Contributions to the park maintenance fund are coming in, according to announcement by Ray Duren, chairman of the maintenance fund drive committee.

W. P. Duren, chairman of the park committee, reported Tuesday that 33 have contributed to the fund since special letter went in the mail last Thursday to 400 citizens of Mills County.

Of the 33 contributing to the fund, 28 paid their $12 for a year for a total of $336. Five others made contributions in the amount of $24, making a total to date of $360.

The committee needs at least 100 contributors to support the fund by giving one dollar per month, or $12 for the year, in order to be able to employ a caretaker for the park all year round, or at least through the growing season.

Those who are interested and have not made their contributions in answer to the letter are requested to do so. Anyone interested in the park who did not receive a letter from the committee is invited to contribute also.

Checks should be made to the Park Fund and mailed to Mills County State Bank, or presented to a member of the park committee.

A concerted effort has been made to assure the pupil a minimum foundation in education.

This year's Public Schools Week will open on Monday, February 29th and run through March 4. The Goldthwaite schools have adopted the theme of "Bringing The Town To Our Schools And Taking Our Schools To Our Town!"

The public is being invited to visit school and see democracy in action as it exists each day and see pupils, "your children," in daily routine of the school day.

In their first effort, they will have each pupil wearing a ribbon that reads: "Welcome To Our School — Public Schools Week." Then the monitors in the various rooms will register mothers, grandmothers, fathers, grandfathers, brothers, sisters, aunts, uncles and friends and will pin on each visitor a ribbon that reads: "We Have Visited Our Schools—Public Schools Week."

"We sincerely want you to visit your school, stay all day and enjoy our fellowship and have lunch with us. PUBLIC SCHOOLS WEEK—The need for the public school never changes, but times and conditions may change or require to be changed methods and practices of public education. This is inherent with anything that grows, for growth is the result of change.

Our Texas public schools were created 106 years ago. In 1854 the first law was passed establishing the public school.

It is a healthy thing in our democratic way of life to have intelligent understanding of the important functions of our basic institutions. This is especially true of the schools. The initiative and resourcefulness and the wisdom and leadership that our schools are inculcating in the youth of today are the answer of the problems of citizenship in the years ahead.

Yes, "bring me men to match my mountains." That is the need of our times and must come from the public schools—schools that are strong in virtues required for building strong men and women.

We can be assured of this and do our part in understanding and helping the public schools to fulfill their great obligation to our times by being a participant in the annual Public Schools Week, February 28 through March 4. Schools will hold open house; accept their hospitality, and you will enjoy the experience of going back to school—if but for a day.

FFA WEEK—Since this is FFA week it seems only proper that one might take a moment out of a busy schedule and read a little about the FFA and what the organization stands for and what those who make up the Future Farmers Of America organization believe in.

THE FFA CREED—I believe in the future of farming, with a faith born not of words but of deeds—achievements won by the present and past generations of farmers; in the promise of better days through better ways, even as the better things we now enjoy have come up to us from the struggles of former years.

I believe that to live and work on a good farm is pleasant as well as challenging; for I know the joys and discomforts of farm life and hold an inborn fondness for those associations which, even in hours of discouragement, I cannot deny.

I believe in leadership from ourselves and respect from others. I believe in my own ability to work efficiently and think clearly, with such knowledge and skill as I can secure, and in the ability of organized farmers to serve our own and the public interest in marketing the product of our soil. I believe we can safeguard those rights against practices and policies that are unfair.

I believe in less dependence on begging and more power in bargaining; in the life abundant and enough honest wealth to help make it so—for others as well as myself; in less need for charity and more of it when needed; in being happy myself and playing square with those whose happiness depends upon me.

I believe that rural America can and will hold true to the best traditions in our national life and that I can exert an influence in my home and community which will stand solid for my part in that inspiring task.

