EASTLAND

By JOE THOMAS COOK

"Rip has lost his rip," is the way in which one person commented on a news story telling that a horned frog had lived 33 years sealed in a 100-pound cannon ball, a relic of the Civil War. The story came from Franklin, Pa., and was verified by several of the citizens of that town. Of course, scientists have already expressed their skepticism of the whole thing, and for once Eastland citizens are siding with the scientists, for there can be only one Rip, and that is the one whose body lies encased in the rotunda of the courthouse. If the story from Pennsylvania is true, Old Rip's record of somnolence has been broken by two years.

For the first time since the Cisco football case was begun the Eastlander has learned something definite. For weeks the facts of the suit have been in a sort of maelstrom of uncertainty, and we doubt sometimes whether or not the attorneys of each camp knew just what was happening. However, one thing is definite now, and that is that the Cisco Loboes will not participate in football this season.

In a hearing in the 91st district court Tuesday of this week Judge George L. Davenport set the supersedeas bond at $5,000 and attorneys for the district committee accepted and immediately set about to meet the bond. If the case had been allowed to take its natural course to the court of civil appeals, the Loboes could have played this season under a ruling made by Judge Davenport a week or so ago. This supersedeas appeal, however, will bar Cisco from participation until a decision can be rendered by the court of civil appeals. In all probability the decision will not be made until after the season is over.

Judge Milburn McCarty has been puzzling over ways and means of raising $5,000 to help put the reins of government in the hands of Roosevelt and Garner. The Judge is a member of the district executive committee of the 17th congressional district and has complete charge of the campaign in four counties. The funds for the national Democratic Campaign being raised principally through the sale of bronze medallions bearing the profiles of Roosevelt and Garner.

The Judge has been letting the Eastlander wear one of these medallions until we can raise, save, or borrow the dollar required for its possession. Whether we are able to raise the dollar or not we can assure you that the medallion is an attractive button to wear on your lapel during the campaign, will be a worthwhile souvenir after Roosevelt and Garner are in office, and will aid in the consummation of a campaign in which we are all interested.

Dr. H. B. Tanner, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, is interested in getting for Eastland its share of the $200,000,000 relief fund appropriated by congress recently. A report on unemployment and charity in Eastland during the past two years must be filed along with the request for part of the fund. The Doctor is hoping that Eastland can be granted at least $4500 for the months of October, November, and December. The bill which provided for this appropriation points out that the money may be used for wages on public improvements and civic enterprises.

It has been Dr. Tanner's idea for several months to use part of the relief money to pay for the labor in cleaning and straightening the channel of the north fork of the Leon river, which flows along the east side of the town. Heavy rains invariably overflow the banks of the river, flood the highways, and rout the negroes and Mexicans who live in the northeast part of town. Some of the unpaved roads around the town also could be put into better condition. Projects of this sort would provide employment for hundreds of men during the winter months and also benefit the town materially as well as financially.

One of the most hilarious sessions of any organization that the Eastlander has attended in several months

City Commission Discusses Bonds, Delinquent Taxes

Consideration of delinquent tax cases and of a proposal relating to the city bonded indebtedness occupied the attention of the City Commission in its semi-monthly meeting Monday afternoon in City Manager Marlow's office.

The commission authorized Marshall McCullough, delinquent tax attorney, to bring suit against eight property owners of Eastland; whose taxes have been delinquent for a period of more than three years. Several tax payers appeared before the commission during the meeting asking adjustment on their delinquent taxes.

The commission approved a contract with Theodore Ferguson to audit the books of the city for the past fiscal year ending September 30, 1932. Mr. Ferguson will start his work on the books of the city this week, and will make a comprehensive and detailed audit which will require a period of several weeks.

Collie Chairman of County Campaign

Wilbourne B. Collie, senator-elect from the 24th district, was chosen to head the Democratic national campaign in Eastland County Wednesday afternoon in the county courtroom after a mass meeting called in the county courtroom to devise plans for an intensive campaign in this county.

Judge Milburn McCarty, who is a member of the district executive committee for the 17th congressional district, presided at the meeting and explained the plans of the executive committee for supporting the Roosevelt-Garner ticket. Judge McCarty has complete charge of the campaign in Eastland, Burnet, Mills, and Lampasas counties.

The executive committee planned that the campaign in each county of the district should be conducted by the county Democratic chairman and the precinct chairmen. Since County Chairman Ed T. Cox will be unable to serve in the campaign. Senator

County Will Request Part of Relief Fund

Eastland County will make a request next week for its share of the relief fund, which is being distributed by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to the states. The distribution in Texas is under the direction of Governor Sterling and the three regional chambers of commerce, East Texas, West Texas and South Texas.

Detailed reports on the number of unemployed, the number of people given work, the number of families aided, and similar information during the past two years are required from each town which expects some of the relief fund. Dr. H. B. Tanner, secretary of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce, said Dr. Tanner and City Manager W. C. Marlow have been named by the City Commission to make out this report and file the request for Eastland.

A county-wide meeting of relief workers was held in County Judge Garrett's office Tuesday afternoon at which representatives from all the towns of the county were present. The group decided that it would be better for the county to make a request as a whole rather than the individual towns and cities.

The report and request must be filed with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce by October 13, and the regional chambers must have these reports and requests in the hands of the Governor by October 15. A total of $200,000,000 was appropriated by Congress for relief of the states, not more than 15 per cent of which can be given to any one state. The amount that each state gets will be deducted from its federal aid appropriation.

Pennsylvania Frog Rivals Record Of Old Rip, It Is Said

The record for reptile sleeping set by Eastland's own Rip, whose body rests in a glass sepulchre in the rotunda of the courthouse, was allegedly broken this week by another of his species in Franklin, Pa.

When a 100-pound cannon ball, a relic of the Civil War, was opened this week in that Pennsylvania town, a horned toad blinked his eyes, stretched his legs, and waddled off, rousing himself, as Franklin citizens contend, from a sleep of 33 years. This is a period two years longer than that Old Rip rested in the cornerstone of the old courthouse.

Eastland citizens join with the scientists now in discrediting the contention that the Pennsylvania frog slept 33 years, since, of course, Old Rip is the original and only reptile that can claim this prestige.

Loboes Are Barred From Participation As Appeal Is Filed

The Cisco Loboes were definitely barred from participation in interscholastic league football this season after the district committee met the $5,000 supersedeas bond set by Judge George L. Davenport of the 91st district court in a hearing in his court Tuesday afternoon of this week.

Had the case been allowed to take its course and an ordinary appeal been filed, the Loboes would have been included on the schedule of every team of this district. The supersedeas appeal which will be filed by the attorneys for the district committee, however, will restrain the Loboes from participating until a decision can be obtained from the court of civil appeals. The decision could hardly be made in time for Cisco to play even part of the district teams, authorities point out.

The Cisco case has been hanging fire in the district court for several weeks and has attracted the attention of most of the state athletic circles. After the parties involved were unable to come to an agreement out of court, the case was taken to court and tried before Judge Davenport. When the jury was unable to render a verdict in the case, Judge Davenport ruled in favor of Cisco, pointing out that according to the laws of the state the district committee had no authority to reverse its original decision that Hightower was eligible.

The supersedeas appeal which will be instituted will send the case to the court of civil appeals for a decision and at the same time bar Cisco from football participation this year.

Funeral Held Today At 3 for Mrs. Toombs

Mrs. Mary Ann Toombs, 67, died at her home here Thursday morning at 10 o'clock of ptomaine poisoning, after an illness of only a few days. Funeral services will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon, with burial in the Eastland cemetery. The services will be conducted by the Rev. Moore from the Church of Christ.

The Hamner Undertaking Company of Eastland has charge of the funeral.

Mrs. Toombs was born October 5, 1865, at Rockdale, Texas. She was a member of one of Eastland's oldest families. Her husband, T. M. Toombs, died several months ago.

Mrs. Toombs is survived by four daughters: Mrs. J. H. Cheaham, Jr., of Eastland; Mrs. T. E. Richardson, Gorman; Mrs. J. M. Eppler, Tyler; Mrs. Jim Clark, Miles; and one son, Hubert Toombs of Eastland.

Pall bearers for the funeral today follow: Clyde L. Garrett, Wilbourne B. Collie, Milburn McCarty, O. C. Funderburk, Elmer Lawrence, Scott Key, C. C. Wilson, and Oscar Chastain.

