Eagles Lose To Yellowjackets In Last Conference Game Friday Night

Last Friday night on the local field, the Llano Yellowjackets defeated the Eagles by a score of 53-26, thus giving Llano the second place win in the district. Last year the Eagles won over the Yellowjackets on the Llano field. The Yellowjackets scored in every quarter except the third one.

The Eagles were bothered in this game by flu and injuries. Jerry Kight, Pete Dellis, Earl Covington and Glen Carr were not up to par due to having had the flu and Leo Reynolds had a bad knee.

Philip Edgington played the best game of his career last Friday night, both on offensive and defensive. Philip had the fans cheering on a spectacular 70 yard touchdown run and pass from Kirby. He had good backing from Hammond and Jones but his run was a fine performance.

Kirby turned in a fine offensive game as did P. D. Head. In the line Bobby Laughlin played his first game at center and did a fine job. Johnny Wigley and Jackie Reynolds played their regular fine game at guard. Tackles, Dellis, Gene Elliott and Charles Wilkins turned in a good game also. Ends Kight, Jones and Woods

Mail Early For Christmas Urged By Postmaster

Predicting that the Christmas mail this year will set an all-time record, even exceeding the record in 1956, Postmaster Lucile Fairman announced her 1957 "Mail Early For Christmas" Campaign today.

With Christmas only a little more than a month away, the Postmaster reminds us, "It's later than you think!" Most folks have a tendency to wait until December rolls around before they give their Christmas mailing plans a thought!

The Postmaster further suggested that right now is the time to take the following steps: Check your Christmas card lists very carefully—make sure that each address includes the full name, street and number, city, zone and state.

She said, also, that it is a good idea to stock up on heavy wrapping paper, sturdy corrugated cartons, strong cord, and paper adhesive tape for use in securely packing and wrapping Christmas gifts. If you'd like to include your Christmas card or letter inside your gift package, just add the appropriate First Class mail postage to the postage for the package itself; thus, insuring simultaneous arrival of your gift and greeting.

Schools To Close For Holidays

A double holiday will be observed by the schools of Goldthwaite on Thanksgiving and Friday following which will be November 28 and 29 after dismissing at the regular time on Wednesday of next week. This will give a total of four days off and a good chance to recuperate from the epidemic of the Flu Bug.

In announcing the holidays, Supt. Jones said that the annual Teachers Association Meeting will be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Teachers of Goldthwaite will be able to attend and Supt. Jones is a Member of the House of Delegates and will have to be in his first meeting on Wednesday at 6:30 p.m.

Band Receives Congratulations

Here comes a tip of the hat to the Goldthwaite High School band director, Miss Anna Gene Hale, and members of the band. C. H. McGuire, Jr., Executive Vice-President of the Stephenville Sate Bank, wrote the following letter to the editor a few days ago.

"Today Dr. J. C. Terrell and myself, who are on the board of directors of the Mills County State Bank, were very pleased to notice your high school band marching in the Tarleton State College annual homecoming parade.

"This was the only out-of-town band in the parade and we have already heard many favorable comments about the band. They seemed to be well drilled and presented a splendid appearance in their uniforms. The City of Goldthwaite and your school, along with the responsible band director, is certainly to be congratulated on the fine showing your band made here.

We would like to extend to them our sincere congratulations."

PULSE OF THE COUNTRY

The great American cities are booming in population. But millions of people still prefer the smaller towns, the grass-roots feel and atmosphere, the way of life that goes with the countryside.

Recently an employment agency ran a three-line ad in the New York Times offering jobs on country weekly newspapers. From that single, tiny notice more than 60 replies were received. This caused the American Press to say that "... there may be many newspapermen who have gone to the cities to seek their fortunes and, after a few frustrating months or years, long to return to the country."

Those who work on the smaller papers are about as close to the pulse of the country as anyone can be.

What If Your Home Burned Down?

What would you do if your house burned down? There's a superficially easy answer to that question—you'd rebuild it with the insurance money.

However, unless you're one of a comparatively small minority of people, you'd be shocked to learn just how inadequate your fire insurance coverage is.

The main reason that is true is explained by one little word—inflation. Sylvia Porter tells the story in one of her recent syndicated columns. A house that cost $8,000 in 1937 would cost $21,600 to replace today. A house that cost $12,000 as late as 1946 carries an $18,300 price tag now. So it goes. Miss Porter quotes an authority on the subject as saying: "There's no doubt that the overwhelming percentage of America's tens of millions of homeowners are underinsured."

