EASTLAND

By JOE THOMAS COOK

Most of the State, watching the development of the great oil fields in the Panhandle and in East Texas, has forgotten the Oil Belt district, which held the spotlight of the petroleum industry in the early 20's. The prevalent opinion is that this district is all "washed up" so far as the oil industry is concerned. With this in mind it is rather unusual and at the same time inspiring to find someone who has not lost faith in this area as an oil producing district.

The only person that the Eastlander has found of this sort is Sam Butler of the Arab Gasoline Corporation. Mr. Butler is optimistic and even enthusiastic in the future of Eastland County. He knows the oil boom has come and passed, but he looks upon it more or less as a period of speculation and using hit-and-miss tactics. He and his company have not broken faith with Eastland County but at the present time are drilling wells that have been located after a great deal of study and experimentation. If one well which is being put down now is a success, there are several other points over the county that have the same "symptoms" that this location had, and wells will be begun on each of them. A geologist from California, interested in Texas as a place in which to locate, talked to Mr. Butler the other day. The geologist had visited all the oil fields of Texas and he wrote Mr. Butler later that he was more interested in this section of Texas than any other. After all it is he who keeps the faith that succeeds finally, and Eastland County will be watching Sam Butler.

The old axiom that a man's greatest asset is his friends is admirably illustrated in Judge Hickman's campaign for associate justice of the Supreme Court of Texas. Judge Hickman has never participated in a State campaign before this time, and his total vote over the State is nothing short of astounding, in view of the fact that both of his opponents in the first primary were men eminent in State politics. The Judge has a wonderful capacity for friendship and it has been through his friends in every part of the State that he has been allowed to enter the run-off.

His friends in Eastland, without his knowledge, have opened a headquarters office for him. The dignity of the office forbids the usual hullabaloo of campaigning and the Judge has been traveling quietly and rather unostentatiously over the State renewing his old friendships.

An editorial appearing in the July 18 issue of the Abilene Daily Reporter praises Judge Hickman and his methods of campaigning. It is quoted as follows:

"The ideal of democracy is where the office seeks the man, but a rather wide gulf yawns between the ideal of democracy and practical politics.

"Unfortunately most of our offices are pretty much like the football in a hot game between two high school elevens at the peak of the season—the center of a wild scramble to take possession.

"It is refreshing, therefore, for a man like J. E. Hickman to come along. Judge Hickman is chief Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland, where he has established a fine reputation for energy and attention to the business of the office. That is his job now; only incidentally is he a candidate for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas. 'I am not campaigning,' said Judge Hickman while in Abilene. 'I am just visiting around among my friends. The place is one of great trust and dignity, and does not lend itself to the type of campaign proper for other offices.'

"If more office seekers, from the highest to the lowest, would take that attitude toward their candidacy, we would come nearer to realizing the ideal of democracy."

An announcement this week by City Manager Marlow will be good news to the sportsmen and fishermen of Eastland. About 3500 small bass have been placed in Ringling Lake. The City is doing its part to make this lake a real fishing resort and it asks in return that the fishermen observe both the state game laws and the city ordinances regulating the use of Lake Eastland and Ringling Lake.

Eastland Gun Club Plays Host Sunday to Shooters of This Section of West Texas

The Eastland Gun Club will play host Sunday to shooters of this section of West Texas in an inter-city invitation shoot, which is scheduled to start at 11 o'clock at the gun club range one and a half miles south of town.

About $30 in cash prizes will be awarded to the high scorers in the events, and 36 merchandise prizes will be given to runners-up. Eight events have been scheduled for the shoot. The following are the events and the number of prizes to be awarded in each:

30-06 rifle, 200-yard metallic sight prone position, one cash prize and nine merchandise prizes; pistol shots, 10 shots off-hand, 25 yards, any calibre, one cash prize and five merchandise prizes; 22 rifle, five merchandise prizes; skeet, 50 targets, three classes, Class A, 20 and above, one cash prize and five merchandise prizes; Class B, 15 to 20, six merchandise prizes; Class C, beginners and under, 15 to 25, six merchandise prizes; special event for boys under 16, high power rifle, five prizes donated by K. B. Tanner; special ladies pistol event,

15 yards, two cash prizes and one merchandise prize.

The shoot is being held as one of three meets planned at the beginning of the season by Breckenridge, Eastland and Ranger. Breckenridge was host last month, Eastland is holding the shoot this month, and Ranger is scheduled for next month. Plans have been completed for a free barbecue to be served to the shooters and their families at noon Sunday. Arrangements are under the supervision of W. J. Peters.

Shooters from as far west as Sweetwater and as far east as Dallas and Fort Worth have accepted invitations to this shoot. The majority of the shooters will come, however, from the Eastland, Ranger and Breckenridge clubs. Harry McCubbin, a professional shooter of Dallas, will cashier the shoot, and Jack Langley of Dallas will referee the shotgun events.

No entrance fees will be charged in any of the events of the shoot. No ammunition will be furnished free but it will be for sale on the grounds.

1000 Cans Record of Cannery Shown In C. of C. Report

One thousand cans of fruits and vegetables canned at no expense is the record made by the cannery sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce from the date operation started, June 20 to Wednesday, August 20, of this week. Dr. H. B. Tanner revealed in a financial report he prepared this week.

The report showed that the merchants of the town had donated $86.50 toward the purchase and operation of the cannery. The Lions Club has donated 400 cans and the Rotary club 300 cans for the use of the cannery. The Community Natural Gas Company has been contributing $5 for the operation of the cannery each month through taking that amount off the gas bill.

