Auto Licenses To Go On Sale Monday Morning

New license plates for 1959 will go on sale in all county courthouses February 2, State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer announced today. The plates will be the reverse of 1958's, and will have black letters and numerals on a white background.

Greer stated that four and one-half million motor vehicle registrations were bought by Texans in 1958. "Don't be at the end of that long line. Get your vehicle registered early," Greer urged. "The registration deadline is April 1, but we hope car and truck owners will put on the new plates as soon as possible."

Greer stressed the importance of registering all automobiles and trucks in the home county of the vehicle owner.

"Take your certificate of title and your last year's registration receipt to the tax collector in your home county. Penalty for improper registration of a vehicle can be as much as $200. Don't risk an illegal registration. Remember, too, that a portion of all registration fees stays in your home county to benefit your local community."

1958 Bond Sales In Mills County Went Over Goal

W. P. Duren, Chairman of the Mills County Savings Bonds committee, announced that 1958 sales in this county totaled $226,470 which equaled 106.3% of the 1958 goal. December sales were $14,902.

"December sales in Texas were 15% greater than December 1957. Total sales for the year were $171,851,685 or 98.2% of the year's goal. Sales in the nation last year were $4,689 million. While sales increased 4% last year, redemptions of matured and unmatured bonds decreased 11%," Duren continued.

"The U. S. Treasury Department is grateful to those who gave so much of their time and effort in promoting the sale of bonds. Bankers who sell bonds as a free service to both customers and nation, advertising media who donate advertising, volunteers who are active on the local committees and hundreds of others make this great thrift program possible," Chairman Duren concluded.

Survey Starts For New Electric Line To Goldthwaite

A crew of workers from the Lower Colorado River Authority at Austin, has started preliminary survey work that will lead to a new 90,000 volt electric line being erected into Goldthwaite, it was announced early this week by W. C. Barnett, Goldthwaite City Utilities manager.

The crew started contacting land owners between San Saba and Goldthwaite for permission to make the necessary survey for possible route for the new line to be constructed from San Saba to Goldthwaite, Barnett announced.

When this line is completed and put into service it will increase the electric capacity to the local sub-station, or delivery point, about 10 fold. It will provide more reliable service from the continuity standpoint to electric consumers served by Goldthwaite City Utilities. In addition to Goldthwaite it will also provide the same improved service to rural electric users through the REA supply.

According to the announcement plans call for continuous operation, covering survey for the route, purchase of right-of-way and construction of the line. Due to the complexity of operation it is anticipated that several months will be required to complete the project.

Barnett announced further that this program is a follow-through, or continuation, on original plans dating back to the time when the electric line from Lometa to Goldthwaite was transferred to the LCRA as part of an overall program to provide better electric service for Goldthwaite.

According to report this improvement project will be of untold benefit to Goldthwaite and rural electric consumers. It will place Goldthwaite on a loop system with a two-way feed in of electric current providing more capacity of supply.

Goldthwaite Telephone Exchange To Join Distance Dialing Network Feb. 1

The Goldthwaite telephone exchange will be joined to the operator distance dialing network on February 1, A. J. Lacy, West Texas Division manager for the Southwestern States Telephone Company has announced.

Under this system, the operator handling long distance calls for Goldthwaite subscribers, dials directly to the number requested, without the assistance of another operator. Telephone numbers in some 8,000 cities over the nation can be reached by the operator in this manner, greatly speeding calls.

Calls from these distant cities will reach Goldthwaite more rapidly, Lacy explained, since operators in the distant cities can dial directly to all Goldthwaite telephones.

After reaching Brownwood, long distance calls from Goldthwaite are routed over microwave radio channels to Abilene. There the call is fed automatically through cable facilities to Sweetwater, the terminal point for the distance dialing network in this area. Upon reaching the Sweetwater terminal of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, the call is automatically trunked to the called city.

"Joining the Goldthwaite exchange to the operator distance dialing network is the latest step in preparation for eventual direct distance dialing by number," Lacy said. "The subscriber himself will be able to dial directly to telephones all over the nation when direct distance dialing is placed in effect a few

SOLDIER OF THE WEEK—For the second time in a period of six months Ronald Heath has been named "SOLDIER OF THE WEEK," in his outfit in Uncle Sam's Army. This time the news comes from Canada where he is stationed.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Heath were so notified by letter from Peter H. Grant, Captain Inf. Commanding, Fort Churchill, Manitoba, Canada.

