Football Season Opens Friday Night

Eagles Will Meet Hamilton On Local Field For Season Opener

The Goldthwaite High School Eagles will open their 1958 season tomorrow night when they play host to the Hamilton Bulldogs on Eagle Field, at 8:00 o'clock. This will be a non-conference game but will be a good workout for both teams. The Bulldogs are a AA team and will out-weigh the Eagles considerably.

Coach Max Blansit has been putting the Eagle squad through some intensive training the past few days and the light team gave a good account of themselves last Saturday night in the scrimmage with Coleman. Coach Blansit states that he is well pleased with the way the Eagles are shaping up.

Following is a starting lineup for both teams for Friday night's game.

Goldthwaite Schools Opened On Sept. 2; Faculty Is Complete

The schools of Goldthwaite opened with a complete faculty and a good enrollment on Tuesday morning of this week and remained all day for the issuance of books and running a complete schedule of the day.

High school classification is on the basis of the number of credits earned and not the length of time spent. In other words, a high school student with fewer than four credits is a freshman; from 5 through 8, sophomore; 9 through 12, a junior, while a senior is one who has 12 or more credits and can graduate.

Enrollment by grades the first day were approximately:

First Grade	35
Second Grade	38
Third Grade	43
Fourth Grade	41
Fifth Grade	48
Sixth Grade	43
Seventh Grade	46
Eighth Grade	36
Freshman Class	42
Sophomore Class	34
Junior Class	26
Senior Class	23

In previous issues of the Eagle, we listed the faculty but because of the resignation of James W. Bowman, Mrs. George McCrary was elected to the science teaching position for this school term, according to announcement by Supt. Jones. Mrs. McCrary is the wife of the pastor of the First Methodist Church here.

CONGRATULATIONS, EUGENE!

Our sincere congratulations go this week to Eugene Duren for the honor of having his picture with that of his black Angus steer on the front cover page of the Texas Agriculture Extension Service publication that has just been released.

Eugene is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Duren of Mullin. He is one of the many Mills County boys and girls who have worked for years in feeding and raising show stock.

County Agent George Reese under whose direction the 1958 winner was fed, has informed us that this is the third Mills County boy who has been featured with his show winning animal on the cover page of this publication during the past several years: "Formerly though," he says, "I always knew in advance when they were going to be featured, this time it was a complete surprise to me."

DR. AND MRS. JOHNSON

"Johnsons Find Big Spring Is Just The Right Spot," is the headline for a feature story about Dr. and Mrs. Robert Henry Johnson appearing in a recent issue of the Big Spring Herald.

The Johnsons recently moved to Big Spring to make their home. Dr. Johnson, (Robert Henry, as he is known to all his Goldthwaite friends of long standing) has established his dental practice in that city.

With the story the Johnsons are pictured with their son Robert Jr., as Robert Sr. prepares to barbecue some steaks for the family dinner.

Dr. Johnson is the son of Mr. and Bob Johnson of this city. The Bob Johnsons have spent considerable time in Big Spring during the past year helping with construction of a new office building for the Doctor to set up his practice in.

EARLY GOLDTHWAITE

In our July 31 issue I mentioned something about a Bob Downey who used to work on the Eagle staff as a compositor some 45 or 50 years ago. His son had been here and bought a paper to send to his father who is editing a paper at Smiley, Texas.

This week we received a copy of the Smiley Tabloid, Mr. Bob's paper at Smiley.

Under the heading of "Candid Comment" there appears the following note which is no doubt of interest to many in Goldthwaite and Mills County who remember, "Back When." It reads as follows:

"Flora Gatlin Bowles of Fort Worth, who has authored other historic tomes, now presents a History of Mills County, being sponsored by the County's Historical Society.

"The writer arrived in Goldthwaite, County Capitol, four days before we had attained our majority, and have many pleasant memories of our three years in the Free State of Mills — no grand citizenship ever came together.

"The town was still in formative period and its six saloons dominated its economy — the only wet spot between Temple and Ballinger. The moral element soon asserted themselves and eliminated these evils."