And that isn't the whole story. The same thing is true, and in many cases to an even greater degree, of the contents of our homes. We buy all manner of things over the years, and we just don't realize how much the total worth comes to. Then, on top of that, inflation has driven up the replacement cost of all commodities, just as it has driven up construction and repair costs.

This year fire losses will hit an all time high, and may reach or pass $1 billion. Your home and everything in it could help make up that grim statistic. Carefully inventory your possessions, then see your local insurance agent and make sure your fire policies really meet your needs.

Where There Are No Parking Problems

Adjacent to American automobile factories there are always big parking lots. And these lots are loaded with cars belonging to the workers.

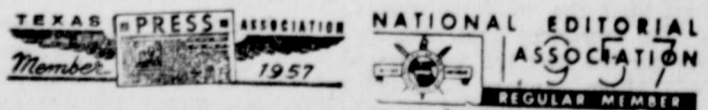

But, as William Henry Chamberlin points out in a Wall Street Journal article, there are no parking problems around the auto factories of communist countries. The reason is found in the wage-price relationship. As an example, he cites the principal car produced in Communist Poland, the Warszawa. At its state-fixed price, it would take the average worker five years to earn enough to buy one, if he put aside every cent of his earnings for that purpose. And the fixed price is way below the going black market price.

This is what total government does to the masses of workers—the people it is supposed to serve and reverse. It forces them down to a subsistence basis of living—and keeps them there.

MARCH OF EVENTS

U. S. Economists Unalarmed | Rising Production, Consumer Confidence High

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Washington Writer

WASHINGTON—Government economists are not alarmed by current economic trends in the United States, which are reflected, in some minds exaggerated, by stock market activity. They readily concede that rising production and consumer spending have now reached a plateau, but stress that it's a pretty high one. There is considerable debate going on over the restrictive monetary policies currently being pursued by the Federal Reserve Board, which run all the way to the belief in a financial quarters that the board is fostering a "slight" recession now to avoid a big crash in the future.

Much of the American economy is really being pinched by the board's tight money policy. The basic industries, such as housing, auto and industrial plant expansion, are feeling it directly, of course.

All of this does not impress government economists nearly as much as the alternative, a lively inflationary spiral. However, the economists are becoming concerned about consumer next spring, and so, incidentally, are the politicians.

They fear that the coming winter months provide no real gauge of the severity of Federal Reserve money restrictions on new-housing starts, industrial building and auto sales. All of these basic industries depend on a spring upturn. Should the buying and ordering binge fail to develop, it will be too late for the board to relax its restrictions and, some economists fear, this miscalculation could put the country in a recession reminiscent of 1953-1954. Washington politicians who have been following economic trends can't help but project its effects on the congressional elections.

• TROUBLE BREWING—The Democratic party appears headed for trouble as a result of the new policy statements down by its advisory council. Causing most of the fireworks is the council's plea for prompt enforcement of the new civil rights bill. This threatens to force the party split in the South wide open.

The southern wing of the party has been a little hot under the collar ever since the civil rights bill was passed and now the council's statement appears to be a slap in the face for Dixie Democrats.

• TAX CUT CHANCES LESSEN—Chances of a tax cut by Congress next year have sharply diminished in the face of military expenditures necessary to catch up with Russia's development of an intercontinental ballistic missile.

Both political parties have been eager to enact some form of reduction in 1958—an election year—but they face the dilemma how to call for adequate defense spending and justify a tax cut at the same time.

A business recession might improve chances for an income tax slash if government economists decide the move is needed to put more spending money into the nation's economy.

However, such a recession, at the same time, would cut the government's revenue from corporate taxes might make it impossible to grant relief to the individual taxpayer. Capitol Hill observers are not ruling out the possibility of a cut, but if there is one, they say it will be little more than a gesture to the voters.

Turkey calls for hot rolls

Roast turkey and golden brown hot rolls are natural companions. And, the better the hot rolls... the better your turkey tastes. But why wait for holidays? You can have freshly browned rolls hot from the oven at every meal.

...For "something special" several times a week... serve the best quick hot rolls... Mrs. Baird's.

New Food Combination: Team Ham With Yams

By ALICE DENHOFF

HAM and Eggs together make the perfect combination that has become an old standby.

However, another splendid two-some that offers excellence in nutrition and flavor, Ham and Louisiana yams, is hard to beat.

