Wreck Fatal to S. E. Williamson

Mr S. E. (Bud) Williamson, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Williamson, was fatally injured about 9:30 Wednesday night, while on his way to Abilene to attend a Druggist's Convention.

Motorists who were directly behind the Williamson car, upon seeing the nature of the accident stopped as did Mr. O. H. Doss, who was immediately in front of the wreck.

Mr. Doss is the manager of the Eastland Drug store, and was also on his way to the convention in Abilene. Upon finding Mr. Williamson in a very bad condition, they immediately rushed him to Baird for first aid and later brought him here, where he died at 1:15.

Bud, as he was affectionately known, has lived in or near Eastland practically all his life, having attended school with many of the young business men of the city.

Mr. Williamson is survived by his wife and two children, Pearl, age 4, and Droman, age 19 months, father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Williamson, one sister, Mrs. E. B. Owen of Olden, and four brothers, M. D. and L. G. of Olden, B. L., A. W. and D. Forest of Eastland.

The funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2:30 p. m. at the Baptist church with pastor W. T. Turner officiating.

Eastland County Valuation Lower

It was pointed out by the Eastland County Commissioner's Court in session this week that fullest cooperation of tax payers in payment of delinquent as well as current taxes is necessary to maintain the county tax rate of $1.86, on the $100 valuation for the next twelve months.

The rate is the same as last year while the valuation for this year is approximately 30,000,000.00, or $7,000,000.00 less than last year. The court felt however that the rate set would be sufficient if proper cooperation of the tax payers could be had.

McCanlis Moves to Mineral Wells

The H. A. McCanlis family will, within the next few days, move to Mineral Wells where Mr. McCanlis will be in charge of the Nebi Bottling Works.

Eastland will regret the loss of the entire family, especially Miss Dorothy, who is such a talented violinist and who has so generously aided in so many local talent plays and entertainments. She is recognized over the State as a violinist of ability.

Mr. McCanlis has been for a number of years agent for the Railway Express Company, has been an ardent worker in the Baptist church, as well as civic movements.

The many friends of the family wish them success and happiness in their new home.

Mr. L. Rifkin Is Granted Franchise

Mr. L. Rifkin, owner and operator of the local Nebi Bottling Company announces the addition of new territory to that which is already served by the Company.

Mr. Rifkin came to Eastland from Waco about thirteen years ago and has built up a nice business on the Nebi products, which Mr. Rifkin says, may be depended upon to have the same proportions and tasting the same from coast to coast—he says buy it here or in California, it tastes the same.

A franchise was recently granted which adds to the Company territory Weatherford and Mineral Wells, a total of six counties under Mr. Rifkin's supervision.

The local company has a large investment in Eastland, having a plant West Main street with the most modern equipment and operating several trucks, a new one being added this week.

Eastland is proud of this company and glad to learn of this most recent expansion.

Business House Being Remodeled

The Butler Harvey Chevrolet Company is in the middle of an expansion program which will greatly increase their floor space and beautify their building on East Commerce.

When the new firm opened for business in February they just occupied the corner building but their increased business has made it necessary for them to include the building next door east.

A connecting door near the back gives a convenient entrance to the new building where the mechanical work will be done.

The office is still located in the corner building, all of which has been rearranged very conveniently.

Possible Tax Reduction Seen

The following information regarding City Taxes was handed into this office by one of the Equalization Board.

Due to the economies established by the present city commission on the operation of the city's affairs, the Tax Equalization Board now going over rendition for the present year, states that it will be possible to lower valuations on many residence properties and vacant lots ten per cent below what they were in 1930, but that many tax payers were making too drastic cuts in their renditions and that in consequence it will become necessary to raise such.

It must be remembered," said a member of the Board, "that while the city's operating expenses have been reduced better than ten thousand dollars, it's funded debt and interest charges remain practically the same; the City Commission being powerless to fix the latter charges. Business properties are receiving the attention of the board as well and it is hoped that some tax values may be reduced in this class of properties over what they were last year.

Baptist Church to Conduct Revival

The Eastland Baptist church will conduct an "out-door revival in the south part of town beginning Sunday night, August 16th. The place of the meeting will be in the vicinity of the South Ward School on South Scaman street. Plans are to have the lights strung and seats in place in time for the Sunday night service.

