help me."

"He can't help you. Nobody can, but yourself." She silently sank to the couch. "Now, my dear young lady, it isn't necessary for you to do any acting. I know what it's all about. I've handled cases like this before."

"The complaint is violation of the Public Morals Act," said Forbes. (Posed by Oscar Apfel and Barbara Stanwyck)

"Til be there." The lad was quiet but determined. "Kitty is coming but determined. "Kitty is coming by Forbes and a detective. "This is the young woman," said

"You don't think I'm going to let you marry this cheap—common—"

"Kitty broke in on the woman."
"The detective handed her a paper. "You'll have to come along with me."
"Ho to cheap! I'm not common!"
"Calling names isn't going to do any good, mother."

Mrs. Livingston turned on the lad. "You mean to tell me that you are going to stand there and defend this girl after—" She made a sweeping gesture aroud the room.

Kitty broke in quietly. "I'm not ashamed—I love him."

Mrs. Livingston commenced to shout. "Of course you're not ashamed! Why should you be? This is nothing new to you. You probably weren't ashamed all the other—" "Where's Dave?" Kitty asked as they entered the room.

ashamed! Why should you be?
This is nothing new to you. You probably weren't ashamed all the other—"
Bavid became menacing. "I can't allow you to say that!" His voice had an electrifying effect upon his mother. She stared at him, frightened. For a time there was absolute silence, then David continued. "There is no use talking about it any more. I've made up my mind. Kit and I are going to be married."
Judge Forbes moved over to Mrs. Livingston. "Just a moment, Helen."
A flash of understanding passed between them as he continued. "Here are two young people in love with each other. Nothing you can say or do will alter that." He became sympathetic. "I know exactly how you feel. The whole thing is a shock to you. That's why you're, saying things you don't mean." He squeezed Mrs. Livingston's arm. "Perhaps if you and Miss Lane get to know each other better—you'll probably learn to love her as much as David does. After all, you've got to be fair about this, Helen."

Mrs. Livingston hung her head guiltily, playing straight for Forbes. She had no idea what was in his mind, but had implicit faith in him." I may have lost my head."

Dave and Kitty watched the scene anxiously. Mrs. Livingston went over to the girl, holding out her hand. "Forgive me, dear. I know I said some terrible things. I'm sorry. Please try to understand. It's only because I worry so much over David."

"Sure—I understand." Kitty replied with a forgiving spirit. It was David's mother.

The lad was happy. "Gee, mother, you're a peach!" He threw his arms about her and hugged the woman anfectionately. "See, Kitty, I told you she was swell."

Judge Forbes thought it time to break up the scene. "Better get started if you are all going to make the train."

"Tve got something to do first." Dave ma swell seaming. "I'm going downtown and get a marriage license."

"That's out of the question. He's leaving for New York with his mother. They're sailing for Europe immediately. However, I'm authorized to act for them." He reached into his pocket and drew out his wallet. "I've been to the bank. I thought you'd prefer cash." He withdrew a piece of paper and a handful of bank notes. "Five thousand dollars. Merely for leaving town at once." He extended the money. She took it, looked at it for a moment with a bitter smile on her face. Then she flung it into Forbes' face. The notes scattered all about the room. face. The notes scattered all about the room.

"What are you trying to make of me? What you wish I was—something cheap; something common: something you can buy with money! Well, you can't. Nobody can. You—and the people who sent you—the nice, decent people are the real cheap ones—trying to put a price on something there can't be a price for. If that's decent, I'm glad I'm common." She ran to the door and threw it open. The detective was outside. Kitty screamed at him; "Come on in, copper, and earn your pay!"

Methodists Held

Meet Here Friday

By MRS. W. K. JACKSON
The First Methodist church of Eastland was a busy place all day Friday with 155 women and several men engaged in the Central Texas conference men engaged in the Central Texas conference entertained by the Woman's Missionary society of the church. The morning session was conducted by Mrs. W. E. Barron, district secretary, who presided, and who is the presiding officer for all Cisco district meeting. Ranger's invitation was accepted and the convention was accepted and the convention was decorated month ago (production of 32,000,000 pounds was then indicated) needs revision to the extent that at the present time it is indicated that the crop may not exceed 8.