AIM AND PURPOSES OF THE FFA—The primary aim of the Future Farmers of America is the development of agricultural leadership, cooperation and citizenship. The specific purposes for which this organization was formed are as follows:

1. To develop competent, aggressive, rural and agricultural leadership.
2. To create and nurture a love of country life.
3. To strengthen the confidence of farm boys and young men in themselves and their work.
4. To create more interest in the intelligent choice of farming occupations.
5. To encourage members in the development of individual farming programs and establishment in farming.
6. To encourage members to improve the farm home and its surroundings.
7. To participate in worthy undertakings for the improvement of agriculture.
8. To develop character, train for useful citizenship, and foster patriotism.
9. To participate in cooperative effort.
10. To encourage and practice thrift.
11. To encourage improvement in scholarship.
12. To provide and encourage the development of organized rural recreational activities.

RIISING INTEREST RATES MAY BRING LEGISLATION | SENATORS TAKE LOOK AT HIGH INSTALMENT CHARGES

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Association Washington Writer

WASHINGTON—Rising interest rates have caused the attention of a bi-partisan group of senators to be turned to the practice of some unscrupulous merchants in concealing usurious charges on instalment buying through fees, misstatements and other devices.

Led by Senator Paul Douglas, Illinois Democrat, some 20 senators have introduced legislation to make all sellers on credit state the true interest rate charged before the purchase is completed. There would be a $5,000 fine and a year's imprisonment for willful violators.

The measure would cover such time purchases as autos, household appliances, television and radio sets and the myriad of things that make up the nation's present $50 billion of instalment debt. It would also include purchases of homes and other real estate.

Douglas contends that all too often interest charges of 30 to 40 per cent a year are concealed by fast-talking salesmen who quote one price and then tack on service charges, delivery charges, and other extras.

"We don't want to regulate interest rates," Douglas explains. "However, we do want the buyer to know the true rate he is being asked to pay."

The Douglas group believes that a too-large instalment debt can endanger the stability of the national economy. They believe that many prospective purchasers would not buy if they knew just how high the actual interest was.

A bill similar to Douglas's will also be introduced in the House. Similar in philosophy to the measure several years ago requiring the posting of new automobile prices, backers anticipate it will become law during this session of Congress.

ON BEING POLITE—Senators and congressmen rarely let their tempers flare through during debate in Congress. The usual form is to refer to their colleagues in most flattering terms, regardless of their real feelings.

The late Alben Barkley, former vice president, and long-time senator from Kentucky, used to put it this way:

"If some colleague refers to you as 'the distinguished senator' consider yourself lucky. If he refers to you as 'the able and distinguished senator,' be on your guard, for the knife is getting sharper. If, however, he refers to you as 'the able and distinguished senator and my good friend,' then duck fast because he is trying to see if the jugular vein is exposed. And in case he refers to you as 'my very good friend, the able, distinguished and outstanding senator,' then run for your life."

THAT NEW SENATE OFFICE BUILDING—Of all the bugs in the new Senate Office building, which will cost the taxpayers literally millions of dollars before they are eliminated, perhaps the most irksome is the elevators that don't go where they're supposed to.

Recently a medical student, who works part time operating one of them, was late to work and rushed to his job without taking off his intern's coat. Senator Mike Monroney (D), Oklahoma, boarded the elevator, saw the white-coated attendant, and remarked:

"I know the elevators were breaking down now and then, but when did they start putting doctors aboard?"

who weighs seven and one-half pounds, and they call him John Robert.

FOR A REFRESHING LIFT—DRINK MILK

When energy lags—in mid-morning or afternoon—drink a cold glass of milk for a refreshing lift.

It is difficult to have a balanced diet without including a good deal of milk every day... That's because it is so high in calcium and other minerals, high quality protein and vitamins.

Many Texans are not getting enough milk and dairy foods in their daily diet. This was shown by figures in a recent home demonstration survey.

Drinking milk is the simplest way to get the good from milk. But there are many opportunities in cooking to get part of the milk needed daily.

New and different milk drinks are easy to prepare. With a bit of planning and organization, you might arrange a "milk bar" near the refrigerator where youngsters can make their own milk shakes and other delicious drinks.