Pastor W. T. Turner will conduct the services with the local singers in charge of the music. Services will be held at 8:00 p. m. throughout the week with a special service for boys and girls at 7:30 each evening.

A similar meeting was held in the west part of town a year ago which met with such success that it has been planned all the year to conduct this out-door meeting in the south end of town as the summer closes. While the meeting will be located in the south part of the city the entire membership of the church and people of all Eastland are expected to attend the services, according to the pastor, who extends an invitation to members of other churches to attend all services that do not conflict with services in their own churches.

Challenges are out and large crowds are expected from all sections of the country. The date of the first meet is Friday, August 14th, at 8:00 p. m.

Entertainment By Merchants Pleases

The merchants entertainment on the square last Saturday night drew a large crowd which seemed to be well pleased with the offering.

The American Legion sponsored the program which brought together some of the best wrestlers and boxers of the Oilbelt.

The main wrestling bout was between two heavy weights who displayed a keen knowledge of the art as did the two light weight boys later in the evening.

Several fast boxing bouts held the crowd until a late hour and many expressions of approval of this form of entertainment were heard throughout the crowd.

The Legion has been invited to stage another such program for the merchants in the near future.

Much credit is due the American Legion which is one of Eastland's most willing service organizations, always ready to serve the city in any way possible.

Miss Owida Mead Honored at Picnic

A number of young people from Bedford honored Miss Owida Mead of Dallas with a picnic at Eastland Lake Tuesday evening. After many out-door games were played, delicious refreshments of sandwiches, cake and iced tea were served.

All report a good time. Miss Mead taught at Bedford last year.

Legion to Stage Big Tournament

Friday night at the City Hall will mark the opening of the American Legion's Athletic Tournament, which is being staged to raise funds to make the final payment on the air port.

Some of the best wrestlers of the Oilbelt will participate, arrangements having already been made for their appearance.

Several fast boxers have expressed their willingness to box and one of the fastest events ever seen in this section is expected to develop by the end of the tournament, the date of which will be announced later.

Challenges are out and large crowds are expected from all sections of the country. The date of the first meet is Friday, August 14th, at 8:00 p. m.

PROCLAMATION

The City of Eastland calls upon every citizen living within it to enter with the Boy Scouts and the City Officials into a period of cleaning up and beautifying the city.

Mr. Quirl, Scoutmaster, has perfected arrangement, whereby the Scouts will make three inspections of the premises of everyone in the city, beginning August 18th, second inspection of August 25th, and a final inspection of August 28th.

These young men will know their duties, and will know what to say to you, and what we need to give them is our friendly, courteous and hearty cooperation and encouragement. I bespeak for them our help in generous measure.

The City is behind the Scout movement and will assist them in every way. Immediately after the second inspection the City will remove the sacks and boxes and barrels of garbage, which has been conveniently placed on the street in front of your premises. By the 28th of August, the date of the third inspection by the Scouts, our premises are expected to be thoroughly clean.

Hence, we proclaim the period of these Scout inspections as clean-up time for Eastland, and bespeak for the local Boy Scouts, doing this inspection work, every assistance possible from every Eastland citizen.

Horace Condley In New Role

If you enjoy an evening of pure fun and don't mind laughing till the tears come, be on hand next Thursday evening at the Methodist church. The entertainment is given under direction of members of the Belle Bennett Circle. The prices of admission are ten and twenty-five cents. Lay aside dull care for one evening and come enjoy this uproarious comedy.

Horace Condley, popular District Governor of the Lion's Club and Boy Scout Master de-luxe, is seen in a new role, in the stage farce, "Wanted, a Husband," which will be offered to the public next Thursday evening. His versatility and charm were never more apparent than in his role of promoter of a matrimonial agency and dispenser of love pellets and aids to beauty.

A club of some twenty unattractive and love-starved spinsters has as its sole purpose the securing of husbands. Mmes. Robey, Mullings, and M. H. Kelly are officers of the club. The club seems to be failing to accomplish its purpose until Mr. Condley comes along, with a complete line of love pellets and a very wonderful machine called an electric transform(her). The club members are persuaded to submit themselves to this transform(her), and some amazingly funny results ensue. The clever farce is a scream from the time the first club member arrives till the last ones go through the "marvelous machine."