The amount paid on the equipment up to this time has been $119.01 and on operation, $25.13. This last figure includes money spent for gas, for cans, sugar, lard, and ice. Money received by the cannery through cash canning has totaled $12.91. The cannery still owes $85.70 on equipment and installation costs and $3.95 for operation costs.

In many cases people have donated fruits and vegetables to the cannery without requesting a share. Others have paid cash for their canning, and some have canned on the shares. No money has been expended for either food or labor. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Meredith have given the most valuable service to the project, Dr. Tanner said.

Davis In Charge Retail Merchants

H. C. Davis announces that he took over the control of Eastland Retail Merchant's Association Thursday noon buying out the interests of J. C. Day, who has been in charge for about three years.

Mr. Davis is well acquainted in Eastland, having managed the local United Dry Goods store for some time and at present is operating the Radium Bath House.

Mr. Davis stated that the Retail Merchants Association office will remain at its present location in the Texas State Bank building. Mrs. Creager is in charge of the office.

MRS. POE RETURNS

Mrs. W. S. Poe has returned to her home in Eastland after spending several days in Dallas for medical treatment. She underwent an operation in Dallas several weeks ago.

SPEAKS FOR FERGUSON

Luther Nichols of Dallas, law partner of Joe Bailey, will speak on the courthouse lawn here Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock in the interest of Mrs. M. A. Ferguson's candidacy for governor. Mr. Nichols has recently had a part in the suits filed in federal court concerning martial law in East Texas.

Headquarters For Hickman Opened In Eastland This Week

Friends and supporters of Judge J. E. Hickman for associate justice of the Supreme court have opened a Hickman headquarters in Eastland during the past week. This came as the result of a county-wide rally held last Friday at the courthouse endorsing Judge Hickman's candidacy. Cyrus B. Frost has donated the use of his building on the south side of the square for the headquarters office, and active work on Judge Hickman's campaign was started the early part of this week.

Appeal was made this week by R. E. Sikes, chairman of the Eastland division of the county organization, that the entire citizenship of Eastland join in the active work for Judge Hickman's campaign. Those who can make monetary donations toward the campaign are requested to do so, Mr. Sikes said, and the others are asked to give as much of their time as they can to this cause.

Each person is urged to make a list of his friends and relatives in other sections of the State and bring them to the office. Literature will be mailed to each of them or personal letters will be prepared and mailed. Mrs. Tina Moore is working as secretary in the Hickman headquarters office.

Another county-wide rally has been called for Friday night at 8 o'clock in the 91st district court room, Mr. Sikes said. The first rally was held last Friday night and a county organization was perfected. Mr. Sikes was elected chairman of the Eastland division, Forrest Wright for Cisco, L. H. Flewelling for Ranger, Jake Alford for Rising Star, Frank Dean for Gorman, J. H. Rushing for Desdemona, J. H. Smith for Olden and Wirt Speer for Carbon.

Reports will be made at the rally tonight by these chairmen on the activities in their towns and a better county organization will be perfected.

Reduction of 20 Cents in Tax Rate Shown In Tentative Budget of County

A reduction of 20 cents in the tax levy rate for Eastland County was shown in the tentative budget for 1933, which has been prepared by County Judge C. L. Garrett with the assistance of County Auditor W. S. Michael and filed with the county clerk.

The rate for the road bond interest and sinking fund received the greatest reduction with a drop from $1.20 to $1.00. The jury fund was decreased from 8 cents to 2 cents. The decrease in this fund was made possible by the $15,000 balance which has accrued to that fund, County Auditor Michael pointed out. The rates for the other funds were either kept at the old figure or increased. An increase of 5 cents was made in the courthouse interest and sinking fund from 6 cents to 11 cents. An increase of 1 cent was made in the special hospital maintenance fund. The rate for the general fund was kept at 25 cents which is the constitutional limit. The

Tax Rolls of City For 1932 Cut Half By Adjusting Board

Total Property Values For This Year Will Equal $2,141,713

The tax rolls of the city lacked only a fraction of being cut in half by the board of equalization which has been in session during the past two weeks. The property valuations of the city upon which assessments will be made this year total $2,141,713, as compared to $4,162,146 for 1931.

The board of equalization, which was composed of J. P. Little, A. F. Bendy, and Theodore Ferguson, made a final report on its work early this week to the City Commission. During its twelve days of work the board heard the cases of several hundred property owners of the city and made adjustments and reductions on all the property on the tax rolls regardless of whether the owners appeared before the board or not.

Only three or four complaints were made on valuations set by the board, and the property owners have been satisfied and pleased with the adjustments made by the board.

There has been a constant scaling down of property values in the city, but until this year, no wide-sweeping reductions had been made. The total valuations on the tax rolls in 1929 were $5,049,667; for 1930, $4,714,931; and for last year, $4,162,146.

City Manager Marlow will begin within the next few days the preparation of the budget for 1933. Radical reductions will have to be made in the fund for retiring the city bonds, Mr. Marlow said, so that enough money will be available for actual operating costs of the city.

52 Men Employed In Highway Work

Unemployment conditions in Eastland were relieved somewhat this week when work was begun Monday reconditioning the 20-mile stretch of the Bankhead highway between Cisco and Ranger.

