Mohair Producers Facing Problem Of Advertising And Selling Product

Texas, with a total of 4.43 million goats, accounts for 95 percent of the United States total production of mohair, or about half of the world total. In 1965, 32.5 million pounds of mohair were produced in the seven leading states of this nation.

"But, today the mohair market is in a critical situation," says W. S. Orr, president of the American Angora Goat Breeders Association. "We are forced to go down to brass tacks and promote our product and get the interest and demand."

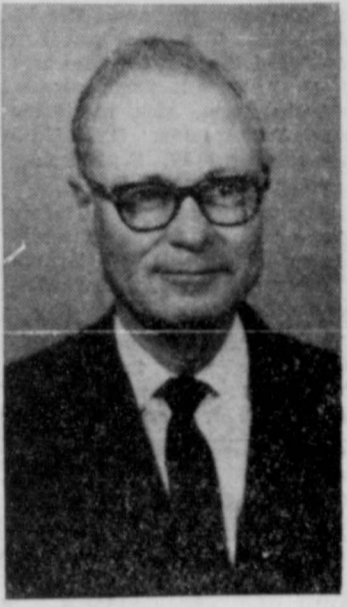

As a result of many months of study, leaders in the mohair industry feel a referendum is the answer for creating that demand. A referendum is set for February 6-17.

"We have to create a desire for our product and then it will sell itself, and I don't know any way to do this other than by advertising," commented Stanley Lackey, president of Texas Angora Goat Raisers Association.

The purpose of the referendum, which is being conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is to allow mohair producers to decide whether one - and - one - half cents per pound of mohair should be deducted from the incentive payments they receive under the National Wool Act. Deductions would be used for a program of promotion and development conducted by the Mohair Council of America.

"I think one - and - one - half cents per pound would be well spent if we could bring mohair up to 80 cents or more," Lackey added.

Bennett Creek Watershed Planning Director Named To Statewide Post

E. W. BUCHTIEN

E. W. Buchtien, formerly head of the Waco watershed planning party, has been promoted to Staff Leader for River Basin Investigations in Texas, according to H. N. Smith, Soil Conservation Service State Conservationist, Temple.

Smith said river basin investigations help local interests plan the best use of water and other natural resources of a region to meet future needs. Buchtien's group, headquartered at Temple, also helps coordinate local efforts to solve joint watershed problems in river areas.

As watershed planning engineer, he helped soil and water conservation districts and other sponsors of watershed projects plan ways to stop floods. Last year, he and the Waco staff were cited for outstanding work.

Buchtien directed planning of the Bennett Creek watershed project near Goldthwaite.

A veteran of World War II, Buchtien served with the Army Engineers in Europe. He has been an officer in the Texas A&M Former Students Association, the Heart of Texas Chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America and the Waco Farm and Ranch Club.

As It Looks From Here

OMAR BURLESON, M. C.
Congressman
17th District, Texas

Washington, D. C.—It is approximately 1800 miles from the center of the 24-County Seventeenth Congressional District of Texas to the Federal Treasury in Washington where funds for the Great Society are stored.

To get there, however, requires quite a few detours. In some cases it is by St. Louis; Billings, Montana; Fort Worth; Dallas; Denver; Tulsa; Omaha; Chicago; Detroit; or Kansas City.

These places are the regional outposts of the Federal bureaucracy, and many of them—like Sears and Roebuck and Montgomery Ward—offer competing brands of Great Society programs, wrapped up in different packages and sold on different terms.

For local officials dealing with this Governmental maze it is like running an obstacle course with no certainty of ever reaching the end of the track. If he is plagued with a water problem he may be sent to the Farmers Home Administration in Temple or to the Federal Water Pollution Control Commission in Kansas City, or to the Community Facilities Administration in Fort Worth, or to the Economic Development Administration in Detroit, or to the State Capitol, or to Washington or to some other place or agency. It is a bewildering, frustrating road to travel.

All over America, Governors, Mayors, City Managers and State Legislators are complaining bitterly of what ought to be a fairly simple task—getting the money the Congress has voted to build the Great Society and using that money to the best advantage locally without so many "guidelines," the ends of which are held in Washington.

"CREATIVE FEDERALISM" is a phrase now being often used by the Administration, which actually means "cooperation" between the many layered bureaucracy in Washington and its counterparts in the State and local governments.

It really is a simple concept and crucial to the social objectives and political success of the many new programs provided by Congress during the last two or three years.

It was easy enough in 1965 and 1966 to vote billions for education, health, welfare, urban renewal and poverty wars, but unless those billions buy what they are supposed to buy, and unless they get down to the people they are supposed to help, what is the purpose of them?