The captain said in part: "May I take this means to inform you that your son, SP4 Donald Heath, was selected as Soldier of the Week, for the week January 4 to January 10, 1959. Your son was selected from 300 Military personnel stationed at Fort Churchill, US Army First Arctic Test Center, with selection based on his Military duty and bearing, knowledge of Military subjects, and current events. The competition for this selection is very keen and you can be justly proud of your son's accomplishment. We are pleased to have your son as a member of our unit."

In August, 1958, Donald missed being selected Soldier Of The Month, by a mere one vote. Pretty good Soldier he is making, wouldn't you say?

HEART OF THE MATTER—An influential member of Congress proposed a study of ways to meet the Federal government's need for ever-increasing sums of money.

This caused a reader of the Wall Street Journal to write that the real answer to the budget problem is to reduce "the government's NEED for more and more money."

If that isn't fundamental, nothing is.

NOTES FROM OUR READERS—"Please renew our subscription to the paper, hope I do not miss any copies, have been away on vacation."—Mrs. Fred Baker, Carlsbad, New Mexico.

"Enclosed you will find check, please renew our subscription for two years. Thank you for continuing to send the paper, even though I was tardy in sending this in."—Mrs. Barbara McCollum, Stephenville, Texas.

"Dear Mr. Editor and Staff: I have an idea that one good way to promote the spirit of Good Will, might be to write a letter of appreciation to people that we feel are doing a good job in rendering a public service. So I am taking this means to express my appreciation for the EAGLE. I think you are publishing a real nice county newspaper. I am always proud to show the Eagle to anyone from any place."—Bowie Long, Goldthwaite.

WHAT A LIFE—Yes sir, what a life, is the thought that naturally comes to one's mind after taking a trip to the city now days.

Mom and I went to the city a few days back. We went there on Friday morning and came back Saturday evening. I ran out of TIPS. That's right. I didn't run out of MONEY, because I didn't have any money when I went, but I did have what I considered a few tips, but it didn't take me long to see we better head for home.

Several years ago a friend of mine attended some national convention in Chicago, or some city up that way. When he came back, he told me, "Vic, it costs you more in that country for TIPS than we are used to paying for meals here at home." I thought at the time this buddy of mine was stretching a point a little, but found out later that he was serious. That same thing now applies to folks who live in a little community like ours. You go to the city, Texas or otherwise, and you find the same thing holds true.

We went to the city for two reasons. I wanted to check on some things at the printing machinery supply house and type foundry and Mom needed to find some "doodad" for the baby bassinet.

Now don't get the wrong impression, Mom and I are not going to have a baby—but we are going to have a GRAND baby in the not too far distant future. That's why things must be placed in order.

I spelled the word "GRAND" with capital letters because Fred Reynolds told me here a while back that that is one word that needs to be, and should be, spelled with capital letters when used in connection with babies. Fred ought to know. He has two, just ask him about them some time.

Well, back to our trip. We both had luck. I found what I needed and Mom also located the "doodad" she was looking for. Yes, you go to the city, you look around, you think, "What a Life," you come back home, you are glad you went, because it makes you doubly glad to get back home.

Like Faces Defeat in Fight For Additional Foreign Aid Democrats Say 70 Billion Since Second War Is Ended

By HENRY CATHCART Central Press Association Washington Writer

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower personally overcame the midable congressional opposition last session to win most of what he sought in the way of foreign aid appropriations spending.

However, he faces even tougher going this year, and probably will lose the fight.

For one thing, the Democratic congressional majority is firmly opposed to foreign spending now than was last session when the Lebanese crisis broke out just as the appropriation was being considered.

For another, the total money still available for spending is sufficient to carry the program along for several years without any additional money the next session. That total is now in excess of $15 billion, although it does not cover some items which Congress has been providing on a year-by-year basis.

Money which the administration wants to spend for aid to Poland and Yugoslavia, two Communist countries behind the Iron Curtain, will play an important role in giving foreign aid opponents another talking point.

But perhaps the most potent argument which the Democrats put to use in opposing big appropriations for this category, is the fact that has already been spent since the end of World War II, 13 years ago. It now totals $70 billion, enough to run the entire federal government in a normal year, and averages out to $400 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

RED CHINA—Reports of unrest in Red China should be taken with a grain of salt. U. S. intelligence reports continue to show that China is making rapid progress industrially and continues to hold the support of the Chinese people.

