HIGHWAY COMMISSION ANNOUNCES DECISION TO CONSTRUCT CUT-OFF

Baptists to Vote On Calling Pastor

The members of the Eastland Baptist church will vote Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock hour on the question of calling a pastor at this time. If the decision is favorable, the church will enter immediately into that business. Every member of the church is urged to be present in order to do his part in making this important decision.

Rev. W. H. Muston, of Eastland, will preach at both the morning and evening services. The choir under the direction of Mrs. A. J. Campbell, will furnish special music for these occasions, and the orchestra, under the direction of Mr. A. J. Campbell and accompanied by Mrs. T. J. Pitts, will play at both services.

Sunday school will meet at 9:45, Mr. J. C. Allison, Superintendent. The BYPU's meet in their various departments at 6:00 p. m. Worship services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:00 p. m.

Eastland and Its Chamber of Com.

The Cisco City Commission will allow their Chamber of Commerce $8,000.00 for operating expenses for 1932. This decision was reached Tuesday of last week, and action was taken without further delay, so that the Chamber of Commerce directors might know what they have to work with for the coming year and be able to make their plans accordingly. Cisco citizens realize the need of such an action in times like this. The commissioners stated that they did not wish to kill the Chamber of Commerce, since it is a part of the city and should fall or succeed with the other organizations.

The Ranger Chamber of Commerce budget has also been set at $8,000.00. Eastland Chamber of Commerce has been handicapped by the absence of funds to carry on its work. It has done extremely well under the circumstances, but it cannot make Eastland the town that it should be without proper means. We all should realize the importance of maintaining this organization, which is even more important in times like this than in times of general prosperity. Those closest to the local Chamber of Commerce realize the great value in the work being done by this organization; the only criticism heard comes from those who do not attend the meetings and express their views.

One of Eastland's greatest needs today is 100 per cent membership in the Chamber of Commerce of all business men—augmented with 100 per cent attendance.

MISS GENEVA LILES UNDERGOES OPERATION

Miss Geneva Liles, who underwent an operation at the local hospital Wednesday afternoon, is reported to be getting along very nicely under the circumstances.

Miss Liles is well known in Eastland, and has many friends here who are much concerned with her welfare. They are all hoping that she will soon be well and strong again.

TAX COLLECTOR'S OFFICE OPEN NIGHTS

T. L. Cooper, County Tax Collector, announces to Eastland county people that his office will remain open each night until 9:00 o'clock throughout the month of January.

CITY COMMISSION IN SESSION WED.

The City Commission met Wednesday afternoon with Commissioners McCullough, Moore, Clark and Johnson present. The two hour session was taken up with routine business and tax matters.

The towns in favor of the proposed highway cut-off between here and Weatherford were well represented at Austin Monday, January 18, when the matter came up for hearing before the Highway Commission. Only a few, including representatives from Mineral Wells and Breckenridge were present to oppose construction of the cut-off.

When the matter came up for hearing, those opposing the plan asked for a postponement, claiming that they had never made a request for a hearing and were not ready to proceed. Judge W. R. Ely, chairman of the highway commission, granted the request, but stated that the commission had decided on building the proposed cut-off and would proceed with the undertaking, surveyors being now in the field determining the exact location to be followed by the highway.

The next hearing before the commission will probably be February 29. This matter will come up for consideration on the third day of the session which will be Wednesday, March 2.

Mineral Wells, Breckenridge and others opposing the new route filed protest a week or more ago, and briefs in reply thereto had been filed by the different sections along the Bankhead Highway, a brief of some length having been filed in behalf of Eastland and Callahan counties.

It was intimated by the highway commissioners that they did not desire a large attendance at the next hearing, and suggested that one speaker to appear and represent each side would be sufficient.

Those who went to Austin from Eastland are Milburn McCarty, C. L. Garrett, Marshall McCullough, K. E. Tanner and Sam Butler.

CLUB FEDERATION OPENS 1932 SEASON

The Better Homes Committee for Eastland was hostess to the Eastland County Federation of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs in an all day session at the Community Club house on Saturday, January 16, with sixty-five or seventy in attendance.

Flowers and pot plants for decoration were furnished by P. L. Parker. Costumes were loaned by Wolf's and a Victrola by Harper's. Music was furnished by Mmes. F. O. Hunter and A. F. Taylor and Misses McCanlies and Taylor. A recreational period was conducted by Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, president. The discussion and exhibition of unusual quilts was a feature of the day.

An elaborate luncheon was served from 12:30 to 1:30, with the table centerpiece of houses and trees, carrying out the Better Homes idea.

The afternoon session opened with a talk by Mrs. W. K. Jackson, stressing better home teachings, and the introduction of Mrs. Perkins as county chairman of the Better Homes Committee. Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, of Ranger, spoke on the Federation headquarters at Austin. Mrs. R. Q. Lee, of Cisco, and Mrs. Mullins, past president of the County Federation, were welcomed. Mr. J. C. Patterson spoke on the short course to be held here February 4 and 5.

