Power Mowers Can Be Dangerous

For a boy, the power mower is probably the smartest thing to appear on the American scene since Tom Sawyer finished his friends to pay him for washing Aunt Polly's clothes.

O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association, made the above statement recently as he cautioned Texas motorists "extra care" when using power mowers, edgers and clippers.

Handy as the mechanization of lawn tools may be, they also have at least one disadvantage which is, they can be extremely dangerous when handled by an inexperienced or careless worker.

Musick stated that one study of power mower accidents revealed that one injury out of every seven resulted in a permanent disability; that 70 per cent of injuries came about through direct contact with the mower, and that 30 per cent were caused by shrapnel-like pieces thrown from mowers.

This, of course, does not mean that we should condemn power lawn tools," Musick said. "It means that the operator must be aware of the tool's inherent dangers and know how to use them."

The safety expert offered the following twelve safety suggestions as an aid to reducing hazards when working with power equipment.

Contributions During Past Week Give Boost To Park Fund Drive

Contributions during the past week in the amount of $60 have given a big boost to the park fund drive that was announced in the Eagle last week.

Members of the Park and Pool Committee set up plans for the park fund at their last meeting to get a permanent program established for maintaining the community park.

It was decided to enlist 100 individuals on a one dollar per month or $12.00 per year basis to provide the sustaining fund, with $12 to be paid now for this year.

Park board members were the first to head the list in pledging their individual support to the move. Others at the meeting joined park board members in the drive.

Everyone in the county is invited to join in the move to provide funds for park upkeep. This includes individuals, business firms, clubs and organizations.

Contributions may be left with W. P. Duren, chairman of the park board, at Mills County State Bank, or with any member of the board or at the Eagle office.

Stores To Close Saturday, May 30 To Observe Memorial Day Holiday

Next week Saturday, May 30, Memorial Day will be observed as a holiday by Goldthwaite business firms and practically all stores will remain closed for the day.

This is one of the six holidays approved by retail business firms several years ago when holiday schedule was worked out by local stores.

The six holiday schedule was adopted after survey was made of surrounding towns on their holiday plans and closing schedule.

According to the survey most of the towns around Goldthwaite will observe Memorial Day holiday, Saturday, May 30, by stores closing.

This is the first holiday since New Year's Day, January 1, and most merchants and employees have been looking forward to a long weekend and a break in regular routine with business as usual.

Shoppers are reminded to keep this forthcoming holiday in mind and to make plans now to do their shopping next week on Thursday and Friday for the holiday weekend.

724 Farmers Apply For Incentive Payments Under 1958 Wool Program

A total of 724 Mills County wool growers have applied for incentive payments under the national wool program for the 1958 marketing year, according to Lee W. Tabor of the Mills County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office. The deadline for applications was April 30.

On the basis of wool applications received throughout the country, the national percentage rate of payment will be calculated, and payments will then be made to growers through their county ASC offices. Payments are expected to be made some time after July 1.

Payments will be made at the percentage rate necessary to bring the national average farm price of wool up to 62 cents a pound, which is the announced incentive level. That percentage will be applied to each grower's marketings to calculate his payment. On unshorn lambs, payment is made at a rate based on the wool rate.

The purpose of this program, Tabor points out, is to increase U. S. production of wool, of which this country produces less than it needs. This is done by means of an incentive payment to growers, which is applied on a percentage basis to encourage growers to do the best possible job of marketing their wool.

SOLILOQUY

GREETINGS GRADUATES—This week we take time out from our busy schedule to extend greetings to the graduates of our high schools in Mills County.

In this issue will be found pictures of the seniors from Mullin, Star, Priddy and Goldthwaite high schools who have completed their education to this point and are ready to step out into bigger and better things in the field of further education, their chosen field of work or homemaking.

Business firms, professional people and individuals from all four communities in the county are joining hands in extending greetings to the grads individually and as a group on this important and happy occasion in their life.

I want to extend my personal greetings and good wishes to each and everyone of you graduating seniors on your reaching this milestone in your educational career.

As you leave high school days you will no doubt look back many times and think about the happy and carefree days they were, indeed, although you may not have realized it at the time.

As you start to travel ahead you will soon find that while it is pleasant to let your thoughts go back to high school days it is also very important to realize that one must ever look ahead.

There are wonderful fields to conquer, for many who will set their goal and keep on the trail toward that goal.

Don't get the idea that everything is going to come easy. Because it isn't going to be easy. Remember most everything worthwhile is worth fighting for. So don't get discouraged along the way. Accept some of the disappointments that may come along as part of the educational experience and try to profit from those experiences as you travel on.

It's alright to look for security, but, don't let it overshadow opportunity which is the really big and important thing in your life.

Educationwise, you have reached a point right now that many before you didn't have the good fortune and opportunity to reach. I hope you will stop long enough during this commencement season and realize the good fortune that has been yours and take stock of the opportunities that lie ahead if you are willing to accept the challenge.