The reports are considered to be inspired by Nationalist Chinese sources on Formosa, primarily to bolster the sagging morale of Chiang Kai-shek's people.

The cold fact, according to U. S. intelligence, is that Red China is here to stay.

LOYALTY OATHS—A little noted provision of the Federal Education act requiring teachers and students receiving funds to file a signed affidavit of loyalty to the United States is playing a role with the urgent program to stimulate interest in science and language higher education.

Many students and teachers who otherwise would have liked to take advantage of the program to further their education are holding off as a matter of principle.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Arthur S. Flemming is aware of the problem and is opposed to the loyalty oath provision of the law, but his hands are tied for the time being, anyway.

Flemming will ask Congress to amend the law to remove the provision on the ground that the federal government is adequately protected from providing funds to disloyal persons through files and checking procedures.

However, until Congress acts some months hence, if it does, the effects of the new legislation will be stunted and to a measurable degree will fall short of objectives.

The altar of Bering Memorial Methodist Church, Houston, was decorated with white gladioli, stock and chrysanthemums for the candlelight ceremony at 3:00 p. m., Sunday, January 25, uniting in marriage, Katherine Margaret Kilgore and Donald Wade Hammett. Rev. Garnet R. House officiated in the double ring service. Mrs. O. F. Higginbotham was organist with Bill Sybert as soloist.

The bride is the granddaughter of Neal Dickerson of this city. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Kilgore of Houston and the groom is the son of Mrs. G. C. Hammett, also of Houston, and the late Mr. Hammett.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore white Chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta, adorned with sequins and seed pearls. Her finger tip veil of illusion was caught in a crown of pearls. She carried a bouquet of feathered carnations and a white orchid nestled in a shower of ribbons on her white prayer book.

Clementine Wilmeth Briley Writes From Temporary Home In El Paso

By CLEMENTINE WILMETH BRILEY

The weather seems to be still making the headlines all over Texas and the Nation. A card from the Burt Brileys at Brownwood says this winter is their coldest in years. A letter from Mrs. Jim Wilmeth not only speaks of the bitter cold, but also says that it is terribly dry. El Paso has had lots of cold nights and some exceptionally cold days, but most of our days have been mild. My little yellow narcissus which bloomed shortly after Christmas is still in bloom. And my stocks from last year are big and thrifty and have buds.

Burt Briley, who broke his hip last August, says he has abandoned his crutches and now walks with a cane. The Briley card also said that Frank Dyer was buried at Ebony Jan. 19. Frank and Lizzie Dyer lived at Ebony while their nice little family was growing up. Lizzie preceded him to the cemetery by many years.

Mrs. Wilmeth tells me that Luther and Gracie Jernigan of Goldthwaite visited her and Jim Sunday afternoon, Jan. 11.

Ora Hopper Herring called me this week. For several years she and her husband, Finis, have been keeping house here for their son, Hooper. She tells me that Hooper got married Christmas, and she and Finis are considering going back to their home at Indian Creek.

After so long a time, I'm finding out what the members of my family did for Christmas. The Mitchells report that they had an extra good Christmas. All their children were present during the week. But it was the irony of fate that Carol and Don and Larry (the Vinzants) had to leave Friday morning before Tommy and Marilyn and Brenda and Becky got there that night. But the Vinzants left a special message from Robert's new tape recorder for the late arriving Sheffields. Mrs. Dwyer said they had a very happy Christmas with the Harold Everetts at Abilene. She said Shelley and Sherry had five grandmothers present, and they took a picture of them together.

We were very happy to receive a Christmas card from Mrs. Angus Burn of Manila Jan. 17. She said she knew it would be well in January before we got it. It was dated Dec. 6. She speaks of her nephew, Raz Malone, and his wife, Marge, who sometime ago were sent to Algiers by the oil company Raz works for. Marge writes that during their vacation last summer they took a wonderful trip across Europe. They drove as far as Denmark then took a boat over to Sweden. Marge says Raz's sister, the former Beth Malone, has a baby boy, born June 9, 1958. Beth's husband, Ben Ewing, is teaching in the University of Illinois. Mrs. Burn said to me, "You can never know how I miss 'The Column.' I have no family news now and never a word from Brown or Mills County. Never before have I been so isolated." Until it sold out to the Bulletin, Mrs. Burn took the Brownwood Banner which carried the Ebony Column. When I wrote her a few days ago, I told her about the Goldthwaite Eagle. Yesterday (Thurs.) Charline

Blake (next door) and I attended the Clardy Garden Club which met at the Garden Center at 9:30. After coffee and a business session, we proceeded to the City Greenhouse where Mr. Harris, the florist, had everything ready for us. He answered our questions and gave each of us six plants. We could choose from a list written on the board. I chose 1 purple Alyssum, 2 carnations, and 3 snapdragons. And am I proud of them!