The formal session of the Federation was opened at 2:30 with Mrs. Perkins in the chair. Business was attended to, and talks were given by Mrs. Margaret Hassley, Miss Ruth Ramey, Mrs. Stallter, Mrs. Hagaman, and Mrs. Perkins.

WOMEN OBSERVE DAY OF PRAYER

The women of the town will observe World Day of Prayer at the First Christian Church Friday afternoon, February 12, at 3:00 o'clock. The churches cooperating in this special program are Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian, Church of God and First Christian.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Wood, of Cisco, brought their baby to Eastland for medical treatment Monday.

Medical Society Work Is Outlined

The Eastland County Medical and Dental Society at their regular monthly evening meeting held in Dr. J. H. Caton's office Monday evening outlined a plan for work during the next sixty days which will include at their March meeting a paper on the Medical aspects of the Last Illness of George Washington.

In view of the fact that this year being the bi-centennial of the birth of President George Washington every community in the U. S. will join in the celebration of this event.

In addition to this the society made all arrangements for the meeting of the Eastland County Medical Society which is to be held in Eastland Tuesday evening and will be preceded by a banquet in the roof garden of the Connelley Hotel. The subject for discussion is that of Cancer. Four of the most prominent physicians of Ft. Worth will be present to tell of the latest information pertaining to this most fatal disease.

City Badly In Need of Bank

From October 2 to January 22 is a long time for a town the size of Eastland to be without a bank.

Rumors of every description have been afloat, different groups have worked on plans for opening a bank, this group giving way to that group thinking that the work of organizing a bank would be speeded up, but as far as can be learned, nothing definite has been done.

From most reliable sources comes the news that within the last few weeks more than one banker has been in Eastland looking forward to opening a bank, only to learn of the plans of another group, with the result that Eastland still has no bank.

Our town is badly in need of a bank, and much anxiety exists. It is hoped that some one will come forward with definite plans that the entire town can get behind, and that will result in a bank for Eastland.

ROTARY CLUB HEARS VISITING SPEAKERS

Messrs. Earl Bender and T. R. Lott arranged the program for the regular weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club held at the Connelley Hotel Monday at noon.

Mr. A. E. Pistole, of Big Spring, division superintendent of the T. & P. railway, was present and made a talk concerning the activities of his company.

Mr. D. J. Neill, of Gorman, was also present and spoke on taxation. Mr. Andy Anderson of Ranger, was a visitor.

Scout Meeting In Ft. Worth

The Annual Ninth Regional Boy Scout Meeting is being held at the Texas Hotel in Fort Worth Thursday and Friday of this week. The Ninth Region is composed of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Charles F. Roeser, of Fort Worth, chairman of the Regional Executive Board, is presiding at the meeting. Men attending from the national office at New York are Arthur A. Schuck, Harold F. Pote and Stanley A. Harris.

The program began with a luncheon yesterday and will close with a luncheon held today with the Rotary Club.

Group discussions are Administration; Finance Problems; Activities; camping, publicity, health and safety, and court of honor; Special groups: sea scouting, inter-racial and cub scouting.

A number of men from the Oil Belt Council are in attendance. These meetings are always a great inspiration, there being exhibits shown of different phases and activities which are helpful to those connected with scouting in any way. Preparations were made for an attendance of 300.

PTA's Will Give Play Next Tuesday

Possibly a few citizens of Eastland have had the privilege of hearing Sousa's band, but on Tuesday evening, January 26, at the high school auditorium every person in Eastland will be able to hear and see "Susie's Kitchen Band."

This play is being given under the auspices of the High School and Junior High PTA's, and will be composed entirely of local talent. Miss Burdette of Chicago, is directing it. Funds will go to the support of PTA activities.

The play is the story of the romance of Sweet Adeline and Casey Jones. Other Characters are: Madam Masago Cabbajo, Madam Ye Dishpan, Madam Susie Ate a Calorie Too Many, Madam Hotsy Totsy Horseradish, Madam Ivan Awful Itch, Madam Slouchivski, Madam Dan Shivski, Madam Lotta Noise, Seniorita Hard to Beta, Madam Ate a Vitamin, Madam Tubinski, Madam Shekensproof, Frauline Garbage Can, Madam Silly the Toiler, Madam Sausage Grinder, Madam Horseski, Madam Ize T. Kettle, Madam Wagner Tongue, Madam Gumski, and Madam Popiceski. Prominent local people make up the entire cast.

Come and hear the unusual music furnished by this famous band. The play is a scream from start to finish, and you are promised an evening of enjoyable entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Varner, of Ranger visited in Eastland Sunday.

