Sparks Replies To Marked Ballot

Frank Sparks, candidate for judge of the 88th district court, in a signed statement issued Thursday had the following to say regarding the "marked" ballot circulated throughout the county earlier in the week.

"I join all right thinking people in condemning the appearance of the 'marked ballot' in various parts of the county. It is obvious that the purpose and intent of this unfair and anonymous piece of campaign literature was to do me an injury, and I am not, therefore, called upon to offer an apology, either for myself or my supporters, for its appearance. I charge no one with responsibility for the same, because I have not been able thus far to locate its author or authors. It is probably the work of some radical individual or group of men who are making an eleventh hour attempt to put their candidates on a ticket over, and are falling short of the mark. The voters of Eastland county have long since decided that before they allow themselves to be led to the polls by any self-appointed leader in support of any candidate or ticket, they must know the identity of such self-appointed leader and what interests, if any, are involved. The need for sane honest and efficient government at this time is too great for the people to be influenced by anything short of a thorough investigation into the character, principles and fitness of any candidate to hold office."

"I wish to express my deep appreciation for the loyalty of my friends, and to urge them to redouble their efforts in my behalf everywhere in order to counteract the effect (if any) of this regrettable breach of the rules of fair politics on the part of those responsible therefor."

"I also wish to advise my friends that Mr. Patterson and I have agreed that neither of us nor our friends will hand out cards on election day. Those who may now have my cards in their possession will please make use of them before Saturday morning."

AUSTIN.—Cotton goods sales by the 21 cotton mills reporting to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research made a sharp gain during July, probably as a result of the jump in unfilled orders during the previous month. R.F.C. Has Loaned 55 Millions to Many Concerns

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The Reconstruction Finance Corporation, loaned or allotted $55,000,000 to more than 400 authorized borrowers during the last 10 days of July, its report, made public today revealed.

In making the first report pursuant to terms of the unemployment relief bill, South Trimble, clerk of the house, revealed a representative of President Hoover telephoned him last week protesting publication.

The corporation reported to Trimble that from July 21 to July 31, inclusive, it had authorized 437 loans, aggregating $45,057,556.10 and loan increases aggregating $1,653,500.

It made available $3,000,000 for purposes of relief in the states and allocated an additional $5,000,000 to the secretary of agriculture.

In making the report public, Trimble added a reply to Representative Treadway, republican, Mass., who had complained the clerk ordered data published, "to gain favor with Speaker Garner."

Such a charge is ridiculous," Trimble said. "The law gives me no discretion in the matter. Speaker Garner has never attempted to influence me in the discharge of my duties."

Hollywood, the city where dreams come true and nightmares all may live with stark drama; the city of music, where unknowns rise to great glory overnight, and those on the highest pinnacle sometimes fall suddenly and crash to oblivion, shattering to fragments as they strike.

No place in the whole world has the romance, the intrigue and the thrill of the film capital, toward which all eyes are turned, its glorious film openings, its gorgeous parties and its colorful routine. Everyone takes in the magnificent pageantry of the premiere of a film at the Chinese Theatre. All the celebrities, gowned in the latest dictates of fashion, drive up under the brilliant sun arcs, pause a minute to speak into the microphone, and then quickly enter the theatre, while back of the ropes thousands of film fans from all parts of the world gaze at them with wide-open mouths and eyes, wishing that the day would dawn when they, too, might bask in the glory of the sun arcs and find worshippers among the vast populace. Not even the gods of Mount Olympus received the homage paid to the feet of clay that tread studio boards and pose before the critical eye of the camera.

It was on an opening night at the Chinese Theatre that our story opens. And such an opening! The crowds seemed greater than ever before. More stars than usual turned out to see Frederic Landau's directorial triumph. There was Clarke Gable, Joan Crawford, Eddie Cantor, Ronald Colman, the Barrymores, and Gloria Swanson, to mention only a few.

Landau arrived with his star,

her lips. A hand reached out and grasped it.

"Hey, wait a minute! What are you doing? Give me that! What's the idea?"

"No, no, let me be! Let me be! Gertie almost shrieked as tears filled her eyes.

"What's the idea?" the lad insisted.

Gertie was tensed with hysteria. "What do you care?" She almost moaned. "Won't they even let me die here?"

"Sure, but not in this lobby. A super-special picture died here an hour ago." Her knees buckled and she was about to fall. The lad grabbed her.

