Heart of the -Sunset-

By Rex Beach is a story of the Mexican border country that will give you a vivid insight into the frontier life that most of us had believed a thing of the past.

Blaze Jones, the founder of Jonesville, is one of the characters; he is a delightful old fire-eater who will afford you more than one appreciative chuckle.

Dave Law, college graduate, adventurer, soldier and Texas ranger, is a man you'll learn to like because of his manhood and clear-cut individuality.

Gen. Longorio, federal Mexican leader, melodramatic, childlike, brave and villainous, is another of the striking characters that make the story one not soon to be forgotten.

OUR JOB DEPARTMENT

There is a vast difference between the ordinary printing office with a handfull of type and a small jobber, and the one with every kind of the very latest and fastest printing machinery. Our office is equipped with the very latest and fastest printing machinery on the market. We are prepared to handle any kind of job you want and get it to you on time. We have in stock at all times a good stock of paper suitable for Letter heads Bill heads, envelops, calling cards, receipts, notes, check books, contracts, mortgages, and practically everything else that has printing on it. We ask you to give us your orders because we can do it right, and do it quick. you don't have to wait when you place your printing order with us. Neither do you need fear but what you wil get the very highest grade of printing.

WHERE ADVERTISING PAYS

The Chief is unexcelled in this part of the country as an advertising medium. It circulates in practically every home in the Miami trade territory. We can tell more people all about what you have for sale in less time and in a beter manner than you could hire ten men to do it Your ad placed in the Chief will bring results in accordance with what you advertise and how you do it. You cannot expect to sell two or three thousand dollars worth of merchandise on a three or four dollar ad. Figure your advertising expense at about one per cent of what you expect to sell, and you will not be dissapointed. If you have a cow for sale, lost a dog, want to trade off a wagon; a 25 cent local will do the work fine.

SUBSCRIPTION VALUE

We believe that the Chief is as good a weekly newspaper as you will find in the local class. The subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and is worth more. Invest a dolar with us sending it to some friend or relative whom you would like to get interested in this country, we will do the rest. One of the best ways to help boost the country in general is to send the Miami Chief to the party you wish to get interested. Don't forget that we are always glad to send the paper to your friends.

FARM LOAN ACT.

The Co-Operative Banking System Established Under It.

The federal farm loan act, adopted in June, 1916, and signed by President Woodrow Wilson shortly after, creates a comprehensive, co-operative banking system to lend money to farmers and prospective farmers for purposes of land purchase, farm development, and the refunding of indebtedness.

The system consists of two main divisions; a money-assembling agency. through which the accumulation and savings of the country are gathered in and a money-lending agency, through which this money is distributed for CANDY IS CANDY ONLY agricultural uses,

The farm loan act, in brief, pools the farm mortgages of the nation; issues a collateral trust security against these pooled mortgages, and sells these securities in the open market.

The establishment of this co-operative banking system was made necessary by reason of the fact that banks in most parts of the United States have not possessed the facilities to properly take care of farm loans because these loans required too long a ime to run; because interest rates to Subject: God is love farmers have been too high, ranging from 5 per cent per annum to 5 per ing cent per month; and because private money-lending agencies had not realized the reflex advantages to themselves of a long time, amortized loan to the farmers.

Machinery for Its Application. The machinery provided in the application of the farm loan act has three main divisions:

First-The federal farm loan board bridge. in Washington, D. C., composed of the secretary of the treasury, William G. McAdoo, chairman ex officio; George W. Norris, farm loan commissioner; Herbert Quick, Capt. W. S. A. Smith and Charles E. Lobdell.

The lending capacity of these banks is automatically increased by requiring the farm loan & associations to reinvest in the capital stock of the banks one-twentieth of & the amount their members borrow. Thus the capital stock of the banks increases in the same ratio as their . loans. The banks acquire additional money for lending by selling their own bonds to investors. Without Profit to Individuals.

When a bank lends money and takes first mortgages on farms in exchange, & it issues bonds against these mortgages and sells the bonds to produce more & money to lend. The bonds issued by one bank are secured by the assets of all the banks * operating under this system, and the rate of interest on the bonds is adjusted by supply and demand. The rate * of interest charged to members of farm loan associations for money which they borrow from the banks, cannot exceed & by more than 1 per cent the rate of interest paid on the bonds. This margin is provided to pay the cost of $ operating the banks. So, if the bonds sell at 4 per cent and the cost of operating is 1 per cent, the interest rate to the farmer-borrowers will be 5 per cent. If the cost is held down to one-half of one per cent, the interest rate to the farmers would be 41/2 per cent.

So, briefly, the members of the associations of farmers borrow from the banks; the banks issue bonds against the farm mortgages and borrow money from investors; the farmers invest an amount equal to one-twentieth of the amount they borrow, in order to provide an increasing capital for the banks, and the whole process is done under governmental supervision and without profit to any individual.

A DIGESTIVE LAXATIVE CATHARTIC AND LIVER FONIC

Lax-Fos is not a secret or Patent Medicine but is composed of the following oldfashioned roots and herbs:

> CASCARA BARK BLUE FLAG ROOT RHUBARB ROOT BLACK ROOT MAY APPLE ROOT SENNA LEAVES AND PEPSIN

In Lax-Fos the Cascara is improved by the addition of these digestive ingredients making it better than ordinary CASCARA, and thus the combination acts not only as a stimulating laxative and cathartic but also as a digestive and liver tonic. Syrup laxa-tives are weak, but Lax-Fos combines strength with palatable, aromatic taste and does not gripe or disturb the stomach. One bottle will prove Lax-Fos is invaluable for Constipation, Indigestion or Torpid Liver.

CHAPTER I.

The Water-Hole.

A fitful breeze played among the mesquite bushes. The naked earth, where it showed between the clumps of grass, was baked plaster hard. Although the sun was half-way down the west, its glare remained untempered, and the tantalizing shade of the sparse mesquite was more of a trial than a comfort to the lone woman who, refusing its deceitful invitation, plodded steadily over the waste. Stop, indeed, she dared not. In spite of her fatigue, regardless of the torture from feet and imbs unused to walking, she must, as she constantly assured herself, keep going until strength failed. Somewhere to the northward, perhaps a mile, perhaps a league distant, lay the water-

Rounding the steep shoulder of the ridge, she hastended down a declivity into a knot of scrub oaks and ebony trees, then halted, staring ahead of her. Nestling in a shallow, flinty bowl was a pool of water, and on its brink a little fire was

It was a tiny fire, overhung with a blackened pot; the odor of greasewood and mesquite smoke was sharp. A first sound, was staring at the newcomer; he was as alert as any wild thing. But the woman staggered directly toward the pond, seeing nothing after the first glance except the water. She would have flung herself full length upon the edge, but the man stepped forward and stayed her, then placed a tin cup in her hand. She mumbled something in answer to his greeting and the hoarse, ravenlike croak in her voice startled her; then she drank, with trembling eagerness, drenching the front of her dress. The water was warm, but it was clean and delicious.

"Easy now. Take your time," said the man, as he refilled the cup. "It won't give out."

She knelt and wet her face and neck. Felt the stranger's hands beneath her arms, felt herself lifted to a more comfortable position. Without asking permission, the stranger unlaced first one, then the other of her dusty boots, seeming not to notice her weak attempt at resistance.
