CATTLEMEN FULFILL VITAL ROLE IN STATE'S ECONOMIC WELFARE

In spite of the vast changes that Texas has undergone since the days of the trail drives, members of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association represent an industry that has changed as much or more than any other industry in America today, keeping pace with changing times and keeping faith with the state whose economy it supports vigorously.

When leaders of the industry meet in San Antonio this week (March 17-19) the eyes of Texas and the nation will be on their efforts to eliminate the historic "boom or bust" cycles in beef supplies. Efforts are being made annually to reduce the wild, wide swings known in the industry as the cattle cycle through sensible application of modern, sound business practices.

For well over 50 years, Texas has supplied the nation with 12 per cent of all beef produced in this country. In so doing, the industry has been the backbone of the state's economic welfare. So closely is the cattle industry tied to the state's economy that when a cow is stung by a horse fly, half the people in Texas yell "ouch!"

In the face of an expanding population, Texas cow men, through their giant 10,000-member Association, are making decisions today that will guarantee tomorrow's citizens with sufficient beef for their tables.

During the next 20 years, Texas' population is expected to rise to 12,000,000 people and the national figure may reach 200 million. The cattle industry must begin preparing today for this increased demand.

Unlike manufactured products where consumer goods can be accelerated or diminished according to demand, cattle production is a slower process and not so simply turned off and on. It takes a minimum of three years to breed, feed and bring a calf to market—and much longer for mature beef.

Texas cow men are reaffirming their vows in San Antonio this week to continue to supply the nation and Texas with the meat they like best, and to fulfill their economic responsibilities as one of the state's largest and most important industries. Income from agricultural industries, of which cattle production accounts for more than one-third, is only 20 per cent less than the petroleum industry income.

From longhorns and open ranges, the industry has progressed, incorporating the necessary changes in techniques, procedures and technology to guarantee a steadily improved supply of beef to the nation.

No Substitute For Printed Word

Man's appetite for news is enormous. We have to be deprived of it before we fully understand how we crave this form of mental nourishment.

A Reuter's dispatch tells of an ex-American soldier, captured in Korea, who chose to live in Red China with his Chinese wife. The one extravagance in which he indulges is a subscription to a news agency bulletin printed in English. It costs 15 yuan ($6.30) a month—one sixth of his income. He told a reporter: "... he felt he must get news somehow."

Too few persons appreciate a newspaper until it is hard to get. Most Americans take it for granted. The ex-soldier has a radio but he finds nothing takes the place of printed news.

An Old Story

U. S. News & World Report says: "Two simple facts give you a clue to what has been happening in American industry:

"Fact one is that output of goods in factories for each man-hour of work has risen only a trifle more than 1 per cent in the two years since 1955.

"Fact two is that hourly pay of factory workers has in that same period gone up a bit more than 10 per cent."

This trend could produce something new in this country—a depression accompanied by high and rising prices. This is the kind of inflation that has destroyed currencies and brought collapse to governments all through history.

To The Moon

Oswald West, a former governor of Oregon, has made this acid little observation: "If the Sputnik critics of our educational system will have a little patience, they will find that we will soon be turning out graduates who can pass a football to the moon—were some Russian there to receive it."

Inside WASHINGTON MARCH OF EVENTS

Plans to Renovize Capitol Launches Hot Controversy | Would Extend East Front Also Remodel West

By HENRY CATHCART Central Press Washington Writer

WASHINGTON—The nation's most famous building is now the center of the greatest controversy of its kind since President Truman built a balcony at the White House.

A bitter fight has erupted over plans to extend the front of the United States Capitol and how it will end is anyone's guess. In the center of the controversy is House Speaker Sam Rayburn, 76-year-old congressman from Texas who is recognized by loyal party followers everywhere as "Mr. Democrat."

The Capitol

Former President Truman had his way built his balcony, but will his close friends be equally as successful? The odds are against a man of tremendous prestige in Congress—if he holds fast. So far Rayburn has given no indication that he intends to back down but the opposition is mounting daily and growing more vociferous as it does.

TWO YEARS AGO CONGRESS authorized the architect of the Capitol, J. George Stewart, "provide for the extension, reconstruction and replacement of the central portion" of the Capitol.