"Oh, whom, wait a minute. Come on now, take it easy. Now let me look at you." She turned away her face and he strained to look at it.

"Oh, it isn't as bad as all that. Come on, let me see. Come on, come on—He pulled her around and gazed into her beautiful countenance. "Just checking in and you want to check out. What's the matter? Are you broke? Are you?"

Before she could reply, footsteps were heard close by.

"Hello Mr. Reed," sang out the cashier.

"Hello, Mac."

"How did you like the picture?"

"You haven't got any cheese in your pocket, have you?"

Mac smiled. "I'm glad you liked it."

Mac walked on leaving Gertie and Jimmy Reed alone. She looked up at him in awe.

"You're Jimmy Reed who writes the newspaper column, aren't you?"

"So what?" he inquired.

"I read it every day."

Jimmy smiled. "Is that the reason you want to take poison?" She froze up again. He looked at her for an instant and then shrugged. "All right. It's none of my business why. But tell me this—what made you pick out this particular spot for your fade-out?"

She debated a moment and then faced him.

"Come on, tell me," Jimmy urged good naturedly. "I'll listen lets have it."

"I won't tell you. You'd only laugh at me."

"No, no I won't. Honest, I promise you I won't."

She arose and walked over to the footprints of Mary Pickford. He followed her. The girl's eyes were fixed on the footprints. She quickly looked up at him, as if to forestall criticism.

"Well, here's why: because I never thought I'd get my footprints here."

"Cinderella looking for concrete slippers."

Tears came to her eyes. She became panicky.

"Here, wait a minute. Aw, don't cry. I can't stand it. He took her by the arm. "Come on let's get out of here before they sweep us out with the rest of the rubbish. The trouble with you is that you got the Hollywood bug. Pictures! What do you know about pictures?"

"Nothing, I guess, but I see them all. I've given anything to have seen that picture tonight. Landau is the most artistic director in Hollywood."

He led her to his car and prepared to start it as they got in. "Yeah, he's artistic all right, but he's nutty as a fruit cake."

"Oh, I think he's wonderful."

He started the car. "Now I know you're crazy. You're just like the rest of those fool girls."

"No, I'm different," Gertie shook her head.

"No you're not. You're a carbon copy of a million others. They come from all of the out-of-the-way places on the map, all set for miracles. But it can't be done. Takes talent, and work, and intelligence."

"Oh, if I could only make you understand. I've worked. I've studied. I've taken lessons — all kinds—dancing, elocution, everything."

Jimmy smiled a queer little smile. "I've never seen anybody reach out for anything like you do."

She pleaded with him. "Oh give me a hand. Help me! You know everybody. Get me in; that's all I want. I'll do anything — anything." She emphasized the last word with such a meaning expression that Jimmy stared at her.

WHOM ARE YOU FOR FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE 107th DISTRICT?

Shall the Monopolies Rule or Shall the Plain People Rule?

This is a fight between the common people and the special interests. If you believe that the people should govern Texas, then vote for me. If you believe that the utilities and other special interests should run the affairs in Texas, then vote for my opponent.

I am thankful for having received twice as many votes as were cast for my opponent in Eastland county in the first primary and ask for your support again next Saturday.

ERNEST O. THOMPSON

CANDIDATE FOR Railroad Commissioner
 (4-Year Unexpired Term)

THOMPSON'S PLATFORM

The Railroad Commission regulates the railroads, trucks and buses, oil and gas business, and gas utilities. Because of the importance of these industries and the part the Commission plays in the development of our great natural resources, the office of Railroad Commissioner directly affects the economic welfare of each individual citizen.

I stand for a fair deal to all concerned, always keeping in mind that the people's interest should come first. Every side of all questions coming before the Commission will be given a fair hearing and a prompt decision.

The railroads are necessary. They should be given fair treatment. Trucks and buses are here to stay. They fill an important gap in our transportation system. They will not be discriminated against.

The oil and gas business has become so important in Texas that our general business now depends largely upon prosperity of this industry. It is the duty of the Commission to foster and conserve these natural resources for orderly development.

I stand for a fair rate in gas utilities—fair to producer and the commissioner; fair to the utility and fair to the public. I respectfully ask the support of the Democratic voters of Texas in the coming election.