A notable feature of the convention was decorated booth, in charge of Mrs. F. M. Kenny. This both was decorated booth, in charge of Mrs. F. M. Kenny. This both was decorated that the crop may not exceed 8.

The program opened with the hymns, "The Kingdom is Coming," and "I'll Go Where You Want Me to Go," with Mrs. F. O. Hunter at piano for the day's musical numbers. Devotional was led by Dr. Cullom H. Booth of Cisco, the presiding elder of the district.

Organization followed with Mrs. Iola Mitchell elected secretary and Mrs. W. P. Leslie, assistant.

Mrs. W. P. Leslie, assistant.

The welcome address by Mrs.
Leslie developed the language of flowers in a description of Rose as Love, the daisy as simplicity, violet as modesty; a charming thought appreciated at close of address by presentation of small bouquets of these flowers in lace edged paper, to the speaker and all officers, by Mary Nell Crowell, Annelle Bender and Frances Cro-well.

Annelle Bender and Frances Crowell.

The response was given in smooth and flowing language by Mrs. Gid J. Bryan of Ranger.

Roll call response by auxiliaries were individual slogans.

Mrs. I. N. Griffin of Ranger made a pleasing talk, "Echoes from Annual Meeting," and gave reports of auxiliary presidents. A voice solo by Mrs. C. A. Boaz of Fort Worth prefaced the district secretary's message by presiding officer.

An interesting feature of the convention, the presentation of World Outlook was given by Mrs. J. C. Stephen, America; Mrs. G. H. Dunham, Mexico; Mrs. C. W. Hoffman, Japan, and Mrs. M. B. Griffin, who spoke on China.

A scripture talk followed by Mrs. C. A. Boaz, Con. Supt of study. Mrs. Barron introduced the visitors at this period. The morning session closed with a talk by Mrs. F. P. Culver, conference superintendent of Christian relations, on work of the department and concluded with benediction by Dr. Booth.

Adjournment was taken for Dr. Booth. Adjournment was taken for Adjournment was taken for luncheon.

The big dining hall of the Methodist church was set with two long tables, linen covered and spaced with many bouquets. The covered dish luncheon was delicious and generous. Members of the Methodist church auxiliary, some 15 women, with Mrs. Frank Crowell, temporary president of the Women's Missionary society, as chairman, served the guests. During this social hour a genuine surprise was tendered Miss Eura Leveridge of Holden institute, Laredo, presented a birthday cake beautifully iced and topped with 10 lighted tapers, representing her years of service in missionary fields. Mrs. Crowell presented the gift in a charming little talk to the accompaniment of several children singing "Happy Birthday to You."

auxiliary. These 12 characters in play demonstrated the Better Homes idea in America as seen through the eyes of the women of India and Asia.

Voice solo by Mrs. Boaz preceded a talk on publicity for church work given by Mrs. W. C. Lightfoot of DeLeon.

A mystery play by Eastland boys and girls World club was here introduced as the complimentary entertainment for visiting convention. The play was given on the stage of main auditorium of Methodist church. The children's auxiliary opened the program with a flag song and salute. Song, "World Children for Jesus," was followed by a reading, "Angelina Johnson," given by Rae June Stubbleffeld.

Violin solo, Glenna Lee Johnson with Clara June Kimbble at piano. Song by little Virginia Ferguson had piano accompaniment by her sistet, Jane.

This delightful little curtainraiser brought the playlet, "Miss Pessimism," played by Mildred McGlamery. The nurse, by Jane Ferguson. The doctor, by Ernest Jones Jr. Children taking character in the play were Rae June Stubbleffeld, Julia Parker, Gdraldine Harris, Nan Mickle, Nora F. Mahon, Annie Joe Tableman, Gladys Gates, Nelma Robason and those in principal roles. The playlet was in one act directed by Mrs. Claude C. Stubblefield, who adapted it from a four-character play and made it a suitable vehicle for children. Enthusiastic applause greeted this production, clever in the extreme. Several requests were made that the playlet be uresented in other auxiliaries of Cisco district.