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

By H. L. BERRY

Conservation of Agricultural resources in the Goldthwaite area have shown some encouraging results during the year just past. These results were due to a united effort of many individuals and groups of the district. Supervisors of the Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District would like to recognize all persons and groups who contributed in the conservation and preservation of the soil, water and plants of their community. Supervisors serving the south end of the District are Ernest Kohler and Don Geeslin.

Few people realize that a Soil Conservation District is a legal sub-division of the state. That it is petitioned, organized, and run by the landowners through a board of supervisors, elected by the landowners. These men serve without pay and serve a five year term. They secure technical help from the Soil Conservation Service and encourage cooperation of all agricultural agencies in a combined effort.

Groups who have contributed to conservation effort during the past year are The Goldthwaite Garden Club with a conservation program, the Goldthwaite Lions Club also had a conservation program, public schools throughout the county have taught conservation, particularly in vocational agriculture. The Extension Service including both the County Agent and the Home Demonstration Agent have emphasized conservation in their county development program. The Mills County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 cooperated with Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District in sponsoring a field tour of Bennett Creek to observe conservation treatment taking place on the watershed.

The Goldthwaite Eagle was particularly helpful in publishing a conservation issue. The County A. S. C. Committee and the local A. S. C. office staff made noteworthy contributions. Many farmers and business men bought conservations ads in the Goldthwaite Eagle.

Conservation accomplishments of the district in Mills County include the following:

- Contour Farming, 2,289 acres.
- Cover Crops, 2,505 acres.
- Rotation Hay and Pasture, 3,429 acres.

Goldthwaite, Texas, Thursday, January 29, 1959

By CHARLES ED BULL
— PART II —

Ben and I reached the school grounds that first day vibrant, dulcet notes of that black handled school bell vibrated in my ears. I can hear them now; now I am a boy and life enchanted. The school was co-educational during "books," but not outside the building. The boys occupied the sunny south side of the house and play-ground the girls were restricted to north side; no playing marbles at recess time toarken to the necessities of life or anything else but marbles. I was fidgeting about there in line, first on one foot then on the other. Then Cap'n. Mohler looked over the top of his glasses at me and said:

"Ed, you keep still there." I was surprised, and embarrassed to be disciplined before the school. The class proceeded—a few more words were "given out" and spelled, and again those blue eyes were fixed on me, as teacher said:

"Ed, you come up here and sit on the rostrum by me!" He pointed out the spot where I should sit, and I sat down.

CHARLES ED BULL

"Now, you keep still!" he said. Spelling started again. Suddenly a resounding whack fell across my shoulders and back, from a switch as long as a buggy whip, which the teacher kept within reach behind him on the trough of the blackboard. The blow did not hurt me a bit, but the surprise of it was disastrously shocking to me.

Though ashamed and terribly humiliated in front of the snickering class, that whack proved to be just what I needed to keep me still. A tap, tap from the bell, and all stopped giggling, and the spelling class proceeded with the lesson. Soon came another tap from the bell, and teacher said:

"Very good, now take your seats." Class was over, students took their seats. Then, two taps from the bell announced:

"School is out for today." As the pupils started for the south door of the school house, near the end of the rostrum, giggling broke out anew, and this time there was talk and laughter. Somebody had discovered the big wet spot where I had been seated on the rostrum. I did not look—I knew it was there. Outside the school house eleven year old Bud Bishop poked fun at me, and everybody was laughing at me. Then my eleven year old brother, Ben, walked over and said:

"Bud, if you say another word about my little brother, I'll bust your nose." The laughing stopped. Nobody spoke a word. Ben's brown eyes

Turn into glasses and garnish with 3 dill pickles cut in lengthwise strips.

