clock-radio gives years of pleasure.

One of the most pressing items is a steam or dry iron.
And don't forget the ironing board.

Perhaps she likes to garden.
Tools are a sharp idea.

Brides like to start out being tidy. What could be more helpful than matched closet accessories: shoe, tie, bag and belt racks; multiple skirt, blouse and trouser hangers, hat stands and garment bags. An inviting closet is good for husband training too. He wouldn't be caught throwing his clothes around with such lovely surroundings to hang them in.

A gift that won't last very long, steel though it is, will be so deeply appreciated she'll forgive it its short, merry life. It's a gift box of canned delicacies such as smoked clams, cocktail meat balls, date nut bread, boned chicken and other yummies. These are wonderful for the bride and groom as a party of two or when they're entertaining.

For Bride's Desk

Since marriage has its business side, why not outfit the bride's desk with stapler, paper clips, letter opener and scissors, hole puncher, pencil sharpener and file boxes for recipes and bills? You'll be smoothing the way for the rough budgeting sessions ahead.

Decorative gifts include trays, bowls, pitchers, vases, ashtrays, cigarette boxes and lighters, bookends, wall brackets.
And don't forget stainless steel flatware, the pride of the bride's dinner table.

For the bride who likes to entertain, why not folding snack tables, bridge chairs and table, ice bucket, cocktail shaker, or chafing dish? And for outdoor entertaining, lawn furniture or backyard barbecue grills can't be beat.

For the benefit of residents of Mills county and surrounding area, Goldthwaite stores are most helpful to shoppers when selecting gifts for the bride.

Large stocks of practical gift merchandise for the bridal shower are carried in stock and the friendly local merchants and their sales personnel will be happy to assist shoppers in their selection.

When you buy them for a shower or wedding, you're giving the bride much more than just an expression of your affection. You're giving gifts that will endure as long as she needs them.

Showering the bride with gifts of steel means choosing from countless items made to give stylish service—from coffee makers to canisters, folding chairs to flatware, trays to toasters, clocks to cutlery. No matter what you choose to give, she'll appreciate your good taste and thoughtfulness.

And any bride would glow with pleasure to see the lustrous quality shining through every gift of steel. And she can be

 County  Agricultural Agent Texas A. & M. College Extension Service By George Reese

If the weather permits, farmers in Mills County, will harvest the largest grain crop in several years. This leads us to the problems of grain storage on the farm.

Grain producers suffer enormous losses annually from stored grain insects.

Insects eat an estimated 2 percent of the nations farm-stored grain each month. Losses are due primarily to dirt storage structures or to high temperatures and high moisture contents which encourage a buildup of infestations. Insects that attack stored grain are classified as PRIMARY (those that complete their development inside the grain kernel) and SECONDARY (those insects that generally are surface feeders in both larval and adult stages).

Four species of primary pests—corn weevil, granary weevil, lesser grain borer and Angoumois grain moth are the most destructive in Texas. In the immature stages, these insects feed within the kernel unseen and usually unsuspected.

These immature stages cannot be removed by ordinary cleaning machinery but must be controlled by fumigation.

Secondary insects include beetles, moth and mealworms. These insects feed primarily on cracked grain. They usually can be removed by grain cleaning operations.

Grain should be stored only in bins that have been thoroughly cleaned, after the bin and area outside have been thoroughly cleaned, spray with 2 1/2 percent DDT at the rate of 2 gallons per 1,000 square feet of surface area.

Grain to be used for food or feed may be treated with protectants such as pyrene as the grain is harvested and stored in the bins. Moth infestations on surfaces of grain in storage may be controlled by space sprays or aerosols used every 2 to 4 weeks. Several fumigants are effective for killing stored grain insects, these can be purchased under different trade names, be sure to use according to the label. For complete information on controlling insects in stored grain you may obtain bulletin L-217 from my office.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McNutt of Midland spent the weekend with Mrs. Edgar McNutt.

FHA Loans $138,750. To Farmers In Three County Areas IN 10 Months

More than $138,750.00 has been loaned to farmers in Lampasas, Burnet and Mills Counties during the ten months ended April 30, 1957, by Farmers Home Administration, the agency's county supervisor, Aston W. Cole, announced this week.

The heaviest demand has for credit to finance operating expenses.

During this same ten months' period, Farmers Home Administration extended credit in operating, emergency and real estate loans to some 18,500 Texas farmers and ranchers for a total of $54,773,000, the agency's State Director, Walter T. McKay, reported. This is an increase over the same period last year.

drouth-breaking rains as most other regions in the state. April rains here were only 2.92 inches; the total for the four-month period is 7.52. Last year the January-April rainfall was 3.19 inches; total for the year was 12.06 inches. Average yearly rainfall is 26.71 inches.

"This increase is due primarily to the demand from family-type farmers for credit needed to place their farming operations on an efficient basis," McKay explained. "In fact," he added, agencies records reveal that there has been a slight decline in the demand for emergency credit so far this year. Long-term credit, to develop balanced systems and make full use of resources available, has been extended to a number of operators of family-type farms who previously obtained emergency loan assistance."

