How the Deaf Can Hear.

The deaf can hear by means of their teeth! The audiphone, an instrument in-vented by a Western Yankee for alleviat-ing the misery of deamess, is simply a sheet of vulcanized rubber, about 1-22 of an inch in thickness, set firmly in a handle of th same material. In the upper rim of this sheet are pierced some holes through which passes a silken cord. This goe down on the inner side of the sheet, to the handle, through a slot in which it passes. By pulling this cord the sheet is bent over By pulling this cord the sheet is bent over at any angle which the fuser may desire. Each person has to ascertain for himself what kind of a curve of the rubber sheet will enable hin to hear best. Generally it is very slight—only about ten or twelve degrees—though apparently the deafer the nearen the greater the curve muct be degrees—though apparently the dealer the person the greater the curve must be. When used, the person holding it simply touches the upper edge of the fan, or au-diphone, against the teeth of the upper jaw. The voice of the speaker strikes upon this tense sheet of rubber, and com-municates to it vibrations which are in turn imparted to the teeth, and then pass to the auditory nerve. With this opera-tion the outer ear has nothing whatever to do, the delicate machinery through which sound passing from without makes an imsound passing from without makes an im-pression upon the auditory nerve is not used at all. The outer ear may be stop-ped up entirely, so far as it is possible to do it, and yet one hears distinctly the mo-ment the audiphone is applied to the teeth. The inventor is deaf himself. He happen-ed one day to hold a watch between his teeth, and noticed that he could distinctly hear its ticking, though when he held it to

The American young lady who be-lieved that she had got a bristle of her tooth-brush fixed in her throat got vorse and worse, though there was no bristle there, till she was persuaded by her doctor's ruse that he had extracted t, after which she recovered as rapidly. On the other hand there are very well attested cases, though none is quoted by this writer, in which mere fright, directed to the expected suffering of a diseased part, has caused a powerful but salutary revolution in the condition of the diseased organ. Dr. Carpenter--if we mistake not-in his "Mental Physiology," gives a case of the complete absorption of some very dangerous tumors in a very few hours under the influence of mere terror of the prospect of the surgical operation-it was before the lays of chloroform-which had been determined on to remove it. Here was a case where attention-and attention of no hopeful kind-produced the very opposite effect to that which, in the American young lady's case, attention of the despondent kind had produced---the very same effect, indeed, which a remission of attention, when accompanied by the hope of cure, had in that case produced.

THERE is talk of celebrating next year in Bavaria a centenary of which few parallels can be produced out of the history of the world. In 1180 the duchy of Bavaria was first conferred on the house of Wittelsbach. No other reigning house in Europe can produce an instance of similar uninterrupted rule.

"I put out, in April, '78, 32 acres of barley on John Hodgins' farm, of Centralia, and 25 acres of corn on W. Potter's farm, of the same place. I then leased 160 acres of land in Capioma township, for the term of five years, or rather for five crops. I came out on the land, it being then raw prairie, and broke out twenty acres. The man I leased the land of also broke twenty acres. This spring I leased ten acres to a nurseryman, for hedge, for $2.50 per acre. I put out twenty acres of corn and ten acres of spring wheat. I broke fifteen acres the last week of March and first week of April. I harrowed it over eight times and planted it to flax. I reaped an excellent crop, and the ground is well rotted. I am telling this for the benefit of others, as there are thousands of dollars lost every year through not planting the sod to flax. I then broke wenty-five acres more prairie, and finished on the 17th of May. I did all my work with one span of horses, that will miration for his valor, but not for his disweigh about 2,300 pounds. I did all the work myself, except that I hired a man cretion. for one day to harrow while I sowed wheat. Of course I put out a garden. A MAN named George Thompson, who was on his death-bed in a hospital at Lexington, Ky., recently confessed to a police detective a murder that he had committed in Tennessee, saying he did not wish to die with the crime on his conscience. He soon rallied, however, and there were hopes of his recovery, whereupon he de-clared that his confession must have been a freak of delirium, that he remembered nothing about it, and certainly he had never killed anybody. He soon became dangerously field again, reconfessed and soon died. A Few of the Advantages White Bronze Possesses over Stone Monuments and Headstones.

1st. Age will not impair their beanty. 2d. There being no deterioration in their value, you always have in the se your money's worth; while, with marble, o even granite, what you obtain at great expense, may, in a few years, become of little or no value, as defective headstones and monuments in every cemetery bear witness. Is it not then the part of wisdom to invest where you will always feel satisfied with your purchase, and also give the same satisfaction to coming generations? 3d The designs are far more elaborate and beautiful than can be made in stone at double the cost.

Purchasers of these monuments do not neod to send for a stone enter to chuse in the inscription, and costing from five to ten dollars extra-simply send for the inscription plate, giving the number of monument and tablet required which will come by express; then with the aid of the socket wrench (which comes with every monument) the old tablet can be taken off and replaced with the new, and not requiring the labor of five minutes; then return the old tablet to the manufacturers and receive credit for it.
8th. Our monuments being Double Fronts or Shafts, inscriptions con be put on the backs equally as well as on the fronts, and thus do for two or even four graves.
9th. The shaft Monuments have from four to eight Fublets. All are filled, when made, with inscriptions, motices, or emblems, which can be removed as desired without marring the beauty of the monument.

If Stone Monuments were as beautifully curved, as the White Bronze are moulded, they would cost double the price of many of our designs. The durability of the White Bronze Monuments enhance their value to that of stone beyond comparison. In fact they have all the virtues with-out the vices of all monuments of stone, and we now feel that we can truthfully and conscien-tionsly say without fear or favor, and back it by scientific facts, as well as historical data, that the White Bronze Monuments are the BEST IN THE WORLD.