Black Bean Soup

To give an extra piquant flavor to black bean soup just combine 10 1/2-oz. can condensed black bean soup and 1/4 c.

chopped dill pickles, then prepare soup according to directions on the can.

Serve with garnish of thin dill pickle slices, if desired.

For a delicious and different meatless dish, make a Cheese Pickle Pie, the recipe to serve 6.

Have 1/2 lb. Swiss cheese thinly sliced and arrange with 1/2 c. finely chopped sweet gherkins in a 9-inch unbaked pastry shell.

Pie Filling

Combine 4 beaten eggs, 1/2 c. all-purpose flour, 1/2 tsp. salt, dash of cayenne, 1/2 c. melted butter or margarine and 2 c. light cream, beating thoroughly. Pour over pickles and cheese in pie shell.

Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 40-50 minutes or until knife inserted in center comes out clean.

Garnish artistically with radish and sweet gherkin slices.

PARENT PROBLEMS

Children Differ Widely Even In Same Family

GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, PH.D.

I GET many letters about the order of two children indicating that the older feels jealous of the younger. Sometimes it is about the oldest of several children, or the next to the youngest, who doesn't feel he stands well in the family as the others. Occasionally, it's the younger or youngest who seems to feel this insecurity.

Habits Vary

As any parent of several children knows, children in the same family differ widely and their differences may increase as they grow older, even after they grow up and have families of their own.

Growing children differ in the way they eat, sleep or learn habits like toiletting or sharing, later in home responsibilities. They differ in their ways of having fun alone or with other children.

They are different in ages, of course, but at any age, each may differ from the other when at that same age. And they differ in success at winning friends and in their progress at school.

Effects Others

What parents may not keep in mind is that when any one child conforms noticeably or operates better than the rest or worse than the rest--this fact makes a difference in the other children, a difference in the way they feel and act.

It also makes a difference in the way parents feel and act.

toward each of the children. It's wonderful when parents are aware of these differences and constantly try to help each child feel himself a worthy member of the family group.

I know a family of five children, ranging in ages from 5 to 13, in which the parents, especially the mother, is keenly conscious of each child's strivings for a place and of the ups and downs among them in their relative feelings of security.

Parents' Problem

These parents have helped each child at different times rise from what seemed to him or her a low place with great success. But these parents are also aware that sometimes they go too far and thus create some problem in one or more of the other children. Yet their particular genius lies in being sensitive to the over-all problem, and of planning and working together toward helping each of these five youngsters feel more and more a worthy member of the family group.

(My bulletins, "Preventing and Reducing Jealousy" and "Enjoying Our Children," may be had by sending a self-addressed, U. S. stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.)

ANSWERING PARENTS' QUESTIONS

Q. When a child engages in conversation with a guest how should the guest behave?

A. He should listen courteously and with attention.

I do not have any news as I have been gone the past weekend and have not seen my neighbors.

SOME FACTS ABOUT DOG FEEDING

There is one dog for every seven people in the United States, and, because the companionship of men and dogs is one of the oldest and respected of human traditions, our dog population is steadily increasing.

Because of the concern of people for the care and well-being of their dogs, increasing consideration is being given to the problems of dog feeding and nutrition.

The majority of dogs today are primarily maintained by commercial dog feeds, and manufacturers of dog feeds try to incorporate an excess of all essential nutrients needed by a dog. Man has a simple means of detecting the adequacy of such a diet by the outward health of his dog, but he would perhaps do well to know more of the actual facts concerned with dog feeding.

There are several basic factors which should be of primary concern to the nutritional well-being of the dog. In puppies, the most important such factor is nutritional deficiency caused by intestinal parasites such as round worms or ascarids which may appear when the puppies are two to three weeks old. Preventive treatment is often given pups at this time, and attempts at worm elimination are being made through drugs introduced

Questions And Answers About Social Security

Question: My children are receiving survivors payments from their father's social security account. I have remarried, and my second husband plans to adopt the children soon. Will the adoption terminate their social security benefits?

Answer: No. Adoption by a step-parent, or aunt or uncle or grandparent does not affect the social security benefits for a child already receiving benefits. Adoption by anyone else would terminate the benefits.

Question: My sister died two years ago. I received the lump-sum death payment from her social security account as I paid her burial expenses. She left no other survivors. I am now age 54, unable to work because of ill into the debt of the lactating bitch.