One Group of Residents Highly Privileged Persons | "Diplomatic Immunity" Excuses Many Offenses

By HENRY CATHCART Central Press Association Washington Writer

WASHINGTON—America is supposed to be a democratic nation in which all persons are equal, but there are in this country a group of persons who enjoy a very special status. They commit various offenses, run you over, do 90 miles an hour on main street and cheat Uncle Sam blind—all with impunity.

These special customers are members of the United Nations. New York and foreign diplomats station themselves in various cities throughout the United States. Just the other day government officials caught them with abusing their status and Uncle Sam out of his taxes by buying medicine tax-free at the U. N. and then selling it to ordinary citizens at handsome profits.

While back the head of the National Liquor Package Stores asked Congress to tighten claims that U. N. diplomats were buying liquor they are permitted to buy tax-free. The U. N. secretary-general is one of the special rights accorded U. N. diplomats, and he denied there was any liquor involved. Nevertheless, foreign diplomats in America get away with murder—figuratively, if not literally.

As the State department's former legal chief recently denied most visiting diplomats are "immune from the criminal and jurisdiction of the United States." They can't be "used, abused or punished."

DRIVING PRIVILEGES—Under this diplomatic immunity member of the Italian embassy recently drove his car right up the sidewalk to keep his young female passenger from being on when she got out of the car. Police came a-running, but they saw the car's license plates, they knew they might get well put their summons-blanks back in their pockets.

The Italian's license plates bore the letters "DPL"—the same five emblem of diplomatic immunity. Another time, a member of the British embassy was arrested three times in one day for speeding in the state of Virginia. "I mind," he blithely told pursuing cops, "I have diplomatic immunity. But the governor of Virginia filed strong protest. And when diplomat wasn't arrested, he was withdrawn within the week.

Here in Washington not long ago, a diplomat drove through a red light in a school area. The school complained, no charges were made. However, the foreign representative ordered to sell his car and use taxis.

One of the strangest cases of diplomatic immunity involved Chinese representative who left his wife in New York when he went to Paris on business. When he returned, he arrived with second and younger wife.

Wife No. 1 immediately tried to sue for divorce, but the diplomat said that he was immune to such a court action. Indeed, the Chinese representative and today he's the only man in the United States who admits he has two wives.

"OBEY LOCAL LAWS"—But the guide on etiquette which representatives receive instructs: "At all times, obey local laws. The State department has a room full of files containing complaints against foreign envoys. One of the most unusual involves a Brazilian diplomat who lost control of his car as it headed toward a group of children playing in the street. His car struck a crippled girl who wasn't able to scramble out of the way.

The Brazilian rushed the girl to the hospital, waived his diplomatic immunity and offered to shoulder full responsibility. However, as powers the child had lost earlier, and left her home than she'd been before the accident!

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length dress of crystal taffeta, made by the bride. The fitted bodice featured a pointed waist front, round yoke of Chantilly lace outlined in pearls, and long lace sleeves. The full pleated skirt was appliqued with lace outlined in seed pearls with a flared lace panel in front and a chapel length train.

Her finger tip veil of illusion was attached to a crown of lace and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of gradenias, white roses and white satin ribbon.

Her traditional something old was a handkerchief belonging to her grandmother; something new, a pearl necklace; something borrowed, a white pearl-

American Blue Cheese Works Magic In Salads

By ALICE DENHOFF
If you aim to be a topnotch salad-tosser, take a tip from the experts who find that crumbled American Blue Cheese is the magic ingredient. This subtly sharp, blue-veined cheese from our nation's dairymen makes any salad a treat and adds important nutritional elements.

Combine With Fruit
Combine it with fruit in a salad such as American Blue Cheese Avocado Orange Toss and serve it on a hot summer's day.

To serve 6, cut one large avocado in halves; peel and slice. Break a medium-sized head iceberg lettuce into small pieces. Combine avocado, lettuce and 2 medium-sized oranges that have been pared and sectioned; toss lightly. Chill.

Blend ¼ c. French dressing, ¼ c. crumbled American Blue Cheese (about 1½ oz.) and ½ tsp. basil. Pour over salad and mix lightly.