Ham and Yams

To serve 4, combine 1 beaten egg, 1/2 tsp. each prepared mustard and capers and 1/4 tsp. pepper, mixing well. Place on broiler rack 1 precooked ham steak, about 1/2 in. thick. Top with 1 lb. can yams, drained, or 4 medium-sized yams, cooked, peeled and quartered, and the egg mixture. Broil 5-7 in. from heat source 8-10 min. or until thoroughly heated and lightly browned.

Good Choice

Maple-Yam Stuffed Ham Steak is a good choice when planning a meal that offers something new. To serve 4 combine 1/4 c. melted butter, 1/2 c. maple syrup and 1/4 c. finely chopped celery, mixing well.

Buy 2 precooked ham steaks about 1/4 in. thick and arrange 1 steak in a greased shallow baking dish.

Top with 2 medium-sized Louisiana yams cooked, peeled and quartered, or 1 lb. can yams, drained, and the remaining ham steak.

Pour maple syrup mixture over ham and yams. Bake at 350°F. 45 min., basting ham frequently during baking period.

With Yam Rolls

Barbecued Ham and Yam Rolls to serve 4 is another fine dish.

Melt 2 tsp. butter. Add 1/4 c. chopped onion and cook 5 min. Add 1/4 c. each, vinegar and water, 1/2 tsp. pepper and 1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce.

Cook over low heat stirring occasionally.

Arrange 1 lb. can yams, drained, on 4 slices boiled or cooked ham (about 1/2 lb.).

Roll up jelly roll fashion. Add to ketchup mixture. Cook, covered, over low heat for 15 min.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health,
HENRY A. HOLLE, M.D., Commissioner

AUSTIN—Now that school days are routine and winter is starting to push fall aside, there will probably be the usual increase in communicable diseases common to children.

Thousands of unnecessary cases of communicable diseases —and deaths—could be prevented every year in Texas, if all parents would only realize the danger of the common cold.

Colds, especially a child's cold, should never be neglected.
But how many times have you heard a parent mention that Junior or Susie "have the sniffles" but they "seemed"
well enough to go to school.

And what's more they will continue to go to school as long as they're able to walk, and only when they become seriously ill does the careless parent call the family physician.

But by that time a good many children in Junior or Susie's classroom have become exposed, thus setting up a chain of sickness and time lost from school.

And with the threat of the Asian flu hanging over the state, the common sense protection of keeping a child home when he or she is not feeling up to par makes more sense than ever.

A child who is sent to school feeling tired, perhaps because of inadequate meals, is handicapped. He not only lacks the aptitude for learning, but he is running the chance of falling prey to disease germs.

A youngster who is allowed to go to school suffering from a cold or the flu, runs the risk of serious complications. These troubles may develop into pneumonia, or if his resistance is low, signs of tuberculosis may appear.

However, when a slight illness is promptly and properly cared for, the child is usually well in a day or so.

The teacher can also be alert to notice if a child isn't feeling well. Of course, she is not expected to diagnose disease, nor is it her province to give health examinations, but she can recognize the common signs of pallor, a cold, and fever.

For his own protection and of other children in the class-be allowed to stay in school.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas

PROBATE LAWS
RECENTLY CHANGED

Easier handling of the estates of deceased persons, and at less cost, will result from laws recently passed by the Texas Legislature.

During its regular session in early 1957, the 55th Legislature enacted a number of amendments to the Texas Probate Code. The changes became effective on August 22nd.

Here are a few of the new provisions:

1. Some of the notices issued in probate proceedings may now be served by Certified Mail.
Formerly the law required service by Registered Mail, which is more expensive.

2. The amount of bond required of an executor or administrator has been reduced under some circumstances. The estate will thereby save on bond premiums. The old law required a bond to be double the value of all personal property in the estate, even if issued by a corporate bonding company.
Now a corporate bond need only match equally the value of the property.

3. Sometimes it is desired to use a bond signed by individuals rather than a bonding company. The old law required these individuals to own real property worth double the value of the estate. Personal property could not be considered.
The new law allows personal property to be used in qualifying as a bond signer. However, the two-for-one requirement is retained on this type of bonds.

4. The old law providing for compensation of the executor at not less than 2½% of the value of the estate has been eliminated. Now this compensation is left for the courts to fix on some reasonable basis—this will mean lower costs to many estates.

5. Where a husband or wife adjudged mentally incompetent, the other spouse now acquires full control of the entire community estate without any type of legal proceeding and without having to furnish a bond.