To the Voters of Eastland County:

We the undersigned oil operators and business men engaged in associated lines of business in Stephens County heartily endorse the candidacy of Ernest O. Thompson for Railroad Commissioner of the State of Texas, and solicit your vote and co-operation in securing his election:

Judge J. E. Hickman, Chief Justice of the Eleventh Court of Civil Appeals and candidate for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

Friends and supporters of Judge J. E. Hickman of Eastland, in his campaign for associate justice of the supreme court, are calling attention to his remarkable record as chief justice of the Eleventh Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland.

Judge Hickman is running for the office now held by Judge Pierson, who has served on the supreme bench for many years and whose advanced age is pointed to as one of the reasons why the supreme court has not passed on more cases in the past few years.

Attention is called to the fact that Judge Pierson has written but 11 decisions in the past two years, while Judge Greenwood has written 26 and Judge Cureton 23.

According to the records of the supreme court there are three cases that have been before the court six years or more; three that have been before the court five years or more; 14 that have been before the court for four years; 16 that have been in the court for three years and a large number that have been in the court for two years or over.

In striking contrast to the delay which has prevailed in many cases in the supreme court during Judge Pierson's incumbency is the industry and dispatch of the court of civil appeals at Eastland, since Judge J. E. Hickman has been chief justice. A recent check of the records discloses that of 457 cases decided since he became chief justice in 1928, Judge Hickman wrote the opinion on 172 of them. It also shows that 389 of the 457 cases decided in the Eastland court of civil appeals became final, with only 11 reversed. In other words, the decisions of the court of civil appeals remained the final decision in over 95 per cent of the cases. The work of Judge Hickman has been characterized by a combination of legal ability and industry, resulting in a dispatch of business.

Upon a comparison of the records of Judge Pierson in the supreme court and that of Judge Hickman in the court of civil appeals, the supporters of Judge Hickman assure the people of Texas that his elevation to the supreme court will add to the strength and prestige of that court.

Judge Hickman was born in Williamson county, Texas, 49 years ago; a graduate of the law school of the University of Texas; practiced law in Erath and Stephens counties for 16 years; elected associate justice of the court of civil appeals at Eastland in 1925; appointed chief justice in February, 1928, and later elected without opposition. Since then the court over which he presides has come to be generally recognized as one of the strongest courts of civil appeals in Texas. It has especially been characterized by a combination of ability and industry, resulting in a dispatch of business. A recent check of the records disclosed that of 457 cases decided, Judge Hickman wrote the opinion in 172 of them. It also showed that 389 of the 457 cases had become final with only 11 decisions reversed. In other words, the decisions of the court of civil appeals remained the final decision in over 95 per cent of the cases.

Upon the basis of this remarkable record supporters of Judge Hickman assure the people of Texas that his elevation to the supreme court would add to the strength and prestige of that court.

McDonald Speaks For Mrs. Ferguson

"After examining the returns of the first primary, Ross Sterling should have stepped out of the race. This repudiation of an administration by the voters of Texas was the greatest expression of dissatisfaction ever registered in the history of the state," said Hon. C. C. McDonald of Wichita Falls, Friday night from the south steps of the Eastland county courthouse to a large crowd that had assembled there to hear him.

"We hear it said on all sides that this has been a hard year," said McDonald, "but if the voters can accomplish two objectives by the way they cast their ballot; if they can retire Herbert Hoover from the White House and Ross Sterling from the State Executive Mansion, it will be a pretty good year, after all."

After an introductory speech by Frank Judkins, who said that he had favored Tom Hunter during the first campaign and had voted for him but that he was now supporting Mrs. Ferguson, McDonald started into his speech without preamble, except to state that he appreciated the announcement given him on the front page of this paper because the small papers were more nearly fair in this campaign than were the metropolitan papers.

McDonald quoted the statistics of the vote cast in the first primary, using a colored map to illustrate the counties carried by Ferguson, Hunter and Sterling, respectively.

"More than two-thirds of the voters cast their ballot to repudiate Sterling," said the speaker. "Sixty-two counties were carried by Mrs. Ferguson, 59 by Sterling and 31 by Hunter," he continued. Pointing to the counties along the Rio Grande River carried by Sterling, McDonald said, "Is the intelligence of Texas to be judged by the counties along the border, where Ross carried every county except Val Verde?" "We found out after the election that they had paid $2.50 each to Mexicans to kill your vote."

McDonald made reference to the Red River bridge controversy in which he charged Sterling with favoring the owners of a toll bridge and called attention to the vote cast in the counties along the river being in repudiation of that set of Sterling.