Twenty-five men were hired for the work Monday morning from a group of about four hundred who thronged the highway two miles west of town where the first reconditioning began. More have been added each day and the crew now numbers 52. No more men will be hired until August 16, authorities said.

The work is being done under the supervision of the maintenance division of the State Highway Department with Marvin Hood as special foreman. The reconditioning work on this 20-mile stretch will continue for approximately three months and a $24,000 appropriation has been provided for it.

SCHOOLS OPEN SEPT. 12

The Eastland public schools will open for the 1932-33 session, Monday, September 12, according to an announcement from the office of superintendent of schools this week. A complete story of the opening of the schools will be carried in next week's Record.

3500 Bass Placed In Ringling Lake

About 3500 small bass were placed in the Ringling Lake Wednesday of this week, W. C. Marlow, city manager announced. The fish were taken from the minnow pond at the city pump station which is located between Lake Eastland and Ringling Lake.

There are already a large number of fish in Ringling Lake and the City is making an effort to stock the lake in order to make it attractive for fishermen and sportsmen of the town.

Both the city ordinances and state game laws are being strictly enforced at both Lake Eastland and Ringling Lake, Mr. Marlow said. J. P. Martin is serving as city game officer and patrols both the lakes.

City ordinances pertaining to fishing in these lakes forbids the use of trotlines, throw lines, wallow lines, and seines, and they forbid the use of anything except live or artificial bait for catching fish.

Condley Reports on Lions Convention

A report of the Lions International Convention held recently in Los Angeles by Horace Condley, who was a delegate from the local club, featured the weekly luncheon of the Lions Club Tuesday noon on the Connellee roof.

Texas with her 100 votes was able to control the political proceedings of the convention, Mr. Condley said. It was through Texas' aid that St. Louis was chosen as the convention city for next year. Julian Hyer's cowboy string band from San Angelo was given first place in a contest at the convention. Sam M. Braswell of Clarendon, Texas, was elected to the international board of directors at the convention. The retiring president of the Lions is Julian Hyer of Fort Worth.

SIGNS TO BE INSTALLED

Cutting of Weeds Begun This Week

Cutting of weeds along the paved streets of the city was started Tuesday of this week and will continue during most of the week under the supervision of Eugene Witt, city sanitary officer.

The right-of-way along the streets, from the curb to the property line, is being cleared of weeds, but work men are not cutting weeds on vacant lots. The appearance of the old high school ground has been improved considerably during the past few days.

The work has been under the general supervision of Dr. H. B. Tanner, secretary of the chamber of commerce. The City Commission voted at its last meeting that weeds be cleared from street right-of-ways and city property. The city appropriated $10 for salaries of workers and is furnishing the tools and a man to supervise the work. Some of the men who have been supplied with flour by the chamber of commerce are helping with this work at a salary of about 50 cents a day, Dr. Tanner said.

MRS. STERLING TO SPEAK

Edward of the colorful gypsies which have so long distinguished their nomadic race, and entrance into legitimate trades as good American citizens, is the aim of Steve Stanley of Detroit, whose recent coronation as king of the gypsies ended a struggle for the throne that threatened to split the ancient race. King Stanley's unprecedented preachings met with considerable opposition, but his successful coronation would seem to indicate that the American gypsy tribes will soon cease their wanderings and settle down to the more prosaic life of their adopted country, with just an occasional trip on the road. King Stanley, who is a graduate of the New York City college, is shown above with two of his sisters who illustrate the new and the old in gypsy costume.

Live at Home Program Continues

By Miss Ruth Ramey, County Home Demonstration Agent

Dry fruits and vegetables and use containers for foods that cannot be dried. Foods are more often better canned than dried, but when the containers are scarce, then preserve the foods in ways to help yourself and others. The following recipes for drying foods may be helpful.

Dried Okra

Select small, tender pods of okra, wash, blanch, for three minutes in boiling soda water (½ teaspoon of soda to one gallon of water) and dry. Young and small tender pods may be dried whole. Older pods should be cut into one-fourth or one-half inch slices. Okra is sometimes strung on a string and hung over the stove to dry. When dried in this manner, heat in the oven before storing.

Dried Corn

Select very young, tender corn, and prepare immediately. Boil or steam on cob six or eight minutes to set the milk (one teaspoon salt to a gallon of water improves the flavor). Drain well and cut the corn from the cob, using a sharp, flexible knife. Cut the grains only half way down to the cob, and scrape off the remainder of the grain, being careful not to scrape off any of the chaff next to the cob. Dry either in sun or by artificial heat. When field corn is used, good, plump roasting ear stage is the proper degree of ripeness. A large pound of dried corn per dozen ears is an average yield. Dried corn gives a delicious product which is easily kept. Corn is properly dried when it becomes hard and semi-transparent. Heat in the oven before storing.

Dried Peas

Many have difficulty in keeping peas after they dry. The following from R. R. Reppert, Extension Entomologist, may help when storing peas.

Ten Requirements for Success

1. Start early. Infestation begins in the field and progresses rapidly in storage, especially in warm weather.
2. Carbon disulphide, otherwise known as high life, is the best fumigant for farm use.
3. The bin should be built tightly so that the gas does not flow away. Double walls and floors with building paper between, one wall consisting of tightly-fitting matched lumber, make an ideal fumigating bin. Grain piled on the floor or ground may be fumigated with reasonable success by covering with a tarpaulin and throwing dirt on the edges. Barrels or boxes can be used for small amounts.
4. The air temperature must be 60 degrees or higher.
5. Use eight pounds of the liquid high life per one thousand cubic feet of space, or one ounce per barrel, computing not only the volume of the grain, but the entire capacity of the container.