In accordance with plans originally drawn up in 1905, Stewart is acting under the direction of a five-member Commission for the Extension of the Capitol, of which Rayburn is chairman. The other members are House Majority Leader Joseph Martin, Jr. (R), Massachusetts, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Senate Minority Leader William F. Knowland (R), California, and Stewart.

The plan is to extend the East Front of the Capitol, facing the plaza, 32½ feet, to bring the center steps in line with the House and Senate wings. Seventeen million dollars has been appropriated for the work and Rayburn said contracts will let as soon as architects have completed their drawings. The building's sandstone walls would also be refaced with marble.

The plans also call for remodeling the West Front facing the Mall to provide a badly-needed restaurant for members, but Rayburn has stated that this portion of the work will be postponed. Additional office space would also be provided in the overall $100 million dollar plan.

THE DRUMFIRE OF OPPOSITION is centered on the plan of the plan which provides for extension of the East Front. Rayburn said he hopes construction will be completed in time for the presidential inauguration.

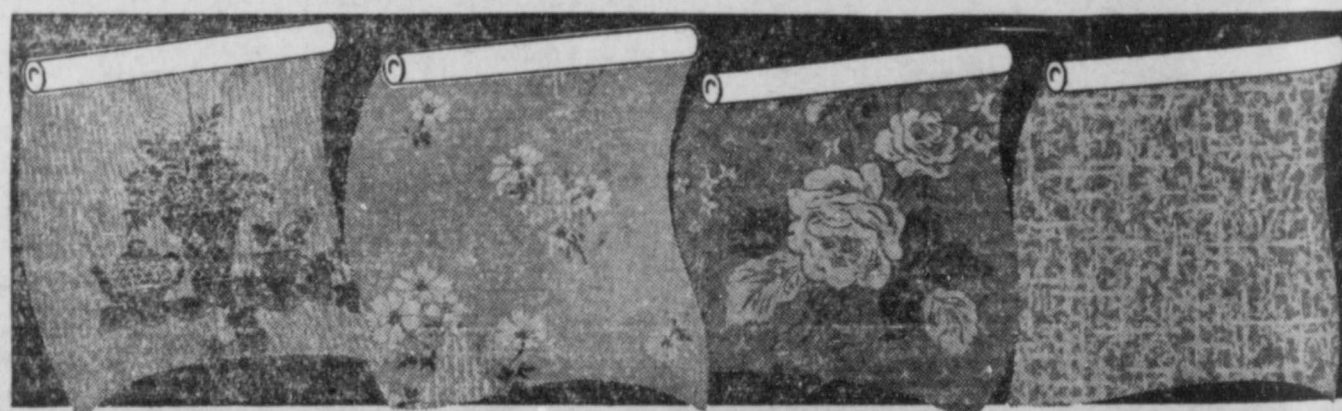

Opposition was sporadic in the past, but took a new lease on this year, so much so that the entire program is now apparently jeopardized.

Powerful support has been provided opponents of the plan by the latest from House Republican Leader Martin, former speaker of the House and a commission member, who now says he is against the extension.

Bills have been introduced in the House and Senate by members of both parties and committee hearings scheduled. One of the proposals to extend the East Front as "unnecessary and ill-conceived" Harsh words were uttered by Julian E. Berla, architect who heads the newly-formed Committee "Vanguard for the Preservation of the National Capitol. He is Herk Criticism

It should be marked with a new inscription, "Vanguard of the Society of Architectural Historians has unanimously voted to ask President Eisenhower to halt the project.

The President, of course, has nothing to do with it. "Mr. Rayburn who has been speaker longer than anyone else, will, more than anyone else, decide. So far he's standing pat.

Clementine Wilmeth Briley Writes From Temporary Home In El Paso

By CLEMENTINE WILMETH BRILEY

We've really had snow in El Paso this past week. Tuesday was a gray, dreary, cold, disagreeable day. At nightfall, it began to snow and continued till noon next day. Wednesday's paper said, "A snow that spread a thick blanket of white over the entire Southwest, measured 7.3 inches in El Paso today. It brought to 13.5 inches the total amount of snow this winter." In November we had 4.1 inches of snow, in January 2 inches, and there were traces at other times. This was a very wet snow. Farmers and cattlemen are jubilant, almost ready to believe the great drouth of the Southwest broken.

