City and Legion Make Property Trade

New Building To Be Constructed By Legion On Newly Acquired Site

The City of Goldthwaite and Harry F. Edmondson Post American Legion entered into agreement at the council meeting last Wednesday night effecting a property trade which will clear the way for the Legion to build a new home.

A committee representing the Legion composed of Lee Roy Stacy, Howard Campbell and Lewis T. Hudson appeared before the council and presented a proposal for the property trade which included a trade on land and cash consideration for improvements. The proposal called for trading the Legion land composed of 1.56 acres in the center of city property west of Municipal park for a like amount of land on the southeast corner of Municipal park facing east on the Lampasas highway. It also included selling to the city certain buildings and improvements consisting of the Legion building, formerly known as the exhibit hall, and other improvements leased to the Mills County Commission Company, for a cash consideration of $5,500.

The council voted unanimously to accept the proposal subject to title approval and instructed city treasurer W. C. Barnett to proceed with the necessary details for transfer of the property. E. B. Gilliam Jr., was retained as legal counsel for the project. He had done some preliminary work on the matter.

NEW BUILDING

The Legion committee in turn announced plans for constructing a building on the new location. It is to be a stone and concrete building to be used by the Legion and also will be made available to other civic groups of the city and county.

According to the announcement the new building will be 36 ft. by 70 ft. in size and will have cloak room, two rest rooms, a room for kitchen, two store rooms and a stage. The new building will cost $6,671. This does not include equipping of kitchen. In other matters the council approved bills for the month and heard a report from City Utilities manager W. C. Barnett on the progress that is being made on two new bridges that are being constructed on Reynolds and Hutchings street. The new bridges will cost the city approximately $925 each, Barnett reported.

The council voted to transfer $5,000 from the Electric Department fund to the street fund and heard a report from Barnett on the annual convention of the Texas League of Municipalities which he attended in Houston.

The club will make arrangements for Santa to be here and take part in handing out treats for all children of Mills County and the surrounding trade area. Invitation is being extended to all children, of school age through the schools at Star, Mullin, Priddy and Goldthwaite. Pre-school age children will also be guests of the club and all are invited to be on hand to visit Santa and get their treats.

Club members will meet on Thursday night, preceding Santa Claus Day on Saturday, to sack the goodies consisting of candy, nuts and fruit. The sacking project will take place at the PCA office starting at 6:30 p. m. on Thursday, December 4.

Fisher To Join In Bennett Creek Tour And Address Lions Meeting

Congressman O. C. Fisher, along with other guests, will observe conservation work on the Bennett Creek watershed next Tuesday, November 18. In addition to the tour, Fisher will be the featured speaker at the regular Lions Club meeting Tuesday night. The meeting will be at McLean Cafe at 7 p. m.

The group making the tour will leave the Courthouse in Goldthwaite at 1:30 p. m. The first stop will be on the Caradan road near the upper reaches of the watershed. Here, the group will have the opportunity to acquaint themselves with the flood prevention program. From this stop they will tour the drainage area to a stop on Bennett Creek proper immediately south of Center City. Here a review of flood damage and past history on the creek will be given.

A third stop will likely be on the Willis Horton Hereford Ranch where grass is abundant and proper range use prevails. Here, the part good grass cover plays in a conservation program will be demonstrated.

This tour is sponsored jointly by the Brown-Mills Conservation District and the Mills County Water Control and Improvement District number 1. They urge all farmers, ranchers, and particularly businessmen to take part in this important tour. A lot of interest shown by local people will place the watershed in a much better position for Federal assistance on a complete soil and water conservation program.

SOLILOQUY

THE LADY FROM ENGLAND

"The American people are marvelous, very friendly, and although things are terribly different, I believe I could really learn to like it here if I could stay longer," said Mrs. Wm. Dix of Cheltenham, Gloucestershire, England when asked how she liked this country.