Prepare a bowl of Fruit Slaw as a special surprise for the family tonight.

To serve 6, combine lightly but thoroughly 4 c. shredded cabbage, 2 cored and thinly-sliced medium-sized apples, 2 c. honeydew or cantaloupe melon balls, ¼ c. sliced scallions (green onions), ¾ c. crumbled American Blue Cheese (about 4 oz.), 1 c. commercial sour cream and ¼ c. lemon juice.

Serve well chilled.

Excellent Combination
Cheese and grapes make an excellent combination for a really fine salad.

To serve 6, combine ¾ c. crumbled American Blue Cheese, 4 c. torn spinach, 5 c. torn lettuce, 1 c. sliced celery and 2 c. seedless grapes, tossing lightly.

Combine, beat or shake ¼ c. salad oil, ¼ c. vinegar, 2 tbsp. sugar, tsp. paprika, tsp. celery salt. Add to cheese mixture, tossing lightly but thoroughly.

Open Seasons 1958

MOURNING OR TURTLE DOVES AND WHITE-WINGED DOVES: The daily bag limit is ten (10), in the aggregate of either or both kinds, and any person may possess not more than twenty (20) in the aggregate of both mourning and white-winged doves, with not more than ten (10) white-winged doves in possession at any one time.

GAME SANCTUARY
Texas Game and Fish Commission

tions, approved by the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service, permits a possession limit of 20 birds after the first day. This does not mean, the director warns, that a hunter can go out and kill 20 birds in one day and get by with it.

The daily limit is still 10 birds. However, after the first day a hunter may have two days' possession, provided he doesn't have them on his person or in a manner to indicate they were all killed on the same day.

"The dove is a migratory bird and as such comes under final federal control," the chief says. "This year the possession limit has been modified, as well as the season lengthened. A good dove crop indicated early this year is responsible."

The chief also warned that new licenses must be obtained before hunting. These licenses are required for all hunters between the ages of 17 and 65 who hunt out of their own county. The new licenses are now available. New fishing license also are required.

Odd Fac.

A four-year-old boy in Memphis, Tenn., recently ate for the first time in his life, when an operation corrected an incomplete esophagus with which he was born and which had previously necessitated being fed through a tube inserted in his stomach.

It's time to wipe the lint off the old shotgun and sort out the hulls. Dove season open Sept. 1. This happens to be on Monday, which also is Labor Day.

This, of course, is the North Zone season. The South Zone area doesn't open until Oct. 1. Dove hunters get two breaks this year. Apparently there are more doves than we've had for a long time. And we can have 20 in possession after the first day. We also get a little extra time. So that you won't be confused, here is the setup:

NORTH ZONE: Sept. 1 to Oct. 20, inclusive.

SOUTH ZONE: Oct. 1 to Nov. 19, except in the Rio Grande Valley. The mourning dove season ends there Nov. 17.

This is brought about by permitting the shooting of mourning doves during the White winged season, which has been set for Sept. 14 and 16. Valley hunters may take 10 white-wings and 10 mourners for the two-day hunt.

Shooting hours in both the north and south zones will be from noon until sunset, except in the white-wing area where shooting will begin at 2 p. m. continuing until sunset.

This liberalization of the bag limit and extension of shooting time in mourners was authorized by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, since the dove is a migratory bird. The state could have continued a reduced season, but evidence of a wonderful crop with plenty of feed indicated there would be sufficient carryover after the season for next year's breeding.

It seems doves are everywhere this year. Drive along any road and you'll see them. On a country road where there is cover and feed stuff in the field, there are literally thousands of doves.

Success of the dove season, so far as shooting them is concerned, depends a great deal on weather conditions. One of the best methods of early shooting, of course, is around water holes. If a heavy rain comes during the final week before the season opens, and fills down shooting slightly until this water disappears.

If a strong norther or a sudden change in weather in the North Zone should come early in the season, some doves will move on south. This migration is not as great as we are sometimes led to believe. If you hunt upland birds you know that during December even, the mesquite thickets throughout North and West Texas have many big fine fat doves.