Story Tells Of
Turkey Comback
In Hill Country

Austin—Turkey hunters may be headed for good shooting in the near future on the Edwards Plateau. With the end of six years of drought and many years of unwise land use, wild turkeys at last are increasing their flocks, according to the November issue of TEX-AS GAME AND FISH, the official magazine of the Game and Fish Commission.

In "Something to Gobble About," by Jack Thomas and Houston Green, Biologists, the comeback of Texas' largest game bird is explained.

Until this year, there had been a steady downward trend of the turkey population on the Plateau since 1938. The heavy spring rains developed not only feed but also foliage the turkeys needed for protection from predators. Suitable weather during nesting season also contributed to the turkey increase.

Unwise cedar clearing, which destroyed one of the favored feeds of turkeys, has been curtailed to some extent by better public understanding of the harm being done to the turkey population.

In mid-July a report on percentage increase in turkey populations in the Plateau counties showed Bandera County leading with a 378.3 per cent increase. Kerr County had a 203.7 per cent increase; Edwards County, 84.9 per cent, and Medina County, 35.9 per cent.

COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT TEXAS A. & M. COLLEGE EXTENSION SERVICE

BY GEORGE G. REESE

Period of lower prices for poultry products put real emphasis on the study of production costs, for they must be kept at a minimum.

A poultry production cost study shows that about 2/3 of the total cost of production, other than labor, goes for feed, according to Ben Wormell, extension poultry husbandman. If the feed cost per dozen eggs is 20 cents, then a ten percent wastage of feed will increase this cost 2 cents per dozen. So, it is important that poultrymen take every possible step to keep feed wastage at a minimum.

There are several accepted rules that broilermen use for controlling feed wastage. But many of the rules for preventing feed wastage in broiler production have the same application in egg production and turkey raising.

First, handle the feed storage so as to prevent broken sacks, control rodents and provide shelter that protects the feed from damage due to excessive moisture.

Avoid spillage when taking feed through the house and pouring it into the trough and fill the feeders only to the point that will allow at least two inches between the top of the feed in the trough and the top of the edge of the feeder.

The lip on the top edge of the feeder should be about one inch wide and beat toward the center at an angle of at least 45 degrees. The height of the feed trough should be adjusted so the lip is about shoulder high to the average size birds in the flock. Provide enough feeder space so that at least half of the birds in the flock can eat at one time and distribute the feeders and waters evenly over the entire house. Keep the broilers and layers confined to the house. Feed wastage can also be controlled by maintaining a high rate of growth or lay for every bird in the flock. This requires good health for the flock, fresh, highly palatable feed adapted to its particular job and good management. The control of feed wastage is of everyday importance to every poultryman for it deals with the major cost of poultry and egg production.

Cotton producers of the nation will vote on December 10 to determine whether or not marketing quotas will be in effect on their 1958 crop. According to R. G. Shrauner, Chairman, Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. This will be the twelfth time that growers have registered their choice on this question.

Marketing quotas have been in effect for the last four crops. Last December, 92.4 percent of the farmers voting approved quotas for the 1957 crop.

Two-thirds of the voters must favor quotas, if they are to remain effective. The first referendum was held in 1938.

Under legislative provisions, the Secretary of Agriculture must proclaim a national marketing quota and a national allotment for upland cotton whenever he finds that the total supply exceeds the normal supply. The total supply of upland cotton for the 1957-58 marketing year is estimated at 23.6 million running bales and the normal supply, that needed for domestic uses, for exports and 30 percent carry-over, is estimated at 17.6 million bales, and quotas for the 1958 crop of upland cotton had to be proclaimed. Marketing quotas, point out Shrauner, operate through acreage allotments. A grower who exceeds the cotton acreage allotment for his farm, under a cotton marketing quota program will be subject to a marketing quota penalty of 50 percent of parity on the farm's excess production. Growers who do not exceed their cotton allotments may market free of penalty all of the 1958 cotton production from their farms.

Shrauner said growers could get detailed information on the referendum by visiting the ASC office.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

By HUBERT BERRY

Heavy fall rains have placed many farmers and ranchers in a position to evaluate range cover and its effect in preventing soil erosion. Whether it rains too much or too little, a good cover of grass is about the best conservation measure a rancher can have, according to your Soil Conservation District supervisors.