I met Mrs. Dix one day last week in the office of Mills County State Bank President Warren P. Duren where she was visiting while her daughter and son-in-law were transacting some business.

Mrs. Dix is visiting for a few weeks with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Perry and children at Mullin. Mr. Perry has just returned from Alaska where he has served with the armed forces during the past year. She arrived in the United States on September 29th, after a two week voyage, leaving England on Sept. 17. She will sail on the Queen Elizabeth on December 6, to return to England.

When Mr. Duren introduced us and told Mrs. Dix that I was the editor of the Goldthwaite paper, she immediately said: "I guess this is where I must be diplomatic." After we assured her that this was one place where we all just expressed ourselves freely she proved a most interesting subject for an interview.

When Mrs. Dix was asked what impressed her most in America, her first comment was: "The cars, everyone has cars." Then she continued: "Everything is so different, so vast, the space, houses, buildings and shops."

She related that they live in the country in England, or so they call it there, but after seeing what is called a small town and the country in the States she said: "It's certainly not like the country over here, and no one can explain to you just what I mean by that unless they had the opportunity to see England."

MILLS COUNTY HISTORY

The following FOREWORD appearing in the Mills County History was written by Ernest Jackson, native of Mills County, and long time resident of Austin.

"Mrs. Flora Gatlin Bowles has a greater genius for history than she realizes. Rare indeed is the historian who can tell what people did and describe the details of their daily lives and leave it to the reader to decide what kind of people they were, but that is what she has done in her HISTORY OF MILLS COUNTY.

"Another criterion of great history writing is the ability to so relate the stories of a people as to give connection or coherence—a sense of progress and evidence of growth. Mrs. Bowles has done this, giving us a delightfully frank and accurate picture of ourselves from the rugged and lusty pioneer days of the 70's and 80's on down to the modern, cultured, and economically diversified community of today. She has missed nothing. Frontier fighting, Indian fighting, the mob, county politics, frontier justice, panther fights, jaguar hunts, the search for Spanish treasure, church activities, cultural growth, economic growth—it's all there, and the stories carry names familiar to most Mills Countians.

"The pioneers, their sons and daughters, grandsons and granddaughters will delight to read this story. It will be rated by future historians as authentic source material covering the story of a great and sturdy people. Mrs. Bowles' book is a must for the bookshelves of every person who lives or has lived in Mills County."

Questions And Answers About Social Security

Question: My two children and I have been drawing the maximum amount of family benefits, $200. How much will we receive with the increase in benefits going into effect in 1959?

Answer: If the insured worker's average monthly wage was $315 or more, you will be entitled to $254. However, if his average monthly wage was less than $315, the new maximum will be less than the maximum of $254.

Question: Since there has been an increase in benefit amounts, has there also been an increase in the lump-sum death benefit?

Answer: Yes, it has been increased proportionately with the other benefits, but it still cannot be more than $255 or more than three times the amount the insured person's benefit would be at age 65.

All Indications Pointing To Full-Scale Recovery | New Automobile Contracts Are Biggest Shot in Arm

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Association Washington Writer

WASHINGTON—A comprehensive survey of the national economic picture shows that the country is in a period of full-scale recovery from the recession. All the "ifs," and "and's" and "buts" have been eliminated.

The prime factor is the union contract agreements signed with the major auto manufacturers, guaranteeing an uninterrupted output of new cars and trucks with a consequent shot in the arm for all related business and industry.

The settlement pattern, moreover, means that the industry will be able to keep labor under control without the kind of price increases that could dampen sales volume.

Spending for business expansion, which had dropped sharply, has now leveled off and the 1959 trend is upward. Reduction of inventories in plants and stores appears to have stopped, meaning a terrific boost in the economy.

New orders to manufacturers are rising, the steel production rate is up. Economists now forecast that the national production rate will have climbed to its pre-recession peak by the end of this year, and that the "gross national product"—representing the volume of all payments to business and individuals—will reach a new all-time high in the last three months of 1958.