Those of us who live near the dividing line between the north and south zones will have a real break. We get to hunt Sept. 1 until Oct. 1, in the north zone. After that we have our choice for three weeks. Then we still have the south zones open until after deer season begins.

The white-winged season was in doubt for a while this year. Texas biologists, on two trips to Mexico, failed to find as many birds as they did last year. Apparently a drought in the wintering grounds of Mexico caused a heavier die-off than was expected.

If you've never hunted white-wings we'd certainly recommend your trying to work out a hunt just for the novelty of it. Thousands of persons flock to the Valley each year for these hunts. It is almost impossible to get sleeping accommodations during the white-winged season unless you make your reservations early. (Incidentally a list of hotels and motels can be had by writing the Valley Chamber of Commerce, Weslaco.)

While many shooters lease areas for the white-winged season, there are many good places on a per diem basis, and just as many for free. The Valley is cut up by a network of irrigation ditches, floodways and canal banks. Many of these are public property and shooting has been permitted without charge. There are also many other unfenced places lining orchards and fields where owners do not object to shooting.

White-wing shooting for Valley residents is a family affair. Mother, dad, and all the kids go out, taking picnic lunches and plenty of cold drinks. It's nothing unusual to see play cribs around, with mom and pop shooting doves and the youngsters picking them up.

Fortunately there are but a few accidents in this shooting. Practically all shots are fired at an elevation. Occasionally someone feels the sting of a distant shot, but generally the shooting has been pretty safe. That doesn't mean you shouldn't use every precaution.

It is also a good idea to check first where you are shooting. It never is a good idea to try to explain yourself out of poaching. There are plenty of game wardens and biologists working the Valley area during these hunts. They are always happy to answer your questions and tell you where you can hunt.

It is a great deal more difficult to find places for shooting mourning doves. Naturally those who live in rural areas find it much easier. Those of us who make our living in the cities sometimes have to drive 50 miles for an afternoon of shooting. It's worth it, however, for the fun and recreation we get.

Be sure to clear with the landowner before you get on his property. He may have had a cow killed last year by some careless shooter. Or someone may have left a gate open or knocked over some of his feed.

Keep in mind that wildlife is a crop. It belongs to you, but if the landowner doesn't take good care of it no one ever gets any benefit. For that reason a landowner is within his rights in charging nominal fees for going on his property. In fact, many landowners, particularly in the deer country, have learned that wildlife can be a crop just the same as a herd of cattle. Birds can be a crop, too. If all landowners treated them thusly, we'd have lots better shooting.

See you in the field come September 1.

NEWS from YOUR

COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT
TEXAS A. & M. COLLEGE EXTENSION SERVICE

BY GEORGE G. REESE

DEADLINE FOR FILING SOIL BANK REQUEST

Texas farmers have until September 26 to file a request with their County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee for a maximum rate for their farm under the 1959 conservation reserve prase of the Soil Bank program.

Then, after the maximum rate is determined, farmers have until October 17, 1958, to apply for a conservation reserve contract, according to I. H. Lloyd, who has charge of the Soil Bank program in the State ASC office. Lloyd and the State ASC Committee emphasize that under present legislation, there will be no acreage reserve program in 1959, and they urge farmers to become familiar with the conservation reserve program.

Fifteen meetings were held in Texas during the week of August 11-15 for the purpose of training county ASC personnel in handling the 1959 program. Since these meetings have been completed, county offices are ready to accept applications from farmers for establishing the maximum conservation reserve rates for their farms. Rates will average $12 per acre in Texas while in Mills County they will average $10.

Here are five points that are very important:

(1) The initial sign-up is to be made not later than September 26. There will be no Spring sign-up for an Acreage Reserve program as in the past.

(2) September 26, to request maximum payment rates by farmers from ASC, and October 17, for making application for contract to ASC by the farmer.

(3) Whole farms placed in the conservation reserve will receive 10 per cent more than the regular rate set for the farm.

(4) There is no acreage limitation—However the $5,000 limit per owner for all farms is applicable.

(5) Priority is given to land offered by the farmer at rates lower than the maximum rate set for his farm.