Another sign for need of dietary adjustment in dogs is diarrhea, which may be brought about by any of several causes. In puppies, overeating may bring about diarrhea, just as too much milk in the diet may cause it. In the former case, restricted feeding three or four times daily will usually eliminate diarrhea.

The usual and most reliable guard against diarrhea and constipation in dogs is self-contained in the best commercial dog feeds. This is tomato pumace, the dried residue that remains after squeezing the juice from tomatoes. This product has the power of regulating dogs so that they suffer from neither constipation or diarrhea, although no one knows precisely the ingredient responsible for this beneficial action.

Among other important elements in the dog's diet are:

Bone meal. The ability of the dog to use the proteins of bones has been long known. The protein of raw bones is much better utilized than that of dried or heated bones, so most any dog diet might well be supplemented with occasional bones.

Fats. The dog utilizes more than ninety per cent of the fats such as tallow. In using fat in the dry feeds given dogs, manufacturers are very conservative and seldom bring the fat level above ten per cent. This seems wise because the table scraps given many dogs in homes are usually rich in fat. If no such table fats are provided, supplemental provisions of lard (not shortening or margarine) can be well utilized.

Although there is still much to be determined on the nutritional requirements of the canine, it is generally true that commercially-prepared diets for dogs are in better balance than most diets enjoyed by man, probably because man does want to "enjoy" his diet just as much as he wants his dog to be healthy.

El Paso—The roads in this vicinity are becoming less and less secure; only this morning Ochoa's train was attacked near "White's Ranch." (some eight miles above), and a number of his mules ran off by Indians or Mexicans in Indian guise. One teamster was killed, and some others severely wounded.

This is not the first outrage of the sort perpetrated in the same locality within the last health, and do not have a social security account from which to draw disability benefits. Can I receive a monthly benefit from my sister's account?

Answer: There is no provision for payment of monthly benefits to a brother or sister. Only a widow or widower, or parents, minor children, or disabled children may be paid benefits from the social security account of a relative.

We recommend our friends and travelers who may visit New Braunfels, to the Comal House, kept by Matthew Taylor, Esq. The house is large and commodious, the fare is first-rate, and the gentlemanly landlord has a way of making everybody feel at home, while they are his guests. If he has one fault, it is his liberality.

THE SPIRIT OF THE PRESS IN TEXAS

In reference to the refusal of the House to impeach Judge Watrons is thus expressed by the Clarksville Standard:

We are indebted to Hon. J. H. Reagan for a pamphlet copy of his speech on the impeachment of Judge Watrons. We have carefully perused the speech, and will republish it for the information of our readers. Although the House has refused to impeach Judge Watrons, our representative has already done his part in endeavoring to obtain justice for the People of Texas by the trial of an attainder Administrator of the law.

The Dallas Herald, the Quitman paper, the Houston Telegraph, and many others express their feelings in much stronger language.

The Crockett Printer — We ought sooner to have noticed the enlargement of this spicy little sheet. J. L. Cottrell, of Sumpter, has become associate editor, and the paper dates from both places.

During the bird hunting season a great many shooters lamented what seems to be the passing of the double barrel shotgun. The double gun hasn't faded from the picture entirely, but it has been greatly displaced by the single tube guns, both pump and semi-automatic. There even has been an increase in the use of bolt action shotguns.

For a hundred years the double barrel shotgun was a favorite of shooters, both upland and for waterfowl. Perhaps the appearance of the double gun had much to do with this. It looked good and handled easily. Then there was another very definite feature. It carried two fast shots, usually the right tube modified and the left full choke. This gave a scatter bore for the close in shots, with a tight pattern for long reach.

The first shotgun I ever fired was a double barrel muzzle loader. That was a half century ago. After using it for a year and getting tired of pouring in the powder and tamping in the wad I was able to sell enough grain sacks and Coke bottles to horse trade for a double 12 gauge. It was second hand and the man told me the left barrel was full choke and would kill a duck at 50 yards. In those days we tested for choke by using a dime. If the dime entered the muzzle of the barrel, it was open. If the dime failed to go into the muzzle it was a full choke. Today we measure the constriction differently.

The repeating shotgun already had come along. First there was the old lever-action Winchester. Following that was the still famous 97 model Winchester. Marlin and Remington also were out with good repeaters, although they too had peared from the market. Naturally a gun isn't dropped so long as there is a sufficient demand for it to be profitable. The Ithaca featherweight pump now has taken the place of the double.