This comedy in one act will be preceded by a "Kiddies Revue" under the direction of Mrs. Joe Stephens. The first part of this will be a style promenade, with prizes going to the best boy and girl models. Only children under six will be used. The second part of the Kiddies Revue consists of a Sleepyland Act, with the same children as were in the fashion revue. Miss Lucille Brogden furnishes a clever background for this act with a clever pianologue during the entire performance. About twenty-five youngsters will be featured.

In connection with the meeting of the matrimonial club a boys and girls chorus will be used, to recall to the minds of the spinsters the good old days of long ago.

Mr. A. A. Tate of Carbon was a visitor in Eastland Tuesday.

The following is a letter from the mayor, who is also chairman of the Board of City Commissioners. The Record is glad to carry such messages to the citizens of Eastland and welcomes letters both for and against the proposed franchise.

If the franchise as it is today is not exactly what is best for the people, let's exert every effort to perfect it. Again we solicit your opinions.

The letter follows:

Mr. Editor:

Every citizen in Eastland is earnestly called upon to study the gas franchise granted to John W. Moore by the City Commission, which was published in this paper last week. Unless other action is determined upon by other cities, Eastland will probably not have a chance to get gas rates lowered in a long time to come, if it rejects the plan now offered to them in this additional franchise.

Bear in mind the fact that the present gas company furnishing you gas has no sort of contract to furnish you gas under any conditions whatever. Under its contract the Community Natural Gas Company is not contractually bound to Eastland citizens in hardly any way, save to do as it pleases.

Under the new franchise John W. Moore is obligated by a large bond, when same is approved, to perform the conditions in his franchise. He is bound to furnish you gas of recognized quality. Before we accept his bond he must show two things, first, that he has or can secure a sufficient gas supply, and, second, that he has the financial backing to enable him to perform his contract. If he does these two things, then you will be asked to agree in writing to tie on to his gas lines when he has the lines ready.

I hear many persons making objections to the proposed Moore franchise. I expected to hear them. We have a good many persons who would object to any proposal to give Eastland lower gas rates. They have their reasons, which are easily figured out. In the Moore franchise the user puts up his $10.00 deposit just as is now required. He also pays Moore $3.00 tapping charge, whereas the tapping charge is now $2.50. At present if you use 1,000 feet of gas per month you pay $1.00; 2,000 feet $1.35, and then add 75c per thousand for additional gas. To Moore you would pay $1.25 for 1,000 feet of gas per month; for 2,000 feet $1.25; for 3,000 feet $1.50.

Comparative Schedule
Present Rate Under Moore
Table with columns: Feet, Gross, Net, Franchise

I hear criticism of the Moore franchise because the minimum charge is $1.25 instead of $1.00. I agree with that criticism personally but we could not get Moore to agree to the $1.00 minimum. While a few persons for two or three months in the hot summer time will pay 25c a month more under the Moore franchise, it is for them to say how much more they will gain by the lower 50c rate during the other 8 or 9 months in the year.

Others say Moore is not able to put in the gas lines. He is planning, he says, to make every reasonable showing in the very near future that he has the financial resources to enable him to perform his contract. Moore thinks if he gives the $25,000.00 to guarantee his performance of the contract, then Eastland ought to be satisfied. In addition to the bond guaranty, before Eastland has spent any money at all, Moore will have to lay his lines and be out about $125,000.00. Every gas user in Eastland is guaranteed to get 50c gas by a $25,000.00 bond and by an expenditure of $125,- (Continued on page 2)

TO THE MEMORY OF OUR SISTER, VIRGINIA McEACHERN

Whereas: Death has invaded Eastland Chapter No. 280, Order of the Eastern Star, Eastland, Texas, and on July 6th took from us one of our loved and faithful sisters in the Person of Sister Virginia McEachern; Therefore: Be it resolved by Eastland Chapter that, while we bow our hearts in humble submission to the will of our all-wise and merciful Father, that we express the sorrow of our loss and our heartfelt sympathy to the devoted husband, son and other members of her family in the loss and we resolve to show appreciation of lovable traits shown in her life, to emulate her unselfish life and inspiring example.

Hallowed is the memory of those who strive to follow the Star of the East. She has set in motion influences that will go on and on, ever widening and never ending as long as the work shall last, her funeral tapers are heaven's distant lamps guiding us to everlasting peace.

Resolved: that this sincere expression of sympathy and appreciation be placed upon the minutes of our Chapter, that a copy be sent to members of the family and a copy given to the local paper.

