One Arrest Clears Area Tool Thefts

After receiving information of two farm thefts in the Circleback and Bula areas Thursday morning, Deputy Sheriff Pete Black started an investigation. By the time he went to bed early Friday morning, Deputy Black had cleared the two thefts plus one more by the arrest of a 19-year old former resident, who had worked in the area of the thefts.

Somewhere between $800-$1000 is estimated to be the value of the tools and tool boxes, batteries and chargers recovered by the deputy sheriff.

All women who will help quilt on the FFA Brand quilt are asked to come upstairs at William's Brothers Office Supply Monday, December 12, at 9:30 a.m. Scissors are all that need to be brought says Mrs. Robert Hunt. Quilters do not have to be associated with the Booster club.

VICTORY TRAIL--As Lyndal Stovall, left, goes up for a lay-up, Sam Whalin, No. 32, keeps a watchful eye as the Muleshoe Junior Varsity Mules downed the Farwell Junior Varsity in Muleshoe Tuesday night by 54-35. The Varsity boys downed Farwell 52-39 and the Mulettes turned the tables on the Farwell Steerettes, 56-31 the same night.

Alternatives For Corn Production Outlined

Corn producers in the High Plains, staggered in 1977 by bad weather and unfavorable economics, need to give careful thought to whether or not to plant the crop in 1978, an agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service cautions.

But with careful planning and consideration of production limitations, corn can continue to be an important and profitable crop on the High Plains, he said.

Faced again with high pumping costs for irrigation, high costs of other inputs and uncertain corn grain prices, farmers need to look closely at their alternatives and their production practices. Dr. Frank Petr (cq), agronomist at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center here, said.

"Producers will again have to take a good look at their water supply and the capacity of their system to apply the water to their corn acreage in a relatively short time if weather conditions and other loose tools which were stolen from three farmers in southern Bailey County. One 19-year old was arrested and charged in the thefts of the various tools, estimated to be valued between $800-$1000.

result in sudden stress," Petr said.

"If pumping costs are unusually high for any reason, or there just isn't enough water available, the producer may find it advantageous to plant sorghum and perhaps grow a part of the acreage with some type of limited irrigation," he advised.

Last year's corn crop in the High Plains got off to a good start, with better than average stands, the Extension agronomist said. Producers' problems began with the high temperatures and high winds of July. "Fields that were moderately stressed as a result of attempts to hold down pumping costs were hurt the most," Petr said, "but even fields with reserve soil moisture were adversely affected by the persistent hot, drying winds."

The high temperatures damaged the pollen, resulting in poor pollination, which he said was the primary cause of reduced yields. Tassel development and emergence of the silks was delayed by the same conditions.

"As a consequence, pollen was available when no silks were present. By the time the silks emerged, the high pollen concentration required for good seed set was past its peak." Subsequent improvement of growing conditions and ample irrigation couldn't compensate for the poor seed set.

"Unlike sorghum, which can produce additional seed heads after adverse conditions are past, corn cannot readily regenerate additional tassels and ear shoots," he noted.

In addition to sorghum, Petr suggested sugarbeets and sunflowers as alternative crops for corn producers. With sugarbeets, the timing of irrigation is not critical and satisfactory yields with a high sugar content can be obtained with only one or two irrigations, he said. He suggested sunflowers for land in excess of the acreage that can be adequately irrigated.

School Board Agenda Light For Meeting

Almost all items on the agenda for the meeting Monday night of the Muleshoe Independent School Board of Trustees are of a routine nature. The exceptions includes a complete current financial report concerning all phases of the school operation, including the tax collection report.

Board members will open sealed bids on motors for the Auto Mechanics Shop at MHS and will consider approval of painting ceilings in the high school corridors and possible fluorescent lighting for classrooms in the old part of MJHS.

To be discussed are the school calendar for the 1977-78 school year and TASB Unemployment insurance and board policy manuals. Members will consider a lease agreement with the city to get the tennis courts re-surfaced and will discuss enrollment, personnel, announcements, correspondence and unfinished business.

Local Homemaker Group End Classes

The South Plains Homemaker Service, in affiliation with the Texas Tech University College of Home Economics, has concluded its homemaker training program at the South Plains Electric Cooperative.