There were many other fine old shotguns, too. Any outdoorsman 50 year old or over, has fond memories of the deluxe value of the old L. C. Smith and the Fox. The Fox remains today, produced by Savage.

Among other double guns still on the market are the Browning Superimposed, Marlin over/under, Winchester 21, J. C. Higgins, Stevens and Noble. The prices range from $66.50 to $2500 each for these doubles.

The doubles I have just listed include only the American made. There are many imports, however. Some are good guns with unexcelled workmanship. Others aren't worth the metal in them. Unless you know your guns and know the maker behind them, it is best to leave foreign imports alone, shotgun, rifle or pistol.

A man can be proud of owning any one of the American made double barrel shotguns. They are safe, with reputable service behind them.

A great deal can be said on behalf of the double gun, whether the tubes are side by side, or over/under. They have accounted for considerable game in their time, with a minimum of ammunition, by comparison. Most persons using a three-shot gun will spend that third shot of empty air.

Many shooters will insist they can sight better down the rib of a double than on a single. I always have had my doubts about this, because usually in doubles on the market. Then in 1912 the ever-popular Model 12 arrived on the scene. Since that time automatics and pumps have been forging ahead in the field. The big spurt came, however, when variable chokes, like the Poly, were invented. With one of these chokes on a single barrel, it was possible to have any degree of choke required for whatever hunting one might encounter.

This really pushed the double gun back.

One of the greatest early-day double gun manufacturers was Ithaca. A few years ago, however, this double gun disapshotgun shooting, it is necessary to lead a bird a long ways. There is much more in your swing of a shotgun than in sighting. If you doubt this, try shooting at the lead goose in a formation sometimes. Chances are good you'll drop about the fourth or fifth one back.

All double guns today are hammerless. The old hammer gun now is a relic. In fact, it was discontinued so long ago many of today's shooters never have had one in their hands.

Unfortunately most of the single barrel (one shot) guns are hammer guns. However, if you do want a single barrel hammerless there is one trap edition that sells for from $450 to $2500.

Most of the manufacturers provide these single barrel guns which usually are bought for boys just beginning their shooting. Many men today fondly remember a single barrel as the first gun they ever shot.

I can't keep from shedding a tear, however, for the double gun. I still have in my cabinet a very fine one, made more than a half-century ago.

I've owned numerous others. For the sake of old times I wish I had never parted with them. A double is indeed a good gun. They'll be made for many years because a lot of people still like them.

They are exceptionally good in resort shooting, especially in the O/U models, which are both attractive and effective.

They are fine for blind and field shooting. You don't waste as much ammunition and there is little that can go wrong with the gun.

My advice is if you have a good double, hold onto it. If you have an opportunity to get one, latch onto it.

STATE BANK
GOLDTHWAITE, TEXAS

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Texas—Texas lawmakers face the old "chicken or egg" problem as they move into the session's main issue—money.

Is it best to decide first how much the state must spend to keep its various programs going and then scrape up tax money to cover them? Or should the tax take be set first and the pie sliced up accordingly?

Thus far, both problems are being juggled at the same time. Already the mathematical acrobatics are spreading jitters among spectators—both appropriation seekers and tax worriers.

Governor's Prescription—Gov. Price Daniel is prescribing a two-pronged, $210,000,000 plan to cure state fiscal ailments.

First prong is to raise $65,000,000 to pay off the debt expected in the general revenue fund by the end of this fiscal year. Second prong is to raise $72,800,000 a year ($145,600,000 for the next biennium) to cover spending from the general revenue fund.

Sources for this money would include: (1) a natural gas severance tax, (2) an increase in levies on motor vehicle sales, tobacco and corporation franchises and (3) unclaimed bank deposits, insurance policies and property, which the state would take over.

Governor Daniel increased his previously recommended budget by nearly $20,000,000 to include appropriations for retiring state bonds, providing medical care for people on welfare rolls, a driver education program and advertising for tourists and industry.

Total two-year spending from general revenue would be $330,000,000.

Smaller Pie—Compared to the Governor's proposal, the Legislative Budget Board's recommendation for general revenue fund spending looks modest—only $285,000,000.

Though the Board's spending would be nearly $45,000,000 less than the governor's, it would still be some $4,600,000 higher than the 1958-59 appropriation.

Budget Board suggests slight increase for the judicial system, executive and administrative departments, hospitals and special schools, public schools and highways. Small cuts were recommended for junior colleges and higher education.