He answered that charge that a failure to elect Sterling would be embarrassing to John Garner in the national campaign with the statement that Ferguson carried John Garner's home county, Uvalde.

The speaker sharply criticized ex-Governors Hobby and Moody together with Sterling in connection with the failure of a life insurance company in recent years.

The pardon records of Sterling and Ferguson came in for a comparison. The speaker called the listener's attention to the number of paroles issued by Sterling and cinched his argument with the statement, "Sterling says they're not pardons, they're paroles. It makes no difference what you name them. If a man gets out of the penitentiary and is allowed to go home to his family, the man doesn't care what you call the legal document that means his liberty. You can call it a parole, what the man in the pen wants is to get out of there."

The highway department came in for its share of criticism with charges that have been given previous publicity.

Applause was frequent and prolonged many times during McDonald's speech.

The Mutch and Rabbitry

Eastland county rabbit breeders are making plans for their third annual show which will be held in Eastland in conjunction with the Eastland County Fair on Sept. 21 to 24 inclusive. Ed Gray of Dallas, licensed judge and registrar, will judge the show which will be held in accordance with the rules of the American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association.

The Eastland County Rabbit Breeders association meets every first and third Thursday nights in each month. The meetings are held in the office of County Agent J. (4) Patterson on the ground floor of Eastland county courthouse. Officers of the association are H. L. Owen, president, Eastland; John W. Tibbels, vice-president, Ranger; M. C. Franklin, secretary, Eastland. There are possibly 200 breeders of rabbits in the county. About one fourth of this number are affiliated with the Eastland county association.

The Aug. 11 meeting of the Eastland County Rabbit Breeders association was called off on account of other attractions in the city. The meeting last Thursday night was held as per schedule. Plans for the premium list for the coming show Sept. 21 to 24, were discussed.

While the rabbit industry is comparatively young in Eastland county it is growing rapidly and there is a splendid demand for rabbits for both eating and breeding purposes. A number of the leading breeds are being grown, with the White New Zealand taking the lead. Among other breeds being raised are Red New Zealand, Chinchilla, Silver Martens, Flemish Giants and Dutch.

"The greatest injury that could come to Texas would be to elect Ross Sterling and advertise to the world the effect of Standard Oil influence in our fair state," he shouted.

of the John Tarlton College and G. N. Quill, scout executive, made short talks. Mr. Phillips stated that the next court of honor would be held in the form of an outdoor meeting and at which time an Indian Pow-Wow ceremony would be presented for the benefit of the visitors.

San Saba A court of honor was held in San Saba. As we go to press we can merely make the statement that the court of honor will be held Monday night in San Saba and we will report this next week.

TROOP STUNTS Troop No. 8 of Brownwood pulled what they called a "bear hunt" at their last meeting night. They persuaded Toots Gilliam, life guard at Lakewood, and Herman Britt, senior patrol leader, to act as bears and the rest of the troop were the hounds. The hounds had strings of yarn tied on their wrists and ankles, as did the bears, and the test of the game was to see who could secure the greatest number of strings during a stated time. Since we have seen neither of the bears or the hounds, it would be difficult for us to report the winners, but we are sure it all ended in a most agreeable manner.

Re-registration Troop 17 of Breckenridge re-registered this week with the following troop officers: T. Barton Clay, scoutmaster; Joe Hulin and Gaines Shultz, assistant scoutmasters; Billy Bacon, chairman; H. Davis and W. W. Shultz, troop committeemen.

Water Meet Labor Day, Sept. 5, there will be a water meet held at Lake Cisco for scouts. Any troop may enter a team. Scoutmaster Tudor of Stephenville says no one else need enter the race but the scribe would like to see some one at least make Tudor's team fight for the beautiful loving cup which is to be presented. Detailed information is being mailed to each scoutmaster. Now scouts get busy.

C. V. TERRELL OF WISE COUNTY THANKS HIS SUPPORTERS FOR THEIR SUPPORT I take this means of expressing my sincere thanks and appreciation for the splendid vote given me in the July Primary for my second full term as your Railroad Commissioner.

I carried 187 counties in the first primary while my opponent carried but 51. I needed less than 8 per cent of the entire vote cast of getting a majority over all my opponents. My lead of 152,957 votes over my present opponent is a splendid endorsement of my past record as Railroad Commissioner, of which I am very proud. I sincerely ask that the people beware of last minute propaganda which, it has been rumored, will appear too late for me to answer. I ask that you take my past record and qualifications as your guide on August 27th.