America today is full of opportunities if you will seek them out. So, good luck to you.

Inside WASHINGTON

MARCH OF EVENTS

More Negroes Than Whites | Financial Woes, High Taxes | Now Reside in Washington | Drive Many From Capital

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Association Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The nation's capital is rapidly becoming a Negro city. A survey by the District of Columbia municipal government shows that Washington, D. C., has approximately 825,000 residents at the time—about the same as in 1950.

There has been, however, a startling population shift that underlines the problems of the nation's capital. Eight years ago, Negroes accounted for 30 per cent of the population. The current survey indicates that they comprise 53 per cent of the population—majority—and one municipal planning expert who declined to be quoted by name, reports that by 1965 he expects the population of Washington, D. C., to be 80 per cent Negro and 20 per cent white.

"Only a few long-time white residents in the better neighborhoods and the central business district will remain," he told the writers.

SCHOOLS SHOW TREND—A portent for the future is that, at the present time, almost three-fourths of the school population of Washington, D. C., is Negro.

Some congressmen are disturbed. For instance, Rep. James C. Davis of Georgia, a bitter foe of integration, charged: "Washington is becoming another Harlem. Somebody ought to get a medal for this."

However, it should be pointed out that most of Washington's municipal problems are financial . . . and that the principal factor is the federal government. In 1920, for example, the federal contribution to the local government in lieu of paying taxes for the services the vast federal installations here require, almost matched dollar for dollar, the amount paid by local taxpayers.

Today, however, the federal government pays only one dollar in 10 of the amount required to run the District of Columbia government—a vastly inadequate sum.

As a result taxes on homeowners are sky-high. And, smarting under Congress' refusal to allow Washingtonians to vote, and numerous other discriminations, many of the most desirable residents have long since fled to the nearby Maryland and Virginia suburbs.

If Representative Davis really wants to give someone a medal, perhaps he should consider giving it to himself and to his colleagues on the District of Columbia committee which has, for so long, refused to prod—or even permit—Congress into paying anything like its fair share of the local tax load.

As the Negro population increases, the District of Columbia's financial plight inevitably must become more desperate—if possible—because Negroes traditionally have less money and are less able to pay the taxes required to keep up a glamorous showcase city like the nation's capital.

If, as the District of Columbia commissioners foresee in their official report, things continue to go as they have been, by 1965 the city will have a deficit of some $180 million.

LOOKING AHEAD—The increasing Negro population, while decreasing the amount of tax revenue, drastically increases the demand on municipal services. The commissioners noted that non-white families made up no less than 88 per cent of all public assistance recipients.

Is Washington, D. C., now America's most beautiful city and one of the showplaces of the world, doomed to become a blighted slum?

The answer has to be an unqualified "Yes . . . unless . . ." The "unless" should read "unless the people of America become excited about the shocking condition of their national capital and prod Congress into doing something about it."

The title of the devotional was "Do Unto Others As You Would Have Them Do Unto You." Girls dressed in evening gowns portrayed such qualities as Love, Respect, Forgiveness, Kindness, Sincerity and Humility. This devotional was written by three F. H. A. members of the Robert E. Lee High School in Tyler, Texas and presented at the State F. H. A. Meeting in Dallas last month. The narrator for the girls was Mary Calder.

First year Homemaking girls presented a skit entitled "Builders of Homes." A young couple was portrayed by Gary Lock and Sharon Shelton. The young architect was played by Brady Wayne Duren. A miniature home was assembled by the builders, Peggy Singleton and Sue Davee, as the narrator, Sue Ethridge, gave the difference between a house and a home. A trio of girls composed of Gayla Holland, Marianna Egger and Dianna Chaney sang "Bless This House" and "Home Sweet Home."

One Star Unit Makes Texas Debut

Latest air conditioning advance is this remarkable "Lone Star" with extra capacity for dehumidifying as well as cooling. Engineers developed the unique dry-cooling system for hot, humid areas. It can remove up to three barrels of water from the air each week. Clammy feeling in room is eliminated. The unit also dehumidifies with reduced cooling on hot days when temperatures are mild. Here, young homemaker demonstrates simple dial controls. Because of extra cooling capacity, conditioner is well suited for dry areas, too. Note through-the-wall installation and built-in shelf arrangement.

Clementine Wilmeth Briley Writes From Temporary Home In El Paso

By CLEMENTINE WILMETH BRILEY

Last night (Thursday) we had rain in El Paso. The U. S. Weather Bureau's rain gauge at El Paso Air Port recorded .30 of an inch. This brought the total for the year thus far to .73 of an inch. Normal total for this time of the year is 1.47 inches.