6. The gas settles downward; therefore apply the material at the top of the grain mass.

7. Efficiency depends upon rapidity of evaporation; therefore apply the material in shallow pans that will provide a broad evaporating surface.

8. If grain is to be used for seed, keep container tightly closed for 24 hours. If to be used for food, continue fumigating for 48 hours.

9. At the end of fumigating period as stated, ventilate thoroughly. This is of especial importance where the grain is to be used for planting. Where grain is fumigated in tight barrels, it will be well to tie a covering of burlap over it and invert the barrel for an hour or two to permit the gas to flow away.

10. Fumigation does not make the grain immune to attack by weevils later coming from outside sources, hence careful watch must be kept and treatment again applied as found necessary.

The following recipes may be helpful to those who have figs to preserve.

6 lbs. sugar, 6 lbs. figs, 1 quart of water.

Select firm, slightly green figs of medium size for preserving. Scald the figs in lye water of the following proportions: 2 gallons boiling water and three tablespoons of lye. Stir the figs with a wooden paddle until the skin comes off the figs. At this stage remove the figs quickly from the lye water, placing in a vessel of cold water. After this wash figs in two other cold water baths. Remove any peel or rust spots on the figs by scraping with a stainless steel paring knife. Place in fresh water until ready for cooking. Measure water and sugar and add figs. Bring to a boil. Cook in heavy porcelain or aluminum preserving kettle. When the mixture comes to a boil continue cooking for about two and a half hours or until the figs are clear and glossy in appearance, and amber in color. While cooking the figs, stir gently with a wooden spoon to prevent breaking or splitting the figs. Remove any scum and seed as they appear on the surface of the preserves while cooking. Place in sterilized jars and seal. Use broken, extra small, large overripe figs for fig jam.

Gingered Fig Jam

4 quarts coarsely chopped or ground overripe figs
3 quarts sugar
4 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon chopped preserved ginger and syrup or four medium-sized pieces of ginger root.

Prepare as directed for fig preserves. Grind coarsely or chop figs, add lemon juice and ginger, cook in preserving kettle over a medium heat, stirring often. Since this mixture sticks easily, an asbestos mat may prove helpful. Cook the mixture until thick and amber color, generally about an hour and a half. Seal on sterilized jars.

Nazarene WFMS Outlines Work

A business meeting and missionary lesson were conducted at the meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Church of the Nazarene Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Ida B. Foster had charge of the business meeting and also conducted the lesson. After several songs were sung, Mrs. Anderson led in prayer. The devotional was taken from Psalm 62.

Those present were: Misses Lucille Brogdon, Ruby Tindall, Maifred Hale, Fiern Courtney, Opal Harrell, Lois McAnnally, Messrs. James Simmons, Allen D. Dabney, Jr., Odell Grubb, Lewis Shelton, Ward and Maurice Mullings, and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson.

AIR CREWS REPORT FIRES

Major air lines of Southern California will check the location of forest fires from the air and report by radio to firefighting headquarters this summer. United States Forest Service officials received this type of cooperation from crews of some of the air lines in this section last summer and the plan was so helpful in finding outbreaks that the practice has been adopted this summer by all the major lines. Owing to heavy winter rains, and consequent luxuriant crop of vegetation, extreme fire hazards are expected as the dry season advances.

ELS AID BUYERS OF DRIED CURRANTS

On the isles of Greece come those sins of Corinth" (currants to us) used in every American home in the making of cakes and pies, puddings, and other desserts. Currants are not the black or red ones common to our gardens, but dried grapes, according to B. J. Ward of the Federal Food and Drug Administration. An ancient Greek dried currants are still highly valued.

A housewife may be interested in knowing that there is considerable difference in the qualities of different brands of dried currants and that the label on the box will help to guide her in getting just the kind desired, says Howard. Grading down from quality, the currants varieties are as follows: Vostizza, Patras, Amal, Pyrgos (Provincial), and Kalos. These names may be printed on the label. The label may also contain the word "washed." This means the dried product has been freed from extraneous material and other impurities. The housewife also find on the label a statement of how much the box contains.

There was a day when unsanitary conditions were known to prevail in the currant-packing establishments in Greece," Mr. Howard states as a result, some currants were seized, upon Government examination he docks, to contain impurities and fruit was therefore adulterated under the pure food law. Today, each consular invoice accompanying an importation of dried currants must be attached an endorsement by the American consul, indicating that the fruit was packed under certain prescribed sanitary conditions. If the consul's statement does accompany the consignment, the currants are excluded from entry into the United States by officials of the Federal Food and Drug Administration.

STOP THE LEAKS
Water leaking from a faucet in a room the size of a common pinches about 150 gallons a day, engineers of the United States Department of Agriculture found. Even a leak of only one drop a second takes 4 gallons a day. This means that water is often wasted in hot water when the well or spring on a farm may be low.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Blatt returned Monday of last week from a four days' motor trip to South Texas, where they visited Houston, Galveston, San Antonio, Waco and Austin.

Cal May, who underwent an operation at a San Antonio hospital early in the week, is improving nicely, according to his daughter, Mrs. Bruce Miller.

GASOLINE KILLS LAWN PESTS

Plaintain, troublesome lawn weed, may now be "painted" out of a lawn with gasoline, the United States Department of Agriculture says.