For Muleshoe women completed the required training and are employed at Homemaker Service aides in the local area. They are Starl Magby, Julie Patterson, Winnie Wurst and Mac Provence.

Homemakers completing 60 hours of training received certificates of confirmation, including training manuals and homemaker service aide pins.

The South Plains Homemaker Service provides employment and training for mature homemakers who perform in-home care services for elderly and disabled persons desiring to remain in their own homes and able to do so with limited assistance.

Services performed by homemakers include menu planning and meal preparation, escort to the doctor or beauty shop, personal grooming and care of individual needs, visitation and companionship. They help also with laundry and light house-keeping.

Services, available at a nominal fee based on monthly

Guidelines To Be Set For Center

During the regular meeting of Bailey County Commissioner's Court Monday, one main item on the agenda will be a discussion of policies and guidelines for operation of the Exhibition Center and Coliseum presently under construction here.

Also, commissioners will consider approving a change order to the Pharr Construction Inc. for the contract on the civic center as well as approve a payment of funds to the builders.

They will also hold a hearing for the use of Revenue Sharing Funds expected to be received in 1978.

Meeting time is 10 a.m. in the Bailey County Commissioners courtroom.

Bailey County Shares Texas Travel Dollars

Bailey County received $1,591,800 of the state's $6,075,952,000 travel receipts in 1976, a national study commissioned by the Texas Tourist Development Agency has disclosed.

The 1976 figures reflect an increase of 12 percent in travel receipts over 1975 when Bailey County's travel business accounted for $1,426,000.

In addition to gross receipts, the study found that Bailey County in 1976 had 57 of the state's $225,258 travel-related jobs, with an annual payroll of $303,400.

It also estimated $63,000 in state and $13,900 in local taxes were paid by county visitors in 1976.

The study was done by the U.S. Travel Data Center in Washington, D.C., and independent travel research organization funded jointly by public and private sectors.

It was based on the Center's Travel Economic Impact Model which breaks out a state's share of the national travel market on a county-by-county basis.

The model measures the economic impact of all travel involving overnight trips away from home, and day trips at least 100 miles or more from home. Thus, it included travel by Texans as well as out-of-state visitors, for all purposes.

It includes estimates of the traveler's spending at home in preparation for the trip, his spending enroute, and that at his destination.

Basic data for the model comes from the National Travel Survey, conducted every five years by the U.S. Census Bureau, and from the Center's own National Travel Expenditure Model.

It was the latter which estimated that in 1975 Texas had displaced New York for third

Moisture Continues To Elude This Area

Christmas is in the air, in more ways than one. Decorations festoon streets, homes, businesses, and the busy look and feel of the 'special' time of the year promise gaudy and fun to come later this month.

But, if cold, wintry weather is also a harbinger of the season, residents have been treated to a little of that in the recent days. No snow, but bitter cold weather settled into the area during the past week, bringing with it, broken water pipes, vehicles that refuses to start and the usual amount of winter colds and flu.

Early Friday morning, the temperature had dipped to a low, low 13 degrees following a day of springlike weather with the temperature in the low 70s. High wind and sand, which frequently announces the approach of cold weather had preceded the dry cold that kept the high temperature Friday below the 40 degree mark.

Saturday morning, the temperature hovered just above the 10 degree mark as residents stayed near heaters and added additional clothing to help combat the biting cold.

As the latest cold front sliced through the state, afternoon temperatures were expected to stay in the low 40s during the weekend, before moving back into a warmer range the first of this week.

At the same time, the coldest weather of this winter was holding the northeast and mid-west in a firm grip. Crippling snows slowed traffic and forced many schools to shut down in the midwest, including in the Chicago area and on across the Rockies.

Almost all schools in Ohio were forced to be closed because of the weather, and -70 degrees were reported across North Dakota.

3-Way School Plans Meet For Parents

Parents of Migrant and Title I children are urged to attend a meeting at the Three Way School at 2:30 p.m.; Tuesday, December 13.

At the time, new officers for the Parent's Advisory Committee will be elected.

