Bell, Schlee To Attend Seminar

Two high school students from Mills County will attend the 11th annual High School Students Citizenship Seminar to be conducted by the Texas Farm Bureau July 16-20 on the campus of Baylor University in Waco, according to DeWayne McCasland, President of the County Farm Bureau.

Sam Bell of Goldthwaite, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Bell of Perth, Australia, will be sponsored by the Goldthwaite Lions Club. Saann Schlee, daughter of Mrs. Anna Lou Schlee of Priddy will be sponsored by Mills County Farm Bureau.

They will be among nearly 500 students attending the Seminar from all over the state who will be entering the 11th or 12th grades in September.

Attendance is not limited to students from Farm Bureau families, but is open to those who reside in towns and cities as well as rural areas.

Purpose of the seminar, according to McCasland, is to convey to the students a better understanding of our American heritage and the capitalistic private enterprise system "that has made ours the greatest of all nations."

He also said they will be informed about some of the forces, both internal and external, that are eroding our way of life. The ultimate goal, he added, in addition to helping them to be better informed, is to cause them to want to pass on their experiences to others.

AUSTIN, TEXAS — The last of 19 public hearings by the Tex. Constitution Revision Commission were held in Waco and Austin last week.

It was the largest meeting with 34 out of 37 commissioners attending.

Witnesses in Austin before the full commission and committees made recommendations for changes in the 98-year-old document.

Speakers, legislators and commission members agreed that it is going to be a tough job to write a new constitution that will be approved by the voters of Tex.

"You must write an intelligent document that can be understood by the man on the street," one speaker said.

Representative Bill Clayton, Spring Lake, reviewed his constitutional revision plan that was introduced in the last legislature. Clayton said that we need a short, concise document similar to the federal constitution that would also leave the present constitution intact until changed by two-thirds vote of the legislature.

"There's going to be some knock-down, drag-out battles over sacred cows in the present constitution." Right-to-work, dedicated funds, the judicial article state government financing, public school financing are some of the controversial topics which must be considered by the commission and then the legislature. Bill Gray, Texas Manufacturers Association, spoke for budget execution authority for the governor.

Other speakers during the final two days of public hearings in Austin and Waco spoke for removal of sections that are statutory in nature, continuation of pay-as-you-go plan, stronger county government, fewer elected officials and more appointed officials.

cial, more power for the governor, life appointment for all judges, and many other major changes in the existing constitution.

ARTESIA HALL PROBE CONTINUES — The spreading investigation of Artesia Hall, a private institution for troubled youth near Cleveland, is receiving close attention of top state officials and legislators.

The institution June 21 was ordered by a court at Liberty turned over to the state for operation. Many students already had been withdrawn.

The facility has been the center of controversy after its founder and director, Dr. Joseph Farrar, 56, of Houston, was charged with murder in connection with the death of a 17-year-old girl. The girl died after allegedly drinking rat poison. Farrar was charged with refusing medical aid for 36 hours. He denies the accusation and another of beating of a boy.

Central to an investigation by the attorney general, Department of Public Safety, a House subcommittee and the Welfare Board is why the school was licensed in November 1971 despite unanimous objections by welfare case workers who inspected it.

At a meeting here last Friday, the State Board of Public Welfare ordered licensing of child care and placing institutions transferred to the state offices and made subject to board approval. Licensing is now handled at regional level.

Welfare Commissioner Raymond Vowell confirmed that numerous complaints were received about Artesia Hall over the last couple of years, and that welfare staff members were dispatched there "every other week."

However, the commissioner said, the complaints could not be substantiated.

The Board set another meeting for July 6 to further explore the case and possible recommendations for personnel changes.

CITY TAX REVENUE BOOMS — Nearly 700 Texas cities levying local option sales taxes collected $45.9 million during the quarter which ended March 31.

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert's newest report shows a total of $46.6 million collected, before auditing expenses and the state's service fee deduction.

Houston alone got more than $9 million from the levy and Dallas $6.3 million.

COURTS SPEAK — The State Supreme Court agreed to review a case involving closing of a portion of a street which a hotel operator claimed cost him loss of business.

The High Court agreed that a Bexar County district court should try a $294,943 damage suit brought by the State Insurance Board receiver on behalf of two defunct San Antonio insurance firms.

In still other cases, the Supreme Court ruled: + That a single guaranty agreement can apply to all bank notes a borrower may have.

+ A Matagorda County tractor driver who had his leg crushed on the job can't collect Workmen's Compensation because he didn't file his claim in time.