Weed-eradication specialists of the department suggest daubing plaintain, either the broadleaf or buckhorn, with gasoline to kill it. A paintbrush and a small can of gasoline are all the equipment needed. The gasoline is daubed on the leaves at the center of the plant. The crown of the plaintain is somewhat cup-shaped and holds the gasoline until it soaks on down to the roots and kills the plant.

The best time to daub the plants is when the ground is dry. Tying the brush to a long stick takes some of the ache out of the job.

Plaintain are commonly killed by digging them out and cutting the roots about an inch below the surface of the soil. The gasoline method lessens the work. If the lawn is over-run with these weeds, however, it should be dug up and remade.

BRIGHT SKIES FOR TAXPAYERS

The skies are looking a little brighter for the taxpayers of Eastland County. Each week has brought news to them of reduction in either State, county or city taxes until at the present time reductions have actually been made in city and State taxes and have been proposed in the case of county taxes.

The board of equalization, working under the supervision of the City Commission of the City of Eastland, has reduced the tax rolls of the city more than 50 per cent. The tax rate has been maintained at the constitutional maximum, $2.50 per $100 valuation, but the property valuations have been cut in half. The tax rate has been maintained at the constitutional limit in order to protect the citizens from the bond holders who might collect taxes for previous years at the $2.50 rate in case of the city's failure to meet its obligations. The property owners of the city are almost unanimous in their praise for the positive action taken by the board.

Several weeks ago State authorities announced that the State ad valorem tax had been reduced from 74c to 69c in accordance with a bill passed by the 42nd Legislature making the constitutional limit for the State ad valorem tax 69c. The State tax is levied and collected along with the county taxes by the county tax assessor.

Now during this week Governor Sterling has requested the county commissioners courts to defer fixing of the rate for the county tax levy until after the special session of the Legislature which he promises to call during the early part of September.

The Governor proposes that the State take over the responsibility of the highway bonded indebtedness of the counties and pay the interest and sinking fund of these bonds out of a part of the gasoline tax fund. The State would assume the obligations on highways that were built by counties but are now a part of the State highway system. If this proposal materializes, and it is likely that it will, the Eastland County tax rate will be reduced from $1.66 which is a tentative figure set by the commissioners court for next year, to 66 cents, since the rate for the road bond interest and sinking fund has been set at $1.00.

Last year the taxpayers of the City of Eastland paid $6.10 per $100 valuation taxes on his property, or more than 6 per cent. This year it seems probable that he will pay only $4.85 per $100 valuation and the valuation of his property on the city tax rolls will be cut in half.

Potato Growers to Request Inspection

Sweet potato growers who had their fields inspected for diseases last fall for certification of seed have received blanks for use in requesting inspection again this fall, J. C. Patterson, county agent, said this week.

Other growers may secure this inspection service free of cost by applying direct to the Texas Agricultural Department at Austin or by notifying the county agent. Application should be made during August so that the inspector may be scheduled in the county for sufficient time to visit all fields where he is wanted.

This inspection aids the grower in producing disease free seed even though no seed or plants are to be offered for sale and should be utilized by all sweet potato growers. A State law prohibits the sale of sweet potato seed or plants that are not certified to as being free from disease. The law has not been enforced giving growers opportunity to get inspection if it was desired.

Quarterly Meeting Held at Carbon

The third quarterly rally of the Methodist Cisco District was held at the Carbon Methodist church Monday morning from 10 to 12:30 o'clock, with Dr. Cullom H. Booth, presiding elder, in charge. Dr. J. W. Hunt, president of McMurray College at Abilene, delivered the sermon of the morning.

The roll of the churches of the district was called and each pastor made a report on the work of his congregation. An informal discussion concerning the payment of conference collections was led by the Rev. Gid J. Bryan of Ranger and was entered into by the pastors and laymen of the district. Missions, education, the supernuante fund, and the various claims to be met by the church were discussed. Each pastor reported on the work he had done or is going to do to meet his part of the conference collections.

Miss Booth, daughter of the presiding elder, gave an account of the enthusiasm with which missionary work is being received in Mexico at this time and stressed the importance of carrying on the work. Miss Booth is a missionary and principal of a school there and is at present at home on a furlough.

Lunch was served at 12:30 by ladies of the Carbon church.

Those attending from Eastland were: W. F. Davenport, M. E. Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Sparks, Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Grisham and Kathryn Grisham, Mrs. B. E. McGlamery and Robert McGlamery. The Rev. George W. Shearer, local pastor, was called out of town to preach a funeral and was unable to attend. His report was sent in to the meeting.

Russell Wins Tennis Title From Collie

The final match of the Eastland County Tennis tournament, which was begun July 28, was played last weekend to bring to a close the only tournament of its kind that has been held in this county in the last seven years.

P. G. Russell won a hard-fought five-set match from B. M. Collie to take the senior men's singles title in the tournament. Russell won the first two matches 6-3, 6-4. Collie rallied and took the next two 3-6, 5-7, and Russell took the last set without much difficulty 6-2.

Previously in the tournament Collie and Russell had defeated H. S. Von Roeder and Joe Martin of Ranger in the senior men's doubles. Milburn McCarty was winner of the junior men's singles, and McCarty and Edward Laurent took the junior men's doubles title.

Six trophies, silver loving cups, were awarded the winners in the singles and doubles events. McCarty and Russell received two trophies each since they were winners in both singles and doubles in their respective divisions.