William A. Leslie is now employed in the men's department of L. C. Burr & Co., W. V. Tunnell, manager, announced this week.

Every Maverick Will See Service When They Meet Daniel Baker Here Saturday

Every man on the Maverick football squad will be given a chance to prove his ability as a football player Saturday afternoon when the Mavericks meet the Daniel Baker Freshmen on Maverick Field at 3 o'clock in the first home game of the season for the local team.

That is the decree of Coach Joe A. Gibson who is casting about for the best possible combination with which to enter the district schedule a few weeks hence. In the game last Friday, which was played away from home, Coach Gibson played only his first string men, but Saturday afternoon every member of the squad will see service regardless of the score of the game.

The schedule for the Mavericks was definitely settled Tuesday afternoon of this week when the Cisco Loboes were barred from competition in interscholastic football this season. Members of the district committee met the $5,000 supersedeas bond set by Judge George L. Davenport of the 91st district court and this will allow a supersedeas appeal to be made and Cisco will be forbidden to participate until a decision in the case is rendered by the court of civil appeals.

To Play A. C. C.

October 22 had been held open for the Lobo game in case they were declared able to participate, a tentative game with the Abilene Christian Freshmen having been set for that date. That game now is definite and the complete schedule has been finished.

The schedule for the remainder of the season follows:

Saturday, October 8—Daniel Baker

G. S. Stire Named Retail Merchants President Tuesday

Glen S. Stire, manager of the local J. C. Penney Company store was named president of the Retail Merchants Association at a meeting held Tuesday morning at the Chamber of Commerce. Ira Hanna, manager of the Perry Brothers store, was elected vice president; and H. C. Davis, present secretary of the Retail Merchants Association, was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Directors for the next year will be George M. Harper, Earl Woody, Frank V. Williams, W. V. Tunnell, and J. O. Earnest. The advertising committee will be composed of J. B. Johnson, Julius Krause, and Curtis Kimbrell. The trade extension committee includes Carl Johnson, Sid Pitzer, Frank Jones, H. C. Davis, and V. O. Hatcher.

Curtis Kimbrell, manager of the Kimbrell Hardware Company, is the retiring president of the association.

The association voted at the meeting Tuesday that all out-of-town advertising stunts must have the approval of the advertising committee. Plans were discussed for several trade events that the association will sponsor before Christmas.

Committee Studies City's Indebtedness

At the invitation of the City Commission a group of Eastland citizens met with the commission Thursday night at the city hall and discussed the methods for the liquidation of the city's bonded indebtedness.

The Brown-Crummer Company, bond brokers, had submitted tentative proposals for liquidation and it was to discuss these matters that the meeting was called.

A committee composed of J. A. Beard, Allen Dabney, Jack Lewis, Carl Springer, Neil Moore and Earl Conner was appointed and asked to go into the various proposals and report back to this group a plan by which the city can pay its debt and at the same time keep taxes at a reasonable figure.

The meeting was attended by some 15 or 20 taxpayers who seemed to be in accord on most matters coming before the meeting. All agreed that the city water works should not be involved in the indebtedness.

The City Commission extended an invitation to all taxpayers interested in these matters to call at the city hall and study the proposed plans and acquaint themselves with the facts.

Sugar Stolen From Storeroom Tuesday

Seven hundred pounds of sugar was taken from a storeroom on East Commerce Street early Tuesday morning by burglars who gained entrance by breaking a window and carried the sugar out through the door.

The sugar was the last of several thousand pounds stored there by Oliver-Taylor Company, brokers in Dallas. It was housed in the building occupied by Bida Top and Body Works and Huffman Welding Shop.

HOWARD HARRIS ILL

Howard Harris, employee of L. C. Burr & Co., is ill at the home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Walters. He is said to be suffering from ulcerated stomach, and will probably have to remain under the care of a physician several months.

County and State Taxes Down 41 Pct. Garrett Estimates

"The people who have appeared before the board of equalization, which is adjusting county taxes, have manifested a fine spirit," County Judge C. L. Garrett, said this week in commenting on the work of the Commissioners Court sitting as a board of equalization.

Approximately a 41 per cent reduction has been effected in county and state taxes over last year, and I am sure that this will afford an incentive for the citizens of the county to be prompt in the payment of their taxes this year," Judge Garrett said. The county tax rate was set by the Commissioners Court several weeks ago at $1 as compared to $1.36 last year, and the state ad valorem tax was reduced from 74c to 69c.

The Commissioner's Court is allowing a ten per cent reduction in property valuation throughout the county on all property, the Judge explained. Only the taxpayers have been summoned by the board of equalization who have rendered their property at less than ten per cent below the listed valuation of last year.

The recent road bond bill passed by the special session of the Legislature will save Eastland County from 66 to 70 per cent of its bonded indebtedness on highways, which have become a part of the state system. The state is assuming between $1,750,000 and $2,000,000 of Eastland County's indebtedness, and only approximately $1,000,000 of highway bond indebtedness will remain to be paid off by this county, Judge Garrett estimated.

Earl Bender Buys Morris Company

Announcement was made this week of the sale and transfer of the L. Y. Morris Company, an insurance company, to Earl Bender and Company. The sale became effective October 1. "I am glad that I was able to sell my company to a man whom I have known all my life and whom I know to be one of the best insurance men in this part of the state," Mr. Morris commented this week.

Mr. Morris has lived in Eastland County all his life. His company was established here in 1916, and has been operated by him continuously up to this time. Mr. Morris intends to remain in Eastland at least until the first of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Krause spent last week-end in Dallas.

Trades Day Rodeo Draws Large Crowd

One of the most successful rodeos since Trades Day was started several months ago was held Monday afternoon at the rodeo grounds on North Seaman Street. Carl Johnson is chairman of the entertainment committee in charge of the rodeos, and he is assisted by Sid Pitzer, J. O. Earnest, and Ira L. Hanna.

The goat roping contest was won by Hill of Gorman who made the time of 16 seconds. John Webb of Eastland was second with a time of 22 seconds, and Joe Tow of Morton Valley was third with 32 seconds. Eight riders were successful in the bronc riding contest, and three were thrown from the horses.

Ranchers and farmers brought several hundred head of stock to Eastland for Trades Day, and several transactions were made. The Retail Merchants Association is making arrangements to have an auctioneer present at the next Trades Day to auction horses and cattle for the owners free of charge.

Rotarians Attend Breckenridge Meet

Members of the Eastland Rotary Club attended an inter-city Rotary meeting in Breckenridge Tuesday night, when the club of that city was host to those of Ranger, Cisco, and Eastland.

The meeting was held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, H. C. (Andy) Anderson of Ranger presiding. Ray Nichols of Vernon was the principal speaker. Music was furnished by the 9:49 quartet from Eastland, and Julius Krause led the entire assembly in song.

Those attending from Eastland were: Messrs. and Mmes. Leslie Gray, Carl Johnson, B. M. Collie, Grady Pipkin, F. O. Hunter, Ben Hamner, Curtis Kimbrell, Sam Gamble, Julius Krause, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Chaney, Miss Alma Vaughn, Miss Lesbia Word, and Curtis Hertig, J. E. Lewis, James Horton, Osgood Hunter, and Sid Pitzer. John M. Knox, M. L. Keasler, and A. E. Herring, who with B. M. Collie, compose the 9:49 quartet, and C. M. Smith of Plainview also attended with the Eastland representation.

The regular meeting of the local club was not held Monday.

SUCH IS LIFE

Meet Beau Brummel Jr.

Just Try To Be Modern!

By PAUL HAWK

Their first kiss was wonderful; so they tried it again. The second was even better. The third proved to be the height of ecstasy. Then they stopped to talk about this wonderful thing that had happened to them.

"We're in love!" Jack crowed.

"Jack Hubbard, do you think you have to tell me," Louise pouted.

"I am telling you, Louise Morgan!"

"But we must be modern about it," she pointed out. "We've got to use our brains as well as our hearts."

"Sure," he agreed. "Never any silly misunderstandings."

"No jealousy or narrow-mindedness."

"Absolutely. We can make ours a perfect love. It is a perfect love!" Jack said fervently. "And we can make it a perfect marriage, too." He hugged her ecstatically.