+ Damages awarded an Abilene truck driver can be reduced because of a showing that he had opened a sliding door of his truck before the accident in which he was injured.

+ A new trail should be held in a damage suit resulting from death of a Houston man crushed between two trucks.

+ A nearly six months' delay has been granted for appeal of former House Speaker Gus Mutscher's conspiracy-to-accept a-bribe conviction.

+ A U.S. Supreme Court decision striking down state aid to parochial schools prompted a request for an attorney general's opinion as to the Texas tuition-equalization grants in private colleges.

AC OPINIONS — A prison sentence to imposed and the manner it is to be served is determined by statutes existing at the time of the crime, and any effort to invoke statutes later enacted is imposition of an unconstitutional ex post facto law, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In another recent opinion, Hill held abolition of the office of county school superintendent in a county may not be accomplished by a special or local law.

SAFETY DRIVE LAUNCHED — City and county officials were urged by the Governor to give top priority to a cooperative all-out attack on the rising traffic toll.

The $1 million joint effort, to be known as Project SAVE, will be launched July 1 in San Antonio, Dallas, Denison, Garland, Grand Prairie, Greenville, Irving, Mesquite, Plano, Port Arthur, San Angelo, Sherman, Texarkana and Tyler, and counties of Harris, Cameron and Hidalgo.

Traffic safety coordinators will be employed in participating communities, paid by funds provided by the governor's office of Traffic Safety Administration. Funds will also go to deployment of traffic officers on an overtime basis in selected areas at selected times to police selected violations with original emphasis on alcohol-related offenses.

FOOD STAMPS EXPANDED — All 254 counties will be brought under a statewide food stamp program for welfare recipients Nov. 1, though the U. S. Postal Service has declined to handle issuance in Bexar, Harris and El Paso counties immediately.

At present, all 31 counties programs are operating under a new computerized "Authorized to Purchase" card system of identification. As of August 1, the Postal Service will begin post office issue of food stamps in all existing food stamp counties except for Bexar, Harris and El Paso.

APPOINTMENTS — Robert R. Shelton of Kingsville was named vice-chairman of Texas Criminal Justice Council.

Governor Briscoe named as new judges Raymond Justice of Houston, Texas, (domestic relations court, effective January 1), Sam M. Paxon of El Paso (210th district, effective January 1). He selected David D. Adams of Nacogdoches as 145th district attorney.

Briscoe placed Fred Wulf of Brady on the Legislative Property Tax Committee.

"What You Want When You Want It."

CONSERVATION CAN MEAN SAVINGS FOR YOU...

Because there just isn't enough gas to go around, the Texas Railroad Commission has set priorities to determine how the available natural gas is to be divided among various classes of users.

However, these priorities do not increase the amount of gas for homes and stores and industry and power plants—they only designate the users who will get first call on the available gas.

On June 21 the Commission temporarily raised LCRA's thermal power plants to a higher priority. They will take another look at the situation at hearings starting July 9.

The Commission stated in the June 21 Order that "Power plant customers will remain in this category only so long as they solicit efforts of their individual customers to conserve electricity, and during the time as they are actively developing the use of alternative fuels."

To keep the priority rating in effect, the Commission insists that we continue to do all in our power to bring about the 30% reduction curtailing the use of electricity in homes, stores, schools, churches, factories, and on farms in the LCRA's service area—that means you and your neighbors!

So far, with everyone's cooperation, LCRA has been able to meet your demands for electricity without any "brownouts" or "blackouts." But the summer so far has been relatively cool. Curtailments of gas deliveries are expected to begin as the temperature rises.

And the upper and middle Colorado River has not received the rains that the rest of the State has. As a result, the water used for hydroelectric generation is dwindling rapidly!

Again, we strongly urge all persons using electricity from LCRA to eliminate all unnecessary uses. Below are some ways you can reduce your air conditioning use and still stay cool.

HOT DAYS ARE HERE!

Use These Ways to "Cool Proof" Your Home and Reduce Air Conditioning Loads

1. Prevent air leaks to keep cool air inside by weather-stripping doors and windows.
2. Reduce indoor activities that produce extra heat and moisture. Some ways:
  - Plan your "warm" activities—do laundry, dishwashing, ironing, baking, etc., during early morning and late evening so as not to add heat to the summer heat.
  - Turn off lights and other appliances that generate heat (TV, stereo, etc.) except when actually needed.
  - Close off "hot spots"—when kitchen, laundry, water heater are behind closed doors, other rooms stay cooler and drier.
  - Place new gaskets on freezer and refrigerator—they will run less. Also, open them as little as possible and keep their condensing units dust-free.
  - Use exhaust fans—in kitchen, laundry, bath to push heat and humidity safely outside.
  - Close fireplace flues.