Messrs. Gene W. Shoemaker and W. L. Shoemaker, of DeLeon, were in Eastland early this week.

TEXAS STATE BANK DEPOSITORS ARE ASKED TO SIGN RESOLUTION

Pythian Lodges Present Program

The Knights of Pythias lodges of Dallas and Fort Worth will have charge of a program to be presented in the municipal auditorium at Mineral Wells on Friday night, January 22.

The purpose of the occasion being to advertise Pythianism, the program will be of a dramatic nature, with five minute talks by representatives of the Pythians between each number. The program is open to the public and is entirely free of charge with the exception of a dance to be given later in the evening. A large representation from Eastland is expected to attend.

Second rank work was given to Messrs. Hanna and Hennessee at the regular meeting of the local lodge Tuesday night. Mr. Cockerill, of Abilene, was a visitor.

The Knights and the Pythian Sisters are planning open house to be held Thursday evening, January 28, at which time Mr. John Lee Smith, of Throckmorton, Grand Vice Chancellor of Texas, will be present and make an address.

HICKMAN LECTURE IS INSPIRATIONAL

One hundred and three members and visitors attended the 9:49 Bible Class at the Methodist church Sunday morning.

Messrs. Edmond Meredith and Carl Brumbelow, of Ranger, furnished the class with special vocal and piano numbers. A violin trio composed of Misses Wilda Drago, Margaret Hart and Eda Lindsley accompanied the song service, which was led by Mr. A. E. Herring.

The lecture on the Sunday school lesson brought by Judge Hickman was pronounced by all who heard it to be one of the best he has ever given. And those who have been fortunate enough to hear any of his lectures can realize the inspiration gained from such a message. Men who are not attending this class are missing some of the biggest and most important things in life. An earnest invitation is extended every man in Eastland to be present next Sunday promptly at 9:49.

NEW BABY BOY AT HATTEN HOME

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hatten are the proud parents of a baby boy, W. A., Jr., born Sunday afternoon at the local hospital. The baby and his mother are both getting along nicely.

At a recent meeting of the depositors of the old Texas State Bank a resolution was adopted whereby a committee of 25 was appointed, whose duty it is to represent the depositors and cooperate with the Commissioners of Banking and the liquidation agent in handling and disposing of the assets of the bank.

A sub-committee of three was to be appointed by the committee of 25, and it is with this committee of three that the bank commissioners and liquidation agent will be asked to confer before disposing of any of the assets of the bank at less than 100 per cent on the dollar.

Mr. W. S. Michael, County Auditor, was elected chairman of the committee of 15, and has in his office a copy of the resolution which he is very anxious to have signed by all depositors. There is no cost attached to the method being used; it is only the depositors arranging to look after their own affairs.

Mr. Michael asks that those interested in collecting their money which was on deposit in the bank at the time it closed call and sign the resolution.

LOCAL MUSICIANS EN FERTAIN LIONS

Delightful music furnished by Miss Dorothy McCanlies, violinist, and Miss Lorraine Taylor, pianist, constituted the entertainment at the regular Lions luncheon Tuesday.

W. C. Bedford of Desdemona, Roy McCleskey and C. E. Maddox, of Ranger, were visitors.

Ira Hanna was elected to membership.

The Eastland club continues to lead the Ranger club in the attendance contest now in progress.

EASTLAND MEN ATTEND WATER WORKS SCHOOL

W. C. Marlow and Artie Liles went to Mineral Wells Monday to attend the 14th annual Water Works Short School, which opened there Monday and ran through Thursday.

Mr. Marlow says that these schools prove very beneficial to the water works people, aiding them in their problems and furnishing suggestions for improvements. They are attended by employees of water departments and by sanitary officials of cities from all over Texas.

T. C. Grubbs, former employee of Eastland Drug Company, left Monday night for Arlington, where he will take over the management of a drug store.

MANY DON'T KNOW

That the pay roll of the Record is more than all so-called Eastland papers combined.

That the Record has more than doubled its equipment investment since opening last February.

That the Record is equipped to do work that no other shop between Fort Worth and Abilene is equipped to do.

That only last week the Record added another piece of equipment and new type faces, for better job printing, that increases the investment several hundred dollars and enables us to serve Eastland better.

That a dollar spent with the Record stays in Eastland 100 per cent, the only paper owned in Eastland and the only paper printed in Eastland.

That the Record is the only completely equipped newspaper and job shop in Eastland.

We solicit business on the merits of our products only—our solicitors never ask for an ad because you gave the other fellow one last week.

Being home owners in Eastland, naturally we are loyal to Eastland, never soliciting out of town advertising, but preach BUY IT IN EASTLAND.

Interest in home dressmaking is definitely on the increase and recent developments of fashion have made it especially attractive. Dresses are more elaborate with more of the so called dressmaker touches that can be developed by any painstaking home dressmaker. There are new wool crepe dresses with drawwork yokes, there are bands of hand-done embroidery in Persian coloring, there are ruffles, frills and flounces to tempt the ingenuity of the home dressmaker.