A letter from Miss Marsalete Summy of San Angelo this week said it seemed odd to hear people in San Angelo say that they wanted it to clear up, but they had had so much rain that had been the cry for a week or more. Miss Summy wrote me to send me clippings from the San Angelo Standard Times which said that the champion crossbred lamb at the San Angelo Fat Stock Show was exhibited by Annette Duncan of Mullin. Miss Summy said Annette started to school to her in the first grade, and was such a sweet child, and very capable. She is very proud to see her win the championship. Miss Summy, who taught first grade many years in the Mullin school, is now happy with third grade in the San Angelo schools.

This same clipping said last year's champion at the San Angelo Fat Stock Show was also shown by a Mullin girl, Peggy Pafford. Peggy went to school to me in the second and third grades at Mullin, and she was a star pupil. Her home is at Ridge.

A letter from Mrs. Stanley Reeves of Ebony this week enclosed clippings giving me the details of the 100 birthday celebration of Stanley's mother, Mrs. Sarah Ann Reeves, Jan. 19, and of her passing Feb. 11. Mrs. Mildred Crawford of San Antonio, daughter of the Stanley Reeves, came for her grandmother's funeral. Mrs. Stanley Reeves went home with her. In a few days she went on to Brownsville to visit her sisters, Mrs. Langford of Frederick, Oklahoma, and Mrs. Hawkins White of Brownsville. She took pneumonia next day and was in the hospital five days. When she got back to San Antonio, Daughter Mildred, who works in a doctor's office, put her through the clinic. The doctors found nothing radically wrong with her. She is now back home well and happy. She said, "Rain, rain, rain! It has rained almost continually since I got home. Can't get to town to get food. But I'm not complaining. I know after all this drouth, it takes a spell like this to get those hills and valleys soaked."

A letter from my sister, Mrs. Grace Bateman of Fort Worth, says they have had wonderful rains, and the frequent freezes have kept the fruit from blooming too soon. She has had gorgeous daffodils since January. I have a nice row of them blooming now too. Some El Paso garden club ladies are coming to judge them Monday, March 17. Our sister-in-law, (Sister Louise), Mrs. Jo Wilmeth of Fort Worth, had a birthday in February. On her birthday Sister Grace and some friends went to the Lake where she and her son, Col. James Wilmeth of Austin, were spending the weekend, and surprised her with some small birthday gifts. Grace said, "She was as happy as could be, and the youngest 86 years old I have ever seen. James was taking her to the Oberammergau Passion Play in Fort Worth that night."

Clergymen And Social Security

Clergymen can still elect social security coverage as self-employed persons under the old-age, survivors, and disability insurance provisions of the Social Security Act. The 1957 Amendments to the law gives those clergymen who did not file waiver certificates before April 15, 1957, an extended period of two years (in general, through April 15, 1959), to elect coverage.

Clergymen who file waiver certificates during the extended period will be mandatorily covered for 1956 and subsequent years for which they have net earnings from self-employment of $400 or more. In addition, any minister who filed a waiver before August 31, 1957, but who filed it too late to secure coverage for 1956, may elect coverage for 1956 by filing a supplemental waiver during the extended period. The waiver certificates can be obtained at your local social security office or from the Internal Revenue Service.

The amended law also provides that clergymen will now include as net earnings for social security purposes the rental value of a parsonage or rental allowance furnished them as part of their compensation, and the value of meals and lodging furnished them for the convenience of their employer. This provision is effective for taxable years ending on or after December 31, 1957.

The social security office which services Mills County is located at Suite 415, First National Bank Building, Temple, Texas.

Guarding Tomorrow's Freedom

How to maintain a lasting peace . . . how to preserve full employment . . . how to ward off recession . . . how to keep our high standard of living. Those are problems which continually face the Government of our country.

Tomorrow they may blaze into issues that must be solved by the factions and interests that make up our democracy. Each of these factions and interests will demand to be heard — and they will be heard.

