THE "HUB-BUB"

EVERYDAY LIFE

Wonder what Governor Sterling thinks of Governor Murray's method of obtaining higher pric-es for oil?

Highway maintenance men are complaining that the public is dumping its rubbish on the high-way right-of-ways. People living in the country have complained to this paper that town people dump their cats, dead dogs, tin cans and other rubbish on their premises. It's funny how little respect some people have for other people.

There are many places in East-land that would make beautiful little parks with but very little la-bor and a few shrubs and trees. There are plenty of men out of work who would be glad of a chance to work a little, but nothing is done.

Water, it seems, is about as much a necessity as gas, so why not lower water rates as well as lower gas rates? Perhaps it can

Swearingen Asks Nominal Tuition Mosquito Fight

City Sanitation Officer, C. D. Swearingen, has issued an appeal to the citizens of Eastland for their cooperation in combating the mosquito menace in the city. Following is the appeal:

There is also a good many placform in pools which soon are filled with wiggletails that are in turn hatched to mosquitoes, which thrive in the cool dark spaces un-der the house till after the sun goes down then swarm out to 'end. Tin cans that are allowed to accumulate in the alley ways and garbage piles accumulate water and many mosquitoes are hatched in this way. There has also been a good many plumbing leaks found under houses which should be watched and repaired as they are a source of trouble in trying to control mosquitoes.

It takes a great amount of time report all water accumulations, whether in cans, cisterns, barrels, or what not, in order that a man Alameda and Mildred Love and can be sent to treat these places.

WHEN we advertised the fact that Firestone was furnishing us complete lines of Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires that not only met the price but heat the quality and contires sold by mail order houses and others, the mail order houses made vigorous protests to Better Business Bureaus and made demands upon newspapers not to accept Firestone or our advertising.

ing manufacturer, bearing his name and guarantee plus our guarantee and our service.

As a result, our business and that of other Firestone Dealers throughout the country, increased so fast that it has been necessary for Firestone to run their factories twentyfour hours a day and Firestone sold more tires in April, May and June than in any like period in the history of the company.

In our advertising we do not make com-parisons involving laboratory tests which you cannot verify except in a laboratory neither do we make comparisons of construction or price based on misleading classifications such as first line tire, second line tire or third line tire -we do not make comparisons to confuse and mislead you as to actual values and service - we only make statements and comparisons that you can verify for yourself in our store before you purchase the tire.

Come in today and get the greater safety, extra quality and extra values found only in Firestone Tires,

*When the National Better Business Bureau realized that their Bulletin No. 634 was being taken advantage of by some advertisers they issued a Bulletin dated July 10th as follows:

"In our Bulletin No. 634 entitled 'Defini-tions of Terms Used in the Tire Industry' we pubished definitions of First Line -- Second Line - Third Line -Heavy Duty and Super Heavy Duty Tires.

"Our definitions pointed out, 'Although each manufacturer's or distributor's first line tire may represent his best standard size 4 or 6 ply tire, there is not necessarily any equality of competitive first line tires as to materials. workmanship or price. This interpretation also applies to all lines of

"We therefore recommend that advertising to the consumer shall avoid the use of these terms for the purpose of comparing competitive products."

*A "Special Brand" Tire is made by a manufacturer for distributors such as Mail Order houses, oil companies and others, under a name that does not identify the tire manufacturer to the public, usually because he builds his "best quality" tires under his own name. Firestone puts his name on every tire he makes.

About School Bus Service.

A recent article in the Texas Outlook, our Texas school journal, says, among other things, that 2.
000,000 school children were transported to schools in school buses throughout the United States during the last year. This was done at an average cost of slightly more than $2 per month per pupil. This cost does not include the cost of the school bus. It is a difficult matter to distribute the cost of the bus since the price varies and the life of the bus is spread over a number of years ranging from four to six or even eight years. Quite a number of inquiries from interested people, and a questionnaire from the state department of education, caused your superintendent to make a survey of the cost of transportation in Eastland county for the past year. The results of the survey are briefly outlined below:

We are using buses in Eastland county that have cost originally all We are using buses in Eastland county that have cost originally all the way from $800 to $2,200. The buses are being driven over routes that run from 10 to 40 miles per day over all kinds of roads and in all kinds of weather. So far as I have been able to determine only one bus has failed to deliver its load to school each day in the year. have been able to determine only one bus has failed to deliver its shooting. No score was kept on load to school each day in the year. This bus missed two days during the wet season in the winter under the wet season in the winter under the club has asked that everyfor other cars to travel the roads. Longhorns Lose

To De Leon, 3-1

The Eastland Longhorns failed to this in the pinches at Deademond High school. At Economic to the local school and to the Ranger of the local in Eastland county as a result of the transportation now offered in the dozen buses that are operated. At the present time it looks as if we would have at least five additional buses in operation for the coming school year. Most of the success of our "consolidated" rural high schools can be attributed to the motor bus of today and the improved highways that come with it.