As these programs now operate, the money must pass through a governmental apparatus so vast and so complicated it defies description. It is made up of nearly 100,000 separate units of government, ranging in size from the local sewer district in a Texas town to a vast highway running the length of Appalachia. It employs millions of people in hundreds of bureaus, agencies and departments in offices scattered half way around the earth from Guam to the Virgin Islands.

The question is being constantly asked, "Is it possible to unite them in the kind of a single-minded national effort the Administration envisions, and is there any organizational set-up which can really function efficiently to do the job?"

It is now obvious that these questions have got to have answers, and affirmatively, if all these plans are to bear fruit and if the billions committed are to have any meaningful impact on the life of America.

There is talk of reorganization. Governors are fed up with rules, regulations, guidelines, delays and unmet promises, and some are demanding that they be given the money without Federal interference. The idea of a tax rebate to the States is catching on. Because of the weakness in the present system, the idea may gain a lot of momentum unless corrections are made, and made soon.

He also served on the Water District Board when it was organized, served the past several years as Chairman of the Cemetery Committee and was one of those instrumental in securing land for Mills County Park.

Award at the Annual Homecoming in 1966.

Band Boosters Discuss Financial Support Needed

Members of the Band Boosters club met last Thursday night in the band room and discussed the need for financial support from the community to insure a larger and better band for Goldthwaite schools.

Billy Hale is president of the boosters club and presided over the meeting when plans were made for a contributing membership campaign which is to get underway soon. Plans for the campaign will be announced as soon as details are worked out.

Band director Anna Gene Moreland told the group that nine instruments are in need of repairs which will cost approximately $450.

Two new Bass horns are needed that will cost an estimated $500.00 each and a new French horn is also needed that will cost about $600.

The band has only very limited funds available. The boosters club through their concession stand at the ball games raises some money that is used for purchase of music and paying entry fees of members taking part in competitive events.

Plans are being made for a concert on Friday, February 17, at 7:30 p. m., in the high school auditorium.

The high school band has 54 members and with the elementary school the number totals 70.

Effects Of Living
By LIDA BYRNE

There is no use to pray if we do not believe there is a God who can handle our problem. No use to pray for rain if we do not believe there is a Creator who makes rain and all nature. Our sins have separated us from God. Proverb 28:9 tells us: "He that turneth away his ear from hearing the law, even his prayer shall be abomination."

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Lockett and two little Latin-American boys, students of Carroll's, visited the past weekend in Mullin with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lockett.

Hollis Wallace of Kermit is here visiting with his sister, Mrs. Vesta McCormick. Also, her son Bobby of Fort Worth visited with her over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Shelton and Shawna have moved from Mullin to the Farris place at Williams Ranch. His brother, Denny, has recently bought this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Chesser have their granddaughter and little great-grandson visiting here with them from Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Parker and Donna Jean of Kermit visited here last weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Hancock and at Caradan with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Parker.

Mrs. Louis Pafford of Comanche visited here last Monday with her sister, Mrs. Lynn Roberts and with other friends.

The Mrs. Dorothy Byrd of Comanche who was in a car wreck at De Leon several months ago, and spent about 5 months in traction with a broken limb in the hospital at De Leon has had to return to the hospital again for a 4 months stay. Her limb broke again just from movements in a wheel chair. She was a very patient person for the first months. I only hope she can take this as well as she seemed to be able to do the first time.

I attended funeral services for Raymond Little Monday afternoon at the First Methodist Church in Goldthwaite.

News is short again in Mullin. Maybe I can do better next time.

MICHAEL C. KINSEY

RECRUIT GRADUATES—Marine Private Michael C. Kinsey, son of Mrs. Inez F. Kinsey of Star, was graduated from eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at San Diego, California.

He will now undergo about three weeks of individual combat training and then, after leave at home, will report to his first Marine Corps assignment.

The intensified Marine recruit training emphasizes rigid physical conditioning and survival techniques, both at sea and ashore, to develop self-confidence and endurance. Marksmanship with the M-14 rifle and 45-calibre pistol are equally stressed, and close order drill instills the traditions of Marine Corps teamwork.

A thorough study of basic military subjects; hygiene; first aid and sanitation; and the customs, courtesies, history and mission of the Marine Corps serve to polish the new Marine's recruit education and prepare him to join Marine combat forces.