Over the radio we hear of many tornadoes and lots of rain in various parts of Texas. We listen eagerly for a report of rain at home, but the radio is usually silent concerning that part of Texas. Anyway we hope they have suffered no tornadoes. I'm reminded that the tornado at Star in 1904 and the one at Ebony in 1933 were both in May. I'm not sure of the date of the Zephyr Tornado, but it seems to me that it was in May also. I see last week's Eagle mentioned that tornado of May 7, 1904 and what it did around Goldthwaite, in the 55 Years Ago column. I was at Star on that memorable night. I was staying with the Billy Street family, but Mr. and Mrs. Street were gone somewhere that night, and the Street children and I were spending the night with his mother. We spent most of it in a storm house across the street with a number of other people who had come there for safety. Until then I didn't like much to go in a storm house, but that night made a believer out of me. When we finally came out of the storm house, one of the first things I noticed was a one room doctor's office lodged against a tree standing upside down on its comb. When morning came there was a wide path of destruction up the hillside near Star. Trees were uprooted and furniture and clothing was scattered all over the path. The Mason and Harper houses were blown away, and Mr. Mason and Mr. and Mrs. Harper's baby were killed. At the Zephyr tornado Prof. Hart's wife and one of his two little boys were killed. Others were killed, but the Harts lived in Brownwood. Mrs. Hart and the boys had gone to Zephyr that evening (I think) to visit her mother. Several houses were blown away by the Ebony tornado, but no one was killed because the people were in their storm houses.

I'm hoping the Geneva Meet will accomplish something toward peace. John reads the paper more than the rest of us. He thinks things are in a terrible mess. Billy says we are just like the Romans were before the fall of Rome. But I don't share their dismal aspects. But I must say that all this talk of going to the moon and landing on Venus and other planets makes me think of the Tower of Babel. But of one thing I'm certain. Unless the Lord is willing, they'll never reach these places. If they should abandon these undertakings, it seems to me it would save us a lot of money.

"Kings are getting to be more like people every day" is what they are saying since Youthful King Baudouin of Belgium has arrived here for a three weeks' tour of the United States. Addressing a joint session of Congress in the House Chamber Tuesday, he said, "I am here to register the solidarity between the people of Belgium and America in the fond hope that all human beings wherever they may be join with us in the prayer of your great Lincoln that government of the people and by the people may not perish from the earth. King Baudouin will be in El Paso Monday and will review Belgian troops who are studying missiles in Fort Bliss.

I just learned tonight that "ain't" is in the dictionary. I'm glad it has been made respectable. I have thought for a long time that we needed it.

Order Of Mrs. Bairds Bakeries Observe Ninetieth Birthday

Austin, Texas—The Order of Mrs. Bairds Bakeries, celebrating the 90th birthday of Mrs. Minnie L. Baird, observed the occasion with a luncheon at the restaurant of the hotel where she lives. The celebration was presided over by Mrs. Baird, who has spent her life in the baking business. Her husband, Mr. Baird, was a prominent businessman and a member of the legislature. Mrs. Baird's life is a story of industry and devotion. She has been in the baking business since she was a young girl. Her first job was in a bakery, and she has since owned and operated her own bakery in Austin. Her products are well-known throughout the city, and she has a large following of customers. She is a devoted mother and a loving wife. Her husband died several years ago, and she has since supported her family on her own. She is a member of the Order of Mrs. Bairds Bakeries, a national organization of women in the baking business. The organization was founded in 1869 and has since grown to include women from all over the world. Mrs. Baird is a proud member of the organization and is active in its affairs. She has served as president of the local chapter and has been instrumental in many of its projects. She is a woman of many talents and has a deep love for her work. Her dedication to her craft is a source of inspiration for many others in the industry. She is a true professional and a role model for all women in the baking business.

MRS. MINNIE L. BAIRD

When this unassuming woman considers herself a success, she is much more than satisfied. She is much more than satisfied because she has four daughters, three of whom are married and have children of their own. She has a grand total of 13 grandchildren. She is a devoted mother and a loving grandmother. She has a deep love for her family and is always there for them. She is a woman of many talents and has a deep love for her work. Her dedication to her craft is a source of inspiration for many others in the industry. She is a true professional and a role model for all women in the baking business.

As chairman of the board of Mrs. Baird's Bakeries, Mrs. Baird still keeps a watchful eye on the product that has made her name a household word across the broad expanse of Texas. She will take time out today to receive a scroll signed by 1,500 admiring employees to mark her 90th birthday, while Texas and the nation applaud this woman who built her baking skill and her motherly determination into a great business enterprise.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

Austin, Texas—Between now and the middle of June the Legislature has only one goal to shoot at—getting the state "fiscally fit."

Gov. Price Daniel limited topics for the 30-day special session to (1) paying off the $65,000,000 deficit from the 1958-59 biennium, (2) passing an appropriation bill for 1960-61 and (3) passing a tax program to cover appropriations.