Louise became practical. "But we can't be married yet."

"Jack blinked. "Huh?"

"Oh, not that, Jack. What I mean is that we must be up-to-date enough to realize we can't just up and marry like they used to just because they had the idea that two could live as cheaply as one. And we're both young—there are a lot of good times in store for us yet before we're married."

"Yes, honey, you're surely right. Oh boy, what a woman. You're perfect."

"And we don't want any old-fashioned engagement. We'll just understand always that we love each other. I'll be free to have dates with other men, knowing that you love me and that you'll not be jealous."

Jack thought that over. "We-ell, that's the reasonable way to look at it, all right. And I'll be free, too."

Louise thought that over. "Ye-es, That way we'll both have our freedom and our love. And we'll always be interesting to each other. And we'll be married whenever you get advanced enough."

"Be it agreed," Jack nodded.

"Be it agreed," echoed Louise.

It was fun, an ideal arrangement, they assured each other many times after that. It worked wonderfully, too. For instance, there was that night they were in a crowd over at Phillip Deaver's house. Louise was standing with several men on one side of the room; Jack was on the opposite side. Their eyes met and lighted up as if to say, "These people think they're happy, but they should know our secret!" That was the most enjoyable part of it: when they were among people, yet sharing those clandestine meetings of the eyes.

Two weeks to the night after that first memorable kiss, Jack dropped in to see Louise.

"You can't stay very long tonight, dear. I've a date," she told him.

"A date?" Jack asked blankly.

"Yes. You know—one of those social engagements."

Jack bristled. "But—but—I thought we'd be together tonight. This is a sort of anniversary—two weeks ago tonight. It looks to me like—"

"Now, Jack—remember our agreement," she warned him.

"Oh—sure. I'm sorry, hon. Of course, I'm glad you're having a good time."

Jack went alone to the show to which he had intended taking Louise—but he didn't enjoy it at all.

In another two weeks, Louise called ed Jack to come over for dinner.

"Gee, I'm sorry," Jack said. "I've an engagement."

"You mean—a date?" Louise asked incredulously.

"Yeah. We're going to Palmer's."

"But Jack, that's where we found out about us. "I didn't thing you'd ever take anybody else there!" she complained.

"Now, now. No misunderstandings," Jack warned her.

"Oh, of course not," she said abstractedly.

Louise didn't enjoy the really excellent dinner after all.

For yet another month they went on "understanding" each other. On the way to the holiday dance, Jack said, "But why does it have to be him? Out of all the men you could pick, why do you have to keep seeing Geoffrey Lambert? You know the reputation he has."

Louise fumbled with the handle of the car door and smiled out the window. "But, dear, I thought we were not to question each other's action."

"Oh, all right," Jack grumbled.

There was still a little coolness in the atmosphere when they got to the club. "Does she or does she not care anything about me?" Jack asked himself. "Something's got to be done."

At the first intermission, it was Louise who was frigid.

"What's the matter, darling. Don't you feel well?" Jack inquired.

"A nice way you and Esther were acting," she commented tersely.

Jack smiled on the side away from her. "But she was telling me about her headache. Her love has left her."

"Humph," said Louise. "Did she have to be so demonstrative about it?"

"Well, I knew you wouldn't be jealous," Jack said pointedly. "And she did feel pretty down about it."

Something had to be done, Louise told herself determinedly. At the next intermission Jack stepped outside for a smoke. He relaxed against the banister of the wide veranda and puffed thoughtfully. Soon he became aware that he was not alone.

Then suddenly he jumped to his feet and threw the cigarette wrathfully to the ground. The lights of an approaching car illuminated the porch and there stood Louise—his Louise—in the arms of another man! It was Geoffrey Lambert.

This time Jack did not understand. He strode quickly forward and swung Geoffrey around. "Physical combat irks me," he said, sarcastically polite. "But if Louise and I are not alone in ten seconds, I'm going to be very much irked!"

They were alone in ten seconds.

"Come on," Jack ordered gruffly, taking her by the arm.

She followed unresistingly.

In the car, he said, "And another thing. We're going to be married tomorrow. I'm tired of this understanding business." He put his arm around her. "Well, say something—but don't argue."

"Yes, dear," she said very meekly.

"And from now on, we're old-fashioned—old as the ark. Just you try to be modern," he warned.

"No, dear," Louise said.

Louise called Geoffrey Lambert the next day. "I didn't get to thank you for the—er—service last night, Geoffrey," she said. "It worked."

"Oh, on the veranda," Geoffrey answered. "The pleasure was all mine." "But the results were all mine—and Jack's," said Louise.

Dollar-a-Year Man

Charles C. Wyatt of Mayfield, Ky., farmer, has been paid $1 a year as treasurer of Graves county, Ky., since 1914, but has repaid the county "a million for one" being the leader in the dairy industry from which the county reaps an annual revenue of about $1,000,000.

Home Owners Urged To Paint This Fall

"Five dollars now or $150 next spring?"

Building owners are about to be warned that a crisis which has been approaching for several years will be reached this winter. An advertising campaign in 2,641 newspapers, at a cost of $1,000,000, will show them how to avoid big repair bills a few months later by making small investments now. F. O. Hunter of Eastland County Lumber Company, local Acme paint dealer, announced today.

"Five minutes walk along any street in this community will show any observer at least a dozen buildings where paint would protect the structures and make them civic assets instead of eyesores," he said. "The change can be made economically and profitably now. Men who need money can be put back to work. Property can be protected and its earning power increased.

"Many millions of dollars are at stake in property values throughout the country. Homes, stores, factories, office buildings, warehouses and all kinds of equipment, too, have been exposed harmfully to the elements, through neglect and postponement of needed work. They cannot be neglected longer and allowed to go through this fall and winter lacking correct protection, without serious injury. It is time to act. A look around this community, or at his own building, will convince any resident of our town."

HENS MAKE MONEY

NEWTON — What a small flock of good hens will do for a farm is shown in the report of a Newton county poultry flock demonstrator to the county agent. Carrol Miller made an extra profit of $19.03 from November 1st to August 1st on a flock of 59 white leghorn hens, after supplying feed to raise 138 chickens, feed for other livestock, and furnishing the home with eggs. He based his ration on home-grown hehari and Egyptian wheat.

MAKES PROFIT FROM CALVES

FORT WORTH—A net profit of $12 per head from 39 calves, and $7 per head on a pen of 32 others has been made in a feeding demonstration by P. C. Bishop, Tarrant County farmer, in cooperation with M. C. Counts, county agent. In late spring Mr. Bishop bought 90 grade Hereford calves on the Fort Worth market and his results have been so satisfactory that as soon as he finishes feeding the remaining 19 he plans to buy more. He is recognized as one of the best small crop growers in Haslet community, the county agent says.

EL PASO—Work on $1,000,000 Federal building expected to start about March 1.

CROSBYTON—Levine's Dry Goods Store opened in Ellison building.

ELECTRA—Work on flood lights for local high school athletic field completed.

U. S. Tests Grasses For Airport Fields

To find the best grasses or other plants for planting on airplane landing fields, the United States Department of Agriculture has planted 34 different grasses and combinations of grasses on an acre test plot on the Washington-Hoover Airport field near Washington, D. C.

The experiment is the first of its kind made by the department. The department expects to find some of the plants suitable for covering landing-field areas except the actual runways. The test plot is at one side of the present field, but next year the field will be enlarged and the test grasses will be near the center of the field, where the effect of landing and departing planes may be observed.

The department receives many requests for information and aid on growing grass for airports. Some of the reasons for planting grass on landing fields is to avoid dust, mud, standing pools of water after rains, and washing away of the soil.

The 34 grasses and combinations include some which the department hopes will prove suitable. Among these are several fescues, Bermuda grass, reed canary grass, alfalfa, zigzag clover, quack grass, a perennial lespedeza which grows close to the ground and forms a matted covering and crown vetch. An interesting compromise between a weed and a grass will be tried in combinations of crabgrass with Pot annua and Poa bulbosa. In these the crabgrass will do best during the hot weather and the other grasses will grow to best advantage at other period of the year.

SUGGESTIONS TO HOUSEWIVES

By Miss Ruth Ramey, County Home Demonstration Agent

The food has been preserved by the housewives of the county and now they should observe the following suggestions or rules to protect the family.

