BUYING PAINT.

Springtime-after the weather has become well settled-is painting time. There is as dust flying, no insects are in the air at that time ready to commit suicide by suffocation in the coat of fresh paint. The atmospheric conditions are also favorable at that season for proper drying and increased life of the paint. It should be a habit with every property owner every spring to look over his buildings, etc., and see if they need repainting; not merely to at I see if they "will go another year," tee. but whether the time has not come for putting in the proverbial "stitch in time" which shall eventually "save nine." For one coat of paint applied just a little before it is actually needble and expense. Paint lets go because linseed oil, or oxidizes, just as iron exposed to outside of its beautifying effect, that ted A. C. Witthofft of St. Louis. we apply paint to wood or iron is because we want to keep water and air away from them. Live paint, that is paint in which the linseed oil is still oily, does this very effectually; but dead paint, that is paint in which the oil is no longer oily, is no more impervious to air and water than a single thickness of cheesecloth would be. If then we apply a fresh coat of oily paint before the old paint is dead, the oil from the new coat will penetrate the old coat. and the whole coating will once more become alive; and this method of renovation may go on indefinitely. This explains why it is better economy to repaint a little before it becomes absolutely necessary than a little after. When the paint is once dead the fresh coat will pull the whole coating off. In the days when repainting meant a general turning of things upside down, a two-weeks' "cluttering up" of the place with kegs, cans pails, a lot of inflammable and illsmelling materials standing around. etc., the dread of painting time was natural. So was the dread of soapmaking time, of shirt-making time, of candle-moulding time and the like. But we live in an age when soap comes from the store better and cheaper than we can make it, when shirts are sold ready made for less we can burn coal oil or gas cheaper than we can make tallow candles, and when all we have to do when we want to repaint is to pick out our colors from the card at the store and

SENATOR GORMAN.

Senator Gorman long had been a notable figure in the national congress. He first took his seat in 1881 and served continuously for 18 years and nearly all of that time he was the leader of his party in the senate. Winning early a reputation for sagacity and the keenest judgment in congressional affairs he attained prominence not only as a leader in the senputs out a poor paint, under his own by many men was considered the most available man in his party for the presidency.

The senate adjourned immediately upon receiving the announcement of Senator Gorman's death. No business whatever was transacted, even the reading of the journal being dispensed with. There was an unusual number of senators present and all were manifestly impressed by the solemnity of the occasion. Appropriate resolutions were adopted and a committee to attend the funeral was appointed as follows:

Equitable May Carry Out Plan.

New York - On the application of the directors of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, the justices of the appellate division of the supreme court in Brooklyn Monday unanimously decided to permit the directors' plan of mutualization to be carried out. The petition for a modification of the injunction order obtained by Franklin B. Lord, a minority stockholder, preventing the adoption of the mutualization plan as projected a year ago was granted.

A Trip to Pampa.

The editor of THE CHIEF made a business trip to Pampa Wednesday. We found quite a change since our last visit there. The thing we noticed first was there. The thing we noticed airst was a new depot—a great improvemen over the old one. Then there were a number of new residences in town and out on the plains as far as the eye could see the landscape was dotted here and there by neat new residences and others in the course of construction. The place has an ideal location for a city, level and nice to make beautiful streets, evel and nice to make beautiful streets, but at the same time has sufficient drainage. Mr. Cousins has just completed a new store building and part of his stock of goods has arrived. A. E. Davis is hauling material for a new ce-Davis is hauling material for a new cement rock residence and we also understand that he is preparing to build a concrete business building and will go into the dry goods business. It is also said two lots have heen secured for a bank building. Mr. Fuqua and S. B. Owens are said to be the prime movers in this enterprise. The lumber yard has a neat office building and are encreasing their stock of building are encreasing their stock of building material. We met j. S. or "Sam" Rider, the merchant prince of the town, and found 'him nd affable and exceedingly nice young man, good looking, too, and he impressed us as being a thorough business man. We also made a friendly and profitable visit to R. E. Williams, the "village black-mith." who we had met on a former occasion. We made a number of new acquaintances and they all treated us nice. Bert Lard, who formerly lived at Miami, now makes his home at Pampa and was among those who became pa and was among those who became new subscribers We took a little ride with Mr. Wafer out to his place a mile and a quarter. Mr. Wafer has built a heat new residence and has nearly all his land in cultivation. He has eighty acres in cotton and says he is confident cotton will prove a success on the plains. A number of other people have good acreage in cotton and a gin is another enterprise listed for the town of Pampa. Mr. T. D. Hobart, the hustle-general of the city was absent on a visit to Canadian, but we met Mr. Berkley one of his aides-de-camp. Dr. Brune and M. K. Brown, other up the spirit of enterprise by improving the appearance of his place by a liberal application of paint. > Funeral services conducted by Rev. Frank of the Presbyterian church were held at the residence. From the residence a large concourse of sorrowing friends followed to the cemetery where the last sad rites were held and the body consigned to mother earth.

With the passing away of Mr. Seiber the country loses one of its oldest and most respected citizens. Mr. Seiber moved with his family to the Panhandle twenty-four years ago, and thus has been identified with the growing interests of the country since the early days. He was the first settler on Red Deer creek near the present town of Miami and his energy was exerted in the upbuilding of the town, having moved some seven or eight buildings from Mobeetie to Miami soon after the railway was hull through this country.