The sketch today shows a charming dress on which ruffles, those beloved favorites of the home dressmaker, are most fetchingly used. Ruffles are always an easy finish. The material can be picot edged or neatly hemmed, and then carefully gathered or shirred into place with a minimum of effort for a maximum of effect. The dress in the sketch uses ruffles for the tiny sleeves in a most amusing way that anybody might copy.

RAPTURE BEYOND

By Katharine Newlin Burt

When Jocelyn, forgetting what her music master had taught her, played music, her own mother, Marcella, was alarmed. It was like the voice of a stranger in the house.

She rose from the prie-dieu in an alcove of the long Spanish-looking room, difficult to recognize as the living room of a New York apartment, and came forward past intervening massive furniture to look at the player.

There she sat, the daughter Marcella had put into a foreign convent twelve years before, a smooth sleek golden girl, eighteen years old, full-bosomed, narrow waisted and round-hipped. She used, when her eyes met her mothers, a slow smile. She did nothing, quickly. But when she played this music of her own there was a change. Marcella was quick to recognize it. Jocelyn had thrust down her chin and there was in her eyes when the slow smile left them, the difference between June sky and thunder sky.

Then Marcella thought of the contents of that little crypt above her prie-dieu and of Julian . . . and of all the things that this daughter must never know.

"I want her to be safe," she murmured to a nun when twelve years before she had left the little girl trembling in the dim waxy-smelling parlor of the convent. And greeting her only two days ago on the wharf of her native city with all the wharf tall towers stretching up behind them Marcella had said again to the same nun, twelve years older, more waxen and more frail. "Oh, dear Sister Delice, how shall I keep her safe?"

Jocelyn Harlowe's first ball gown—it was for a costume ball—was white, as all first ball gowns probably should be. Standing sheathed in all this purity of color Jocelyn herself had a look of sleek brilliance which did not express her age, her simplicity or her profound lack of all worldly experience.

It was not the convent child's fault that she looked so unconventional. She was really ignorant, a veritable novice in living, but there was in her blood and in her brain a swift rebellious maturity to which her body had subtly shaped itself.

A husband in her mind. It must be managed quickly before Jocelyn was fully awakened to reality. She must be made to long for it ignorantly as a release. If marriage, if this man, could be presented to her as an escape, as the opening rather than the closing of life's doors . . .

Before Jocelyn's return from France Marcella had been busy warming chilled social contacts, melting the edges from metallic connections of one sort or another. She had at once a great position in the city and it was not too difficult, in spite of what had once shattered her life, to make herself remembered. So when she brought Jocelyn into the ballroom she was able to obtain for her, aided by her own exotic charm, a sufficiency of fantastic partners—to Jocelyn they all seemed Romeos and the ballroom and iridescent bubble of delight—and at last even to attract for her the supper partner Marcella had desired. This was Felix Kent, dressed as the Jack of Diamonds, and with his regular Saxon face and large eyes curiously resembling that conventionalized gentleman of fortune.

"But you don't look it," he said seating himself beside flushed Juliet at the small palmy rosy table they had taken for themselves. "You don't look it and you don't act it and you don't—yes, you do speak it. You have a delicious little French accent. And, well, something about the way you move your lips and use your eyes is different, conventional. Perhaps I'm not going to be disappointed after all."

This was the address altogether different from any Jocelyn had yet received. An older man, evidently. He condescended to her. Well, that was of course to be expected.

"Mr. Kent," she said, "you have really no right to any disappointment, have you? Because you can't have had an interest in me (there was shadowy delicate drum roll on the r) ever before tonight."

"You're wrong. I've had an interest in you for—let me see—twelve years."

"But you are just seely," scoffed Jocelyn at her sweetest. "And I have not any French accent at all."

"Twelve years ago I saw you in a bank in Paris. And I said to your mother, 'Give me a first option when she comes out, won't you, Marcella?'"

"But, Mr. Kent, you are not so old as that."

"I am nineteen years older than you are," Miss Jocelyn.

"And my mother did give you a first — option?" question Jocelyn with her eyes down.

Kent stared and laughed delightedly and drew in about her as though he had become for her a warm curtain sheltering, darkening.

"She did, really. She said to me that day in Paris. 'There isn't a man in the world I'd be so glad to trust her to, Felix.'"

Kent laughed. But he was giddy and filled with instant fear. There had never in the world been a lovely child like this one, so frankly hungry, so ignorantly passionate, and so untaught; with not a jot of the deep cold wisdom of experience. He could hardly bear to surrender her to her next partner.

Kent sought out Jocelyn's mother above her he talked and talked and talked.

Marcella was wise. She declined innumerable invitations.