McKay and members of his staff are meeting this week with National Administrator Kermit Hansen to go over agency operations for next year. This meeting is preparatory to training meetings to be held for county office staffs throughout the State. The objective of these meetings will be to insure that maximum service is rendered to Texas farmers and ranchers promptly and efficiently.

ches. The average annual precipitation for the area is 24.24 inches.

8—South-Central Texas (cattle, cotton, poultry, dairy products). Nine and one-quarter inches of rain fell on this area in April, bringing the January-April total to 15.38 inches. The total for the same period last year was 4.98 inches. Average rainfall is 33.41 inches; last year's figure was 18.78 inches.

9—Coastal Prairie (rice, cotton, cattle). This is the area of greatest average rainfall in the state (46.47 inches), but even it felt the effects of the drouth (1956 rainfall was 28.21 inches). However, rains of 6.56 inches in March and 9.18 inches in April have helped return the precipitation picture to normal in January-April 1957, the rainfall in this area was 19.46 inches, as compared with 9 inches for the same period last year.

10—South Texas Plains (cattle, fruit, vegetables). Rainfall through April was 8.87 inches, considerably above the 2.12 inches recorded during the same period in 1956. Average rainfall for this area is 21.53 inches; last year's precipitation was 10.85 inches.

10—A-Lower Rio Grande Valley (cotton, fruit, vegetables). This area of highly concentrated agricultural production has not participated as fully in the ed with an annual average of 23.18 inches.

3—Western Cross-Timbers (cattle, dairy products). Heavy April rains same period last year (5.89 inches). With an average precipitation of 29.34 inches, Western Cross-Timbers recorded only 18.27 inches last year.

4—Blacklands (cotton, cattle, dairy products, poultry). A 13.38 inch deluge in April gave this area 20.64 inches for the first four months of 1957. This is almost equal to the district's entire rainfall for 1956 (22.08 inches). During January-April 1956, the Blacklands received 7.14 inches. Its average annual precipitation is 36.47 inches.

5—East Texas (cattle, poultry, cotton, dairy products). This district recorded 11.41 inches of rainfall in April, bringing its total for the first four months of 1957 to 20.08 inches. During the same period last year, East Texas received 11.38 inches. Last year's total precipitation was 29.51 inches, far below the 44.06 inches average.

6—Trans-Pecos (cotton, cattle). This is the only area of the state which has had no appreciable relief from the drouth. It is ordinarily arid (average annual precipitation is 12.51 inches), but last year it received only 4.68 inches. The period January-April 1957 has brought 1.74 inches of rain; during the same period last year, .87 inches fell.

7—Edwards Plateau (goats, sheep, cattle). This ranching area, which was probably hit harder by the drouth than any other part of the state, is making a good comeback. April rains brought 7.01 inches to the stricken rangeland, raising the four-month total to 10.75 inches. This means the 1957 rainfall on Edwards Plateau has already equaled the total for last year (10.75 inches). The January-April total of 1956 was 2.17 in-

Damage to agriculture by the heavy rains and flooding was not great; however, in many areas there must be widespread replanting. Some erosion was reported, and, where stockmen could not get their cattle out of lowlands in time, they suffered losses. Flooding of the Trinity and other rivers and streams in East Texas took the lives of an estimated 1,000 cattle. But as the rains continue and the fields remained too wet to plow, the farmers' main concern was the effects of the delay in planting.

By the end of April, time had already run out for the state's corn crop. Only in South Texas has the intended corn acreage been planted. Over the eastern half of the state, land that was intended for corn will be seeded in sorghums. Cotton planting was lagging, especially in the southeastern quarter of the state.

A summary of the effects of the spring rains on Texas agriculture will be presented in the July Review. Here, to provide a background for that story, is a survey of the rainfall situation this year, through April. It is presented in the most meaningful agricultural breakdown, the U. S. Department of Agriculture's crop-reporting districts:

1-N—Northern High Plains (principal agricultural products: cotton, cattle, grain sorghum, wheat). Through April of this year, this district had received an average of 5.21 inches of precipitation at the 18 weather stations in the area which report to the USDA. This was over 4 inches more than the average of 1.16 inches recorded by these stations for the same period last year. The U. S. Weather Bureau's long-term average annual precipitation in the district is 20.38 inches; last year, 10.69 inches were reported.

1-S—Southern High Plains (cotton, grain sorghum). The first four months of 1957 brought an average of 3.78 inches of rain to this area, a total of 2.6 inches more than was reported for January-April last year (1.18 inches). This district, along with 1-N, receives most of its rainfall in the summer rather than the spring. Normal yearly precipitation is 18.31 inches. During the drouth year of 1956, only 8.67 inches fell.