Before Opening.

Tin Cans—Both ends should be flat or curved slightly inward. Neither end should bulge or snap back when pressed. All seams should be tight and clean with no trace of leaks.

Glass jars—The cover, if metal should be firm and flat or curved slightly inward. There should be no sign of leakage around rubber ring, or elsewhere.

When Opened.

The contents should appear sound, normal in color, and the liquid free from unusual cloudiness. As the can is being opened, notice whether there is an outrush of air or spurting of the liquid. These indicate spoilage. If the air sucks inward, this is a good sign and shows that the vacuum seal has not been broken.

Smell the contents at once. The odor should be characteristic of the product. Any "off" odor probably indicates spoilage. Be sure that the person opening the canned goods is able to smell.

Look at the contents carefully to see whether they appear sound and natural in color and texture.

If the can is tin notice the appearance of the inside. It should be fairly clean and bright, not extensively blackened or corroded.

Be absolutely safe. Do not taste canned non-acid vegetables and meat before boiling.

Boil non-acid foods ten minutes in an open kettle shortly before using even though there is no sign of spoilage.

Boiling destroys the toxin or poison produced by certain bacteria, but does not destroy the bacteria. In case the liquid in the can is not sufficient to cover the product cover with boiling water, and boil for ten minutes. Smell the hot food carefully, because heating sometimes brings out odors not noticed in cold canned food.

Destroy by burning all food showing any sign of spoilage either by appearance or odor. Take no chances.

Boiling destroys toxin but does not destroy the bacteria. Don't buy spoiled products ever, after boiling because the bacteria continues to thrive in the soil. Don't feed spoiled products to animals even after boiling because if it is not eaten immediately there is always danger that in masses of food more toxin may be formed. Though the bacteria present may not harm the animal it would probably pollute the soil through the excretions of the animal.

For several months he was not permitted to touch a telescope, but when he got at one it was not long before he found Pluto.

RADIO REPORTS ON AIR

AT HEIGHT OF 10 MILES

Radio meteorographs are the newest devices for bringing down to earth information on weather conditions high above the clouds. Several of these instruments have just been calibrated by the United States Weather Bureau and sent to Alaska to use in obtaining facts for the Second International Polar Year, which started August 1.

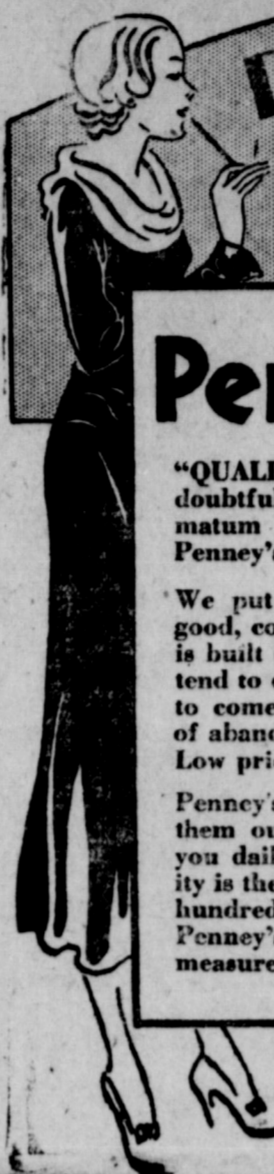

A radio meteorograph consists of an automatic temperature and pressure recording device and a compact radio sending apparatus. It is attached to a balloon for release at any desired point. As the balloon rises the changes in barometric pressure and in temperature cause a metal finger to move across various contact points, thus transmitting radio signals. The observer on the ground below picks up these signals with a receiving set, and from calibrations of the instrument previously made, determines the corresponding temperatures and heights.

In thickly settled areas instruments that automatically record atmospheric changes on tracing paper are often sent up in balloons. Attached to a parachute and bearing a tag asking that they be returned to the nearest Weather Bureau station, they stand a good chance of being recovered. In the uninhabited polar regions, however, they are not likely to be seen again. The radio meteorograph was, therefore, designed for use there.

Atmospheric records at all levels up to about 4 miles can be obtained by pilots in airplanes. To get records at higher levels, however, balloons are necessary. They go 10 miles or more up into the stratosphere before they burst.

Radio meteorographs are designed to promote that part of the polar year program which calls for a determination of the relationship between weather conditions in the polar regions and those in the lower latitudes. They will also help toward a better understanding of the general circulation of the atmosphere over the earth.

WATCH YOUR WORDS

"Radical"—an easy word to use and a most damaging word. Some people realize this fact. The dictionary definition of this word is "one who advocates extreme measures of reformation."

William Randolph Hearst, the nationally known publisher of many newspapers, recently used the word "radical" in the following manner: "Roosevelt is not a radical; he is simply honest. And, of course, that frightens the high financiers more than radicalism."

It has been said that "it is easy to deal with a man, conservative or radical, who is NOT honest—he listens to REASON, while the honest man who will not be bought presents a much more difficult problem."

Think of those who have been called radical and in the end were respected and loved by all—think of the power of the word, the distastefulness, the ease with which a group may be turned against some individual with such a word. It is easy to turn a city, state, or nation against some individual by the word "radical."

A good rule to follow is to look well at the man who brands another a radical. The power of the word is realized by many who use it for pure personal gain.

Mission Study Class.

Recognizing that the road to knowledge is reached only by study, the W. M. S. held an all-day mission study class in the lower assembly room Thursday, September 29, the book used being "Only a Missionary," by Dr. T. B. Ray. At noon a delightful luncheon of fried chicken, meat loaf, salads, relishes, pie and coffee was served cafeteria style to the following: Meses. O. B. Darby, J. B. Overton, W. J. Herrington, W. D. R. Owen, Ghent Sanderford, A. J. Campbell, T. J. Pitts, S. C. Walker, J. P. Truly, and Rev. O. B. Darby, J. B. Overton, W. J. Herrington, W. D. R. Owen. In the afternoon Meses. W. H. Muston, H. T. Huffmann, Eugene Tucker, and Boyd joined the class. Mrs. Darby taught the morning class and Mrs. W. D. R. Owen had charge of the afternoon class.

Honor Retiring Officers.

In honor of the retiring officers: Mrs. W. A. Owen, president of the class for three years, Mrs. Marvin Hood, the efficient third vice president, and Mrs. C. L. Garrett, substitute teacher, the Fidelis Matrons entertained with an informal reception Friday, September 30, from 3 to 5 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. D. R. Owen.

Hints of autumn were seen in the open fire, the tall baskets of Texas Purple Spikes and bowls of algeratum adorning book cases, mantel and piano. A short devotional and business session preceded the social hour, the opening number being "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," with Mrs. O. B. Darby at the piano. An inspiring devotional, "A Tribute to the Marthas of the World," by Rev. Darby, brought joy to the hearts of the busy housewives and mothers who make up this enterprising class. The retiring president, Mrs. W. A. Owen, presided over the brief business session, when officers for the ensuing year were elected.

A delightful social hour followed, with Mrs. George Harrell in charge as "school marm," with the guests as pupils, each doing her lesson in the three R's, and recess bringing the reward of a lunch in paper sacks of delicious sandwiches and cake, being supplemented by iced lemonade passed to the pupils by Meses. Tucker, and Gourley. During the social hours, a beautiful tribute to the retiring officers, written by the teacher, Mrs. W. H. Muston, "An Ode to Classmembers," was read by Mrs. W. D. R. Owen, a beautiful colonial picture was presented to Mrs. W. A. Owen, and potted plants to Mrs. Marvin Hood and Mrs. C. L. Garrett. Then a tribute to the teacher, written by Mrs. Frank V. Williams was read and a lovely plant presented to her. About twenty-five members enjoyed the charming informality of this unique affair.

Installation Service.

The new year for the W. M. S. was opened with a beautiful and impressive ceremony in the main auditorium Monday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock. Through the kindness of the Parker Floral Company a beautiful background for this service had been arranged, tall floor baskets of roses, smaller baskets of algeratum and verbenas, flanked by two multi-colored calladiums. The following program was rendered, with Mrs. Carl Springer presiding:

Song, "I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord." Prayer, Mrs. S. C. Walker. Vocal solo, "Teach Me to Pray," Mrs. O. B. Darby. Violin solo, Mrs. Joe Thomas Cook. Installation pledge and prayer, Rev. O. B. Darby. On account of the illness of Mrs. R. Q. Lee, Associational President of W. M. S., the installation address was given by the pastor, Rev. Darby, who in an impressive manner dwelt upon the importance of this phase of church work and upon the five aims of the W. M. S. Following the reading of a beautiful poem, "Somebody Prayed," by the chairman, Mrs. Springer, the Lord's prayer was repeated in unison.