The press of America will report and comment on what each and every party to an issue has to say. The public will know what is going on.

It is only thus that the best interests of America can be served over and above the interests of any one faction or any limited-interest group.

This vital function can be performed only by a press that is free to write and free to publish the story of national issues, unfettered by dictation from any source.

Today's freedoms can be secured and tomorrow's freedoms guarded only by a press that owes allegiance to no ogre of tyranny bent upon shaping our destiny to suit its own ends.

If the press of America is, in a real sense, to remain the guardian of our future, we must preserve the freedom it possesses today.

By John C. White, Commissioner

The Texas Egg Law has been in effect since February 17th, and already the Texas Department of Agriculture is being flooded with questions concerning its various points.

Greatest concern seems to be whether ungraded eggs can now be sold in the state. Yes! Ungraded eggs can still be sold, but they must be clearly marked "Ungraded" on the package or carton.

Just because eggs have not been graded, it does not mean that the eggs are of poor quality. On the contrary, a display of ungraded eggs may contain a mixture of all egg grades. However, the eggs must be of edible quality or they cannot be offered for sale.

Another point causing some confusion is the fact that certain descriptive terms cannot be printed on egg cartons or used in advertising.

Any eggs below the quality of Grade A must not be labeled as "fresh," "selected," "hennery," "new-laid," "infertile," "cage," or other words or similar import. These terms are confusing and sometimes mislead the consumer on eggs of lower quality. Unless some bans were placed on descriptive phrases for eggs under Grade A, then "fancy phrases" might be used to camouflage the true condition or quality of the product.

And, finally, retail egg sellers do not have to renew their license from the Texas Department of Agriculture each year. The retailer's license is good indefinitely until it is recalled, cancelled or revoked.

For other segments of the industry however, licenses run only from Sept. 1 through Aug. 31 of the following year. Those required to have a license include: Dealers, Wholesalers, Processors and Brokers.

Census Bureau To Obtain Facts On Consumer Income

Special questions on consumer income, migration and family characteristics will be asked in the U. S. Census Bureau's Current Population Survey in March, according to Supervisor Jas. W. Stroud of the Bureau's regional office at Dallas, Texas, which will participate in the survey. The special questions will be in addition to the regular employment and unemployment inquiries asked each month in the Current Population Survey.

The supervisor emphasized that all information about individuals furnished to the Census Bureau is held in absolute confidence under Federal law. It is used only to obtain summary figures such as totals, averages and percentages for various groups in the population and not to show information for particular families or individuals. The information cannot be furnished to any other Government agency and thus cannot be used for investigation, taxation or regulation.

The Current Population Survey will be conducted locally and in 329 other areas of the country during the week of March 17. Information will be collected locally by Nella F. Casbeer of Lampasas, Texas.

CHEVY'S NEW V8 LEVELS
THE HIGHEST, HARDEST
HIGHWAY OVER THE ANDES!

To prove the durability of Chevrolet's radical new Turbo-Thrust V8,* the tremendous flexibility of the new Turboglide transmission,* the incredible smoothness of Full Coil suspension, we tackled the most challenging transcontinental road in the world — the 1,000-mile General San Martin Highway. To make the test harder, officials of the Automobile Club of Argentina sealed the hood shut at Buenos Aires — no chance to add oil or water or adjust carburetors for high altitude.

So the run began — across the blazing Argentine pampas, thrusting boldly into the stone ramparts of the forbidding Andes. Up and up the road climbed, almost 2½ miles in the sky! Drivers gasped for oxygen at 12,572 feet — but the Turbo-Thrust V8 never slackened its jet-smooth torrent of power, the Full Coil springs smothered every bump, the Turboglide transmission made play of fantastic grades up to 30 percent. Then a spine-chilling plunge to the Pacific at Chile's great port of Valparaiso, a quick turn-around and back again. Time for the round trip: 41 hours 14 minutes — and the engine was never turned off! That's rugged proof-in-action of the great new advances you'll test for yourself the first time you drive a '58 Chevrolet. That's a real thrill — why not discover it this week? *Extra-cost option

You'll get the best buy on the best seller!