Sixty-one farmers and ranchers in the Goldthwaite work unit area have deferred 17,588 acres of rangeland this year. Many more acres have been properly used by stocking so as to allow grasses to improve in vigor. The drought served as an eye opener to many farmers and ranchers as the value of a good grass cover. Livestock numbers were reduced severely to bring about a more economical agriculture. Conservation of our natural resources, of which soil and water are most important, became a must if rural people were to survive the rising production costs.

The Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District would like to impress each cooperator of the importance of a good conservation program on his farm or ranch. Recent changes in climatic conditions and rising livestock prices have prompted many farmers and ranchers to feel that they must rebuild livestock numbers immediately. This would tend to stall grasses which need to make the tremendous climb back to high producing vigorous plants. Moisture, the key to plant growth, is present on most ranges and better range plants will make their way back if we will allow them to come in. Grass like money in the bank, cannot be taken out indefinitely being replenished periodically.

Deer Are Fat And Range Is Good This Season For Hunting

AUSTIN, Nov. — Conditions were ideal for the opening of the Texas deer season last Saturday, according to the Chief of Law Enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission. In reports from wardens throughout the state all say the deer are plentiful and fat.

"It has been many years since the range has been in the fine condition reported now," the Chief said.

"There also is a great deal of activity among the deer. The bucks already are beginning to run."

Prospects in the Hill county are especially promising, according to the reports. Grass is high on all ranches. There also is a good crop of acorns. The same is true of the East Texas and North East Texas area.

In the Trans-Pecos area conditions are better than usual, although rains there didn't come until after cool weather set in, slowing the growth. The Trans-Pecos season on mule deer runs from Nov. 20 through Nov. 27.

In South Texas, where bucks grow big, grass throughout the year has been in fair shape. As a result, wardens in that area report that shooting should be good. They do warn, however that rattlesnakes are more plentiful than bucks and every care should be used.

In far northeast Texas, Possum Kingdom area and the Panhandle the reports are all the same—good range and the deer are fat.

TEXAS EGG BOARD TO CHECK PACKAGE METHODS

The new Texas egg law which goes into effect late in February, 1958, will seek to check misleading advertising on cartons and containers.

A nine member board of directors was appointed by Governor Price Daniel to formulate and administer the rules and regulations of the Law. At the board's first meeting in Austin recently, one of the first concerns was to protect the consumer from confusing claims on egg cartons in the market place.

Under the law, all egg cartons must be plainly labeled as to grade of the egg, or the word "ungraded" must be clearly visible. In addition, no misleading claims such as "fresh" or similar wording can be printed on cartons containing eggs below the Grade A. The board contends that certain types of descriptive advertising on the carton can make the customer think the eggs are something more than they actually are.

The board members do not intend to hamstring commerce by unfair prohibitive measures, but the consensus of the nine men was that a line should be drawn between harmless descriptive phrases and outright misleading wordage on the package.

The result was that a resolution was passed which gives the board the right to approve or disapprove cartons in which eggs are sold. This measure is aimed at protecting the consumer and the producer. The buyer will not be distracted by fancy claims on the package and the producer will be protected from unfair competition.

Egg packers and carton manufacturers are invited to submit their packages to the board for approval if they feel some inspection may be necessary.

Cartons should be sent to: Texas Department of Agriculture, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas. The board will meet once a month to consider current business matters and approve or disapprove carton designs.

Members of the board are: Tom Booth, San Antonio; F. F.

Seiber, Burton; Dewey Stringer, Houston; D. W. Reneau, Seguin; George Belk, Jr., Robstown; T. D. Craddock, Hamilton; Frank Ehrle, Childress; Marvin Gilbreath, Weimar, and Jim W. Whitaker of Paris.

Only Ten Percent Of Vehicles Have Been Inspected

With only one-tenth of the motor vehicles in Texas inspected for the year 1958, automobile and truck owners were urged today to obtain their new inspection stickers before the holiday season.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr. director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, called upon motorists to obtain their 1958 inspection stickers as soon as possible in order to alleviate the last minute rush on the 4,200 inspection stations in Texas.

Garrison said only about 450,000 of the four million registered vehicles in the state have been inspected and approved.

"While this number exceeds that for the same period last year," he said, "the present rate of inspection will not prevent inspection stations from being rushed again during the last few weeks of the inspection period ending April 15, 1958. Vehicles owners who complete their inspections before the holiday period will avoid the inconvenience of waiting at the inspection stations.

The state police director also said that early inspections will be of benefit to motorists who plan trips during the Thanksgiving to New Year's period by eliminating mechanical defects.

