"I believe that to be true," he hastily assured her, glad to be able to agree with her upon something.

"But it is in spite of the church. not because of it," she immediately added. "You can't say that there is a tremendous moral influence in a congregation which numbers eight hundred, and sends less than fifty to services. The balance show their devotion te Christianity by a quarterly check.

Rev. Smith Boyd felt unfairly hit. "That is the sorrow of the church." he sadly confessed; "the lukewarmaess of its followers."

She felt a trace of compunction for him; but why had he gone into the ministry?

"Can you blame them?" she demanded, as much aggrieved as if she he remarked. "Why accept all that had suffered a personal distress.

LOWERING THE DEATH RATE

Report Shows a Gratifying Decrease in the Victims of iuberculosis

During Recent Years. At the convention of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, held recently at Seattle, it was shown that the national death rate from tuberculosis has decreased from 326 per 100,000 in 1880 to 146.6 in 1913. This decrease is equivalent to the saving of 179,027 ives in a single year. It proves that the fight against the scourge is being waged wisely and effectively. It is estimated that there are today 1,430,000 consumptives in the United States. Their existence means an economic loss of $214,500,000 a year. Any movement to lessen the number of sufferers is commendable. not only from the standpoint of the humanitarian, but also from that of the practical economist. Such figures are highly interesting just at present. They show that while more than half the world is almost wholly absorbed in the work of taking life, the American republic remains concerned in the business of saving life. The contrast between the humanitarians in session at Seattle and the strategy boards which are meeting today in all the great European capitals is sufficiently striking .-- Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Allison, and Lucile and Ted and Arly, were among the more familiar figures, besides a startling Adonis, proudly introduced as Dick Rodley, by Arlene, early in the evening, with an air which plainly stated that he was a personal discovery for which she gave herself great credit.

"The Palisades special will not start without Miss Sargent," he declared, bending upon her an ardent gaze, and bestowing upon her a smile which dis played a flash of perfect white teeth.

Gail breathlessly thought him the most dangerously handsome thing she had ever seen, but she missed the foreign accent in him That would have made him complete.

"I'm sorry that the Palisade special will be delayed," she coolly told him, but she tempered the deliberateness of that decision with an upward and sidelong glance, which she was startled to recognize in herself as distinct coquetry.

marine corps. Most everyone knows something or other about the bluejackets, for their feats on land and off have been described so voluminously that every detail of their work and play is known. But how about the marines?

Does the city or farmer boy know that the navy's first battle was fought and entirely won by the marines; that they served under John Paul Jones. and raised the American flag in Tripoli? Does he know that the City of Mexico was first captured by the marine corps and that they entered Chapultepec and fortified that place? Has he been told of their fights in Korea, Formosa, Egypt, China, Japan, and at Guantanamo? Uncle Sam says he has not. It is to inform the city or farmer boy of the early history and the up-to-the-minute work of this service that the navy organized a publicity bureau and put it in charge of a regular enlisted corps of marines.

Under the new press agent system of dispensing knowledge the would-be marine is advised that, in the preliminary instructions, which members of the corps get on shore before being "turned over for duty," they are drilled in the duties of infantry soldiers, field artillerymen, and as members of machine-gun companies. He is told that in preparation for their duties as landing parties from ships, expeditionary duty, and defenders of naval advance bases they are taught to use portable searchlights, wireless telegraph, the heliograph, and other methods of signaling.

Uncle Sam Issues Information About Lightning In Use for Over 30 Years. Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

F you find yourself indoors during a thunderstorm, don't go near a stove, I it is dangerous. Keep away from the chimney; avoid the close vicinity of the telephone, and don't touch a screen door. This advice is given by the > United States government bureau of standards, which has published a Lightning Book, summing up the results of an elaborate investigation it has made of the subject.