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

Adapted grass seed is an urgent need on many farms and ranches in the Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District.

This problem was discussed by the District Supervisors and Soil Conservation Service technicians at length during their last regular meeting. They were of the opinion that local farmers and ranchers should be encouraged to manage grasses for seed harvest. This might be a few acres of native range or grasses might be planted on cropland for this purpose.

Seed from introduced grasses are much more plentiful than seed from the native species. This is due largely to the ease of harvesting introduced grasses compared to natives. Farmers on the Plains and in the Rio Grande valley have found grass seed production to be their most profitable cash crop. This is in addition to all the soil conditioning and moisture conserving benefits of growing a perennial grass in a crop rotation.

that five or more blasts from a boat is a danger signal.

It's not only unsafe, but discourteous to anchor a boat in a navigation channel. Furthermore it's against the law if you block a navigation channel.

There is one circumstance when all rules can be broken. That's when it is necessary to do so to avoid a collision.

Every boat should be equipped with life preservers. If your boat has a 10-person capacity, then you must keep 10 life preservers, or bouyant cushions or vests in your boat at all times.

And here's a warning that's too often ignored. Don't carry more passengers than the boat's rated capacity. Overloading a boat is dangerous.

A rule, and courtesy, which many boaters overlook is that of slowing down when approaching another vessel, especially a smaller boat. Remember that it is your responsibility if you swamp another's boat.

Lights, bow and stern, are required on all boats navigating at night. Red and blue on the bow; white on the stern. Spotlights should be used sparingly. Slow moving fishing boats should carry lanterns. A blinking "Life-Saver" lantern, such as the one made by Empire, is ideal. It blinks a red warning to slow down traffic. Its strong beam warns of obstacles, thus making it worthy of a place on any size boat.

All boats are not required to carry fire extinguishers. But it is a wise boatman who sees to it that there is an extinguisher handy. He also takes along an old army blanket, for there's nothing better than a water-soaked blanket to smother a stubborn fire.

If your boat is a small one, 18-feet or less, a NO-SMOKING rule is in order. Especially is this true if yours is an outboard carrying several extra tanks of gasoline. One carelessly thrown match on such a boat could cause loss of life and property.

The above are but a few points for the boating enthusiast to consider. Later we'll discuss precautionary measures which one should take while the many other pleasures of hunting, or skiing, or enjoying outdoor life.

Meanwhile, anchors away — and an enjoyable and safe excursion for you this weekend.

Meanwhle, anchors away — and an enjoyable and safe excursion for you this weekend.

It is well to remember too, t Guard, and Coast Guard Auxiliary. Also all health organizations in Texas, the Department of Public Safety, and the Game and Fish Commission.

Leadership in the program has been assured by the Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas, which group proposed that the Governor call a statewide Conference on Boating and Firearms Safety, to be held in May or June. Additional help in furthering the safety program will come from the Boating Trades Association of Texas, the National Rifle Association, the Outboard Boating Association, and the A&M Extension Division. All are especially anxious to get youth groups interested so as to build intense local support in every community.

A planning committee for the proposed Spring conference met with the governor on March 10 and drafted a statewide educational campaign on boating and firearms safety.

Actually outdoor life is no more dangerous than indoor life. In fact, facts prove that there are more accidents in the homes than on the highways. It's true that not all accidents can be prevented. But many can. No one can learn too much about safety precautions, whether it be safety on the highway, in the shop, on the water, in the field, or in the home.

But it is well to be reminded of precautionary measures from time to time. And that's what we propose to do.

First let's look at "traffic" laws that are designed to make navigation safer. Actually they are much like our highway rules.

Let's suppose that two boats are approaching head-on. The keep-to-the-right rule applies. Exception: If you're too far to the left and it is impractical to change your course.

Let's presume that two boats are approaching an "intersection." In other words, they are approaching at right angles to each other. Again it is the boat on the right that has the right-of-way.

In motoring over the highways, big trucks usually give in to the smaller automobiles, if for no other reason than plain courtesy. Same is true of boating. Sailboats have prior rights over power boats; and all boats must exercise caution around canoes. The rule is simple—the larger boats are expected to respect the rights of the smaller ones.