A delightful social hour was enjoyed in the lower assembly room, when Mrs. Paul McFarland delighted her hearers with two readings, "Where Ignorance Is Bliss," and "A Small Boy at the Circus." Little Billie Frances Palm then came in staggering under a huge bouquet of roses and ferns, which she presented to Mrs. I. A. B. Minner, while Mrs. T. J. Pitts was presented with a handsome set of matched toilet accessories as a token of friendship and esteem as they go to their new home in Longview. Delicious refreshments of iced punch and cookies were served by the hostesses, Meses. A. J. Campbell, William Sheriffs, and W. P. Palm. About fifty enjoyed this very inspirational meeting.

Tunnicliff and Boles Initiated into Lions

Initiation of two new members was held at the weekly luncheon of the Lions Club Tuesday noon on the Connelley Hotel roof. W. V. Tunnicliff, manager of the local L. C. Burr & Co., store, and Leo L. Boles, football coach of Warner Memorial College, were the initiates.

F. D. Lown, state sweet potato inspector of the Texas Department of Agriculture, who was the guest of Lion J. C. Patterson, told the club of his work in Eastland County and urged that Eastland consider establishing a sweet potato curing plant. E. H. McLain of the Sweetwater Public schools, a guest of Lion Joe Gibson, was also introduced. He was in Eastland in connection with the Cisco football case.

LETTER BOX

KIDNAPING THE LINDBERGH BABY

In the lonely Hopewell mountains, In nineteen-thirty two, Nature had kissed this wonderful spot With many a morning dew.

'Twas one one dreadful night in March So the papers say, That little Charles Lindbergh, from His parents was stolen away.

His parents mourned both night and day, Indeed they mourned in vain, That their darling little Charlie Would be returned to them again.

The people sympathized with them, The world was draped in sorrow; With kidnapers abroad in our fair land, Your baby may go tomorrow.

They extorted fifty thousand of money, Which they did not earn; And to the disappointment of Lindbergh, The baby they did not return.

They disappointed Lindbergh, As the papers said, Well did they know when they got the money That his precious baby was dead.

We wonder why a just God Will allow such people to live; They steal from us our babies, Their own, they would not give.

After seventy-two days of watchful waiting, Every effort put forth to save; Little Charles was found five miles from home, Buried in a shallow grave!

Their murderous work now ended, Fifty thousand was their pay; We are sure that God will punish them In the final Judgment Day.

R. L. ROWE.

If any of the readers of the Weekly Record wish to know what the score of the Eastland-Daniel Baker game will be next Friday, call J. L. Cottingham at 35. It cost Mr. Cottingham $1.00 to learn what the score would be for the game last week, and we are sure he has not forgotten.

Colored People to Present Pageant

A play, "Heaven Bound Pilgrims," will be presented at the city hall auditorium Wednesday night, October 12, by the colored people of Eastland under the auspices of the A. M. E. Church, Rev. G. R. Roberts, pastor.

The play is a pageant depicting life from the cradle to the grave, and consists of spirituals, plantation melodies, and gospel songs, such as "Swing Low Sweet Chariot," the famous southern melody. Characters in the play are the Devil, St. Peter, angels, heralds, and souls traveling the path of life, the roles being taken by local talent.

Mrs. Agnes Harwood Doyle returned this week from a visit to San Antonio.

"STATIC"

By J. L. COTTINGHAM

I am going to beg everybody's pardon and answer my fan mail through the column this week. The name shown in capitals is the name that was signed to the letter.

MISS INTERESTED—Ira Hanna is twenty-nine years old and very much married. Do not believe the company he works for would permit him to change wives. You are right about his being handsome but we believe the crow's feet on his face have prevented his being classed as graceful.

MR. G.—You are right. Ben Hamra should not spit on the sidewalk but we cannot afford to have him in jail, we might need him had before he finishes his sentence.

ROBERT—Cannot tell you much about Marlow except that he is the kind of a fellow that if he found a five dollar bill on the street, he would be sore all day because it was not a twenty.

MISS EMBARRASSED—You need not worry about speaking to Jess Day by mistake. He knew it was a mistake—no lady ever speaks to him on purpose.

JOE—Do not know who the girl with hazel eyes and beautiful brown curly hair is. Write and tell me what color hose she wears and I will find out for you.

MINNIE—If you feel like vamping Carl Johnson go ahead. He will never suspect what you are doing and I do not think his wife will care. His eyes are not soulful—that funny look is caused from lack of sleep.

MR. INDIGNANT—Mrs. Atchley did not tell me about the three school teachers you took to dinner and I failed to publish the item out of regard for your wife. I do not print half I hear—not from fear but from an unwillingness to embarrass innocent parties.

MRS. L.—Do not worry about my printing scandal. I have the information but do not use it. I know who you are, too. Your names does not begin with any "L." You were in Ranger September 17 with a blackheaded, slightly stout man but saw your husband going into Swaney's drug store and beat it for home. That day you were wearing a gray ensemble with a white crocheted collar, gun metal hose and black kid pumps. If you want any more details, send a stamped envelope and sign your real name.

MR. READER—The grayheaded fellow who does all the loud laughing it not Pentecost, he is Williams the division manager for the gas company. He may have heard something funny and he may not. Sometimes he laughs at obituaries, etc.

MISS BRUNETTE—Arl Williams is not married and never will be. He has always gone with brunettes but do not know whether from preference or accident. Suggest that Russell Hill would be a better and easier catch.

JACK—Mrs. Neely is the blonde girl who works for Scott Key and a lesser legal light named Perry Sayles. She usually wears a gray skirt to work but has a blue coat type dress to wear when she comes to town in the evening. Do not know whether she would marry or not but suggest you communicate with her direct.

MR. X—Would be unwilling to say whether or not Donald Kinnard is truthful. Jim Harrell is the man to write about such questions as that. Further deponent sayeth not. I thank you.

9:49 Birthday Party Is Big Success

The second anniversary of the Men's 9:49 Bible Class was observed Sunday with an open house program and noon luncheon at the Methodist church. Wives and families of the local class members and members of the Hickman class at Dublin were guests. Several other classes of the church also attended in a body.

One hundred eleven members of the 9:49 class and between 40 and 50 members of the Dublin class were present.

Judge J. E. Hickman, founder of both classes, delivered a lecture on prayer. Virgil T. Seaberry presided at the meeting, and in the absence of J. H. Jones, extended the welcome address. W. P. Hallmark of Dublin responded. Two numbers were sung by the 9:49 quartet, and Miss Wilda Drago, accompanied by Mrs. Joe A. Gibson, played a beautiful violin solo.

After the 11 o'clock worship service, with Dr. T. W. Brabham, president of Texas Woman's College of Fort Worth at the pulpit, luncheon was served in the basement of the church.

The white birthday cake, baked by Mrs. Ella Westbrook, held the face of a clock with hands set at 9:49. The five long tables were laid with fried chicken, roast, ham, barbecue, cakes, pies, ice cream, and all accompanying dishes. Talks and music were features of the luncheon program. "God Be With You" was sung before the dismissal prayer.

Class officers express their thanks to the various committees in charge of arrangements and to those who donated food and supplies in the interest of the 9:49 birthday party.

Pythian Sisters Honor M. R. C.

The Pythian Sisters met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. H. C. Davis on West Moss Street for a social meeting. Mrs. D. B. Roark, M. R. C., being honored in her last year in office.

Work on a Dutch Boy quilt being pieced by the members occupied the first part of the evening, after which Mrs. Matthews and Mrs. Vaught arrived dressed in old-fashioned comical costumes, furnishing amusement for the evening. Mrs. Roark, along with two others, was then blindfolded and led along a string, finding a number of gifts from members.

Refreshments of punch and cake were served to three visitors, Meses. Earl Harvey, Mathews, and Vaught, and the following members: Meses. Hennessee, Slaughter, Ross, Rogers, Roark, Fry, Johnson, Liles and Davis.