Postal Patrons "Bill Of Rights" Issued By Post Office Department

Acting Postmaster Ray Duren Monday called attention of Goldthwaite Mailers to the new "Postal Customers Bill of Rights" to help meet President Johnson's government-wide goal of improving the quality of federal services to the public.

Directed at post office window service, Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien has ordered the customers bill of rights implemented by two immediate steps at Goldthwaite.

1. Posters will be displayed in the post office lobby and service counters containing 10 points which specify the kind of treatment customers have a right to expect.

2. Instruction from O'Brien call for careful observance of all points in the postal customers bill of rights. The instructions also provide directions for the most efficient management of window services.

The posters tell customers they are entitled to:

1. A neat, clean counter on which to transact business.

2. Service by a well groomed, neat window employee.

3. A friendly greeting that expresses a desire to assist.

4. Knowledgeable, well informed, interested window personnel to help with postal needs.

5. Prompt, alert and efficient service.

6. Competent and correct information on inquiries.

7. An attitude that reflects helpfulness, patience and congeniality.

8. The courtesy and tact that would be expected from a friend.

9. Polite referral to another window or individual, when necessary, to give the appropriate service.

10. A feeling, upon leaving, that the post office is glad to serve and help at all times.

Instruction for fulfilling the postal customers bill of rights are being distributed to all window personnel by the acting postmaster.

"In addition to improving relations with customer," Acting Postmaster Duren said, "The customers bill of rights can expedite the handling of transactions at the windows and make service more efficient."

He urged Goldthwaite area residents to assist in this effort, by stating their needs clearly and having money and any necessary filled-out forms ready for transactions.

The acting postmaster explained that demands on window personnel who must deal with a wide variety of information, forms and varying services, are usually very heavy, and postal customers can assist them in meeting the new service goals by being as brief and business-like as possible.

TO COLLEGE WITH A COW—Pictured here is Norman G. Duren with his Jersey Cow which appeared in 1939 when he literally milked his way through college. In 1942 Duren wrote a magazine article titled "To College With A Cow" which was printed in the January 1942 issue of Farm and Home magazine. A few days ago he found a copy of the magazine which contained the story and looking it over made the following observation: "Boy, I had a story published in the magazine and got paid $15.00 for it. That was real money in those days."

(Editor's Note: To give present generation boys and girls an insight to what it was like for a young married man to work his way through college at that time, we are printing Mr. Duren's story as follows:)

To College with a Cow By NORMAN G. DUREN

It was a cold January afternoon in 1939 that my brother and I unloaded a Jersey cow from a trailer, and put her in a pen near the boarding house where I lived. This was the beginning of a college career for myself and my cow. After inspection of the cow and her surroundings I started selling milk to the boarding house.

Twice a day the cow called me—at six o'clock, in the morning and again at six o'clock in the evening. At first I found it very difficult to get out of bed and hurry to the shed, milk, and bottle the milk before time to prepare for school. I sold the milk at 5 cents per quart, which was very cheap, yet it paid for my room and board since I brought the feed from home.

In the summer of 1939 my cow had a calf, so she was then ready for another year's production. When I returned to school, in September of the same year, Jersey was with me, and I again sold 20 quarts each day, which paid my current expenses, and attending the cow became more of a habit than a burden.

In September, 1940, I returned to A&M College and again brought my cow with me. This year, however, I lived in a different vicinity. After inspection of the cow and milk I soon found customers and again started selling milk, and now at 10 cents per quart. The milk tested 5 per cent butterfat, which pleased my customers very much. Within a few days I was selling all the milk that Jersey could produce.

Delivering the milk was then more difficult than milking, but I solved this problem by getting a used bicycle. Some mornings it was very discouraging to have to deliver milk in the cold and rain, yet I needed the money to stay in school, so I just couldn't complain.

Last summer Jersey developed mastitis (a disease of the udder) and almost died. Although the veterinarians had done their best to cure her, she became unfit for milk production. Therefore, I was forced to sell her and she netted me $25.

This made me very sad, for Jersey and I had been pals for three years, and it was been impossible for me to attend school without her assistance. In three years she had made me an income of $830.

A Word Of Appreciation

I would like to take this means of expressing my thanks and appreciation to all the folks of Mills County their friendship and cooperation while I served their deputy sheriff during the past 25 months.

No doubt during that time I made a few mistakes. I tried to do my best in taking care of the duties of the office and I feel that I have learned a lot from my mistakes.

I did my best to take care of my job while in the office and now that I have resigned and am leaving take special training to be with the Texas Highway Department. I do want to say that I appreciate every kindness shown me during the time I was your deputy sheriff.

Again, thank you one and all,

BOB WILCOX