● LAW ENFORCEMENT—FBI director J. Edgar Hoover, alarmed at the total of major crimes, has again spoken out on public responsibility in the field of law enforcement.

Hoover, writing in the October issue of the FBI law enforcement bulletin, reported that the number of major crimes in the United States has jumped more than 60 per cent in the last 10 years. "Too often," he declared, "the inhabitants of crime-ridden communities are solely to blame for their own plight. Vice and organized crime cannot survive without the consent of the citizen—either through tolerance of corrupt politics or indifference to the needs of strong local policing."

At the same time, Hoover warned all enforcement agencies that they must be constantly vigilant lest their zeal abridge the rights of individuals.

"American law enforcement itself must champion safeguards against tyranny," he said. He declared that the "monster" of a "national police force" can never exist in the U. S. as long as police authority operates within the safeguards of the Constitution.

The FBI chief has long sought to stimulate public awareness of the seriousness of crime in the U. S. His statement reflects increasing concern by law enforcement officers at all levels of government over the mounting crime wave.

● SEAWOLF RECORD SIGNIFICANT—The record of the atomic submarine Seawolf in remaining submerged for 60 days is being hailed as another indicator of a dawning new age in naval warfare. Admirals in the Pentagon stress that it was much, much more than a stunt. Much was learned about crew reactions to long-time isolation, which will be incorporated in future training programs for the Navy's atomic submarines.

When the Seawolf's accomplishment is coupled Big Weapons with the recent west to east passage of submarines under the North Polar icecap, it proves to naval strategists that the atomic sub is fast becoming the Navy's most versatile and formidable weapon.

The U. S. is far ahead of Russia in developing these submarines which can travel for months without refueling all over the earth's oceans. In the Pentagon view, the U. S. atomic submarine program is contributing mightily to America's arsenal of weapons when continues to be the main deterrent to a possible outbreak of major war.

Clementine Wilmeth Briley Writes Temporary Home In El Paso

By CLEMENTINE WILMETH BRILEY

(Nov. 7) is my birthday. I don't know how it isn't as important as the one I had when I was in El Paso. Then we were living in Collin County. Just across the creek I could see my mother Wilmeth's big two-story house. There was a birthday cake or something. I didn't get any birthday presents. But I was just so glad that I had to tell the

There has been a pretty birthday too. First I got a letter last night till midnight with two families of letters. Then in the mail box there was a pretty card from the bank with a general check enclosed. I was at town. John wasn't there so I had to ride the bus. A few days ago John had a writing pen for my birthday. I didn't think he remembered, but when I was ready to start to school he gave me the money to get it. And just as I got off to town, the bus rang. It was a Happy Birthday telegram. It said, "The best of everything to you, to always." Signed: Opal Wilmeth. It was from my niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Victoria. I am remembering with happiness. I was all so busy we couldn't have a family birthday party but Grace says we will have that Sunday. Election Day this week was very exciting. It was lots of fun to listen to the returns over the kitchen radio while we washed the dishes that night. Grace and Bill went to vote that evening late at a fire station nearby. Grace was thrilled that she got to vote for Bill Alcorn. She and Bill attended the wedding when he and Marlisha Shaw were married at Brownwood.

Also on Election Day I got a letter from Flora Gatlin Bowles of Fort Worth, editor of the history of Mills County, named "A No Man's Land Becomes A County." I also saw an account of it in the Eagle. I'm all happy and up in the air that it has come out, and I can hardly wait to see a copy.

Mrs. Bowles tells me that she reads the Ebony letters. She said she had a letter a few days ago from one of my former pupils at Lanes Chapel (my first school). It was Henry Forsythe. He lives in Minnesota and seems to be a retired wealthy man. His father was my trustee. Mrs. Bowles said he was one of Mills County's great pioneers. She also mentioned Lillian Martin. Lillian lived at Cold Springs. I had a horse and buggy. On Friday evening at the end of the month, I would go to her house and stay all night. Next morning we would go to Goldthwaite to draw our salaries. It took all day to get there and back.