Auxiliary Met With Mrs. Herron

The Presbyterian Ladies' Auxiliary met Monday at the home of Mrs. Bob Herron.

The program was opened with the Lord's prayer. Roll call was responded to by naming a Bible character and giving his place in the scripture. A business session was conducted, after which the devotional was led by Mrs. Harry B. Sone.

The program "Making Friends With Books," was directed by Mrs. G. S. Stire, who gave a short synopsis of several books, among them "America as Americans See It" and "The Terrible Meek" by Charles Rand Kennedy. Mrs. J. Leroy Arnold gave a report on the survey of favorite magazines and books of high school and junior high school pupils. A round table discussion of late books, such as "The Fountain," by Charles Morgan, and "Twenty Thousand Years In Sing Sing."

Punch and wafers were served to Meses. G. S. Stire, Smith, Hubert Jones, Pangburn, W. J. Peters, J. Leroy Arnold, Ray Larner, Harry B. Sone, M. C. Hayes, Miss Mabel Hart, and two guests, Mrs. Chester Geue and Mrs. Mary Stire.

Three-Piece Suit

One of the latest of Parisian fashion creations for fall wear is this three-piece suit of brown and white, with a white angora blouse and a leather belt.

SHOPPING WITH MAIFRED

Crisp autumnal days turned our thoughts definitely to fall this week and urged us on a shopping tour through Eastland stores. Rich shades, unusual fabrics, and attractively displayed articles combine a variety of interesting fashions to lure us into an orgy of buying. J. C. Penney Co., L. C. Burr & Co., The Economy Store, United Dry Goods, Corner Drug Store, Eastland Drug Co., Beaty Drug Co., and Eastland's other stores are flaunting complete lines of new fall merchandise.

Probably all of us will agree that styles in women's clothing are more picturesque than at any time during the past decade. Rough fabrics of heavy crepes and tweeds are being shown in wine, navy, black, brown, and dark green. The natural waistline still appears to be the favorite, despite hinted rumors to the contrary. Drop shoulder lines are being featured, and sleeves are being dressed up, novel effects being created in cut and with bottom trims. For instance, we saw during our tour this week a black crepe trimmed with white featuring a row of large white buttons on top of each shoulder and down the sleeves. Skirts are growing plainer, straighter, and less full than in the few previous seasons. Hats of felt, brimless or with small slanting brims, with trick little veils are being displayed in all shops.

No style comment is complete this season without mention of the popular swaggar suit, the serviceable all-occasion costume. This four-piece suit consists of matching skirt, hat, and three-quarter length coat of tweed or heavy wool with a light sweater of harmonizing shade. The coat may be worn separately and is usually heavy enough to be used as a sport coat during the entire winter. Every Eastland merchants' comments on the increasing demand for these suits.

Among the first articles on the Eastland woman's shopping list are her list of accessories. Complete lines of toilet articles are growing in popularity and in quality, so that the fastidious woman may be consistent in her use of these aids to health and beauty. Several drug stores are showing new lines this week attractively displayed in cellophane wrappings and interesting new containers that will grace the dressing table of any woman. One merchant who comments on the new low prices of these articles is featuring a complete new line which he is selling for practically half of former prices. Another merchant has recently stocked two well-known lines.

Basket weaves are popular for men's suits, and are being shown in greys, tans, and blues. Hats with snappy brims of medium width and narrow bands are seen in the men's clothing stocks. Suede jackets for sports are popular with both men and women. Grocery ads speak for themselves this week. Attractive window displays and high quality stocks and service make the housewife's shopping hours true pleasure trips.

Our shopping tour proved so interesting this week that we have resolved to make one every week. We invite Record readers to follow us on these trips and enjoy with us the latest in fashions, quality and values that Eastland merchants are offering.

Misses Annie Lee and Dorothy Mitchell, Lucille Green, and Margaret Casbeer, all of Stephenville, were guests of Miss Floy O'eill Tuesday and Tuesday night.

Methodist WMS to Begin New Study

The Methodist Woman's Missionary Society met Monday afternoon at the church in a joint session of the three circles.

"Stand Up for Jesus" was sung as the opening song, and Mrs. Ed Graham led in prayer. Reports of officers for the third quarter work were heard during the business session. Mrs. B. E. McGlamery resigned as chairman of the Christian Social Relations Committee because of her new duties as Conference Superintendent of Publicity. Mrs. M. B. Griffin was elected to succeed her.

A committee was appointed to nominate officers for 1933, the election to be held the first meeting in November. Those on the committee are Mmes. W. F. Daveport, Frank Crowell, T. J. Haley, and A. H. Johnson.

The program for the fourth quarter was outlined, the next six meetings to be given to study of the new book, "Living Issues In China," by Hodgkin. Mrs. W. P. Leslie will conduct the study.

Announcement was made that November 21 will be Day of Prayer, the specials this year being the McDonnell school in Houma, La., and Ewha College for Girls in Korea. Information on the two schools was given by Mrs. W. B. Collie and Mrs. F. M. Kenny.

A program on women's work in China was presented by Meses. W. P. Leslie, Claude Stubblefield, Frank Crowell, M. H. Kelly, and Jack London. The program was closed with a devotional service conducted by Mrs. M. B. Griffin, assisted by Mrs. Iola Mitchell and Mrs. T. M. Johnson.

SPEAKING ONE'S MIND

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Late Dean of Men,
University of Illinois.

Balcom believed in speaking his mind whenever a subject came up for discussion. It seemed to him not quite honest or truthful to do otherwise. He felt that unless he told the whole truth about a proposition as he saw it, he was temporizing. So he never held back his feelings or said less or expressed it less, heatedly than he was feeling at the time when he was expected to speak. If he felt that he had been done an injustice in any case he said so, if he disliked anything or anybody he spoke out. There was no uncertainty as to how Balcom felt about anything or anybody which or who might be up for discussion. So you can see from these statements that he was seldom, if ever, a diplomat.

"I believe in saying just what I think," he was wont to say, "and putting things to 'em straight." It never occurred to Balcom that one might safely think on some subjects without feeling called upon to express everything he thought, that one might leave strong feeling without giving full expression to it.

Bacon and Kent had a difference of opinion as to the proper procedure in a matter in which they had a common interest. They had been friends for twenty years and had very close co-operation in their work; but each felt that the other had done him an injustice, had not been quite fair or honest in his conduct, and there was irritation on the part of both. When they met to talk over their differences each spoke his mind, which meant that each one said all the sharp, cutting, nasty things which had been making within him for weeks. It did no good, this frankness. It did not ease the difficulty or heal the wounds which had been made by their misunderstanding. Could they, for a half hour, have buried their animosities, could they have inhibited feelings and kept back the cutting, galling words, they might have settled their difficulties amicably and have strengthened the friendship which had existed for so many years; but as it was they spoke their minds and said all the personal nasty things to each other that never stimulated, and their friendship will never be the same again, for a thing once said is beyond recall.

MANY WORTHLESS "CURES" OFFERED FOR DIABETES

Persons who have diabetes should not rely for treatment upon almond or bran bread, suprarenal extracts, epinephrine opium, sodium bicarbonate, or levulose, says Dr. F. J. Cullen, chief of drug control of the Federal Food and Drug Administration. There is no drug nor combination of drugs known to medical science which can cure this disease.

Not long ago the Government seized a product, recommended as a treatment for diabetes, shipped by a drug concern in Berlin, Germany, to a New York concern. The preparation was of no value to diabetics. The seizure was made under the import provisions of the Federal food and drugs act, which requires that all foods and drugs shipped into the United States be unadulterated and truthfully labeled.

"Some manufacturers in this country have recommended for diabetes nostrums which could have no medical value for the disease," Cullen states. The only reliable method of combating diabetes is the use of insulin by hypodermic injection, together with a suitable diet—and that is not to be considered a cure."

Every country has a favorite herb which is superstitiously believed to have curative value for this serious malady. There is no record that any of these herbs can cure the disease, although many of them have diuretic action, and their use may lead the patient to think he is improving, because of an apparent lessening of sugar in the urine.

Products which are labeled with claims to cure diabetes are liable to seizure under the food and drug law.