Clementine Wilmeth Briley Writes From Temporary Home In El Paso

By CLEMENTINE WILMETH BRILEY

A letter last week from Mrs. Edna Dwyer of Ebony said, "It has been raining here for a week and everything is looking wonderful. It seems that we might be going to have another 1919 year." She said she was expecting for the weekend her children, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Cawyer, of Victoria and her grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Everett and Shelley of Abilene. She would return with the Cawyers to spend the winter in Victoria.

Mrs. Grace Bateman of Fort Worth wrote, "This wonderful rainy season has certainly made the world beautiful. And our heavy frost Oct. 28 has turned the trees the most gorgeous colors." How I would love to see the autumn woods again. That is something we don't have here at El Paso.

A letter from Mrs. Phillip A. Shaw of Brownwood today said with the exception of Friday and Saturday, it had rained there for two weeks—a glow drizzle. She is looking forward to a pretty yard next year. She enclosed a clipping to bring me up to date on moisture penetration for Brown and Mills Counties. It said where there was sufficient cover on ranges, checks reveal that moisture penetration has reached a depth of 4 to 5 feet or deeper—seems to assure a good bottom season for next year. On the other hand where cover is scarce or absent, penetration is less than six inches. I know some hard, bare places on our farm where rain runs off like water on a duck's back.

I was shocked to read in the Eagle of the death of Mrs. Frank Overstreet (Bonnie Prizelle) of El Paso. When I first came to El Paso she brought Mrs. Mamie Baxter Polk (of the Baxter Schoolhouse of Coleman County) and Mrs. Ross (Corinne Owen who lived in Goldthwaite long ago) to see me. Last spring just before we left for home, Mrs. Mordant Grady was giving us a Brown-Mills county party. I called and asked her to come. She was sick then, but she said she was coming if she had to come in an ambulance. Mrs. Grady's mother became very ill and she had to call off the party. So I didn't get to see Bonnie. I did not dream that her illness was of such a serious nature.

When I came to El Paso in 1954, the Texas Woman's Press Association held its State Convention here Nov. 7. It was then that I met Mrs. Fern Pierce of Victoria. She was secretary of the convention. For the past two years she has been state president. She has met with us here in our district meetings more than once. I was really surprised when I read the following in the Brownwood Bulletin last week: "A former resident of Locker presided at the 65th convention of Texas Woman's Press Association held recently at Lubbock. Mrs. Fern Shaw Pierce, who is president, moved from Locker to Victoria with her husband to publish a newspaper there."

Sometime ago Ruth said O. R. had Christmas week off and since neither Marilyn nor Carol Jean could come home for Christmas, they were thinking of spending it with us in El Paso. We thought it would be wonderful and were looking forward to it with great anticipation.

Then here comes a letter saying, "O. R. is finishing our attic. He has an electric saw borrowed and goes at it like fighting fire every evening when he gets in. He wants to take his other vacation week soon and work on the attic. So don't look for us Christmas."

Then the next letter said she had bought him an electric saw for his Christmas present. He was taking that extra vacation week right then. And he enjoyed working on the attic so much she could hardly get him to bed at night.

Children's Reaction To Reality Of Death

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.
 WE heard two young boys' reaction: "Dear God, we are shouting. The dog has a woodchuck tree." The mother and grandpa heard the account of the boy and the prayer in a quiet, respectful manner and the boys complimented with "a fine job to do."
 Often when a child's pet is killed, the kind discerning parents and reverently help in his loss and prove to the child they are in his sadness at the loss. Practices have always struck as very wholesome. A child who has so treated the remains of a pet or of a creature of the house could hardly get pleasure from torturing any creature just to see it die.
A Reality Faced
 Besides, when young children tenderly lay away a dead pet, they have sorbed some of the shock which might come to them from the death of a loved person. They have faced a stern reality.
 In contrast, how unwholesome must be the effect on young children when they see lives snuffed out in a jiffy on the TV screen amid excitement that makes the killer a great hero and the lives of the victims seem cheap.
 Why must our children, beginning in their very early years, be exposed for hours, day after day, to such violence and disregard of the preciousness of life?
 The little fellow reported: "We buried it. We put a big stone over it so nothing could dig it up. Dave made a cross. We put it on the grave and we said a prayer over it. Dave made up the prayer."
Prayer Recited
 With some prompting by Dave, the younger boy repeated the prayer in a kind of awesome reverence.