The emphasis on "whole farm" sign-ups, by the added 10 per cent incentive payment, is designed to speed-up national goals for adjustment. It will be particularly attractive to the following:

(1) To the part-time farmer who may already be in transition from farming to non-farm occupation.

(2) To the older farm family nearing retirement age who will find the Conservation Reserve a good way to gradually stop farming.

(3) To the farm family on the small unproductive, uneconomic unit who may have off-farm alternatives.

SEARS SWINE SHOW

The annual Mills County Sears Swine Show will be held on Saturday, September 13. The judging will be at the Show Barns and will start at 9:30 a. m. Mr. E. R. Lawrence, County Agri. Agent from Hamilton, will be the judge.

There will be five Duroc gilts at this show and they are owned by: Linda Cook, Karry Harper, Pete Miles Jr., Bebe Harper and Carroll Bunting. Jimmy Soules will have his male pig on exhibition, and if you are interested in real good swine, make it a point to be there, and encourage our youth.

PARENT PROBLEMS

Word Games Are Fun And Aid In Reading

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

FOR the child, five or six, any parent can provide a lot of fun helping him get ready to read. Here are a few suggestions:

On large pieces of heavy paper or cardboard, all the same size, print in large letters the names of several objects in the house—chair, table, door. Have one name to a card. Attach each card to its appropriate object.

Begin with only three or four. From time to time, point to each name and say it once.

Remove the Placards
By and by, you might remove two of the placards from the objects they identify and ask him which object each one names. Later you might do the same with three, four or more placards. Soon the child will want you to make more of these placards.

At this stage, don't spell the words for him. Just let him have the fun of learning the whole name of each word.

Later you might make three or more placards of action words like "sit," "stand," "walk," "jump," "hop," "run," "creep." Display each word as you act it out. Or have him sit, stand and so forth, and show him in each instance the card telling what he was doing.

Later, you might make a few placards, printing on each a direction as "sit on the chair," "walk to the door," "creep under the table."

Act Out the Words
Have him look carefully at each placard as you act out two or three such directions. Still later, show him two or more placards. Before long you would point to each name and action-word, saying it and then the whole phrase—"on the chair," "to the door," etc.

To Follow Lessons

This last-named activity might prove useful to the child after he has had some lessons at school in reading. This would help him to learn such short words as "on," "under," "to," and "with."

Usually these are hard to learn as separate words because they have little or no meaning when seen alone.

You could vary the suggested games in all sorts of ways after you get a pattern started.

Words Become Familiar
In consequence, your child will grow familiar with a few words which have meaning for him and get a little of the hang of reading.

After he gets familiar with a dozen or more words, he may be ready to have you help him name some of the letters of the alphabet.

All such fun with your child will prove the more useful if you have been reading over the years to him.

(My bulletin, "Home Helps in Early Steps in Reading," may be had by sending a self-addressed, U.S. stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.)

Pen-Raised Quail Still Available From State Farm

suitable for quail, the Assistant Secretary of the Game and Fish Commission has announced.

Interested persons are encouraged to make application by letter to the Austin office or to local game wardens.

Under the program which is designed for quail habitat improvement, land must be inspected by the local game warden. After inspection of a proposed release area, the warden will recommend a quail management program and the number of quail to be released.

When an application has been approved the quail are shipped to the applicant at 50 cents each, which is approximately one-half the cost of production and shipment, the assistant secretary said.

"With this year's good quail crop, applicants would most likely need habitat improvement to justify a release," he added.

Birds are about two months old when released, allowing for sufficient growth while remaining young enough to make adjustment in the new habitat. Plans call for releases to continue through October.

In 1957 the commission approved 414 applications, releasing 33,473 bobwhites. Approximately 20,000 have been released so far this year.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

he'll knock it completely out of the water. They seem to attack the worm differently. And here is where you must watch your reflexes.

First the bass gets interested in the worm. Sometimes he'll suck in just a little of the tail. You feel him on the line and you jerk to set the hook. The bass takes off in another direction. You were too impatient!

When that old black starts nibbling or sucking on that worm, just continue to work the worm slowly... perhaps just a little slower than before. You will feel him nibbling but don't get excited. Just let him keep at it. Sometimes he'll spit it out and go off and come back again. Finally, however, he'll suck the entire worm—or eel—into his mouth and head for the brush. That is the time to set the hook.