One of the greatest objections to the use of the school bus has been the selection of the driver. As a rule the drivers are carefully selected. The rules of the state department of education are rather stringent, and demand that the drivers shall be both physically and morally fit for the place and that they shall be competent drivers. More and more buses will be used in Texas schools with each On. succeeding year.

S. B. Norton of Olden Makes Success of Truck Farming

By MRS. E. J. STANFORD Located just out of the little town of Olden is the fruit truck farm of S. B. Norton. fruit and Having 13 acres in cultivation, with 6 acres under irrigation, Mr. Norton has proved what can be accomplished in the deep sand of Eastland County.

He has one acre each of grapes, Japanese persimmons, plums, peaches, pears, apricots and pecans, with one-half acre in ribbon

His vineyard is a lovely sight, the vines are kept pruned, and trained on wire trellises, thus making the harvesting of the fruit an easy matter.

Six years ago Mr. Norton was engineer at a gasoline plant, where, no doubt, the idea of the overhead spray system was born. He uses the spray on all small. and non-blooming vegetables. The larger plants are grown in 36inch rows and watered by lowing the water down the middles. Mr. Norton said he had found the spray system far better as small-er growth can be kept watered, more vegetation on less ground, (as he uses 18 inch rows under the sprays), less work and time are required by this method, thus cutting the cost of production.

He has applied around 84,000 of sheep manure, 100,000 pounds of barnyard fertilizer, and ome cottonseed meal to the soil. He likes the sheep manure best.

Beside twenty varieties of vegetables now growing, there is a nice strawberry patch from which 40 gallons of fine berries haye been picked. Last fall the space

In Memoriam

We do not know why you should have to go, When your young life, so fair, had just begun-Perhaps God needed for His court a son With bright mind, youth, and bravery you could show We gave you up-subservient to His will, And though our hearts ache, we shall carry on-Remembering your smile, each rosy dawn, We'll see your form mount sturdily each hill And becken us as onward we must climb Before we come to Life's end-God-and you. In all our deeds O may we follow through. While memories of you make us sublime,

With that same Boy Scout honor you have known, We hope at last to join you at His throne.

McDonald Back From Convention

Bill McDonald, president of the Eastland Lions club, was home from the international convention at Toronto and took his place at the head of the table at the regular Tuesday luncheon of the club chickens and 60 young turkeys. A few Anacona chickens are kept. He has six acres of blackeyed peas and one acre of pinto beans, which are ready to harvest. A garden patch supplies the family with plenty of vegetables.

Philip's Query.

The spirit that had sent Philip out on this desert journey bade him approach the Ethiopian. Run-ning to his chariot and hearing him reading the prophecy of Israel, Philip asked the question, "Understandest thou what thou readest?" The Eethiopian, despite readest?" The Lethiopian, despite his world greatness, was a very teachable person. He invited Philip to come up beside him in the chariot and to interpret the passers for him.

chariot and to interpret the passage for him.

It was the passage dealing with the sheep led to the slaughter and to the lamb dumb before his shearers—the great passage in the fifty-third chapter of Isaiah. One can imagine how richly and beautifully Philip would interpret all this through its fulfillment in Jesus of Nazareth. The result was that when they came to a place where there was water, the Ethiopian inquired why he should not be baptized, and Philip immediately baptized the new convert. Just what happened then is not plain. The record is that the spirit of the Lord caught away Philip. At any Lord caught away Philip. A ward. Baptism takes its meaning as the symbol of newness of life. In the bitter controversies of men over the mode, they have tended in the past to lose sight altogether of the most important thing.

Philip's Sxample.

The greatest teaching of the lesson is found in Philip's willingness to obey the voice of the spirit, and in his manifestation of his own faith in evangelism. The world needs nothing so much today as the simple witness of Christians to the experience that they themselves have found. Perhaps if the experience were commonly more real there would be a wider and more effective expression of faith in the Gospel and in its power to save and bless.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congregationalist. The golden text of this lesson, "They therefore that were scattered abroad went about preaching the word," links it up very definitely with the lesson of last week.

Here we have the record of the triumph of the Gospel over prejudice of race and color. Philip, known as "the evangelist," going on a spiritual impulse toward the south through desert country, a journey that seemed rather footless, experienced the great opportunity that occasions the record. A man of Ethiopia, a black man of great authority under Candace, the queen of that country, entrusted with responsibility over all her treasure, had come to Jerusalem to worship. This was in harmony wit the experience of religion that had come to various men in their reading of the Jewish scriptures.

Mode of Baptism.

The lesson has many applications in the life of today. It reminds us that the power of Christianity knows no boundaries of reminds us that the power of Christianity knows no boundaries of race, color, or nationality. There was a time when the narrative occasioned great controversies over the mode of baptism. In fact, the whole passage was the stock and trade of controversilists a generation or so ago, and in these controversies over the proper mode of baptism the spiritual significance of the narrative was largely lost. Today, for the most part, we have come to see outward observances and ordinances in something of a new light. In general there is a recognition on the part of those who believe in immersion and those who believe in immersion and those who believe in part of those who believe in minersion and those who believe in part of the part of those who believe in the part of the