Respectfully submitted,
Frankie Lambert,
Sarah B. Cross,
O. L. Duckett,
Committee.

IN MEMORY OF OUR SISTER, MRS. LULA E. BENSON

Be it resolved that Eastland Chapter No. 280, Order of the Eastern Star, Eastland, Texas, send our sincere sympathy to the husband of our beloved Sister, Lula E. Benson, whom God called to his home eternal in the skies on June 3, 1931.

In the quiet of this hour, to us comes loving memories of this sister who has gone, a moment's time, a little space, to that better country, that beautiful home of the Soul.

Our departed loved one who is today the guest of our memories has silently slipped through the door that opens into another room of the Father's House, the curtain falls as a reminder of Paul's immortal words: "I have finished my course, I have kept the faith."

Such a faith should lighten the burden of sorrow and bring hope and consolation to an aching heart. To the husband we would bring sympathy and comfort, strengthen tender memories and emphasize the hope of a glorious reunion in the home where death comes not.

Be it resolved that a copy of these resolutions be spread on our minutes, a copy furnished to the local newspaper for publication, and a copy furnished to the family of deceased.

At the Rotary Club Monday

A very interesting program was enjoyed by the members of the Eastland Rotary Club Monday. Earl Bender gave the club an outline of the trials and tribulations of an abstractor and John Mouser gave a resume of the doings or misdoings of the special session of the legislature. John Mouser's talk was punctuated by wisecracks from J. E. Lewis.

The music for the hour was furnished by Martha Frances Thomas at the piano and Herbert Reed with his banjo.

Messrs. R. M. South and M. M. Joiner of Eastland left Tuesday on a business trip to Crane and other points.

Messrs. W. A. Hammett, constable, and Henry Hanover, deputy, of Ranger, were in the city Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sneed of Cisco returned to their home Friday from a vacation in Mexico and other points.

Dr. S. P. Rumph of Fort Worth was here Wednesday on business.

MAYOR McCULLOUGH—

000.00. How Eastland would hum with good business right now, if a new gas system were installed now! Some people, however, talk like they think a new gas system would hurt business locally. I think it would bring back a little business boom to our City.

The two objections being urged above are to me without much merit. The proposed franchise would make much money for Eastland people. And if and when Mr. Moore shows me he has the financial backing to put the gas system in, and that he has a reasonably ample source of gas supply of a proper quality, I shall then recommend to you that we sign the written agreement to tie on to his lines when they are ready.

Respectfully submitted,
Frankie Lambert,
Sarah B. Cross,
O. L. Duckett,
Committee.

A blouse of eyelet embroidered batiste to go with your summer suit of silk or linen. You will find it most attractive and not difficult to make. You may use batiste of pure white or a light ecru tone, with narrow valenciennes lace to match. The lace, as you see, edges the neckline and front of the blouse and is used around upper and lower edges of the close fitting peplum.

To make the pattern follow the diagram.

AB and RP measure 22 inches. AC and CB eleven inches. AR and BP are sixteen inches, CD is seventeen inches. CX is 8 1/2 inches, CM and CN are 3 1/2 inches each. CO is one-half inch. KK and XL are 9 1/2 inches. G and H are two inches from the line and AB and 3 1/2 inches from the lines AR and BP.

Join G and M and N and H with straight lines for the shoulders. Curve the back of the neck from M to O to N. Curve the armholes from G to K and H to L. Draw straight lines for underarm seams from K to R and L to P. Curve the lower edge from R to D to P. The front neckline is made by drawing a straight line from M to X to N. For the right front cut a piece with an extension from X to the lower edge and back to D. For the left front cut a straight line from X to D and let the right front extend over the left front. All edges are hemmed with a very narrow hem and edged with valenciennes, except the left front. Undeared and shoulder seams are first French seamed.

For the peplum the line AB is 20 inches and CD is 22 inches. The peplum is five inches wide and is curved slightly so that it is cut from a strip of material six inches wide. The blouse is stitched over the peplum and the peplum is edged with lace. It is cut in two pieces, seamed at the sides, and the blouse section may be slightly gathered at the sides to fit over it smoothly.

raid so Rowena drew a deep reath. Something about it— about her—made Peter quely of a swimmer standing bold and bare, body poised ss, or a distance plunge into ater. "Peter—you—you are are you are not in love?" ll be," he assured her gallant you look like this very often." m serious, Peter."