When these things are taken care of, the governor indicated he might submit such items as the Hale-Aiken school program and medical payments for the aged. He favors both these programs, said Governor Daniel, but believes in taking "first things first."

To cover these "first" needs, the governor is pushing a tax program very similar to what he proposed last January. This includes the "bookkeeping bill" (to cut down the deficit by crediting more money to this year), a 3-per cent severance tax on natural gas, a higher corporation franchise tax and the abandoned property bill, under which the state would take over unclaimed bank accounts and property.

He is willing to revise the abandoned property bill to meet some of the objections that caused it to be defeated during the last session.

Absolute deadline for getting the money problems solved is September 1, when the state begins a new fiscal year. Unless new appropriations are provided by then, the government, including schools, hospitals, etc., will grind to a halt.

Hope Springs Eternal—Legislators are again asking the people for a pay raise — this time a more modest amount.

A proposed constitutional amendment, approved on the last day of the regular session, would give lawmakers an annual salary of $4,800. In addition, they would get $12 a day expense money for a 120-day session every other year.

Last November a proposal for annual salaries of $7,500 and annual sessions was decisively swatted down at the polls.

At present, both senators and representatives get $25 a day for a 120-day session plus $25 a day for each called session. It's a minimum total of $3,000 for two years when there are no special sessions. Under the new proposal, the minimum for two years would be $11,040. People will vote on this plan at the general election in November, 1960.

"No Sweat" Elections—One of Texas' oldest traditions—scorching hot election days — is passing into history.

Governor Daniel signed into law a measure moving primary elections up to the first Saturday in May and the first Saturday in June. Under the old law they were the fourth Saturdays in July and August.

State conventions will be the second Tuesday after the runoff primary—or about the middle of June. This is the convention to name delegates to the national presidential nominating convention.

Earlier elections had the strong backing of U. S. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson's friends and supporters. As a possible presidential nominee, he would be in a stronger position if his race for a new senatorial term were behind him at national convention time.

Governor Daniel took exception to and got the Legislature to change certain provisions of the bill before he signed it. He objected to having Democratic executive committee members elected by district caucuses rather than the whole convention. This provision was removed and the law remains as it was.

He also didn't like the Legislature's proposal to have state conventions before the second primary, so the date was changed to 10 days after the second primary.

New Laws—These changes in Texas' way of doing things result from bills passed in the final days of the regular session:

Driving An Auto without the owner's permission becomes a felony offense. Under old law, to get a prison sentence, state prosecutors had to prove the person who took another's car intended to keep it. Maximum punishment under new law is three years in prison.

Boat Owners will have to register their craft and pay a license fee after April, 1960. Bill also requires warning lights and other safety devices on boats and prohibits reckless boating and water skiing.

Non-English Speaking children can receive three months pre-school instruction in basic English at the expense of the public school system.

State Inspection of livestock at auctions was provided. An amendment to assess livestock owners for cost of the program, estimated at nearly a half-million a year, failed.

Interim Studies have been authorized for the investment of the Teachers Retirement Fund, laws governing formation of water districts, financing of the Board of Water Engineers and fees charged by state agencies.

Advertising Prices as wholesale has been outlawed, unless the goods are intended for resale and a bona fide wholesale price is listed.

Calf-Roping Contests will be legal under a new law. Unknown to many people, they apparently were not legal before.

A State Advertising Program, under the joint direction of the State Highway Department and Texas Industrial Commission, was set up. An appropriation to get it going will have to come later.

16 Successors to the governor were officially designated in a continuity of government bill passed to assure a living chief executive in event of atomic disaster.

Corn Meal And Grits must be enriched with vitamins and minerals if they are to be sold for human consumption.

Roaming Livestock on state highways will be prohibited under a law to take effect in July, 1960.

Pensions of $80 a month were voted for some 100 former Texas Rangers and widows.

YOUR OPINION SOUGHT — Governor Daniel has invited all Texans to share with him their ideas on how to meet the problems of children and youth. He has appointed a statewide study committee and has urged the organization of local groups. Persons with suggestions and ideas may send them to the governor's office or work through local groups.

Washington Newsletter

By Congressman O. Clark Fisher

More spending and an increased public debt comprise the gist of demands upon Congress by the Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), voiced at its annual convention held this past week in Washington.

This ultra-liberal group, claiming 40,000 members, is trying to take over control of the Democratic party as well as claiming the rights to speak for the American people in prodding Congress for ever more spending for welfare and socialized programs.

Last week the ADAers threatened the Democratic leaders in Congress by saying they might quit the Democrats and support liberal Gov. Nelson Rockefeller for President next year if the Democrats fail to heed their demands.

A favorite target of the ADA has been Senator Lyndon Johnson, their main beef being that he comes from Texas. Any person who comes from the South, unless he be an ultra-liberal, is person non gratus to this motley crowd of left wing zealots.