Banking Situation Shows Improvement

Austin, Texas, Oct. 6.—The general banking situation continued to improve throughout August, Dr. J. C. Dolley pointed out in his monthly survey of the financial situation, prepared for the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

"Short term rates in the New York money markets remained consistently low, fewer bank failures were reported, the volume of currency in circulation decreased measurably, and gold continued to flow in at a fairly rapid rate," Dr. Dolley said. "From July 23 to September 3, the average daily volume of currency in circulation, adjusted for season variations, decreased by $128,000,000, thus cancelling about 35 per cent of the increase which occurred between April 30 and July 23. Gold imports, chiefly in the form of metal released from earmark, have aggregated $187,340,000 from June 15 to September 7. The most favorable development of the summer months, however, is to be found in the tremendous increase in value of commercial bank bond portfolios as a result of the marked improvement in the bond market. The New York Times average of 40 bond prices rose from 51.94 on May 31 to 71.16 on September 7, a net gain of almost twenty points.

"Despite the general improvement in the banking situation, however, commercial banks continued throughout August to be very chary with new lending. Total loans of the reporting member banks decreased almost continuously from $10,992,000,000 on July 27 to $10,796,000,000 on August 31, a net decline of $196,000,000. During the same period, on the other hand, bond holding of the reporting banks increased by $401,000,000, practically all of the gain resulting from increased holding of United States government securities. Apparently, any material increase in bank lending depends upon more definite indications of business recovery and greater assurance that another wave of small bank failures will not be experienced this autumn.

"Data upon banking conditions in the Eleventh District continue to reveal disappointing trends. Debits to individual accounts declined substantially as compared with July figures. Demand deposits and total loans extended contracted slightly.

"However, holdings of government securities remained fairly constant and borrowings from the Reserve Bank were reduced by half. The rise in cotton prices coupled with the normal seasonal increase in business activity should react favorably on Texas banks during the current month."

Potato Inspector Visits This County

Inspection of sweet potato patches by F. D. Lown of Texas Department of Agriculture is being made in the county this week. Fields found free from disease and insect pests will be certified so that growers may sell seed and plants within the law. Growers who have not applied for inspection may get this service at no cost by applying to the county agent or vocational teachers.

Mr. Lown will make a return visit to the county in about two weeks to take care of late requests for inspection service. Since there is no cost for this service every potato grower should have his crop examined for his own benefit so that his own seed selections may be free of pests.

Jimmie Jones is back at his work at the Hotel Garage this week after a week's illness of influenza.

September Rainfall Totals 6.78 Inches

The greatest rainfall for several months fell in Eastland during the month of September, according to the meteorological report prepared by James A. Beard, special observer for the weather bureau of the Department of Agriculture. The total precipitation for last month was 6.78 inches, about twice as much as the average rainfall for the summer months.

The greatest amount of rainfall during a 24-hour period came on September 7 with 2.18 inches. Ten days of the month had .01 or more precipitation.

The maximum temperature for the month was recorded at 96 degrees on September 17, 18, and 21. The minimum was 52 degrees on September 11, and the greatest daily range came on September 17 with a range of 33 degrees. Twelve days of the month were clear, 7 partly cloudy, and 11 cloudy.

Continued rain has damaged the feed and cotton crop, Mr. Beard's report said. Dry weather is needed for the peanut crop.

PUBLIC MUST USE CARE IN SELECTION OF DRUGS

Contrary to popular opinion, the Federal pure food and drug law does not require that all drugs offered to the public be harmless. If it did, many drugs—extremely useful in the treatment of disease—would be denied the public and the physician. But the act does require that drugs be labeled correctly and that no claims for the prevention, mitigation, or cure of disease that can not be borne out in actual practice be printed upon the labels of articles shipped interstate.

The act further requires that drugs be of the standard of strength and purity which their labels profess them to be. The standards by which drugs and pharmaceuticals are judged under the law are the United States Pharmacopoeia and the National Formulary—guidebooks of the medical and pharmacological professions.

In case a drug product contains alcohol, morphine, opium, cocaine, heroin, alpha or beta eucaine, chloroform, canabis indica, chloral hydrate, or acetanilid, or any derivative or preparation of any such substances, the law requires that the label bear a statement declaring the quantity or proportion of these drugs present. Such label declarations permit the purchaser to use some discrimination in the selection of medicines and avoid the purchase of those containing habit-forming or dangerous ingredients.

Since the law applies to imported goods as well as those domestically produced, the Government maintains careful supervision of all crude drugs and drug products entered at American ports. Government examination of imported products assures the buyer goods that meet the rigid standards.

High School Debate Question Difficult

AUSTIN.—The question for debate by Texas high schools this year is perhaps the most difficult query ever undertaken by the Interscholastic League, according to Roy Bedichek, chief of the University of Texas League Bureau. It is with a view to meeting some of the problems that the high school debater is confronted with that the League Bureau has issued a bulletin containing summaries and briefs of affirmative and negative arguments, carefully prepared by an expert in the subject.

The question is "Resolved, That at Least One-Half of All State and Local Revenues Should Be Derived from Sources Other Than Taxes on Tangible Property." The University bulletin has been prepared by C. A. Duval, a specialist in economic theory and instructor in the University. He has had the advice and counsel in this work of Dr. E. T. Miller, University professor of economics, who is generally conceded to be the most distinguished authority on taxation in the South, Mr. Bedichek declared.

Deals With Fundamentals
The work deals largely with fundamentals, Dr. Duval assuming that no intelligent discussion of this specific question is possible for those who are not well-grounded in fundamental theory. He has worked in close cooperation with the University Extension Loan library and with the author of the bulletin that is being prepared on a cooperative basis for other state leagues studying the same subject, to the end that no duplicated material should be included in this publication.

"The question for debate this year leads the student into devious paths," Mr. Bedichek pointed out. "The great public interest in the subject, the mass of material which is being issued continually in printed form, the discussions which are occurring in deliberative assemblies throughout the Nation, the fact that the high school leagues of 33 states in the Union are this year debating practically the same question, all constitute a challenge to the ambitious young debater while at the same time furnishing him with a more abundant supply of authoritative material than was ever before available on an Interscholastic League debate question."

NEED MORE PASTURE

The area of land in the United States in improved pasture is only one-fifth of that in hay and grain crops, says specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, who believe that pasture should supply more of the feed for livestock. More improved pasture land would reduce need for grain crops, lessen labor for crop production, reduce soil erosion, provide better pasturage during drought, save pastures now overgrazed, and preserve wood lots. Ten per cent of the cultivated crop area, if sown to pasture, would add about 50 per cent to the present area of improved pasture land, says the department.

U. S. FREE OF LIVESTOCK MALADY

Again the United States is free of the highly infectious livestock malady, foot-and-mouth disease. The outbreak which resulted in the quarantining of parts of Orange, Los Angeles, and San Bernardino Counties, in California, was officially brought to a close August 24, when the United States Department of Agriculture removed all quarantine restrictions in those counties.

El Paso — Texas Grand Theatre opened for business.

Contribution of Public Education to the Welfare of the Nation

Education is a function of the state. Public education is the foundation upon which the democratic state is built. The perpetuity of our form of government and the improvement of our society rest alike upon the work which is done in the public school system.

Students of government have from time immemorial emphasized the importance of education in the development of the democratic state, no one more adequately than the late president of the United States, Woodrow Wilson. In his noteworthy treatise entitled, THE STATE, he says:

"... Education is the proper office of the state for two reasons... Popular education is necessary for the preservation of those conditions of freedom, political and social, which are indispensable to free individual development, and, in the second place, no instrumentality less universal in its power and authority than government can secure popular education. In brief, in order to secure popular education the action of society as a whole is necessary; and popular education is indispensable to that equalization of the conditions of personal development which we have taken to be the proper object of society. Without popular education, moreover, no government which rests upon popular action can long endure; the people must be schooled in the knowledge, and if possible in the virtues, upon which the maintenance and success of free institutions depend. No free government can last in health if it lose hold of the traditions of its history, and in the public schools these traditions may be and should be sedulously preserved, carefully replanted in the thought and consciousness and each successive generation."

Religion, morality and knowledge being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall be forever encouraged.