"STATIC"

By J. L. COTTINGHAM

Have not been off my front porch hardly any this week. Looks like I can not get much of a column, but let's see what we can do.

Pat Thomas is reading on his front porch—he must have greased that bald pate of his with lard or something because the light shines off it like a crystal ball. Fred Drago always looks carefully ahead before he puts a foot down on the sidewalk—Fred is not heavy enough to worry about falling through the cement. Jean Day is being allowed to take the gray Cadillac to town—he must have been an unusually good boy today.

There is someone over at Wolf's that wears lounging pyjamas with red breeches and yellow jacket—phoned Miss Fanny and asked her who it was but she declined to say. Miss Evelyn Hearn got home at five minutes after eleven last night—I know her dead line is eleven o'clock, so I guess she got worked over. Mrs. Phillips and Miss Jessie Lee Ligon came home from the last show and parked in front of Mrs. Phillip's house and talked for two hours—I bet nobody in town had an untarnished reputation when they got through. I was invited to referee a contract bridge match, the other night, between Miss Ligon with Mrs. Phillips as a partner against Mrs. Fred Maxey and Mrs. Curtis Kimbrell. The Ligon-Phillips combination came out ahead by a large majority. The next day Miss Ligon told me that it just went to show that brains will always triumph at bridge.

Jim Harrell was cutting his lawn Tuesday morning. His shirt was split down the back in three places and no undershirt was in evidence—would you call that working your shirt off your back? Tom Harris has gone to work for the Highway department — he wears a celluloid button with a number on it.

Our local Don Juan is on the trail of a new waitress. He tells them that his wife is an invalid and he likes cave women. What a line! What a line! There is a new waitress at the American—not the one mentioned in the last sentence—her name is Mabel—believe it or not.

Julius Krause has moved into a new house—the other roomers at the hotel objected to the cooing and holding hands in the elevators and so the Krauses had to move. Getting married does funny things to people—Gayland Poe will soon have worked steady for four months—I know that is a shock to his father.

Have not had a chance to talk to Mrs. Jim Atchley any this week so am a little short of spicy scandal. I do not know how I would write a column without Mrs. Atchley's help.

Further deponent sayeth not. I thank you.

ATTEND FUNERAL

Mrs. J. M. Wilcox and Mrs. Katie Wilcox, and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil M. Murphy attended the funeral of Lloyd Wilcox in Fort Worth Thursday of last week. ## THE COMMERCIAL USE OF TEXAS HIGHWAYS IS A PRIVILEGE, NOT A RIGHT

● The highways of Texas are the property of its citizens. They constitute a system of nearly 200,000 miles of road of which 20,000 miles are designated as State highways and the remainder are county roads. All types of road are represented in this system, less than 5% have so-called "permanent" surface.

The total cost of these highways is unknown but it amounts to many hundred million dollars. From 1917 to 1930, inclusive, counties and road districts of the State issued $243,592,834 in bonds for the construction and improvement of roads and bridges. In the two-year period ending August 31, 1930, the State Highway Commission expended $89,032,825, of which $22,488,426 was for maintenance of the State highways.

In view of these tremendous costs the preservation of our highways from rapid wear and destruction is a matter of very vital interest to their owners, viz., the public. It is especially important that they be made to outlast the life of the bonds, which run from 20 to 30 years.

The use of the public highways for commercial purposes is not a right but a privilege which may be withheld or granted subject to such restrictions, regulations and charges as the Legislature may see fit to impose. Such regulations are intended to promote safety, preserve the highways and safeguard the interests of the public.

Texas Railroads, which pay the entire cost of construction and maintenance of their own roadbeds and, in addition, make substantial contributions to the cost of Texas highways, are thoroughly regulated with respect to their services, rates, methods and practices. There is no good reason why commercial users of the highways, built and maintained at the expense of the public, should not likewise be regulated to such extent as the public interest requires and pay such charges as will represent proper compensation for the privileges granted them.

● The statutes governing highway transportation as enacted by the Forty-second Legislature represent the wishes of the citizens of this State and express their desire to give equal rights to all and special privileges to none. These statutes should be given a fair trial and their value ascertained. Unless this is done, a chaotic condition in transportation as a whole will surely ensue.

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Late Dean of Men,
University of Illinois.

At the professional school which he attended they still say that Gage had the most brilliant mind that the school has ever trained. His family was very poor and so was not able to help him financially even when he was going through high school. He managed in a dozen ways some of them clever and others quite commonplace, to earn his living while in high school and college. He often lacked proper clothes; sometimes he was only scantily fed, but through it all he managed to do very remarkable work in his studies.

No doubt his poverty galled him but if it did he was too proud ever to reveal his true feelings even to his most intimate friends. Unlike most young fellows who struggle along without friends or position, he fell at once, when he finished his professional course, into a position which brought him clients of wealth who were able to pay large fees for satisfactory service. Gage prospered beyond his most rosy expectations. He made more in a year than he had ever had in his whole life before. He had met a girl after he had left college whose experience had been very much like his own, and shortly after he took up his practice they were married.

And here is where they made the great mistake of their lives. As soon as they got money they began to spend it recklessly. Never having had many of the comforts of life, they were now not satisfied without its luxuries. Never having had an adequate income within which to live, when they got one, they lived far beyond it.