Last night was a big night at the Western Auto Stores. They had all their Christmas toys out. Santa was there. There were balloons and candy for the kiddies and free coffee for the grown-ups. Johnny came back telling me that he knew what he wanted for Christmas. It is a little typewriter. He dearly loves to use mine.

Tonight was a big night at Cooley School. The P-T A was celebrating Father's night. Grace's chorus sang. Bill didn't get in till late. Grace had to go on. Johnny went with Bill. When they got there, the chorus had already sung, and the house was so crowded they had to stand. Johnny told his mamma that he didn't get any refreshments. The school nurse heard him, so she went somewhere and got him a doughnut, and so saved the day.

FALL DEFERMENT

The early fall rains which have been followed by mild, cloudy weather have given a tremendous boost to grass growth. This condition is ideal for fall deferment of native grasses.

If best results are to be obtained from this range improving practice, it should be started at once. By deferring grazing of native grass pastures now, food reserves in the grass roots will be restored, and an early vigorous growth can be expected during the next growing season. Research work indicates that a grass plant deferred from grazing produces approximately four times as many roots as a closely and often grazed one.

Another advantage of fall deferment this year is seed production. Many grasses failed to produce an abundant seed crop earlier due to the dry summer. These grasses are now producing a good seed crop. Deferment will allow the seed crop to mature and this in turn will speed up the natural reseeding of native pastures. Too, when grasses are grazed continuously during seed head production, livestock eat the seed stalks and the plants may not be able to produce early forage next spring.

The forage now being produced can be utilized during the winter months after the food reserve in the roots has been restored and the seed crop has matured and fallen to the ground. Good grass forage on the ground for winter use is the feed reserve needed for cutting overhead ranching costs.

GRAIN SORGHUM

Grain sorghum has taken a place of prominence in Texas agriculture. Annual grain sorghum production in Texas has been more than 100 million bushels five times since 1949 with a maximum production of 238 million bushels in 1957. The average monetary value of the crop in Texas has been 130 million dollars and it is the second crop in Texas in money value, being exceeded only by cotton.

Sorghum as a grain crop in the United States is exceeded in production only by wheat and corn. As a world food grain, sorghum ranks third behind rice and wheat.

The chief use for sorghum grain in the U. S. is feed for poultry, cattle, sheep and swine. The grain, which contains 12 per cent protein, 3 per cent fat and 70 per cent carbohydrates, compares favorably with corn as a feed grain. The starch from the grain can be used for food products, adhesives and sizing for paper and fabrics.

Sorghum is grown for grain on substantial acreage in about 135 Texas counties. Hybrid

Falling Leaves Can Be Of Value

College Station, (Spec.) — Leaves which are now falling and cluttering yards and gardens can give a boost to next year's flower or vegetable garden if properly handled, says Bill Bennett, extension soil chemist.

Burning the leaves may be easier but the extra time required to put them in a compost pile will return big dividends, explains Bennett. The compost can be used next year to increase soil organic matter or for mulching flowers, shrubs or vegetables.

Making a compost pile is a simple operation, points out the chemist. Scrap lumber or a few feet of net wire and four posts will take care of the enclosure. Then start with a six inch layer of leaves. For every four square feet of enclosure, dissolve a cup of commercial fertilizer, such as 8-8-8 or 6-2-6, in water and sprinkle the solution over the layer of leaves. In areas where soils are acid, Bennett suggests adding a cup of lime to the fertilizer.

Continue adding layers until the pile reaches the desired height. Leave the top layer somewhat saucer shaped as a water-holding aid and cover it with a shallow layer of soil. Decomposition of the leaves will be speeded up if the material is turned and water added at regular intervals.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Texas—It'd be hard to find a Texan who hasn't been involved in a lively discussion recently as to whether the next Legislature should or should not pass a state sales tax or income tax next year.