If followed, the ADA program would add the public debt by some $20 billion during the next year; would admit Red China to membership in the UN; would increase the minimum wage to $1.25; would push union wages higher, while demanding that business voluntarily reduce consumer prices. They want to increase immigration substantially by repealing the quota system that now restricts immigrants percentage-wise according to national origin of citizens who were here in 1920.

They denounce any criticism of the Supreme Court decisions that have benefited domestic communists, subversives, etc., and denounce any action by the Congress to correct such decisions by legislation.

Joseph W. Wilcox To Receive Degree At SWTSC, May 24

Joseph Wayne Wilcox of Route 1, Goldthwaite, is one of the 18 candidates scheduled to receive master's and bachelor's degrees in the fifty-sixth annual commencement exercises at Southwest Texas State College at San Marcos May 24.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson will deliver the commencement address and Dr. William Kraus-

1959 Official Texas Highway Map Now Available For Distribution

Austin, Texas, (Spec.) — The new Official Highway Travel Map is now available for distribution by the Texas Highway Department. Copies of the "Travel encyclopedia" of Texas, as it has been called, may be obtained by writing the Texas Highway Department, Austin 14, or at the highway district offices and travel information bureaus. County tax offices have map cards available for requesting copies of the map.

The new map is the answer to today's demand for more and more travel information. The steady growth of Texas from a state with a population of slightly over seven million just ten years ago to its present estimated population of more than nine million is reflected by the information appearing on the 1959 map.

Nine more cities and towns are shown than on last year's map, making a total of 1,821. The increased mileage in U. S. state, and farm-to-market roads is much in evidence. The map reflects some 1,600 miles of multilane divided highway now completed in Texas, including the completed sections of the National System of Interstate and Defense highways located in the state.

The map now shows approximately 61 major lakes and reservoirs, and includes countless rivers, creeks, and streams. Roadside parks, long cherished as rest stops and picnic areas by Texans and tourists alike, now number 1,046 as compared to the 1,026 shown on last year's map.

City route maps are provided of the state's 12 largest cities—Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, Lubbock, San Antonio, Waco, and Wichita Falls.

The reverse side of the map, with a theme of "Texas, Land of Contrast," reflects in 20 full-color pictures, some of the outstanding scenic, historical, and recreational attractions in Texas. A section entitled "Facts About Texas" gives facts and figures on Texas' natural resources, recreational opportunities, state and national parks, historic points of interest, flora, farming and ranching, terrain features, and climate.

The Official Highway Travel Map is used by all state and governmental agencies in the state for determining highway distances, mileages, zones, and like information. The same map is equally as useful to tourists seeking roads leading to good times in Texas.

haer of Seguin, president emeritus of Texas Lutheran College, will give the baccalaureate sermon at 10:30 Sunday morning, May 24, in Evans Auditorium.

Wilcox will receive his B. S. in Vocational Agriculture.

Mills Methodists To Attend Annual Southwest Confer.

San Antonio, (Spec.)—Southwest Texas Methodist Annual Conference will convene Monday, May 25, 7:30 p. m. at Travis Park Methodist Church here with Bishop A. Frank Smith presiding. Dr. Kenneth W. Copeland will be host pastor.

Dr. Harold Bosley, pastor of First Methodist Church, Evans-ton, Ill., will be the conference preacher. He will speak at the morning worship hour on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and at the evening worship hour on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Appointments will be read Friday morning.

At Annual Conference, each pastoral charge in the area is represented by the pastor and one lay delegate. Retired ministers are also members of the Conference.

From Goldthwaite, the Rev. Geo. B. McCrary will be attending with his lay delegate, John L. Patterson. Mrs. Patterson is the alternate delegate.

From the Star Circuit the Rev. Jesse Long will be attending with his lay delegate, J. Sherwood Owens, of Centery City, and Charles Miller of Pleasant Grove, the alternate delegate.

The Rev. Thomas Mitchell of Center City is a retired member of the conference.

During the same week the Rev. M. O. Childress of Goldthwaite will be attending the Oklahoma Annual Conference, of which he is a retired minister.

Mrs. Frank Hines and Greta Sue and Mrs. L. B. Ashley were luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fields Hines and Gregory in Lometa Mother's Day.

Chevy pickup pulls through "bottomless" pastures to keep stock fed!

'At the Hall Bros. Dairy Farm, Montgomery, Ala., they say this 1-sheer drive Chevy will go anywhere to keep stock fed—even through hub-deep muck that makes it a fight all the way. And yet after a full year of it—no mechanical trouble of any kind!