Three Way School officials urge all parents of the children involved in the two programs to please be represented at the meetings.

Junior Historians Verifying Names

While examining some old postal records furnished to the Muleshoe Junior High Historians, a list of box rentals was found. The names were listed in the 1916 Official Postmasters' Account and Record Book for Muleshoe, Texas.

At the time, M.P. Smith was postmaster. Because of the handwritten names, some in this list may be incorrectly spelled or given.

As the Junior Historians are making every attempt to be historically accurate as possible in their research, they would appreciate any help given to them.

If anyone can correct any of the names on this list, please call Mrs. LaVonne McKillip at 272-4841 at Muleshoe Junior High School.

The list below covers the years 1916, 1917 and 1918. At least 118 box rentals were noted at 25 and 35 cents per quarter.

J.E. Brunk, E.H. Buhram, H.A. Cantrall, Jack Carr, High Carr, H.A. Douglass, Jess Elrod, Carl Elrod, J.W. Foster, E.R. Hart, E.G. Hoskins, E.

Cattle Need Supplemental Vitamin

COLLEGE STATION -- Many beef cattle may not be getting enough vitamin A in their diets this fall due to drought condi-

On Wall Street
By Bob Hill

The weakness of the dollar overseas has a number of people disturbed. Just how serious is it?

The long range effect of a weak dollar on our trade position is favorable. The possible effect on inflation in this country is quite serious.

The weakness of the dollar is due for the most part to a massive balance of payments deficit. This deficit is caused by the continued imports of foreign crude oil coupled with weak foreign sales of U.S. products overseas. The recent dock strike which halted the shipment of containerized cargo in East and Gulf Coast ports aggravated the situation.

Our high unemployment figures and the current state of the steel industry will add fuel to the efforts of politicians to set up barriers against foreign goods coming into this country. Most of the industrialized nations are in a stagnate state with low growth rates. Only Germany and Japan are running trade surpluses. Efforts to get those two countries to stimulate their own domestic economies have gotten only grudging responses. Japan, especially has tough restrictions on the sale of foreign goods in Japan.

Cutting back on U.S. imports other than crude oil would weaken the economies of our overseas trading partners. However, it looks as if there will be further market agreements limiting the imports into this country of TV sets, shoes and textiles because of political pressure at home. The other countries will just have to suffer.

Meanwhile the purchase of overseas crude oil will continue at its present rate. The increase of oil from the North Slope of Alaska will be offset by purchasing of crude for the strategic petroleum reserve now being created to give us a buffer against another oil embargo.

tions and lack of green forages. So producers may want to supply a supplemental source of vitamin A for cows grazing dry, bleached pastures with little or no green hay or silage.

"Vitamin A promotes growth, stimulates appetite, aids in reproduction and lactation, keeps the mucous membranes of respiratory and other tracts in healthy condition, and makes for normal vision," points out Dr. Larry L. Boleman, area beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Deficiencies of vitamin A during pregnancy may cause cows to abort or give birth to dead or weak calves. Extreme deficiencies may also impair the ability of cows to conceive. Bulls receiving insufficient vitamin A show a decline in sexual activity and semen quality."

Carotene, which supplies vitamin A, is contained in all green parts of growing plants. Good pasture always provide liberal and rich supplies of carotene and thus have a high vitamin A value. However, vitamin value decreases after the plant's

Court Ruling Won't

Affect State Workers

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Monday that the U.S. Supreme Court ruling that meal allowances paid New Jersey state troopers is taxable income probably won't affect Texas' 240,000 state employees.

"Our legal staff has been over that ruling with a fine-tooth comb and we're convinced that the fact situation in New Jersey simply doesn't apply to Texas," Bullock said.

As State Comptroller, Bullock is the state's chief paymaster. Bullock expressed that opinion in letters to Texas Department of Public Safety Director Col. Wilson E. Speir and other state department heads. The high court issued its ruling last Tuesday.

The facts in that case indicate that unlike in Texas, the meal allowance paid New Jersey state troopers is actually considered a part of their salaries, Bullock said.

"In the first place, the meal allowance in New Jersey is negotiated every year between the State and the police-troopers union," Bullock said.