"All Too Common Errors" By Taxpayers On Returns

Also, we find taxpayers forgetting that some of the money received when they cash E bonds is interest income, if the bond has reached interest-bearing life.

Dependency errors, especially those involving working wives, are "all-too-common" on 1957 returns. According to IRS, some working wives earning less than $600 file separate returns to get a refund on their withholding tax. This separate filing actually costs the couple money, because the husband cannot claim the wife's exemption.

"These couples," Mr. Creatham, said, "should file joint returns, and when joint returns are filed both parties must sign the joint return."

With the ever-growing popularity of water sports in Texas, lake-shore property is selling fast. Already many Texas lakes have been completely "sold out" . . . that is insofar as desirable lake frontage is concerned.

Most folks, seeking to spend their leisure time near water, want to see the water from their cabins. Sometimes that is not easy to arrange. Most land development is secondary frontage, near the water, but perhaps some distance away from the shoreline.

Many Texans have solved this problem by building their cabins right on the water. That's right. On floating rafts, supported either by steel drums or pontoons. And these cabins are complete in every detail.

How To Build One

Just how are these floating homes built?

Most are constructed with steel "runners" under the deck. Average size of the deck is 26 feet long by 20 feet wide. Runners are spaced so that drums may be placed end to end the length of the boat.

After the steel underpinning is welded into a single unit, the 2"x6" decking is secured by large screws through the steel frame.

Once the deck is completed, the rest of the houseboat is constructed in the same manner as a cabin would be built on land. Here the houseboat can give free rein to his own ideas about comfort. Some simply use 2"x4" studs and weatherproof wallboard, with a shed-type roof of corrugated aluminum. Others build the cabin as sturdily as any seen on shore.

Interiors remind you of house trailers, with every inch of space utilized. Nearly all have a refrigerator, cook stove, either electric or bottled gas, sink with running water, and rest room.

I think the primary reason that houseboating appeals to so many lovers of water is the sliding-cost scale. From a raft with canvas awning and a few chairs, to luxurious factory-built combination houseboat-house trailer, a houseboat can cost just about as much as you want to spend.

Conventional houseboat, those in the 26-foot class, with cabin, range in price from under $1,000 to over $5,000. I have seen houseboats entirely made by a "do-it-yourselfer" and these boats are comfortable and sturdy.

Empty oil drums are used to buoy most houseboats. However, steel pontoons are becoming more popular because they give steadier support and increase running speed. Drums cost from $2 to $3 each, and the average houseboat will need at least 24 to float. Your local welding shop can turn out pontoons from sheet steel.

Here in Central Texas the concentration of houseboaters belongs to Lake Travis. It is one of the Highland Lakes chain formed on the Colorado River as the river meanders through this part of the State. Travis, with hundreds of miles of shoreline, snakes for 65 miles and gives the houseboater the opportunity to take overnight cruises without having to navigate strange waters.

These houseboats range from open deck rafts to at least one that features two rooms and bath. This houseboat was built by a veteran houseboater from Round Rock, Ed Walsh.

Ed bought an Austin Transit Company bus body as the start of this comfortable home. A Taylor man, Bob Sims, used a school bus body to make the cabin of his houseboat. Both these boats are sleek looking craft with such features as combination sofa beds, running water, electric ranges, refrigerators, ample storage space, and sundecks built above the cabin roof.

Houseboaters are a gregarious lot, preferring community-type living to isolated moorings "away from it all." They gather, usually groups of four to six, at some spot on the lake that is convenient to their land-based homes. The spot they pick usually is a fishing camp. Here electricity is available and usually there is someone to keep an eye on the boats. The camp owner, glad to have the additional traffic that houseboaters bring, charges from $5 to $10 per month for the privilege of dock space and electricity.

Lakes and rivers in Texas were on flood rampages last spring. Lake Travis, used as a flood control lake, rose to unexpected heights. Houseboaters were glad to have someone on hand to advise when their boats needed moving up or down. Four steel cables tied onto trees or posts on shore, served as mooring for the floating cabin. As the lake rose and fell the cables were shortened or lengthened to hold the boat close to shore.

This entailed some work. But after Travis returned to normal, houseboats had ridden out the trouble without mishap. Not so with many cabins and homes that were flooded.

Two other veteran houseboaters, Ott Miller and Dr. Aubrey House, both of Taylor, enjoy owning and maintaining their crafts. Miller has added six feet of deck space to his boat and finished the inside of the cabin with plywood.