That Chevy pickup may not win any beauty awards (till it's cleaned up). But it's sure walking off with the top prize for dependability. And that's standard Chevrolet procedure. Put a Chevy truck to work and it keeps on working until you say quit. Not before. We aren't claiming that every Chevrolet truck is turning out to be a miracle-worker and averaging 100,000 miles before a valve job. (Even though some are going 150,000!) You're sure to find, however, that you can't buy more truck dependability at any price. And that's borne out by the fact that more truck owners put their faith, and their payloads, in Chevrolets than in any other make. Take your load and schedule figures to your Chevrolet dealer. He'll specify the best way to handle both and save in the bargain.

No job's too tough for a Chevrolet truck!

Now's the time—see your local authorized Chevrolet dealer for a real truck buy!

THE 1959 WATER SUPPLY

The ground water supply outlook this year is "poor in the South and Southwest" and "fair to good in the North," according to U. S. water survey crews.

This rather dim outlook contrasts sharply with last year's generally abundant water supplies in Texas and other western states. It also recalls some vaguely disturbing reminders of the earlier 7-year trend during the bad drought years in Texas.

Snow survey supervisors report, however, that carryover storage from the high 1957 and 1958 runoff, will provide supplemental and late-season underground water where the snowpack is normal. The carryover will also tend to alleviate any disastrous shortage during the 1959 season where the snowpack is low.

The forecast virtually eliminates any damaging high streamflows resulting from snow melt. With average of less snow accumulated in the mountains at the April 1 measuring time, the prospects for spring floods are very slight in the southwest.

Commenting on the irrigation water outlook, D. A. Williams, administrator of the Soil Conservation Service had this advice:

"Farmers and ranchers in areas faced with deficient water supplies should seek expert help and advice in planning their water programs. The soil conservation district can also offer aid in planning cropping and grazing patterns to fit area soil and available water supply."

The seasonal forecast covered 16 states and British Columbia. Of particular interest to Texas was the Rio Grande sector report which read, in part:

"Water outlook is poor in both Colorado and New Mexico with the April 1 snowpack near a record minimum. Mountain soils are dry. An above-normal carryover storage provides good prospects for New Mexico's Tucumcari and Carlsbad projects but only a minimum inflow is in sight to add to Elephant Butte reservoir's near-average storage."

The Colorado and New Mexico mountains are an important factor in supplying underground water for the Panhan-

Questions And Answers About Social Security

Question: My wife and I have begun to plan for our retirement. We are not sure as to whether or not our annuities, savings, and government bonds will interfere with our receipt of social security benefits when I retire.

Answer: Social security benefits are intended to partially replace the loss of earnings due and West Texas areas. A survey of carryover supplies in underground storage was not included in the report.

due to the retirement of the wage earner. Congress has realized that during the wage earner's working years, he will use social security as a base and build upon this by home ownership, savings, insurance and investments. This type of income would not have any effect on the receipt of social security benefits.

Question: I am a school teacher and do not work in June, July, and August; but I do receive pay for 12 months of the year. I am over age 65. Am I entitled to any social security benefits?

Answer: If you have worked long enough to be insured, you can draw your social security checks for any months you do not work, or work for less than $100. Therefore, you would be entitled to the 3 monthly checks.

The Texian Editor's Frontier News Flashes

Department of Journalism & Graphic Arts
University of Houston

May 17 - 23, 1859
(State News)

We see from the Daily San Antonio Herald, that the citizens of that place have recently held a public meeting in which they strongly protest against the late order of the General Post-office Department, reducing the weekly mail service on the Overland Route from San Antonio to San Diego, to a semi-weekly service. We agree with our friends of San Antonio, that in this policy of the Post-office Department, a great error has been committed. The Overland Route to San Diego, has been from some time, not only commending its superior advantages to public favor, but has been gradually opening new facilities of inter-communication, with a remote and interesting section of our common country. We hope the action of the people of San Antonio will have due weight with the Department.

THE FRONTIER WAR

We learn that James M. Swisher has just returned from the Salt works, and reports that the greatest excitement prevails upon the frontier; and that the people are aiming to join Capt. Baylor, who attacked the Upper Reserve. A petition was in circulation calling upon Capt. John B. Ford, who unites the qualities of a soldier and civilian, to run for Governor. The utmost disgust was expressed for our Convention hunting Governor—He will, we are assured from all quarters, get no support upon the frontier—Austin Southern Intelligencer.

Governor Runnels, we are told, is in favor of the re-opening of the Slave Trade, but will take no part in the European Wars, unless the Rangers should be paid by the next Legislature.—Austin Southern Intelligencer.

The Crockett Printer, usually a good observer, hears that that there will be "opposition" to Judge Reagan. "The come-outers" are dissatisfied. Let them bring out their strongest secession man. The Printer "hears that Houston will be used in connection with Reagan and Crosby, probably on the State ticket east, and the name of Hamilton in the west." Well Hamilton is out; and we have it from several hundred old iron-sided Democrats, that they mean to vote for Houston for Governor and for Man Pease, or Ed. Clark, for tenant Governor. Many of men, like the Galveston seem to be satisfied with We shall not vote for but "who the devil cares"

Along with the most talked about style on the road today goes performance new even to owners of previous Buicks... and too great for you to miss.