He said the court records also show that the New Jersey meal bloom stage and much of the carotene is destroyed in hay by oxidation during field curing. The degree of greenness in a roughage is usually a good index of its carotene content, but has over one year old (regardless of color; is usually not an adequate source of carotene or vitamin A, says Boleman.

"The vitamin A requirement of breeding, growing and finishing beef cattle can be met by carotene in feedstuffs such as green pastures, grass or legume silages, hay not over a year old, or by supplementary vitamin A either by intramuscular injection or orally," noted the specialist.

Growing and finishing steers and heifers require 1000 international units of vitamin A per pound of dry diet; pregnant heifers and cows, 1270; and lactating cows and breeding bulls, 1770.

The intramuscular injection of emulsified vitamin A at the rate of one million units apparently provides sufficient vitamin A to prevent deficiency signs for two to four months in growing or breeding beef cattle.

allowance varies with rank and is included in the trooper's pay for the purpose of calculating his retirement benefits.

"The system just doesn't work like that in Texas," Bullock said.

"Our travel and meal allowances are set by the Texas Legislature and are supposed to cover state employees' out-of-pocket expenses for food and lodging while on official state business."

In Texas, DPS troopers and other state employees who must be away from their designated headquarters for at least six hours are eligible for a meal allowance not to exceed $15.

If an employee's duty requires him to sleep away from his designated headquarters, he is eligible for a food and lodging allowance of $30 a day.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek discusses thinking this week we think.

Dear editor:
A lot of people, including some scientists, are alarmed over what science is doing in the field of human life, the cells, the genes, the chromosomes and things like that which I don't know anything about and don't intend to learn, any more than I intend to learn the metric system.

In fact, some reputable scientists want those exploring scientists to stop, saying it's dangerous and may lead to no telling what, maybe an entirely different type of human being. Here we are, nearly 500 years after Columbus discovered America and proved the world was round, and, like those thinkers in Spain who argued that the world was flat and Columbus would said off the edge if he kept going, we still have fraidy-cats.

Incidentally, I've often wondered why some school boy back then, on being told you'd plunge off the edge of the earth if you kept sailing outward in a straight line, didn't raise his hand and ask his teacher if that was the case, then what kept the ocean from flowing over the edges and completely draining itself? You mean schools in those days weren't any more successful than schools today in teaching kids to think?

On the other hand, most of us today still believe pretty much what we're told. For example, everybody wants to save gasoline, so companies have now come out with tires and special brands of oil they claim will save gas. I myself am now trying to invent gas-saving Rear-view mirrors and windshield wipers.

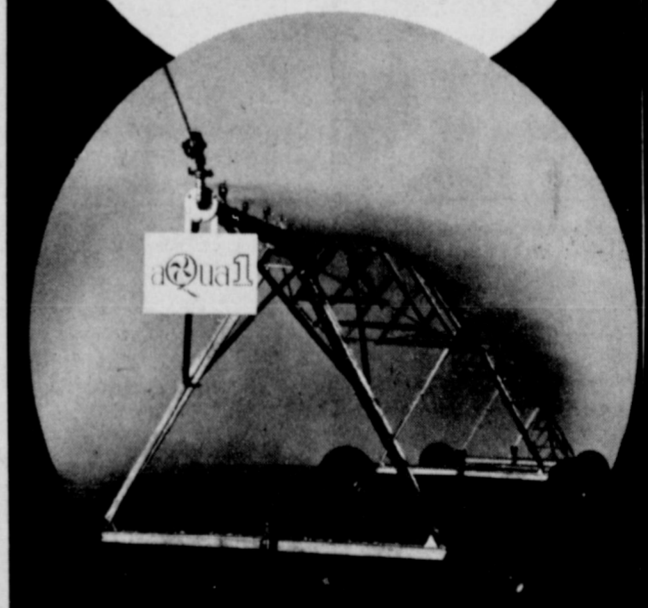

Changing the subject, if I had one to start with, I notice that Congress has labored long and hard and come out with an unemployment bill. It doesn't end unemployment or tellow it ought to be achieved, but it does come out flat-footedly for a goal of no more than 4 percent unemployment by 1980. I guess this is the first time in history Congress has stopped passing laws and started passing wishes.