An occasional theater-party she accepted. Several of these were given in Jocelyn's honor by Felix Kent. But Marcella brought her charge home after the play, forbidding any extension of gaiety for Jocelyn. She was not to be whirled off to the cafe or restaurants of after midnight joy. Jocelyn was meek. Had suffered a long discipline in meekness. But her nerves began to quiver.

"The other girls," she said with a sort of fierce timidity, "the other girls go on, Mother."

"You are not like the other girls," said Marcella, "and I will not let you become like them."

Jocelyn murmured, "They're very nice."

Marcella's hand fell upon hers and tightened sternly.

"I am the judge of niceness."

And Jocelyn sat still under that touch.

Often Felix Kent came in to see them. During his visits in the living-room Marcella was a constant chaperon. Jocelyn would play her piano or sit with her eyes down listening to her mother's hard manufactured conversation with an older man.

She had never before studied a man at such close quarters. Felix Kent was a man shapely and hard and different in every fiber from her thrilled self. The convent child felt this difference in all her nerves and pulses.

There came an evening when Marcella left them alone.

Jocelyn was at her piano dutifully executing a commanded melody. It was intricate and held all her attention. She did not know that she had been left unchaperoned in the room with Felix Kent.

He came and stood close to her leaning on the piano. In the slim severity of evening dress he looked sleek and attractive, like a panther. His eyes were now filled with their extraordinary incandescence.

"Stop playing . . . just a minute, Jocelyn, please."

"Yes," said Jocelyn, trembling and looking down.

"Do you think you can love me?"

"I don't know monsieur."

He laughed in soft delight and drew closer.

"I may put my arm around you, loveliest?"

She made no movement nor sound but he, interpreting her silence, did draw her to him and she came softly suddenly so that all of her young body seemed to be his own. Then he kissed her mouth.

At that she was up and at the far side of the room. Never had he seen a living creature move so swiftly. Both her hands were pressed against her lips. Her bosom panted. Her eyes were distended and wet.

"Oh, no," she whispered. "Oh . . . no . . . no . . . no. I can't."

Kent came toward her, not close, for her arms were stretched out to keep him at a distance. She even went back against the window which held an amazing picture of lighted towers and silver smoke and of a sky colored like the petals of dark pansies.

"Darling, I'm sorry. I beg your pardon. I know I frightened you. Please do forgive me." He felt as though he had been sent back in a dream to play the part of a Victorian lover. Phrases came to him from half forgotten old romantic novels: "I won't do it again. You may take your own time. I want you so. I want you to marry me."

After a considerable silence Jocelyn composed herself. But she stayed against her window, drawn up there as though for an instant spring backward into the great dark city of refuge beyond the window panes.

"You won't do that again?"

"Not until you wish it. Please, Jocelyn, give me just the tip of your silly little convent fingers."

She let him take her hand and kiss it. She brushed the other hand across her eyes and smiled.

"Then it's all right?" he asked her.

Hints for the Home

by Nancy Hart

Chocolate Caramels

One cup of molasses, one of brown sugar, one-half cup of rich milk, one-quarter cup of butter, one-quarter pound of unsweetened chocolate, one teaspoon of vanilla. Put the molasses, sugar, milk and butter over the fire and stir constantly until it thickens (about one-half hour). Have ready the chocolate, which should be shaved, and melte dover steam. Add this to the other ingredients and continue stirring until, when a small quantity is dropped into ice water it will snap. When it reaches this point add quickly a teaspoon of vanilla, stir until mixed and pour at once into a square, greased pan, then turn out carefully onto a board, mark in one-inch squares and then with a long, strong knife, cut into squares. Wrap each caramel neatly in a square of waxed paper.

Steamed Chocolate Pudding

- 2 1/4 cups fine dry bread crumbs.
- 3 tbsp. butter.
- 2-3 cup sugar.
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 4 1/4 tbsp. baking powder
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1 cup milk
- 2 1/2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted.

Cream butter and sugar, and stir in beaten egg and vanilla. Mix crumbs, baking powder and salt and add alternately with milk to first mixture. Melt chocolate and add. Pour into buttered mold and steam two hours. Serve with whipped cream.

Baked Cranberry Bananas

- 4 to 6 bananas.
- 2 cups cranberry sauce, or jelly
- 3 tbsps. water

Arrange bananas in a flat greased oven-proof baking dish. Cover with cranberry sauce (or jelly) and add water. Bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees F., about ten minutes until bananas are slightly tender. Serve hot with meat course, or cold as a luncheon dessert.

STATIC

By J. L. Cottingham.

Postmaster invited the old gang down for bridge last night and we met the new wife. We do not blame him for getting married—no fooling—she is the niftiest thing that has come to town in a long time. The thing that surprises me, however, is that a girl who is pretty, intelligent, charming, comes of a fine family and so forth, can stand to live with a Republican.