Most folks are pretty strongly pro or con—no lukewarm feelings.

Property taxes are another matter. People may gripe about them, but they don't often get stirred up about them.

But the latest report by the Texas State Tax Study Commission, "Our Property Taxes," underscores the importance of this levy. It is Texas' biggest money-maker for state and local government. In 1958 property taxes will bring in an estimated $629,000,000 to the state and all the various local taxing units.

More interesting, the Tax Commission's study of assessment and collection practices and problems indicates that this figure is probably only a fraction of what is legally due.

Shortage of personnel plus the mountainous difficulties of locating and evaluating all the items involved add up to inequalities and haphazard methods.

Under Texas law, individuals and businesses are supposed to pay property taxes on all real estate—land and buildings. In addition, both businesses and individuals are liable for taxes on all "tangible personal property"—cars, airplanes, boats, furniture, jewelry, business equipment, fixtures, inventories, etc. Also, on all "intangible personal property"—money, bonds, stocks, mortgages, etc.

In practice, many of these are just plain ignored by officials and citizens alike. Many cities make no effort to collect property taxes on cars. As to money, the Commission report observes, "If the money in the bank were taxed on January 1, relatively few persons or businesses would have any money on deposit that day."

In other areas where more vigorous efforts at collection are made, results are spotty. Researchers found that the same piece of property would net widely varying tax bills in different counties. On one example the range was from $616 in Harris County to $1,132 in Travis County.

They also found that some people claim homestead exemptions for more than one house. At $3,000 each, these add up to unknown thousands in untaxed value.

Exemptions plus low assessments take a big bite from the theoretically possible tax collections. In a study of 3,037 house sales, the Commission's research staff found the legal tax due to be $95,019. Actual taxes levied were $2,706, only 3 per cent of what strict application of the law would have produced.

Even though many tax offices are undermanned, Texas has 1,500 assessor-collectors. Sometimes a county, city and school district each will have an official doing the same job in the same area. Result: total cost of property tax administration in Texas exceeds $15,000,000 a year.

CITY RECOMMENDATIONS—Texas League of Municipalities has a series of recommendations—mostly in regard to money—for the next Legislature.

Topping the list was an appeal to the lawmakers to authorize cities to raise money through some new tax sources. League also asked for thorough study of inequities in the property tax laws and revision where needed. It suggested that payment of property taxes on motor vehicles be required before issuance of new license tags.

Cities also asked the Legislature to step out of the field of regulating pay, pensions, and hours of city employees. Local citizens have to pay the bill, said the League, and ought to have the say-so.

MORE LEEWAY ASKED—Law setting up the Texas Water Development Board is proving to be something of a strait-jacket.

This opinion was expressed to the Board by J. E. Sturrock of the Texas Water Conservation Association. "You're doing a good job, but your law needs to be liberalized," said Sturrock.

Center City Youths To Mark First Anniversary Dedication Of Christian Fellowship Center

By R. V. GEESLIN

Their counselor, Mrs. Sherwood Owens, encouraged them in their discussion and they determined to bring the matter before the church as a whole in the evening worship service.

Being a small church with a modern day circuit rider preacher, this was Church Sunday and most of the folks in the rural community turned out for "preachin'" whenever there was one.

On this particular Sunday night, most of the community was present when the young people put their project before the congregation. With all due respect to the members of this congregation, it must be said that most of the adults present thought the project was over the heads of the youths. But never underestimate these teenagers when they set their hearts and heads to do something.

With an almost "tongue-in-cheek" attitude, they were told that if they could get pledges for $3,000 to start the building, the church would back them all the way.

Armed only with faith, determination and enthusiasm, these youngsters, twelve strong at the time, began their quest for pledges.

Rev. John McKay, beloved pastor at the time, was so thrilled at the thought that these young people, both Methodist and Baptist, would take on such a project, he gave his salary from the Center City Methodist Church for the whole year as a starter.