Recipes and ideas for using milk in drinks and tasty dishes are given in the extension bulletin, "Good Milk for Good Meals." Get a copy from my office.

TODAY'S Menu

Break Menu Monotony With A Duck Dinner

By ALICE DENHOFF

DUCK gives a break in menu monotony that homemakers look to after all that turkey. It's easy to turn duck into a gourmet affair.

As a change, skip the traditional trappings, the apple sauce, the orange slices and such, and see what a job can be done with other items, such as pimiento-stuffed green olives, for instance.

New Duck Dish
For a duck dish that looks as pretty as it tastes good, melt 2 tsp. butter; add 1/2 c. chopped onions and cook until browned.

Add 3 c. soft bread crumbs, 1/3 c. chopped pimiento-stuffed green olives and 1/3 tsp. pepper; mix well.

Fill cavity of 1 (4-5 lb.) duckling with mixture. Fasten with skewers or string. Place on rack in roasting pan; bake at 325° F. 15 to 20 min., or until meat thermometer registers 190°. Baste duckling during baking period.

Serves 6.
Spanish Recipe
Pato Cazuela Montañesa, a recipe of Spanish origin, is the next duck delight.

To serve 4, combine 1/4 c. olive oil and 1 tsp. paprika; mix well. Add 1 quartered (4-5 lb.) duck and cook until browned.

Remove duck. Add chopped medium-sized onion to drippings and cook 5 min.

Add 1/4 c. all-purpose flour and mix well. Gradually add 2 c. chicken stock or bouillon; cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened.

Add 1 sliced, medium-sized tomato, 1/4 c. chopped pimiento-stuffed green olives and the browned duck.

Cook, covered, over low heat 1 hr. or until duck is tender. Sprinkle with paprika.

Olive Duckling Skillet
To serve 6 with a tasty Olive Duckling Skillet, melt 2 tsp. butter; add 1 (4-5 lb.) duckling and cook until browned on all sides.

Remove duckling; reserve drippings.

Add 2 tsp. all-purpose flour, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/4 tsp. each pepper, mace, marjoram, 1 bay leaf and 1/4 c. chopped parsley to drippings; blend.

Gradually add 1 1/2 c. water and 1/2 c. chicken bouillon and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Add 1/2 c. each chopped celery and sliced pimiento-stuffed green olives; mixing well. Add duckling.

Cover and cook over low heat 1 1/2 hrs. or until duckling is tender.

VALLEY'S BIG CITRUS SEASON

The Rio Grande Valley is about half-way through its first 9,000,000 to 10,000,000 box citrus season since the disastrous freezes of 1949-51, and improved quality of the fruit is a key point in the recovery program.

The 1959-60 citrus season is figured to yield at least 3,000,000 boxes more than the 1958-59 season, and the Valley is well on its way toward getting back to the peak production years of the late 1940's.

Hard freezes in 1949-51 cut Valley citrus production to 3,000,000 boxes and less, but rapid progress has been made since 1952 in the rehabilitation of the industry.

A few orange trees planted in the 18th century on a Spanish grant north of Edinburg in Hidalgo County are believed to have been the first citrus grove in Texas. Scattered citrus plantings were growing along the Texas Gulf Coast from Victoria to Brownsville by the 1850's. By the turn of the century in 1900, however, it had been proven that with the exception of some production in the Winter Garden area, citrus crops could not be grown successfully outside of the Lower Rio Grande Valley counties of Cameron, Hidalgo, Willacy and Starr.

It was not until 1904 that the first commercial grapefruit grove in the Valley was planted. By 1925, about 80 per cent of the Texas citrus crop consisted of grapefruit. Oranges accounted for about 15 per cent, and limes, lemons, tangerines and kumquats for five per cent. The Valley was shipping some 500 boxes of citrus in 1925.