Harry Porter has a pair of English Riding Boots and a pair of gray spats. I would like to dress like that—if there were not so many rough men in town. Volney Day and Albert LeClair have gone to work—that should be news. Babe Ruth and Chas. Lafon are holding out—Babe wants Eighty Thousand a year to go back to work—Lafon wants Eighty Thousand an hour.

Our linotyper, Earl Williams, got on another drunk last week. That was why Hubert Reed was listed herein as unmarried—I did not write it that way. At the time it happened I refused to mention it because the policy of this paper is to encourage trading at home and Hubert had gone elsewhere for a bride. Our eligible matrimonial prizes are Perry Sayles, Herbert Toombs, Arl Williams and NORMA JEAN ATCHLEY, aged nine, says I have neglected to put her name in Static. Well, there it is, Kiddie, printed in caps. Mrs. Lester Foster says Static even made her mother laugh—Static is intended to be a serious exposition of the vanities of man.

Jack Lewis, Jr., sure can pop off. He has named Horace Oldham "Lord Plushbottom"—I do not know why. Fuzzy Furse said he did not have time to stop for a drink this morning—lots of news. Miss Thelma Harris has had her tonsils taken out—they kept her from talking as fast as Miss Nina Whitfield and Miss Frances Cotton.

Miss Mary Cox got married a couple of months ago but kept it a secret. This is beyond the pale—you are supposed to tell the editor of Static all your secrets—how else would I fill a column every week. Are any of you other red headed girls married without letting me know? Miss Elma Miller, Miss Juanita Daniels, Miss Ila Mae Coleman and Miss Marjorie Van Hoose, please reassure me.

Ben Hammer tried to buy a new shirt Saturday night. Jim Horton is painting up his place in the Black Belt—Jim will have to hurry through because his annual bath is due on January thirtieth.

Miss Evelyn Hearn came over the other night at ten o'clock to borrow a box of matches—she must have taken to smoking a pipe. Ed Cox has joined the Liars club, Lee Reed attended one of the meetings but claims he was there to keep Jim Cheatham and Len Hightower from disturbing the peace. Gates is my ideal of what a man milliner should be.

Since the weather got too bad for the girls to walk to the post office Earl Harvey can be seen frequently in the Crner Drug Store. Who is the little brunette that wears the beige mesh hose and black pumps? There was a platinum blonde in the drug store this morning—I even noticed that she had on a red hat. Is Grady Pipkin still trying to organize a bank? It was a good stall while it lasted, everybody is waiting on him.

Well—one of the best rules a columnist can have it, "When you get through, quit." Further deponent sayeth not. I thank you.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
"Life" was the subject of the lesson sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, January 17.

The golden text was taken from 1 John 5:11. "This is the record, that God hath given us eternal life, and this life is in his Son."

The passages read from the Scriptures embraced the following from Romans 8:6: "For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace."

Citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included this from page 492.

"Being is holiness, harmony, immortality. It is already proved that a knowledge of this, even in small degree, will uplift the physical and moral standard of mortals, will increase longevity, will purify and elevate character. Thus progress will finally destroy all error, and bring immortality to light."

J. W. Cockrell, of Gorman, was here Monday.

"I think so. Yes: If my mother

Your mother gave me her consent at that same costume ball when I was the Jack of Diamonds."

"Do you mean that I will marry you . . . you are asking?"

"Yes."

He had kept her hand, was holding it close to him in both of his own.

"May I have a piano?" whispered Jocelyn.

The question sounded so like mere childishness that Felix laughed out, and again, but very carefully, put his arm about her. She came to him, but not so softly, so completely, as before.

"You shall have everything," promised the Jack of Diamonds.

The engagement of Miss Jocelyn Harlowe of New York City to Mr. Felix Kent of Chicago with all possible other details of information was presently in due form announced. And Jocelyn wore upon her third finger a diamond as splendid as a star.

"You shall be married in the spring after a four month's engagement, Marcella promised. Later there were evenings however, when Felix's new role of restraint was difficult to maintain. On one such evening he left Jocelyn abruptly with a manufactured excuse.

She went back into the room and sat down at the piano, brooding.

The door from the passage which led back toward the bedrooms opened softly, Jocelyn whirled about, surprised. She could see no one, but the door had moved.

She was startled.

The she saw him, coming round a great throne of a chair which had interposed between them. The cripple, The little bent man, sidelong, with bright eager eyes.

Jocelyn would have screamed but he arrested her with speech.

"Don't be frightened, Jocelyn," he said gently in a voice full of pleasantness. "I wouldn't scare . . . I wouldn't hurt you for the world. You are, you poor little child, I am your father."

And Jocelyn recognized him.

For years Jocelyn had had a photograph in her possession, secretly. All other pictures of Nick Sandal had been destroyed, clipped into splinters of cardboard and burned to black feathers, by his wife. When the bent man came around the corner of the chair and spoke to her, Jocelyn was therefore able to identify him.