2—Low Rolling Plains (cotton, cattle, wheat). Almost 5 inches of April rainfall brought the total for the year to 8.22 inches. During the same period in 1956, a scant 1.59 inches were recorded. This region, which does not have the irrigation of the High Plains districts, was hard hit by the drouth. Total rainfall last year was 12.72 inches, compar-

After enduring dust since 1950, most of the Lone Star State is now being "gored by the horn of plenty." In the area west of the Pecos River the aridity retains its grip, but eastward throughout Texas, water-logged farmers and ranchers are hailing the passing of the drouth.

Texas weather, long famed for its excesses, is giving a spectacular, affirmative answer to the question it posed by the rains of earlier this year, "Are the seven lean years really coming to an end?"

The sudden deluge in April caused heavy damage in several urban areas, where comparatively small streams, hit by flash floods, exceeded their capacities and where drainage was inadequate to handle waters dumped by heavy local thunderstorms. Main-stem rivers broke their banks at Dallas, Dennis (Parker County), Gladewater, and Georgetown. Later floods in May brought widespread destruction to Lampasas.

AUSTIN, Tex.—Though still four months off, Gov. Daniel's plan for a special legislative session in the fall is already generating lively discussion around the Capitol.

There is sentiment both for and against.

A "memorandum" was reportedly circulated asking persons to write the governor and ask him not to call the special session. It predicted the bills the governor wants would fare no better than before. A long-time House member was believed to be the author of the memorandum.

But if the session is held, Rep. Tony Koriath of Sherman says he hopes the governor will submit small loan regulation as an emergency measure. Koriath's "loan shark" control bill died in committee last session.

NEW "STATES" FORMED—While Texas lawmakers take a break, some probable leaders of the future are trying their hands at government in Austin.

They are nearly 1,000 high school students from over Texas who came to the Capital City for Boys State and Girls State. Texas Department of the American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary sponsor the "states" annually as citizenship laboratories for outstanding youngsters.

Participants hear talks by top officials from the governor down, then form political parties, nominate candidates and elect officials of their own.

Aim is to give the students a first-hand understanding of politics and government.

ROAD BUILDING SPEED-UP—Texas State Highway Commission is moving swiftly to take advantage of new laws designed to speed up highway construction.

A meeting of the Commission and key personnel was to be held in Houston this week. Objective: to hasten the day when heavy traffic can move safely and smoothly along multi-laned super-highways with no cross-roads.

Principal legislative changes are (1) provision for the state to go 50-50 with cities and counties on land buying costs and (2) new authority for the state to obtain land for and have control of super-roads through cities.

Goal for 1970, according to Highway Engineer D. C. Greer, is 900 miles of expressways linking Texas' population centers.

First of the new laws means car and truck owners will pay 10 per cent more for their next license plates. Second means state will set speed limits of state highways through towns—no local speed traps.

But one "speed-up" law failed. Legislature decided against raising present 60-mile-per-hour limit, no matter how good the road.

TOUGHER FOR TEENS—Law enforcement officers will, in effect, have a new hickory stick for teenage troublemakers after August 22.

New laws to go into effect then provide:

1. Youngsters 14 and over can be fined $100 for speeding, DWI or driving without a license.

2. Parents will be liable up to $300 for property damage by minor children.

3. Drivers licenses for youngsters under 16 will be harder to get. Department of Public Safety, rather than local county judge, will have say-so.

4. A special "license" will be needed for driving motor bikes and scooters.

Taking a more optimistic view of the same subject were the more than 100 experts, educators and parents in Austin for the Texas PTA's youth development workshop.

Today's youth seems to be "sailing along," they opined, but suggested more interest by fathers might help.

AT LEAST IT'S WET—More and more rain and less and less crops is the farm report from many parts of the state.

Besides flood damage, losses are expected to mount high from wind, hail, rust and insects. And continued heavy rains have washed out more fields, delayed much-needed work in others.

Any more rain will mean complete loss of North Texas grain crops, according to observers. U. S. Dept. of Agriculture reported weather too wet and cool for cotton in all areas but South Texas.

Even so, the stored-up moisture makes farmers generally hopeful. With some clear weather now, some say they might yet get the best crops in years.

For ranchers outlook is even better. Hill Country Hereford Association reported record-breaking sales as grass grows higher, cattle fatter.

YARBOROUGH & DUREN

"The Friendly Store Where Your Money Buys More."

Continuous rain has brought construction to a "virtual standstill" in many parts of Texas this year.

Building authorizations for the first four months of '57 were one per cent higher than last year, reports the Bureau of Business Research. But actual construction was 4 per cent less due to the weather.

Increase in the authorization totals was attributed to higher costs rather than more building.

BUSINESS ACTIVITY UP—Almost all indicators show Texas business moving slowly, but steadily, ahead of what it was in 1956.

University Bureau of Business Research reported April, 1957, was 6 per cent better than April, 1956. Retail trade was up 8 per cent over last year with family clothing stores showing the biggest jump—39 per cent.

Bureau analysts foresee "good" retailing for the rest of the year, but with "fierce competition" and a "ruthless squeeze on profits and margins."