In a few short weeks, there was enough money pledged to almost complete the building. On September 14, 1952, the Methodists dedicated a new sanctuary, small but adequate and quite lovely, so the building committee decided the new building would be erected to complement it.

Up to this point, things went along beautifully but as so often happens the plans got bogged down for a time with end-of-school activities and harvest to the extent that it looked very much like the project was doomed to failure but the young people determined otherwise. With their simple but magnificent faith, they built a spiritual fire under their project through daily prayer and in no time the building was completed.

On Sunday, November 10, 1957, with the help of Dr. Lowell Ryan, Kerrville District Superintendent, Rev. Jesse Long, pastor of the Star Circuit now, retired Rev. John McKay and his lovely wife, in whose memory the building was erected, and many guests, the beautiful structure was dedicated to the Service of God without whose help it would never have been possible.

In this first anniversary celebration, these young people prove once again that we have no need to be troubled for the future of this great and wonderful nation of ours.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health.
HENRY A. HOLLE, M.D., Commissioner

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," goes the old truism. This is especially true in health matters.

In most medical diseases there are warning signals, often recognizable by the untrained eye, which give ample time to consult your physician for treatment. And thus avoid spending costly time in a hospital.

The same applies to mental illness, with the difference being the inability of the untrained person to recognize the signs of an approaching mental disorder.

We are all blessed with varying amounts of the wisdom of hindsight, but a recently-published research project of the Division of Mental Health, Texas Department of Health, suggests ways to put this hindsight to work.

How many mental patients were previously known to local community health and welfare agencies? Have certain types of agencies been in touch with certain kinds of patients before they are admitted to the State Hospital? How many of their families have had these previous contacts?

These and related questions about 148 residents of Travis County admitted to the Austin State Hospital during a single year, were answered by the study.

The study concerned patients who were admitted for care for the first time. Dr. Wallace Mandell, research consultant directed the study, assisted by Isabel Cromack.

By checking the records of 11 agencies ranging from the City-County Hospital to the Salvation Army, they found that 46 per cent of the newly hospitalized patients had direct or indirect contact (through their families) with one or more of the agencies.

In addition several other facts were discovered opening new vistas of study in mental illness prevention. For instance, it was found that half of the 148 first admissions to the State Hospital had eight years of schooling or less. However, only one-fifth of all Travis County residents had eight years or less of formal schooling.

He is walking through woods covered by a heavy blanket of snow as Shandaken and other parts of the Catskill Mountains were hit by a storm. Some places registered 17 inches of snow.

4-H GIRLS' STANDING COMMITTEE IS ORGANIZED

As I met with the 4-H clubs I asked representatives from each school to meet in my office Saturday to organize a county-wide organization to plan county-wide activities.

Ann Truitt and Peggy Green came from the Mullin club and Sue Childress, Heien Head and Anita and Beverly Rhoads were there from the Goldthwaite club. Priddy did not have representatives present and Star has not organized for the year. Mrs. Truitt, Ann's mother, and Mrs. Green, Peggy's mother, attended the meeting also. The group elected Sue Childress chairman and Peggy Green one of the vice-chairmen. It is planned to have a vice-chairman from the other clubs that are not represented by the chairman. Ann Truitt was elected secretary-treasurer of the 4-H Girls' Standing Committee. The committee made plans for the covered dish supper which is to be held in the Youth Center in Goldthwaite Saturday, November 15, at 7:30 p. m., in observance of National 4-H Achievement Day. All 4-H club members, families and friends are asked to bring meat, vegetables, salad, dessert and join them together. County award medals and certificates of completion are to be presented to 4-H girls at this time. "How's about jumping in the old fillyer and joining?"