"I'm not afraid of you," she said—a queer first speech from child to parent.

"I'm glad my daughter is not afraid of me. I thought by this time you'd be made . . . of fear—I used to call you 'Lynda.'"

He lifted her hand to his lips.
"I came to ask you . . . are you happy?"

"Yes. And thrilled."

W. M. U. NEWS

"A Wild Flower of the Hills"
Practice on the play, "A Wild Flower of the Hills," is progressing nicely. Practice on the third act begins this week. The play will be given in the University Auditorium about the second week in February. Jed Burke and Zack Jackson are partners in crime. They run a "still" in the mountains of Kentucky, and Snow White does the "dirty work" for them. Jed Burke is played by Arlin Kardatzke, and Zack Jackson is played by Elmer Kardatzke, both of Elmore, Ohio.

Snow White is an easy going man who does the "dirty work" for Jed and Zack only because of love for Chloe. He feels it is his duty to care for her. This is a very deep, lovable part and it is played by J. V. McAlister. More of the plot and actors will be given later. Watch for further announcements.

Leap Year Party

Misses Frances June Seth and Ruth Bruner gave a Leap Year party last Friday night at Miss Seth's home. Rain did not keep everyone from having a very enjoyable time. Many good games were played and good sportsmanship was readily brought out in every game. Many of the W. M. U. students and a few outside boys attended the party. All of the boys left the party rejoicing, for each had a pair of socks that didn't cost him anything.

SPORTS

Stags of W. M. U. Start Rally
Last Saturday night the Stags met the Church of God team from Cisco and won an easy victory. In the first half the Cisco team held their own, but they were completely bewildered when the Stags came on the floor in the second half. They finally managed a score of 16-30 for W. M. U.

Immediately after this game, the Stags played the fast Oakley team. In the first half it was a walk away for the Stags. The score at the half was 36-8. In the last half the Oakley boys played a better game but they were unable to run up the score. The final whistle blew and the score board showed 50 for the Stags and 25 for the Oakley team. The Stags seemed to get the old spirit back again and we hope they will continue their rally through the rest of the season. They will soon play A. C. C.'s freshmen. We wish them good luck!

Campus

Miss Mable Abernathy and Miss Ruth Bucannon arrived at W. M. U. Sunday evening. Miss Bucannon is visiting W. M. U. for a few days, but Miss Abernathy will be a student here next semester.

The girls of the dormitory have sponsored a movement for improving the reception room. Of course the boys helped some in order to get their names on the list. The students cleaned the room and put new curtains to the windows and door.

Mrs. H. H. Ward had as her guests Mr. Aubrey Forrest, Lester Crose, Misses Frances June Seth and Ruth Hamon for dinner on Sunday. Mr. Crose acted as host and he seemed to be very nervous in trying to carve the chicken.

Chapel Notes

Wednesday, January 13: Dr. Wilson and Prof. Barnett divided the student body into two groups and a Bible verse contest was held. A portion of Bible scripture was read and the contestants were to finish the verse. Everyone seemed to enjoy this; however we know now who knows his Bible and who does not.

Friday, Jan. 15: Dr. Wilson spoke in chapel on Friday morning. It had been some time since he had talked. The subject of his speech was "Tale Bearing."

Monday, January 18: Mrs. Batdorf, wife of the pastor of the Church of God, spoke on the subject of "The Holy Spirit." This was a very helpful talk.

METHODIST PROGRAM FOR SUNDAY SERVICES

The following program of worship will be observed in the Methodist church Sunday, January 24:

Morning Worship, 11:00 a. m.
Prelude, Mrs. Gibson.
Hymn No. 408, "Lead on O King Eternal."
Pastoral Prayer.
Responsive reading, Psalm 95.
Gloria Patri, No. 737.
Offertory, Mrs. Gibson.
Anthem, Choir.
Sermon, pastor.
Hymn No. 428, "Must Jesus Bear the Cross Alone."
Benediction.
Postlude, Mrs. Gibson.
Evening Worship, 7:00 p. m.
The evening service will begin promptly at 7:00 o'clock. We close the service at 7:45. Let us make this forty-five minutes count much in the worship of the day. There will be special music at the evening hour. The singing will be a special feature of the worship program.

WEST WARD PTA DISCUSSES SAFETY

The West Ward PTA met Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the lunch room of the school building. Mrs. J. C. Paterson presided over the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. E. H. Jones.

The meeting was opened with the Lord's prayer, after which Miss Henderson, who had charge of the program for the afternoon, took charge. A very clever and entertaining little pageant, "The Baby Show," was given by the girls of Miss Henderson's room. The little mothers were very charming in their long skirts and high heels, and the babies, including the twins, were adorable.