If a house be struck by lightning, this authority says, there is no place anywhere inside of it that is safe. The death-dealing agent may penetrate anywhere, rendering escape impossible. But some places, such as those above mentioned, are more dangerous than others. Out of doors, in a thunderstorm, the safest place is in the woods. Lightning may strike a tree, but it is not likely to be the one under which you have taken shelter. treated to an unwelcome and vari- On the other hand, under such circumstances, the most foolish thing you can do is to stand beneath an isolated tree. But an open shed, especially if at some distance from large buildings, is nearly, if not quite, as dangerous. Never go near a wire fence during a thunderstorm.

You can be absolutely safe in a thunderstorm only if you bury yourself underground (as in a cyclone cellar), or get inside of a cage of metal network. But right here is a very curious point of fact. A modern steel-frame building or city "skyscraper" is in effect just such a cage, and needs no lightning rods because it is lightning proof.

Next best in respect of safety is the properly rodded house. Such houses are struck by lightning now and then, but, as it is reckoned, they would be prises have recently been undertaken hit just about fifty times as often if they had no rods.

THE CHIEF, MIAMI, TEXAS.

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagmant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism: others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from any store that handles drugs which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation .- Adv.

It is better to hit the bull's-eye in a short sermon than to tire the sinner into repentance with a long one.

Thin, brittle, coloriess and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff-that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruif. It robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die-then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight-now-any time-will surely save your hair.

but up to the present no considerable damage has been reported. A resumption of the Zeppelin raids on London and the east coast of England was expected by the British authorities on January 26. A special warning was sent out by the police which advised the public on the occasion of air raids to take cover. The latest raids on England by Germany occurred on January 23-24, when aeroplanes attacked the east coast of Kent, and the station barracks at Dover. Only recently the defense of London from air attacks has been placed in the hands of the war office; previously the admiralty had charge of this mat-"No matter what you eat," said the After the Zeppelin raids on Paris

Saturday and Sunday nights, in which 40 were killed, the view was expressed by the French authorities that these attacks were doubtless a prelude to a more extensive movement by German aircraft and the fact that six or seven machines have taken part in the new raid on England would indicate a well considered plan by the Germans to increase the activity of their dirigibles.

OF A COUNTRY

To those who have built railroads through and across the prairies of Western Canada, connecting that great empire of grain and cattle, horse and sheep with the world's markets in the east, must be awarded the privilege of looking upon their work, and its results with pardonable pride. If they reminiscence, and tell of the hardships and the privations, why shouldn't they? The broad prairies on which the buffalo roamed and fed. are now alive with cities, towns and villages. Farms-large and small-on which machinery has chased the bugaboo of laborious work off the farm and making farm life one of the most pleasant and prosperous of occupations-are being cultivated by men of the highest stamp of manhood. Many of these type of manliness that was theirs in the days when they hewed their homes out of the virgin forest, and made them what may be seen today, beautiful farms in the east. On the whole the western prairies breed a high type of manhood, wrest from him faults and diseases which would be his were it not for the upbuilding influence and character of prairie life. When the builder of the western Canadian prairie looks upon the result of his work, why shouldn't his chest expand? It was probably some of this feeling of pride that took possession of Sir Donald Mann, vice president of the Canadian Northern Railway the other day in Winnipeg, when he said: "I am not in the habit of giving advice, but I have no hesitation of advising the young men of Canada, every young man, to get out and get a piece of western Canada's land that now can be had for the asking and be their own masters."

"It was 36 years ago when I first came to Winnipeg," he said. "At that time there were less than 150,000 people west of Lake Huron in Canada, and the only bit of railway in operation was between St. Boniface and Emerson-about sixty miles. Today there are nearly 20,000 miles of railway in actual operation and the population is over two and a quarter million, a wonderful achievement in such a short period you will agree, when you have contemplated it a moment."

"At that time all the flour, meat and many other supplies for our contracts were brought from the States. Now

A GLASS OF SALTS WILL END KIDNEY-BACKACHE

Says Drugs Excite Kidneys and Recommends Only Salts, Particularly If Bladder Bothers You.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and ity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active. Drink lots of water-you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.--Adv.