Remember, when you set your air conditioning thermostat at 78° during the day and 80° at night instead of 72°, you save almost 25% of your electric bill!

Also, keep those filters clean—dirty filters cause poor distribution of cooling and waste electricity!

Mullin Community News

MRS. JOHNNIE HOLLAND

Sorry I failed to get a letter in last week. It just works that way sometimes — nothing happening in Mullin. We do have the "Widows Club" that meets at least twice a week to play Skip-Bo. The members are Jewell Baskin, Ruth Tullos, Lillian Plummer and I. We have lots of pleasant times together, and pass off some lonesome hours, especially in the winter months.

John Shelton of Katy visited in Mullin recently with Dew and Dimples Shelton. His wife and daughter and grandson visited at Star with relatives.

Mrs. Fred Mosier is in the hospital in Brownwood where she had major surgery. She is improving nicely. Her daughter, Mrs. Claude Kaylor of Carlsbad, N. M., has been here with her; also her son, Azelle and wife of Carlsbad, were here too.

Kennon Henry has been in a Comanche hospital where he had surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Derrill Creek and Stephen of Austin and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Roberts visited "Six Flags Over Texas" over the weekend.

Mrs. Katie Pyburn and her daughter, Adeline Masters, of Greenville are here visiting with Mrs. Vesta McCormick and other relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Chancellor of Truth or Consequences, N. M., are here visiting with Dick Kemp and other relatives and friends and if I'm not mistaken they are driving a new "bright red" Mustang.

Mrs. Betty Coburn and family made a trip to Oklahoma City the past week to see an allergy specialist. It seems that her son, Clark, has a bad asthma problem.

The annual Spinks reunion will be held this weekend at the Legion Hall in Goldthwaite. The musical will be held Saturday night and a dinner will be served on Sunday.

Mrs. Lue Perkins (Will) is in Holy Cross Hospital in Austin. Her condition is very serious.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Williams and daughter were here the past weekend visiting with his mother, Mrs. Chester Williams, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Reeves of Ebony.

Artie Mosier visited last week in Coleman with Mr. and Mrs. Bo Musgrove. They all visited in Denton with Mr. and Mrs. Phil Johnson and Laurie. David and Mandy Hobbs of Brownwood visited here last week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dew Shelton.

All of the Perkins family are planning a fourth of July picnic together. They plan to have the outing on the Fred Ethridge place on the Bayou. I just came in from the Community Center where I spent two enjoyable hours with the Sr. Citizens group. A nice crowd was present for the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Son Lee and Mrs. Betty Coburn and family attended the Wilcox family reunion recently at McGregor.

We don't have no weather news. We wish all a happy birthday. W. W. Ratliff has had his hay baler running early and late. Edwin Rachaw combined for A. L. Crawford and F. H. Tiemann and Dale Allen last week. I think Mr. Rackaw would enjoy a day vacation of fishing at the lake.

Saturday and Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Whatley included Mr. and Mrs. Ted Goodfield, Mrs. Pearl Chambers and grandchildren of Brownwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Nowell and Mrs. Winnie Kerby were Sunday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Harris.

Mrs. Pearl Shipman was watering her garden and fell on the hose and now suffers a crippled arm. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Evans Sr. are on the sick list. Mrs. Evan's sister is staying with them for company. Other visitors were

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Evans of Goldthwaite and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Ratliff and children of Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cook of Denton and a number of other friends and relatives have called and visited with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Ratliff.

We were sorry to hear of Billy Black's death. He will be missed. We express our love and sympathy to all who have experienced sickness and death in their family.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill Attorney General

AUSTIN — If you ask the average family physician to help you solve the problem of overweight, he's likely to respond with enthusiastic encouragement and a diet program tailored to your individual health needs.

But he won't guarantee any specific weight loss, because he knows that each body type has its own way of metabolizing. That doesn't satisfy the craving some people have for "instant beauty," so they are quickly attracted to the advertisements which claim, "Lose 20 pounds in 20 days."

Many become disillusioned when they don't shed the pounds like the "before" and "after" model whose photographs were shown in the ad.

But wait a minute: Were those "before" and "after" pictures really of the same person? Or, was one photo taken in poor lighting while the subject slumped to increase the girth of abdomen, and the other photo taken under glamor conditions—with tummy sucked in, chin up, and chest out?

The Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division has received many complaints about operations of some "health studios" which specialize in claims of an almost-instant metamorphosis for the overweight person.

Through our own investigations, we have found that sometimes the photographs are misleading.

And other deceptive trade practices by some health spa operators are being uncovered in state and federal complaint follow-ups.

Owners of legitimately operated health salons are cooperating in the investigations. And there are many of these establishments which do serve a useful and healthful purpose.

After all, the average person—especially, the average overweight person—lacks the intense discipline required to monitor his or her eating habits, and stick to an exacting program of exercise. Any they can use a little "group therapy" to keep them inspired in the war against unwanted pounds.

Unfortunately, they are sometimes prey to the type of operator who would promise them anything, and too often, the result is a flattened wallet, instead of a trim figure.

Some of the deceptive practices you should be on the watch for include:

-The "bait-and-switch" tactic, in which the operator advertises a claim that his studio can rid you of "10 pounds in 10 days" or "20 pounds in 20 days" (there seems to be a magic in twice-repeated numbers), but when the consumer goes to sign up for the quick course, she is talked out of that, and talked into a more expensive long-term contract.

-The advertised inference that the facilities will be there for you to use at your convenience. Often, it is discovered, the times are very limited, and if your own schedule changes, you may not be able to take advantage of the program for which you've paid.

-The heavy pressure to buy a "life" contract. One man paid a rather high sum for a "life" contract, and when he died a few days later—never having taken one treatment, his family was unable to get any refund. Others have complained that they started a course, but had to drop out at their physicians' insistence, and could not get a proportionate refund.

-Claims that passive exercise devices automatically can produce weight loss. The Federal Trade Commission declares that is misleading.

If you're considering the idea of enrolling in a health club, take enough time to see just what you'd be getting.

Visit the place during its business hours, without and appointment. Talk to some of the members. One question to ask would be what sort of attention they actually receive. The claim of "personalized care" sometimes is not carried out.

Inspect the equipment. Look over the studio to see if it is well-run and sanitary.

Inspect the contract you are offered if you do decide to join. There have been complaints that the consumers signed "applications" to try out a facility, and later learned that they really had signed a tight contract.

THE MILLS MINISTER

BY HARRY MATHEWS, Minister of Music and Youth, First Baptist Church, Goldthwaite

The events of this last week have been an extra special blessing to me. A group of our people were at Pinar, Mexico, for a week of mission out reach.

On this trip I came to a realization that I had not been doing in my own life what I had expected for others to do in theirs. To love a person who is different color, and speaks a different language than you do is not the easiest of tasks.

Other differences also enter into the picture, such as the way these people act, the clothes they wear, the economic standards and many more. We also have gotten on a kick of thinking about a man's soul and not being concerned about his physical needs.

There is a song that took on new meaning this week to me as we were gone on the trip. Some of the words are these: How do you share the love of Jesus with a lonely man. How do you tell a hungry man about the bread of life, how do you tell a thirsty man about the Living Water of the Lord, How do you tell him of His word?

People who know go to people who need to know Jesus: People who love go to people alone without Jesus: For there are people who need to see, people who need to love, people who need to know God's redeeming love. People who see go to those who are blind without Jesus and this is people to people, yes, people to people, all sharing together God's love.

This next week is a very important week in the life of Mills County and "People To People" should be the theme of the next week and through our lives. You have heard the question, "Do you know if the man next door is a Christian?" but here is another one that I think is even better, "Does your neighbor know that you are a Christian?"

I heard Joe Robbins, who is the Assistant Police Chief in Brownwood, say he smoked cigars until one day he rounded his house to see a young son talking to a neighborhood boy about the way he wanted to be just like his dad and he had the stub of a cigar in his mouth. At that point, Joe said that he would quit because his son was picking up a trait that he did not want his son to have.

How many of us have a trait that we would rather no one to pick up. Does our influence help or hinder our witness. This article may seem to have changed thoughts, but really it is all related. How can you tell a person that you love Jesus and live like the Devil? How can you teach your family that God is Love if you had mouth everyone in town?

We must go and tell, but before we go we must be willing to give up our own ways and turn to the Lord who made heaven and earth for our strength and guidance. I wonder how many people would wear a button that said "Help Me Be A Christian Days A Week." It would sure do one thing and that is to let everyone that you knew Jesus. Now is the time, the field is a white unto harvest and laborers are ready. To paraphrase Matthew 28:19-20, "go into all Mills County and everyone you see about Me. My name. Baptise them in the name of the Father and the Holy Spirit, and teach them to obey everything I have told them in My word." Let's get after it for Jesus!