So, I'm not in love."

Absolutely?"

Then Peter, how about this?" other deep breath—another premitary quiver of cold flesh anticing an icy plunge. "You know, urriage isn't the sweetly sacred g it used to be. It's only a sort of enture these days, a matter of efficiency, or convenience, or emotionperiment. And besides, business ar more important. Don't you think "

"I hadn't really thought of it in ut that way," said Peter vaguely.

"Well, you think if it and you'll see I'm right. And as long as we're not n love with anybody else or anything, and nobody cares one way or the other—well, why don't we—why can't we—don't you see what I mean? Why not just go ahead with the trip the way we are, and do the work, and get the money and everything—and just get married? That's all."

Peter hadn't remotely suspected what she had in mind until she brought the word out, struck him full in the face with it, as it were. And it pulled him up short, shocked and resentful, like a struck man.

"Why, Rowena, that's—that's very nice of you—I suppose. But I really had never thought about—being married to you—"

"Well," she interrupted tartly. "if it comes to that I can't think of anything in the world I'd like less than being married to you, either." But she realized at once that she was off on the wrong tack and quickly changed her method. "Of course, darling," she added kindly. "I know we don't get along very well together, and that we're anything but in love. But it isn't a real marriage I have in mind. Just to cover the proprieties and let us finish the trip.—And just think how much more money we can save, not always having to buy manicures and souvenirs for Bobby!—I know a judge in New York and he'll annul us as soon as we get back. No harm done."

"Maybe he won't do it."

"Oh, yes, he will, he wants to marry me himself. He'll annul us like a shot out of a gun."

"But, Rowena," he began wretch-edly.

"And, Peter, dear Peter," said Rowena moving prettily in the transparent velvet scarf, "I'm really a terribly nice sort when I'm not working hard and worried about money. Ever and ever so many quite nice people are terribly anxious to be married to me. I dare say as a married couple we shall get along better than most. And we will be careful to get separate rooms on separate floors of the hotel and make the clerks give us a receipt making a note of it, so we can use it for evidence that we have never—oh—never been—anything but just—well, married, you know."

"That's enough, if you ask me," said Peter in a troubled voice.

"I'm terribly hungry," said Rowena. "Let's go down to that cunning little place the clerk told us about and have a sandwich or something. And you think it over. I had to think up some way to get out of it, Peter. We just couldn't chuck it—not here—not right at the very front door of the Rocky Mountains. I couldn't bear it."

So they took a taxicab and went down to the nice little place and Rowena didn't say a word about business, or money, or professions. She talked softly of lovely, lovable things, and smiled, and the beads shone blue on her throat, and stars shone in the blue of her eyes, until Peter declared it was a very good idea and hers and they would get it done the first thing next morning.

After breakfast next morning Peter insisted upon using a small portion of their dwindling expense money to buy a plain wedding ring.

They had no trouble procuring the license, hurried directly to the office of the nearest justice and by twelve o'clock they were married.

Back in the hotel they turned abruptly away from each other as soon as they had their keys from the desk and went up to their rooms by separate elevators. At one o'clock they were drawing out of Denver, headed north, both a little hushed, a little excited and more than a little nervous.

It was very late that night when they reached Cheyenne. The last twenty miles Peter drove slowly, creeping along as one who dreaded the ultimate arrival and when no amount of slowing down could postpone the inevitable he was plainly on edge.

"It's going to be awkward as the devil," he said moodily.

"Not at all," said Rowena. "Just go right in and ask for two rooms on separate floors."

"You'd better come with me. It will look odd for me to go in alone and then come back for you."

Rowena got out. "J—just be offhand about it, Peter. Be casual."

"Yeh," he growled. "They're going to think it's very fishy."

Obviously, they did think so. Peter strolled up to the desk with a conspicuous assumption of nonchalance, Rowena tagging nervously at his heels.

"Yes, sir," said the clerk briskly. "On—er separate floors, I suppose," said Peter hopefully.

"No—connectin," said the clerk.

"Er—well—" began Peter, weakening.

But Rowena nudged him.

"We'd rather have them—er—on separate floors, if you don't mind," he stammered and his face grew red.

The clerk looked up at them strangely. The telephone girl came around from her desk in the corner and lounged within good hearing distance. A large man in slouchy clothes sauntered over from the cigar stand. Two men sitting near dropped their papers in their laps and one began to rub up his glasses.