Since the fish is on the bottom, he'll know where to take off to. He'll run the obstacle course immediately. So—unless you can control him the next thing you know you'll be pulling back on the rod and the line will be tangled around a root at the bottom.

A plastic worm usually is made with two hooks, fastened with a piece of leader or monofilament. For that reason you have a double chance of holding your fish. With the eel, fished either with a spoon or a jig, you have only the one hook, so it must be hooked well.

The black eel, which comes four to the bottle, must be attached to either a spoon or jig. Most fishermen prefer the jig because it is much cheaper. You can make one very easily by of the favorite lures of catching big bass is the worm, or the jig and black eel.

In fact, the demand for these two lures has grown so heavy that many places are completely sold out. Some fishermen buy up every one they can find.

Others are going back to pork strips, which are almost as good if worked right.

In the first place they should, by all means, be fished from a boat. Certain waters pay off better than others, depending on the type of worm or jig you are using.

What emotion the bass feels, when he sees one of these things wiggling through the water, will never be known. One fact is for certain, however—the lure must be acting natural as the bass views it.

If you'll keep that in mind, and then control your reflexes you can catch some nice big bass.

For instance, it would be natural for a long worm to come crawling across a rocky point, or across some old logs or sliding off a lily pad. Worms don't crawl very fast, so your lure should travel very slowly, very evenly. It should quiver a little in the water, caused by the vibration of a light action rod.

A big old bass will hit a plug like he is mad at it. Sometimes

DENIES ARSON CONNECTION—Herman Kierdorf, 68, who ended a two-week police hunt by surrendering in Pontiac, Mich., to Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor (right), denies any knowledge of the mystery torch death of his nephew, Frank Kierdorf. He said he doubted that Frank, an arson Teamster business agent, was victim of a Flint, Mich., arson job, and insisted he had nothing to hide and was unworried.

We hear the sickness in the Brazos bottoms, and elsewhere west of us is abating a great deal. In Fort Bend, very fair crops will be made. The sugar cane is promising, and cotton has not suffered as much from drought as elsewhere.

A letter from a mercantile house in Lavaca says that there is no yellow fever there; and they think it too late to have any; but should there be any, the public will be advised. And in that event, the correspondent thinks there should be no danger to teamsters as the 5½ miles of railroad would dispense with the necessity of their going to town.

AUSTIN—Mr. James Baker

informs us that on Thursday night of the 19th inst., Indians came to the house of Mr. Keys, on the Colorado, in San Saba County, and stole a number of horses and subsequently they stole fourteen head of horses on Cherokee; and they have also stolen the horses of Mr. Mulky; others have been stolen lower down upon the Colorado river.

A party pursued the Indians north westward. They recovered the horses by jumping them over a bluff, upon the Colorado river; but could not overtake the Indians. They are very troublesome.

The Huntsville Item has hoisted a miserable seedy looking image, intended doubtless to represent a rooster; the thing looks as though it had been in a fight and got all its feathers pulled out, and was badly used up generally.

A new Post Office is to be established at Pleasanton, Atascosa County.

Questions And Answers About Social Security

Question: My husband is going to retire next year. I am past age 62 and wish to file for wife's benefits when my husband files for his benefits. I have never worked under social security and have never had a social security account of my own. Is it necessary that I have a social security number?

Answer: No. It is not necessary that you have a social security number of your own in order to file for wife's benefits on your husband's account.

Question: I have tried to obtain a birth certificate but have not been successful. Will this keep me from receiving my social security benefits?

Answer: No. Your social security office will need proof of your age, but it does not necessarily have to be in the form of a birth certificate. Other old documents which list your age or date of birth may be acceptable. These include the family Bible, insurance policies, poll tax receipts, school records, baptismal certificates, hospital records, military records, or some other type of record.

About two inches of rain fell here Saturday night.

Mrs. Chock Duncan and Nan spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Red Arrowood.