Buick '59 is livelier yet smoother, more powerful yet thrifter, as any previous Buick owner will tell you. And credit goes to the turbine smoothness of Buick transmissions, plus the new responsiveness of Buick "Wildcat" engines.

At the wheel, too, you'll find new handling ease and finned-brake sureness that owners put high on their "most liked" list.

But that's far from all these owners tell us. They talk about new operating economy from the most efficient power plant on the road today. The Range Riders is a riding club formed by a group of ranchers, and professional men of Houston who love to ride for the fun of it. The Range Riders have appeared for three successive years at the Houston Fat Stock Show and Rodeo, the Chevy Show and Rodeo with Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, the Shrine Circus,

The well mounted Range Riders are undoubtedly one of the most colorful and skillful drill teams in the nation performing hard precision drill. ing is an old-time way of catching fish. And it's still the best, and most progressive means of taking fish. Trotlining now, as always, takes skill and patience. The fisherman can't expect to be successful if he merely stretches the line in the water, then goes and forgets about it for a long time. So let's examine some of the secrets about trotlining. A trotline is simply about a hundred feet of strong cord with drop hooks suspended at intervals of several feet. Usually, one end of the line is tied to a tree or rock on the shore, and the other to an anchor in the water. Different conditions, however, often dictate other ways of setting out the line. One way is to attach an end of the line to a dock piling, under water, then stretch the other end out to its extremity, using an anchor at each end to keep the line taut and the hooks just above the bottom. With this method, the line is kept concealed, entanglement with boats is avoided, and two-legged predators are frustrated.

When it is desirable to set the line in deep water, some distance from shore, a float is used for each 25 feet of line.

In a slow-flowing stream, some fishermen use a float at one end only. Thus the level of the various hooks extends from near the surface, at the float end, to near the bottom at the other end. In this way, you make an offering of bait to the fish no matter at what level he may be swimming.

Another method is to fix a float at each end of the line, inside of the two anchors. Then let the hooks dangle down along the line, not stretched tight, between the floats. This method presents the baited hooks at various levels.

In a river or lake bed, many fishermen drive stakes at opposite ends of a fairly taut line, then tie on an anchor in the middle of the line. This drops the center of the line to the bottom. The hooks then vary upward in depth from the anchor to the stakes, in two directions. If no anchor is attached to the center of the line, and it is stretched tight, the baited hooks will ride just under the surface.

There are other variations of the trotline set. Many variations will occur to the fisherman as he surveys the water where he plans to operate.

Best time to set out a trotline is at dusk. This because a catfish is notoriously a night feeder. As most other fish feed in the daytime, the night fisherman avoids stealing of bait by the other finny ones.

Of course, catfish do sometimes feed during the daylight hours, especially the channel cat.

As indicated above, one of the main questions about setting a trotline is whether you want it deep or shallow. Your decision on this part will depend on what kind of catfish you're going after. And what kind are most numerous in the body of water where you are fishing.

Yellow and blue cats feed on the bottom. In fact, so do most varieties, except the channel cat. The latter usually will be found close to the top.

Trotline fishing varies a great deal with each locality and each body of water. The fisherman will do well to learn the feeding habits of the fish he seeks. Channel cat will come out of the deep water to feed along the banks on insects that fall off the trees and bushes. Therefore, a line stretched parallel with the bank in two or three feet of water is in a good position to catch some fish.

Another good place to set your line is at the mouth of the creek as it empties into the lake, or a creek into a river. The running water usually brings different sorts of food into the deeper, quieter, lake water. Here it is best to set the trotline across the running water, just upstream from the ripples.

If there are large patches of cattails, or small trees and brush, growing in the water where the blackbirds and other birds roost, a good set can be made by circling the patch. This situation usually occurs in the fall when the birds are migrating. Catfish of all kinds will be caught near such a roost.

One caution—there are about as many laws on catfishing as there are lakes, rivers and counties. Always check with your local game warden before going out. There's another good reason for seeing this official. He wants you to catch fish and likely will give you some good tips on where to go and how to set your line.

Length of line is usually governed by local regulations. Just remember that two short lines are better than one long line. The minute you start running your line, the hooked fish on it will start fighting to get off. The longer it takes you to reach him, the more chance he has of tearing himself loose.

Don't stop to bait empty hooks until you have finished running the line. Bait them coming back.

Trotlines should be checked every three hours at night to remove the captured fish and to rebait the hooks.

If you spend several nights on the river or lake, it is wise to remove the trotline after one or two nights, because the rough fish and predators will have discovered it and will hang around to reduce your catch.