"Separate floors?" repeated the clerk.

"Yes, please," chimed Rowena helpfully. "So—so we won't wake each other up mornings. We—sleep late."

"Um, I see," said the clerk. "Traveling together?"

"Yes," said Peter firmly. "My wife and I are making a motor trip up to Yellowstone."

The clerk swung the register toward him and handed him the pen.

"Will you register?"

"Peter Blande," wrote Peter firmly. "Your—wife, too, please," said the clerk.

Peter hesitated. "Mrs.—Peter—" he wrote slowly.

Rowena leaned over. "I'd rather use my own name, Peter," she said. "For—er professional reasons."

Peter crossed out what he had written and wrote "Miss." Then he scratched that out and wrote "Rowena Rostand." But it did not look just right to him so he carefully inserted "Mrs." over the scratched out "Miss."

The clerk studied the name, the telephone girl looking over his shoulder as he did so. The large man in the slouchy clothes studied Peter.

"New York, eh," said the clerk.

"Yes," said Peter.

"Yes, indeed," chimed Rowena.

"Yes," said Peter and Rowena in well-timed chorus.

The clerk frowned over the room chart. "I'm afraid we're full up," he said slowly. "Not a thing left."

Peter leaned over the desk and his mild face looked quite grim and ugly. "You said you had two rooms," he said in a low voice.

"We did then," said the clerk evenly. "But just now"—he shook his head—"I'm afraid not."

The telephone girl snickered a little and one of the men sitting nearby rusted his paper. Rowena flushed and caught a sharp breath, cowering slightly, but Peter suddenly showed surly and efficient.

"Oh, yes, you have," he said. "Two rooms, and we'll take them. We've got a marriage certificate, if that's what's eating you!"

"Yeh?"

"Rowena, get the certificate!"

Rowena hurriedly took it out of the side pocket of her bag. The clerk read it slowly and handed it to the large man in the slouchy clothes who looked it over and nodded churlishly.

"Denver, eh?" inquired the clerk.

"Today, eh?"

"Yes," said Peter.

"Some other people drove out with us," Rowena hastened to explain. "And they were unexpectedly called back to New York—and so—the rest of us—Peter and I—just got married."

"We've got a very nice suite on the second floor," suggested the clerk.

"All right," said Peter grimly.

"No," cried Rowena, faint but firm. "Separate floors."

The clerk grinned, not unsympathetically. "All right, all right," he said. "Don't be nervous, lady. We'll put him on the top floor.—Congratulations, Mr. Blande. She's certainly a beauty. She'll get over that nervousness."

Peter muttered unspeakable things deep down in his throat, and the boy came and took their bags and led them off to separate rooms on separate floors. A loud gust of laughter swept up the elevator shaft in their wake.

In the doorway of the room assigned her Rowena turned and held out an appealing hand.

"G-good night, Peter," she said sadly.

The merchants are kicking about the Tobacco Chewer's Club staining their sidewalks and show window glasses. They should get up a petition to Mayor McCullough to have sand boxes installed around at convenient places and proper heights. This would suggest accuracy to the clubmen and after a few weeks the stains would be better grouped. Then it would take less labor to remove them. The only possible way to keep men from standing around the square is to stop the girls from coming to town.

L. E. Richardson maintains that he is well, but he is getting so that he has to scratch his head before he can decide what to order for dinner. Rich ought to get married—then he would eat what was put before him and be uncommonly glad to get it.

Who put that item in the paper about my going to work in the East Texas Oil Fields? If they had not mentioned work my friends might have believed it but that obnoxious word spoiled the joke.

Everyone will be relieved to hear that Alfalfa Bill Murray has declared war on the Sinclair Oil Company instead of the State of Texas. It looked for awhile as though the American Legion Rifle Club would be chalking up misses on Oklahoma National Guardsmen instead of paper targets. That would have given Jim Horton and Tom Harris an excuse to stay out all night.

John Ernst and Sam Knepley are justifiably proud of the fact that they have fine young sons. However, we would like to call their attention to the Grubbs family—just to show them what some others have done.

John J. McGraw, skipper of the New York Giants, is trying to have pop bottles banned from ball parks. Any of you who are going east this summer had better take some umpire-killing missiles with you. A sawed-off shot gun would probably answer better than anything else.