Studebaker's Lark Makes Debut

Studebaker's 1959 Lark two-door sedan is powered by a 169.6-cubic inch engine with improved combustion chamber design with a shorter stroke, plus a higher 8.3 to 1 compression ratio and new carburetion. The result: maximum economy of operation and reliability, combined with smooth, lively performance. All Studebaker engines for 1959 are designed to operate efficiently on regular gasoline. A redesigned ladder-type frame provides greater torsional and beam strength. This, coupled with stronger body construction, means greater structural rigidity. The new Lark thus rides more quietly — free from annoying squeaks and rattles. The 1959 Studebakers are now on display at Shelton Motor Company, Mills County Studebaker dealer.

Dressed Poultry To Bear U. S. Approval Stamp After January 1

Any plant which has not already applied for inspection services, should do so as quickly as possible, Marshall Miller, extension poultry marketing specialist, reminds Texas poultry processors. Though special arrangements have been set up to make the qualification process as fast as possible, some time is required to meet the necessary requirements. The processor must have blueprints of his plant and premises approved, his water supply certified and all labels and chemical compounds used on products okayed.

Copies of the regulations governing inspection and application forms may be obtained from the Poultry Division of the Agricultural Marketing Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., or the southwestern area office at 708 Jackson Street, Dallas 2, Texas.

CRISIS IN THE TEXAS POULTRY INDUSTRY

In these days of high production costs, you don't need a crystal ball to know that a grower who has to sell his poultry at 15c a pound isn't making any profit.

Neither is the buyer or processor who buys these birds and then must compete with lower priced poultry from other states on the dressed market. So the Texas poultry industry is faced with that old agricultural bug-a-boo—overproduction in the South, coupled with a decreased demand for poultry.

Just a few years ago, Texas growers were receiving as much as 34 to 36c a pound for live poultry. Our production capacity was not equal to our state and competition from other broiler growing areas was not a serious market factor.

More recently—and particularly in the past year—Georgia, Arkansas and Mississippi have increased their production by leaps and bounds. Our own has also increased but not to the same extent. The competition for out-of-state markets is now a deadly serious matter.

At one time, Texas poultry men could expect to receive 1 to 2 cents more for their birds on the market than farmers in Georgia and Arkansas. Our local markets were nearby and convenient. We could also ship dressed birds to California because we were closer, giving us the advantage of cheaper transportation costs.

But today, if our market price for poultry is even 1 cent higher for three or four days, we find that other broiler states will ship their birds to western markets at a lower competitive price—and even move into Texas and capture our local outlets.

Cutting back poultry production to raise the price in Texas is no solution if other states continue to place more and more baby chicks on the farm. The neighboring states will merely move into our market outlets to fill the vacuum.

The only thing we can hope for is more efficient poultry production in Texas—and a slightly better market price. Fortunately, the supply picture is subject to rapid change in the poultry industry. And prices are quick to rise when poultry becomes short.

But it becomes increasingly apparent that we must strive for lower production costs if Texas is to remain a major factor in the broiler business.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Taylor and boys of Hamilton visited her mother, Mrs. C. A. Simpson and other relatives here Sunday.

Quail Hunters To Be Plentiful This Season

Early reports have indicated there'll be a big crop of quail for the opening of the season Dec. 1. Now indications also point to a good crop of quail hunters, according to the assistant director of wildlife restoration of the Game and Fish Commission.

"We've had a lot of good food and cover this year, and a wonderful hatch of birds," he said. "Our men from every part of Texas tell us that conditions are excellent and birds are plentiful."

The quail season begins Dec. 1, and ends Jan. 16. The limit is 12 birds per day, or 36 in possession.

Applications are still coming in for the public hunts to be held on the Gene Howe Wildlife Management area in the Panhandle. These hunts are scheduled for Dec. 6, Dec. 20, Jan. 3, and Jan. 15. All applications must be in the Game Commission office in Austin by 8 a. m. Nov. 14. A drawing will be held.

The hunters will be paired, with 10 pairs of hunters each day, for a total of 80 hunters. Only persons over 17 will be given permits. The bag limit on this area is 10 birds per person.

Shooters are urged to bring their own dogs. There is a heavy growth of flowering weeds and dogs are needed to prevent loss of birds.