Quail Need Ample Cover For Winter

Austin—Texas' bumper crop of quail may not lead to good hunting in some areas unless sufficient winter cover has already been provided, reports the Director of Wildlife Restoration of the Game and Fish Commission.
If farmers and ranchers have not taken steps to supply the quail with some sort of permanent woody cover and food, they can expect to find fewer birds this winter than are in their areas now.

"The natural fall shifting will account for some of the movement," Al Springs, Commission Wildlife Biologist, said, "but the first freeze will cause quail to begin searching for new places with protection from predators and the weather."
Some brush pile cover added now might help keep quail, Springs added, but attention should have been given to this phase of quail management earlier for a good fall hunt.

Reports over the state still indicate this will be the best quail season in several years. The season is from December 1 through January 16, except in special regulatory areas. The law provides a bag limit of 12 a day and not more than 36 a week or in possession.
"Proper wildlife land management is the only presently known method of keeping quail in an area," the Director said.

LONE STAR Agriculture
Released by The Texas Department of Agriculture
By John C. White, Commissioner

TEXAS AGRICULTURE IN BRIEF—

Back In the Popcorn Business—Texas, while not one of the major producers of popcorn, anticipates one of the largest popcorn harvests in recent years. An estimated 6,800 acres of Texas corn are set for harvest, more than twice as much as the 2,840 acre 1947-1956 ten-year average. Total U. S. production estimated for this year 231,000 acres out of 248,000 acres planted.

Texas Farms changing Size—There are fewer farms in Texas, but, in keeping with Texas tradition, Texas farms are getting bigger, with larger farm operations taking over an increasingly bigger share of the state's total farm land.
The loss in number of farms is centered heavily in those between 50 and 99 acres in size. In 1920, farms of this size made up 27 per cent of the State's farm land, but by 1954 occupied less than 16 per cent. Whereas in 1920 farms of 260 acres and over occupied less than 12 per cent of all the state's farm land, by 1954 28 per cent of Texas farm land was occupied in farms of 260 acres and over.

Texas Set For 45-Million Lb. Pecan Crop—U. S. D. A. estimates in August of Texas pecan crop prospects set estimated production at 45,000,000 pounds—10 million pounds below last year's estimated 55 million pound crop. Still, Texas is picked as the top national pecan producer, 2 million estimated pounds above Georgia's estimated 43 million pound crop. Total U. S. pecan crop estimate this year is forecast at 179 million pounds, indicating that Texas will be responsible for approximately one-fourth of national production.

Broiler Grower's Goal — A Pound of Meat From A Pound of Food—Fifteen years ago it took about 4 1/4 pounds of feed to grow a pound of poultry. Today, poultry science has reduced that in broiler production to 2 1/4 pounds of feed for a pound of broiler, and laboratory feeding has dropped below the 1.2 pound mark necessary to obtain a pound of gain. With the constant pressure on the broiler industry through competition at every level, the industry's best hope still lies in research that will improve feed conversion, and the poultry scientists believe a pound for a pound may one day be a reality.

GOLDTHWAITE, TEXAS

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Texas—Texas' 56th Legislature, though not yet sworn in, already casts a long shadow over Statehouse activities.

Its membership was settled—or virtually settled—with the counting of the Democratic second primary votes. A few will have Republican opponents in November.

Of more interest now is how the 56th will lean on key issues. Political prophets already are taking pulse readings and pronounce it likely to be more liberal than its predecessor. But not predominately liberal. A big influx of newly-elected liberals from Houston is expected to be offset by Dallas conservatives, plus others from small towns.

Only next session's crucial issue—finance—everyone's crystal ball seems a bit cloudy. Next Legislature will have to grapple with a financial deficit which the Legislative Budget Board has predicted may call for as much as $140,000,000 in additional tax revenue.

Winning candidates, in both their speeches and newspaper announcements, were understandably skittish and unspecific in making specific proposals for dealing with this gigantic problem. Many came out flatly against a general sales tax or state income tax. Numerous suggestions were made to balance the budget through "economy in government, elimination of waste, duplication, etc."

Such statements are like the breeze off an iceberg to state departments, many of whom have said they'll be asking for more, not less money, next session.