Motorists signal by horn and by hand. Boaters do too. Only the horn is used more than the hand in boating.

However, boaters have one privilege not ordinarily granted to motorists. They can pass on either side without getting arrested. Two blasts mean you want to pass on the left, or the port side.

A signal is acknowledged by an identical blast. And it is the obligation of the boat that approaches from the rear to allow plenty of leeway.

It is well to remember too,

It is well to remember too,

It is well to remember too,

It is well to remember too,

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

Gov. Price Daniel, concerned over the mounting number of deaths by accidents, has taken steps which he hopes will save lives of many Texans.

That move was to name a Traffic Safety Director. He chose a native Texan, Brad Smith of Weslaco, for this all important job. Smith is a former newspaperman, past president of the Texas Press Association, and also has been active in radio and television reporting.

Governor Daniel soon discovered that although highway deaths in the state had reached a terrific total of 2,600 a year, there was another growing problem. Boating and firearms accidents and drownings from swimming and skiing now are claiming some 500 lives a year in this state. Three out of five are water fatalities; two out of five are due to firearms.

A steady increase in the number of such accidents has been due to more and more hunters in the fields; and more water in which to swim, boat, ski and fish. With the popularity of these outdoor sports on the rise, Governor Daniel feels the urgent need of an educational program on safety measures.

He has called on the newspapers, radio and television stations, to help in publicizing the need for caution, and to point out the dangers to watch for. He has asked that instructions be relayed throughout the state via such organizations as the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, 4-H Clubs and the FFA, the Red Cross, the Army, Air Force, Na-

NEW DATE FOR 4-H COVERED DISH SUPPER

The 4-H covered dish supper and "Share-the-Fun" contest will be held in the Youth Center in Goldthwaite Saturday night, March 22nd, at 8 p. m., instead of Friday night. Representatives from three of the four girls' 4-H Clubs met in my office last Saturday afternoon to reset the date because the Friday night date interfered with school activities.

We urge all 4-H Club members, their parents and friends to join us for this special event. We also urge all 4-H members to enter in the talent show, called the "Share-the-Fun" contest, either individually or as a group up to a total of nine members.

The winner from the senior division (those at least 13 by January 1) will be the Mills County entry in the district eliminations at Stephenville April 19.

DELEGATES TO ATTEND DISTRICT THDA MEETING

Mrs. Harvey Hale, Mrs. R. V. Geeslin and I are going to Cisco next Monday morning for the district meeting of the Texas Home Demonstration Association March 24 and 25.

This is the annual district meeting of the Home Demonstration Women's Organization. Delegates will attend workshops and general sessions as well. As council is paying the delegates' expenses they will be expected to bring back a report of the meeting and also be leaders in the THDA work back home.

This is one meeting where agents are only visitors. The tire program is handled by home demonstration club members.

HOME CANNING BULLETIN REVISED

I now have a supply of Home Canning Fruits and Vegetables which was revised by foods and nutrition specialists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in the latter part of 1957.

This bulletin discusses the methods which experience and research have proven to be most satisfactory and which yields a high quality, safe product.

Containers, packing methods, processing methods, standards for canned fruits and vegetables, storage of canned food and the approximate yields of canned foods from fresh supplies is given as well as special directions for each fruit and vegetable.

This bulletin could be much valuable help in the preservation of foods for your family's use. A supply is available in my office. Either come by or I shall be happy to make one.

Bulletin No. 175 Frozen Foods is also a good bulletin for reference in food preservation although by another method.

CHRIST
CAN CHANGE
THE WORLD

By KIRBY LYNN, Pastor,
Big Valley Baptist Church

PROOF POSITIVE!
Our approach to life today, is the most factual. We accept what has been tried and tested. In this factual world, we have developed some of the most astounding inventions, and we have geared his life to meet the challenges of this environment. Science is influencing his basic life. In this new machine, atomic age, we are often in the opinion we form of the man of the past. It is in the cases indicated that the people of our ancestry accepted superstitions and ideologies of their parents without question. This, while it can be applied to some, is far short of the total truth.