You want to use hooks in a size not large than 4/0. That one will hold almost any big fish you will get, but it is not so large that most catfish can't get it in their mouths. Some trotliners use 2/0 or 3/0 hooks. It's a matter of choice.

You can rig up your own trotline readily enough. Ask your local tackle dealer for supplies and instruction. Or, if you are not a do-it-yourself type, get the Octopus Trotline, manufactured by F. Lawrenz Co. of Dallas. This rig features a two-way swivel that prevents the fish from getting off the hook, no matter how much he spins, jerks or twists.

As to baits, the sky's the limit. The catfish will eat anything: shrimp, small bream, live minnows, commercial baits, chicken entrails, liver, etc., ad nauseam.

"THE CHRISTIAN PENTECOST"

Last Sunday was "Pentecost" or "Whitsunday." It would have been more appropriate if this article had been in the paper last week, but that was not my turn. So we will reconsider a bit "Pentecost" is a term, a day and a significance that Christianity should not lose. The original name of the day is Jewish and as such has little significance to us, but the thing that happened on the first Christian Pentecost is of eternal significance to us. According to the New Testament record it occurred 50 days after Easter and 10 days after the final appearance of Christ to his disciples when he gave them the Great Commission. "Go therefore and make disciples of all nations."

The secular historian dates the birth of the Christian Church from that first Christian Pentecost. On that day, throngs being gathered in Jerusalem for the Jewish Pentecost, the disciples boldly came out of hiding, preached to the throngs and 3,000 were added to the little Christian band of 120, so that it is called the birth of the church.

Something far more important than the addition of 3,000 members happened that day. Of course we will not minimize the amazing event of a small church of 120 members receiving 3,000 new members on profession of faith in one day. We have never heard of it happening at any other time, before or since. But, magnify that as you like, and give it the modern importance of statistics, and still I will say that something far more significant than that happened that day which makes it of eternal meaning to the Christian Church. And this thing that happened occurred before the 3,000 were converted. St. Luke in The Acts of the Apostles tells us of the ten days the disciples had been meeting for prayer since the final appearance of Jesus to them and His ascension, that on this day as they were "all together in one place . . . they were all filled with the Holy Spirit." (You may prefer to say Holy Ghost—the 17th century term, meaning Holy Spirit in the 20th century language—same meaning). The secret and the dynamic of all the rest that happened that day in the life and experience of the early Church is that they were filled with the Holy Spirit. That is why they came out of the hiding in which they had been meeting for fear of persecution and Peter stood up boldly and said to the throng in the same city where Jesus was crucified, "This Jesus God raised up, and of that we all are witnesses." The city was filled with wonder when they saw the boldness of these disciples who fearlessly indicted, "This Jesus you crucified and killed by the hands of lawless men . . . God raised up." Again this boldness is noted in an incident some days later when Peter and John were on trial before some of the same leaders who had condemned Jesus to death, it is said that "When they saw the boldness of Peter and John . . . they wondered; and they recognized that they had been with Jesus."

That coming of the Holy Spirit into their lives was the fulfillment of the promise of the same token of so many times in the early verses of The Acts. Jesus had "charged them not to depart from Jerusalem, but to wait for the promise of the Father, which, he said, 'you heard from me, for John baptized with water, but before many days you shall be baptized with the Holy Spirit.'" And He said, "You shall receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you; and you shall be my witnesses in Jerusalem and in all Judea and Samaria and to the end of the earth."

Here is some of the eternal meaning of Pentecost to the Church. The birth of the Church was in her being "filled with" or "baptized with the Holy Spirit." The early Church was the Church of the Living Presence. So that The Book of the Acts of the Apostles might be called the Acts of the Holy Spirit. It was the Church of a vital experience. It was the Church of a dynamic witness and a ringing testimony,—"Whereof we all are witnesses." Their message, therefore, was not good views, but Good News. They had the answer. When the multitude enquired, "What shall we do?" Peter answered, "Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins; and you shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. For the promise is to you and to your children and to all that are far off." And the report is that not only were the 3,000 added that day but further, "The Lord added to their number day by day those who were being saved." Yes, it was the church of a saving evangelistic message.

So today, we may be confident in the trust that if we are the Church that is baptized with the Holy Spirit, the Church of the Living Presence; we will also be the Church with a vital witness and entrusted with the saving grace of the Lord Jesus Christ.

The club elected Mrs. Ruby Ross as T. H. D. A. Alternate to attend the State Meeting which will be held at Galveston. The club also voted to send $10.00 to the Memorial Hospital in San Angelo.

Plans were made during the business session for the club to have a "42" party on June 5, at the American Legion Hall. Everyone has a special invitation to attend this party.

Mrs. A. B. Lindsay was program chairman and presented an interesting program "Growth Needs at Different Stages of Life." She also the life history of the "family."