Sincerely, C. V. TERRELL. (Political Adv.)

VICTORY TO GO TO C. V. TERRELL SUPPORTERS SAY

Railroad Commissioner's Re-election Assured, State Reports Indicate

Carrying more than 185 counties, with ballot totals giving him an overwhelming lead over his closest opponent, C. V. Terrell is virtually assured of re-election as railroad commissioner, his supporters throughout Texas report. Mr. Terrell is seeking his second full term as a member of the important state body which has supervision of three billion dollars in properties and values in Texas. At present, he is chairman of the commission.

Following a strict program of ignoring personal attacks and draping none of his opponents with political mud, Mr. Terrell has made thousands of friends in this state.

During his term of office, the commission has returned to the general revenue fund more than $300,000.00. The commission has tried more than 15,000 cases with only four reversals. This is considered a record unsurpassed by any similar body in the United States. It has made a record in Texas by having heard more than three times as many cases as any previous railroad commission and in its course passed on 5,000 truck and bus cases with not a single reversal. The official record of the commission shows that since Mr. Terrell has been a member of this body more new line railroad tracks have been laid in Texas than in all other states combined.

Early in his career as state official, Mr. Terrell inaugurated the half time plan in the state capitol, which has enabled thousands of young men and women of all walks in life in Texas to earn their way through school.

Recently, Roy I. Tennant, who ran third place against Mr. Terrell in the first primary, announced publicly that he would cast his vote for Mr. Terrell in the run-off election. (Political Adv.)

Troop Programs Troop No. 9 of Ranger reports having put on a program for the Rotary Club last week. Also Troop 22 of Dublin put on a program for the entertainment of the Merchants club. Doubtless other troops have been doing likewise, but we have no report of same.

COURTS OF HONOR

Ranger Since the last report, two excellent courts of honor have been held namely: one in Ranger, which was attended by a large crowd of visitors and a large number of scouts appeared for awards. An electric arch which is owned by the Comanche Trail Council was used in the presentation of the badges. Rev. D. W. Nichol who is chairman of the court, J. E. Meroney, Ranger district chairman, Scoutmasters King and Reese, assisted by others conducted the court of honor.

Stephenville L. W. Phillips, Stephenville district chairman, acted as chairman of the court of honor in the absence of Reid Bassel at the court of honor which was held at the Majestic theatre through the courtesy of Manager Donald.

Eagle Thomas Hooker is the first scout to receive the Eagle badge in the Stephenville district. The court of honor was presented on the stage and a rather picturesque scene with the scouts grouped in a circle before the court of honor and the electric arch over at the left which was attended by Scoutmaster Homer Tudor as the scouts names were called for an award, he appeared before the electric arch and the badge was presented there by the scoutmaster, Tudor, Rev. Patterson, pastor of the First Methodist Church and Mr. Gerald

TO THE VOTERS!
We want to commend to your favor Hon. Joe Burkett, of San Antonio, for Congressman-at-Large, Place No. 3. West Texas is entitled to another Congressman by reason of the increased population, and Burkett is, in our judgment, preeminently the best man for that position. His opponent lives in Dallas.
Senator Burkett is now in the prime of life, 46 years of age, born at Llano, Texas, reared in West Texas, and resided many years in Eastland. He held office here, was District Clerk, County Judge, District Judge, Representative and State Senator from Eastland County. While he now resides in Southwest Texas, he is still very closely identified with our County, and would be our friend if in Congress.
Senator Burkett is a man of extraordinary ability, and energy, is capable and conscientious, a hard worker, and has ability to get results; a man of broad experience, and a true and tried Democrat.
In our judgment he is going to win in this second primary, and we earnestly solicit your vote for him next Saturday. Let Eastland, his old home county, give him a unanimous vote.

HAVE A HART In view of the fact that somebody has sent out a marked ballot, I am asking my friends to do their best for me these last two days. It is hard to fight an unknown enemy, but I can win next Saturday if the people will consider qualification and experience, and if my loyal friends will off-set the influence of this unfair assault on my candidacy, I will win by a good majority. Having led my nearest opponent more than 200 votes in the first primary, and believing in clean politics and trying to conduct my campaign on a standard above any such methods as is used in the marked ballot. Without accusig anyone but earnestly soliciting the support of my friends and those who believe in a fair play to all, in clean politics, I ask you to give this your sincere consideration.