J. O. Earnest is getting better at painting signs. You can now read half of what he paints on his windows and have a dim suspicion of what the other half is. Was it the Bible, Shakespeare or Milburn McCarty that got out that saying about practice making perfect.

What is the best way to tell which is the Collie you ought to buy insurance from before you set your house on fire and which is the Collie that will prosecute you after you do it?

Why does a woman make out a very complete shopping list and then leave it at home on her dressing table? Simple. She can forget something and have an excuse to go back to town. We all know that no Eastland woman would be guilty of anything like that.

Marvin and Webb Grubbs have been very busy lately showing Pietzer the town. Someone ought to warn Pietzer to always carry bail money along with him. He might not ever need it, but then it would not hurt to have it in case he did.

Bill McDonald says a policeman misrepresented things and caused him to visit a New York speakeasy. Why is it that these Sunday school boys always blame someone else when their feet slip from the Street Called Straight.

Monte Hayes says he's going to bite my dog. If he ever does I will let you know, for that would be news. So far it has been the other way, which is not news.

I guess it is bull-over time. Further deponent sayeth not.

International Sunday School Lesson for August 16th SOWING AND REAPING Galatians 6:1-10

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

This quarterly temperance lesson also suggests a profitable study for these summer days. One of the epistles of Paul furnishes the lesson text. Search out all the thirteen or fourteen letters that he wrote and relate them to the historical account of the Acts.

Moral problems faced the people in that day and these letters deal very directly with human affairs. Since the same difficulties are with us today we find even greater help in these same writings for Paul. Read the entire letter and note how the Grace of God was superceding the hard and fast laws under which the Old Testament of Hebrew sought to live.

Everybody makes mistakes and the apostle tells that those who are making the fewest mistakes should be most kindly disposed toward those who sin to a greater extent. There are certain burdens that we must bear for ourselves, such as the kit that the traveler or soldier carries for his daily necessities.

The Golden Text is just plain common sense as well as spiritual truth: "Whatsoever a man soweth THAT shall also reap." That is certain in the material world and not the less positive in the spiritual realm. Wild oats take nourishment from the soil and produce their own crop. Alcoholic liquor is habit-forming and death dealing, no matter how slowly the poison may work. A single glass has its effect on the brain cells and lessens the power of self-direction. Turn to the newspapers for this week to get more illustrations that can be presented during the class session. Big business will have nothing to do with it. Alcohol takes away personal liberty and is destructive of body and soul.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The subject of the lesson-sermon was "Spirit" in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, August 9.

Galatians 5:25 furnished the golden text: "If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit."

These passages from the Bible (Galatians 5:16-24) were included in the service: "This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lust of the flesh. And they that are Christ's have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts."

The lesson-sermon also included the following citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy (pp 64, 289):

"Spirit will ultimately claim its own,—all that really is, and the voices of physical sense will be forever hushed. . . . The belief that life and sensation are in the body should be overcome by the understanding of what constitutes man as the image of God. The Spirit will have overcome the flesh."

BAPTIST CHURCH

"The tragedy of being at ease," will be the theme of the Sunday night sermon which will be delivered at the place of the out-door revival on South Seaman street at 8:00 p. m.

"The church Militant," will be the theme of the sermon at 10:45 a. m. Morning service will be held in the

B. W. M. S. MEET

Circles 1, 2, 3 and 4 of the Baptist Woman's Missionary Society met Monday afternoon at 3:30 at the church for the Bible study lesson.

Mrs. Frank Lovett, president, presided. The meeting opened with the song, "Smiles." Prayer by Mrs. W. A. Owen. The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. W. D. R. Owen. The theme of her discourse was, "Joy." Prayer by Mrs. T. J. Pitts. Lesson was taught by Rev. W. T. Turner from 12 and 17 chapters of Revelations: theme, "The True and the False Church"

Plans were formulated for W. M. S. and other organizations of the church to visit one day before the protracted meeting begins, which has been announced to start Sunday night, August 16th. Mrs. T. J. Pitts, mission study chairman, gave a few seals to those present:

Meeting closed with prayer by Bro. Turner. Those present were: Mesdames Frank Lovett, W. D. R. Owen, W. A. Owen, Ed T. Cox, Sr., Carl Springer, Jess Seibert, Neil, Dakan, Mays, Nora Andrews, A J.