Most of the older grapefruit trees in the Valley were of the Marsh Seedless variety, but nearly all of these were wiped out in the 1949-51 freezes. Since then, the quality improvement program has brought the red-blush types, notably the Ruby Red, to the front and nearly all Valley production is now based on these improved types.

The large canning industry that had developed in the peak years of Valley citrus production turned to processing vegetables and other products while the citrus groves were being established, and this remains a vital and dependable part of the Valley's economy.

Purpose Of FFA Week

Annual Future Farmers of America Week seeks to focus attention on the work of the Farmers of today, who will be successful farmers of tomorrow.

Education must have a continuous supply of new farmers to replace those who retire, or otherwise leave the farm. These must be men of good character, sound experience and training.

Successful farmer today is a scientist and a businessman; mechanic, and a laborer at the same time capable of handling the affairs of a community. Generally, they are men who have begun at an early age, so that when they are ready to start a family they are firmly established in a program that promises future.

National Agriculture and Vocational Education constitute the most developed program yet developed in the world for training boys to be good farmers and helping them to establish in the farm-occupations of their choice.

Because of the nation's need for more farmers, it is fitting that these men who are preparing for farming. Encouragement at this time will do to stimulate them to work and greater achievement.

The anniversary of the birthday of George Washington. Although usually considered first as a great general, our first president, and an engineer, George Washington's first love was the farm he called Mount Vernon. There he was one of the first in the nation to practice contour planting, crop rotations, and other soil conserving methods. Probably no other man in America of his day spent more time seeking new agricultural information either by experimentation on his own farm, or by correspondence with agricultural scientists in England. The title of America's first "scientific farmer" might be applied to Washington. It was more than a century after his death that many of the sound agricultural practices he advocated found general practice.

It is out of deep respect and admiration for George Washington, the farmer in whose progressive ways they seek to follow, that Future Farmers annually observe their National FFA Week at the time of his birthday.

Vocational Agriculture And The FFA

A basic requirement for membership in the FFA is that a boy must be a student of vocational agriculture in high school, although he is permitted to retain his membership for three years following graduation. We invite your attention to the national program of vocational education in agriculture and the Future Farmers of America organization.

Vocational Education In Agriculture

Vocational education in agriculture is a nation-wide, federally-aided program of systematic instruction in agriculture and farm mechanics of less than college grade, conducted in public schools or classes for those persons over 14 years of age, "who have entered upon or who are preparing to enter upon the work of the farm or the farm home," under a plan of cooperation between the State Boards for Vocational Education and the Office of Education, U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Instruction is given by teachers who are specially trained agricultural college graduates. Teachers are employed on a 12-month basis. The instructional program is designed to fit the needs of the local community.

The Future Farmers Of America

The Future Farmers of America is the national organization, of, by, and for farm boys studying vocational agriculture in public secondary schools which operate under the provisions of the National Vocational Education Acts. It is an educational, non-profit, non-political farm youth organization of voluntary membership, designed to develop agricultural leadership, character, thrift, scholarship, cooperation, citizenship, and patriotism. Boys must be enrolled in vocational agriculture to become eligible for membership. They may retain their membership for three years following their graduation from high school, or until they are 21 years of age.

The FFA is sponsored by the Agricultural Education Branch, Office of Education, U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, in cooperation with the various State Boards for Vocational Education and local high school departments of vocational agriculture. The Director of the Agricultural Education Branch serves as National FFA Advisor, and a member of his staff serves as National FFA Executive Secretary. The State Advisor for each State Association of the FFA is the State Supervisor of Vocational Agriculture, and the advisor of each local chapter is the high school teacher of vocational agriculture.

Organized In 1928

The national FFA organization was launched at Kansas City, Missouri, in November, 1928, following many years of development of vocational agriculture student organizations in the states and local communities. Originally incorporated under the laws of the State of Virginia, the FFA was granted a charter of incorporation by Act of Congress in 1950 (Public Law 740, 81st Congress.)

The FFA has 377,922 active members in 8,993 local chapters located in farming areas through the 50 states and Puerto Rico. Texas has 36,000 members.