Gage made twice as much money as he should have spent, for so skillful was he, and so much in demand that his office was crowded constantly with people eager to consult him. He worked long hours, often coming back to his office at night to finish what the daylight did not furnish sufficient time to accomplish, but the money that he earned he squandered foolishly.

Gage is an old man from overwork at forty. He has accumulated little though he has made much. He has learned to save neither his strength nor his money.

FOREST FIRE DEPLETES GAME

A forest fire which swept winter grazing grounds of deer in the Lassen National Forest in California is held responsible by the local United States Forest Service rangers for the death of many of the animals by starvation last winter. The greatest mortality was among last year's fawns. Although fleet of foot, the deer does not range far from its native haunts. Deer on unburned areas not far distant were found to be in good condition.

COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS

By B. E. McGlamery, County School Superintendent

At the August meeting of the County School Board after classifying schools of the county the board set the following dates for the opening of the various schools:

All nine months schools to be open by September 12, 1932.

All eight months schools to be open by October 8, 1932.

All other schools to be open by November 14, 1932.

The board passed an order joining Erath County in the formation of the Rush Creek County Line District No. 70 to be administered by Erath County. Tanner District No. 6 in Eastland County was added to the Rush Creek District in Erath County.

At the recent meeting of the State Board of Education the state apportionment for the year 1932-1933 was set at $16. This is a cut of $1.50 per capita from last year and we are positively assured that the $16 will be reached this year. There remains a balance of $4.50 per capita to be paid on last year's apportionment and this will be paid before the first payment is made for 1932-33.

The appropriation for state aid for the year 1932-33 is $2,500,000. The applications last year far exceeded the appropriation. The State Board of Education has authorized the State Department of Education to say that the appropriation for this year will not be sufficient to meet the claims which will be made and that State aid for this year will be distributed on the following basis:

Salary Aid—Teacher's salaries to be paid for the term of six months on the basis of salaries actually paid, provided the salaries do not exceed

State May Assume County Road Debts

Taxpayers of Eastland county may pay only 66 cents county tax this year if the proposal made recently by Governor Ross S. Sterling materializes. The county commissioners court and the county judge have tentatively set the county rate at $1.66, of which $1 will go for the paying of the interest and sinking fund for the highways of the county. Governor Sterling proposes that the highway indebtedness of the counties be assumed this year by the State.

The Governor this week requested that county commissioners courts postpone the fixing of county tax rates based on highway bonded indebtedness until after a special session of the Texas Legislature which will be called for September.

The Governor proposes that a part of the gasoline tax fund collected by the State be used to pay off the indebtedness incurred by the counties in building highways which are now a part of the State system.

The following is a message he sent to the press of the State: "I am requesting the county commissioners courts throughout the State to defer the fixing of their tax rate and levies in so far as highway bonds are concerned until after the special session of the Legislature has had an opportunity to pass the tax relief measure which I shall submit to it at the special session early in September. I am giving this message to the press in order that all county judges may get the request through the daily papers."

LIGNIN'S POSSIBILITIES SPUR CHEMICAL RESEARCH

The discovery that drugs, as well as resinous substances suitable for making varnishes, may be derived from lignin, a substance found in all farm wastes such as straw, corn stalks, grain hulls, and corn cobs, as well as in wood pulp, has spurred chemists of the United States Department of Agriculture in their research on this large farm-waste problem.

Huge amounts of lignin are potentially available. Farm wastes total about 260,000,000 tons annually in this country, and they are from 15 to 20 per cent lignin. In addition, the annual waste from wood-pulp mills, almost pure lignin, totals 1,200,000 tons.

Lignin is a brownish solid. Investigations in the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils of the department show it to be chemically related to the phenols. Ordinary phenol or carbolic acid is used to make resins, and the chemists found that lignin would combine with other substances to form resinous products needed in making varnishes.

With dry distillation lignin yields a series of organic compounds used to a considerable extent in the pharmaceutical and chemical industries. Lignin also produces other organic substances such as wood alcohol, acetone, acetic acid, and anisic acid. Some foreign countries use lignin as a binder in coal briguetting and road surfacing, and also in tanning.

U. S. Plant Explorers Study Potato Stock

After six months of study and exploration of the original home of the potato in South America, Dr. H. C. MacMillan and C. O. Erlanson of the Bureau of Plant Industry, have returned to Washington. The objects of the expedition says the U. S. Department of Agriculture, were to study the wild and also the cultivated types of the potato and related plants in their native habitat with special reference to disease and cold resistance, and to introduce into the United States types that may carry these resistance factors. These investigations are part of a general potato improvement program, nation-wide in scope, which the Bureau of Plant Industry is carrying on in cooperation with States in which potato production is an important industry. This program seeks to reduce the present heavy annual losses from inroads of disease.

The bureau's explorers visited parts of Chile—especially the important island of Chiloe—Peru and Bolivia, working much of the time at altitudes above 12,000 feet in Peru and Bolivia, studying the potato used by the Indian in these high areas. They collected in all, 425 different lots of tubers and seed, and also a number of other plants of possible economic or ornamental value. In order to safeguard against the introduction of any possible disease or insect pests, the potato material is being grown under strict quarantine until it is certain that it is clean and ready to be turned over to potato breeders.

The success of the expedition was made possible by the cordial cooperation of the various government officials in the countries visited and by their interest in the results in prospect.

The expedition is the second under the special appropriation by Congress for the exploration for and introduction of disease-resistant potato types. The first expedition was to the highlands of Mexico.