Your faithfully,
J.A.

Bula News
By
Mrs. J. Blackman

Mr. and Mrs. Ashel Richardson, Mrs. Michael Richardson and children Michael and misty from Muleshoe and Mrs. Jerry Teaff of Bula drove to Tula Sunday afternoon for a visit with Mrs. Richardson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Elkins.

Mrs. Pearl Walden enjoyed having to eat Sunday lunch with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Walden of Littlefield. She accompanied them home and spent the night.

The community Christmas tree and program will be given the night of December 22, at the Baptist Church. Clay Causey, missionary from Kenya, will be the guest speaker.

Miss Oralia Davilla, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barrie Davilla of Bula has recently been notified that she had passed her state board Nursing examination. She is now licensed vocational nurse. She is presently working with Dr. Still as his nurse at the Littlefield Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bogard spent Tuesday until Thursday visiting with his sisters, Mrs. Lena Pettitt at McLean and Mrs. Blanche Smith, resident of the Donley County nursing home and also with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Blackman of Clarendon.

V.C. Weaver entered the Saint Mary's Hospital Wednesday for further test and study. Mr. Weaver had suffered a heart attack several weeks ago.

Saturday evening Dec. 17th, there will be a community Christmas party given at the Bula-Enoch Community center for all residents of Bula and Enoch communities. Everyone is to bring a covered dish, supper will be served at 7:30, followed by singing of Christmas carols and an exchange of gifts from the tree. Everyone is urged to come and be sure and bring a gift to be exchanged.

Rev. Harvey Whittenburg of Oklahoma Lane, preached Sunday morning at 9:00 a.m. at the Bula Methodist Church. Rev. Whittenburg preached for the Bula congregation for several years and is now pastor of the Oklahoma Lane congregation. Since Bula church does not have a regular minister, he comes occasionally and preaches for them.

Polly Rushing of Plains, visited Thursday afternoon in the Tom Bogard home.

Mrs. C.A. Williams accompanied Mrs. S.A. Williams of Morton to Odessa Thursday. She spent the night with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hagelberger. While Mrs. S.A. Williams visited with a niece.

Mrs. A.P. Fred spent the weekend in Levelland visiting with her sister, Mrs. Arlene Logston and Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Hill.

Rev. Eddie Riley and wife Karen accompanied young people of the Baptist Church to an area youth rally Monday evening at the Friona Baptist Church.

Barrie Davilla was admitted to the Methodist Hospital Sunday afternoon to spend a few days having skin grafted on his little finger on the right hand. He lost the end of the little finger down to the second joint recently in a gin accident.

Senior Citizen Joins Briscoe Team

Ray Johnson, a retired labor representative, was today named state coordinator for the Senior Citizens for Briscoe committee.

Governor Dolph Briscoe made the announcement in a statement released from the state campaign headquarters in Austin.

Johnson, 69, is a former International Representative for the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and served as Legislative Director for the State Building and Construction Trades Council during the 1974 Constitutional Convention. He is presently serving as a member of the Governor's Committee on Aging appointed 1973.

According to Johnson, "Governor Briscoe has accomplished a great deal for the senior citizen in Texas."

"He is concerned for the older Texas and he is willing to provide the care and services that senior citizens look forward to," he added.

Johnson, an Arlington resident, is involved with the State Senior Citizens Association where he is active in promoting voter registration and education, and organizing chapters across the state.

Governor Briscoe lauded Johnson for his work with senior citizens.

"Ray is a respected member of the Committee on Aging and is active in senior citizen organizations," Briscoe declared.

"He is an active, energetic person, and I'm extremely happy he is heading up this important part of the campaign," concluded Briscoe.

Farm Bureau Turns Down 'Strike' Group

With 1,144 voting delegates representing more than 214,000 Texas families, the Texas Farm Bureau convention Nov. 27-30 in Houston provided a forum for airing the controversial farmers' strike issue.

A motion presented from the floor that would place TFB in support of "the American Agriculture movement" and direct the state organization to "encourage the membership to back the movement on an individual basis" sparked some two hours of heated debate.