Clementine Wilmeth Briley Writes From Temporary Home In El Paso

By CLEMENTINE WILMETH BRILEY

Tuesday of this week was rather quiet and mild. I worked out in the yard in the afternoon. But today (Friday) we had another dust storm. And tonight the wind has a lonesome sound as it rattles around the house.

In spite of the dust storm Grace and I drove out to Ysleta after school to see Mrs. Breeding. She phoned me just before noon to tell me that Garland had gone back to the hospital. Notwithstanding the high hopes we had for her when she came back from the hospital almost three weeks ago, she now seems to be right back where she was. Mrs. Breeding, who is 83, with indomitable courage has again been doing the cooking and housework and waiting on Garland. She looked pathetic this evening. She said she was up all night with Garland last night. Jay hadn't come home from work yet, but Ben Clayton (Scootie) was there.

Mrs. Breeding let us read a letter they had recently received from Florence (Mrs. Angus Burn) from her home in Manila. She has been able to be up some since her stomach ulcer operation in January, but she has to spend most of her time in bed. She said that Angus' mother passed away, Feb. 2, at her home in Northumberland, England. She was 91. They had hoped to be with her during their vacation in the summer.

Florence said she and Angus might come to the United States for a visit in the autumn.

Today I received a very short letter from my sister, Mrs. Edna Dwyer. She wanted to let us know that she was glad to get our letter, but she was sick and didn't feel like writing. She had been in the hospital one night and two days. The doctors say her trouble is a nervous breakdown. She says she hopes they know what to do to cure her. She speaks of a clear day but a cold day at Victoria. She is looking for spring to come and hopes she can get back home at Ebony before too long.

I pruned my roses Wednesday afternoon, and you should see the pile of rose brush I have to dispose of. Doc Thompson said you should leave 3 to 6 canes 16 to 20 inches high. Smaller weak plants might be pruned to as low as 6 inches. Old canes should be removed. Also center canes or canes that crowd. Cut off the tops of canes just a little above a bud. Use varnish or something made for that purpose to seal cut wood. Canes you take out should be cut right down to the bud at the ground. In this area you are supposed to set the plant with the bud just above the ground. I made the mistake of getting mine too deep in the ground. I'm always having to rake the dirt away from the bud. If I ever get more plants, I'll know better how to set them and how to prune them.

Before this letter could get into print, February will be almost gone. The Transpecos Teachers' Association will be meeting here the first week in March. We are looking forward to seeing the Ralph Wilmeths from Fort Stockton then.

Most of this letter was written Friday, February 19, but now it is Saturday, Feb. 20. Since noon Ben Clayton called us and told us that the doctor had just called from the hospital that Garland had passed away. We hardly thought it would be so soon. We called Mrs. Clara Malone Bean — sister-in-law to Garland. She is standing by ready to help in any way that she can. She reminded us that Garland would be buried at Van Horn as that is where her husband is buried. Funeral arrangements are pending.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Texas—With an eye on the growing cost of government and need for new taxes, a committee from the Texas Senate has launched an economy study.

Overall state budget for the present two-year spending period is $328,000,000 more than for the previous two-year period. It was an increase of about 11 per cent. There is every indication that the next Legislature will be faced with demands to raise salaries and expand and improve state services in approximately the same proportion.

Some of the cost increase is attributed to sheer quantity. With Texas population increasing an estimated 26 per cent from 1950-60, there are more youngsters to educate, more patients for state hospitals, more cars wearing out the roads.

More significantly, the percentages of oldsters and youngsters is increasing faster than the percentage of middle-aged people. Older and younger people generally up revenue needs—for welfare benefits and schooling—but contribute less in taxes than income-earning middle-agers.

Some of the increase in costs results from a drive for quality—better schools, hospitals and highways.

With undeniable money needs so great, the Senate committee was set up to seek out any indications of extravagance or waste and "see if we are getting our dollar's worth for the money we're spending."

As a starter, the committee, headed by Sen. Ray Roberts of McKinney, agreed to hold its own expenses to the bare minimum.