When the showdown comes, decisions will be made largely by the same group who pushed the voting buttons in '57. All told, there'll be 49 new faces among the 181 lawmakers.

Replacing the three retiring senators, Otis Lock of Lufkin, Searcy Bracewell of Houston and Carlos Ashley of Llano will be Martin Dies Jr. of Lufkin, Robert W. Baker of Houston and Louis Crump of San Saba. House will have 46 freshmen, slightly less than the normal one-third turn-over of its 150 members. Changes result from the retirement of 33 representatives, defeat of 13 others.

MANGLED MATH—When the next speaker of the House of Representatives takes office in January, some confused arithmetic will be cleared up.

A speaker is elected at the start of each regular session by the 150 House members. Support, in the form of signed pledges, is lined up well in advance of the session's start.

This year, when the dust settled from the run-off primary, both contenders claimed victory. Rep. Waggoner Carr of Lubbock, present speaker, said he had 80 pledges. Rep. Joe Burkett of Kerrville claimed 77 pledges. In addition, Burkett said he knew of 15 House members who had made no pledges.

All the claims added to 172 representatives—22 more than the people elected.

BIG DAY DUE—San Antonio, site of the Alamo, may see another lousy scrap Tuesday (Sept. 9) when Texas Democrats of widely varying sentiments gather for state convention.

No one is making any ironclad predictions on what will happen, but pre-convention rumblings promise at least some of the usual fireworks.

A group of conservatives are working on ways to bounce the militantly liberal Mrs. Frankie Randolph from her post as national committeewoman. Having the chairman of the Democrats of Texas and leader of the opposition to state party leadership in the prestige-laden national committee post is hard to take.

But removing a national committee member offers difficulties, too. A state convention merely nominates the national committee members; actual election is by the national convention. Whether a state convention could undo the action of a national convention is not

Personal Paragraphs

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cook of Killeen spent Sunday with their niece, Mrs. Ancel Morgan, Mr. Morgan and family. The Morgans also entertained his sister, Mrs. Forest Ross and Mr. Ross of Fort Worth, last week.

Miss Sarita Howard and Richard Monroe of Dallas spent the holiday weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clem Howard and son, Butch.

Miss JoAnn Jones, who has been attending the summer semester at NTSC at Denton, is spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Jones and Eddie.

definitely known.

Another possible source of friction is the selection of the State Executive Committee Chairman, the post now held by Jim Lindsey of Texarkana. Abilene Oilman Ed Connally has been mentioned as a prospect.

Liberal delegates and supporters of Sen. Ralph Yarborough are expected to fight hammer and tongs against a Connally drive. Connally was a strong supporter of William Blakley in his Senate race against Yarborough and headed Gov. Price Daniel's precinct convention fight against the DOT.

TOO "GENERAL"?— Alumni of East Texas State College are asking help in untangling conflicts over a new program at the Commerce College.

At issue is the value of a "general studies" program instituted by ETSC President Dr. James Gee. Revised curriculum substitutes a course in "communications" for freshman English, "heritage" for American history, and so on. A professor who had taught some of the "general" courses called them a "hodgepodge," comparable to grade school work.

Dissatisfied exes meeting in Austin asked Sen. Charles Herring, Senate investigating committee chairman, to look into the situation. Herring said he would bring it up at the committee's next meeting, but urged the exes to talk first with the college's Board of Regents.

FACULTY RAISES ASKED— Salary raises for faculty members are the principal item in a $12,515,000 budget increase being sought by Texas' 18 state colleges and universities.

Texas Commission on Higher Education said the $4,000,000 being asked by college officials would allow for average raises of $600 per year per prof.

Altogether, the colleges' budget requests to the Commission total $68,721,975 for the 1960-61 biennium.

Commission's task is to screen these requests and make up a recommended budget to present to the Legislature.

SHORT SNORTS—State Board of Water Engineers has scheduled a hearing for Sept. 18 on the proposed Diablo Dam on the Rio Grande River. Gov. Price Daniel has proclaimed September and October as "American heritage months," a period in which people are to be encouraged to vote on an informed basis and contribute to the political parties of their choice.