Our public schools, from the kindergarten through the university must continue to be the instrument used by the nation for perpetuating and for improving our society. Our faith in public education has been justified. Still greater tasks lie ahead. The forces of ignorance, superstition and social injustices always remain to be conquered. Enjoying the confidence and good will of our people, the public schools may be counted upon to make an ever increasing contribution to the welfare of the nation.

AGE NO HANDICAP

GAINESVILLE—Age doesn't slow up Cooke county's veteran farmers who are just as progressive as the younger ones, declared L. L. Johnson, county agent. He says three of them who are well over 60 years of age have terraced nearly every acre of their rolling land since he taught them how to do it a year ago.

Nothing makes a man feel so unimportant as to sit for an hour in the midst of a party of women discussing clothes.

What Has LIGHT To Do With Beauty?

Good light is absolutely essential to beauty. Reading, working or even resting in poor light tires the eyes, brings on physical fatigue and ruins natural beauty completely. No amount of beauty treatment can offset entirely the effect of the worn and worn look that comes from living in an atmosphere of improper lighting. Check your lighting fixtures and portable lamps today—you may need several globes right now. Remember—buy in cartons of six and save money.

YOUR ELECTRIC RANGE

Does the Work—You Take It Easy

Ordinarily, preparing a meal for a hungry family is really hard work. Basting, watching and worrying in a hot, stuffy kitchen can never be an easy task for anyone. So—we suggest an electric range. Electric cooking is fast, clean, cool, convenient and economical and results are certain. Automatic time and temperature controls never let things cook too long or turn out under-done.

Your Electric Range will do the work. You take it easy.

Gentry Bros. Show Plays Here Tuesday

All is ready for the coming of Gentry Brothers shows. The advance agents have posted the colored bills and lithographs heralding the coming of the show which will give two performances at 3:45 and 8 p. m. here in Eastland on Tuesday, October 11.

Children of to-day only have heard of the Gentry Brothers famous shows. In the childhood of their parents, however, the name of these shows was well known. The trained dogs and ponies are said to have been known almost by name by the children of twenty years ago.

The shows are owned and managed by H. B. Gentry, who founded them in 1888. Always they have catered to refined audiences, especially ladies and children, according to officials of the show. Fifteen years ago Mr. Gentry retired from show life to recover his health. The shows drifted away from Gentry ideals. Last year Mr.

Gentry brought back the title. He purchased car loads of ponies, dogs and monkeys, goats and pigs. These he sent to his Florida home. They began intensive training. All the familiar, laughable, and instructive acts were revived.

The result is performances by the monkey fire department, the military ponies, the jumping grey-hounds, the dancing dogs, the clown poodles, the wirey fox-terriers, the wonderful colic, and the "just dogs."

The shows will be located on the grounds at West Main and Walnut Streets.

MULLINGS HONORED

Maurice Mullings, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mullings, has been named one of the five new pages in the library at the University of Texas, where he is a sophomore engineering student. Such an appointment is a distinct honor since a student must have almost an A average before he is considered for the position.

Levelland — Wallace theatre opened for business.

Low Farm Prices Bring Overalls

Out in Iowa where the farmers have been striking because of low prices for farm produce the high school pupils in some towns are showing their sympathy by donning overalls and gingham for school wear. Three of them in Griswold are seen above admiring their low price garb.

Collie Chairman--

Collie was chosen to take his place. Funds for the campaign will be raised by the sale of bronze medallions bearing the profiles of the Democratic nominees, and the allotment for Eastland County has been set at $1,000.00.

In accepting the place as chairman of the campaign in this county, Mr. Collie said:

"I am one of those present who has been nominated by the Democratic party for a position of trust and responsibility. There are others here. It seems to me that in return for the confidence and favors bestowed, the party rightfully might hope that faithful service to the party will be rendered by all its grateful nominees. The chances are we will be elected as a result of our nomination by our party. What then, should be done as a token of our appreciation? For myself I am glad to acknowledge my unfeigned gratitude, and I in turn propose to dedicate my time, my efforts and such abilities as I possess to the advancement and promotion of the cause of Democracy, and I say that in our victory the sacred rights and material interests of all the people will be preserved and protected.

"The people will expect much of the coming Democratic administration, both national and state, and they shall not be disappointed. The efforts which we shall put forth cannot fail of their approbation. Let us shoulder our responsibility now in the midst of this campaign and do our bit for the party. The least we can do is to purchase, and aid in the sale of these little medallions. The party must have money to carry on the campaign. Eastland county has been allotted one thousand of these tokens, and at one dollar each our part is to raise $1,000 immediately. This should be done without much difficulty. I invite your support and aid in making the drive a success."

City Commission--

iod of about three weeks. Mr. Ferguson's bid on the work was much lower than those submitted by other companies, City Manager W. C. Marlow said.

The city license tax charged by the city for carnivals and shows was waived by the commission for the Gentry Dog and Pony Show, which is scheduled to play in Eastland Tuesday, October 11. All the other cities in this part of the state have cooperated with the show in waiving this tax.

A committee of 26 Eastland business and professional men was chosen by the commission to meet with it Thursday night and discuss the proposal made recently by the Brown-Crummer Company, the bonding company handling the City of Eastland bonds, on bonded indebtedness problem of the city. The city has been forced to default the payment on the indebtedness during the past several years. Only $16,000 has been set aside in the 1932 budget for the maturing of the bonds.

Members of the committee to meet with the commission on this matter are as follows: Earl Bender, J. E. Lewis, Dr. H. B. Tanner, Virgil T.

Deaseny, Perry Sayles, A. D. Dabney, Carl Springer, Frank Judkins, E. N. Grisham, C. C. Robey, Earl Conner, Sr., Dr. J. H. Caton, Theodore Ferguson, Frank V. Williams, Dr. C. H. Carter, E. E. Freyschlag, P. Pettit, Marshall McCullough, Joe J. Mickle, Grady Pipkin, Dr. T. E. Payne, R. E. Sikes, Karl F. Page, Jim Horton, George Harper, and F. M. Kenny.

Commissioners present at the meeting Monday were Alex Clark, chairman, Neil A. Moore, and T. M. Johnson. City Manager Marlow was also in attendance.

Texas Plans Pecan Exhibit at Chicago

E. M. Howard of Rising Star and County Agent J. C. Patterson attended a committee meeting in Austin Monday called for the purpose of making plans for a pecan exhibit in the Texas building at the World's Fair in Chicago next year. This committee is working in conjunction with the Governor's World's Fair Commission.

It was decided to issue a call to Texas pecan growers for one pound samples of improved varieties of pecans and two pound samples of the best seedling varieties for use in this display. Two pounds of native varieties were requested in order that one pound might be delivered to the A. & M. College for analysis to determine which were worthy of propagation for the recognition of new varieties.

Samples are to be delivered to county agents in the respective pecan counties or sent direct to J. F. Rosborough, Extension Service, College Station, Texas. The object of the World's Fair Pecan Exhibit is to bring to the attention of the millions who will view the display, the superior eating qualities of Texas Pecans in an effort to increase consumption of the king of nuts.

Pecan Show Scheduled.
The National Pecan Show is to be held in Rising Star November 18 and 19 and pecan samples from this section are to be accumulated in this fair and later sent in to be consolidated with the State exhibit. Eastland County growers are urged by the county agent to begin selecting their exhibits now. There are many trees producing fine quality of seedling pecans which should be tested to determine their real worth for commercial propagation. Two-quat samples of these should be selected for exhibition and testing. A small premium list is being prepared for the Rising Star show. Each improved variety will show separately and natives are to be judged according to size, cracking quality, and shelling percentage. A two days program will be held in connection.

Teachers of vocational agriculture throughout the pecan belt have been asked to cooperate in the collection of the exhibit samples.

BULLINGTON SPEAKS

PENNEY MANAGER VISITS

Ray Jenkins of Oklahoma City, district manager for the J. C. Penney stores in Texas, Oklahoma, and Louisiana, was in Eastland Thursday in the interest of the local Penney store.

This is Mr. Jenkins' first trip to Eastland in several months, and he was commenting on the business progress in West Texas. All stores in this section are showing a nice increase in business, he said.

Mrs. D. E. Carter and her father, J. M. Sherrill, left Tuesday morning for Kansas City, where Mr. Sherrill's brother is seriously ill.

We do not have the space to tell some of the classic answers to the scholarly questions propounded but we suggest that you ask Donald Kinnaird what the specific gravity of water is.