Bridges Too Low—State Highway Department Engineers are faced with the task of re-designing bridges for the interstate highways to conform with a U. S. Defense Department requirement for a 16-foot clearance.

Texas has 254 bridges in the interstate system which do not meet the newly announced overhead clearance requirement.

U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, which works with the Highway Department in planning the joint federal and state road system, has specified only a 14.5 foot clearance.

Bridges costing approximately $140,000 apiece, and re-designing to meet the new standards would cost about 55 per cent of the original cost. By-passes for transport of missiles and other defense equipment are being considered.

Marathon Water Hearing—When the subject is water development, Texans always seem to have a few million well-chosen words to exchange.

Hearing before the State Water Board over whether Houston and the Trinity River Authority shall receive a permit to build a new Trinity reservoir is one of the longest ever held. It has been in progress off and on since November.

Main opponent is the San Jacinto River Authority which wants Houston to use its money developing the San Jacinto rather than the Trinity.

SJRA witnesses contend the Trinity water will be inadequate in amount and unsuitable for domestic use.

Oil Flow Cut—Texas Railroad Commission set the March oil allowable at 2,900,568 barrels a day.

This is 120,498 barrels a day less than the February allowable. It continues February's 10-day production pattern.

Most of the industry testimony before the Commission was gloomy. There is an oversupply of oil now, said some spokesmen, and another month of over-production would be "disastrous."

Cities Due Recognition—Cities of Harlingen and West University Place (Harris Co.) are to receive awards for their water and sewage plants on March 2.

Dr. J. E. Peavy, State Health Commissioner, will present cups to representatives of the cities

RUNAWAY HEIRESS AT HEARING—Roberta Orr Brady, 17, heiress to millions who eloped with Albert Brady, 26, a delinquent clerk, sits beside her husband in a Miami Beach, Fla., court, after learning that her socialite mother had forgiven her. While larceny and abduction charges were reportedly being dropped by the mother, Princess Rokneddin Kadjar, Justice of the Peace Mal Englander decided to keep Brady under custody until he recovers from after effects from a shot of penicillin. Englander said he would announce other matters involved when Brady is released from the hospital.

at a banquet sponsored by the Texas Water and Sewage Works Association.

Harlingen will be recognized for having the "most attractive water treatment plant in the state" and West University Place for the "most attractive sewerage treatment plant."

Presentation will be made during a short course for city water and sewage plant personnel to be held Feb. 5 at Texas A&M College.

Care For Oldsters—Texas' need for more mental hospital space has focused attention on the number of state mental hospital beds occupied by persons not mentally ill.

In a talk before the Texas Association for Mental Health, Gov. Price Daniel said, "One of our toughest problems now involves those 5,000 hospital patients whose only illness is advanced age."

"Senility is not insanity," said the governor, "and a concerted effort must be made to enable these aged citizens to be cared for in nursing homes or in their own homes."

State Hospital Board Chairman French Robertson called it "a sad thing that people send their old people to mental hospitals when they don't want to take care of them."

Patrol Exams Set—Young men between 21 and 35 years of age will have an opportunity in April to seek admission to one of the nation's most highly regarded law enforcement agencies.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., Director of the Department of Public Safety, announced that entrance examinations will be given April 12, 13 and 14 for candidates for the State Highway Patrol.

Applicants must be high school graduates, in good physical condition and of high moral character. They must be not less than 68 inches nor more than 76 inches tall and weigh not less than three pounds nor more than three pounds per inch of height.

Applicants should contact regional or district DPS offices or write the Texas Department of Public Safety, Austin.

Gas Hike Okayed—Texas Railroad Commission has granted Lone Star Gas Co. permission to raise its rates from 30 cents to 35.4 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

Lone Star, which sells to 328 Texas cities, had asked for an increase to 40 cents.

Twenty-eight cities vigorously opposed the company's request, keeping the matter in heated controversy before the Commission for more than a year.