Both men bought houseboats built on Lake Travis and then added the refinements that make living easier. Now on pontoons, these boats originally used drums. The drums have been pressed into service for making gangplanks and diving rafts.

Each month the ladies who have birthdays during the Fish in the comfort of a heated cabin (some have fishing holes cut in the floor); take a slow cruise to visit another houseboat community on the lake; or just lazy the day away in the company of good friends. What's your pleasure? If you want to be near water, check the advantages of owning a houseboat. I think you'll enjoy being master of your own luxury liner.

AUSTIN, Tex.—Texas' law-makers are striving hard to forge a new tool for dealing with police powers, insofar as school segregation-integration problems are concerned.

Proposed is a "last-resort" law to be used, presumably, in situations where threat of federally-enforced integration is met by strong local opposition. It would allow the school board to shut down the school until "the earliest possible time when peace and order can be maintained without the use or occupation by military forces."

Gov. Price Daniel's call also asked that the law provide (1) that state aid, accreditation, salaries, etc., not be affected by the closing, (2) that school boards may transfer local pupils and (3) that the attorney general be authorized to assist local school districts in contesting integration suits in federal court.

Through Legislative operating funds ran out over the week-end, both House and Senate decided against a "crash" program to enact the bill overnight. Strong opposition was not foreseen, however.

FISCAL HANGOVER—Law makers who return for the next regular session in January, 1959, face a "morning after" atmosphere with a $12,000 headache.

Last summer State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert predicted the state would end this two-year period with a $6,000,000 deficit. His latest estimate doubles that figure.

Calvert revised his figures after voters this month approved a constitutional amendment upping state pension payments.

Legislators already are skating on the edge of financial embarrassment in their day-to-day operation. Fund for their salaries, expenses, etc., was down to about $45,000 when the first session ended. With costs running about $11,000 a day, they were due to start drawing this week on the governor's deficiency fund, earmarked for "calamities."

But the real calamity, as many legislators see it comes, year after next when they will have to find a way to glue the "busted" budget together again. Most agree, gloomily, that it means new taxes.

NO "THRILL," BUT—Legislators' comments on the laws passed during the first special session ranged from "monstrosity" to a shoulder-shrugging "better than nothing."

But they did pass—all five that the governor asked.

Spokesman for the governor admitted he wasn't exactly "thrilled" with the watered-down water bill, but that he would accept it. In a public statement Governor Daniel commended the lawmakers for their accomplishments.

Briefly, the new laws do this:

1. Set up a water planning division to do research on Texas water resources and report to each regular session. No authority to draw up a statewide plan was conferred, and the appropriation was cut from a recommended $1,200,000 to $900,000. Water Board was given authority to negotiate for state water storage in federal reservoirs—with legislative approval.

2. Require registration of those who seek to influence legislation "by direct communication" and reporting of expenditures over $50.

Require registration of those who, for pay, represent others before state agencies.

4. Set up a commission to study Texas law enforcement and report to the next regular session.

5. Appropriate money for a building for the State Insurance Department.

WHAT NOW?—Senate rejection of the appointment of William A. Harrison as insurance commissioner put that department in a quandary.

Without an administrative head, the department cannot conduct even routine business; nor can it pay its employees. Members of the Insurance Board asked Atty. Gen. Will Wilson for guidance.

Under the Constitution the Senate has the authority to pass on all appointments made by the governor to constitutional offices. It does not, however, pass on the appointments of various state boards within their departments.

When the Insurance Department was re-organized last spring, the new law authorized the governor to appoint Insurance Board members and the board to appoint a commissioner. But it was specifically written into the law that the Senate would have confirmation power on the board's appointment of a commissioner.

Senate approved the governor's appointments to the board, but turned thumbs down on Harrison. A former assistant state auditor, Harrison had been serving in the $20,000-a-year post since early last summer.

Board members asked Wilson's opinion on (1) Does the Senate have the constitutional authority to pass on a board appointment and (2) if so, what'll we do until we can find a new commissioner?

"NO URGENCY"—Insurance Department is being beset by the Senate from another quarter as the investigation into a delayed report continues.

Senate committee questioned two department officials on why three months elapsed between receipt of an unfavorable report on Preferred Life of Dallas and department action on the matter.

Paul D. Connor, assistant commissioner, said he saw "no urgency" in the report since it did not involve insolvency, E. B. Kelley, chief examiner, said he didn't think there was "anything significant" about it.

Earlier, the man who made the examination said he had found evidence of illegal stock manipulation involving some $994,000.