No mention was made of a threatened Dec. 14 strike if demands for 100 percent parity income for farmers and ranchers are not met.

Pointing out that a guaranteed high subsidy would stimulate more surplus production and destroy foreign markets, the delegates overwhelmingly voted the resolution down. The issue was resolved orderly with no disruption of the convention.

The delegates were near unanimous on several resolutions pertaining to education. They went on record as favoring "an increase in the selective state sales tax to help finance public education with a corresponding reduction in the ad valorem tax."

They also approved a resolution to "challenge the legality of funding by government of educational programs involving aspects and advocacy of secular humanism," insisting that "such use of tax money constitutes preferential funding for humanistic values over Judeo-Christian values." They called for a "return to traditional concepts of teaching basic academic skills."

Pointing out that "there are two few of us" farmers and ranchers to "do well in the legislative arena," the delegate body directed the TFB to set up a legal fund "that would be used to insure the protection of Farm Bureau philosophy and policies." An advocate of the fund pointed out that challenging laws in the courts may eventually take precedence over efforts to influence legislative action.

On the national level, the delegates approved recommendations to the American Farm Bureau convention to be held Jan. 8-12, also in Houston, concerning the Panama Canal treaty, USDA administration of welfare programs, and social security.

A recommendation calling for "complete control and ownership" of the Panama Canal by the United States was overwhelmingly approved.

They recommended that the food stamp program and school lunch program be directed and administered by HEW rather than the Department of Agriculture. Social security benefits, they said, should be based on "a percentage of the amount paid into the fund" by beneficiaries.

Addressing the convention were a U.S. Senator, a high USDA official, and a state official.

Senator John Tower said Washington bureaucrats "do not understand the nature of Texas agriculture." He said government intervention in farming operations through agencies such as EPA and FDA will force down production and drive up consumer costs. If the trend continues, he added, "pretty soon you will run out of protection as a result of over-protection."

Deputy Secretary of Agriculture John C. White pointed to recent gains in the farm economy. "When you see markets go up during a record harvest, we're not doing too bad," he commented.

State Attorney General John L. Hill explained his interpretation of House Bill 22 which was passed in the last session of the State Legislature. The bill provided for an income capitalization form of valuation of open space land. "My opinion is that the program cannot be implemented until the Texas Constitution is amended," he said.

In other convention activities, TFB selected a queen for 1977 and a performer and discussion representative for the AFBF convention. Jody Edmondson of Mathis was named TFB queen, Elizabeth LePori of Gonzales will do her complicated twirling act and Bob Gruner of Canyon will participate in the national level Discussion Meet at the January convention.

The TFB convention concluded with the election of Bill Guidry of Nacogdoches as director for District 9 and the re-election of Carrol Chaloupka of Dalhart to a fourth term as president. Following the convention, the new TFB Board of Directors met to elect Reed Long of Rio Hondo as vice president and S.M. Ture Jr. of Plainview as Secretary-treasurer.

Guidry replaces Henry Burton of Lufkin who was ineligible for re-election. He has a broiler and registered beef cattle operation.

GTE Vehicles Sport 'New' Look

A new look is coming to the motor vehicle fleet of General Telephone Company of the Southwest which operates in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arkansas.

The familiar two-tone white and gold vehicle color in use since 1961 is giving way to a basic silver gray and blue and white markings.

James D. Newby, customer service manager, said all new vehicles will feature the new colors and markings. Approximately 1,000 will be in use Company-wide by the end of 1978.

Mr. Newby said a major consideration for the change was economics since the single color vehicles will come from their producers in a single color rather than the more costly two-tone combination. The tri-color effect of the new scheme will be obtained by application of reflective stripping applied locally. Because of the reflective quality of the markings, the vehicles will have a high degree of visibility in all weather conditions for recognition and safety purposes.

"THE ELECTRIC SAVINGS MACHINE"

energy used is energy saved

Since the heat pump pulls much of its heat right out of thin air, it actually saves energy as it works. In fact, the heat pump delivers as much as two units of heat for every one heat unit of electricity it uses. That's an efficiency story that no other system can equal. And the heat pump does it all in your own home without flame or water. Just electricity — pure and simple.