PROTECT LIVESTOCK

The grounding of wire fences at intervals of about 150 feet will save livestock in the field from possible death by lightning, according to specialists of the United States Weather Bureau. Both galvanized iron pipe and steel angle are good for this purpose. Galvanized iron pipe should be cut in pieces about 5 feet longer than the wooden fence posts, driven into the ground close to and level with the posts, and fastened to them with plumbers' clips. If steel angle is used, substitute a metal post for a wooden post about every 150 feet. Drive the metal posts well into the ground.

FARM POPULATION GAINS

The increase in farm population in 1931 was the largest and most significant in the 10 years in which the United States Department of Agriculture has been estimating changes of population. For seven years of this period annual decreases were reported and only during 1930 and 1931 were appreciable gains indicated. On January 1, 1932, the farm population was 31,260,000 persons as compared with 30,612,000 on January 1, 1931, a gain of 648,000, according to department estimates.

Sterling Greatest Governor Since Hogg. Speaker Says

Ross Sterling is the poorest politician, the best business man, and the greatest statesman that has been in the governor's chair of Texas since the days of Jim Hogg.

Senator Stuart and Frank Ogleby, both of Fort Worth, spoke at 2 o'clock at the courthouse here for the governor after he had become ill and returned to Austin.

Ogleby praised Sterling's program of efficiency and economy, stating that he had carried out his platform promises of two years ago.

Stuart attacked Fergusonism and pled with the people not to return the Ferguson's to power. He praised Sterling's plan to call a special session of the Legislature about September 5 in an effort to have the State assume the bonded indebtedness of the counties.

Both speakers dwelt on the withdrawal of federal aid while the Ferguson's were in office because "the money was not being safeguarded."

After the Governor's speakers left, with their loud speaker, a couple of speakers out of Fort Worth, spoke for Mrs. Ferguson, and the meeting turned itself into an old-fashioned Ferguson rally with the familiar cry of "pour it on them" from the Ferguson people who seemed to be about three-fourths of the audience.

Speakers told the audience of Mr. Alexander, Sterling's campaign manager and brother-in-law and the letter he wrote the Governor, asking for a pardon for one Richards, in the penitentiary for forgery, wherein the manager as an inducement to get the pardon for Richards, pointed out that he was "a fast politician, and would be of great service to the Governor in his campaign."

It was christened the Good Government Party. Candidates were nominated for several state offices and presidential electors were chosen, though it was not specified for whom they should vote.

George W. Armstrong of Fort Worth became the gubernatorial nominee. He was entered for the office at the first Democratic primary last month but withdrew. He said he intended to campaign actively as soon as the Democrats nominate their candidate at the August primary.

Charles P. Smith of Henderson was nominated for Lieutenant Governor, Oscar Callaway of Comanche for Attorney General, John L. Andrews of Dallas for Congressman-at-large, and Waddy Thompson of Dallas for railroad commissioner.

Eastland Golf Team to Play Phil-Pe-Co

The Eastland golf team will go to the Phil-Pe-Co course Sunday to play that team. Since the local team is not scheduled for a match Sunday, it will play the match that was rained out on May 8 with the Phil-Pe-Co team.

The Phil-Pe-Co course is located between Rising Star and Cross Plains and the club is composed of men from both towns. All the members of the Eastland golf team are urged to make the trip.

Eastland defeated the Phil-Pe-Co team last Sunday on the local course, 11-5. The scores of the individual matches follow:

S. J. Barnett defeated T. D. Powell, 5-4; George Meredith defeated J. T. Hammet, 5-4; Sam Conner defeated Wright, 6-5; Scott Key, Jr., lost to Roberts, 1-up; Doug Jones defeated Dr. Sellers, 2-1; Jones defeated Tunnell, 1-up, 19 holes; Joe Stephen won from Newton, 4-3; Blair Lewis defeated Davis, 3-2.

MAKES BED ROOM

Tyler—Using sapling pole for ceiling, Myrtle Maynard, 4-H club girl of Smith county, has managed to transform an unceiled room with three windows but no glass in them, a rough floor, no rugs and scanty furniture; into a pleasant comfortable bed room by the expenditure of some hard work and $6.10 in money. The landlord furnished glass, her brother helped her to cut saplings with which they ceiled the room overhead, after which they covered the walls and ceiling with builder's paper. A clothes cabinet, a dressing table, a stool, a small table and bookcase were made from scrap lumber. The bed, writing table and two chairs were refinished, and last of all she hung yellow curtains which she had made out of dyed tomato sheets.

Mrs. Doyle Speaks to Rotary Club

Stressing the possibilities in aviation for Eastland, Mrs. Agnes Harwood Doyle spoke to the Rotary Club at its meeting Monday noon at the Connellee Hotel. Another visitor, Dr. H. B. Tanner, discussed plans for the Eastland County Fair to be held here this fall. F. O. Hunter and Curtis Hertig had charge of program arrangements.

Viewing Eastland as the future air center of West Texas, Mrs. Doyle urged club members to do their part toward this goal by helping first to make it the air center of the surrounding community. She pointed out that air travel is safe, comfortable and pleasant, and gave government statistical figures as evidence that the airplane is safer than the automobile. Of 500 planes and 500 automobiles which travel in one day, a greater number of accidents have been found among the automobiles, she said.

She called attention to the evident growth of aviation and urged cooperation of Eastland people in securing an airport for Eastland. She stated that Eastland is not even listed on air maps at the present time.