Spending from all funds for state government would total $2,357,347,479.

Seeligson Plan—Rep. Frates S. Seeligson of San Antonio has prepared an extensive plan to overhaul and beef up the state's tax collecting.

Topping the list would be a 1.5 per cent sales tax with food, feed and fertilizer exempted. It would bring an estimated $87,000,000 annually.

Another Seeligson bill would recodify present tax laws. It would do away with some regarded as obsolete (such as on clock peddlers, street cars) and others called inequitable (on chain stores, stock transfers, radio, TV, cosmetics, etc.). Same bill would eliminate certain exemptions and revise other taxes, mostly upward, on motor vehicles, tobacco and liquor sales.

Net gain from the revisions would be a $11,500,000 a year gain in revenue.

Like Daniel, Seeligson recommends that the state take over unclaimed money and property. Seeligson was vice chairman of the State Tax Study Commission that spent the between-sessions months working on tax problems.

Fair Warning—Governor Daniel and Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey both declared at their inaugural that they have sympathetic hearts for Texas taxpayers.

Governor Daniel proposed greater efficiency and economy by combining some of the 175 separate agencies and 213 special accounts operated by the state.

Ramsey promised there would be "no stringing up of the unfortunate taxpayer by the heels to shake out enough money to give everyone everything he wants."

Added Ramsey, "I refuse to admit that the success of a legislative session, or an administration, depends solely on the amount of money it can spend."

No Pay, No Work—House and Senate agreed easily on an automatic shut-off of the regular session at 6 p. m. May 12, but had more difficulty deciding where to get their salary money.

House members shied from a Senate plan to take from a surplus in the fund to aid the permanently and totally disabled. (Future campaign fodder, for sure, reasoned representatives.)

Instead, they proposed borrowing from the Insurance Department Building fund. Both houses agreed to tap the drivers license fund.

A definite adjournment resolution this early in the session is unprecedented in recent legislative history. So is a session of only 120 days, the period for which legislators can be paid. Both are regarded as reflecting disgruntlement over the defeat of the legislative pay raise amendment last fall.

Already three new pay raise proposals have been introduced: (1) to pay $50 a day for 150 days, (2) $40 a day for 120 days, $20 a day thereafter and (3) $4,200 a year.

Present scale is $25 a day for 120 days only.

Flood Begins—Dozens of new bills—and old bills dusted off—are flowing into legislative hoppers. Already introduced or ready for introduction are measures that would:

Tax Gross Receipts of manufacturers and importers of manufactured products, by Rep. Jerry Sadler of Percilla, estimated by author to raise $400,000,000 a year.

Revise Juvenile Laws to allow prosecution of youths, 16 and over, for felonies, by Reps. Joe Ed Winfree, Houston, and Ben D. Sudderth, Gustine.

Give REA Coops the right for 10 years to build and operate lines in an area annexed by a city, to be sponsored by Rep. Alonzo W. Jamison of Denton.

Require A Two-Thirds Vote of both houses to pass a tax measure, a constitutional amendment proposed by Rep. Bill Jones, Dallas.

Local FHA Girls Observe Twirp Week

The Goldthwaite FHA girls observed last week as "Twirp Week." This week was characterized by the letters in TWIRP, "The Woman Is Required To Pay." All FHA girls could legally ask boys for dates during the week. Everyone found it to be enjoyable.

One special night of the week was set aside especially for the Daddys. This, of course, was the annual "Daddy Date Night." The girls asked their daddys out for supper on Wednesday night, before church, at McLean Cafe. Pam Berry gave the invocation. Barbara Burns welcomed the guests and Malcolm Jernigan gave the response. Linda Faulkner told a humorous story entitled "Daddy, Of Course." Judi Reid reported on the State Degrees. Everyone had a nice time.

Those present with their daddys were: Janell Jernigan, Judi Dalton, Kay Campbell, Jan Moreland, Linda Featherston, Linda Yarborough, Phillis McAden, Lynetta Duren, Ann Padgett, Jackie McCasland, Carolyn Allison, Linda Faulkner, Pats Miller, Wanda Williams, Linda Ward, Shirley Morgan, Addie Jo Conrad, Benna and Judi Reid.

Present with a lassoed Daddy for the night was Pam Berry and her date, Gerald Head, also Barbara Burns and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Johnson.