The program proper was resumed by Miss Leveridge speaking on the Holden institute, following on the Holden institute, following ATTITUTE OF GUM-DIPPED CORDS The Firestone patented Gum-Dip-ping process transforms the cotton cards into a strong, tough, sinewy unit. Liquid rubber penetrates every cord and coats every fiber, guarding against the ternal friction and heat, greatly increas-ing the strength of the cord body, and giving longer tire life.

TWO EXTRA
GUM-DIPPED CORD PLIES
UNDER THE TREAD

This is a patented construction, and the two extra Gum-Dipped cord plies are so placed that you get 56% stronger bond between tread and cord body, and tests show 26% greater protection against punctures and blowouts. It sets a new standard for tire performance on high speed cars.
NON-SKID TREAD

Tough, live rubber specially compounded for long, slow wear. Scientifically designed non-skid gives greater haction and safe, quiet performance.

An Open Letter

Tom Blanton and Joe Jones

Joe, you never shined my shoes in your life. I shined them my-self. Such work is honorable, but it alone does not qualify one for Congress, for to render service worth while, one must know how to do well a thousand other things Honest ambition is worthy, but you mustn't get too ambitious too suddenly. When I was elected to Congress, you were studying law in Post City. When you were in high school, I was a district judge, and my "place" was the district bench. If you first obtain and fill it worthily for eight years and clear the docket, as I did, you may eventually qualify yourself for Congress.

Teasing? If you saved us so much money, why do we have an additional one-cent tax on gasoline, and a tax on all checks, which go in effect today, and why will we be compelled to put a three-cent stamp on letters beginning July 6?

Judge, the people down here are wondering why it is that our governmental expenses have been growing ever since you have been in congress.

World War, stating "Millions of young men my age answered the call of their country," and you headed your later documents with "Send a fresh soldier to Washington." You wrote Commander ton." You wrote Commander that you are not an existence and graft at Washton." You wrote Commander Brown that you are not an exservice man, that you "couldn't pass the physical examination, sending him the affidavit of Dr. Johnson, of the Draft Board, who is tated that you "were afflicted with organic heart trouble, were in a bad physical condition, and wholly unfit for military service." Being that badly afflicted, you can't stand the grind here. And you wrote Brown that the American Legion in Eastland, Cisco, and Ranger are for you 100 per cent. Many write me denying this expressing appreciation for my expressing appreciation for my help to them, and pledging me their loyal support.

Your cases you mention needed little prosecution to convict. The sheriffs caught the robbers. Public sentiment convicted them. Why didn't you prosecute Bruce Nicholson? Was it family connection and prominent attorneys defending? I paid for bringing the poor girl and her evidence to Eastland. Your grand jury indicted him. You laid down, and dismissed the case.
Why didn't you protect poor McMinn of Olden? You can't ever explain the $29,674 you have drawn from Texas taxpayers in padded fees in your outrageous accounts, now being investigated upport Texas relatives.

Your campaign cry is turn me out and give you the salary. I have never looked upon public office as a financial gain, but as a means of rendering service. During my public career, I have spent each year, above at bare living for my family, my entire income in fighting rottenness, such as madded accounts. The such as padded accounts. The official records will show I have saved many millions, and have caused many crooks to be kicked out. The people's concern is which of us will do the most for them. Let our records answer that. I can't campaign yet. But when work is done, I'll be seeing you are the race. But it try to ass

Judge, the folks got a good laugh out of the telegram which you had South Trimble send me. It was pretty clever but it smelled too much like politics. It is so ridiculous to have an alibi that a congressman has to practice fraud on the government by placing a dummy on the payroll to distribute clerk hire. How about Tom, Jr., and Matt, your two sons, and your brother, W. W. Blanton? Were they on the payroll merely to distribute clerk hire too? Some joke, Judge.

Judge, you state that one ought to the precised or deciver. You have to the precised or deciver. You have the following the fo