Wendell Hunter sang "Song of the Dawn," by Gilbert, accompanied at the piano by his mother, Mrs. F. O. Hunter, and Milabeth Boggus gave a reading, "The New Baby." Each of these numbers was enjoyed by all present.

A round table discussion of the different phases of "Safety" was led by Mrs. L. Y. Morris, Mrs. Earl Johnson, and Miss Sidney Henderson. After the program a short business session was held and a committee was appointed to make arrangements to have the street in front of the school building improved and also some work done on the playground.

Miss Henderson's room had the largest attendance of mothers present and received two dollars. There were thirty members and visitors present.

Dr. R. C. Ferguson made a trip to Cisco Tuesday.

MRS. HAGAMAN SPEAKS AT W. M. S. MEETING

The Methodist Woman's Missionary Society met in the Booster room at the church Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The following program was given:

Song, No. 51.
Reading by all, "The Good Citizen."
Sentence prayers.
Reading of minutes.
Announcements.
Business.
Introduction of visitors, under the direction of Mrs. B. E. McGlamery.
Song, No. 232.
Introduction of visitors and new members. Program proper under the direction of Mrs. B. E. McGlamery:
Song, No. 232.
Reading of local budget, Mrs. E. C. Satterwhite.
Presentation of "The Voice" over station WMS.
Song, "Texas, Our Texas,"
Salute and pledge to flag.
Address, "Woman As a Citizen," by Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, of Ranger.

A new circle has been organized for this year, which will be composed of women who have been married less than four years. It will meet with Mrs. J. E. Hickman Monday at 2:30. Mrs. Wilman's circle will meet with Mrs. E. C. Satterwhite, and Mrs. Ernest Jones' circle will meet with Mrs. Frank Sparks.

WOMAN'S BIBLE CLASS STUDIES 78th LESSON

The Woman's Bible class of the Church of Christ met at the church Monday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock for a study of their 78th lesson.

"What a Friend We Have In Jesus" was sung as the opening song, and Mrs. C. F. Fehl led in prayer. Mrs. L. Herring, teacher of the class, led the discussion of the lesson.

Mrs. B. E. Roberson led the dismissal prayer.

The class will meet again Monday afternoon, January 25, at the church at 2:45 o'clock.

H. C. Anderson was here from Ranger Monday.

Wolverine Shell Horsehide FROZEN 56 HOURS

...Yet Dried Out Soft and Pliable!

In an actual test, a Wolverine Shell Horsehide and a work shoe of another make were frozen in a cake of ice 56 hours. When the ice melted, the Wolverine Work Shoe dried out soft and pliable, while the other shoe was stiff and hard! That's the kind of leather we offer you in Wolverine Work Shoes. Come in and compare the many other Wolverine features of comfort and long wear—at prices that give you money in the long run.

Above shows the one-sixth of the hide which furnishes the leather for Wolverine Shell Horsehide. Note the shell that gives you many extra months of wear.

Kimbrell Hardware Opens Sale Friday

The Kimbrell Hardware store on the south side of the square is the first of the stores that were damaged in the big south side fire to open.

The store opens this morning with a fire sale which is announced on pages 6 and 7 of this issue of the Record.

Mr. Kimbrell moved into this location only a few months ago and had what was described by many as one of West Texas' most attractive stores. He has the newest style fixtures and to quote the insurance men, "a very clean stock."

Both advertisements in the Record and the big two page circulars printed in this shop are being used to announce the opening of the sale which starts Friday morning promptly at nine o'clock.

Cash Grocery and Market Celebrates

The owners of the Cash Grocery and Market, J. O. Earnest and W. W. Walters, announce in this issue of the Record the celebration of the store's second anniversary.

Both of the above mentioned men have lived in Eastland most of their lives, during which time most of their work has been in the grocery and meat business.

Mr. Earnest stated "A remodeling program has just been completed, which will not only beautify our store and make it more convenient for the shopper, but will give us somebody needed room. Our store is conveniently located, and now with added room we will be able to care for our ever increasing patronage in a manner second to none in this community."

Burr Official Visits Eastland

Mr. Edward E. Johnson, General Manager of the L. C. Burr Stores, was a business visitor in Eastland during the early part of the week.

In speaking of Eastland and the local L. C. Burr store, Mr. Johnson stated that he was pleased with the trend of business here and looked forward to a better year during 1932.

"A program of rearranging and beautifying the Eastland store is being considered, which will add greatly to our big convenient store," he stated.

He also stated that a bank would do much to quicken the return of better business here.

MRS. WOLF RETURNS FROM LOS ANGELES

Mrs. Dave Wolf, buyer for the ready-to-wear department of Wolf's returned this week from Los Angeles, California, where she has been attending the Los Angeles Spring Style Show.

This is Mrs. Wolf's first buying trip to California, and she reports that she is well pleased with the new spring styles.