There is a passage in the New Testament that will substantiate my belief that man has always been prone to believe what he sees instead of what he hears. In the Gospel of John 20:24-29, there is the record of Thomas, often called doubting Thomas. He refused to believe that Jesus was alive after He had been crucified. Thomas, a man of fact, said, "If I can see the scars in His hands, feet, and side, only then will I believe." This was spoken by a man that had seen the greatness of Jesus, yet he had doubts of the ability of Christ.

Eight days later he saw the same Jesus and didn't go to touch or examine the wounds; he merely fell to his knees and said, "My Lord and My God."

It is often said that more books have been written about the Lord Jesus Christ than any other ten top subjects in our knowledge of history. Yet many say, "Show me proof of Him, and I will believe," but they never say show us proof of Caesar or his heirs. No one will question the fact that Plato, Aristotle, or Alexandria lived, yet they haven't seen them. As for Jesus, the Church, the books of History, and the testimonies of the multitudes that follow Him are proof, however, many persist in the cry, "Give me proof." Well then, the only further proof needed is the perfect record found in John 20:30-31—Jesus had done many miracles, but this record is given "so that ye might believe that Jesus the Christ is the Son of God, and that believing, ye might have life through His name."

COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT
TEXAS A. & M. COLLEGE EXTENSION SERVICE

BY GEORGE G. REESE

Mills County 4-H club boys and girls have recently finished their 1957 beef calf feeding demonstrations.

They have had wonderful success at the livestock shows this Fall and Spring.

We salute Jerry Duren, Eugene Duren and Alvin Glenn Tiemann for having champion steers at the shows.

Mills County club members exhibited a wonderful group of steers at the shows and each club feeder can be proud of a job well done.

Club members are in the process of selecting calves for this year's feeding demonstrations and it looks as if they have a real good group of calves started.

BROILER INDUSTRY

The broiler industry has been growing at a phenomenal rate.

A generation ago, commercial broilers were almost unknown and 10 years ago production totaled only $10 million birds, reports Marshall Miller, associate extension poultry marketing specialist.

But the 1957 production is estimated at 1,400 million birds and he adds that it will probably go even higher in 1958.

The per-capita consumption of broilers has jumped from about 43 pounds, ready-to-cook basis, in 1947, to more than 18 pounds.

There are several factors which have contributed to this tremendous growth, points out Miller.

First, he says, the industry has proved its ability to adapt its methods to the changing consumer demands and marketing conditions of recent years.

It has learned to provide the consumers with the products they want, at the times and places and in the forms they want them, and at prices they are willing to pay. The industry has also taken over much of the processing that used to be left up to the consumer.

The next thing pointed out by the specialist is that the broiler industry has increased the scale of production, processing, and distribution. In contrast with the small flocks common in former years, the 50,000 farms reporting sale of broilers in 1954 had average sales of 21,000 birds.

The industry has adopted much new technology and more research is underway in order that progress may continue, he says. In production, a 4:1 ratio of feed consumed to pounds of live weight produced was common not many years ago. Today, the average is only slightly above 2.5:1. Processing plants have made equally remarkable gains in efficiency.

With such a record, it is no wonder that the broiler industry often is viewed as an example of things to come in agriculture and in food marketing.

Cemetery Working At Pleasant Grove

Everyone interested is asked to come, bring tools to work with and help with this work, according to an announcement by O. Z. Berry.

"In asking for the job of County Judge, I set out these qualifications: I was born and reared in Mills County and graduated from Goldthwaite High School. I attended Howard Payne College in Brownwood and the University of Texas in Austin. I worked at various part time jobs to help pay expenses while I was in college. I received degrees in Business Administration and Law from the University of Texas.

"I have practiced law in and around Mills County, for around 15 years, except for 2 years in the Army during World War II. I have had experience with city, county, state and federal government.

"If the voters elect me to be County Judge, I will cooperate with the people, the schools, and all officials, in serving the people of Mills County. It is not my desire to undo the good that is being done in the county; I just want to help build a better Mills County for its citizens. I will strive to use common sense and fair dealings in all matters, and I will be available 24 hours a day to attend to the business of the office.

"I earnestly ask for your support."
Sincerely,
(s) Wm. G. (Bill) Yarbrough