No Competition—Several legislative races have been "won" without a shot fired. Texas Legislative Service reports 20 announced candidates for legislative posts have withdrawn.

FFA Members Have Busy Year

During the past year the Goldthwaite F. F. A. Chapter has carried out an active and efficient feeding program. To qualify as a member of the F. F. A. each boy must have as a project either an animal feeding or crop project.

During the year a number of boys fed out animals for the county Fat Stock Show and several of them went on to Stock Shows throughout the state.

In the program of feeding stock to show there were three Angus breeding heifers, two Hereford steers, eight breeding sheep, six breeding goats and four hogs. In the commercial program there were 40 head of breeding cattle, 18 head of fat steers, 240 head of breeding sheep, 40 head of breeding goats and ten head of hogs.

Through the project program the boys have an opportunity to put into practice what they learn in class. They take trips during class and after school in which they practice methods of working with stock. The boys have a chance to show their skill in judging cattle as F. F. A. has judging teams that participate in contests over the area and district.

PARENT PROBLEMS

When And How Often To Spank A Youngster

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

FOR A number of years some advisers of parents have approved giving the child an occasional whack, even though they have denounced deliberate spanking as a means of training him in basic inhibitions and respect for the word No (said just once in a moderate tone). Its purpose, they say, is to let the youngster know when you are vexed at him and also to let off pent-up anger in oneself.

Similar Advice

In a recent issue of "Your Today's Child," similar advice is given by Dr. John Kenward, director of the University of Chicago's Child Psychiatric Clinic. He's reported to have said, "A good whack on the seat" can do much to convince a young skeptic that his parents mean what they say, and serves as a kind of shock treatment.

Even Dr. Benjamin Spock says he thinks spanking "is less poisonous than lengthy disapprovals, because it clears the air for parent and child." Also he thinks it's "unnatural" for a parent "never to spank a child in anger."

Emergency Measure

The experts' prevailing concept of spanking seems to regard it as an emergency measure, to be used only when you don't know what else to do or when you must get some outlet for your anger.

Often in this column I have deplored this point of view. When an emergency stage is reached, or the parent supposes she must have emotional relief, she's hardy fit to spank, or the child fit to profit from it. Besides, the parent who hears or reads that "an occasional whack" is all right may, in good conscience, follow her feelings in deciding when to whack. If you applied the experts' advice to the tot, two or three, when he's learning definite limitations, and learning there are a few things he must not have or do, you'd whack him only when you found no other way to restrain him. You might not whack him until after you had said No or Don't 20 times. You'd wait until you got mad enough to whack.

Physical Pain

Those of you who have read this column for years know I've insisted that, when you first say No to a child, in a few selective situations, you should calmly and deliberately give him physical pain. This should be done right when you say no once in a moderate tone, in order to connect the word No with the pain. Thereafter, this word alone will deter (inhibit) him.

Be Consistent

If you are consistent, you will make sure that he never can disobey No or Don't without getting instant physical pain—a whack.

As soon as the tot has learned to respect No (said just once) as final, he may need no more whackings. Then obedience-emergencies hardly will arise.

(My bulletins, "How to Teach Child Meaning of No" and "To Spank or Not to Spank," may be had by sending a self-addressed, U. S. stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.)

Answering Parents' Questions

Governor's Proclamation For Public Schools Week In Texas

For each of the past ten years Public Schools Week in Texas has been set aside as a special time to place increased emphasis on our educational system.

During this period, parents are encouraged to visit the public schools, and all citizens are urged through special programs to recognize the tremendous importance of our system of education. Our goal is to make Texas public schools the finest in the Nation, and to achieve this our citizens are urged to take an active interest in the school systems and to cooperate with their school boards, superintendents, principals and teachers.

Never before in our history has there been a greater need for educated leadership. As we rush to train young people in science and technology to keep pace with world events, it is also important to remember that our public schools will furnish our leaders of tomorrow with the basic human, moral and spiritual foundations necessary for more advanced training and knowledge.
